

BASKETBALL

Tournament at Artesia

The District Basketball Tournament was held at Artesia on March 1 and 2. The Carrizozo High School boys played Lake Arthur at 10 o'clock Friday morning and were defeated by a score of 38 to 19. All teams losing their first game had a second chance and our boys were matched to play Dexter at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening. Carrizozo won the game by a score of 22 to 8. The next game for the Carrizozo team was against Artesia, to be played at 2 p. m. Saturday. When the time came for the game with Artesia, our team was crippled on account of two of our boys being unable to play. Florentino Lopez had fever and the doctor's orders were to keep him in bed. Mack Shaver had throat trouble and a wrenched ankle but started out in the game. Before the first half was up, Mack was replaced by Dorace Robertson and soon after the second half started Dorace was disabled by an unavoidable collision with an Artesia player. The boys did their best but lost by a score of 32 to 12. Fay Harkey and Tom Brown played as forwards in the Artesia game. Maurice Lemon and Moss Lewis played guard throughout the tournament. Captain Lemon led his players throughout the tournament and received considerable praise for his splendid playing. Florentino Lopez also played well in the first two games and was surely needed in the game against Artesia.

The loss of the game with Artesia put our team out of the running, but the team remained over Saturday night in order to see the championship game. The winners of the tournament were as follows:

Roswell, 1st place; Lake Arthur, 2nd place; Artesia, 3rd place. Lincoln received the sportsmanship cup and Dick Traylor of Capitan was selected as all district center. Johnny Peade of Roswell was selected as the best individual player in the district.

Roswell and Lake Arthur will represent this district in the State Tournament to be held at Albuquerque Friday and Saturday of this week.

BORN

Last week, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Silva, Jr., a baby girl. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

From the Border

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Lovelace, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Blaney, and Mrs. Albert Ziegler returned the first of the week from El Paso, where the birthday parties mentioned in last week's paper were given, and report a grand time at all functions, including the Chicago Civic Grand Opera concerts, all of which made up a round of pleasure.

Battista Gavi

Capitan, spent a few days the first of the week on business.

Mrs. Sarah C. Gray

returned last Saturday from a trip to different places in the north, where she spent a large portion of the winter, but she prefers a return to glad New Mexico sunshine in exchange for the cold northern country.

Charlie Cree

told this one some time ago—A Scotchman died of heart failure—he had been throwing pennies out of the window to little children, when the string to which he had them tied, broke.

Dr. R. R. Green

was down from Corona Tuesday on professional business; the Doctor seemed very optimistic regarding his locality on account of the snowfall they have had through the winter, and said the prospect was never better than it is right now for stock and bean raising, as spring approaches.

John E. Wright

was reading about a fellow named William Hardboyle, 49, that died at Eversharp, Fla., yesterday. Hardboyle was a veteran of two wars and three wives. When asked why he didn't get married, John joyfully replied, "I'm having too much fun."

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rentfrow were Carrizozo business visitors from their ranch across the Malpais the first of the week. Doyle reports everything in excellent condition on his sheep ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Bostian of Emporia, Kans., are in Carrizozo and will remain in the southwest for an indefinite period. They made the trip by motor, going from Emporia to Galveston, thence to El Paso, and from there, to Carrizozo, a distance approximately 2250 miles. They like the New Mexico sunshine, after a hard Kansas winter. They are relatives of the E. O. Prehm family, and will pay them a short visit while in Carrizozo.

It Won't Be Long Now

High-Lights in the President's Message

This occasion is not alone the administration of the most sacred oath which can be assumed by an American citizen. It is a dedication and consecration under God to the highest office in the service of the people. I assume this trust in the humility of knowledge that only through the guidance of Almighty Providence can I hope to discharge its ever-increasing burdens.

The worst evil of disregard for some law, is that it destroys respect for all law. If citizens do not like a law, it is their duty as honest men and women to discourage its violation, and their right to work for its repeal.

The election has again confirmed the determination of the American people that regulation of private enterprise and not government ownership or operation, is the course rightly to be pursued.

Reform, re-organization and strengthening of our whole judicial and enforcement system in civil and criminal sides have been advocated for years, by statesmen, judges and bar associations.

Community House

The building formerly occupied by the late Attorney Barber is being converted into a Community House. It will be open to the public on Saturday, March 9. The ladies of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church are making the necessary preparations and the room will be open to visitors as a place of rest and recreation.

Judge A. H. Norton

came through here Wednesday, stayed over for the show at the Crystal Theatre and left yesterday morning for Hot Springs, where he will take advantage of the hot baths and will remain for a month or so. He looks well and his only trouble now is rheumatism, which he hopes to overcome with the baths.

Willis Lovelace

was in Carrizozo the first of the week and went on to Capitan and thence to Ruidoso on a business trip, from his ranch near Corona. Willis expressed great satisfaction at the recent moisture they have had in his locality during the winter, as it will insure good range for the coming springtime.

sociations. First steps towards that end should no longer be delayed. Rigid and expeditious justice is the first safeguard of freedom.

Ours is a land rich in resources; stimulating in its glorious beauty; filled with millions of happy homes; blessed with comfort and opportunity. In no nation are the institutions of progress more advanced. In no nation are the fruits of accomplishment more secure. In no nation is the government more worthy of respect. No country is more loved by its people. I have an abiding faith in their capacity, integrity and high purpose. I have no fears for the future of our country. It is bright with hope.

In the presence of my countrymen, mindful of the solemnity of this occasion, knowing what the task means and the responsibility which it involves, I beg your tolerance, your aid and cooperation. I ask the help of Almighty God in this service to my country to which you have called me.

State College Band Coming will be here March 30, for a concert to be given at the High School Auditorium, and a dance at the Community Hall.

This organization needs no introduction to the people of Carrizozo, as it has been here on two different occasions, and we are always glad to welcome it.

Marshall Beck and Jim Kelsey are members of the band, both playing "Holton Revelation" Trombones.

Rush-Wreck and Moonshine

Wednesday afternoon about 8 o'clock, a Ford car driven by a man, said to have been under the influence of "conversation water," and accompanied by two companions, ran into a Buick Sedan belonging to the Highway Department about 5 miles above here on the Socorro road. The Buick was damaged to the amount of $300, but the Ford was damaged but slightly. The men were arrested and brought here and some kind of a settlement reached and the Sedan is now undergoing repairs at the City Garage. The above bears out the oft-repeated statement that a Ford, no matter how old it might be, is a tough antagonist to battle with in a wreck.

Good pictures at the Crystal Theatre. Attend and see them.

MCDONALD'S MUSIC MIXERS

famous West Coast Broadcasting Entertainers and Dance Orchestra Supreme, will give another big dance at Community Hall tonight, March 8. If you have heard them, you know they are good; and if you have not, you have missed a real treat, and should attend the dance tonight, not only to hear them, but also to patronize them. We know your feet will be aching to dance as soon as you hear such peppy music. See ad on back page.

BEET WORK

Denver, Colo., March 7—Employment for thousands of Spanish-speaking farm workers is indicated by the early agreement upon a contract price for the sugar beet crop in the coming season. The Great Western Sugar Company, as a result of this agreement with farmers, anticipates one of the largest total beet acreages in its long history.

Beet fields in Great Western territory are handled in the main by Spanish-speaking laborers. Farmers in northern Colorado, western Nebraska, the Big Horn Basin of Wyoming and the Billings district of Montana—localities served by the Great Western Sugar Company—have had many years experience with Spanish-speaking beet workers and prefer them. The sugar company itself is favorably known to the Spanish-speaking beet laborers.

Last season there was a material reduction in the beet acreage grown for this company, with a reduction in the employment available for Spanish-speaking families. The year 1929 promises to be most favorable for not only a large acreage but an early shipment of labor needed to handle the beet crop. The winter in the beet growing districts has been a severe one, cold and wet. Immediately, if the weather permits, farm work will be speeded up. The company has conducted an educational campaign favoring early planting, early blocking and thinning of the beets. Efforts will be directed toward obtaining the earliest possible shipment of the beet laborers from the southwest into the Great Western's territories.

If former custom is followed many of the workers now residing outside of the beet area will communicate with their former employers and arrange for beet contracts. Others, as usual, will motor into the sugar producing farm districts and personally will arrange for their season's work in the beet fields. Also Great Western agents are to recruit families as heretofore done.

Frank Gurney

was in Carrizozo from his farmhouse near Elk City, Kansas, Wednesday; Frank looks well, and likes the Sunflower State very much. He was here in the interest of his property, as he has several places now used as business houses and residences in Carrizozo. Frank went on to El Paso, where he will spend about a week, after which he will stop over here for a few days on his return trip home. We presume Frank will wonder how the Lone Star State looks, since it has gone—Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lemon were Carlsbad Cave visitors after the Tournament basketball games at Artesia. ## NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Senate, Still Dry, Votes to Put Sharper Teeth in the Prohibition Law.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
THAT the senate is still overwhelmingly "dry" was fully demonstrated last week when the Jones bill to put more teeth in the prohibition act came to a vote. The measure was passed by a vote of 65 to 18 while, in the senators' private gallery, the result was closely observed by Rev. Clarence T. Williams, general secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, and Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the national conference of 33 dry organizations. Every proposed amendment was voted down except one offered by Senator Jones of Washington, sponsor of the bill. This provides that: "It is the intent of congress that the court, in imposing sentence hereunder, should discriminate between casual and slight violations and habitual sales of intoxicating liquor or attempts to commercialize violations of the law."

As passed, the bill increases the maximum penalties for illegal manufacture, sale, transportation of intoxicating liquor to imprisonment for five years or a fine of $10,000 or both. An identical measure was pending in the house, having been favorably reported by the judiciary committee.

Passage of the Jones bill was preceded by a debate that drew crowds to the senate chamber, for the leading speakers were Senators Reed of Missouri and Borah of Idaho, respectively against and for the bill. Reed's effort, that spread over two days, was probably his last important speech in the senate, for he retired on March 4, and it was well worth hearing or reading. With all the powers of oratorical denunciation at his command—and that means a lot—he attacked the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, and scored with bitter phrases the dry senators and the leaders of dry organizations. There was nothing new in his arguments, but his sarcasm delighted even those against whom it was directed.

Senator Borah admitted that prohibition might be a mistake, but he stated its object is an exalted one. He said he was not committed to opposition to the modification or even the repeal of the amendment to the Constitution or the Volstead act; that he was only committed against the change, the repeal either of the amendment or the law so long as nothing better and more effective has been or can be presented. While the amendment is a part of the Constitution, he declared, congress and the people must support it, maintain it and, if possible, enforce it.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas astutely recalled that Reed was singing a different tune when he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President at Houston last summer. He dwelt on the statement Reed issued on the eve of the convention in which he made a bid for the support of the prohibitionists.

"On that occasion," said Caraway, "he was offering to lead the drys to victory. But the drys were not deceived and the wets were only disgusted."

WITHOUT a record vote the house passed the Johnson general deportation bill which has provision for the deportation of alien bootleggers, gunmen and bomb throwers. A similar bill had been adopted by the senate. It was considered likely the conferees would modify the prohibition part of it, authorizing deportation of alien receiving a one-year sentence, or two sentences aggregating one year, for violations of laws relating to the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquor. This is more severe treatment than is provided for those convicted of most other offenses.

AT THE request of Senator Deenen of Illinois the senate foreign relations committee postponed until the next congress action on the treaty between the United States and Canada authorizing an additional diversion of water for power purposes at Niagara falls. Mr. Deenen argued that action on the treaty should be deferred pending consideration of other questions at issue between the United States and Canada involving other diversions of water from the Great Lakes, notably the diversion at Chicago for sanitary and navigation purposes. The committee decided to hold hearings on the treaty during the recess of congress.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER and Mrs. Hoover arrived in Washington Tuesday and went at once to their home on S street, where Mr. Hoover is to remain in virtual seclusion until the day of his inauguration. He has not receded in the least from his announced determination not to make public his cabinet selections before March 4. The latest gossip in this connection was that Mr. Hoover would like to have Senator Borah as attorney general so that prohibition might be properly enforced, but that the senator would not accept the post. There was talk, too, of James W. Good of Chicago for the postmaster generalship, and of Charles Francis Adams, treasurer of Harvard, for the Navy portfolio. On Wednesday Mr. Hoover had an hour's chat with President Coolidge in the White House. He also conferred with Representative Tilson and Senator Watson concerning the date and program for the special session of congress to be held this spring. Next morning Senator Edge of New Jersey, leading wet, breakfasted with the President-Elect, and there was reason to believe they discussed the matter of naming a fact-finding commission to look into the causes of the breakdown in prohibition enforcement. There was a rumor that Mr. Coolidge might be asked to take the chairmanship of such a commission.

GOOD news comes up from South America. After 45 years of quarreling and fighting, Chile and Peru have settled their Tacna-Arica boundary dispute by peaceful means. Tacna goes to Peru and Arica to Chile, and the new boundary is so fixed that the railway, which is Bolivia's sole outlet to the coast, remains in Chilean territory until it crosses the Bolivian frontier. The railroad from Tacna to Arica will be in Peruvian control, and a spur at Arica to connect the two lines will be controlled by Chile. The agreement is the result of diplomatic negotiations undertaken four months ago, after resumption of diplomatic relations between Chile and Peru at the invitation of the United States Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg last July.

COMMANDER BYRD has just made a huge addition to the territorial possessions of the United States. In flights over the Antarctic region he discovered a vast area of land and claimed it for his country, naming it Marie Byrd Land for his wife. The Rockefeller mountain range, in the British Ross dependency, was mapped by aero cameras, and another and loftier range, in the newly discovered land, was found. Its peaks seemed to rise to eight or ten thousand feet.

RUMORS that the Spanish dictatorship was weakening and that Primo de Rivera was soon to hand in his resignation seem disproved by events of last week. By a government decree signed by King Alfonso the artillery corps of the Spanish army, in which originated much of the recent disorders, is dissolved. All the officers of the corps are dismissed without salary and become private citizens, and the classes of the Royal Artillery academy at Segovia are dismissed. Command of the artillery posts was taken over by officers of other branches of the service. Some of the artillery officers, who took part in the revolt of a week or two ago, were ordered deported, but probably the others will be reintegrated after taking a new oath to defend the present regime.

SIR ENME HOWARD'S statement to the press in Washington, in which the British ambassador predicted that another effort would now be made to bring about an agreement among the principal naval powers to restrict navy building, caused a lot of excitement in England and caused Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary for foreign affairs, to be heckled in parliament. The Laborites and Liberals questioned him persistently, and at first his reply was to the effect that the British government had no intention of issuing an invitation for a conference on this subject; that all questions concerning relations with the United States were under consideration and the time had not come to make any statement of result. Later he admitted the government was considering a new line of approach to the United States on the question of naval disarmament.

TROUBLE for the Chinese Nationalists was developing rapidly last week in Shantung, where large numbers of bandits and former northern soldiers were reported to be concentrating. A revolt that started at Lungkow was spreading to other towns, and it was said that Chang Chung-chang, former war lord of the province, was on his way there, accompanied by some Russian generals. Gen. Feng Yu-shiang some time ago concentrated 30,000 Nationalist troops in western Shantung in readiness for just such a situation as has arisen. The American cruiser Trenton was sent from Manila to Chefoo to look after American interests.

THE extreme cold that has brought so much distress to Europe has had one good effect in England. The coal mining business has been given such a boost that most of the collieries are working full time and many thousands of miners are at work after long months of unemployment.

Traffic and communications in the state of Sao Paulo, Brazil, were demoralized by fogs following terrific rainstorms. The coffee crop was seriously damaged. The port of Santos was completely isolated except by sea.

FULFILLING predictions, President Coolidge last week took the first step toward reopening the question of America's entrance to the World court. By his direction Secretary of State Kellogg delivered to the Washington representatives of all the World court nations identical notes inviting the interested governments to reconsider their rejection of the senate's reservations to American adherence and to take steps making it possible for the United States to become a member of the court.

ONE of the interesting tragedies of the week was the murder in Los Angeles of E. L. Doheny, Jr., son of the oil magnate, by his secretary and companion, Hugh Plunkett, who then committed suicide. It was apparent that Plunkett had suddenly become insane after a year of nervous trouble for which he had been under treatment. The younger Doheny was thirty-six years old and was a partner in his father's oil corporation. The father was prestrated by his son's death.

Electric Cable Will Guide Ship in Fog

A device that would enable a blindfolded helmsman to steer a ship safely into harbor was described at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers by Robert H. Marriott, consulting engineer of the federal radio commission.

An electric cable lying on the sea bottom is the guide. Two coils of wire are hung over each side of the vessel. They pick up electric impulses in the cable by induction and transmit them as sounds through headphones worn by the helmsman.

When the keel is over the cable, the intensity of sound is equal in each ear. But when the sound volume begins to diminish in one ear, it is an indication that the ship is slipping off its course in the direction of the faint sound side. Fog does not affect the operation of the cable.

Young Lady's Elbows No Longer A Hat Rack

"I just couldn't resist any longer telling you of your wonderful medicine, Milks Emulsion. I have been constipated as long as I can remember. Had typhoid fever when I was eight years old and since then my bowels haven't moved freely. Doctors have given me Ewell medicine and I have taken pills, salts, castor oil, and everything a person could think-of. They didn't do me any good whatever.

"Now, whenever I hear anyone say they are constipated, I immediately tell them of Milks Emulsion. I have taken about 12 large bottles, not all of them regular. Now I keep Milks Emulsion in the house and take it regular. I have taken so much medicine that I thought it was all alike.

"I had a sallow complexion, no color, and felt miserable all the time; but now I have the color of health, and health is something I wouldn't exchange with anyone for a fortune. I wouldn't take ten times the price I paid for Milks Emulsion for the results I have obtained.

"I am 19 years old and weigh 105 pounds. Have gained 5 pounds since taking your medicine and am still gaining. My face is round and my arms are getting round. Before, people used to hang their hats on my elbows, thinking they were hatracks. Now I am going to keep on with Milks Emulsion until I weigh 125 pounds.

"I mentioned your Emulsion to two doctors. They both admitted it was good, and no one knows better than I that it is not only good, but wonderful.

"You may publish this letter if you wish and anyone that wants to ask me about your medicine may do so. I promise to answer every letter. In fact, I couldn't do enough for Milks Emulsion to repay them for what their medicine has done for me. I remain, very respectfully yours, ROSEMOND BOWER, Frontenac, Kan."

Salmon in Millions

In some Alaskan streams salmon have at times appeared in such massed numbers as to make it seem that the channel was almost solidly filled with fish. This, however, occurs only during brief periods at the height of the annual runs or migrations of adult salmon from the sea to streams for spawning purposes.

YOU CAN'T DYE with Good Intentions

You can get results—after a fashion—with any old dye; but to do work you are proud of takes real skill. That's why we put them in Diamond Dyes. They contain from three to five times more than other dyes on the market! Cost more to make? Surely. But you get them for the same price as other dyes.

Next time you want to dye, try them. See how easy it is to use them. Then compare the results. Note the absence of that re-dyed look; of streaking or spotting. See that they take none of the life out of the cloth. Observe how the colors keep their brilliance through wear and washing. Your dealer will refund your money if you don't agree Diamond Dyes are better dyes.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the original "all-purpose" dye for any and every kind of material. It will dye or fix silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye for silk or wool only. With it you can dye your valuable articles of silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package will dye every kind of goods, including silk and wool. Your dealer has both packages.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

At the Warren ranch, the "Three Bar," a stranger applied for work as a rider. Willamette Ann Warren, known to all as "Billie," is the owner of the ranch. The girl's father, Cal Warren, had been the original owner. The newcomer is put to work. Cattle "rustlers" have been troubling the ranch owners. The new hand gives his name as Cal Harris. By his announcement in favor of "squatters," he incurs the enmity of a rider known as Morrow. The will made by Cal Warren stipulated that half the property should go to the son of his old friend, William Harris, under certain conditions. The new arrival is the man who he discloses the fact to Billie. Slade, a ranchman with an unsavory reputation, visits Billie Slade, endeavoring to embrace Billie. He is interrupted by Harris. The riders are at their swanning meal. At their swanning range, six outsiders join them. Billie knows them to be "rustlers." To test Harris' courage the girl appoints him temporary foreman, suggesting that he order the visitors to leave. Somewhat to her surprise he does so. The man departs making threats. Billie makes Harris permanent foreman. Catching Morrow leaving cattle where they can be stolen, Harris discharges him. Riding with Billie, a man, presumably Morrow, shoots at Harris. Three Bar riders start in pursuit of Morrow. One of them, Bangs, is ambushed and killed. Harris outlines his plans for bringing settlers into the country. Billie decides to write to her lawyer, Judge Colton, for advice. The settlers begin to arrive, all well-armed men.

widely noised abroad. From behind the bar Brill covertly studied the man who was responsible for this change. Four men from the Half-moon D stood grouped at one end of the room. They split up and mingled among the others. Brill moved up and down behind the bar, polishing it with a towel. One after another he drew each of the men from the Half-moon D into conversation with the Three Bar foreman to determine whether or not they resented his move. There was no evidence of it in their speech.

The men from the two outfits mingled as unrestrainedly as before and at last Harris smiled across at Brill.

"Well, have you sized it all up?" he asked.

The storekeeper looked up quickly, knowing that Harris had read his purpose in drawing him into conversation with the four men. He polished the bar thoughtfully, then nodded.

"A man in my business has to keep posted—both ways," he said. "I just wanted to make sure. Five years ago every man would have quit the Three Bar like a snake—feeling was that strong. But the boys drift from place to place and they've seen both ends of it. They don't give a damn one way or the other now. Why should they? They got nothing at stake. Five years ago you couldn't have hired a man to ride for you. Now they'll be pouring in asking for jobs—just because they figure there'll be some excitement on tap."

The men from the Half-moon D were due back and inside of an hour they rode off, leaving only Harris' men and the five card-players in the place. Harris walked over to the table and the Three Bar men shifted positions, slouching sidewise at the bar or leaning with their backs to it, alertly watching this unexpected move as the foreman spoke to the albino.

"Let's you and I draw off and have a little talk," he said. "If you can spare the time."

Harper tilted up the corner of his hole-card and pecked at it, then turned his other cards face down on the table.

"Pace," he said, and rose to face Harris. "Lead the way."

Harris moved over to another table and the two men sat down, facing each other across it. He motioned to Evans and Lanky joined them. Harris plunged abruptly into what he had to say.

"First off, Harper, I want you to get it straight that I'm not fool enough to threaten you—for I know you're not any more afraid of me than I am of you. This is just a little explaining, a business talk, so we'll both know where we stand. It's up to you whether we let each other alone or fight."

"Good start," the albino commented. "Go right on."

"All right—it's like this," Harris resumed. "I'm going to have my hands full without you lirting out to pester us. I'm not out to reform the country. They set the fashion of dog eat dog and every man for himself; so the Three Bar is all that interests me. You keep out of my affairs and I'll let you go your own gait. If you mix in I'll have your men hunted down like rats."

Harper glanced toward the group at the bar.

"You were prudent enough to plot a time when you're three to one to tell me about that," he said. "If I'd kill you in your chair I might have some trouble getting out the door."

"Of course I'd take every chance to play safe," Harris admitted. "But that is beside the point. I'd have told you the same thing if the odds had been reversed. You've got brains, or you'd have been dead for twenty years. If I thought you were a hap-hazard homicide I wouldn't be sitting here. But you wouldn't kill a man without looking a few weeks ahead and making sure it was safe."

"Go ahead—let's hear the rest of it," Harper urged. "You've got an original line of talk."

"You're playing one game and I'm playing mine," Harris said. "You're in the saddle now—like you have been once or twice before. But you know that the sentiment of a community reveres almost overnight. You've stepped out just ahead of a clean-up a time or two in the past. I've got a hard bunch of terriers over at the Three Bar and you couldn't raid us without a battle big enough to go down in history as the Three Bar war. Either way you'd lose, for it would stir folks up—and when they're stirred you're through. Do you remember what Al Moody did up on the Gallatin and what old Con Listine sprung on the Nations Trail? That will happen again right here."

The two men were leaning toward each other, elbows resting on the table. Harper relaxed and leaned back comfortably in his chair as he twisted a smoke. Evans propped his feet on the table and Harris hung one knee over the arm of his chair. The men at the bar knew that some crisis had been safely passed.

"You talk as if I was running an outfit of my own and had a bunch of riders that could swarm down on you," Harper objected. "I don't even run a brand of my own or have one man riding for me."

"The wild bunch is riding for you," Harris stated.

"Suppose that was true," Harper said. "Then what?"

"In one country after the next they've hit the toboggan whenever they got to feeling too strong. If you line up against me that time has come again. If I get potted from the brush I've hedged it so that those boys that fled over there won't be left in the lurch. There'll be a reward of a thousand dollars hung up for the scalp of each of fifteen men whose names I gathered while I was growing round—reliable men to carry on what I've begun; and marshals thicker than flies to protect the honest filings on the Three Bar."

"Then it might be bad policy to bushwhack you," Harper observed.

"You can go your own gait," Harris said. "As long as you lay off Three Bar cows. You invited me one time to come down to your hangout in the Breaks. I won't ever make that visit unless you call on the Three Bar first; then, just out of politeness, I'll ride over at the head of a hundred men."

"Then it don't look as if we'd get anywhere, visiting back and forth," Harper said.

"Now don't think I'm throwing a bluff or threatening; I'm just telling you. You could recite a number of things that could happen to me in return—all of 'em true. I'm just counting that you've got brains and can see it's not going to help either one of us to get lined up wrong. What do you say—shall we call it hands off between the Three Bar and you?"

They Have Gone to Seek a "Dream Island"

M. F. Bramley, wealthy paving contractor of Cleveland, Ohio, and his party aboard the famous Arctic ship Peary on which they have sailed from Boston in search of a "dream island" off the western coast of Mexico. Mr. Bramley dreamed of this sunken island and later believed he located it from an airplane. In the photograph he is seen wearing a cape coat.

Winner in a Church Building Competition

This Methodist Episcopal church at Trainer, Pa., was awarded the first prize of $1,000 in the nation-wide church building competition conducted by the Christian Herald for the most beautiful and adequate small church. It was designed by Thoralf Sundt and Bruce C. Wenner, young Philadelphia architects.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

There was a clatter of hoofs and a rattling of gravel as five horsemen put their sure-footed mounts down the steep slope two hundred yards back of the house and followed along the fence of the corral. The five Brandons had cut across the shoulder of the mountain. The girl wondered at this visit as she heard Lafe Brandon, the father and head of the tribe, ask Harris to put them up for the night.

An hour later Harris and Lafe came to her door and she let them in.

"The Brandons are riding down to file on a quarter apiece," Harris said. "Art quit the wagon below their place as we came in and told the rest that we're going to farm the Three Bar."

"Then you're doing the same?" she asked Lafe with sudden hope that her brand would have company in the move.

Old man Brandon shook his head. "Not right off," he said. "Until we see how you folks pan out. We can't fix to handle it the way you do. We're filing to protect ourselves before some nester outfit turns up at our front door."

"But the other small outfits feel the same way," Harris said. "If two of us start the rest will join in."

"Maybe so," the old man said doubtfully. "But noways likely. They're too set on the other side." The thought was deep-rooted and he could not be moved.

"We'll let it out it's only for protection that we all are filing," he said. "And that we don't aim to prove up. The outfits that don't file now will lose out. This will always be open range, more than ninety per cent of it, and those who file on their water will control the grass. As soon as the squatters see one outfit starting, they'll take out papers on every piece of dirt they can get water to. They'll have six months to move on, then a six months' stay. They'll hang round waiting for things to open up so they can rush in here. The brand owners who haven't hedged themselves beforehand will run down to file and find that nesters have had papers on all the good places right in their doorway for months. They'll have only the plots left that their home ranch sets on, and likely no water even for that."

The Brandons stayed for the night and rode off at daylight the next morning, while the Three Bar men prepared for a trip to Brill's. As the rest were saddling for the start Harris saw old Rile Foster seated by himself, gazing off across the hills.

"Better come and ride over with us, Rile," he urged. "Bangs would want you to try and forget."

The old man shook his head.

"I'm drifting today," he said. "I'll likely be back before long. I back-tracked Blue to their camp and trailed them twenty miles to where they joined another bunch. It was some of Harper's devils—I don't know which four. One way or another, whether I get the right four or not, I'm going to play even for Bangs."

There were less than a dozen others in Brill's store when the Three Bar men crowded through the door. Five men sat at one of the tables in the big room and indulged in a casual game of stud. Harper and Lang were among them. Two of them Harris knew as men named Hopkins and Wade. The fifth was unknown to him.

The albino's eyes met Harris' steady as he entered at the head of the Three Bar men.

The news that the Three Bar had turned into a squatter outfit had been Rabbi Lee J. Lovinger, Ph. D., of Columbus, Ohio, was elected national chaplain of the American Legion by the national executive committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rabbi Herman J. Beck. As an army chaplain, Doctor Lovinger served with the Twenty-seventh division at the front, at the Battle of the Selle River.

HE WON A DOG DERBY

Fred Printz of Cascade, Idaho, being kissed by his wife and presented with the Marco Hellman silver trophy after winning the first Sierra Dog derby between Truckee, Calif., and Tahoe Tavern—a three-day race run in daily laps of 32 miles each. Mr. Garnett, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, is making the presentation.

One-Legged Mountain Climber

Probably the world's greatest mountain climbing feat of 1924 was achieved by Clyde Cobb, middle-aged taxidermist of Kalspell, Mont., who, wearing an artificial leg, climbed Mt. Wilbur (3,283 feet) in the Rockies. This peak had been scaled by only three other men, all professional mountain climbers. Reaching the summit, where in 1923 Norman Clyde of the Sierra club of California erected a cairn of rocks, the Montana man bared his artificial leg and made a snapshot of himself standing beside the cairn as proof of his ascent.

Grass Knots Convey Message to Gypsies

Close observers may have noticed in the neighborhood of country cross-roads, or where roads diverge, a tuft of grass which has been tied into a knot at the top, and probably considered it the casual act of some idler, but such was not the case.

Since time immemorial the grass-knot has been used by the gypsies as a signal and sign. Usually it is intended merely as a guide for a second division of a party, indicating which road has been taken by the first section, but, if necessary, quite elaborate messages may be conveyed, a particular meaning being indicated by the character of the knot and its position with regard to the road—whether close to or some distance from the wheel tracks, whether on the right or left of the right of way. The second party is even able to tell with considerable accuracy how long it has been since the first party tied the knot. This is accomplished by the breaking of a handful of grass stems when the knot is tied—the degree to which broken stems are dried being a pretty clear indication of the time that has elapsed.

Typical American Girl

The "Gibson girl" stood for a type of healthy, vigorous, beautiful and refined, young womanhood. In fact, Charles Dana Gibson made a place for himself as the delineator of the American girl of various occupations, particularly out of doors.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

Hoover on Party Pledges

Albuquerque Journal:

A minority in the state senate who are obstructing the enactment of a bill creating a commissioner of labor ought to read carefully the inaugural address of President Hoover.

Mr. Hoover says in very definite words that party pledges are made to be kept. His own words are:

"In our form of democracy the expression of the popular will can be effected only through the instrumentality of political parties. We maintain party government not to promote intolerant partisanship but because opportunity must be given for expression of popular will, and organization provided for the execution of its mandates and for accountability of government to the people.

"It follows that the government both in the executive and legislative branches must carry out in good faith the platforms upon which the party was entrusted with power."

The Republican party in New Mexico definitely promised in its platform to create a labor commissioner. Now the reactionaries in the senate are trying to avoid carrying out that pledge.

Mr. Hoover says both the executive and legislative branches must carry out in good faith the platforms upon which the party was entrusted with power.

It is the duty in New Mexico of both Governor Dillon and the legislature to see that a labor commissioner is created, unless they wish to disagree with the new national leader of the Republican party.

Mr. Hoover's concise and clear statement supports everything Senator Bronson M. Cutting has said in New Mexico concerning the carrying out of party pledges in this state.

Are the Republican senators going to follow the dictates of their party leaders in the nation and state, or bow to the wishes of the reactionary members and corporate interests?

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO THINK CLEARLY THE GREATEST DEMAND OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

Bankers Association President Gives the Five Essentials of Sound Thinking in Business—Greater Opportunity Than Ever Before for Young People With Educational Training and Power to Analyze Problems.

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD President American Bankers Association

ONLY half a century ago Michael Pupin, a shepherd boy, guarded his flocks by night among the fields of Serbia. Thieves often lurked in the bordering cornfields awaiting an opportunity to make off with a part of the herd. Serbian boys were taught a method of signalling one another for warning and help. Each carried a knife with a long wooden handle which he would thrust deep into the ground and in case cattle thieves approached he would strike the wooden handle. The sound would be transmitted through the ground to other boys some distance away who could hear and interpret the message.

CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD

"Why is it," Pupin asked his mother, "that we can signal this way? Why is it the sound can be heard through the ground, but not through the air? Why is it the signals can be heard in the pasture land so much better than in the plowed fields?" The boy's mother could not answer his questions, nor could the village teacher. However, having an eager mind and great determination, the boy decided to go to America, where he might win an education and find out the answers to these and other perplexing questions. Hundreds of other boys under the same circumstances and with the same set of conditions more or less accepted these things without once questioning them just because they had always done them that way.

The Land of Education and Success So a penniless immigrant boy from Serbia at the age of fifteen landed in New York in 1874 and, years later, having worked his way through Columbia University, concentrated the wonder and simplicity of his mind upon the problem of sound, which had puzzled him as a shepherd boy. The results of his thinking—what he has accomplished for the long distance telephone and for radio communication by his inventions—are known the world over. "It during the past twenty-two years this company had been compelled to do without one invention of Michael Pupin," an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company once said, "and yet give the same services it is giving today it would have had to spend at least $100,000,000 more than it has expended."

These inventions, in which millions of dollars of capital have been invested, were the result of the thinking of a mere country lad who had the simplicity to wonder, the determination to know and the power to apply what he learned. Stimulating the imagination and thinking is the greatest purpose of education. What American business needs more than anything else is young men and women to think—individuals who are not mentally anchored to tradition, who do not merely appropriate other people's ideas, but who are hard, purposeful thinkers, independent and unprejudiced, with the ability to concentrate and strike straight for the heart of a problem.

Business Needs Folk Who Think America has astounded the world by its readiness in casting aside traditional viewpoints, disregarding traditional difficulties and pioneering new shortcut formulas in the realm of business. Business is undergoing epochal changes. Business problems are crowding in upon us so rapidly that the executive knows not where to look for adequate help or relief. With the enormous increase in size and intricacy of business affairs the problems have become so complicated and the mass of information necessary to their solution so great that the "days are not long enough." The demand for managerial and executive ability is rushing ahead—the opportunity for young men and women who have the professional training and who develop genuine thinking power is greater than ever.

All business feels the same crying need for the men who see clearly and think conclusively. Wherever we look—manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, banking, financing—new forces are at work. Vast movements are under way and executives are seeking light upon perplexing problems daily. Let us consider briefly the five essentials of a sound thinker. If I were looking for a young man of exceptional promise I should hope, first, to find in him the simplicity to wonder. Every great advancement in business has been made by men who dared to wonder, who had the courage to inquire into present procedure and who had the audacity to ask whether something that had been done a certain way for a long time might not be wrong. Although the history of America's progress from its very discovery to the present time has shown the value of an inquiring mind, there is still an inevitable tendency in most men to accept in a docile manner the opinions, methods, supposed facts, procedures and processes of the past. With due reverence to the effort, the spirit, the accomplishments of the past, let us make it our rule that everything be looked at with the clear, questioning mind of the scientist.

Business Requires an Open Mind

Second, among the essentials to sound thinking I would write down an open mind. We have mentioned freeing our minds from the influence of tradition. Let us think also without prejudice or personal feelings, desires or consequences. Let us see only the truth. Mere surface reasoning must be discarded. Old "can't's" and "don't's" must be thrown into the discard. A man who has an open mind will do a great many things because he doesn't know they can't be done.

The third essential to sound thinking is knowledge—a thorough, comprehensive understanding of all the factors involved in a problem. It has been said that most problems answer themselves when the facts have been gathered. A well known student teacher of business describes the method of attacking a problem as tearing it down, reassembling the problem and drawing the conclusion. There can be nothing but guess work or intuition unless the unknown quantities are discovered.

As a fourth essential sound thinking requires the capacity to generalize. How often we have seen men sweating and confused before a mass of details which they were utterly unable to classify and crystallize. We have the problem of sorting out the relevant, attaining a perspective and reaching a conclusion that can be defended against any attack. To certain minds this procedure comes naturally; to others training in the solution of complicated problems points the way out.

The Time for Action Fifth among the essentials of sound thinking is the power to apply. A few individuals have minds that travel at random or in circles. Some have minds that even refuse to budge. But there are still others who naturally or through training have minds that can be directed straight through to the practical application of their thoughts. They refuse to compromise or to be thwarted in purpose before definite application of their ideas has been achieved.

It is possible, I believe, for young people to train themselves to an inquisitive attitude, an open mind and the ability to classify and interpret material step by step from the beginning of a problem to its final solution and application. Here, then, is the "ought I would leave—the paramount need of business is sound thinking. Some may think I have overstated the case, have set too high a standard. They may feel that they are mere cogs in a machine. That, too, is part of the problem. The only way to solve that is to find time and place for the day's work for thinking.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKING MOVEMENT REACHES IMPRESSIVE PROPORTION.

Almost 14,000 of America's school boys have school savings banking plans in operation, and about four million pupils are learning systematic savings through this type of thrift with deposits in excess of $26,000,000, recent reports of the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division show. The schools included in the reports are attended by 4,699,322 pupils, of whom 3,050,237 are participants in the school savings banking plans as depositors. During the year these pupils received interest in an amount of $327,610 on their deposits. The reports gathered by the association also show that there are 38 cities in the United States in which full 100 per cent of the grammar school enrollment is participating in school savings banking. The figure covering high schools show that in 11 cities 100 per cent of the attendance in this class are school savers.

GOOD FLAVOR ADDS TO HAMBURG STEAK

Many Think Hamburg Steak Is Tastier With Onion.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One reason why hamburger steak is so popular is that it can be quickly cooked, in individual portions, but a more important reason is probably that when it is properly cooked the fine flavor of broiled meat can be obtained from cuts which are not tender enough to cook as steaks. Many people think hamburger steak is tastier if a little onion flavor is added to the ground meat, or served with the meat cakes, or both. Another good flavor with hamburger steak is bacon. The illustration shows how you can wrap each portion with a slice of bacon, fasten with a skewer, and then broil and serve with onion.

Here's a recipe from the bureau of home economics:

- Broiled Steak on Onion Rings.
- |                           |                       |
|---------------------------|-----------------------|
| 8 cups ground lean beef   | 1 lb. chopped parsnip |
| 1 cup onion juice         | 1/2 cup butter        |
| 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs | 1/2 cup onion juice   |
| 1/2 cup salt              | 1/2 cup pepper        |
| 1/2 cup bacon             | 1/2 cup water         |
| 1/2 cup Spanish onion     | 1/2 cup water         |
| 1/2 cup fat               | 1/2 cup fat           |

Lay the slices of onion in a buttered shallow baking dish. Pour over them two tablespoons of melted butter, sprinkle it with salt and pepper, add the water, cover closely, and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahr.)

renheit) for 30 minutes, or until tender. In the meantime, cook the chopped parsley in one tablespoonful of butter and combine with the beef, suet, crumbs, and seasonings. Knead until thoroughly mixed. Mold into seven flat cakes and wrap each with a slice of bacon. Place each cake on an onion slice in the baking dish, and broil under direct heat for five minutes on each side. Baste occasionally with the drippings. Serve at once from the baking dish. The cakes may also be pan-broiled in a skillet and served on the onion slices.

GOOD WAY TO PREPARE OYSTERS

Allow six to eight oysters to each serving. Pick over carefully to remove any bits of shell and drain thoroughly. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a heavy frying pan, add two dozen oysters, sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and paprika and cook for six or eight minutes, or until heated through and until the edges curl. Serve on thin slices of buttered toast and garnish with sprigs of parsley and slices of sweet pickle.

FAIRY TALE FOR THE CHILDREN

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"Let the ball commence," said the Fairy Queen as she waved her magic wand.

From far and near the Fairies, Elves, Brownies and Gnomes all came hurrying.

"The ball! The ball! The afternoon ball!" they shouted, for it had been decided to have the party right away, and to call it a snow-time ball.

Soon the dancing commenced. Mr. Sun shone through the heavy snow-covered trees which glistened like diamonds.

In some places it looked as though gems of different colors were sparkling.

That was the work of the Shadows who were being helped by Mr. Sun. "You see," said Mr. Sun—and before he could continue what he was going to say, all the Fairies, Elves, Brownies, Gnomes, had shrieked out:

"Of course we see, You make us see! You're bright enough for the whole world to see.

"But no one can look right at you. You're entirely too bright for that."

"I know you can see!" said Mr. Sun. "I wanted to go on with a whole sentence, but you stopped me."

"Continue," they said. "I was going to say," continued Mr. Sun, "that I wanted you especially to see that the afternoon was a very fine one for a ball.

"It's quite the best time, and to prove it to you I'll give a fine ballet dance between my Rays and Shadows."

"Gorgeous!" shouted the Fairies. Then the Shadows and the Sun's Rays danced together.

In and out of the trees they danced, while the snow sparkled and looked as if it were dancing too.

As the Shadows were dancing with the Sun's Rays the sound of music was heard:

Let us sing as we go,
It's the Sun and the Snow,
As you see at a glance—
Making us dance.

"What are those voices?" asked the Fairies.

"Ah, This is My Time of the Day."

"Those," said the Fairy Queen, "are the make-believe voices of the Shadows."

"No one can hear them but the Fairies and little people of the woods.

"They're singing especially for our ball."

"Then, they sang some more:

It's this time of day
When we are so gay,
Ask Twilight-Bell,
It's her time as well.

The Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell laughed her wondrous musical silvery laugh, and said:

"Ah, this is my time of the day, when there are shadows and wonderful colors."

As she was speaking, the Sun began to grow very bright.

"I'm going to bed now," he said, "but on my way to bed I shall give an illustrated lecture as an ending to the party."

"Whatever do you mean?" they asked.

"I shall talk to you," he said, "and all the time I shall change the colors about me.

"The sky will be red, pink, blue, and there shall be purple clouds, too!

"It will be what the grown-ups will call a marvelous sunset, but you'll know it's an illustrated lecture, with different colors instead of different pictures."

Ethylene Oxide Used for Fumigating

Ethylene oxide is a fumigant not hitherto used for exterminating insects, but recently discovered by the United States Department of Agriculture to be highly toxic to certain species. Those commonly infesting stored food products, clothing, and furniture can be easily killed by the vapors of ethylene oxide in concentrations that can be used without danger from fire and that are not dangerous to human beings. Clothes moths, carpet beetles, rice weevils, saw-toothed grain-beetles, Indian meal moths, red-legged ham beetles, and flour beetles all succumbed to this new fumigant when it was used experimentally for a period of 20 hours in the proportion of 1 pound of ethylene oxide to 1,000 cubic feet of space.

For commercial fumigation work it is, however, recommended that the fumigant be used at double this quantity per 1,000 cubic feet of space. Comparative tests indicated that the vapors of ethylene oxide are somewhat more toxic to stored-product insects than are those of carbon disulfide and about thirty times as toxic as those of carbon tetrachloride.

Owing to its low boiling point ethylene oxide is effective at comparatively low temperatures, ranging from 60 degrees to 75 degrees Fahrenheit. It has excellent powers of penetration. Insects buried in overstuffed furniture, sealed in packages of cereals, and buried in jars of grain were killed with ease. No deleterious effect was noticeable when the commercial dosage of the fumigant was used for 24 hours on commodities, foodstuffs of various types, clothing, furniture, and metals. Such foodstuffs as nut meats and dried fruits were unaffected, and no foreign taste or odor was discernible after removal from the fumigation chamber. No liquid foods were treated.

Preliminary tests in a vacuum fumigation tank show that ethylene oxide can be successfully used for this type of fumigation.

Seeds for planting purposes, however, should not be fumigated with ethylene oxide, since the vapors seriously affect the germination.

TIMELY HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Use silk thread for basting velvet to prevent marking it.

It is better to have too little than too much furniture in a room.

If meat is tough, cooking it in tomato juice will help make it tender.

"As ye sew ye may rip" unless each step of garment making is planned in advance.

No matter how attractive a hat may be, its beauty is lost if it is not placed on the head properly.

To encourage children to care for their own clothes, hooks in their wardrobes should be within their reach.

HOW TO PREPARE GOOD THINGS TO EAT

By NELLIE MAXWELL

"When we lose heart we should remember that the source of good fortune never diminishes or disappears and the source forever remains within easy reach of every man."

Most authorities upon such subjects agree that overweight in an adult is less desirable than underweight, if not extreme. Ten pounds of surplus fat is a menace to health. The lean, wiry person is able to combat sudden epidemics, stand more fatigue, and accomplish more than the fat and sluggish individual.

It is neither faddish nor foolish (as many will lead us to think) for every one to go govern his food and exercise that his weight may be normal, if this is possible.

A man or woman at sixty, who has lived rightly, that is, having had the proper food, exercise and sleep, should be as fit for anything as they ever have, except perhaps endurance.

The proper stuff of mankind is one's own self. Know what causes irritation or stomach trouble and avoid that food or eat that it is prepared or cooked in some other manner.

As the average person likes sweets and often overeats, sour stomach, acid, heartburn are the common ills of man. Sugar is an invaluable food—we need it, but it is the most easily assimilated of foods and when used wisely is good for the body.

The use of the automobile has almost taken away the desire for walking. One can get to and from one's home in such a short time that we are gradually becoming sluggish from inactivity. Dancing is a splendid exercise for the muscles, but nothing can take the place of long walks in the pure air, to keep one fit.

Starches and sugars are fat producers as well as energy makers. If one burns up his food in work and exercise so that there is no excess of fat, the food is probably well balanced and the body will be normal in weight and in good health. Certain processes of absorption and elimination are entirely different in different individuals.

Notice the habitual auto rider; the trunk is overdeveloped, face sags with the fat and the eyes become dull from lack of exercise. Such people are prey to all sorts of diseases and rarely live to a good old age.

Simple food, fresh, green vegetables once or twice a day, good sleep in a well aired room, will keep one physically fit, with proper exercise. A hard and wearisome day will find one very tired, but a good night's rest will restore one to normal again.

Where economy is of the utmost importance there needs to be more knowledge of food values and greater care in marketing.

A sustaining soup with whole wheat bread will furnish a good meal, will supply waste and build tissue. If a bit of green vegetable in the form of salad is served with a glass of milk and perhaps a little fruit or a most simple dessert, it will be a perfect meal.

As potato is one of our cheapest and most common vegetables it may be used for a good soup. Here is one for the husky members of a growing family:

Potato Soup.—Put to cook three to six medium sized potatoes cut into eighths. Cover with boiling water, adding a little salt (one-half tea-spoonful). In a saucepan place one to three finely sliced onions and fry them until soft in two to four tablespoonfuls of butter. When the onion is partly cooked add from time to time some of the potato water; cook until well done. Drain the potatoes, adding that water is left to the onions. Mash the potatoes, add the onions, more salt and a few dashes of white pepper, one to two quarts of good rich milk and when hot—not boiling—serve with croutons or toasted crackers.

Some stomachs have too acid digestive juices. Such foods as sugar, too much of starchy foods and fruits which produce acid, should be avoided.

WINSOME ENSEMBLES FOR YOUNG MISSES

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Spring styles for the junior miss give evidence that designers are working along the theory that the ensemble costume is as necessary to the smart appearance of the very young as it is to that of the more mature.

In planning little folks' outfits fashion places special stress on color. Whereas in seasons past neutral tints, especially beige and taupe, were the smart thing for coats, now the mode calls for bright color. Soft green is a particular favorite with stylists at present and it is said that spring will see it outstanding. Blue, orchids and bright red are also cited in advance messages from style centers, with renewed emphasis placed on navy.

From Paris comes the modish ensemble in the picture. It emphasizes the vogue for soft light green in that the handsome suede-like cloth of which it is made is in that color. The gray caracul which trims at neck and wrists produces together with the green cloth a most effective color scheme. The fact that the skirt is laid in box plait is significant, for this form of plaiting is considered tres chic.

In the realm of junior ensembles there is nothing prettier or more delightfully wearable than the costumes which combine printed silk or rayon fabrics with cloth. The print is used for the dress, also for the lining of the coat, the latter made either of tweed or smooth-faced light wools.

This composite is worked out in scores of interesting ways. Probably the simplest is the one-piece frock which, by the way, is very apt to be sleeveless, for sleevelessness is a touch exploited theme when it comes to styles for the near future. The coat to complement this dress must be lined with the same silk and often the collar, cuffs and pocket flaps are of the print.

Another version of the print-plus cloth ensemble exploits the very popular plaited skirt and blouse treatment—not, however, a blouse of the same material as the skirt and coat lining. Rather is the combination worked out in this way: The skirt, let us say, is of plaid silk smartly plaited all around. The lining of the coat is of the identical plaid. The blouse, which, please remember, is at most sure to be a tuck-in, is of soft crepe either the color of the coat or of the dominating tone in the plaid. Kerchief blouses of fine colored handkerchief linen are also in favor.

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has acidity completely checked, and the digestive organs all tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will cease to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it whenever coated tongue or fetid breath signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same!

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks, Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

FIND "FRIEND IN NEED"

Mother and Daughter Praise Vegetable Compound

Johnson City, N. Y.—"My daughter was only 20 years old, but for two years she worked in a millinery. She was all run-down, nervous, had aches and pains and no appetite. I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results so she decided to try it. Before she had taken two bottles her appetite was better, she was more cheerful and was able to work. I cannot praise your medicine too highly. It is wonderful for mothers and for daughters. It's surely a friend in need!"—Mrs. L. E. HALL, 222 Floral Avenue, Johnson City, N. Y.

CONVENIENT SINK FOR KITCHEN

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A sink out in the middle of the kitchen is very convenient, especially if it is built with sufficient flat surfaces to hold the dishes waiting to be washed or to stack those that are finished, or accommodate vegetables or other food which must be cleaned before cooking. There is no special reason why water pipes must always stick to the kitchen wall. Hotels and restaurants use the center sink frequently, so that many people can handle dishes without colliding with each other. Laboratories often have sinks that are similarly accessible from any side.

Putting the sink in the center of an unusually large kitchen cuts in half the distances to be walked in handling food and clearing up a meal, so it is one of the best changes that can be made in modernizing an old-fashioned kitchen. Where the wall space is broken by many doors or windows or cupboards, the sink away from the wall provides a necessary work center without displacing other fixed equipment.

The sketch shows a good type of sink and work table for use in the middle of a large kitchen. The L-shape is especially good, as it provides storage for articles constantly in use near the water taps and increases the top surface available. In a kitchen planned by the bureau of home economics, a sink like this was placed within easy reach of the refrigerator and the kitchen cabinet, so that the centers for food preparation, cooking and serving are brought close together, leaving one side of the room for a rest corner and play place for children, who must often be in the kitchen while the mother is busy at work.

Lesson for March 10

BAPTISM AND THE LORD'S SUPPER

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 3:13-17; 28:19, 20; 1 Cor. 11:23-26. GOLDEN TEXT—This do in remembrance of me.

1. The Baptism of Jesus (Matt. 3:13-17). 1. His request (v. 13). This was in act, if not in word. He came from Galilee to Jordan to be baptized of John.

2. The Commission of the Apostles (vv. 19, 20). 1. The authority of Jesus (v. 19). God gave Him all authority in heaven and on earth.

2. The Significance of the Lord's Supper (vv. 24-26, cf. Matt. 26:26-29). Jesus took material things and made them to be symbols of His own body and blood.

3. The all-sufficient promise (v. 20). The Lord told the disciples their difficulties would be great after He had gone away, but promised them the presence and fellowship of the all-powerful Savior and Lord.

3. Orderly walk. Conduct which disqualifies for participation in the Lord's supper: (a) Immoral Conduct (1 Cor. 5:1-13). It is most perilous for one who is guilty of immorality to approach the Lord's table (1 Cor. 11:30).

Clean Hands and Pure Heart. Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord, or who shall stand in His holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord.—Psalm 24:3-5.

Never in History Has So Much Wealth Fallen Into Lap of Education

By PRESIDENT A. L. LOWELL, Harvard University.

THE effects of the great war surprised us. One of the results affects us deeply here. The people who have suffered since the war on the continent of Europe more acutely than any other class have been the professors, because they were paid in a constantly falling currency.

What effect is that likely to have? Is it not almost certain to retard their growth? Is it not sure to hamper their work? On the other hand, there has never been a time in the history of this country, and I think the history of mankind, when wealth has fallen into the lap of learning as it has since the end of the war.

We have been more distinguished in the past in building railroads than we have in producing great books, books that turned the current of human thought in new directions. We have been more successful in our industries than we have been, on the whole, in our learning.

Perhaps they are right. But our view is quite different, yours and mine. We feel as if we owe something to men. We feel as if we had received the sacred fire and that that sacred fire must be kept alive.

Now is the time when we will begin to sow the seed of the greatest intellectual movement that the world has ever known. If not we do not deserve to be where we are. We ought to feel that the time has come when if our country is going to be great we must begin now.

Dishonesty in Business Is Now Scarce Enough to Be Sensational News

By OWEN D. YOUNG, General Electric Company Official.

Our big business is no longer feared by the people. Exploiters no longer own them. Their shares are spread from one end of the country to the other.

The American public 25 years ago was more or less in the position of an old friend of mine whose horse became frightened when it saw its first automobile and jumped a fence, wrecking the buggy in which the old man was riding.

The American people had the same fear of big business as the old man's horse did of the auto when it first appeared around the bend, snorting and clattering, 25 years ago, but with the present high-g geared machines, run by careful, expert drivers, that fear has largely disappeared.

The danger today comes not from bad men in business or bad principles, but from "the difficulty of applying right principles to complicated situations. Our greatest risk is in the mistaken judgment of good drivers where the traffic is heavy and the signals are complicated.

By and large, looking over the quarter century with which I have been familiar, I am pleased with the rapid progress which we are making toward the right in business. We are not perfect, and never shall be, but we are training our young men with a sense of their great responsibilities and we are providing them with experience from our own mistakes.

Aimlessness Is Greatest Danger That Now Threatens Democracy

By REV. CHARLES FRANCIS POTTER, New York.

Democracy's greatest danger, whether in politics or religion, is aimlessness. In an absolute monarchy the citizens have their purpose selected for them. The people of Italy know what they are aiming for because Mussolini tells them.

Democratic countries and religions are likely to waste their efforts and diminish their power by changing from one ideal to another as different factions gain control. Protestantism has passed through a period of democratic experiment, but the era of divisions has ended and a strong unifying movement is evident.

Discussions of Problems of Life Are Properly Part of Our Religion

By DR. KARL REILAND, New York.

There is bound to be a conflict between science and religion, according to the commonly accepted meanings of those words at the present time.

Ninety-five per cent of all orthodox religious beliefs are opposed to the assurances which science affords us. Whatever touches human life is a part of religion and consequently certain aspects of politics rightfully are discussed in churches.

Those who base their beliefs and conduct on what their ancestors set up as right are in error. There is no revelation in the past which is fit to be the guide for the future. What you are, as you are, is your religion.

This is a world that demands work and effort, it is a world of evolution and not evasion. The moment we get better acquainted with problems and thoughts, no matter how hard or opposed they may seem at the start, we find in them something useful and helpful. The result is worth the effort.

SAME PRESCRIPTION HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1876, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air.

This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds, fevers. At your druggist, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. B, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Man waits on science for the permanent abate.

Neal's Mother Has Right Idea

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children. That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup by growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Western mother, Mrs. Neal M. Todd, 1701 West 27th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., says: "When my son, Neal, was three years old he began having constipation. I decided to give him California Fig Syrup and in a few days he was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig Syrup ever since for all his colds or little upset spells. It always stops his trouble quick, strengthens him, makes him eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine. Caps the climax—the high-hatter.

Quart of Water Cleans Kidneys

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

"Including" is the Word "Reggie has nothing to talk about except himself." "Why the exception?"

The man who is aware of his imperfections is almost perfect.

Is This True?

The custom of churchgoing must be formed in early childhood or in most cases not at all. The indifference of parents in this regard is fatal. The passing of home worship and the family pew has left its blight. No process could be more subtle and powerful in depleting the church of her most precious possessions than that employed today by Christian parents in educating their children away from the house of God. A wise man wrote: "Attending church was in my father's family, a grave and serious matter."

Astute church leaders and parents will enter with understanding the thought of the ancient Greek statesman. Asked who was the most powerful person in Athens, the great man pointed to his little boy and said: "There he is. He rules his mother, and his mother rules me." Have we forgotten the words of Jesus? "To such belongeth the kingdom of Heaven." Childhood is the ideal state of this heritage. The mysticism, the gift of contemplation, the sense of awe, the poetry, the wide-open eyes, whispering lips, mysterious questionings, a trust, a joy, a love. These things people the realm of childhood, and are ministering angels to him who would educate little lives out of God.

"Filled with water from a neighboring stream."—Ivanhoe.

In earlier days houses were built near streams wherever possible in order to insure a plentiful supply of water for household use. Those not fortunate enough to have springs and clear streams on their land were compelled to dig wells; but those who had springs rarely bothered about wells.

Whatever the respective merits of streams and wells as sources of water for washing and cooking and the like, there is no question as to which is the more satisfactory to children. Every normal child longs to play in water, and a tubful of water drawn from a well is a poor substitute for a stream with minnows and crawfish and other living things in it.

To those who did not spend a large part of their childhood playing in streams, it is surprising how many things live in even a small brook. There are the caddis flies, for example, with their amazing houses with the wonderful netting over the entrance.

Fishing for minnows with a bit of cord and bent pin is far from being despicable sport, even though one never lands a minnow. Fishing for crawfish with a piece of cord and a pebble for a snaker is even more exciting, however, for the dextrous can often manage to land the crawfish. The greatest of all sports, though, is to catch crawfish by hand. To find them you must turn over the stones in the bottom of the stream. When you lift a stone the mud of the stream bottom is stirred up enough to cloud the water. Small boys usually plunge their hands right into the muddy water and grab for whatever may have been under the stone.

The most terrible looking of the small stream's denizens is the hellgramite. It is truly ferocious-looking and only the value set on it as a bait for bass fishing would lead the average child to interfere with it. The salamanders, red and gray, that are to be found wherever a bit of brush and leaves check the stream's current, look dangerous to the city bred, but the country child knows they are harmless.

All sorts of other life is to be found in a stream—pollwogs and tadpoles, wiggletails and water beetles, snails and wee clams, and even leeches and water snakes. The child who has a stream to play in will learn more of water life in a season than the schools can ever teach him, and those who do not live near streams should try to spend their vacations near them.

The country has known for some time that Mr. Edison has been searching for new sources of rubber, but it was only recently, on his 82nd birthday, that it learned from the inventor himself, of the progress which he has attained and of his plans for future experiment. While Mr. Edison's laboratory has found traces of rubber in 1,200 plants, only 40 of these seem to offer any promise of commercial usefulness. It is with these 40 that the next steps will be conducted.
