Warning to Arabs To Improve Marriage Pittsburgh's Big Day Wise Young Dinosaur

Britain has made the Arabs understand that murder is not a safe pastime under a British mandate.

At Haifa three Arabs were sentenced to death by Chief Justice Sir Michael MacDonnell for causing the death of Isaac Mammas.

The men convicted and Arabs witnessing the trial called upon Allah to resent it.

Allah didn't say anything.

He was missing from the scene, as angels were once falsing in Constantinople. Christians had been assured that at the last moment if the Turks took Constantinople angels would appear in the square before the Church of St. Sofia and smile them.

Turks took Constantinople, have held the city through all the centuries since. No angels have appeared.

Moral: If you want anything done, don't depend on Allah.

Great Britain proposes to bar from marriage the "mentally unfit." That might improve the human race, if you could identify the mentally unfit with certainty.

Some unfit will be exempt from matrimonial ostracism because they possess fortunes or important titles or names.

Others mentally unfit will escape because they are only dull, belonging to the negative class that Dante put into one of hell's disagreeable compartments.

Pittsburgh held a big celebration and for good reasons.

Fifty years ago you could wade across the Ohio river in many places with water no higher than your knees.

Now the government has built fifty dams, costing $18,000,000, giving at least nine feet of water, enough for large boats, all year round throughout the 1,000 miles of stream between Pittsburgh and the Mississippi.

Ohio river traffic has increased in twelve years from 4,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons.

The river now makes possible a saving of $20,000,000 a year in freight charges.

Overwork is not so dangerous but violent emotion is extremely dangerous, says Dr. C. P. Emerson, learned student of the human body. "A strong emotion can inflict a physical injury, just as truly as can a knife," says the doctor.

However, a life that amounts to anything is made up of strong emotions.

A giant turtle on the Galapagos Islands never has strong emotions and lives five or six hundred years. But who would be a Galapagos turtle? Better be Keats, Alexander, or Napoleon.

Samuel Insull, Jr., following in his father's industrial dinosaur tracks, as president of the Midland United Company of Chicago, tells the American Gas association that to boom the gas industry and increase sales they must cut prices, and use "persuasive advertising and proper salesmanship."

If young Mr. Insull follows out those ideas he will be a big industrial dinosaur some day.

Mr. Lamont, "the" Mr. Lamont, says business is good and will continue good. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, says "America" and means it. Orders received by his company for the three months ending September 30 were $116,088,014, against $90,523,000 in the same period last year. That increase of 29 per cent has prevailed throughout the entire year.

He has purchased a home on Tulare avenue and will soon have a shop fitted out for work and solicits your patronage. Give him a call, when in need of work in this particular line.

Madame Curie, who helped the discovery of radium, comes here to accept for the new Radium Institute at Warsaw, one gram of radium, costing $50,000, paid for by American women. You could put in a small valise radium worth more than all the wealth of Rockefeller, Ford, Secretary Mellon and George F. Baker combined, if such a radium quantity existed.

Our sun, with its source of terrific energy only guessed at by science, may contain millions of tons of radium.

We can't get at that. But we might give more poor children the benefit of the sun's light, which is accessible and costs nothing.

Preliminary Report of Lincoln County Fair

1—The following preliminary report is made by the Fair and Track Meet management. Detailed reports will be made as soon as all returns are in. Several departments have not yet been able to file all complete reports.

2—The Third Annual Fair and Track Meet will exceed the other two events in gross receipts in nearly every department.

Gross receipts of 1927, $1422,54; 1928, $1552 85; receipts at the bank at the close of the last day of the Fair were $1873 57.

3—Each department will make up a report and a final detailed financial statement will be made.

4—Captain again took the Track Cup, the Boys' Basketball Trophy and the Girls' Basketball Trophy. Corona won the Grade School Cup.

5—The Track Events and the basketball games were hotly contested events and great interest was shown in them. Many more schools participated this year in athletic events and school exhibits.

6—The management of the Fair and Track Meet and the directors of the Chamber of Commerce desire to express appreciation of the work of the various committees and those who helped them—also to the schools of Carrizozo, faculty and students—without their help success would have been impossible.

7—To outside teachers, students and visitors, we say, come again; entertaining you in our town is a pleasure that everyone in Carrizozo supremely enjoys.

Wells—Douglas

In the city of Los Angeles on Oct. 18, with Rev. Douglas Stuart performing the ceremony, Miss Bertha Wells and Wm. Douglas were united in marriage. The news will be of interest to many Carrizozo and White Oaks people, as the bride was reared in White Oaks, she being the daughter of Mrs. M. F. Wells and her friends are many.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Douglas of Winnipeg, Canada, but the groom has adopted Los Angeles as his home, where the couple will reside for the future. The wedding is described as being one of exceptional brilliancy and the costume of the bride as beautiful and captivating. About 30 guests were present, the party being composed of relatives and close friends. The many friends of the new Mrs. Douglas in Lincoln county will be glad to extend their congratulations.

The Kingston Murder Case came to an end yesterday afternoon, when the jury, after being out but 30 minutes rendered a verdict of not guilty and the defendant was discharged.

Will Ed Harris

and A. D. Brownfield arrived home Tuesday from Washington, D. C., where they had been attending the Fall trial. They said that public opinion in general was in favor of exonerating Mr. Fall, and they had no doubt but that he would be acquitted of all charges by the jury.

Mrs. Dan Simpson

Mrs. Nannie Stone and Miss Della Roberts were here yesterday from Corona and told about a 4-inch snow that fell Tuesday night in that region, but melted on Wednesday, furnishing an additional amount of moisture.

Frigidaire

During the first 8 months of 1929 there were 114,367 more Frigidaires purchased than during the same period last year, according to F. A. English, local representative, who has returned from a quarterly district convention at El Paso. "Frigidaire was the successful bidder on 70% of all government electric refrigeration business, and sold 80% of all electrically refrigerated ice cream cabinets purchased," he said.

Three Sets of Twins In One School

Capitan Notes

The Capitan teams are back happy and victorious and while every one feels that lady luck is still with us, everyone also has a word of praise for the fine school spirit displayed by the people of Carrizozo and other schools of Lincoln county.

The people of Capitan wish to express their appreciation for the splendid way in which the people of Carrizozo opened their hearts and homes to the people of Capitan and although Capitan seemed to have all the good luck we heard nothing but words of praise and commendation. We know the tremendous amount of work connected with a job of this kind and we feel that a great deal of praise is due the people of Carrizozo for making this fair such a splendid success.

ALTO NEWS

Miss Tinnie Luck was taken to an eye specialist at Roswell this week. We all hope there is nothing seriously wrong with her eyesight.

Messrs. Arnold and White have been very busy all week, digging potatoes.

Mrs. Conder and family will be moving to Capitan soon, where they will make their home for the winter.

The P. T. A. was fully organized Wednesday night, in which Mrs. Traylor was elected President; Mrs. Henry Peebles, Vice-President; Mrs. Warney West, Secretary; B. L. Luck, Treasurer. The club congratulate themselves on the officers chosen.

Little Marshall Lee West has been quite ill this week.

Miss Mattie Hicks and Mrs. Margie Howard, sisters of Mrs. Henry Peebles, are visiting relatives and friends. They will remain here a few days before leaving for Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hages and baby were Carrizozo visitors Tuesday and returned home in the afternoon, Mr. Hages driving a new Chevrolet Sedan, purchased at the City Garage. Mr. Humphrey is also a Chevrolet convert, having purchased a new truck last week, and both are delighted with their "Chivvies."

Frosts prevail over the White mountain region and it will not be long before snow will begin to fall. The Eagle Creek Club Grounds are deserted, summer sojourners having gone to their homes for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dale and sons were here Monday from their ranch near Ancho, attending to some court matters.

We also think the officials and committees should have special commendation for the splendid way they handled all the little misunderstandings.—Always doing the big thing in a big way.

The Parent - Teachers' Association will hold its next regular meeting at the school building on the first Tuesday of November. Everyone is invited to attend this meeting and help the P. T. A. to be a success.

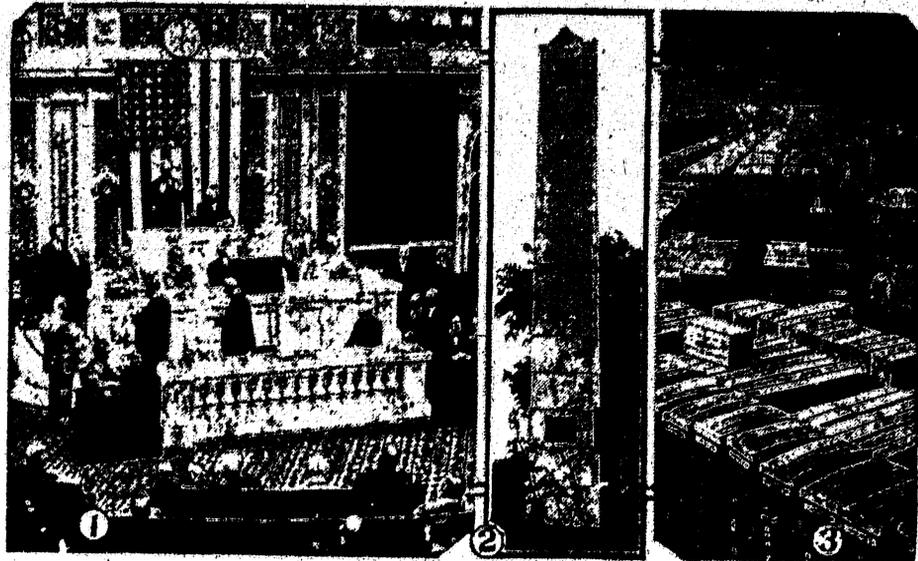

The Missionary Society meeting was held at the home of Mrs. F. H. Hall Wednesday, Oct. 16. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beall. All members are urged to be present to help with the donations for the orphans' home.

1—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain addressing the American house of representatives. 2—Monument to the Ohio river, erected in Eden park, Cincinnati, to be dedicated by President Hoover on his trip to the Middle West. 3—New York docks jammed with rotting fruit and vegetables during the strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union which shut off the city's supply of fresh food.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

MacDonald Visit Ends and Naval Conference Is Called by England.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

FIRST fruit of the momentous conversations between President Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the Virginia fishing camp and the White House was the invitation issued by Great Britain to the United States, France, Italy and Japan to participate in a naval conference in London next January. The proposal of the British government is in effect to reopen, revise and extend the navy limitation agreements reached at the Washington conference of 1921-22, with a view to gradual disarmament in accord with the spirit of the Kellogg pact in which all countries have renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

In order to give assurance that there will be no differences between Great Britain and the United States over cruiser tonnage to wreck this conference as occurred at the Geneva conference of 1927, the London government informs Japan, France and Italy that the two Anglo-Saxon nations have virtually reached an agreement based on parity of the two navies in all classes of ships.

There is no doubt that the invitations will be accepted, though there will be some opposition to holding the conference in London, America's acceptance was announced Thursday, France, it was believed, would make three reservations, asking that the work of the conference be dissociated with the Kellogg pact; that the proposals for abolishment of the submarine be dropped by England and America before the meeting opens, and that France have the right to call for a new ratio on cruisers, destroyers and submarines. It was understood that Italy would adopt practically the same attitude as France; and Japan was expected to accept the invitation without reservations. Each British dominion also was invited to send representatives to the conference.

When Mr. MacDonald's Washington visit officially came to an end and Mr. Hoover issued a joint statement to the effect that in their conversations they had reached an understanding that the United States and Great Britain would co-operate to preserve the peace of the world, and that settlement of all disagreements between the two countries in the future should be sought on the assumption that war between them is unthinkable. Sincere acceptance of the Paris peace pact is reaffirmed, and confidence expressed in the success of the naval conference. One significant paragraph of the statement reads:

"The part of each of our governments in the production of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors; but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence towards securing and maintaining the peace of the world."

This is designed to quiet the apprehension, felt especially by the French, that the MacDonald visit would result in an actual alliance between America and Great Britain intended to force upon the rest of the world their interpretation of disarmament and peace. At every opportunity Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald disclaimed any such intention, and in his remarkable address before the senate the prime minister explicitly said: "We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it. We would not. It is not for the benefit of either of us."

The President and the prime minister discussed, in a general way other topics besides the naval conference. These included tariffs, the Anglo-American war debt, freedom of the seas and the British naval bases off the American Atlantic coast. It was agreed the most important matter should be the subject of further consideration after Mr. MacDonald has returned to London.

Socially as well as politically, Mr. MacDonald's visit was a great success. He and his daughter Isabel were lavishly entertained, there were state dinners at the White House, the British embassy, and at the home of Secretary Stimson, and the prime minister was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the George Washington university. After the formal farewells in the Capital the British party left for Philadelphia and New York, secure in the belief that Mr. MacDonald's unprecedented adventure had accomplished extraordinary things for the two nations and for the world at large.

IRWIN B. LAUGHLIN of Pittsburgh, one of the "career" diplomats, has been appointed by the President as ambassador to Spain to succeed Ogden H. Hammond, resigned. Mr. Laughlin's last assignment was as minister to Greece, where he served from 1924 to 1926. Prior to his appointment Mr. Laughlin had been stationed in various diplomatic capacities at many of the principal capitals of the world. He began his career as private secretary to the minister to Japan.

ONCE again the Democratic senators and those radicals who persist in calling themselves Republicans scored on the administration senators in the tariff battle. This time by a vote of 44 to 41 the senate rejected finance committee amendments broadening the rights of manufacturers and wholesalers to intervene in customs disputes before the treasury and the courts. Later the senate rejected an amendment offered by King of Utah which would have granted independence to the Philippines, and debated another proposal to levy tariffs on imports from the Philippines and return the revenue thus derived to the islands until independence is granted. These proposals really were made for the benefit of the American beet sugar growers and domestic producers of vegetable oils.

The strength of the Democratic-radical combine led to forecasts that there would be a deadlock over the tariff bill in conference and that the measure would fall of enactment in the special session. There were those who said this result would not be entirely displeasing to the President and that the administration would not favor the revival of the bill in the regular session of congress.

ALBERT B. FALL, former secretary of the interior, appeared in Washington for his trial on bribery charges connected with the oil scandals, and refused to ask a continuance on account of his exceedingly poor health. But before the taking of testimony began he collapsed and a recess was ordered. The court designated Dr. Sterling Ruffin to examine him, but Fall refused to receive the specialist, explaining his action was on purely personal grounds and that Doctor Ruffin was the only physician in the country whom he would not permit to examine him.

THREE more loans were authorized by the federal farm board. The Florida Citrus exchange is to get a facilities loan of $2,800,000; and the Tennessee Cotton Growers' association and the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative association receive supplemental loans of $250,000 and $500,000, respectively. The advance to the Florida Citrus exchange will be secured by first mortgage on packing plants of local units.

REPORTS from India say that Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan, has been captured by the forces of Nadir Khan and that Habibullah Khan, otherwise Bacha Saks, had fled by airplane. Evidently the story of the warper king's assassination two weeks ago was at least premature. The troops of Nadir's brother are said to have scattered Habibullah's army and to have entered the capital, the inhabitants taking refuge in the hills.

SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD of Texas has put forward a proposal to amend the Volstead act so as to make the purchase of liquor a crime, as well as the sale of it. But the idea is meeting with strenuous objections not only from the wets but also from many of the dry leaders. Some thought it would nullify the whole scheme of prohibition, and others, like Senator Norris, chairman of the judiciary committee, held that it might completely break down prohibition enforcement. Mr. Norris said the plan, if adopted, would prevent 95 per cent of the prosecutions in prohibition cases, for in fully that number the testimony of buyers must be relied on for convictions. Senator Hawes of Missouri, a wet, said: "The matter of 'purchase' purposely was omitted from the Eighteenth amendment, and if it is to be brought up now the proper method would be by the submission of another constitutional amendment."

PREPARATIONS were completed for the investigation of lobbies operating in Washington by the senate. The subcommittee of the judiciary committee, which is to conduct the hearings, was named, as follows: Caraway of Arkansas, chairman; Borah of Idaho, Robinson of Arkansas, Blaine of Wisconsin and Walsh of Montana. Thus the inquiry is dominated by radicals, drys and pacifists and it is expected to go especially hard for the eastern high tariff interests, the big navy and other preparedness organizations and the wet associations. The tariff lobby was scheduled for first attention. Probably the hearings will last through the winter.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR delegates opened their annual convention in Toronto with President William Green in the chair. The most interesting event of the week was the start of an attempt to bring the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen back into the federation. Albert Whitney, chief of the brotherhood, was loudly cheered when he told the convention he saw no reason for the brotherhood to remain separated from the rest of the labor movement and that he intended to ask the lodges of the order immediately to vote on a proposal to affiliate.

For four days New York's supply of fresh fruits and vegetables was seriously curtailed by a strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union, and freight yards and piers were jammed with rotting produce worth millions of dollars. The strike was called off when the Market Truckmen's association agreed to accept one of two propositions made by the union. The men were to get either more wages or shorter hours.

The workers' week has gone into effect in Soviet Russia and is said to be creating distressing confusion in industry.

DIEDONNE COSTE and Maurice Bellonte, French aviators who started eastward from Paris for an endurance flight and were thought to have been lost in the wilds of Siberia, turned up in Manchuria near the Mongolian border, 4,846 miles from their starting point, breaking the world's straight line distance record. It took them about a week of foot travel to reach a place where they could get in communication with the outside world.

Colonel Lindbergh, with Mrs. Lindbergh and two archeologists, spent several days flying over the jungles of Yucatan, Guatemala and British Honduras. Their purpose was to explore unknown regions in the search for ancient Maya cities, and they were successful in discovering several extensive ruins not heretofore known. The Lindberghs then flew from Belize to Miami, Fla.

FEDERAL inquiry into liquor and vice conditions in northern Indiana has resulted in hundreds of indictments and arrests. Among the accused are the mayor of East Chicago and many police officers of towns in the northwest corner of the state. The charges include violations of the liquor, white slave, narcotic and auto theft laws.

COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT arrived in San Juan, Porto Rico, and was immediately inaugurated governor of the island. The ceremonies took place in the new capital building, and the governor was then escorted by a parade to La Fortaleza, the ancient building that will be his official residence.

COLORADO NEWS NOTES

Motor Violin
A mechanical violin, said to play with an uncanny human touch, has been perfected by two French engineers.

It has a number of keys which press the strings like the left-hand fingers of a player, and a revolving bow which permits different degrees of pressure.

The violin is driven by two motors. One takes the place of the player's arm; the other imparts the swift movements of the wrist.

For Best Results In Home Dyeing

You can always give richer, deeper, more brilliant colors to faded or out-of-style dresses, hosiery, coats, draperies, etc., with Diamond Dyes. And the colors stay in through wear and washing! Here's the reason. Diamond Dyes contain the highest quality aniline dyes. And it's the aniline that counts! They are the very life of dyes. Plenty of pure aniline make Diamond Dyes easy to use. They go on evenly without spotting or streaking. Try them next time and see why authorities recommend them; why millions of women will use no other dyes. You get Diamond Dyes for the same price as ordinary dyes; 15c at any drug store.

Record Gain in Butter Profits

Dairymen Who Use "Dandelion Butter Color" Say It's the Best Investment of All.

The biggest creameries in the country, who are most careful to cater to the whims of the public, are earning record profits by keeping their butter that appetizing June color every one likes. Ninety per cent of them are doing it with "Dandelion Butter Color." It's the most economical and satisfactory butter color made. Half a teaspoonful colors a gallon of cream! It doesn't color the buttermilk. It's purely vegetable and tasteless. Approved by all State and National Food Laws. Large bottles, only 35¢ at all drug and grocery stores or write Walls and Richardson Co., Inc., Burlington, Vt., for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

THE CHRISTIAN'S VIEW OF RECREATION

LESSON TEXT—Jer. 3:12, 13; Zech. 8:15; Mark 2:18-28; Mark 6:30-32, John 2:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Right Way to Play.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Right Way to Play.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Play Does for Us.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Recreation in Community Life.

In the last lesson we saw that work was God's primal law for man. In work there is a certain breaking down of cells which needs constant repair; therefore, in order that work may continue there must be recreation. Recreation means re-creation. Failure to discern this truth has made of recreation dissipation, in this light let us view the salient points in the scripture selected.

I. The Coming Golden Age (Jer. 3:12, 13).

Though Jeremiah was the weeping prophet, and presented dark pictures of Israel's condition, God gave him a view of Israel's golden age. He made known how that through the mighty hand of God the chosen nation should be delivered from bondage and brought into their own land where peace, prosperity and gladness should prevail. The source of all real recreation is right relationship with God. God is the source of all joy. Nothing so powerfully affects the physical organism in its renewal as joy in God. In this coming age the streets of the city will be safe for old people and children (Zech. 8:4, 5).

II. The Christian's Relation to Fasting (Mark 2:18-23).

1. A question asked (v. 18).

The very joyfulness of the disciples of Christ in contrast with the disciples of John and the Pharisees, moved an inquiry as to the reason. The law of Moses only required fasting on the Day of Atonement. John the Baptist was in prison, therefore it is clear as to why his disciples were fasting.

2. Christ's answer (vv. 19, 20).

He declared that the children of the bride chamber could not fast as long as they had the bridegroom with them. The joy of present companionship with Christ prevented their fasting. This shows that Christ is the real source of joy. He recognized that when the bridegroom was absent, there was occasion for fasting. Christ is now away, therefore fasting is permissible. In times of great need the early church fasted. Before sending out the first missionaries they fasted and prayed (Acts 13:1, 2). More fasting and less feasting would be helpful today in the ordination of Christian workers.

III. The Christian's Relation to the Sabbath (Mark 2:24-28).

The disciples were charged with lawlessness because they plucked ears of corn as they walked through the fields on the Sabbath day. In Christ's defense against this charge, He

1. Cites a precedent (v. 20).

It was the case of David, their great king, who in time of need ate the shewbread which was only lawful for the priests. The principle set forth is that the higher law of human need warranted David in doing this which was out of the regular line of duty.

2. Showed the nature of the Sabbath law (v. 27).

The Sabbath was made for man, therefore its right use is determined by what it contributes to man's good. The Sabbath should not be man's cruel master, but his helpful servant.

3. Jesus is Lord of the Sabbath (v. 28).

It was He who instituted it when creation was finished; therefore He had the right to use it as it pleased Him for man's good.

IV. The Need of a Vacation (Mark 6:30-32).

The tragic death of John the Baptist had just occurred, and the disciples had just returned from a strenuous missionary tour. Christ, perceiving their need, invited them to come apart with Him for rest.

V. Jesus Attending a Wedding (John 2:1-11).

This is a striking sidelight on the spirit of Christ. A marriage feast was graced by His presence. In this act He set a mark of honor upon marriage, which is the most joyous of earth's occasions. In this act man's holy Redeemer lifted the holy ordinance of marriage into its dignity and beauty. In the course of the feast, when the wine was exhausted, He wrought His first miracle rather than have its festivities marred.

Christless

Earth has not a spectacle more glorious or more fair to show than this—love tolerating intolerance; charity covering as with a veil even the sin of the lack of charity.—F. W. Robertson.

Overcoming Obstacles

An easy life is not likely to be a very valuable life to itself or to others. Strength comes by overcoming obstacles, and it is the strong life that can best help those about it.

South West NEWS ITEMS

First editions of the Arizona Almanac of the school year have been released with the announcement that the magazine will now be published quarterly. The publication is the official organ of the Arizona University Alumni Association.

A total of $820,327.02 in fees and the 4 cents on the gallon gasoline tax was collected by the Arizona Highway Department during the first three months of the present fiscal year, an increase of $171,364.39 over the same period of 1928, according to the department. During the month of September a total of $2,521.57 net revenue was collected.

Earl Rice, former deputy sheriff of Bernalillo county, N. M., was acquitted of a charge of murder for the death of Faye Graves, former inmate of the New Mexico Girls' Welfare Home. District Judge Milton Helmick in Albuquerque sustained a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on grounds that the state evidence had been insufficient.

What is believed to be a world's record for rabbit hunting ended in Phoenix recently when Mack Taylor, rodent control specialist, returned to headquarters of the Arizona Biological Survey with the hides of 5,173 jackrabbits tucked under his arm. Taylor shot the rabbits in southern Arizona, where he had been sent to demonstrate to farmers and stockmen that rabbits really can be controlled with lead.

A valuable collection has just been presented to the University of New Mexico Library by Mrs. R. W. D. Bryan, widow of R. W. D. Bryan, who at the time of his death in 1913 was president of the university board of regents. The collection consists of books, maps, pictures and other objects collected with the Polar expedition to the North Pole in 1871-1873. Mr. Bryan accompanied this expedition.

F. P. Fleming, manager of the Elephant Butte irrigation district, states that there is a shortage of labor in the Mesilla valley in New Mexico for the picking of cotton, and that farmers of the section can supply work to many persons affected by the Rio Grande flood area. Mr. Fleming said the shortage of labor was "increased by the vigorous enforcement of immigration laws which has tended to shut off the seasonal migration of labor from Mexico."

Road contracts totaling approximately $100,000 were awarded in Phoenix recently by the Arizona highway commission. They call for the oil surfacing of 24.5 miles of the Globe-Safford road, awarded to the Southwest Paving Company of Los Angeles on their low bid of $80,822.05; and the same kind of work on 7.5 miles of the Benson-Douglas highway at a cost of $17,882.63 by E. B. Skeels of Tucson.

Arizona druggists will hold their annual convention in Tucson Oct. 22-24.

Breaking all previous records, a total of 184,093 persons visited Grand Canyon National Park during the travel year from Oct. 1, 1928, to Sept. 30, 1929, an increase of 10,867, or 10 per cent over the previous record of 167,226 established during the 1928 travel year. Other travel records broken this year include arrivals for a single day, 2,484 on June 1, 1929; total travel for one month, 37,733 for June, 1929, and greatest number of automobile entries on one day, 451 on Sept. 1, 1929.

Gasoline taxes in New Mexico for September this year increased $49,291.00 over the same month in 1928, according to the monthly report of Miss Mary Bartolino, head of the tax collection department. The total collection for September, 1929, including station license fees, was $239,846.75, the largest month on record, while the collection for September a year ago was $190,555.15. The total increase of sales made in the state for the month of September, 1929, over this for September, 1928, was 984,281.6 gallons or an increase of approximately 25.88 per cent.

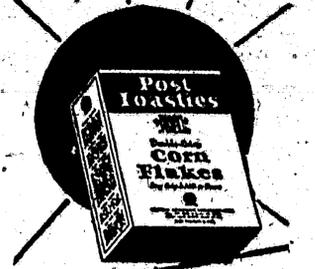

San Marcial, ancient village of the Spanish conquistadores, has lost its centuries-old battle with flood waters of the Rio Grande. The town is rapidly being reduced to a mere flag atop on the Santa Fe railroad. The little town where villagers for generations fought the Rio Grande, was without permanent inhabitants. A few adobe dwellings that have withstood the August and September floods are buried in silt, so that the few relief workers there walk without difficulty into the second stories of the houses. In general, the layer of silt has raised the town level eight or ten feet. The streets today are dry and choked with sunbaked sand.

More than 700 teachers are expected in Douglas, Ariz., for the Tri-County Teachers' Institute, which will be held Nov. 26 and 27. All educators of Cochise, Pima and Santa Cruz counties will convene for general and special sessions at that time.

A. L. Stonaker, graduate manager of the University of Arizona, announced in Tucson a few days ago that negotiations for a series of football games between the Wildcats and the National University of Mexico, had reached the state of fixing tentative dates.

Echoes of the Old West

El Paso Times:

Memories of the old west were evoked in the cold, staid atmosphere of a Washington courtroom when old friends and neighbors of A. B. Fall took the witness stand to testify his high standing in the community where he had lived many decades.

To the stand came Robert Geronimo, dark and stoical, the son of the famous Apache chief who for many years had fought off Uncle Sam's troops and been the terror of the southwest. Robt., himself, was in the Geronimo band, a half-grown lad at the time his father surrendered to Miles. But his son lives at peace with the "Great White Father" and his people on the Mescalero reservation, adjoining Fall's ranch. Robert Geronimo testified, "all my people know Judge Fall." The regard of the Indian is not easy to win. Once won it is permanent.

So the son of the famous fighting chief had made the long journey to Washington to aid the man who was the friend to himself and his people.

Then came Sheriff Felipe Lucero of Dona Ana county, famed as a hunter of desperate criminals, a man absolutely without fear. The story of Lucero's life and adventures would make as interesting reading as that of any of the famed oldtimers of the southwest. It must have been an interesting sight. For Lucero is swarthy, keen-eyed, with the level gaze of men accustomed to the wild ranges and who at nearer range have looked unflinchingly into the muzzles of six shooters.

Witnesses at the trial must have felt that the typical men of the southwest were rallying to the aid of one of their number, caught in the complicated coils of a legal web.

It was not in such a way nor before solemn robed judges that the southwest used to settle its disputes.

Finally came Father Albert Braun, beloved priest of the Mescalero mission, war chaplain of the 8th infantry, respected by all, the good men and the bad. He testified that the reputation of Mr. Fall in his home state was "very high."

Indian Chief, New Mexico Sheriff and Priest, they all rallied to the support of the man from "huck home."

Except the priest they were of the breed of fighting men. So is the friend they come so far to defend. His bitterest enemies always conceded Albert B. Fall the virtue of utter fearlessness.

Never did he make a braver fight than now when in the shadow of death—he battles for name and reputation.

Over 395,000 Lost Calls

"Three Months' Time Lost Daily" in Mountain States

It happens to all of us. Perhaps just once during the day or on some days; several times, you dash to the telephone to find that the calling person had become impatient and failed to give you time to answer. On the other hand you, too, may have been in a hurry and the person you were calling reached the telephone too late.

About 18 per cent of the daily average of 2,267,856 calls in the entire territory served by this company are not completed largely because the calling party abandons the call without allowing sufficient time for an answer, or the called person delays answering. The total time lost daily approximates three months.

You can help make your own service more satisfactory by waiting two minutes before abandoning a call and by answering your telephone as promptly as possible. A recent survey has proved that when the ringing of the called telephone was continued for an additional minute, answers were obtained in 23 per cent of the cases.

Incompleted calls are a handicap to good service—some are unavoidable, of course, others can be completed with your help—may we have your cooperation?

Millions of Miles of Constant Testing to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of The Chevrolet Six

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—

—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground! This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

Fairy Tale for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"It is getting colder," said Mother Polar. "But when my children were young last year it was really nice and icy."

"They didn't mind the cold. I kept them comfortable at first and then they went into the icy water, and loved it, the precious Polar bears."

"Of course when it's winter where the people live they bundle up and shiver."

"They have great enormous fires burning and they live in houses and buildings and apartments that are heated so that we would probably shrivel right up and die should we ever get in one."

"We never will though, will we?" asked a young Polar bear.

"No, we'll never be invited in or taken in I'm thankful to say, but I hear all this news from those who are called explorers who come to this land."

"I've escaped them too I'm thankful to say."

"They called it cold here this summer. Ha, ha, that's a good joke."

"But now, I am thankful to say it is getting colder."

"They say that when our cousins in the zoos go into the icy ponds given to them in their dens that the people shiver and draw their furs more closely around themselves."

"They cannot understand our cousins at all. They could never understand us."

"Well," said the young polar, "they do not know enough to enjoy lovely cold weather."

"Just the trouble with them," said Mother Polar. "They only go in swimming when it is hot in the summer and then they wear funny bathing suits I've heard."

"Now we go right in just as we are at all times of the year. We don't fuss about our swimming."

"It Wouldn't Be Our Sort of Weather."

"We take to it so naturally."

"When it is hot I've heard that the zoo keepers give our cousins pieces of ice but oh, they melt so quickly, in their hot weather."

"It wouldn't be our sort of weather," said the young polar.

"It will never be hot here as it is there," said Mother Polar. "We will always have cold weather."

"It is so gorgeous in our part of the world where it is always lovely and cold, and where there is always plenty of ice, glorious cooling ice, beautiful cold ice, delightful solid ice."

So the Polar Bears talked, and they were happy for the weather was growing still colder and they knew it would soon be really winter.

How they waved their heads and lifted them to every cold breeze, every bit of icy weather.

Beautiful cold weather! How they loved it.

Lovely cold weather! How they adored it.

Calf's Tongue Cooked in Casserole

Calf's tongue is one of the "small meats" especially palatable if cooked in a casserole with sliced vegetables, as suggested in this recipe from the bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

- Casserole of Calf's Tongue.
- 1 calf's tongue
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 2 1/2 cups sliced carrots
 - 2 cups sliced onion
 - 1 cup sliced celery
 - 1/2 cup sliced green peppers
 - 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 2 cups hot water
 - 1/4 tsp. pepper
 - 1/2 cup stuffed olives sliced thin

Cover the tongue with water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for about ten minutes. Drain and remove the skin and gristle and place the skinned tongue in a large casserole. Melt the fat in a large skillet and add all the vegetables except the olives, and cook until lightly browned and somewhat dry, stirring constantly. Season with the salt and pepper, put the vegetables over and around the tongue in the casserole, and add the hot water. Cover the casserole and bake in a fairly hot oven for about one hour, or until the tongue is tender. Remove the cover and put the olives over the top of the tongue and vegetables and serve.

Do Not Use Enough Milk

To increase the demand for dairy products seems to be one of the most feasible methods of advancing the dairy business. It is believed by specialists that, on the average, the American people do not consume more than about half the fluid whole milk necessary to the maintenance of the highest degree of health. If organized dairymen could educate the public to the values of the greater quantity of milk in the diet it would open up a large field for dairy expansion.

Spineless
The perennial outcry as to the abuses of the tipping system is another evidence of the growing habit of waiting for the government to do by law what the public can do by common consent.—Toronto Globe.

Uses for a Casserole

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Meat and poultry that requires long slow cooking is especially tasty when baked and served in a casserole. The oven heat throughout the cooking period may be fairly low. From 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit is a good oven temperature for casserole cooking. All the extractives and juices of the meat are retained in the gravy in the dish, and the steam from this liquid enclosed under the tight lid helps to make the muscles of the meat tender. The best results are usually obtained by adding relatively little water. At the time of adding raw vegetables do not add water, as sufficient moisture will cook out of them. The flavor of any seasoning used—tomatoes, onions, celery, and other vegetables, as well as condiments—will penetrate the entire dish.

Still another advantage of cooking in a casserole is that extra dishwashing is eliminated. There is no baking pan to dispose of after the meal. The casserole goes directly to the table. If vegetables are cooked with the meat, serving dishes are eliminated. As most casserole foods are cut into individual portions for quicker cooking, no carving is done nor are carving implements needed.

The busy housekeeper appreciates the casserole because after the food is once put in it, very little further attention is necessary. For an hour and a half or two hours she is free to attend to other things. She may precook the meat in the casserole early in the day, and as she can easily reheat it at dinner time, in the same dish, she can go out for the entire day if she wishes. Foods served from a casserole remain hot at the table longer than those spread out on a platter.

Brown stew of beef, Hungarian goulash, pot roast and many other slowly-cooked meats may be prepared in a casserole. Advantage may thus be taken of the fact that the oven is in use for something else, to plan a casserole dinner. Chicken is perhaps most often served in this way. This method of cooking by slow moist heat, blending with other flavors, makes it possible to serve many an old tough bird palatably, the bureau of home economics points out. Rabbits are cooked in most of the ways chicken is cooked, and a casserole rabbit is always excellent. A slice of ham can be laid in a casserole, covered with tomatoes and cooked until it is deliciously tender.

Some Favorite Beverages

By NELLIE MAXWELL

For those who like the flavor of ginger, this will be a most enjoyable drink:

Ginger Sorbet.—Chop one-half pound of ginger fine, add it to two quarts of water and two cups of sugar and boil fifteen minutes. Cool and add more cold water to make ten cups of liquid. Add the juice of four oranges, one cup of lemon juice and serve with crushed ice. Fill the glasses half full and add the sorbet.

Special Punch.—Put into a chilled punch bowl one cup of granulated sugar and the juice of six lemons. Stir to dissolve the sugar, and add a little ice to stand until serving time. Then add three peeled lemons sliced very thin, one quart of cracked ice, and pour in one or two bottles of mineral water and the same amount of ginger ale. Stir and serve in glasses.

Japanese Skillet Cake.—Melt one-half cupful of butter in a hot iron skillet. Add one cupful of brown sugar, stir until melted. On this place one cupful each of pineapple and peach meats.

Take one cupful of cake flour, previously sifted, add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one tablespoonful of melted butter or other shortening, one teaspoonful of vanilla, the yolks of four eggs beaten well, one cupful of sugar and the egg whites beaten stiffly. Combine as usual, adding the egg whites at the last. Pour over the mixture in the skillet and bake in a moderate oven an hour. Loosen the cake from the sides of the skillet and serve upside down. Garnish with whipped cream.

Tea Punch.—Four two quarts of boiling water over a teaspoonful of tea. In the meantime have the juice and peelings of three lemons and one orange in a pitcher. When the tea has steeped five minutes, strain through a fine strainer into the pitcher. Add one cupful of sugar and cool. At serving time put into glasses with plenty of ice.

Vienna Chocolate.—Mix three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate with cold water. Pour into a double boiler with four cupfuls of boiling milk. Add sugar to taste and let cook five minutes. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and put into the chocolate pot, pour the hot chocolate over the eggs and add a teaspoonful of vanilla, stir constantly until well mixed. This may be served chilled as a cold drink.

No matter how well ordered a household may be, there are always contingencies unprovided for in the most efficient housekeeping schedules. The motto seen on many business men's desks is a good one for all housekeepers to have over their desks, too—"Do it now."

The seam of a cushion rips, a streak appears on the polished table or mirror, it takes but a few seconds to attend to some of these trifling things, but allow them to accumulate and weary hours must be taken to restore order.

If a grease spot appears on a gown when one is away from the cleaning fluid bottle, just dash on a liberal supply of talcum powder and lay away for a day and the spot will have disappeared.

A stitch in time is surely a great saver of time and energy. These allowed-to-accumulate soiled things become more soiled, require twice the effort to put them to rights again.

Here is a conserve that may be made at any time of the year and is especially good. Those who spend winters in the South where jellies and jams from home are longed for will enjoy adding this to their note books, and make a few jars this winter to serve when hungry for a sweet of this kind.

Pineapple and Apricot Conserve.—Take one pound of apricots, dry ones, soak overnight, and in the morning put through the meat grinder. Use just enough water to cover and well soak them, then use it to add to the conserve. Add one can of shredded pineapple and four cupfuls of sugar. Cook until thick. Pour into glasses and seal with paraffin.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all drugstores.

Things We Don't See
So many of us go through the day and hardly notice the sparkle of sunlight on a lake or goblin, the majestic angles cast by a skyscraper or a picket fence, the grace of a cowbird swaying in the breeze, of a dandelion turned white and fluffy, of a gray road winding over a hill.—Woman's Home Companion.

Safe Study of Hornets
A freak hornet's nest has been reported from Trap Corner, Oxford county, Maine. The nest was found at the home of Harry Silver. The insects have built the nest against a pane of glass in something resembling the usual conical shape. However, the interior may be seen through the glass, providing a very good observation specimen for any one interested in the domesticity of hornets.

Ice Cream Sandwich Dessert

Ice Cream Sandwich Served as Dessert.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Ice cream need not always be served in the same ways—sliced from a brick, or dipped up by the spoonful. Borrow a suggestion from the enterer and treat the family to an "ice cream sandwich" once in a while. As it is a dessert, the substantial part of the sandwich is appropriately made of cake—sponge cake, or angel food. Make the sponge cake by your own preferred recipe, or by the one herewith, given by the bureau of home economics. Bake it in a square or oblong pan, in a layer thick enough to split horizontally with a sharp knife when you are ready to combine it with the ice cream. Use any flavor of ice cream you like to put between the layers. One large "sandwich" on a platter makes an attractive dessert when it comes to the table, or you may find it more convenient to cut the cake into individual portions or to bake it in muffin rings and fill each one separately with the ice cream.

Other variations are easily made. Chocolate, butterscotch, or fruit sauce may be served with the "ice cream sandwich," or whipped cream, sweetened and flavored. Any form of ice cream sandwich should be put together just before being served. If in one cake on a platter it should be cut with a thin, sharp, broad-bladed knife.

Sponge Cake.

- 4 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 cup sifted soft-wheat flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. vanilla
- 1/4 tsp. lemon juice

Separate the egg yolks from the whites and beat the yolks well. Grad-

NICE WAY TO COOK CHICKEN

A heavy broiler is sometimes more satisfactory if "smothered" rather than simply broiled under the same in a gas oven. Those who like gravy with their chicken will also prefer this method of cooking because of the fine flavored sauce. Directions for preparing it are from the bureau of home economics:

- 1 broiler chicken
- 1/2 lb. flour
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup butter

Put the chicken in a greased shallow pan with the skin side down and sprinkle lightly with salt. Prepare a sauce of the butter, flour, salt and milk. Pour this sauce over the chicken. Put the pan into a moderate oven and cook for one hour. Turn the chicken and continue the cooking for one-half hour longer or until the chicken is tender and lightly browned. Serve from the dish in which cooked, garnished with chopped parsley. If the gravy is slightly curdled remove the chicken, add a little flour and milk, stir until well blended and smooth, add the chicken, reheat and serve.

One-Piece Street Dress Popular

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Come what may in the wake of the present seasonal crush of elaborated fashions into the style picture, the promise of the security but simply made one-piece street dress remains unshaken. As a matter of fact the really swaggy thing to wear about town is the tailored or, rather, semi-tailored one-piece gown of some one or other of the delightful new light-weight woollens such as are so widely headed throughout fashion's realm.

A novelty woolen which glistens with rayon interweavings is especially recommended for the making of the modish frock for general daytime wear. It is one of these attractive rayon-wool cloths which serves as the medium for the genteel mode in the picture, the rayon and wool being interwoven in an etamine weave.

Note how eminently up to the demand of fashion is this costume, even to its slightest detail. It suggests the new moulded-to-the-form slenderizing lines which are being stressed for the future. Because of the carefully positioned side plaits the hemline flares very properly, as it should. The sleeves display novel and effective treatment at the wrists, while the yoke at the front opening exploits a popular style-formula for this season. The scarf, which hints at a cape because of its circular-cut, also answers to the call of the mode.

In the current catalogue of fabrics the name rayon appears as frequently and as importantly as silk, wool, cotton or linen. One of the most interesting and deserving-of-mention new rayon manifestations is a series of weaves which have every appearance of handsome wool. The thought which fabricates the practical woman in connection with these marvelous rayon suitings and dress materials, which look so wool-like only an expert can detect the difference, is the fact that they actually launder as perfectly as cotton or linen. Fabric-wise couturiers and dressmakers at home and abroad are using these washable rayon-wool rayons with utmost success for the making of many of their stitfast suits and ensembles as well.

Rumor has it in regard to the one-piece street dress which is outstanding for immediate wear, that later it is to be topped with an extremely modish short fur jacket.

"Lucile is the Happiest Girl"

So many mothers nowadays talk about giving their children fruit juices, as if this were a new discovery. As a matter of fact, for over fifty years, mothers have been accomplishing results far surpassing anything you can secure from home prepared fruit juices, by using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup, which is prepared under the most exacting laboratory supervision from ripe California Figs, richest of all fruits in laxative and nourishing properties.

It's marvelous to see how bilious, weak, feverish, sallow, constipated, under-nourished children respond to its gentle influence; how their breath clears up, color flames in their cheeks, and they become sturdy, playful, energetic again. A Western mother, Mrs. H. J. Stoll, Valley P. O., Nebraska, says: "My little daughter, Roma Lucile, was constipated from babyhood. I became worried about her and decided to give her some California Fig Syrup. It stopped her constipation quick; and the way it improved her color and made her pick up made me realize how run-down she had been. She is so sturdy and well now, and always in such good humor that neighbors say she's the happiest girl in the West."

Like all good things, California Fig Syrup is limited, but you can always get the genuine by looking for the name "California" on the carton.

Starting Early

The world's youngest "forged check artist" has been captured at Pueblo, Colo., according to police there. The young forger is but seven years old, and according to police signed the name of John Yatsko, to whom a $300 check was made payable, and attempted to cash it.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia! When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should involve its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescriptive product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1876.

STORY FROM THE START

Capt. Lion Fellowes' American merchant ship is sunk by a British frigate off Portugal in the War of 1812. The crew surrenders. But Fellowes reaches shore exhausted. His life is saved by an English-speaking girl, who conceals her identity. She is about to set out for Lisbon, Fellowes goes to Lisbon where he meets an acquaintance, Capt. Chater of the American ship "True Bounty," who offers him a berth as a mate, but knowing Chater is disloyal in trading with the enemy, he refuses. He meets the girl who saved his life, Cara Ingelien, daughter of the owner of True Bounty. She is bound for home and induces Fellowes to sail as mate. He is in love with Cara. The vessel is stopped by the British frigate, Badger, Captain Collishawe. Despite his claims to American citizenship, Fellowes is taken aboard the Badger as a "pressed" man, mistaken at what he believes is Cara's and Chater's treachery he strikes Collishawe, who orders him a hundred lashes with the "cat." Fellowes' hatred of the three becomes an obsession. On New York Fellowes escapes from the Badger.

The venture assumed the aspect of a nightmare. "He was being crushed between black water and darkness, the air squeezed from his laboring lungs, a deadly pressure numbing his heart. Time ceased to have meaning. Space was limitless. He was conscious simply of splashing wearily, of intervals when he was tempted to subside under the next wave, of recurring spells of battle. He came to himself at last, treading water feebly; Cuffee pummeling his face and chest, a dull roaring in his ears.

"Mara's Fellowes!" pleaded the negro. "Mara's Fellowes! We go for surf. Yo' hear? Dat him surf?" Fellowes acceded drunkenly. "Where's Tom?"

Cuffee indicated a dripping burden lashed to his belt by the remnants of his shirt.

"Tom plenty wet, mebbe him drown'. But we go for surf—quick! Yo' hol' Cuffee tight. Cuffee pull yo' two like him whole pull boat. Yo' see!"

Fellowes was too tired to argue longer. He suffered his fingers to be hooked into the negro's belt, and floated supine, marvelling at the undiminished vigor with which Cuffee slashed into the rollers. After a few strokes he was stung to renewed effort, himself, paddling dog-fashion with one arm and kicking his feet, albeit sluggishly. In the darkness they were blind, steering by sound rather than eyesight, and both were surprised when their feet touched bottom.

Cuffee, with a grunt of satisfaction, tossed Tom over one shoulder and grasped Fellowes by the arm, striding out against the suck of the undertow as easily as though he walked a level deck. And while Fellowes collapsed on the dry sand, panting and muscle-cramped, Cuffee set to work on Tom, and had him choking and coughing by the time the Long Islander was sitting up. An irate person, Tom—"Fine pair o' messmates!" "Tain't yer fault I wasn't drowned." "Never be the same man, I won't!" "Oughter be, keelhauled, ye had!"

"Just the same, you're a free man tonight," exclaimed Fellowes with his first whole breath. "Free of 'Crimplin' Collishawe. An American again! We're as good as home, Tom. This is my land—the Point o' Woods, at the west end of the island. My herders' shack is on the far side of the forest, behind the dunes."

Fellowes led the three at a stilt-legged trot over the dunes, until they emerged upon the island's opposite shore. Close at hand a cordial glow poured from the open door of a lightly built structure, together with the pleasant odor of bacon and a singsong hum of voices.

Fellowes approached the door, his companions crowding his heels.

"—Jes as I'm atellin' ye, Joe," one of the voices was saying. "He come back nex' night, and he looked like he'd seed a ghost. Ses he: 'Twas that air slaver cap'n—over to 'Pint o' Woods. Ha'ted me, he did. All night. Come 'n' wailed into my ear, 'Whar's my head?' he'd holler. 'Whar's my—'"

"Lord!" moaned another voice. "Here he be, head 'n' all!"

Fellowes, peering in the doorway, saw two frightened figures cowering in a corner of the hut, but no sign of a "bat" until he happened to glance sideways. Then he chuckled. Cuffee, curious as to these strangers, had stuck his head in a convenient window. The negro's scarred features, atop of his glistening naked torso were sufficient to frighten any yokels already beat on by the lightning themselves.

"Haven't you seen a black man before?" called Fellowes, stepping inside. "Paris Eaches! And Joe Doak. Well, well, boys—"

"Another 'em," gasped Doak. "Oh, Squire Fellowes, be kind like ye need us, and go back to the grave, and leave us poor fellows be."

Fellowes laughed outright.

"You'd better try the sails, Tom," he invited. "Here, Paris, Joe! Ever see anyone more like a live sailor?" The pair were fascinated by Tom's gargoyle visage and grotesque figure. "Be—be—ya really Squire Fellowes?" quavered Eaches. "Feel my hand," Fellowes bade him. "Cuss me, but that's flesh-'n'-blood," he confessed. "But how 'n' tim'd ye git here, squire? We heard tell ye was pressed by Collishawe."

"'Tis a long story," Fellowes answered grimly. "Is Saul Chater in Babylon?"

"Ever sence he come home from Portygal," Eaches replied, a trifle shamefaced. "But who ye got with ye, squire?"

"Two men who escaped with me off the Badger. Collishawe and a landing party are bound for Babylon tonight. I want to take them. Have you a boat here?"

"My leetle ducker," responded Doak. "She's a durned handy craft, if I do say so."

"Get her ready. We must scud for it. Hurry! Every minute counts."

He set an example by seizing a roll of blankets; Cuffee helped Eaches collect the provisions; Doak slipped out under the herders' feet when a sudden thought occurred to him. "Have you heard if Chater has visitors at the farm?" he asked, alighting up.

"By heck, I'd plumb forgot," exclaimed Eaches. "Couple o' women, squire, and the feller to Noo Yawk owns Chater's ship."

Fellowes laughed harshly. "I expected they'd be there. Wake me when you make in for the East creek."

He was asleep almost as soon as his head touched the floorboards. Everything was happening as he had intended. Success was no longer doubted.

CHAPTER VI

At the General Armstrong

Doak's hand on his ankle awakened Fellowes with all his senses alert. No light showed against the curtain of the night, no noise came from the shore.

"Seems as though the Brits were more mortal quiet," whispered Eaches. "They don't want to be seen here," returned Fellowes. "Look sharp, Joe! There's a landing."

"'Twill do," acknowledged Doak, and slid the ducker inshore beside a rickety wharf.

Their feet clattered on loose boards, then pattered soundlessly on the earthen roadway paralleling the creek. "Waail, I turn off here for Sopher's," Eaches announced. "I'll knock at every door I pass. Joe, ye better work west."

"I'll rattle up the hull durned village," promised Doak.

Eaches vanished between the trees, and at the next lane Doak left them, with a brief, "See ye at the Widder's."

The others soon emerged upon a wider thoroughfare, sprinkled liberally with houses, the largest of which, directly opposite, was distinguished by a signboard, creaking gently in the breeze as it swung above the street. In the stable yard beside it stood a dilapidated stagecoach.

"Jeff Riggie must have been late driving out from Brooklyn," exclaimed Fellowes. "Mrs. Rhodes is still up. This is luck."

The lighted window was open, and a spatter of argument carried clearly to the fugitives. "I never heard such foolness! Ye be'n adrinkin', Jeff. Thar's what ye be'n." "No, I ain't, M'randy. I seed him as oigh as ye be. A' greanat, tall man, dressed like a English sailor, and a naked cutlass in one hand and pistol in t'other. And he stuck the pistol into my stomach, and says he: 'Is this the Babylon road?' and set it: 'It be' And ses he: 'Git along it, mate.' An' I seed mebbe three-four more dressed like he wore."

"A likely tale," scoffed the woman. Fellowes snatched aside the window curtain.

"But true, Mrs. Rhodes," he said. "Another one," squawked Riggie. "And look to that evl naggur with him!"

But Mrs. Rhodes was unperturbed. She rose from the table at which she had been sitting, six feet of gaunt, capable bone and muscle, and stalked to the window.

"Now, see here, my man," she asserted sternly, "no nightwalker, be he English or American, ever had ought out o' M'randy Rhodes. I've a musket handy, and—God bless my soul, 'tis Squire Fellowes! Where in the name o' Providence did ye come from, sir, that Saul Chater told us wore pressed o'n' his ship. Dear, dear, dear! Come in, sir, come in. And who have ye thar? Land's sake, that nigger's as tall as some o' Jeff Riggie's stories!"

"Huh, ye better not talk so brash, M'randy," growled Riggie. "I said I seed a Englishman, and it 'pears like I did."

"Ye saw that nigger o' squire's—"

"No, he saw a real English sailor, Mrs. Rhodes," interrupted Fellowes. "We've just escaped off the Badger, Captain Collishawe's ship. She's lying outside the inlet, and Collishawe and twenty men should be at Saul Chater's this moment—they came ashore in the longboat."

with an apologetic: "Git the anchor up. Ye'll have to wade to her," and Tom brought up the rear.

The ducker was an almost flat-bottomed craft, an elongated triangle in shape, with a single leg-o'-mutton sail, capable of astonishing speed before the wind. Just the feel of her silny floorboards under the bare feet stimulated Fellowes' self-respect. She was a boat, and he was captain aboard her; and the realization helped him to stouff off the last trace of the subordination the Badger's iron discipline had ground into his soul. His voice crackled with the crisp authority of the quarterdeck. "Get that sail up, Paris! Joe, ye take the tiller. Cuffee and Tom, lie up in the bow."

"We'll make a spy run with this wind," Joe Doak announced as the sail filled. "Wouldn't be s'prised if we done it in two hours to Sampo-vams creek—land ye slick as a whistle at the Manor dock, squire."

"No, we'll have to run into East creek," replied Fellowes. "The Brits will be at Saul Chater's farm and I don't banker to go near them, unarmed. How are we going to catch Collishawe's party? Have you any militia?"

"For sartain," Joe spoke up proudly. "Thar's the Fencibles."

"Who's 'em?"

"All o' us—Nimrod Sopher's cap'n." Fellowes deliberated for some minutes.

"I'll tell you what," he decided finally. "As soon as we land, Paris had better go wake up Sopher. The rest of us—I suppose the Widder Rhodes still has the Pig and Farmer at the crossroads? 'Tis a convenient place to rally at. Joe, you can be waking other lads in the village. I think I'll get some sleep while I can. He had rolled himself in a blanket

Five Simple Rules for Keeping Good Health

Practical inference from the views of an eminent physician are so simple that they are almost trite, and yet they are fundamental. If you want to keep out of the repair shop and make your own body "tick" vigorously and regularly, don't rely on drugs, but co-operate with nature in five ways:

- 1—Drink an abundance of water to keep your cells in condition.
2—Sleep at least eight hours out of each 24 to maintain your batteries.
3—Regulate your diet carefully so your body will be adequately nourished, and don't dig your grave with your teeth by overeating.
4—Get plenty of fresh air, especially when you are sleeping.
5—Exercise regularly to rebuild worn tissues, increase blood circulation and develop new cells.

If these five simple rules were honestly and thoroughly observed for several generations as vigorously as the Jews have obeyed the laws of hygiene handed down by Moses, druggists and doctors would eventually be obliged to seek other occupations, and the world would be populated by a very much superior race of human beings. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Unnecessary Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

Hitting on All Eight!

Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman

IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R.F. Myers of 711 Rosedale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent.

For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Chathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?"

"Well, believe it or not," says Mr. Myers, "in a few days I felt like a new man. 'What's 'ot into you?"

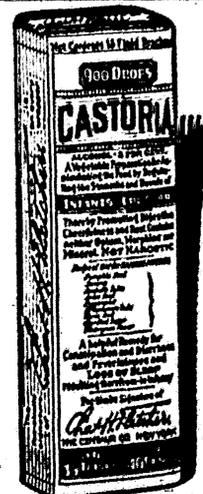

asked the home office, 'your business has increased 50 per cent!'

That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job.

Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else!

Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

State College Band at Cotton Carnival

At the recent Cotton Carnival at Roswell, the State College Band made a decided hit with its excellent music. The band kept the crowds in a cheerful state of mind by parading the streets and putting pep into everything.

Marshall Beck, trombonist, a Carrizozo boy, student director of the band, filled his position in a befitting manner by leading the band at different times when director Alden's duties called him to other places. As one Carrizozo man remarked, "Everytime I saw the band, Marshall was leading it." In other words, Marshall hits the ball at all times.

Chairman Earl Rountree of the Board of County Commissioners, Mrs. Rountree and children of Corona were here last Friday, but on account of pressing business on the ranch, were compelled to return in the evening.

Mrs. R. E. Lemon

returned Sunday from Silver City, where she attended the State Federation of Woman's Clubs as a delegate from the local Club. Mrs. Lemon speaks highly of the manner in which Silver City entertained the delegates. There were over 100 delegates present besides a large number of visitors who were more or less interested in the good and welfare of the organization in general.

Mrs. J. R. Green and daughter Johnnie of Alamogordo were here last Friday and Saturday to attend the doin's at the Fair.

was here from the Indian Reservation last week and stayed over for the Fair. Shorty is a great sport and was interested in all that went on in that line. He is also interested in the stock business in the reservation and makes himself useful in all of the affairs of a social nature which occur during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rentfrow came over from their ranch across the Malpais last Friday and remained for the two days of the Fair. They have a shorter and much better route to town now, since the new road has been made available for travel to points across the lava beds.

Carrizozo Radio Fans Hear Ula Edmiston

Those who were listening in on their radios last Saturday afternoon enjoyed a treat from Dallas, when our former Carrizozo girl, Miss Ula Edmiston sang. This happened about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and came as a fitting climax to the Lincoln County Fair. She sang several selections, among which was the one dear to the hearts of music-lovers, "Mother Machree." The reception was undisturbed by static and her singing was excellent.

Master Mechanic J. E. Kimbell

and Mrs. Kimbell were Carrizozo visitors last Saturday and paid their old friends a call. Mr. Kimbell is the Master Mechanic of this division of the S. P. with headquarters at Tucumcari. They were accompanied by their daughter Harriet, all of whom stayed over for the last day of the Fair.

That Chicken Dinner at Wetmore Hall

last Saturday was so well patronized that Mrs. Maggie Lovelace was compelled to turn away about thirty people, as much as she regretted to do so. The dinner lived up to, and if anything, exceeded what we predicted—one like Mother used to prepare.

Doc Bell and W. A. Tucker were here from the Bell ranch in the Jicarilla mountains Tuesday, attending to some business and incidentally taking a look into the court room where certain cases are under headway. Mr. Tucker is from Del Rio, Texas, has been here but two months, and gained 10 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Aristeo Salcido and children stopped over for a day's visit with Mrs. Salcido's brothers, Alex, Sat and Joe Chavez, while on their return trip from Tularosa, where they had been visiting with Mr. Salcido's folks. They left Monday on No. 12 for their home in Tucumcari.

The St. Rita School

About the same time that the Fair parade was on last Friday morning, the Sisters of Mercy had the pupils of the Santa Rita School marching on the streets of the east side, singing and each one carrying a white and yellow banner, these being the colors of their devout saint, "Virgen de Guadalupe." The march ended at the St. Rita Church, where after services were held, the children were dismissed so that they could partake of the County Fair. On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Fathers Terrazas and Pozos were joined by the Sisters, the Catholic Union and the entire Catholic community in a procession with the image of the Virgen, terminating with appropriate services at the church.

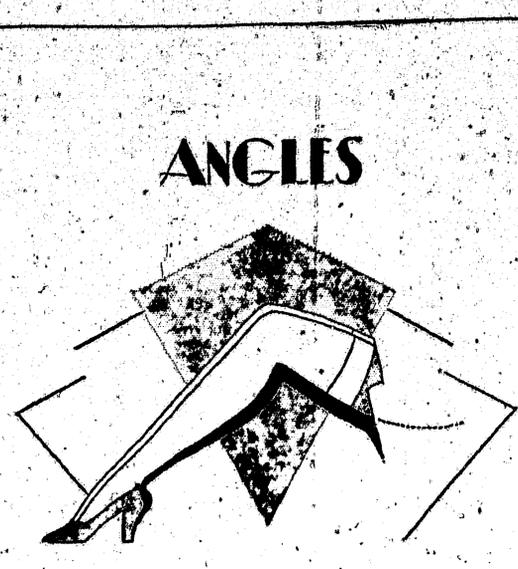

The Misses

Susie Silva, Rosa Padilla, Trina Artiaga and Aurora Anaya were here last week attending the County Fair, the last two named Misses being members of the Capitan Hi School Track Team, winners of the trophy.

Salomon Garcia

and Rafael Gameros were here from Lincoln this week attending to court matters. The boys said that everything was fast turning brown in the lower valley, and those that were now prepared with plenty of wood for the winter, were cleaning their rifles for the big deer and turkey drive next month.
