New Type Tire at Highway Service Station

Considerable interest has been aroused among local motorists over a new type of tire recently announced by a leading maker and now on sale at the Highway Service Station of Carrizozo. Improved riding advantages are attributed to a new principle of construction. More air and less rubber provide a buoyant riding quality hitherto unknown. Other new features include a silent, non-skid, rim-width tread and scientifically reinforced side walls. Elimination of unnecessary weight has resulted in a lighter, yet far stronger tire. Friction is reduced to a minimum. Road tests prove that there is also a marked improvement in mileage, steering, acceleration and braking, as well as a noticeably lower consumption of gas and oil. This remarkable tire development may be had in all sizes at the store of the local risk dealer, the Highway Service Station.

Wednesday Morning

a car containing two men and a boy turned turtle at the railroad crossing north of town, the driver sustaining an injured leg while the remaining two were uninjured. They were enroute for El Paso, from Roswell to return with two Buick cars and on approaching the crossing, being strangers in this locality, thought they were on the wrong road and making a turn as quick as an Arkansas wind-splitter hog, was what caused the accident. Dr. Shaver attended to the injured driver and they went on their way.

Honor Sect'y S. F. Miller with Banquet at Eating House

On the eve of his departure for his new home in Long Beach, Calif., Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, held a banquet at the Carrizozo Eating House Tuesday night, the object of which was to pay a fitting tribute to the work and loyalty of S. F. Miller, who had been secretary of the local lodge for the past 17 years. There were others who came up from Alamogordo and Tularosa to join the local fraternity, as Mr. Miller was a charter member of Sacramento Lodge, Alamogordo, and during his term as District Deputy Grand Master, he organized Tularosa Lodge. Seated at the banquet tables, were 41 Masons, with C. P. Huppertz as toastmaster, and to say that he performed his office in a creditable manner, would be putting it lightly. Short talks were made by the pastmasters of the local lodge who were present, George Ferguson, R. E. Lemon, D. A. Saunders, C. P. Huppertz, J. B. French, G. S. Hoover, A. L. Burke, and Chas. F. Grey and other officers of the lodge, M. J. Barnett, W. M. and E. M. Brickley, S. W., and F. L. Boughner, J. W., after which, members of other lodges who were associated with Mr. Miller in fraternal work in years gone by were called on and responded, all of whom gave short talks on the past activity of the honor guest and their social and fraternal relations with him. The banquet prepared and served under the supervision of Mrs. E. H. Sweet and daughter, Louise, seemed to have been prepared especially to suit Masonic taste, according to the favorable comments on the spread after the function. After the talks were made, Mr. Miller responded to the extended courtesies in his usual manner, thanking his old friends and brethren for the honors conferred and finished by expressing the hope that he could be with us on occasional fraternal gatherings. Pastmaster George Ferguson was called on and awakened old memories long dormant by giving several selections on the piano, the last being "Auld Lang Syne," all joining in singing the old familiar song and wishing Mr. Miller the best of health, happiness and prosperity in his new home, the affair was brought to a close.

Suit for Adjudication of Water Rights

Suit has been filed for adjudication of water rights in the Bonito River, in the District Court of Lincoln County, by the El Paso and Rock Island Railway Company and Southern Pacific Company, and a large number of other defendants. The complaint sets forth a description of the water rights of the railroad, admits that many defendants have water rights of the Bonito River, and states that other defendants make claims to the use of water which are without any right, and seeks to have priorities and rights adjudicated.

Attorneys for the Company state that the suit which the railroad company has filed was not brought for the purpose of setting up any claims against anyone, but rather to afford the opportunity to any persons, who are making claims to water rights adverse to the rights of the company, to come into court and set up such claims and have them settled. Attorney A. H. Hudspeth of this town is attorney for the railroad companies in this suit.

Carrizozo's Population 1171

The Supervisor of the census at Roswell, as taken from the report of Mrs. J. V. Hobbie, the enumerator, gives Carrizozo for 1930, 1171. In 1920, we had 1301, which, on comparison, we find that we have decreased 130, which might be worse. At any rate, we are still with the ship, and that's that! The precinct outside of Carrizozo has suffered more in comparison, for in 1920 it had 104 and the figures now show 71, which is a decrease of 33. For this information, we are indebted to our postmistress, Mrs. E. A. Gumm. Messrs. Rolland, Sorenson, and Carr of Alamogordo, Pepper of Tularosa, Burns of Three Rivers, Titworth and Hoover of Capitan, Stillwell of Coyote, Saunders, and Ferguson of El Paso, were among the out-of-town attendants at the Masonic Banquet at the Carrizozo Eating House Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Turner came in Monday from Wellington, Cal., and remained over until Wednesday with Mayor McQuillen, father of Mrs. Turner. They went on their motor trip enroute for Waupun, Wisconsin, where they will visit Mr. Turner's parents. On their trip, they will be absent from their home town about five weeks. We were glad to meet the Turners and our only regret is that they could not stay longer.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Senate Rejects Nomination of Parker as Supreme Court Justice.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NOMINATION of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina to be associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States was rejected by the senate by a margin of two votes. A like event had not occurred in 30 years.

It was stated in Washington that President Hoover would seek another appointee, and the names most prominently mentioned were those of Chief Justice Fenton Whittaker Booth of the Court of Claims; John W. Davis, the Democratic Presidential nominee of 1924, and Newton D. Baker of Ohio, secretary of war under President Wilson. Since many of the southern senators voted against Judge Parker it was rather taken for granted by many that another Southerner would not be appointed; Mr. Hoover is merely human.

The senate's action was the climax of ten days of keen debate concerning Judge Parker's decision in a labor injunction case, and his personal stand on the negro question when he was a nominee for the governorship of North Carolina and stated that "the participation of the negro in politics is a source of evil and danger to both races." Political considerations and anti-administration sentiment also were factors in the result. It was asserted the President by the appointment was trying to retain for his party the southern votes it received in the last Presidential election. And, of course, the radical Republicans—encompassing Senator Norbeck of South Dakota—opposed the nomination, as they have opposed nearly all administration measures.

Of the 53 who voted for Judge Parker's confirmation 23 were Republicans and 10 Democrats. The 41 against included 17 Republicans, 23 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Labor member. Paired for the nomination were five Republicans and 3 Democrats, while paired against were also 3 Republicans and 3 Democrats. Counting pairs, 34 Republicans were lined up for Parker while 22 Republicans were against him. There were 13 Democrats for Parker and 23 against him.

Since the creation of the Supreme court in 1789, also men appointed by the Chief Executive have been rejected by the senate. One of these—John Rutledge of South Carolina—was a nominee for chief justice. The last rejection before that of Judge Parker was that of Wheeler H. Peckham in 1864.

PRESIDENT HOOVER was credited with a decided victory when the house passed on controversial administrative provisions in the tariff bill. By a vote of 161 to 131 it defeated a motion to accept the senate export duty amendment to which Mr. Hoover was so firmly opposed that its inclusion probably would have resulted in a veto. Then the house, by a vote of 154 to 122, rejected a motion to accept the senate amendments repealing the flexible provisions of the present law. The President had strongly advocated retention of power in the Executive to make emergency changes in duties on the recommendation of the tariff commission.

Both house and senate sent the tariff measure back to conference, and it was expected the senate would finally yield on both these points.

IN CONNECTION with tariff matters

It is interesting to read that Premier Mackenzie King announced in the Canadian house of commons that a general election would be held, probably early in August, in which the main issue will be Canadian tariff retaliation against the United States for imposing American tariff increases against Canada.

The premier's announcement, which triggered the house because of its significance, followed a three-hour speech by Richard B. Bennett, Conservative leader, in which Mr. Bennett denounced the countervailing duties provisions of the Canadian budget and wound up by moving a motion of no confidence in the Mackenzie King administration.

Under these countervailing duties the Canadian tariff on 16 major items automatically moves to the level of American imposts against Canada, and the items consist largely of those now under review by the United States congress for increase.

CONSTERNATION among home brewers followed a decision of the Supreme court, written by Justice Holmes, upholding the seizure and forfeiture of kegs, bottles, bottle cappers, caps and other apparatus sold for use in the production of illegal beverages. One loophole was seen by the dealers in these articles, Justice Holmes referring specifically to appliances offered for sale purposely to attract persons intending to use them for the manufacture of illegal drink. Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced he would instruct his administrators to proceed against commercial distributors of brewing apparatus.

SCOTT McBRIDE, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, was an interesting witness before the senate lobby committee. He said the league now has a deficit, and that the leadership it formerly possessed has passed to the executive committee of the defensive alliance of about thirty dry organizations. Under cross-examination he testified that the league is an active lobby, that it still seeks to influence federal appointments by timely recommendations, that it maintains a surveillance over federal judges and makes sure that federal district attorneys are kept advised of its desires through the submission of briefs for the guidance of the prosecutors in liquor law prosecutions.

EXASPERATED by the spreading revolt of the Nationalists of India, the British government decided it would be best to put Mahatma Gandhi under arrest. The "holy man" was taken into custody suddenly at Jalapa and conveyed to a jail at Yeroda, near Poona, where he was given comfortable quarters and an ample allowance for his personal expenses. Later he was removed to the Poona military cantonment. Gandhi's wife and his lieutenants were prompt to take over the leadership of the civil disobedience campaign. The news of the mahatma's arrest was carried swiftly over the peninsula and the immediate result was renewal of the riotous demonstrations in many localities. The natives had frequent clashes with the troops and police and there were numerous casualties. Disturbances were especially violent in Bombay, Delhi, Calcutta, Chittagong and Lahore.

Several leaders of the moderates of India are in London carrying on peace negotiations and it was reported that Wedgwood Benn, secretary of state for India, was willing to give assurance of the determination of the British government eventually to grant dominion status to India.

EARTHQUAKE, followed by a tidal wave and conflagration, wiped out Paga, an old seaport of Burma, 59 miles north of Rangoon, and also did a lot of damage in the latter city. The total dead were estimated at 600, of whom two thirds were inhabitants of Paga. Hundreds of others were injured. A large section of the Indian population in Rangoon connected the disaster with the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's civil resistance campaign, and police and military forces were directed from Rangoon work to quell a riot in which persons wearing foreign cloth were stripped of their clothing, which was piled on bonfires.

About the same time heavy earth quakes occurred in the northwestern part of Persia and it was reported that 2,000 persons were killed. The towns of Urumiyeh, recently renamed Rezaieh, and Salmast were destroyed. The former is the reputed birthplace of Zoroaster.

Tornadoes struck in widely scattered sections of Texas, killing about seventy persons and demolishing many homes; and there were destructive windstorms in Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska in which several persons perished.

Fire destroyed a considerable part of the town of Nashua, N. H., rendering a thousand persons homeless. In New Jersey and on Long Island and Staten Island forest and brush fires lasting several days did great damage.

IN CARTHAGE, that ancient city in north Africa where thousands of Christians were martyred centuries ago, the 1890 Eucharistic congress of the Roman Catholic church opened last week. Some twenty thousands of the faithful were there, including many of the highest dignitaries of the church, Pope Pius being represented by Cardinal Lepicier. The ceremonies began in the old St. Louis cathedral on a hill overlooking the ruins and hovels that now constitute the once mighty city; and some of the rites during the five days were performed in Tunis, ten miles away.

SUPPORTERS of the London naval agreement met a congressional rebuff when the house appropriation committee deleted an endorsement of the pact from the report prepared by its naval subcommittee for transmittal to the house with the $377,000,000 naval supply bill.

As prepared by the subcommittee, whose chairman is Representative Burton French of Idaho, the report referred to the treaty as a "signal accomplishment" and "an achievement of immeasurable importance" to the signatory nations. In executive session the full appropriation committee ordered all commendatory matter regarding the pact stricken out. As finally presented when the naval bill was introduced, the report contained only matter pertinent to the naval bill.

The measure recommends an outlay of $377,000,000 for new construction and for maintenance of the naval establishment during the 1931 fiscal year. Of this sum $37,905,000 is set aside for new construction work and for modernizing the battleships. The measure represents an increase of $14,531,000 over the naval appropriations for the present fiscal year. It is $1,710,500 below the 1931 budget estimates recommended by President Hoover.

THE senate foreign relations committee arranged to hold open hearings on the London treaty beginning May 12 with Secretary of State Stimson as the first witness. The naval affairs committee of the senate also made its plans for hearings on the pact.

Senator David A. Reed, last of the delegates to return from London, arrived in Washington and enthusiastically predicted that the treaty would be ratified.

THE National Live Stock Marketing Association, the fourth national commodity marketing concern under the auspices of the federal farm board, was organized in Chicago with a capital of $1,000,000 after being approved by representatives of 17 live stock co-operatives. The Farmers' union and the Central Live Stock Producers' association declined to join the new corporation.

THE Farmers' National Grain corporation, through its president, C. E. Rusk, announced that plans for regional and branch development now under way call for the establishment of five branches of the corporation, at Kansas City, Mo., for southwest territory; St. Paul, Duluth, or Minneapolis for the spring wheat area; Spokane, Wash., or Portland, Ore., for the Pacific northwest; and Henry W. Collins of Prosser, Ore., as manager; Buffalo for the mid business and export outlet in the northeast; and St. Louis or Indianapolis, probably, for the soft wheat territory from Missouri eastward to the seaboard.

Excavations at Site of Pre-historic Indian Village Yielding Treasures

Alamogordo News:

Stanley Stubbs, assistant to Dr. Hewitt, who was sent here a few days ago to continue excavations at the site of the pre-historic Indian village two miles north of Alamogordo, and he worked about one week, with Ray Charles as first assistant, and some young men to do the digging.

The expenses of the excavations is borne by the University of Kansas as last year.

Work thus far has met with quite satisfactory results. Especially on April 20, when splendid finds were made. Probably the chief one was a large plank about 14 feet long and 3 feet wide, taken from a depth of about three feet. It is believed to have been a part of a roof and to have been covered by a thatch of reeds and corn stalks. A couple of bowls were found that had been intact until the roof fell in. They can be restored. Some of the pottery had bird ornamentation, in "futuristic or cubistic" design. A quantity of corn with the husks on was found which was so old it seemed almost as if charred by fire. The former residents doubtless included corn as an important part of their diet.

There were also a number of marbles found, also small miniature feet fashioned out of stone and probably used as charms against evil spirits. There was a little bear made of a green piece of Mexican jade; also several little balls of paints in several colors. The finds are such as to make the heart of an archaeologist glad. It is believed that by cross sectioning the plank it may be determined when it grew into a tree, similarly to the manner this was done with logs at Pueblo Bonito.

Lesson for May 25

JESUS DESCRIBES THE FUTURE OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 24:1-25:13 (Print 25:1-12) GOLDEN TEXT—Take ye heed, watch and pray; for ye know not when the time is. PRIMARY TOPIC—Being Ready to Help. JUNIOR TOPIC—Being Ready. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being Ready. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian Preparedness.

1. The Prophetic View of the Course of Time from Christ's Crucifixion to His Second Coming. (24:1-51). The order of events in this time are in general as follows:

- 1. The moral condition of the world during Christ's absence. (vv. 1-14). This is the period covered by the parables of chapter 13. 2. The appearance of the Anti-christ (vv. 15-26). 3. The great advent (vv. 27-31). In connection with this advent there will be mighty convulsions of nature, the mourning of the tribes of the earth, and the gathering of the elect. 4. Warnings to God's people in view of the great advent (vv. 32-51). The time of this advent is unknown and on the part of many unexpected. 5. Instruction to believers in view of the unexpectedness of Christ's coming (25:1-30).

II. Behavior of Believers in View of the Coming of the Lord (25:1-13).

The teaching in the parable of the ten virgins has continuous application in the present time (1 Thess. 10:18; Titus 2:11-13).

1. The equipment of the virgins (vv. 1-5).

(1) The foolish virgins took lamps, but no oil with them (v. 3). Lamps signify Christian profession (Matt. 5:10) and oil the Holy Spirit (Zech. 14). Having lamps but no oil shows that they were professors of religion, without possessing its reality. The Christian life is sustained by the Holy Spirit. As soon as a man is regenerated, the Holy Spirit takes up His abode with him. The Spirit's dwelling therefore, is an advance work upon regeneration. The proof that one is a child of God is that he has the Holy Spirit dwelling within him. (Rom. 8:9). The foolish virgins were professors, but not possessors. (2) The wise virgins possessed both lamps and oil (v. 4). They backed their profession with a real life of righteousness. Both the wise and the foolish virgins slumbered and slept. This shows that as the present age lengthens, the real and the professing church will cease looking for the coming of the Lord. It is unspeakably sad that so many, even of God's chosen—the wise virgins—should give up the expectancy of the return of the Lord. (v. 12).

2. The coming of the bridegroom (vv. 6-12).

(1) The midnight cry (v. 6). In the midst of the night when all the virgins were asleep the cry was heard, "Behold the bridegroom cometh." Who knows but that the time of this cry is now close upon us? (2) Activity of the virgins (v. 7). They all arose and trimmed their lamps. There will be great activity when the Lord comes on the part of both believers and those who only make a profession. It will be a day when the reality of one's faith will be tested. (3) The foolish virgins' request of the wise to share their oil (vv. 8, 9). The revelation of Christ will make manifest the genuineness of our faith and expose the folly of mere profession. When the Lord comes, it will be too late to mend one's ways. (4) The wise enter to the marriage (v. 10). While the foolish were seeking to amend their ways—trying to buy oil—the bridegroom came, and those who were ready were admitted to the marriage. (5) The pitiful petition of the foolish virgins (v. 11). They begged the Lord to open the door. (6) The awful judgment (v. 12). The Lord declared, "I know you not."

3. The solemn obligation (v. 13).

"Watch, for ye know not the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh." Two solemn facts should engage the attention of every one. (1) Entering with Christ to the marriage depends upon faithfulness to the end. If oil and light be wanting when Christ comes, no admittance will be granted to the heavenly banquet. (2) Borrowed religion will not avail at that day. Despite the value of godly companions and associates, they can render no service in the day of Jesus Christ. Personal contact with the Lord Jesus through faith in His blood is the absolute essential.

Seeing Big League BASEBALL

By BILLY EVANS Sports-writer, Big League Umpire and General Manager of the Cleveland Indians

"You can't beat them hours, me bye, three to five." That was a favorite expression of the late Tim Hurst, when an umpire, after an unusually tough day, would express his disgust with his job.

Hurst was a picturesque character, the game probably will never know another just like him. He had a keen sense of humor, withering sarcasm that he used to advantage on the protesting players, and the courage of a Spartan. Tact and diplomacy are supposed to be most necessary assets of an umpire. Tim didn't think much of either, unless gifted repartee, in which he seldom came out second best, might be so construed.

Perhaps no person connected with baseball plays a more important part in what may be termed the "artistic" success of a ball game than the umpire, yet he is merely regarded in the light of a necessary evil. Only when he falls to show up for a ball game is his worth appreciated. Aside from being a necessary evil the umpire is baseball's greatest alibi, either from the viewpoint of player or fan. If a player gets the worst of a close decision, if he is called out on a perfect third strike, he can attempt to shift the responsibility by protesting the umpire's decision. And what a relief it is to some fans after a defeat to recall how differently things would have been had the umpire called the ball hit down the third base line fair instead of foul. Fandom was a unit in regarding it as fair, but the umpire thought otherwise. The two runs that should have scored on that hit would have won the ball game.

I have said the umpire is a most important asset from an artistic standpoint; however, only a limited few umpires have had anything to do with the financial end of the game. Star players like Ruth, Johnson, Hornsby, Foxx and others of that caliber, pack them in at the gate, but it is doubtful if any umpire today is ever responsible for a single person passing through the turnstile, unless it be some friend of his with a complimentary ticket.

The announcement that Walter Johnson was to pitch was always a magnet. If Babe Ruth is on a home-run rampage the fans jam the stands to see him in action. The year that Ruth broke the home-run record by clothing sixty circuit swats, he broke and re-broke attendance records at every American league park a half-dozen times. The fans care not who umpires just so long as he does a good job of it. If he is satisfactory he draws silence, never applause. It is only when fandom disagrees with him that he receives any vocal consideration at all.

Much has been written about the competency and incompetency of the umpires, probably the last has been more widely heralded. Don't get me wrong, for I feel that the fans do like to see a game well handled by the umpire. However, I have always believed if there came a time when every decision of the umpire were considered correct, and the games always perfectly umpired, that baseball would immediately lose one of its strongest selling points. For it is really surprising the pleasure a lot of people get out of believing that had the umpire not repeatedly erred in his rulings, the home team would have been victorious. The umpire is a favorite alibi and always will be.

On this point the status of the umpire has been much improved in the last fifteen years. The attitude taken by the newspaper writers, who cover the ball games, has tended to make the work much easier. In the old days the alibi was much favored in explaining defeats through the press, and the umpire wasn't overlooked as a target. Today it is much different. (©, 1939, Matt syndicate.)

SCENIC PLAYGROUNDS OF AMERICA
By G. M. KILBOURN

Catching Sylvan Pass in Her Easter Hat!

IF YOU want the surprise of your life sometime, try a Yellowstone park trip in June, before the mountains have had time to wake from their winter sleep to shake the snow-jewels away. And if you want some action thrills with your surprises, go in the eastern or Cody gateway—because that is the Sylvan pass route, the route where the glistening Easter finery of the forests and high meadows lasts longest.

Yellowstone park opens annually on the twentieth of June. It offers a hundred different charms, in such profusion that to pick a weakness among them seems almost sacrilege; and yet there are one or two such weaknesses, if we may borrow the viewpoints of the average American who makes a hurried rail or motor pilgrimage to the garden where Mother Nature, on viewing her completed work, must surely have exclaimed "Hot Stuff!" in supreme satisfaction.

The average American who goes sightseeing in the national parks is on a brief, usually an all too brief, vacation from two environments: work, and summer heat. The trip alone is a wonderful antidote for work; but the psychological opposite of heat, of course, is ice and snow. And whatever else Yellowstone may and does offer, its July and August snow displays are a bit meager.

But to the traveler who wily sails westward when his calendar reads "June Two-Thirds," there is an amazingly different story revealed. Sylvan pass, which became the eastern boundary of the park last year in a revision which gave the reservation a completely new profile on the map, is still dreaming of Santa Claus and his reindeer; and your big bus, to reach the mountaintop gateway, must wiggle eel-like through rod after rod of squirming snow tunnel. Or if you're driving your own car, be sure not to have a flat, because it might be three weeks before you could drive off the road and repair it!

Coincidence alone sent the writer chugging through the park, in 1927, on the day after its opening for the season; and although he had thoroughly enjoyed three previous and less hurried visits, the snow trip was a delight and a revelation. On top of the pass, where early melting had soaked both road and meadows into a jollily, government teams pulled each car through the sea of mud as mechanically and ignominiously as if these gas-breathing but parboiling steeds had been mere mercenary merchantmen at the Panama canal. And this amazing, bewitching maiden just ahead? why, jumping methuselahs, it's only your old pal Miss Sylvan Lake! With all those Sunday clothes—Well, who'd have dreamed she had such class?

Down the slope, the sun has done its work before you, and the park resumes its usual look, except that the elk and moose are much nearer and kodakable than they will be a month later after facing the first 40,000 cameras. But soon you turn south to give Lake Camp the once-over again and—Gezuzusalem, what's that, now? It's Yellowstone lake, as usual, on the bottom, but what a picture frame around the old lady this time! The whole Absaroka range is in on the frameup; it's the darndest halo you ever heard tell of, and she wears it just like it grew there, too!

Oh, boy. . . . After a sight like that, you could whistle in an alum factory, or throw red ink at the Taj Mahal.

Blind Obedience

Senator Ladd said at a luncheon in Fargo:

"The world really does need a pact outlawing war, for when war comes every people is as blindly obedient to its government, no matter how blameworthy its government may be, as well, as little Willie.

"Willie," said his teacher, "suppose Willie, that a tiger was to come rush, jag at you to eat you up—what would you do?"

"Nothing, teacher," said Willie. "What? Nothing? You wouldn't even shout for help?"

"Oh, no, teacher."

"Goodness me! Why not?"

"Because my pop says I mustn't talk at meals."

FORCES THAT HAMPER COLLEGES

By DR. CLARENCE COOK LITTLE, Ex-President University of Michigan.

ONE of the pernicious forces operating in the colleges of today is that of meddling women. They are the militant feminists—the older women executives, faculty members, faculty wives and local club women. They thrive on a diet of emotional pap. They tend to breed and to foster a sex antagonism based on unwise and unreal values.

They demand, among other things, that there be an equal number of men and women on college faculties, regardless of the competitive processes through which candidates are selected. They are too highly emotional in their approach to all problems and they adopt toward youth a bilious and unwholesome attitude.

Coaducation, in my opinion, leads to unwise and excessive efforts in emotional adjustments, on the part of students, much to the detriment of the formation of intellectual habits. There exists no means of advancing the student's emotional and physiological nature so that such an advance would fit in with his progress in intellectual spheres.

I believe the recent Carnegie report on the subsidization of athletics has had no corrective effect. The various colleges burst forth with denials, grinned inwardly and took steps to "cover up" a little better in the future.

A complete revolution in the realm of college athletics is needed. This change should be based on an expansion of activities, with the creation of more athletic teams, so that more students might participate. Controlling power in athletics should be removed from the hands of "star" coaches and turned over to the students.

PROSPERITY IN DESTRUCTION

By CHARLES S. HATCH, Industrial Engineer.

Rapidly as we now destroy goods in one way or another, it is desirable that this destruction be stimulated. All workers must have more leisure in which to destroy the goods they produce. By shortening working hours we may provide work for more men and, at the same time, provide more leisure for all working men so that they will have time to destroy far more goods than at present. Both the business man and the workers will benefit proportionately.

It is a common complaint that much of the goods we produce today does not wear as well as in the good old days. This is not necessarily an evil. When cloth was so well made that an overcoat was fairly presentable for twenty years or so, our prosperity was not noteworthy. Wages were low, there was a great deal of unemployment and business depression was of long duration; all largely because it took so long to wear out the goods that were made.

Goods can be destroyed by style changes or obsolescence just as effectively as by wear and tear. Buildings are torn down when they still have many years of possible life in them because changes in tastes or improvements in design make them obsolete.

Frequent changes in styles of clothes, automobiles, furniture and many other things are commonly decried by consumers and even by manufacturers, but style changes are really a boon to employers and employees alike. By necessitating replacement before goods wear out, changes in style give employment to millions.

WAR, DISEASE AND DEATH

By DR. ERNEST FREMONT TITTLE, Evanston (Methodist).

George Bernard Shaw has remarked that the only man who came out of the great war with an enhanced reputation for common sense was Jesus Christ. A world that took the sword came so near to perishing with the sword that the situation ceased to be pleasantly exciting and became utterly tragic. Perhaps, after all, the Great Pacific was right.

A world that sought first material possessions, that engaged in feverish, reckless, economic rivalries, has added unto it, what? Hunger and nakedness, and cold; disease and debt and death.

A world which, in whole classes and races of men, has despised and dishonored personality is, today, blinded with bitterness and enfeebled by strife. Perhaps there was and is some inescapable and essential truth in the observation, "One is your Father and all ye are brethren."

Men who have gone into the years, not with the idea of giving all that they could, but only with the idea of getting all that they could, have been disillusioned. Perhaps there was and is something true in the suggestion, "Whosoever would be great among you, let him be your servant, even as the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister.

NEED FOR FIVE-DAY WORK WEEK

By WILLIAM F. GREEN, President American Federation of Labor.

Adoption of the five-day week in American industry and business would be a panacea for unemployment and business depression. I would also urge the maintenance of wage levels as a means of preventing recurring periods of idleness and business stagnation.

If labor is to be regularly employed, we must balance the time worked with social requirements, capacity to produce and power to consume.

Labor firmly believes that, aside from its spiritual and moral value, the five-day work week would serve as a partial remedy for unemployment and at the same time create both a desire and an opportunity to use the goods which industries produce, especially now when mechanization of industry is causing idleness and producing more than the wage-earning masses can buy.

EDUCATION TOO STANDARDIZED

By EUGENE M. STEVENS, Chicago Banker.

For some years in this country we have been making a fetish of mass production, a vast quantity of machine-made products of exact similitude and standardized form. It may be that this practice has insidiously crept into some of our educational institutions. There are schools and colleges without number to minister to those who seek a college education for its nominal value. I wonder if there has not come a time when a greater degree of selectivity can obtain in our great university.

We cannot stand for waste in industrial quantity production, and we surely should minimize waste in quality education.

Moslem Faith Kept by Tatars in Lithuania

More than 600 years ago when Vytautas the Great was ruling over the grand principality of Lithuania, then at the height of its power and prosperity, he brought back as prisoners from one of his campaigns in the southeast several hundred Tatars. They remained in Lithuania, intermarried with the native women, but did not give up their Moslem faith and customs.

United with the remnants of the Tatar troops lent by the grand khan to the Lithuanian grand duke, most of whom fell in the wars with the Teutonic knights, these faithful followers of Mahomet planted the banner of the crescent in these northern regions and their descendants have kept it flying right down to today.

In connection with the solemn celebration this year in all Lithuania of the 600th anniversary of the death of Vytautas the Great, the League of Lithuanian Tatars recently held a meeting in Kovno (Kaunas) and decided to build a central mosque in the capital city.

The Alaskan Flag

Alaska has recently adopted an official flag. It has a blue field, bordered on three sides with a narrow band of gold. In the upper right-hand corner appears Polaris and below it the constellation Ursa Major, with its two "pointers" indicating the North star. The field of blue is held to symbolize the evening sky, the sea, mountain lakes and the wild flowers of Alaska; and the gold border, the wealth in Alaskan hills and streams. Polaris is the ever-constant guide of the explorer, woodman, prospector and surveyor. And Alaskans hope that the northernmost star may some day take its place as the forty-ninth in our national emblem.

Earthquake's Vagaries

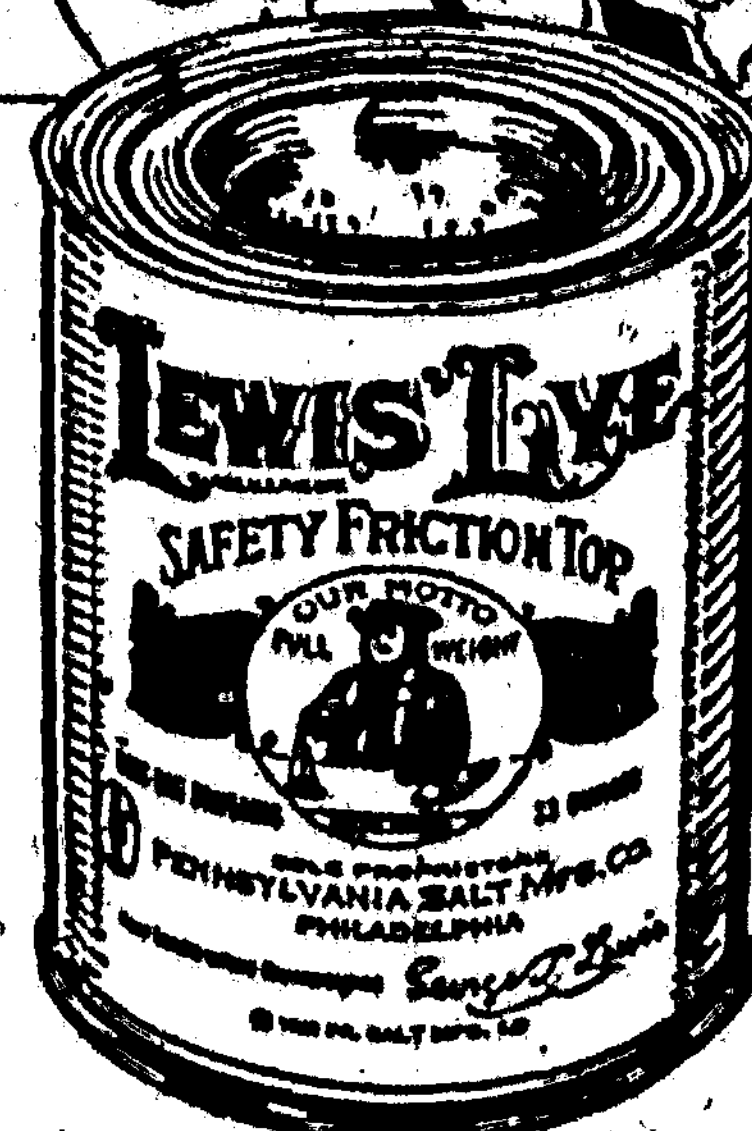

An earthquake irrigated a cantaloupe field at Brawley, Calif., recently when a tremor caused small geysers to spout five inches high over the 100-acre field owned by the S. A. Gerrard company. The water irrigated the entire field and then flooded adjacent areas before subsiding. Small sand piles were left in the wake of unusual inundation, and a beet field nearby was completely covered by new sand.

TEST OF CONOCO'S GERM-PROCESSED TENACIOUS FILM . . .

. . . Compared with Popular Oils at Pike's Peak . . . Reveals 76.4% Less Motor Wear! . . .

We sincerely believe that this disclosure alone will cause you to begin using CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil . . . such decided reduction in motor wear . . . such triumph over the savage attack of friction and heat . . . such positive supremacy over the oil you have been using, all have a definite appeal to your pocketbook and judgment.

Charts prepared from the Pike's Peak Test records indicate a longer life for your motor by lubricating it with Germ-Processed oil. Too, you will save substantially on your gasoline cost, and in oil expense, by using this oil. And the fact that Germ-Processed oil penetrates metal surfaces means, that after starting your car on a cold morning you can safely drive at top speed with less likelihood of damage . . . for CONOCO'S film is already on the job.

Less Carbon—Less Cost—More Mileage and Less Heating—More Compression. All these things mean a better all-around motor. It is truly unusual for a motor oil to do so excel competition as CONOCO did in the Pike's Peak Tests. Tested out on the Pike's Peak Highway, scene of many famous automobile tests, was a memorable struggle for supremacy. . . . On the one side, three of America's representative and popular oils—on the other, Germ-Processed oil. And CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil won, by all tests applied.

Only CONOCO can make Germ-Processed oils. CONOCO can give you these new motor oil merits, including penetrative lubricity. We hope to serve you soon, at stations displaying the Red Triangle.

SEND NOW for the new Free Booklet which describes in detail the story of the Pike's Peak Tests. Illustrated with photographs and charts. Address: Continental Oil Company, Ponca City, Okla., or at the station with the Red Triangle.

TYPHOID FEVER

By C. W. Gerber, Dona Ana County Health Officer. Not so many years ago typhoid fever was regarded as almost exclusively water borne.

A decided change in the situation has occurred; the rural districts and small towns supply the majority of cases, and investigation of the cause shows that explosive outbreaks or more often milk borne than water borne.

Epidemics in small towns or villages can usually be traced to (1) a raw milk supply, or (2) a social gathering during which the food was served. There is seldom a common water supply.

HOW MUCH DO WE PAY OUR CRIMINALS?

The criminal class is one of the costliest in the United States. We usually regard crime as a social problem, overlooking the economic aspect. Yet one estimate places the nation's annual crime bill at 12 billion dollars.

It will be said, of course, that our criminals are not actually "paid," in the sense of being employed. But it amounts to the same thing. Crime could not exist without public indeliberate and slothfulness.

We talk about it and don't act. We calmly watch our legislators pile new laws each year on the existing statute books. We read that we have the highest homicide rate in the world and, along with it, the lowest conviction rate for criminals.

The American people pay for crime. It is to a large degree within their power to lower the gigantic annual bill presented by the underworld to society.—Manufacturers.

NO OUTSIDE HELP FOR FAMINE-STRICKEN CHINA

Hope for relief of the famine situation in northwest China now centers largely in the crop harvests this spring and summer, within the stricken area, and also upon the subsistence of brigandage and military maneuvers.

Commissioner Nyhus reports that short crops, as the result of drought in 1928 and 1929, are the fundamental factors in the current famine situation. Military operations and brigandage have reduced further the already scant food supply.

OIL AND PROSPERITY

American prosperity is dependent to a large degree, on the oil industry. During 1929, the industry spent $25,000,000 for geological and geophysical explorations; $500,000,000 for drilling; $100,000,000 for oil and gas pipe lines; $270,000,000 for recovering petroleum and large sums in many other ways.

The petroleum industry supplies the United States with one of its most important products. In 1929, exported oil products were valued at $531,172,885, an increase of eight per cent over 1928.

These statistics give some idea of the value of the oil industry as a national asset. Petroleum is twentieth-century gold. It operates great factories; furnishes motive power for millions of automobiles, propellers, ships, boats a multitude of homes.
