This Story

was told last week by a reliable party, who was an eye-witness to the (what is it?) which was described as follows:

While going over the old Indian Trail near the Nogal Peak, an object crossed the trail and when on the south side, it turned so that the party referred to, could get a good look at it and could not be mistaken. It was about the size of the average bear, but its fur was short and slick until it came to the head. Here is where the puzzle comes in. The head was more like that of a human being than an animal and contained long black hair. It stood on its hind feet for a moment, then escaped into the crevices of a rock with a weird cry. The mountaineer is now looking up a suitable bunch of neighbors to visit the spot with the hope of capturing the animal.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Lovelace and Mrs. Elizabeth Gallacher left Wednesday for El Paso, where they will spend the week-end attending to some business matters.

THE STORY OF DANIEL

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 1:1-4, 19, 20; 2:17-24.

GOLDEN TEXT—They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Boy Who Obeyed.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy Who Obeyed INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Preparations for a Life Work.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Character and Career of Daniel.

I. Daniel in Captivity (1:1-4). His captivity took place in the third year of Jehoiakim's reign by Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon. While a tender youth, he was torn from home ties and made a captive in a foreign land to be trained for court service.

II. Daniel in Training (1:5-20). In order to be of the largest service in the kingdom, it was necessary that he be taught to love the king and nation and to be detached from his own people and religion.

1. Daily portion of the king's meat and drink appointed (v. 5). The object of this was:

(1) To gain the good will of Daniel. Such recognition would encourage him to give himself to the king's service.

(2) To supply the proper food for his physical and intellectual growth.

2. His name changed (v. 7). He was named Belteshazzar. The object in this change was the obliteration of national and religious connections, and his identification with the Babylonian nation. Daniel means, God is my judge. Belteshazzar means, Bel's Prince.

3. Daniel's purpose of heart (v. 8). Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's meat and wine. He requested to be tested for ten days with the food which the law of his God allowed, agreeing to abide by the results.

4. Daniel's reward (vv. 15-20). (1) Physical health (v. 15). The king's meat and wine would have been palatable, but to have partaken would have violated his conscience.

(2) Mental growth (vv. 17-20). He was found to be ten times wiser than the magicians and astrologers.

(3) Socially (v. 19). He was not only next to the king, but president of the college of wise men and prime minister of the empire, continuing through several dynasties (v. 21).

(4) Spiritual (v. 17). God revealed to him Nebuchadnezzar's dream and gave visions stretching across the centuries. The secret of Daniel's success was:

- a. Conscientiousness.
- b. Loyalty to God.
- c. Decision of character.
- d. Prayerfulness.
- e. Patience.
- f. Courtesy.

III. Daniel interpreting Nebuchadnezzar's Dream (2:14-46). 1. The dream revealed (vv. 14-35). Nebuchadnezzar had a dream which made a tremendous impression on his mind, but its content had been forgotten. He urgently demanded of the wise men that they make known the dream and its interpretation. Because of their failure to do so the king was furious and commanded all the wise men of Babylon to be slain. Daniel sought an interview with the king and obtained time. In answer to prayer, God gave to Daniel the content of the dream. He told the king that in his dream he had beheld a great image with a head of gold, breast and arms of silver, belly and thighs of brass, legs of iron, and feet part of iron and part of clay. He beheld this image smitten by a stone which became a great mountain.

2. The dream interpreted (vv. 36-40). (1) The head of gold represented the Chaldean monarchy, with Nebuchadnezzar as its head (vv. 37, 38).

(2) The breast and arms of silver represented the Medo-Persian power (v. 39).

(3) The belly and thighs of brass represented the Grecian empire under Alexander the Great (v. 40).

(4) The legs of iron represented the Roman empire (vv. 40-43).

(5) The stone cut out of the mountain (vv. 44, 45). This is the Kingdom of Heaven so graphically set forth in the New Testament.

a. The stone is Christ (Isa. 28:16; Matt. 21:42-44).

b. When did the stone strike? Observe that the impact upon this man was upon his feet (v. 34).

c. The Kingdom of Heaven is brought into realization through a great catastrophe.

Accepting Christ

We urge men to accept Christ, to accept Him now, and they say, "Well, we will think about it" or "Yes, I know it ought to be attended to." Why, you wouldn't act that way five minutes about your health or your wife's health, or your business.—Dr. Matthe D. Babcock.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

Enforce the Law

The last legislature passed a law requiring that any sheep or sheep carcasses that are transported within the state, be inspected. The purpose of this law is to eliminate the promiscuous stealing of sheep which has been greatly facilitated by the increasing use of trucks and automobiles, etc.

The following are the provisions of the law to which we call the attention of the public:

First: Anyone desiring to convey sheep and goats, or carcasses thereof, on trucks, automobiles or wagons, within the state, must first get an inspection certificate from one of the authorized Sheep Sanitary Board Brand or Field Inspectors.

Second: Before slaughtering any sheep or goats that are to be conveyed from one part of the state to another, the carcasses and pelts must be tagged by an authorized inspector, and the person doing the slaughtering must satisfy the inspector of his rightful ownership to the animals to be slaughtered.

Third: All duly authorized peace officers of any county in the state are authorized to stop anyone transporting sheep or goats, or carcasses thereof, and examine same to ascertain if the party transporting said livestock has the proper certificate and is the rightful owner thereof.

Fourth: Sheep pelts or goat skins that are offered for transportation or sale, or are transported, are not required to be inspected or tagged.

Fifth: This law does not affect the transportation of livestock on land under exclusive control of the party transporting same. This important law will be strictly enforced by officers of the law over the state.

Has Right to Destroy Unclaimed Trespassing Stock

In final decree entered July 2, 1929, at Phoenix, in the case of United States vs. county attorney and sheriff of Apache county, Arizona, (Equity No. 130-Preseott Division) U. S. District Judge E. C. Jacobs upholds impounding Regulation T-12, promulgated by the secretary of agriculture designed to cope with the trespass problem on the national forests.

The text of the regulation states, in substance: The impounding regulation provides that if domestic livestock are found trespassing on national forest land, and if not removed upon reasonable notice they may be impounded by the forest service. If such stock is unclaimed or not removed by the owner after notice and advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation, be sold at public auction and where no bid is received they may be condemned and destroyed.

On Sept. 23, 1927, Forest Ranger Jess T. Fears disposed of a horse by shooting, belonging to Conner Trammell of St. Johns, Ariz. This horse, with others, had been impounded under the regulation and remained unclaimed and unredeemed. The local officers, failing in their efforts to sell the animal at public or private sale, finally disposed of it by shooting. The county attorney of Apache county filed a criminal complaint against Ranger Fears and he was convicted in the local court, which conviction was reversed by the supreme court of Arizona on technical grounds, and the U.S. filed a petition for an injunction against the county attorney and sheriff of Apache county to restrain them from further interference with forest officers in the enforcement of impounding regulation T-12, and also asked that the validity of said regulation be decreed.

SEES NEED FOR SINGLE TONGUE FOR ALL WORLD

London Telegraph Predicts Use of One or Two Languages in All Countries

Will the very rapid strides made recently by international telephony lead to a common international language?

A recent issue of the Daily Telegraph of London, commenting on the fact that the language difficulty today is one of the main barriers to international communications, foresees the time when business and political intercourse will make some one or two languages understood by the educated all the world over. From time to time an effort has been made to invent an artificial language for international use and such a system still has many advocates. The linking up of so many foreign countries by telephone during the past year has given new impetus to the movement and an international Esperanto conference, held in Antwerp last summer, attracted considerable attention and was widely attended.

In many circles, however, there is a feeling that the extension of international communications is apt to lead, not so much to the use of an artificial tongue, but to a wider study and use of one or two languages such as suggested by the Daily Telegraph. English and French or possibly German at once suggest themselves as the ideal languages for international communication.

The continued extension of international telephony makes the interest in this problem a keen one, and particularly is this true of Americans, for in this country there is not so great a speaking knowledge of foreign tongues as there is in Europe.

PASSES MILLION MARK

Canada now has over 1,300,000 telephones in operation, the Province of Ontario leading with over half a million. The Bell Telephone Company of Canada operates both in Ontario and Quebec, but there is a total of about 600 separate and distinct telephone systems in Ontario. The Province of Saskatchewan, however, has over 1,300 separate systems.

The July sale is still on at Prehm's Bargain House. You'll be surprised at the wonderful bargains. Pay the store a visit.

REAL SOUND-PROOF ROOMS AT TELEPHONE LABORATORIES

Research Work is Carried on in These Rooms

ABSOLUTE freedom from noise is a condition often desired in acoustic research and development work. For this reason sound proof rooms are part of the equipment of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York City, where investigations on telephone instruments, acoustics, and audiology are always in progress. Besides preventing the entry of sound, these rooms have specially treated interiors so that reverberation will not occur. They have special ventilating systems to admit fresh air without allowing noise to enter. In all, there are 13 of these rooms, varying in size from booths in which one or two persons can work to large rooms 36 by 36 feet in floor dimensions.

One of the sound proof rooms has changeable interior walls so that the amount of reverberation can be varied. In this way, in any investigation the effects of different room characteristics can be readily investigated. The equivalent of going from a fairly "dead" room to an extremely reverberant one like that in a vacant house can be obtained without any moving of the test apparatus.

The walls of most of the rooms consist of a four-inch brick wall on the inner side of which is an air space, then a layer of boards of matted vegetable fibre, then a layer of sheet metal, and then four additional layers of matted vegetable fibre. Both inside and outside doors are provided and have clamping handles similar to those used on water-tight bulkhead doors in ships.

The sound proof rooms are used in tests on various kinds of telephone transmitters and receivers, and in studies of speech and hearing. The purpose of these investigations is the improvement of the clearness of telephone transmission. These rooms are also used in the development of microphones and loud speakers.

NEW CABLE OPENED

As a result of the opening of a new telephone cable between Lina and Buchs in Austria, direct telephone communication has now been provided between Vienna and the Swiss cities of Zurich, Geneva, and Basle. The average waiting time for an ordinary international telephone call from Vienna to cities in Switzerland is from ten to thirty minutes, but urgent calls, for which the public pays three times the ordinary rates, can be completed in less time.

When the Cascade tunnel of the Great Northern Railway was opened a total of 4,300 miles of telephone wire was used in the National Broadcasting Company's hookup.

33—The Grip.
It is essential to progress in golfing skill for the beginner to learn the different elements of the swing and it is equally essential for him or her to know the reason. It is not enough to be told to grip the club in a certain way. There is nothing surer than that the pupil will change the grip unconsciously and will then founder hopelessly in making a shot.

Let the left arm hang naturally from the shoulder, with the palm toward the thigh. Then, keeping the left arm straight and with the muscles tautened a trifle, bring the arm straight in front, with the knuckles pointing forward. Clench the fist in this position and look at it and the arm carefully, for it is more than probable this is the exact way the arm and hand should look in the swing. Hold a golf club in front with the right hand and grasp it with the left hand with the hand looking just as it did in the first position. The club naturally should lie in the crook of the fingers; not grasped with the palm in contact with the handle as with a baseball bat or ax. Looking at the left hand, one should see all the knuckles plainly. Grasp the club tightly, up to the point of being certain it is under complete control. Holding the club firmly in this way, turn the hand over to the left until the V formed by the space between the thumb and first finger points toward you instead of toward the right shoulder. Now look at the position of the club face. It is turned over and will smother or hook the ball if in that position at the moment of impact. Now come back to the right position, with all the knuckles in sight and take the club straight back to the top of the swing, with the left arm straight and without turning. If this is executed properly to the top of the swing, the left arm will be straight and there will be only a little bend in the wrist. The wrist will not be under the shaft. That would, of course, be wholly wrong, no matter what authorities can be quoted to the contrary. The position of the wrist at the top of the swing should be at eight o'clock, not six. As briefly as may be, that will be the correct grip for you.

Colored Laces Are Combined

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Lace of one color combined with lace of another, is fashion's latest interpretation of the beautiful. The featuring of color contrast is an off recurring theme this season in the fabric realm, however, applied to lace, the idea takes on a "something different" aspect.

In developing the lovely gown in the picture the designer allies lustrous old rose allover rayon lace with lace in a drags-of-wine shade. The model would be equally as attractive in black and white or in two tones of the same color, such as navy with a lighter blue, dark gray with pale gray, beige with eggshell tint, or many other equally effective combinations.

Another elaboration of the lace theme is that of hand-painting it. Sometimes the idea is carried out by tinting in the background, thus accenting the floral patterning or motif of whatever type. It's really worth while to try this, if not for an entire dress at least for a lace caplet to be worn with sleeveless frocks. These are liquid fast-color paints which can be obtained at any art store, and which can be used successfully on chiffon and laces.

Sometimes instead of painting in a background, the reverse process is employed. That is certain flowers or motifs are selected and these are touched up with color with charming results.

Many of the french laces are inter-worked with fine tulle backgrounds. That is, these laces come that way, and are not the result of individual workmanship.

It seems as if the world of fashion cannot get enough of lace this season. Not only lace evening gowns and wraps crowd the picture but the ensemble entirely of lace is outstanding for formal afternoon wear. In fact, the sleeveless lace dress with a matching coat serves for both daytime and evening, for the wrap need not be worn at all times. An economical plan is to have made a pair of detachable sleeves which can be snapped into the gown in readiness should occasion arise.

How to Clean Silver

To remove tarnish from silver, place three teaspoonfuls of salt, three teaspoonfuls of soda and three quarts of water in a bright aluminum pan with the silver. The solution must cover the silver. Boil three minutes. Remove the silver, rinse in hot water and dry. An old aluminum pan may be kept for this purpose but it should not be used for cooking. A bright piece of aluminum may be used with the solution in an enamel-warp pan, provided each piece of silver touches the metal direct or through another piece.

This method of cleaning is satisfactory with solid or plated silver. It is not successful with German silver, or metal alloys.

Combination Outfit Liked

Jane is going to wear one of her sun suits almost all day long while she visits a little friend who has a wonderful back yard with a sand pile in matching dress has been designed, made as simply as possible, with the lower part of the sun suit serving as panties. By undoing one button and pulling the dress over her head, Jane is ready for play, and equally quickly, all dressed again to go home.

Little combination outfits like this will appeal to mothers who are obliged to take their children in public conveyance before reaching the beach or park where sun baths are possible, or those who for any other reason wish to be prepared for a quick change in the child's costume. The bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture has been much interested in designing practical, attractive clothes for little children,

Cement From Oyster Shells
Quantities of cement for all kinds of building purposes are being manufactured from oyster shells dredged from the waters of San Francisco bay. The shells extend over a large area, the beds ranging from 5 to 50 feet deep. Two big dredges, equipped with Diesel engines which supply electricity for the pumps that suck up the shells and deliver them through 18-inch pipes into dredges, work from three to five miles off shore with crews of ten men each.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Much Natural Ice Used
Of the 60,000,000 tons of ice produced and sold in 1923 about 10,000,000 tons were taken from rivers, lakes and reservoirs. Seven per cent of the members of the National Association of Ice Industries deal exclusively in natural ice, 5 per cent sell both manufactured and natural ice, while 83 per cent deal only in manufactured ice.

Fairy Tale for Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"I have it, I have it," shouted the Fairy Queen. And all the fairies from far and near came rushing to her, saying:

"Beautiful Fairy Queen, what have you?"

"I know why Mr. Sun is looking so gorgeously this late afternoon," she said.

All the fairies looked at Mr. Sun and then the Fairy Queen ran in and out of the groups of fairies whispering something to each and all of them.

"Now!" she exclaimed. "Ready, set, go!"

"They're going to have a race," said Mr. Sun when he heard the Fairy Queen say "Ready!"

His face had been a little sad. He was afraid they had forgotten. A tiny cloud had passed over it, but it had lasted only a second, for after the Fairy Queen had said "Go!" every little fairy shouted with might and main: "Many happy returns of the day, Mr. Sun. Many happy returns of the day. Many, many, many, many, many, many happy returns of the day!"

How Mr. Sun smiled! And the sun fairies all came out and danced and played games up in the sky.

"Ah, you remember," said Mr. Sun. "Yes, you remember, to be sure, that when I wear my beautiful red robe as I start for bed it means that it is my birthday."

"And you have so many birthdays," said the fairies, laughing merrily.

"To be sure, to be sure," said Mr. Sun. "An old fellow such as I am must have lots of birthdays so as to keep himself young."

"Well, well, well," said the Fairy Queen, "you will have to explain that speech."

"How can you keep young having so many birthdays? Each birthday makes you a bit older, isn't that so?"

"I'll tell you, Fairy Queen, and little fairies," said Mr. Sun. "That is true when it comes to the birthdays of the earth people—boys and girls and grownups, but not when it comes to the birthdays of the sun."

"You see, I am so very, very, very old that it doesn't really make much difference how old I am."

"But I like to have birthdays often, and to celebrate them by wearing my beautiful red robe, because it keeps me young—like a boy or girl.

"Boys and girls have good sense to like birthdays and to celebrate them with candies and cakes and ice cream and maybe creamed chicken—though perhaps I should have named those foods in the opposite order from the way I did."

All the fairies laughed when they heard old Mr. Sun suggesting creamed chicken as a part of a birthday party.

"You see," he said, as he saw that they were laughing at that idea of his, "I know they sometimes have creamed chicken, for I have looked down upon birthday celebrations where they have had supper in the garden.

"But you see it keeps me young, like boys and girls, to celebrate my birthday often, and I do it by wearing my bright red robe as you know."

"The earth people always speak of the gorgeous sunset, on my birthday, but they don't know the reason for it."

"We do," shouted the fairies.

"Yes, and I don't mind if you tell some other friends," Mr. Sun said.

"You might tell boys and girls or any nice people."

"We will if we get the chance," said the fairies.

So Mr. Sun went to bed, wearing his birthday robe of red, while everyone admired the brilliant sunset, and while the sun fairies and twilight fairies said good-night to each other, for the sun fairies had gone to bed, too!

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Eggs are most digestible if cooked at a temperature below the boiling point.

Sixteen-mesh is the best size screen for windows and doors because it not only keeps out flies but also mosquitoes and smaller insects.

A coarse scrubbing brush kept near the door is convenient to clean muddy shoes and better than a knife which may cut or scrape the leather.

To dry a printed silk dress, use turkish towels to absorb moisture and to prevent the color from running. Use three towels; one below the dress, one inside between the front and back, and one above, and roll up until the garment is dry enough to iron.

Some Good Things to Eat

By NELLIE MAXWELL

During hot weather frozen salads and frozen dressing for well chilled salads make a strong appeal.

There is no limit to the way this idea may be developed. A tart lemon sherbet with a tablespoonful or two of peanut butter added makes a delicious dressing for a banana or a shredded cabbage salad.

With the salad well chilled and the dressing placed on it just at the time of serving, the result will be satisfactory. The flavors are better blended if the salad is moistened with a little mayonnaise or cream dressing and topped with the icy one.

Frozen Cream Mayonnaise.—Fold one cupful of mayonnaise flavored with lemon juice into a cupful of whipped cream sweetened with one tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Pour into a mold, seal and pack in ice and salt and let set an hour before using.

nation of pineapple, firm, good flavored apple, a bit of fresh or canned pear, a half dozen or more of minced marshmallows, cover with whipped cream to which a tablespoonful of any good mayonnaise dressing has been added in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a cupful of the whipped cream. Serve all well chilled.

The banana when well ripened is a deep yellow flecked with brown and no sign of green at the tips. Do not be afraid to buy bananas that are quite brown, if firm, for they are best when very ripe. Nuts and bananas supply carbohydrates and proteins. pineapple has a digestive element, apple has always been known to keep the doctor away, so with this combination one may be sure to have a healthful dish. Serve with the following dressing: Take two egg yolks, one-half cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, two tablespoonfuls each of butter, lemon juice, vinegar, one of olive oil, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika and three-fourths of a cupful of whipped cream. Cook egg yolks, beaten with sugar, butter and other ingredients over water, stirring constantly. Cool, add the cream and pour over the salad.

Summer for the housemother in many homes means just more work and worry. Try to make this summer one long vacation, with the children home from school with planning each to do his share, the mother, too, may have some of the joy of the good old summertime.

Salads, sandwiches, cold drinks may take the place of hearty meals during the warm weather, with the family feeling better for the simple foods. Today every boy and girl is called upon occasionally to prepare a dish for supper on Saturday night, or camping trips and they, if well practiced at home, are happy to share in such entertainment.

To be able to make a tasty salad, or prepare a rabbit stew is an accomplishment of which to be proud. Everybody likes a fruit salad and they are simplest of all to prepare.

The Cozy Screened Porch

Outside View of Back Yard as Seen From Screened Porch, Maryland Farm Home.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

What do you see from your kitchen as you work? And have you a restful corner near or in your kitchen where you can relax occasionally? There are times almost every day when you may have a few minutes free, not enough to go all the way to another part of the house, but well worth using, if possible, for sitting down and in the homely phrase, "taking the best of one's feet."

Here is a glimpse of a screened porch attached to a farm kitchen near New Market, Md. Following suggestions made by the county home demonstration agent, the porch was arranged with a divan and an easy chair where the intervals between the more active kitchen tasks could be passed restfully. During six months of the year at least, and in Maryland sometimes more, the homemaker can sit out here when preparing the vegetables or chatting with a morning caller, or pick up her darning bag, or otherwise spend the odd minutes that count up in the course of a day. The outlook into the yard is made attractive by shrubs and flowering plants. It can be seen from the kitchen, too.

Home beautification is one of the home-making activities being carried on by a great many farm women under the stimulus of extension workers of the United States Department of Agriculture and the various states. Suggestions are made for improving the existing surroundings, both out of doors and inside, by simple means such as this porch. They may usually be accomplished by the homemaker herself with very little assistance or expense.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is expelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take. Any drug store has the genuine, prescription product.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Flight of Yancey and Williams Across Atlantic—Big Postal Deficit.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

ONE more the Atlantic ocean has been conquered by American aviators. Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams were the heroes of this achievement, having flown from Old Orchard Beach, Maine, to the vicinity of Sanfander, Spain. Though they fell short of their destination—Rome—by 900 miles the flight across the ocean was considered a great feat. It was made in the Bellanca monoplane Pathfinder in 8 1/2 hours and except for about two hours the airmen were unable to see the water because of dense fogs. Head winds exhausted their supply of gasoline and they were compelled to land on the Spanish coast just a little beyond the place where the French transatlantic plane Yellow Bird was forced down recently.

Spanish officials and citizens gave them a hearty welcome and hunted up a supply of gasoline with which, next day, they completed their flight to Rome. They landed at the Littorio field there and the officials and people greeted them uproariously. Even Premier Mussolini was at the field to meet them, but as they were late in arriving he had left just before they landed and soon afterward received them at his residence. They were made the guests of the Italian government and treated royally.

The Chicago Tribune's amphibian plane 'Watin' Bowler, which started from Chicago to blaze a route to Berlin via Greenland and Iceland, was held up for days in the Hudson Bay region and on the tip of Labrador by unfavorable weather conditions. As its pilots were in no especial hurry they wisely declined to take long chances. At Port Burwell the work of refueling was exceedingly difficult, and the plane was in constant danger of being demolished by floating ice.

Two air-rail services between New York and Los Angeles were inaugurated last week. One carries passengers by the Pennsylvania railroad to Columbus, Ohio, and thence by plane to the California city. The scheduled time for the trip is 48 hours. The other route is by the New York Central to Chicago, by the Santa Fe or the Alton to Kansas City, and from there on by airplane to Los Angeles, with a scheduled time of 46 hours. The services started from both ends of the routes.

DORNIER works in Germany has just completed a seaplane so huge that it makes even the Germans gasp in amazement. It is designed to carry 100 passengers and is said to be three times the size of the big American NC-4. It has three decks and a navigating bridge for the crew. The pilots, according to Doctor Dornier, the designer, will have nothing to do with the motors, but simply sit on the glass encased bridge carrying out the captain's instructions. The mechanics will be directed by the chief engineer. Should half the motors fail simultaneously the plane can continue its flight with the crew repairing the damage while the pilot calmly remains at his post. The constructors are convinced the ship, with its inch thick sides, will be able to ride indefinitely in the heavy Atlantic sea.

DURING naval maneuvers in the Irish sea the British submarine H-47, a small vessel, collided with the big submarine L-12 and sank in 300 feet, carrying all but two of the crew of 23 men. Two men were lost from the larger craft. Of course steps to rescue the imprisoned men were undertaken at once, but the depth and bad weather made them unavailing. The wreck was located and another submarine dived and tried to communicate with the crew of the H-47 by code signals with a bell, but no response was heard.

PROTESTS against the rates proposed in the house tariff bill have been received from 36 nations and have been submitted to the senate finance committee, which is laboring over the measure during the congressional recess.

Denmark's protest centers principally on the new rates on hides, skins, and natural flint; Belgium's on glass, cement, bricks, leather, and chemicals; France's, on the general tariff situation and the balance of trade; Italy's, on virtually every commodity imported from that country; Netherlands, on diamonds, bulbs, strawboard; Spain's, cork and peppers; Switzerland's, watches and embroideries; Great Britain's, wool and glue; Mexico's, live stock and vegetables, and Uruguay's, meats.

"HAVE you one of these?" was the query heard all over the country on Wednesday, and the questioner would display one of the new smallest bills, the issuance of which began on that day. Some of the recipients of these little bills objected to them, and for a time the bank employees had trouble with the currency until their fingertips became accustomed to it. Treasury officials hope the new bills will be found more convenient and will reduce the danger of counterfeiting. Of those that have been put out, the $1 bill bears the portrait of Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Hamilton; $20, Jackson, and $50, Grant. In each case the back embellishment is appropriate.

PRESIDENT HOOVER is said to be considerably disturbed by a report from Postmaster General Brown indicating that the Post-Office department faces the possibility of a deficit of $137,000,000 for the year 1929. The annual losses have risen from $13,000,000 in 1924 to this huge sum, which includes $42,000,000, which the department must pay to railroads as the result of a decision of the court of claims. Mr. Hoover has ordered an exhaustive survey of the entire postal service to determine the causes of the big losses.

One step which could be taken by the President without legislation and in advance of completion of the survey would be a reduction in the contract price for transportation of air mail and a relative increase in air mail rates. In other quarters it was said he would be urged to consider the contention that modernization of the Post-Office department's accounting methods would wipe out a large portion of the deficit.

Under the present system, the Postal department is required by law to handle hundreds of thousands of tons of congressional "franked" and departmental "free" mail matter annually. All of it must be accorded first-class handling and the system does not permit the department to take credit for the free service in its accounting.

PREMIER POINCARÉ'S great battle for political life began with the opening of the debate in the French parliament over the ratification of the debt agreements with the United States and Great Britain. If the chamber of deputies refuses to ratify, as Poincaré demands, the government must resign. The premier insists there must be no reservations, but the foreign relations committee voted for the insertion of a declaration that France never should be called on to pay more than she receives in reparations from Germany. The opposition also favors a reservation providing for a moratorium whenever the capacity of France to pay is not equal to the installments due under the debt accord. The ultra-nationalist group in the chamber, the strongest foe to ratification in any form, refused to delegate Louis Marin, who has been their leader, as their representative in the discussions, and this was taken to mean that they had decided to support Poincaré. In that case, it was predicted, the premier would be able to muster a small majority and the ratification would be signed by August 1.

Premier Poincaré aims at ratification outright by decree, thus maintaining the principle of France's good faith in paying up its debts. Then he hopes to get the chamber's approval for a separate bill embodying reservations, the principal among which is the clause making France's payments to America dependent on Germany's payments to France. France has replied to England concerning the plan for a conference on August 16 to put into operation the Young plan for reparations, guardedly approving the British view that there should be but one conference at which the ministers and experts could deal simultaneously with all political as well as economic and financial issues. But France still thinks the conference should not be held in London.

Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, had another conference in London with Ambassador Dawes on the subject of naval disarmament, but no further announcements were made. The British Labor government, it was said, intends to make severe cuts in the naval program adopted by the last government, possibly discontinuing work on the construction of six submarines and other war vessels.

RUMANIAN officials uncovered a plot to overthrow the present government of that excitable country and possibly to establish a military dictatorship. Numerous arrests were made and documents were seized that, it was said, were signed "In the name of his majesty, King Carol II," indicating that the exiled prince was aware of the conspiracy and had given his consent to it.

RUPTURE between Nationalist China and Soviet Russia is seen as the certain result of a renewal of the old feud concerning control of the Manchurian unit of the Trans-Siberian railway system. The governor of the district of Harbin arrested 174 Soviet officials and employees of the Chinese Eastern railway and promptly deported 37 of them across the Siberian border. Chinese directors replaced the Russians. Among those arrested were the Russian vice director of railways and the director of the trading commission. All Russian banking and trading operations in Harbin were closed. This action by the Chinese logically follows the recent raid on the Russian consulate general at Harbin which uncovered evidence that Russian unions and other Soviet agencies in northern Manchuria were spreading Communist propaganda designed to disrupt Chinese unity.

SOMETHING of a sensation was created when customs officials in San Francisco seized and broke open the baggage of Mrs. Ying Kao, wife of the Chinese vice consul in that city, on her arrival from China, and took opium valued at a million dollars from her seven trunks and four suitcases. The search of the baggage, which Mrs. Kao's attorneys said violated diplomatic rights, was conducted by permission of the State department. At this writing it has not been decided what action to take against the woman and her husband.

Mrs. Kao said the contents of the trunks were the property of friends in China, who influenced her to use her diplomatic privileges to bring baggage into this country. She understood at the time, she declared, the baggage contained "presents" for friends of her friends in this country.

NEW ORLEANS has been struggling with a bad street car strike. In riotous clashes with the police several of the strike sympathizers have been killed and many hurt, and cars and other property have been destroyed. The street car company obtained a federal court injunction against the strikers and the United States marshal swore in and armed 250 deputies to guard the company's properties. Both government and civic conciliators were busy trying to settle the affair. The men offered to return to work if the company would recognize their union and new contracts were made, and the company said the workers could have their jobs as individuals.

GOSSIP in Washington concerning President Hoover's selections for ambassadorships is revived. The latest is that of John N. Willys of Toledo, automobile manufacturer, will be given the post in Rome. It was admitted at the White House that Dr. Hubert Work, retiring chairman of the Republican national committee, has been offered the place of ambassador to Japan, and no one doubts that Senator Edge of New Jersey is to be ambassador to France. There are no guesses as to who will be sent to Madrid and Berlin.

Points of Difference

Between Man and Crow

James Speyer, the philanthropist and financier—he has just given half a million to complete the building fund of the New York museum—was talking at the Manhattan club about summer vacations.

"The strenuous vacation is pleasant to remember," Mr. Speyer said, "but it isn't so pleasant while it is actually going on. A young chap was on a walking tour in New England. As he plodded under his heavy ruck-sack along a blazing country road on a terrible August afternoon he met a farm hand.

"How far is it to Croysden Four Corners, friend?" he panted, as he drew his sleeve across his red, wet face.

"Four miles as the crow flies, stranger," said the farm hand.

"But suppose," said the tourist, "that the crow's got a blister on each heel, and a 30-pound bundle to carry, and has to walk besides—how far is it then?"

Somewhat Mixed

Three stations on the same wavelength resulted in the following statements on a radio at Concordia, Kan.: "The Old Testament tells us that holy chicks should detour one mile south of Sallha and listen to the word of the prophets. After passing through Leavenworth, turn north at Jericho. A bond issue is being talked of in the Holy city." The radio fan discovered that one broadcaster was a minister, one a man giving condition of the road, and the other a lecturer on poultry.

OLD FOLKS SAY DR. CALDWELL WAS RIGHT

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice.

He treated constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indigestions entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a combination of senna and other mild herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle will last several months, and all can use it. It is pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. Elderly people find it ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Mr. Gould answered thoughtfully: "Many a shining light is only a flash in the pan."

East Side Notes

The Misses
Mary, Teresa Navarro and Cecilia Vidaurri gave a bazaar to their many friends last Sunday afternoon at Navarro's Hall, the same of which was beautifully decorated with flowers and streamers, and in the center of the ceiling hung a big jar. The majority of the Spanish-American younger set were there and the afternoon was spent in games and dancing, music to which was furnished by the efforts of 'Tino' Lopez, he doing the pedalling on Mr. Navarro's player-piano.

One by one the guests were blindfolded and given a chance to try their aim by striking at the jar with a stick of wood. Finally, a little he-man stood directly under it and after contemplating his situation for a short while, made an exasperated dash skyward and struck. Goodies showered on the little fellow, but by the time he released the bandage from his eyes, the other kids had trampled all over him and had the spoils securely in their pockets. He was rewarded, though. The hostesses served delicious punch, cake and candy, being assisted by Meses. Navarro, Vidaurri and Osorio. All had a good time.

The Cast
in the dramas to be presented by the Catholic Union soon, the Misses Bertha Vega, Cecilia Vidaurri, Mary Navarro; Messrs. Juan and Candido Martinez, Carlos and Frank Vigil, Joe Chavez, Sabino Vidaurri and Ben Sanchez; are rehearsing every night and under the untiring and efficient leadership of Messrs. Jose Cortez and Juan Pacheco, they have their parts well in hand.

Caretaker Joe Navarro of the S. P. Clubhouse has been very generous and kind by offering his hall for these functions, without expecting anything in return, and it is certainly appreciated.

Notice, Catholics
We ask your co-operation to assist us in a reception to be given the Archbishop on his arrival here, which will be on July 30. It would be very proper if all would decorate the fronts of their residences for this occasion.
