Ft. Stanton News

The first ball game of the season was played at the Post Monday afternoon with the New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell. The game was well played throughout, the home team losing by a score of 7 to 6. The feature of the game was the good pitching by Lupus Flores for the home team, allowing 2 hits in 6 innings, and one run—he also struck out 11 men.

The Carrizozo High School Orchestra will give its Spring concert next Tuesday and Wednesday in connection with the feature picture, "Finders Keepers, starring Laura LaPlante, the new screen comedienne. This promises to be a big attraction, as this orchestra is well known throughout this part of the country—and is now classified as a complete symphony orchestra. It now has twenty members, and can boast of having the best instrumentation of any other orchestra in the State. Uniforms which are to be used in the contest at Roswell will also be used in this concert, and will make a very neat appearance. Tickets may be purchased from any of the orchestra members now, and it is our advice to obtain them as early as possible. The concert will begin at 7:30 p. m. each evening.

Dan Elliott's Father Dies

Dan Elliott came down from Dawson Monday to transact some business matters with the intention of returning home on 12, but while here, he received a message to the effect that his father, Wm. Elliott, aged 75, had passed away at his old home in St. Marys, Kansas, a short distance from Topeka. The sad news changed Dan's plans and he boarded 12 to attend the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. M. Cavanaugh and Mrs. Sellers, were Carrizozo visitors on Tuesday from Fort Stanton.

Inter-Class Tournament A Big Card

The inter-class basketball tournament held recently in the Community Hall proved to be quite a drawing card and the games were clean, fast and hard fought throughout and each team was well supported by an enthusiastic crowd of rooters. In the preliminary games in the morning, the Sophs defeated the Freshmen, 52 to 1, and the Juniors defeated the 4-man Senior team 26-11. In the final games, the Sophomores won the meet by beating the Juniors in a hard-fought game. The Seniors were awarded 3rd place by beating the 1st year team, 20-5. The outstanding players on the championship team were Lopez, Gallegos and Harkey. Harkey went wild in the morning game and scored 34 points, while Lopez ran through Lopez, ran through the Juniors in the final game and scored 17. Gallegos was as hard to stop as ever. Chief Lemon and Mack Shaver were the outstanding players for the Juniors and Lackland worked well for the Seniors. The Freshmen were little, but game and many of them will be heard of later. The Senior team was greatly weakened by loss of Cooper and Don Lemmon whom were ill. The fans shouldn't worry about material for years to come after seeing the Sophomore and Junior team in action. More material has been developed this year than any other year in history of the school when probably the coach had the least amount to start with.

The Municipal Election

The election Tuesday was so quiet that a stranger would not have known that such a thing as an election was being held. Only the names of the Mayor and the old Board of Trustees appeared on the ticket and that was sufficient for the people, as they had expressed themselves as being fully satisfied at the Mass Meeting and the small number of vote cast, 65, with no scratching, was a decided double stamp of approval on the past actions of that body, which it justly deserved. Beginning with Mayor McQuillen, the Board has worked unceasingly for the interest of the town, often spending time they could have used for much needed rest, in furthering the interests in general and while the law provides that such bodies should be salaried, our board has served without the least remuneration and while none of the board solicited reelection, it was the unanimous will of the people and not a campaign of their own that returned them.—More power to them!

Western Story Writers Meet

Ralph R. Perry, writer of western and sea stories and on a tour of the west, in search of material for future stories, was a guest of Dr. C. E. Freeman at his ranch home for two days this week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Perry and during their stay they visited many points of interest. Mr. Perry was instrumental in getting the manuscript of "The Saga of Billy the Kid" published and was deeply interested in Bill's old playgrounds in this county. Both he and Mrs. Perry expressed themselves as being favorably impressed with the promising future and bright outlook for this section. Dr. Freeman being a western story writer himself, made the visit of the Perrys of more than ordinary interest.

H. S. Orchestra to Enter Contest at Roswell

The Carrizozo High School Orchestra will enter the District High School Music contest at Roswell, Saturday. The music contest starts at 10:30 a. m. Saturday, and the Orchestra contest is the first on the program. Roswell has the only other orchestra in this district, and its strength and size is considered about the same as our own organization. The Orchestra here has the largest membership now it has ever had, and is stronger in playing ability, instruments lately being added have helped to make the organization a standard orchestra. The other entrants in the contest are Raymond Lackland, boys solo; Helen McCammon, piano solo, and Maurice Lemon, piano solo. The winners of this contest will represent this district in the state contest to be held at Albuquerque May 10 and 11. The County Board of Education met in the office of the Co. School Supt., April 2. Regular dates for Board meetings are the first Mondays in January, April, July and October. Notice of election on consolidating districts No's 9, 28 and 36 will be found in a separate notice in this paper.

Narrow Escape

Tuesday morning, a traveling salesman by the name of Nation, came in from Alamogordo in a new Buick, with the intention of stopping here over night on his way to Tucumcari, but when opposite the residence of Meyer Barnett, the car turned turtle, badly bruising Mr. Nation and completely demolishing the car. The injured man was taken to the Johnson Hospital, where at this writing, he is resting easy and out of danger.

Dodge Victory Six Invades Death Valley

Civilization has crept into Death Valley since 1898 when Dad Fairbanks first entered the country. The process has been slow, for the modern tourist encounters temperatures seldom below 130 degrees in the summer. Winter offers more opportunity for travel, for mercury usually stays below the 100 mark. When Fairbanks first came to Death Valley, he met the Indians who had watched the "Jayhawkers die" and who later took possession of their equipment. The "Jayhawkers" were headed for the gold fields when more than 100 perished. Fairbanks, through the aid of Indians, was the first white man to discover the remains of the wagons at a place near Death Valley Junction. "I used to think 15 miles a day with a team and 25 miles a day on foot over the Funeral Range (the mountains skirting the east of Death Valley) was pretty fast travel," said Fairbanks as he watched the mile-roll by in a Victory Six. The Victory Six took to the rough, high-centered roads, off the main traveled routes like a veteran. The car was easily able to negotiate the deep sandy stretches of trail-like roads. With all the modern progress, there are still remote places in Death Valley where roads resemble dim paths. Fairbanks is a resident of Shoshone, a desert town on the edge of the Funeral Range.

Jobs Almost Brings War

A youngster in the Eighth grade came home to her mother much perturbed. "Mother, Shirley says I need a bath, do it!" "Why, no," her mother answered. "You bathed this morning. What makes you ask?" "One of the girls at school said I smelled like a billy goat." After an armistice was declared between the two families it was found that Shirley's little friend was telling her family jobs. "Every one smells like a billy goat—through his nose." —Indianapolis News.

New Idea in Football

The fame of the Shoeless Wonder football team of the Presbyterian orphanage at Lynchburg, Va., is spreading fast. The orphanage team possesses only one football shoe, discarded by the Lynchburg high school. This shoe is used by the player who does the kicking and as soon as the pigskin starts flying through the air, the shoe is discarded. "You couldn't put shoes on those kids if you wanted to," says Dr. William Meglison, superintendent of the orphanage. "I believe that the reason they win so many games is that their opponents make fun of their bare feet and try to step on them. This makes them mad; they dig their toes in and plow through."

The Talker

Sinclair Lewis, the novelist of attack—Mr. Lewis attacks ministers, doctors, small towns, everything and everybody—is the hero of a story.

It appears that at a dinner party he was seated next to a movie actress whose celebrity is greater than his own. Being an eloquent talker he naturally talked to her. He talked and talked. He had never been in better form for talking. But suddenly the actress said:

"Humph!"
Everybody looked at her, and she added:
"That's a word in edgeways."

Clever Trick Worked

A New Yorker opened a new restaurant in West Forty-fourth street. At not many persons were aware of the fact, so he bought the largest goldfish bowl he could find, filled it with water and placed it in his window with this placard over it: "Invisible fish from Rio de Janeiro." The police have frequently had to drive away the pedestrians who gathered before the window in an endeavor to see the invisible fish. One man tapped on the glass and shook his hat in an attempt to bring the fish out where he could get a better view.

That Stomach of Yours!

Center, Colo.—"I have been troubled with my stomach for several years. Doctors prescribed for me but I got no results. Finally one wanted me to go through an operation. Then an old friend of mine told me how he had obtained relief by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for neuralgia of the stomach. After taking less than one bottle I could go ahead and eat solid food, go about my work, and those sharp pains had left. I have taken 5 bottles of the liquid, also some of the tablets, and feel no more pains in my stomach—can eat what I please. I can, without hesitation, endorse this medicine."

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys

Drink Plenty of Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

ENGINEER TAKES BLAME FOR ST FRANCIS DAM BREAK

Los Angeles, Calif.—"Something" was overlooked by the engineers who built the ill-fated St. Francis dam, William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles water board, admitted at the coroner's inquest here. His voice shaking and his hands trembling, Mulholland made this statement as his only explanation for the disaster when asked if he could give any cause for the collapse of the mighty concrete structure which caused death and destruction in the Santa Clara river valley.

Congress Honors Lindbergh

Washington.—Charles A. Lindbergh completed ten months of record-breaking activity when President Coolidge pinned the blue ribbon of the congressional medal of honor around his neck. This was said to be Lindbergh's last public appearance for some time. It was a fitting tribute to the slim, blond-haired youth, who stepped from obscurity to international fame ten months ago when he landed at Paris.

Wales Takes Another Fall

Ninety, England.—Thrown over his horse's head when his reins broke after he had cleared the seventh of twenty-two jumps in a cross-country race, the Prince of Wales turned a complete somersault and landed on his feet. It was Wales' third fall of the present fox-hunting and steeple-chasing season and the eighteenth of his career. Wales was riding his steeple-chaser Degomme in the foot guards' inter-regimental challenge cup cross-country race.

Lindbergh Receives Peace Medal

New York.—The name of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was forever linked with international workers in the cause of peace when he received the Woodrow Wilson medal and the Woodrow Wilson peace award of $5,000. It was the third time the foundation had awarded its honor, and Lindbergh was associated with William Root and Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, former winners; as a reward for his contribution to the cause of international friendship.

"I'll confess that when she first came into this room my belief in her physical identity with the woman I had seen in Henry Morgan's study was shaken for an instant, for her whole appearance, not only of face, but the articulation and poise of body was strikingly different. But with the second look, the resemblance began to shape itself. When I saw the tattoo mark on her arm, that, of course, reduced the case to a certainty. "It took only a dozen questions to convince me that in the person of Jane Perkins she was totally ignorant of the crime, which was exactly what I expected. I then hypnotized her, and succeeded in fishing up her other personality, from whom I got not only the admission that she had strangled Henry Morgan, but a considerable part of the story which I have just been telling you of the events which led up to the commission of the crime. She did not recover the personality of Jane Perkins until I called her out from the inner room to begin the examination.

CHAPTER IX

For a moment we stood gazing blankly into each other's faces, stupidly trying to realize, to the full, what the disappearance of that big, empty manila envelope meant. Ashton was the first to recover himself. He shot a quick question at me. "Do you remember, Phelps, whether or not, when Wilkins spoke of the ventilator being foul, you glanced in the direction of it?" "Yes," I admitted I did. "You?" questioned Ashton, turning to the doctor. "Oh, yes," said Doctor McAllister. "There's no fool like an old fool." "Well, I did, too," said Ashton, "and that's when Wilkins took the envelope. He pulled out his watch, frowned at it, snapped it shut and put it back into his pocket. "I didn't realize this demonstration had taken so long," said he. "He's had nearly an hour. He probably ripped open the envelope the moment he closed the door behind him, and, finding it empty, would know, of course, that the thing had been merely a trap to catch him."

City Life Tending to Wipe Out Sex Lines

City life is rapidly making women masculine and men feminine, contends a writer in Liberty. "Male and female created He them," the writer points out, "but the cities have altered His plan and more and more are wiping out sex lines. "The male and female work at the same tasks," the writer explains, "ride the same subways, drive the same cars, play the same games, see the same shows. More and more, therefore, they think the same thoughts and have the same feelings. "Man is as adaptable to his environment as a chameleon is. The mixing of men and women through city life is natural. City life softens men, makes them abridg from discomforts, standardizes their lives and thoughts.

The Presence of God

Man is more blessed or less blessed in the same measure as he is aware of the presence of God.—John Tauler.

Our Thoughts

We should manage our thoughts as shepherds do their flocks in making a garden; first, select the choicest, and then dispose them in the most proper places, that every one may reflect a part of its color and brightness on the next.—Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

The First Language

Some suppose Hebrew to have been spoken by Adam; others say that the Hebrew, Chaldee and Arabic are only dialects of the original tongue.

"I beg your pardon, sir. I wonder if you could spare me now. I'm supposed to be in the dining room at this hour." "He'll be back," said the doctor grimly. "That map has been the focal point of his life for a good many years. He would run a bigger risk than he could possibly think lay in breaking into this apartment, to get it. He's on duty in the dining room until twelve, and I imagine he'll stay there, but as far as we're concerned, it's only a question of putting out our lights and waiting."

Ashton nodded. "By the way," he said, "I'd like to see that map. It must be something of a curiosity." "If you'll come out to Oak Ridge with me tomorrow," said the doctor, "I'll take pleasure in showing it to you. There's nothing in the envelope. It was only necessary to make Wilkins think there was." "But where's the envelope itself?" Ashton asked. "Didn't you say it was here on the table? I don't see it." The doctor whirled round as if something had stung him. Never before, I think, in all the years I have known him had I seen him so completely taken aback as he was at that moment.

"It must be somewhere," said I. "It was lying in plain sight when the doctor spoke to you about it." But it was all in vain that we rummaged among the littered papers upon the table top. The big manila envelope was gone.

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

LESSON FOR APRIL 8 THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS CHRIST (EASTER LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—Mark 16:1-20. GOLDEN TEXT—Because I live ye shall live also. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Comes to Life Again. JUNIOR TOPIC—Christ Rises from the Grave. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus, Our Living Leader. YOUNG-PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Power of the Resurrection. 1. The Ministry of Love (vv. 1-9). 1. By whom (v. 1). Mary Magdalene, the mother of James and Salome. They brought sweet spices with which to anoint Him. 2. When? (v. 2). Early in the morning of the first day of the week. 3. Their perplexity (vv. 3, 4). They questioned as to who should roll away the large stone from the mouth of the tomb. To their surprise they found the stone removed. 11. The Angel in the Tomb (vv. 5-8). Jesus knew that these women would come to the sepulcher with perplexed and unbelieving hearts so He had an angel waiting there to announce to them the fact of His resurrection. Note the angel's message: 1. "Be not afraid" (v. 5). 2. "Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth who was crucified" (v. 6). This threefold designation with marvelous clearness designates (1) His humanity—Jesus, (2) Lowly residence—Nazareth, (3) Ignominious death—crucified. 3. "He is risen; He is not here. Behold the place where they laid Him" (v. 7). These words throw light upon His birth, humility and shameful death. He who was born in lowly circumstances and suffered the shameful death on the cross, is now the conqueror of death. His resurrection gives meaning to His death. "If Christ be not risen your faith is vain, ye are yet in your sins" (1 Cor. 15:17).

4. "Go your way, tell His disciples and Peter" (v. 7). As soon as it was known that Christ was risen from the dead they were to tell it to the disciples. The disciples all needed this blessed news, but Peter especially, since he had utterly denied Him. 5. "He goeth before you into Galilee, there shall ye see Him" (v. 7). Christ had told the disciples that He would rise from the dead and meet them in Galilee, but their unbelief kept them from this blessed truth. 11. The Appearances of the Risen Christ (vv. 9-14). These appearances had as their object the restoration of the disciples from their awful failure and discouragement and convincing them without a peradventure of a doubt of Christ's resurrection. Since His resurrection was to be the central theme of apostolic preaching, it was necessary that they have a certainty of knowledge as to this matter (Acts 1:3). Without the resurrection of Christ His death would be meaningless. Out of the ten or more appearances, Mark selects three. 1. To Mary, Magdalene (vv. 9-11). Mary's heart responded to the Savior who had graciously delivered her from demons. Her sufferings, were no doubt terrible. She was first at the tomb; her devotion was amply rewarded by being first to meet the risen Lord. Though her faith was weak she went at once and told the story to the disciples. 2. To two disciples on the way to Emmaus (vv. 12-13). Luke gives full particulars concerning this appearance (Luke 24:13-25). Jesus had walked, talked and eaten with them. 3. The eleven disciples (v. 14). Christ appeared to them while sitting at meat and reproved them for their unbelief. The fact that they steadfastly resisted the testimony that Christ had risen, and yet afterward were willing to risk their lives in the proclamation of this truth proves the genuineness of their faith. (V. The Commission of the Risen Lord (vv. 15-18). After the disciples were convinced of the truth of His resurrection, Christ sent them forth to "preach the gospel to every creature." What a glorious and supreme task is this. What a blessed issue to those who believe and how awful to them that believe not! "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned" (v. 16). V. The Activity of the Enthroned Christ (vv. 19, 20). After giving the disciples their commission, He ascended on high and from the unseen sphere directed their activities. Wherever they went He confirmed their word. He does the same for His disciples today.

The BABY No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Restlessness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene. That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic, constipation, diarrhea, or need to aid sound, natural sleep. Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

The Wool Pool

We are in receipt of the initial number of the Southwestern Mohair Grower, published in El Paso. The magazine is ably managed by H. A. Stuart, and is something this important industry has long needed.

It is a neat, well-arranged publication and full of items of vast interest to Mohair growers in particular, while it pays more than ordinary mention to things concerning the wool-growing industry.

Noteworthy in its maiden issue, the Mohair Grower, boasts El Paso as a centralization point for wool, and quotes a recent article in the El Paso Herald in support of the same.

The trial of the Mohair Growers in centralizing their product in the pass city, has proven of great convenience to both growers and buyers on account of its many advantages and saving of annoyance and extra expense.

In sympathy with this movement, it will be remembered that the Outlook, one year ago headed a campaign to make Carrizozo a centralization point for wool growers and buyers. How, well we succeeded, could best be told by the those who managed the sales as well as our merchants who profited by the project.

For three days after the growers had brought in their wool and stored it at different places in town, the hotels and restaurants were crowded to capacity with growers, buyers and others interested in the game. Not only was the trade confined to the hotels and restaurants, but all lines of business shared by reason of the project. The growers realized a saving by making short hauls and the buyer had easy access to the wool, so that bidding and selling were made easy.

There were some complaints about smaller prices than growers thought they would receive, but this was due to the wool being in most cases, dirtier than usual—the cause being the high winds through the early spring which made the wool full of dust and sand, but this objection will not be present this year. If it worked last year, it will work again, and now is the time to start the movement.

If we fail, it will not be the fault of The Outlook. Opinions of our wool-growers are solicited and our pages open to them. Let's hear from you — if you want the wool pool again, let's go!

Millions of Model T Fords
are still in active service

FOR nearly twenty years, the Model T Ford led the motor industry and it still is used by more people than any other automobile. More than eight million Model T Fords are in active service today—an indication of their sturdy worth, reliability and economy.

Because of the tremendous investment which people have in these cars and because so many of them will be driven for two, three, and even five more years, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

For the Ford Motor Company has always believed that its full duty consists not only in making a good automobile at a low price, but also in keeping it running efficiently for you as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

No matter where you live, therefore, you can still buy Model T Ford parts with the same assurance as formerly, knowing that they will give you the kind of service you have a right to expect, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

All Ford replacement parts, as you may know, are made of the same materials and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled, and are low in price because of the established Ford policy.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T Ford over the longest period of time, we suggest that you take the car to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts which may be necessary. You may find that a very small expenditure will maintain the value of your car and will be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

WHAT FARM ACCOUNTING MEANT IN THE MANAGEMENT OF A FARM

Successful Farmer Tells How Pencil Helped Guide His Operations and Swell His Income—An Aid to Better Credit—Shows Profits and Prevents Losses.

THE owner and operator of one of the most successful dairy farms in Wisconsin prepared recently for the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association a first hand statement of the part farm accounting has played in the management of his enterprise. This operator, W. J. Dougan, tells the following story:

"When I started farming I began keeping a simple cash account, but soon found that it was not sufficient accounting for farm purposes. Such a record did not take into consideration the vital factors of improvements, growth of livestock or depreciation.

"Since 1910 I have kept a complete account on the accrual basis. The accounts, however, are no more than any farmer can easily keep. The outstanding benefits from keeping such accounts might be listed as follows: 1. Income tax reports made easier. - Accurate and dependable income tax reports can be made from the yearly accounts. By keeping them on file I am always ready to satisfy the tax inspectors.

"2. Accounting makes possible a budget system. - With the accumulated data of the past years, I can make out the budget for the coming year. The income being fairly stable, the budget problem is to adjust the expenditures. If one branch of the business will need extraordinary expenditure such as new machinery, there must be a cut in some other branch, such as building or livestock purchased, or fencing.

"3. Accounting gives a true basis for credit. - Especially has accounting meant for me larger credit and happy relations with my banker. With a complete financial statement before him the banker can intelligently determine what credit I should have. With a full knowledge of the farm profits in the past, I know what credit I should accept. No farmer or business man should accept credit from his bank unless he is able to put the money into productive investment, and his margin of profit assures the ability to repay the loan within a reasonable time.

"For the farm this reasonable time cannot be three or six months. The farm turnover is too slow for that. A helpful and just period of farm credit for working capital must be from one to four years.

"There is another benefit from accounting—the benefit of knowing whether one is going up or down. By extra sales one might be flush of money and buy heavily, thinking he is coming out ahead, but in reality he is sacrificing the future. On the other hand, one might feel pinched, and have little money to spend, but in reality he is laying up capital.

The bankers Agricultural Commission has suggested the following form of farm credit statement, indicating the records necessary to be kept:

IF YOU WANT to provide for misfortune you must learn to Save. IF YOU WANT to succeed, you must learn to Save. IF YOU WANT to have a weight in the affairs of life, you must be a Saver — not a Waster. First National Bank Carrizozo, N. Mexico Try First National Service

Easter Recalls the Promise of Eternal

Of all the anniversaries which humanity celebrates, Easter is the most significant. Christmas is the joyous celebration of a birth, of the beginning of the most conspicuous and potent life in human history. It relates primarily to a life on earth, to an existence that is comprehensible because it is expressed in the material forms that make it tangible, visible, and easily subject to the human understanding. But the whole purpose of that life-related to an existence beyond the material, to another and a different life infinitely more important, and Easter is at once the symbol and the assurance of that larger and greater existence for which man is designed and to which, earthly life is but a vestibule.

The event which commemorates a resurrection from death so well substantiated by the evidence and so tremendous in its implications, that for nearly 2,000 years it has been by far the most powerful influence in the thought and action of mankind. In that event is the promise, the assurance, the proof, the certainty, of immortality. It has given to human life an immeasurable importance, has extended it from a few hours to an eternity, has lifted it up from the dust and clothed it in the apparel of divinity. Eternal life! That is the meaning of Easter.

Firm Belief in Immortality.

But in the necessary freedom of human reasoning there are always theories antagonistic to the meaning and significance of Easter as well as direct denial of that conception of deity upon which the Christian and all religions are based, and denial in particular of the historical evidences upon which the Christian world bases its faith. Positive atheism, however, is not, and never has been, a serious menace to human welfare. There is something inactivity in humanity that protects it from such a negation. Nowhere, and at no time since man became conscious of his own ego, has he been without some consciousness of deity, however vague or distorted it might be. And associated with that there has nearly always been some feeling of hope or belief relating to survival after death that is apparently no less instinctive. The two ideas, the idea of God and the idea of immortality, seem to be set so deeply and firmly within man that intellectual dogmas can make no serious headway against them.

More dangerous, because more subtle, are those mechanistic theories of human life now unhappily prevalent in many of our higher institutions of learning, which reason the soul out of the body in the name of pseudo-science. When a youth is told with an air of authority that thought is merely a physiological process, that ideas and, of course, ideals, are but the products of the mechanical stimulus of a physical organ, the brain, when he is taught indirectly, if not directly, that there is no such thing as mind or spirit or soul; he is, if he accepts these theories, deprived not only of all religious foundations but of all incentive, other than animal, for living. If man is only a mechanical automaton, as some of our psychologists contend, life indeed is without purpose or without hope, and is not worth living.

Consciousness of Soul.

But such fantastic and depressing theories are contradicted by the individual consciousness of every human being. It is inconceivable that even their creators and distributors actually believe in them. They are in effect the denial of all human experience, the rejection of all knowledge. Those activities of consciousness which have created all that is great and fine and wonderful in science, in art, in literature, in architecture, in mechanics, are but fortuitous reactions to mechanical stimulus in a physical organ! We are all Frankenstein's soulless beings produced by a soulless nature! And such pernicious absurdities, clothed in scientific terminology to give them an air of profundity, are gravely imparted to youth as learning. No wonder that now and then a youth says to himself "What's the use?" and commits suicide. And if they expressed truth all humanity, indeed, would better commit suicide and put an end to the colossal farce of existence.

But fortunately for mankind it rejects such nonsense in the guise of learning, with proper contempt. It knows that it has a consciousness that is self, an eye, a mind, a spirit, a soul. "What makes each one of us so great we are is only the soul," said Plato long ago, and that is the common conviction of humanity. And that soul, however it may be subject to material illusions is a material ex-

"He Is Risen"

"Sweet and clear the birds are singing;
At Easter dawn!
Hark, O hear! the bells are ringing
On Easter morn.
And the song that they sing,
The good news we hear them ring,
Is 'Christ, the Lord, is risen, is risen!'"

"Easter buds will soon be flowers,
Fragrant and gay!
Winter's snows give place to showers,
And night to day;
Hills and ley come again
Life and light forever reign!
Yea! Christ, the Lord, is risen, is risen!"

istence, is not in itself subject to a material death. Together with the consciousness of a soul is the virtually universal and unchangeable conviction that it survives physical dissolution. That is a conviction which springs instinctively from the soul consciousness, which is supported by reason, without which, indeed, life itself is irrational, and the truth of which is demonstrated by the event which Easter commemorates. Consciousness, feeling, reason, fact, all unite to make life after death the only rational, the only supportable, the only satisfactory, solution of the problem of human existence.

Death's Terrors Overcome.

It is only in that faith that human life acquires a meaning and a purpose, it is only in that faith that life is given hope and assurance, and it is only in that faith that death loses its terrors and becomes the instrument of promotion and of triumph. In that faith life is a fruitful progress toward a blessed goal, a preparation for eternity; and he who by that faith and by the character of his life has more than destiny secure, may contemplate the event of death with unfeeling tranquillity, knowing it to be but an incident of an eternal life already won. "So live," says the poet—that when the summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan that moves
To that mysterious realm where each
Shall take His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Though not like the quarry slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

What matters death, indeed, when it is but a sleep from which one wakes to a more abundant life!—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Howe About— By ED HOWE

A. Bell Syndicate. WNU Service.

The less a man amounts to, the more sentimental he is; the stronger his disposition to believe that what he says is the truth, and that whatever another says is a vicious lie. A man of intelligence always listens to the other side; he wants to know what there is in it. He is not forever saying, "There is a good deal in it," when there is nothing in it.

Sentiment has fallen, but there is evidence mountain high that industry, temperance, fairness and politeness never fall.

People steeped in sentiment are never fair. They believe that those who contend, however mistakenly, for anything known as "a good idea" partake in a measure of the goodness taught in the idea, and that those who oppose it are disciples of the evil one. The man who has failed in individual betterment excuses himself because he favors world betterment.

Watch the next sentimentalist who appears. His mission is possibly to rob you, certainly to bore you, and never to love or benefit you. A man engaged in screaming that he has a big heart, and mind, and desires to convert the heathen, rescue the poor from oppressor, and rid the world of ills that are at least natural, if not entirely imaginary, is no better than the rest of us and usually not so good.

Every day I am confronted with grave problems, and though I usually come to wrong conclusions, I must decide them. And although the problems require thought and worry, they are trifling. The most insignificant man has his problems as well as the general in command of an army, and must hazard a solution.

Railroad men are our most useful missionaries. In millions of places over the country they have erected signs reading: "Stop, Look, Listen." At many other places they have erected signs bearing these words: "Watch Your Step." As sermons, these two cannot be bettered.

Wives cannot permit husbands to carry on as they please, and husbands know it. Why should husbands be surprised when wives protest?

When a woman puts out a display of flowers, she has an air indicating that women invented flowers, and that men do not care for them.

An old king of antiquity had his way in everything, which included many wives and concubines.

He frequently said the only real love affair, he ever had was with a concubine, and that she was the most womanly woman he ever knew. At her death he built a monument in her memory, and this is famous to this day as the world's finest example of art work.

Marriage is a legal arrangement to conduct the business of bringing up a family, this old wretch said, and that love has as little to do with it as with partners in a manufacturing concern; each has his rights, and they quarrel about them.

I have long observed of literature that it drops love with the signing of the legal papers.

The big idea in life is to get money and reputation in a manner so fair the sheriff cannot take it away from you.

No one so poor he has not something to throw away; and unless watched will throw it where it will make trouble.

I will give to any honest beggar. But so many beggars are capitalists that I often hesitate.

I have noticed that when I am well-behaved I have better luck.

Content seems impossible for mankind. When men and women are unlimited and unrestrained, the evidence of history shows clearly that they are all liable to become monsters of self-indulgence. On the other hand, when they are regulated, driven, their impulse is towards immoderate tragic resorts; towards wild revolts. They have never been able to understand that civilization is restraint and that civilization is easier and more comfortable than savagery and freedom.

I saw a curious statement today, in reading: that of eight average people the average man knows, only one will like him; the other seven will dislike what he says, his way of saying it, and cannot be made his friends.

The Black Death is heard of frequently as the world's greatest calamity. The Black Death was an innocent thing compared with war. And there never was a war that was not a fool trick.

I don't greatly care for the correspondent who writes, "You owe me a letter." When I do not write often I am not interested.

I have always believed a good many women propose. Every candid man must admit he has declined proposals of marriage.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Gigantic Combination of Capital Announced at New York.

THE New York World announced that it regarded as an accomplished fact the biggest communications merger on record. This, it stated, was the combination of the Mackay companies, operating 5,000 Postal telegraph offices in the United States, and the International Telephone and Telegraph company.

The deal brings together companies with combined assets of $225,000,000 and with about 125,000 miles of joined cable, telephone and telegraph wires in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Central and South America.

The merger as outlined will see the ascension of the Behm brothers—Eustace Behm and Herman Behm—whose family fortune was founded in Porto Rico, over the Mackays, California forty-niners.

The Mackay fortune was founded when John W. Mackay, father of the present head of the Mackay companies, discovered the famous Comstock lode in 1845. The elder Mackay later started the Postal Telegraph company. His son obtained control of commercial cables and last year the Federal Telegraph system on the Pacific coast. Mr. Mackay's personal fortune is estimated at $50,000,000.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE believes the United States can still be helpful to Nicaragua by assisting the people of that country to choose its government, despite the action of the Nicaraguan house in rejecting the McCoy bill providing for supervision of the coming election by the marine corps.

This view was reflected by an announcement from the Navy department that two additional battalions of marines had been ordered to Nicaragua to reinforce the 2,700 already on duty there.

The two additional battalions will bring the total of United States forces in Nicaragua to 3,700, the greatest number ever to operate in that country at one time. Should the marine force be unable to cope with the situation, about 1,500 blue jackets and marines on board five cruisers in Nicaraguan waters will be available for shore duty.

Secretary Wilbur said the additional marine forces were to be used primarily for overseeing the coming elections and not for action against General Sandino, rebel leader, although the troops may be employed to further the general activities of the marines in Nicaragua.

The problem now confronting the Washington government, in Mr. Coolidge's opinion, is that of devising some plan under which the United States can fulfill its obligations under the Stimson agreement according to the original spirit of that pact—one of helpfulness to the Nicaraguan people in the selection of its public officials.

ADMISSION that "we may have overlooked something" by the builder of the collapsed St. Francis dam featured the first official inquiry to fix the dam blame at the coroner's inquest over the bodies of 60 of the dam victims.

said to be in the hands of investigating authorities. So much credence was placed on the findings of deputy sheriffs assigned to the flood area that every reservoir and dam in the entire Los Angeles water system was put under a heavy guard.

AN AMERICAN girl was married March 17 to one of the wealthiest of Hindu princes in a ceremony modern in manner, medieval in splendor and ancient ritual.

The wedding which united Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle with Sir Tukooljrao Holkar, former maharajah of Indore, was witnessed by thousands of Hindus, dressed like true princes and princesses and wearing the costliest jewels money can buy. After the ceremony, which ended ten days of ritual whereby Miss Miller became a Hindu, princess and a member of the Holkar family, bride and groom were hosts at a banquet to 10,000 guests.

FEDERAL supervision of the coal industry, as tentatively suggested by Senator Gooding (Rep., Idaho), was endorsed on behalf of the United Mine Workers by John L. Lewis, president. Lewis, who has informed the senate investigating committee that his organization is ready to meet with operators to suggest legislation to stabilize the industry, declared that the union would be "practically unanimous" in supporting federal control of coal production and marketing, because the Gooding proposal is the most constructive made to date.

The coal commission idea has been endorsed also by several coal operators during the inquiry, but others refused to commit themselves.

ONE of the most pitiful tragedies in the annals of the American navy was revealed in the Charlestown (Mass.) navy yard. Eight remaining bodies were taken from the submarine S-4, now in dry dock there. At the same time it was made clear what occurred inside that vessel after it was rammed and sunk by the coast guard destroyer Paulding, on a chasing duty, near Provincetown December 27.

Conditions shown as the water was pumped out of the S-4 made it evident that every one of the 40 men in the submarine had found temporary safety in locked compartments and had died many hours later either suffocated by deadly gases or smothered by the exhaustion of the air.

Thirty-four men had lived for an undetermined number of hours in the motor and engine room compartments. Five or six men who had lived approximately three days in the forward torpedo room had died, it was indicated, sleeping peacefully in their bunks. Some of them had partly undressed to make themselves more comfortable.

COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH is now a congressional medal of honor man. President Coolidge planned the coveted emblem, the highest decoration of the American government, upon the blushing trans-Atlantic hero during a brief, impressive ceremony March 31, on the White House grounds.

Vice President Dawes, Speaker Longworth (Rep., Ohio), members of the cabinet, and high officers of the army and navy witnessed the presentation.

THE Bank of the Soviet Union has engaged the New York law firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett to fight the Bank of France's attempt to replenish $5,210,000 in gold sent here by the Russian institution and is prepared to bring a counter-claim for losses it may sustain through the Russian action.

It is estimated that the Russian bank is losing from $700 to $1,000 in interest daily on the metal, which lies in the vaults of the Chase National bank and the Equitable Trust company. Had it not been for the French action the gold might have been out of the country by now or else used as the basis of credits with private American interests.

Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett are scrutinizing the French-Soviet treaty to determine whether the Bank of France's action is in accordance with its terms. Under the treaty, all claims by French nationals against the Soviet government are subject to diplomatic adjustment. A spokesman for the Bank of the Soviet Union said that, although the treaty has been in force for some years, the Bank of France has never filed a claim for the gold until the present action.

ACTING upon the instruction of the Canadian cabinet, Gov. Gen. Willingdon of Ontario approved orders in council commuting to life imprisonment the death sentence passed on Dorris McDonald and confining the death sentence passed on George McDonald, her husband, both Americans. They were found guilty of the murder of Adelard Bouchard, Lachine (Quebec) taxi driver.

A TWO-MILLION DOLLAR trades school as a memorial to his father, John Wanamaker, is provided in the will of Rodman Wanamaker, Philadelphia merchant. The document disposes of an estate of from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000, instead of $50,000,000, which was the first estimate of its value.

THE London Daily Express says Lord Balfour, lord president of the council, former prime minister and one of the outstanding British statesmen of the present generation, is suffering from heart trouble and has canceled all his engagements. He has been ill for some time. In January he suffered a severe attack of laryngitis.

THE $274,000,000 new warship construction program was approved by the house and sent to the senate. The vote was 257 to 57. In passing the Butler bill, the house voted for the construction of 15 cruisers of 10,000 tons displacement each and one aircraft carrier of 13,500 tons.

The measure carries a provision requesting the President to "urge the necessity" of another international conference for the limitation of naval armaments and gives him authority either in whole or in part in the event of a limitation agreement.

RECEIPTS from the March 15 income tax returns reported to the Treasury department to the close of business March 17, aggregated $215,550,000. On the same date a year ago the returns aggregated $197,000,599, an increase this year of $17,558,000. Should this proportion hold good for the entire collection on income for the last calendar year, the treasury would receive about $100,000,000 above its estimate.

TWENTY-TWO of the 25 countries represented on the preparatory committee for a League of Nations disarmament conference lined up against the Soviet plan for immediate complete disarmament.

Hugh S. Gibson, the United States; David Whitmarsh, Cuba; Baron Rollo Jacquemyns, Belgium; Jonker Rutgers, Holland; E. Heening, Sweden; M. Sokal, Poland; and M. Markovitch, Yugo-Slavia, added their criticisms to others, making the Russian defeat overwhelming.

NORA Bayes, comedienne who delighted audiences in Broadway and London theaters for more than a score of years and cheered many persons privately by her generous acts, died at a Brooklyn hospital.

She had gone almost directly from singing at two benefits to the hospital for an abdominal operation. She was apparently well on the way to recovery when a relapse came. Miss Bayes once wrote that she was born in Joliet, Ill., and other sources fixed the date as 1880. Her real name was Leonora Goldberg. She is survived by her husband, Benjamin L. Friedland, whom she married three years ago on the steamship Leviathan, and by three young children she had adopted.

AN INVESTIGATION of the 1928 Presidential and congressional campaign by a special senate committee has been proposed from two sources.

Senator Nye (Rep.) of North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot Dome committee, which has been inquiring into past campaign funds, says that, if no one else proposes a resolution to have a committee check up on the organization of the two parties, he will do so. In a formal statement Senator Capper (Rep.) of Kansas gave notice that he would seek to have the senate provide the machinery to inquire into expenditures in the coming campaign.
