

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Presents Edward Brigham in Concert

The Carrizozo High School Orchestra is fortunate in securing Edward Brigham for Tuesday evening, March 5, in concert of songs and dramatic readings. Mr. Brigham is a bass singer, dramatic reader, pianist and composer. Read what the Santa Fe New Mexican says about him:

Mr. Brigham has been widely advertised as a bass-profundo of extraordinary ability, and he fully justified the advertising. Not in recent years have the people of Santa Fe had the privilege of listening to a singer of Mr. Brigham's ability, culture and power. His program was noteworthy in its happy combination of the classic and popular. His recitations with music were delightful and by his humorous selections, the audience was convulsed with laughter time after time. His program was enjoyed by everyone. Efforts are being made to secure a return date in the future.

This write-up from the State Capital's paper indicates that he is much above the ordinary. The High school orchestra members will have tickets for sale starting Monday, Feb. 25. Get your ticket from them so you can be sure of a seat at the concert.

The orchestra members are doing everything possible to help in making the concert a success. The girls of the orchestra will distribute programs and usher; and the boys will help with the distribution of the advertisements. All orchestra members are selling tickets in advance and their sales indicate that there will be a full house that night. Remember the date, Tuesday evening, March 5, and come prepared for a real musical treat. Mr. Brigham plays his own accompaniment to his songs and readings.

The Twins' Birthday, March 1

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Lovelace left yesterday for El Paso, where they will engage in a celebration of the birthday of the twins, Mrs. Lovelace and sister, Mrs. Allison, which occurs tonight. Mrs. John Gallacher accompanied them to the Border City and will be present at the celebration. Each year, the twins celebrate in elaborate manner and this is the (1) birthday, the celebration will even be more elaborate than those of former years. They will return home Tuesday of next week.

Extra Gang Here

The large extra gang of the Southern Pacific, composed of about 10 cars and which was stationed between Ocura and Three Rivers the past 2 months, was moved to Carrizozo and sidetracked near the roundhouse. The gang has been doing the ballast and track-raising work, which has been in progress for several weeks, and with the latest transfer here, one of the largest forces of men are working out of this point, as a crew equal to this one was already stationed inside the roundhouse.

Mrs. J. E. Farley

spent Monday in El Paso attending to some business matters, returning home on Tuesday.

Friday—Starting day for Victor Hugo's, "THE MAN WHO LAUGHS," with Conrad Veidt and Mary Philbin leading an all-star cast.

How Many Can Remember?

The good old days when Charles Stevens, now of Bannock, Ariz., conducted the only garage of that kind in Carrizozo, the Livery Stable, a few steps from the old Headlight and on the other direction, the Stag, where Bar W horses were seen tied to the railing in front every Saturday night—the old Trading Co. corral, where you would find Ben Sanchez of a morning hitching up the old Block roan horse to the delivery wagon—the old canteen, where Scotty and other fellows had a scrap over the broom every morning, and where Shorty Dawson, intended to serve as a punching bag, knocked out one of the most highly touted "champeens" of Roswell—the old, but never forgotten Rolland's Drug Store, headquarters for the baseball team. Grand old days!

S. F. Miller and C. P. Huppertz returned last Friday night from Gallup, where they attended the annual convention of the New Mexico Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M. They expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the deliberation of that august body and well pleased with the manner in which they were entertained by the brethren of Gallup.

Moving Time in Washington

Six Temperature Variations

An electric room cooler, a cold control dial providing six temperature variations, a household electric refrigerator, selling at the lowest price in history of the company and a new line of electric washer coolers are announced by Frigidaire Corporation of Dayton, Ohio, subsidiary of General Motors. The new products together constitute the most significant and progressive step yet taken by the organization, E. G. Biechler, president and general manager stated.

"The room cooler marks the entry of the small mechanical refrigeration unit into a new field. In experimental tests it has lowered the temperature of an average size living room or office as much as 10 degrees in 30 minutes. The height of a room does not affect its capacity as the temperature of only a few feet of air near the floor is lowered by its operation," he said.

A choice of six freezing speeds in the preparation of ices and other frozen dainties is afforded by the cold control. Various delightful combinations, formerly very difficult to prepare in an electric refrigerator are frozen perfectly when the control is set properly. Ice cream is held in good condition until wanted for use. By use of the device and the near-zero temperatures it affords it is no longer necessary to add special ingredients to congeal the dish, according to results obtained in the Frigidaire experimental kitchens, where 110 new recipes based upon its use have been worked out. See F. A. English, local dealer.

Free from Road Shocks

The elimination of noises—from motor and from road shocks—was one of the things to which Henry Ford and his staff of engineers devoted particular attention in the design and construction of the new model A Ford car.

The motor of the model A Ford is one of the quietest, most nearly vibrationless engines that modern automotive engineering has developed.

Its designers provided for that feature which parts are made of the finest possible materials and that are machined to fit exactly.

Balanced crankshafts and flywheels, precision-made bearings, aluminum pistons, unusually well designed and constructed valves and a particularly efficient lubrication system, all contributed to the quiet, smooth performance of the model A engine.—See L. A. Whitaker, manager of the Western Motors, Inc.

Panorama of Passing Week at the Crystal Theatre

Saturday and Sunday nights, "Rinty of the Desert" was on the screen and was followed on Monday and Tuesday nights by "Rose Marie," under the auspices of the Carrizozo Woman's Club. This attraction brought good houses at both shows.

Special mention is due those who took parts in the playlet, "Not a Man in the House." They performed their parts in commendable manner. The ladies assuming the different characters, were: Mesdames Paul Mayer, C. A. Snow, R. E. Blaney, Zoe Glassmire, Miss Ella Brickley, with Miss Hazel Melas as director. At the climax, three men made their appearance, namely: L. A. Whitaker, who made an admirable policeman, John Wright and Tennis Bigelow, all of whom acted real manish, even to smoking in the presence of the hostess, who had placed a ban on all men coming to the house. The committee worked hard and the results were gratifying.

Wednesday and last night, "Baby Cyclone" was on the screen and the program was augmented by the appearance of "McDonald's Music Mixers," a peppy jazz orchestra which delighted the hearers and put the proper kick to everything. This orchestra will give a dance at Community Hall this evening and should be well patronized.

Harvey Foster

of the Sierra Vista Milk & Cream Dairy of Nogal, was in town this morning on his delivery route, which, he says, is increasing daily.

The managers, Wrye & Foster, are making some novel offers to the public on printed matter which they are leaving at every home in Carrizozo, one of which is that to every ten quarts of milk bottled, one quart is given away.

They ask you to watch the bottom of every bottle cap, where the lucky quart is properly labeled, and get a free bottle. — Leave orders at the Blue Bonnett Cafe.

Mrs. Clarence Boyd

entertained residents of the Parade of Fort Stanton at her home Wednesday evening, Feb. 27. The affair was a five-table bridge party given in honor of Mrs. Murdock, who is soon to leave for Nogales, Arizona. About 25 guests were present.

LINCOLN COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Alice M. French, School Supt.

The Lincoln County Teachers' Convention will meet in Carrizozo April 5th and 6th. Some of the foremost educators of the state from the different educational institutions will be here to address the teachers, also some of those in charge of different branches of the State Departments. Every effort will be made to have 100% attendance of the Lincoln county teachers at this meeting.

A letter was received from Senator Coe this week in which she said the bill declaring February 22, a holiday had passed both in the House and Senate. While we have always considered Washington's birthday a legal holiday it had never been declared so by our State Legislature until this year.

Mrs. Chas. Stoneman is now teaching the lower grades in the White Oaks school. This gives Mrs. Ward all her time to devote to the pupils in the upper grades and getting her 8th grade ready for the state examination.

Most of the schools arranged special programs for Washington's birthday. The Lincoln school had an elaborate program and play from which they realized quite a neat sum. They are trying to raise money to buy more seats. The attendance in the Lincoln school has so greatly increased that it became necessary to place another teacher in that school. Miss Callie Morris was given the position.

Hondo put on the play, "Silas Marner" last Friday. This play was to have been given earlier, but on account of sickness and bad weather it was postponed until the 22nd. Those taking part acquitted themselves most creditably and the performance was a great success.

Chas. Pfingsten, Principal of the Ancho school, was called to El Paso on Tuesday on account of the serious illness of his sister. Miss Lahoma Bigelow is teaching during his absence.

Boy Scouts of America Court of Honor

Last Thursday night at the Community Hall, the following class of candidates were given their tests in Scoutcraft: Frank English, Jr., Tenderfoot; Floyd Stadman, Jobie Bryan, Lawrence Hicks, Second Class Scouts; Carl Hines, Merit Badges, Carpentry, Woodwork and Public Health. Those who sat on the council were: Executive T. E. Kelley, Dr. Shaver and Prof. Helm. The surprise of refreshments served by Scouts' mothers was greatly enjoyed after the meeting. Another class will be initiated in the near future.

of Nogal, was a business visitor in Carrizozo on Friday of last week. Mr. Tabor reports considerable drifts of snow yet to be seen in that locality, but it won't last long, he said. While in Carrizozo, Mr. Tabor paid this office a pleasant visit.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The meeting of the Carrizozo Woman's Club held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Green, Friday, Feb. 15, was well attended. The program, "Women of the Bible," presented by Mesdames Stadman, Ludlow and Rowland, was highly appreciated. The following ladies represented the Bible characters portrayed; each wrote their own parts, taking the Bible as a foundation:

"Spirit of Womanhood"—Mrs. Stadman
Rebekah—Miss Brickley
Ruth—Mrs. Glassmire
Naomi—Mrs. Boughner
Deborah—Mrs. C. A. Snow
Hannah—Miss Melas
Widow of Zerephtha — Mrs. Ludlow
Queen Esther—Miss Fritz
Dorcas—Mrs. Nickels
Mother and Babe—Mrs. Sloan and baby. Baby Sloan was easily the star of the cast.

An unusually effective ending was produced by the characters gathering in a semi-circle around the mother and babe, while Mrs. Lemon sang softly "Hush, My Babe." As presented, the play showed much thoughtful preparation and will be remembered as one of the outstanding programs given by the club. The costuming was very effective.

At the close of the meeting the hostess, Mrs. Green, assisted by Mesdames Hines, Dozier, Shelton and Miss Fritz served delicious refreshments of individual cherry pies and coffee.

All departed feeling that they had spent a pleasant and profitable afternoon.

Mrs. H. B. Hamilton Will Entertain

On Friday night, March 1, Mrs. H. B. Hamilton will entertain at her home, 1313 Piedras street, El Paso, in honor of the birthday of Mesdames Morgan Love lace and H. L. Allison and Dr. R. E. Blaney, who arrived on this earthly stage on the same date as did the twin sisters, the date of his arrival being March 1, (7). Dr. and Mrs. Blaney left early this morning for El Paso to be present at Mrs. Hamilton's entertainment.

Tom DuBois Recites

A barber was shaving a new customer and said, "Haven't I shaved you before, sir?" "No," angrily replied the man in the chair, "I got those scars in France."

The Woman's Club Committee Extends Thanks

We wish to thank the patrons who attended "Rose Marie" for their presence in the entertainment; also Mr. Pittman, manager of the Crystal Theatre for his many courtesies extended, and the ladies who took part in the playlet, "Not a Man in the House;" Mesdames Mayer, Glassmire, Miss Brickley, Blaney, Snow, directed by Miss Hazel Melas, assisted by Messrs. Whitaker, Wright and Bigelow; also the young men, Alfred Richardson and Mack Shaver, for vocal and instrumental solos, all of whom contributed to the success of the venture. By this means, the committee netted the neat sum of $60.87. We thank you, Mesdames Kelley, Richard, Burke, Beck, Shaver, and Miss Alene Thompson.

Pajamas Are Gay

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

To drive dull care away, nothing like lounging about in a desirable, stylish, gay pajama ensemble. In order to properly react on jaded spirits and tired nerves the print fabric which enters into the making of the pajama outfit must be colorfully, blowered and artfully styled to the point of flattering becomingness. All of which quite describes boudoir and lounging modes in the modern style picture.

Joy-inspiring and nothing less is the ensemble pictured. Its gay flowery presence is warranted to cheer the atmosphere in any home. The brightly printed flowers contrast strikingly to the black satin trousers. The cuffs of the printed satin about the ankles accent the ensemble theme which relates one part of the costume to another. The gypsy snail is a distinguishing feature.

Very striking color contrasts are encouraged by the mode, for negligee wear. Such combinations as flame colored crepe with black crepe, jade green bordered with black are explotted. One way of achieving contrasts is to applique striking motifs on a solid background. The new method is to place unique and sometimes amusing patterns "hit and miss," without regard to conventional arrangement.

Under the influence of the modernistic designs grow bolder and bolder. One cannot overdo the decorative note, no matter to what extremes of bizarre colorings and design the motifs be carried.

Not infrequently, in working out intriguing design the brush proves "mightier than" the needle, for some of the most striking decorations on coolie coats, pajama sets and the like are hand painted in a manner to simulate hand painting most realistically. Stylized refer to this handsome brush work as "threadless embroidery." This "plastic painting" as it is also called when done by experts can scarcely be distinguished from embroidery; the strokes with the brush being taken in such a manner as to simulate stitches.

The combination of the pajama suit with short cocktail jackets in velvet makes a handsome indoor costume which fashion greatly favors for women of leisure and artistic temperament. Also in the list of modish negligees are those made of satin and velvet combined.

Food for the Family

By NELLIE MAXWELL

I pray not that men tremble at my power of place and lordly sway

I only pray for simple grace to look my neighbor in the face full honestly from day to day.

—J. W. Miller.

As the average as well as the majority of households must limit their expenditures, the housewife is the one on whom the weight of saving comes. The serving of soup before the main dish of the menu has been so long a custom that a meal seems lacking when it is not served. In many of the poorer homes a soup forms the main dish of the dinner and may rightly hold an important place in the meal. Such soups as split peas soup cooked with pigs hocks or a ham bone are simply delicious and one may be proud to serve such a wholesome meal.

Soak the split peas, using a cupful or more according to the size of the family; after washing cover with cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning put to cook in the same water with the hocks or bone of ham. Simmer for hours on the back of the stove, adding one small onion, a stalk or two of celery and a bay leaf if liked. When the peas are perfectly tender and the meat well cooked, serve it with whole wheat bread and butter and a plain lettuce salad. For drink, a glass of milk or buttermilk will make a healthful meal. Finish with a simple dessert, easy of digestion.

Bacon and Olives.—Wrap stuffed olives with thin slices of bacon and toast before the grate fire or saute in a hot frying pan until the bacon is crisp. Skewer with a toothpick and remove the pick, or eat using the toothpick to handle them. Serve with bread and butter, a cup of tea or coffee. Nice for Sunday night supper.

Most authorities agree that too much coffee is not good for the human machine, but a moderate use of it, say a cupful at breakfast, is not to be condemned.

A weak solution of coffee with milk and sugar which is often given to children under the delusion that being so weak it cannot be injurious has caused more misery than any one can know. Sugar, weak coffee and milk ferments in the ordinary stomach.

Cottage Cheese Salad.—Cottage cheese is one of our wholesome cheeses and may be prepared at home

SIMPLE DRESSES FOR EVERY DAY

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

White binding with a colored edge matching one of the colors in the dress material is used for the simple but effective trimming on this everyday bloomer dress of printed cotton for a little girl of kindergarten or first-grade size. Loops and large flat buttons close the neck so easily the child needs no help in dressing, and add to the decoration. A pattern with raglan sleeves was chosen so that the wearer of the dress could move her arms comfortably in active play without danger of ripping the underarm seams and because this style needs no fitting and is easy to make.

Extra chest fullness is allowed, shirred into the neck binding. Although the neck is high enough for winter wear, it does not fit too snugly. Necks as well as arms and legs increase in roundabout measurement from one season to the next at this age. The sleeves might have been made long enough to reach the wrists, but the child for whom this dress was made lived in a well-heated house and liked the shorter style.

The bloomers are made loose at the bottom, with fullness gathered into a binding like the bottom of the sleeves. The legs are wide enough to slide up the leg at least five inches if the child bends over. An inch tuck on the level of the placket does not show and can be let out as the child grows. Bloomers should always be made of material which is not transparent. If they match the dress, as in this case, they may show for about two inches.

The bureau of home economics, which designed this dress, does not have patterns for distribution. Commercial patterns can be obtained from which this costume can be easily made. Any preferred variations may be made wide at first so it can be let down. It is put in by hand to look better and alter more easily.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

Peel onions under water and save the tears.

A shoe horn is a help in putting on overshoes as well as shoes. To save the vitamins content of fruits, it is best to serve them raw.

One way to make the radiator inconspicuous is to paint it to match the walls.

A child will have early and peaceful sleep if his largest meal is at noon rather than at night.

Woolen garments should be dried in a moderate temperature to avoid freezing which will shrink them.

The best playthings for children of all ages are those which provide materials for interesting occupations, such as buildings, sweeping, or snow-shoveling.

mothers-of-feeding-children-candy-at all hours of the day is a most pernicious one. Given before a meal it satisfies hunger, and the food the child should eat to supply waste and build up tissue will not be enjoyed, or often taken, even when urged.

The fact that all human bodies are made of the same material is the cause of much confusion as to what is good for these same bodies. We are machines in a way, but each one is different from every other. Nothing is more true than that "one man's meat is another man's poison."

HOW TO LAUNDRY WOOLEN APPAREL

Measuring a Sweater After Washing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Before you start to launder a sweater, measure it carefully and jot down the dimensions. Then when you have washed it, spread it out, back down, sleeves outstretched, on several thick pieces of clean, soft material laid flat. Shape the sweater according to the original measurements, pulling it into place a little, and planing it if necessary. A wet sweater should never be hung up to dry, for the weight of moisture in it will stretch it out of shape. If it is properly washed it should not shrink, but a very loosely knit garment may need to be planed down for drying, to insure its having the same dimensions as before washing.

The bureau of home economics gives very explicit directions for washing sweaters and other woolens. Use several lukewarm waters for washing and rinsing, all of the same temperature. Use much more water for woollens in proportion to their bulk, than for other fabrics. Use neutral soaps only, preferably in the form of a solution or jelly. Do not rub soap directly on the garment, and never use strong washing powders. Squeeze and work the sweater in suds without rubbing. Wash in a second suds, and rinse in two or more waters. Press out excess water each time, or wring through a loosely set wringer, being careful not to stretch the garment. Do not twist or wring it in the hands. One way of removing excess water from a sweater and also to dry it is to place it in a sheet, suspended cradle fashion, but the flat pad which absorbs such moisture as cannot be pressed out is more satisfactory. Sweaters, like all woollen articles should be dried in a warm place, but not near a fire or in the direct sunlight. They should never be allowed to freeze.

Fairy Tale for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

When Maggie had awakened that morning she had been greeted with kisses and with hugs and with exclamations of:

"Many happy returns of the day."

"Many happy returns of the day."

Around her breakfast place had been little sprays of green and bright flowers here and there.

Then there had been the great birthday table. Of course, later, there would be a party and Maggie's favorite friends would come to the party, and there would be games and all sorts of fun.

But the great birthday table was the most important of all. Only Maggie's family came to this part of the celebration.

The table itself was not so very great. In fact it was a very shabby, old table.

The table had been made for a sewing table and at times when it was not in use it could be folded up and put behind a door. There were measurements across the table so people could measure hems or whatever they wanted to measure—if they wanted to measure anything.

As a matter of fact the table was seldom used as a sewing table. Another still smaller table did for that.

This table was used for out-of-door, back-steps meals sometimes, and it was always used for birthday celebrations, so it felt like a great table even if its legs weren't so very strong or so very certain and even if it did wobble a good deal.

Maggie had been recruited to the birthday table by the ringing of an old brass bell. The old brass bell had a man's face on one side of it—and on the other side of it was a man's face, too. Both gentlemen looked exactly alike.

As Maggie had sat down at the table, the chair in which she sat had been decorated with ribbons and flowers. The ribbons were not new, but they were very gay and bright just the same.

In fact they were nicer than new ribbons. They were kept in an old candy box (which had long since seen the last of its candy), and they were brought out at birthday times. They knew all about these fine celebrations.

In front of Maggie there was a cake and upon the cake were candies. A few of the candies were new, but most of them were old. The candies were used until they all burnt out, and they never did that on just one birthday. They were blown out so their grease would not fall down on the fine feed cake.

And then there were presents upon the table, every present wrapped up so interestingly.

There were poems to be read and speeches to be made, but last of all came a thin, small present with a poem attached to it.

The present was a pen holder and it was being given to Maggie by her sled, "Clear the Track, Clear the Track" was a lovely sled, and always gave Maggie a present. The pen holder was tan in color with a black collar and this was the poem of the pen holder:

Many happy returns of the day, I, the pen holder, have my say, And if you are good and bright, I will help you when you write.

If you're bad and yet are bright, I will still help you to write, Not please be good for than you know, I can say I told you so.

There's a pen within me ready, It is making me quite heady, I am thrilled to be a gift, Hope you get my rhymin' drift.

Many happy returns of the day, Even the pen holder writes a lay, Though, of course, I'm quite unable To do justice to this table.

There are presents big and I am small, But I'll set mind at all, If you like me as I like you, Then much writing we will do. (©, 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE SETTLING OF THE SAGE By HAL G. EVARTS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

At the Warren ranch, the "Three Bar," a stranger applied for work as a rider. Williamette Ann Warren, known to all as "Billie," is the owner of the ranch.

CHAPTER VI

Three heavy wagons, each drawn by four big mules, traveled north along the Coldriver stage trail. Every wagon was loaded to the brim of the triple box.

"Will Try It," She Said.

"We'll try it," she said. "I know that Cal Warren would rather see the Three Bar go to pieces from his own pressure, fighting from the inside to grow, than to see it whittled down from the outside without our fighting back."

She crossed to her tepee to write the letter asking Judge Colton's advice on this matter which would mean the turning point in Three Bar affairs.

Ever since the departure of Morrow Carp had been sullen. Twice he had taken exceptions to some order of Harris' but the new foreman had patiently overlooked the fact.

"How did you know?" she asked. "About Carp, I mean?" "Lanky caught him overlooking a bunch of cows with calves," Harris explained.

"How are things breaking this season, Billie?" he asked. "Everything running smooth?" "About the same," she said. They were old friends and the girl knew that Alden would help her in any possible way.

Passed Out of Life to Keep Contentment

Charles Driscoll thinks he knows what death will be like when it comes to him. As a boy he was once very ill. He felt life ebbing away, saw members of the family standing around.

"You don't mean that," she stated. "I want to know the truth." "You have it," he assured her. "I had the plans all laid. Our crew is already headed for the Three Bar."

"You boys get to knowing each other," Harris said. "These mule-skinners will be hanging out at the Three Bar from now on."

countable ages. For in that country a moment seemed eternity. That experience remained a vivid and pleasant memory to this day. When I think of death I think of that eternity I sensed when the earth-life seemed to cease to pull me. And it seemed good, not evil. —"Capper's Weekly."

"You don't mean that," she stated. "I want to know the truth." "You have it," he assured her. "I had the plans all laid. Our crew is already headed for the Three Bar. Before they get there every man will have died on a quarter I designated for him, inside a week we'll have covered the flat."

"Nice place to camp, Tiny," said the guard on the lead wagon. He pointed off across a flat beside the road toward a sign that loomed in the center. The black-browed giant designated as Tiny swung the mules off the road and headed for the sign.

"Quick work, Russ," the big man complimented. "For a little sawed-off runt, you're real spry and active. He clucked to the mules and they settled steadily into the collars and moved on to the Three Bar."

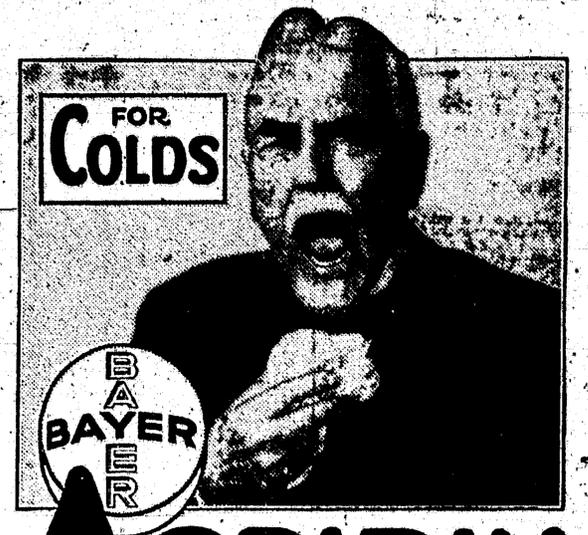

"The Three Bar men viewed the freighters curiously as they swung the mule team in front of the blacksmith shop, noted the rifle in the hands of each guard and a second one in easy reach of each driver. They knew what this portended."

"The Three Bar will be the middle point of a cyclone," Moore prophesied as he viewed the implements. "Just as soon as this leaks out."

"We fetched our cyclone openers with us," Russ assured him. "Let her buck."

From the cook-shack door the girl viewed these preparations, then turned her eyes to the flat and visioned it with a carpet of rippling hay.

Fulfill Party Pledges Or Take Down Our Sign

DURING THE last campaign, the Republican party, through its platform adopted at the Albuquerque convention, and championed by its speakers over the state, made pledges to the people—and on these pledges the party was victorious.

It then remained after the convening of the legislative body at Santa Fe, to carry out the wishes of the people. Several measures were enacted and indications were that there would be no hesitation in putting through all the legislation in which the voters of New Mexico had by their votes, expressed confidence in the Republican party to carry out.

The Republican convention acted in good faith, the party papers set the pledges forth to the people with the greatest amount of confidence that these pledges would be carried out to the letter, but when the pledge of creating a Labor Commissioner for the state, came before the Senate, it ran against a stump.

Let it be known that no blame is attached to the lower house, which body remained true to the party's promises, but the Senate is the place where the measure was nailed to the cross.

This paper wishes to hand a bouquet to Senator Bronson Cutting for having the courage, conviction and manliness to assail the action of the Senate in failing to give the people that which justly belonged to them, and in spite of petty bickerings, handed back to him when the only action he took was one in which he sought to compel the Senate to be true to the Republican party and then the people, he seems to have won.

The Senate is now bringing the Bill back for a vote, and we have some assurance that it will pass this time, but it would not have been, had it not have been for Senator Cutting's just attack—more power to him!

The time has gone when a party may make pledges to the people, assuring them of certain things in the way of legislation, and have the legislative body to fail to fulfill them. Senator Cutting is true to the people and our legislative body in the higher house must be the same or we must take down our sign.

Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

THE practical value of Ford simplicity of design is especially apparent in the fuel system. The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel, tanks plated to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered. Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way. The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine. The carburetor is especially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Engagement of Anne Morrow and Lindbergh—Doings of Congress.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

JUST as he was landing at Havana on his return flight from the Canal Zone, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's engagement to Miss Anne Spencer Morrow was announced by the young lady's father, Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico. The colonel declined to talk about it to the reporters. It was understood in Mexico City that he would fly there late this month and that, though no plans had been made for the wedding, it might take place this spring. Anne is twenty-two years old and vivaciously pretty. She is a graduate of the Chapin school in New York and of Smith college, and while in school showed ability to write quite good poetry. When Colonel Lindbergh was in Mexico City as the guest of Ambassador Morrow he took Anne for several short flights, but her sister Elizabeth also was his passenger, and the gossip reporters were uncertain then as to which one might become his fiancée.

Colonel Lindbergh had no sooner landed at Miami from his Central American trip than he started out again on two rescue flights. The first was over the Florida keys in search of a plane from which two persons were taken by a ferry boat after it was forced down; the second was made to try to find Pilot Harry Hoggara, who had gone in search of the first plane and was himself missing for a time. Concerning the Panama mail route he had just inaugurated, he said:

"There is not a great deal to be done before daily service can be inaugurated between Miami and Panama. Better facilities for communication are being installed and other facilities to aid flying are being put into condition to augment the service."

As to passenger traffic between the North and South Americas, Colonel Lindbergh said it was not planned to haul passengers "until the most minute details of transportation and communication have been worked out."

THERE is now no doubt that Hoover and Curtis were elected President and Vice President of the United States last November. Congress in joint session last week received and counted the electoral vote and Vice President Dawes announced that the tally sheets showed the Republican nominees had received 444 electoral votes and the Democratic nominees 87 thereupon he formally declared Hoover and Curtis elected. These proceedings were supposed to be solemn and stately and the Vice President had requested that there be no applause or other manifestation of approval or disapproval, but the senators and representatives soon broke loose and indulged in gales of laughter and vigorous applause, enjoying especially the confusion and mistakes of some of the tellers and declining to be subdued by General Dawes' gavel-hammering.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE feels that the major work of his administration is ended and already is packing up his belongings for return to his home in Northampton, Mass., where he probably will reside for at least a year. He and Mrs. Coolidge expect to leave the White House the afternoon of March 4, immediately after the inaugural ceremonies, and because of the illness of Mrs. Coolidge's mother they will lose no time in starting northward.

On Wednesday the President signed the bill for the building of fifteen cruisers and one airplane carrier and approved the appropriation of funds to begin the construction of these vessels at once.

Naval officials and adequate navy advocates in congress hailed the approval of the bill with enthusiasm. Secretary of the Navy Willbur expressed gratification. In his opinion, the construction of the fifteen cruers marks the beginning of a wholesale replacement program which will result in the modernization of the fleet and eventually in an American navy second to none.

Representative Fred A. Britten, chairman of the house naval committee, said his committee will begin new hearings next fall to determine how many more ships should be authorized as replacements for the rapidly aging battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines in the battle and scouting fleets.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER had been expected to remain in Florida until a day or two before the inauguration, but last Wednesday he announced that he had a lot of work to complete in Washington in preparation for the new administration, and therefore would leave Miami for the national capital on February 18 or 19. The latter part of the week was devoted to a trip of inspection through the flood and reclamation district of central Florida. The Edison birthday party at Fort Myers on Monday was a great success and was much enjoyed by Mr. Hoover; but the weather was too blustery for good fishing on the west coast.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine removed himself from the Hoover cabinet possibilities by the announcement that he had accepted a position as counsel for the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers, with his offices in Washington.

CONGRESS was asked by the President to appropriate $9,210,500 for the construction of new public buildings in 92 cities scattered throughout the country. This is the amount needed to meet building costs during the first year. The projects when completed would represent an outlay of $40,700,500. Mr. Coolidge also approved budget bureau estimates for the expenditure of $49,000 to remodel and furnish the weather bureau station at Mount Weather, Va., as a summer home for Presidents, this plan being in accord with his suggestion made last fall. Mount Weather, near Bluemont, Va., and about 60 miles from Washington, is an 84-acre tract, high in the Blue Ridge mountains, on which the weather bureau, until a few years ago, conducted some of its most important observations.

INTERNATIONAL experts selected to consider the matter of German reparations began on Monday in Paris the conference that is expected to result in a revision of the Dawes plan, the fixing of the total sum Germany must pay and the subsequent evacuation of the Rhineland by the allies. Owen D. Young, one of the unofficial American delegates, was the unanimous choice for chairman, and after the necessary ceremonies he lost no time in settling the commission to work. Germany had its innings first and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank, presented his country's case in a way that seemed to make an excellent effect on all the delegates except the French. He was moderate and made no specific demands but insisted Germany cannot continue to pay the annuities of two and a half billion gold marks provided for by the Dawes plan. He was questioned closely about the tax burdens of Germany, which the allies assert are less than their own. He offered to prove that this was not true. Doctor Schacht and his associates continued through several days. Correspondents said it was becoming apparent that the French and German points of view were not so divergent as was feared and that the success of the conference seemed assured.

THIS is the most severe winter Europe has experienced for many scores of years, and the suffering throughout the entire continent is most grievous. Extremely cold weather, deep snowfalls, ice and furious storms prevail. Many human beings have perished, and the loss of live stock is tremendous. Transportation is disorganized in many regions and towns are suffering for food and fuel. Unraveling stories of death and suffering come especially from central Europe.

HAVING given Gen. Braswell North his chance to be heard, as ordered by the English court, the high council of the Salvation Army again voted to depose him as commanding general, and then elected Commissioner Edward John Higgins to succeed him. The final count was 42 votes for Higgins and 17 for Evangeline Booth, head of the Army in America.

General Higgins has been chief of staff since 1919. He was born at Highbridge in Somerset and educated at Doctor Morgan's school at Bridgewater, Somerset.

LEON TROTZKY, with his wife and two children, was taken to Constantinople on a Soviet steamship, secretly landed and confined closely in the Russian embassy. It was said the authorities feared he might be attacked by "white" Russian refugees that are numerous there. The campaign against Trotsky sympathizers in Russia continues, the latest incident reported being the closing of the Kronstadt naval academy and the expulsion of its 3,700 students. Twenty of their leaders were arrested as Trotskyites. A Leningrad paper says the Soviet war commissariat discovered a lack of loyalty among the students, who are openly discussing the possibility of a new Napoleon appearing in Russia to save the country from the hands of the Communists.

REV. DR. E. S. SHUMAKER, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, is now milking cows and cleaning their stalls on the state penal farm at Putnamville. He suddenly abandoned his long fight against the saloon when he was sentenced to the farm for contempt of the Indiana Supreme court, and began serving his term. Shumaker was cited for contempt in 1926 by Arthur T. Gilliom, then attorney general, following his criticism of members of the State Supreme court in the American Issue, the Anti-Saloon league publication. He was found guilty by a Supreme court vote of three to two.

MISS BOBBY TROUT went up in the air over Los Angeles and regained the laurels taken from her by Miss Elinor Smith of New York. Bobby not only established a new endurance record for women aviators—17 hours 5 minutes 37 seconds—but also captured the women's night flying and distance records. Bobby is twenty-three years old and flies a Golden Eagle monoplane.

PRESIDENT POMERES GIL of Mexico narrowly escaped death last week when his train was blown up by dynamite in the state of Guanajuato. The explosive had been placed on the track at a point where it ran over a bridge. The train was killed instantly when the engine overturned, and two coaches were derailed. Another bomb, unexploded, was found fixed to the track. The attempt at assassination followed closely on the execution of Jose Toral, who murdered General Obregon, and in official circles in Mexico City it was said to be the work of the League of Religious Defense. Several members of that organization were arrested near the scene of the explosion, and it was said a number of prominent persons would be taken into custody.

MOST notable of the week's deaths was that of Lily Langtry, Lady de Bath, who was for years the leading beauty of the English stage. She passed away at her home in Monte Carlo. The Jersey Lily, as she was known, was a good though not a great actress, and was also a clever theatrical manager. In the days when King Edward was the prince of Wales and her admiring friend she was prominent in English social affairs, and she was also well known in the United States.

John II, prince of the little state of Liechtenstein and dean of ruling monarchs, died at a ripe old age and was succeeded by his brother.

ROME was en fete the beginning of the week because of the signing on Monday of the peace pact between the Vatican and the Italian state. There were imposing ceremonies, gay celebrations and exchanges of rich gifts and decorations. The general feeling throughout the world is that Premier Mussolini scored a great triumph in the negotiation of the treaty, settling an old and troublesome dispute with little expense to Italy.

Man at Time's Crossroad; Future Must Be Antlike or Godlike

By ALERER J. LOTKA, Life Insurance Statistician.

MANKIND has come to a fork in the road, one way leading to a civilization of antlike beings and the other to a society of more wise and equal men. Down one fork the human race will become patterned after the model of the anthill or the beehive, with a large number of "workers" of stunted mental growth supporting and supported by a small aristocracy of best minds set aside for the creative function—creative, that is, in the spiritual sphere.

This thought may be displeasing, but it would not be the first time that evolution had worked out along the path of degeneration, and evolution will have its way whether we like it or not.

This is the other fork in the road: Mass production, rightly conducted, should yield us a surplus of leisure. What is needed is a better investment of our collective leisure. The proper employment of our collective leisure, which will extend itself as time goes on, will be the implement of our salvation, and we must rely upon wisdom to point the way. The harassing fact is that while knowledge has enormously accumulated in recent years we are still on the bottom rung of the ladder of wisdom; which has to do with the ends of life and not with the means to any ends.

In the technique of elaborating schemes and human conduct we stand today essentially where science stood in the Middle ages: We are stuck in the morass of authority worship.

Home Has Final Responsibility for Upbringing of the Rising Generation

By F. D. BOYNTON, Superintendent of Schools, Ithaca, N. Y.

If there is anything wrong with the rising generation, the parents, more than anybody else or anything else, are responsible. The home can't put religious and moral training into the hands of the church and shirk from the duty itself. The home has the final responsibility. The school and church are merely supplementary institutions.

If there is any juvenile delinquency I don't expect any abatement until the fathers associate more with their sons and until the mothers care more for that delightful companionship of carrying a young girl into womanhood than carrying home a booby prize from a whist party.

Youth wants sympathy and intelligent understanding more than anything else.

To belittle the rising generation has become an unthinking fad with certain classes today. If you don't believe the rising generation is a cleaner one, or straighter thinking one, look up the files of the newspapers of this city of 50 years ago and see what happened then.

Our women have never been so attractive or so well-behaved as they are today. They don't spend as much for toilet accessories as men do for smoking and chewing.

Through education we have established a prosperity unequalled anywhere in the world. The measure of America's success is the measure of the "white collar."

Advancement of Science Important Factor in Betterment of Mankind

By DR. S. PARKS CADMAN, New York.

One hundred and twenty years ago Charles Darwin was born in my native county town. While he lived he dominated the world of learning, and when he died in 1882 they placed his dust in Westminster abbey by the side of that of Sir Isaac Newton. The one man established order in the place of chaos, by his hypothesis of gravitation; the other by his discovery of the law of natural selection established a firm basis for the future study of nature. Both these achievements were of the first rank, far surpassing those of armed conquests, and when the men who represented them and others like them are among us, we do well to pay them double honor.

Personally, I look to the advancement of science for the general benefit of mankind, far more than I do to political legislation, and I also strongly deprecate the useless and needless warfare between faith and knowledge. I am glad to say it is now showing signs of a truce, and when scientists will stop trying to be theologians, and theologians who continually dissect a bug will stop trying to be scientists, we may attain a permanent peace.

Delving Into History Important in Its Results on Every-Day Problems

By DR. J. H. ROBINSON, President American Historical Association.

Historical research is coming to be something useful to apply to every day life and to the doings of politicians. Therein is the purpose of the $1,000,000 which the association plans to raise for historical research. The real significance of history is a new way of seeing how things really are by following the process by which they have come about. Our churches, schools, senates, courts, diplomats and the workings of our business system must be explained by a knowledge of their coming about.

As time goes on the fund would not be applied exclusively, perhaps not even chiefly, to historical research in the narrower sense of accumulating new information.

A fuller knowledge of the past doings of politicians would tend to make our oversight of them more exacting.

Employer's Concern With Health and Consequent Efficiency of Employee

By DR. J. R. GARNER, Railroad Surgeon.

Domestic affairs and personal health of employees affect efficiency. The domestic life of a man has a far-reaching influence on his efficiency and the influences are without number and apply with varying degree of force to different individuals.

The idea among young employees seems to be that their employer has no right to criticize their actions after they have spent a certain amount of time in office or shop. One can hardly imagine a more erroneous idea than this, for during the time the employee is free from duty he must secure sufficient exercise and an adequate amount of rest to render himself fit for a proper performance of his duties on the following day.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner does than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Garfield Tea Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy for constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

Ancient Waffle Iron Mrs. Teresa Koester of Pomeroy, Ohio, has a waffle iron which is 125 years old, and which belonged to her great-grandmother, "Aunt Annie" Koush. The "baker" is composed of two pieces of wrought iron, with the handles riveted to them and so hollowed out that they hold a cake about the size of a man's hand. The back of each side of the mold carries ornamental figures that were intended to give the cake a fanciful appearance. The iron is opened and closed by means of a hinge, much like the operation of tongs. It weighs 20 pounds.

Nobody expects to become really beautiful from the use of complexion beautifiers. Bright eyes, clear skin, and rosy cheeks, follow the use of the "Prescription." All dealers. Every woman requires a tonic and serving at some period of her life. Whether suffering from nervousness, indigestion, faintness or general debility, the "Prescription" benefits. Mrs. Mary Anderson, of 411 St. Main St., Franklin, La., said: "On several occasions I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and serving and it was very beneficial. During convalescence, it is so strengthening and keeps the nerves in good condition."

Lesson for March 3

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

LESSON TEXT—Eph. 1:22, 23:14-6, 11-16.
 GOLDEN TEXT—So we, who are many are one body in Christ.
 PRIMARY TOPIC—Serving God in Our Church.
 JUNIOR TOPIC—Serving God in Our Church.
 INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Meaning of Church Membership.
 YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Nature and Function of the Christian Church.

1. What it is. It is the body of redeemed men and women, Jews and Gentiles, called out from the world, regenerated and united to Jesus Christ as head, and to each other by the Holy Spirit.
2. It was unknown in the Old Testament time (Eph. 3:5, 6). There were saved people in that time, but people occupying the peculiar position as members of Christ's body only could enjoy such relation after the crucifixion, and coming of the Holy Spirit.
3. Predicted by Christ (Matt. 16:18). Shortly before Christ's going to the cross, the church was spoken of as still in the future.
4. It began at Pentecost (Acts 2). That which Christ predicted as to the church began to be historically fulfilled on the Day of Pentecost.
5. Christ is the Head of the Church (Eph. 1:22, 23). Christ is to the church what the head is to the human body.
6. The Unity of the Church (Eph. 4:4-6). One body (v. 4). United with Christ by faith, all believers are members of one body, of which He is the head. One Spirit (v. 4). The Holy Spirit is the agent in regeneration, and is the life uniting believers to Christ and to one another. One hope (v. 4). The hope of completed redemption at the coming of the Lord. One Lord. The one ruler of the church is Christ Himself (v. 5). One faith. Those who are under the control of the one Lord will more and more come into the unity of doctrinal beliefs.
7. One baptism (v. 5). This is the baptism of the Holy Spirit, which is that sovereign act of the Spirit which unites believers to Jesus Christ as head and to each other as members of His body.
8. One God and Father of all. He is the Creator and sustainer of the universe.

IV. The Ministry of the Church. (Eph. 4:11-16).

1. The ministry of certain officials (v. 11). Gifts were bestowed upon the church for its growth. (1) Apostles. These were appointed by Christ to superintend the preaching of the gospel in all the world, and to create an authoritative body of teaching. (2) Prophets. These ministers were given for the expounding of the Scriptures, the body of authoritative teaching (1 Cor. 14:31). (3) Evangelists. These seem to have been traveling missionaries to gather in the members constituting the body of Christ. (4) Pastors and teachers. The pastor was a shepherd and teacher—two functions inherent in the one office. 2. Object of the ministry of the church (v. 12). (1) "Perfecting of the saints." Here is meant the mending of that which had been rent—the adjusting of something dislocated. (2) "For the work of the ministry" (v. 12). The perfecting of the saints has as its object their qualification to render a spiritual service. (3) Edifying of the body of Christ. Edify means to build up the church, the body of Christ. 3. The duration of the church's ministry (v. 13). This ministry to continue till: (1) We come into the unity of the faith. (2) Till we come into the knowledge of the Son of God. (3) A perfect man, which is the measure of the stature of Christ. 4. The blessed issue of the ministry of the church (vv. 14-16). (1) Not tossed to and fro and carried about by every wind of doctrine. (2) Speaking the truth in love.

Already Existent

The Christian ideal, when once it is clearly apprehended, becomes already existent.—The Times (London).

The Praise of Men

Among the chief rulers also many believed on Him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess Him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue; for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.—John 12:42, 43.

When God is Closest

God is closest to earth when His dwelling place is a consecrated human heart, a dedicated human intellect.—E. W. Donald.

South West PARAGRAPHS

L. Grady Mayfield was elected president of the Elephant Butte Irrigation project at a board meeting recently.

G. A. London, who resigned recently as secretary of the Nogales Chamber of Commerce, has accepted the secretaryship of the Douglas chamber.

Fanned by a strong wind, flames destroyed the residence portion of Madrid, a coal mining town twenty-seven miles south of Santa Fe.

An official committee of prominent Globe (Ariz.) citizens has been appointed to look into conditions of the Indians at Rice and San Carlos.

Arrangements are being made for the spudding in of Alamogordo's first prospective oil well on the Dunn farm two miles northwest of Alamogordo.

The Doming cotton gin has closed its 1928 season after turning out 1,274 bales for the Mimbres valley farms. The product exceeded that of any previous year by about seventy bales.

Michael E. Cassidy, former federal prohibition director for Arizona and prominent in Republican political circles, was appointed assistant secretary of state by Gov. John C. Phillips.

An immediate renewal of efforts to build the Diamond Creek dam was forecast at Phoenix when Federal Judge F. G. Jacobs ruled that the permit for the structure granted James B. Girand and associates was valid.

Necessity of expanding operations to take advantage of national advertising to be given Arizona by the railroads this year has resulted in a widespread membership campaign undertaken by the Arizona Industrial Congress.

San Juan county, N. M., may have a county fair next summer if a committee of farmers who called upon the Chamber of Commerce at Farmington have their way. The committee also discussed hiring a county agent for San Juan county.

The Hunt-Mayfield Gin, which was recently destroyed by fire, will be replaced by one of the most modern gins in the Mesilla Valley, New Mexico. The firm has let a contract for erection of the plant and has purchased all new machinery.

Victor Culberson, Silver City, N. M., sheep and cattle man, will head the American National Livestock Association at its thirty-third annual convention in Denver next year. Culberson was elected president of the organization at the recent convention in San Francisco.

According to a report made public by the sheep sanitary board of New Mexico, 600,000 sheep and lambs were shipped from New Mexico during the first eleven months of 1928. Sheep at the present time are reported to be in good condition and the outlook for the sheep raising industry is promising.

A wage increase of 5 per cent based on the wage scale in effect prior to October 1, 1923, affecting approximately 17,500 miners employed by copper mining companies of Arizona is announced by mining company officials. The wage increase is the second granted the miners in four months. The first raise of 10 per cent was granted October 1, 1923. The 5 per cent rate now announced is to remain in effect as long as the price of copper remains at 17 cents or over. The increase is retroactive to February 1. The increase will add approximately $1,500,000 yearly to the mining payroll of the state.

The year 1923 was a banner one for the poultry industry in New Mexico, according to E. E. Anderson of New Mexico A. and M. college. The poultry intercota of the state, he said, during the past year made their greatest progress in history. The 1925 commercial hatching facilities were less than 50,000 egg capacity. In 1926 they increased to 120,000, in 1927 they reached 190,000 and in 1928 the capacity jumped to 240,000, Mr. Anderson said. For 1929 the commercial hatchery capacity now ready for operation has reached 350,000, which means that the 1929 record will exceed a combination of several years of the past.

The $1,750,000 tax anticipation bond issue was purchased at par by 17 Arizona banks at the sale held by the State Loan Commission. It was the only bid received. The bonds bear 5 per cent interest and are to be expired June 30, 1929, from the next half year's taxes due in March and delinquent in May. One of the first payments from the proceeds of the sale will be the retirement of registered state warrants dated since December 4. The banks in the syndicate include the Bank of Arizona, Prescott; Security Trust and Savings Bank, Yuma; Traders Bank at Wickenburg, and the Payson Commercial and Trust Company of Payson.

Judges of Superior Courts would be required under the terms of a bill introduced in the House by Representative William Wisener of Yuma county, Arizona, to call a grand jury on the first Tuesday of March each year.

Children born in Arizona numbered 849 during December, according to a report issued by the vital statistics bureau of the State Board of Health. There were 895 deaths in the same period, being nearly double the usual number for 31 days, with the influenza wave considered as a large contributing factor.

Girl at the Top in Health Test

Millions of boys and girls all over the world, thousands of them right here in the West are being restored to health and strength by the purely vegetable tonic and laxative known as California Fig Syrup and endorsed by physicians for over 50 years.

Children need no urging to take it. They love its rich, fruity flavor. Nothing can compete with it as a gentle, but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It gives tone and strength to the stomach and bowels so these organs continue to act normally of their own accord. It stimulates the appetite, helps digestion.

A Kansas mother, Mrs. Dana Allgire, 610 Monroe St., Topeka, says: "Bonnie B. is absolutely the picture of health, now, with her ruddy cheeks, bright eyes and plump but graceful little body and she stands at the top in every health test."

Much of the credit for her perfect condition is due to California Fig Syrup. We have used it since babyhood to keep her bowels active during colds or any children's ailments and she has always had an easy time with them. She always responds to its gentle urging and is quickly back to normal.

Ask your druggist for California Fig Syrup and look for the word "California" on the carton so you'll always get the genuine.

Blanket for Soldiers Is Best Yet Devised

That an army advances on its stomach is not news and many will also agree that one of its greatest enemies rides on its back. This enemy is in the form of weight of the pack which necessarily demands be carried. The announcement by the quartermaster general of the army of a new blanket is a matter of considerable importance.

The principal features about the new blanket are that it contains twice the warmth of other blankets of the same weight and is water resistant. In certain tests water was suspended in some blankets for 60 hours and did not penetrate the blankets, although no waterproofing compound is used. It remains soft and springy even if tightly rolled and can be made on the looms of any worsted mill, according to the report.

Mrs. John Durum Says Could Write All Day and Not Say Enough Good About Milks Emulsion

"Have been thinking for some time of writing you in regard to Milks Emulsion."

"When I wrote you last fall I was very much discouraged. Doctors had told me for five years that I had T. B. Five doctors told me last fall that I was in advanced stages of T. B. I have taken your wonderful medicine all winter. Sometimes I would neglect taking it every hour, but would take several doses a day, and this in the first winter for seven years that I haven't spent most of the winter in bed. I haven't been in bed sick this winter, and for two years I had been so sore across my abdomen I couldn't bear to press on it. That is all gone. I do all of my housework now except washing; weight 117 pounds, and feel fine."

"I can't praise your Emulsion enough. I tell every one I talk to what it has done for me and feel ashamed if I neglect it sometimes when I know what it has done for me and what it means for me."

"I could write all day and could never write enough good words about Milks Emulsion." Yours truly, Mrs. John Durum, 451 W. Green St., Frankfort, Ind.

Bottle Drifts Many Miles

One of the longest "bottle voyages" ever recorded has just been ended in the finding of a bottle on the shore of a small island near Japan, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. According to the form it contained, the phial was thrown from a ship about 250 miles west of Mexico, November 12, 1923. It has thus traveled at least 6,500 miles, according to the drift of the ocean currents, and probably much farther. These bottles are set adrift by the hydrographic office with instructions that the finder return the paper inside after it has been marked to tell the place and date of its recovery, so that data may be obtained as to the direction and speed of the sea currents.

Attend the Party in Spite of Cold!

Don't despair some day your social calendar is full, and you awake with a miserable cold. Be rid of it by noon! You can, if you know the secret: Cape's Cold Compound soon settles any cold, yes, even one that has reached deep in the throat or lungs.—Adv.

Evidence "Wombat must be a klud man." "Eh?" "The cat always meets him at the door."—Louisville Courier.

Among Indians of the Southwest, the pumpkin blossom holds a place in legends somewhat like that of the lotus in oriental lore.

What Well Dressed Men Will Wear

Lady Rhonda says that male clerks in offices should wear costumes of silk, and these styles were shown at a recent silk show held in London. Silk blouses, open at the neck, and silk shorts comprise the costume.

COAT OF CAT TAILS

One thousand septa cats' tails were used to make this coat Hayso Hedwig is wearing. It was brought to Chicago from Africa by Dr. Will J. Cameron, who has just returned from a big game hunting trip.

"Cured by wearing a spider hung round one's neck in a nutshell." - Evangelina.

Among the most interesting of superstitions are those concerning disease and its cure. Wearing something around one's neck to ward off disease or to cure disease is one of the most common superstitious practices, and is almost as much in vogue now as it was in Evangelina's day. City school teachers can tell a tale of woe about the little red sannel bags filled with asafoetida or with garlic cloves that tenement children wear to protect them from sore throat, diphtheria, whooping cough, and the like. Strings of Job's tears are still sold to mothers who believe that a baby that wears a string of these tears will cut its teeth painlessly. Rabbits' feet, secured under proper conditions, when worn on a string around the neck will protect the wearer from a variety of ailments, as well as bring him good luck.

There is scarcely a community that does not boast of at least one person who can blow fire out of a burn and prevent blistering. The blowing must be accompanied by the repetition of a charm that cannot be communicated by one woman to another or one man to another, but must always be taught by one of the opposite sex. The neighbor who blew the fire out of all the burns in the neighborhood when I was a child is now a stately old dowager who is a pillar in the church and a mainstay of the local cultural movements; but she still blows fire out of her neighbors' burns.

There is scarcely a community of any size that does not have in it at least one old woman who can "measure" a child and so cure it of the "take off," an ailment that doctors dignify by the name of marasmus.

There are likewise few communities that lack at least one "pow-wow" doctor who will cure any sort of ailment from colic to cancer by reciting charms and incantations. We usually pride ourselves upon having outgrown witchcraft in medicine, but I have never yet found a high school student who did not know either the name of a white pow-wow doctor or some one who did know the name of one. They never believed in them personally; but they always had an aunt or a cousin or a neighbor who did believe in them.

PICTORIAL LIFE OF HERBERT HOOVER

No. 9

By Satterfield

1. En route to China, Hoover married his college sweetheart and took her honeymooning to Manchuria.

2. Rumors of discontent spread through North China. Violence threatened all foreigners.

3. When the Hunan uprising started, Hoover built Chinese works; Mrs. Hoover cared for the wounded.

4. Civil war ended Hoover's promising explorations in China, and he sailed with his wife for home.
