Graduation Exercises

The past ten day period has been full of interest to everybody, more especially to teachers, the graduates and their parents. The teachers and graduates have labored through the term, oftentimes burning midnight oil in perfecting plans whereby the students might be the better enabled to finish their courses with well-earned credits and be prepared to start out in the world as young ladies and gentlemen, fit to accomplish whatever tasks they may encounter.

Beginning with the Junior-Senior Banquet, followed by the Orchestra Recital, the Primary Grades, Piano and Violin Recital, Intermediate Grades, Baccalaureate Sermon, Senior Class Play, Eighth Grade Graduation and ending with the High School Commencement exercises last night, made the period abound with successful events.

The Junior Woman's Club held the last meeting of the club year on May 10.

Members assembled in Music room and sang, "America the Beautiful" and marched to the meeting place, officers preceding, escorted by members.

Each member answered to roll call by giving a description of a flower, the name of which was guessed by the other members, only one flower could not be guessed, which was the wild rose by Miss Strauss.

The reading of "Pal" letters proved interesting, many thoughts of love and friendship being expressed. The following program was given:

Southern Pacific Company

El Paso, Texas, May 10, 1930.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CHAVES AND LINCOLN COUNTIES, NEW MEXICO:

In order that there may be no misunderstanding and the exact facts concerning the matter may be thoroughly understood, the Southern Pacific System management desires to state as follows:

The construction of the proposed Dam on the Bonito River in Lincoln County, New Mexico, will not deprive water users who have appropriated and beneficially used the waters of that stream of any waters to which they are lawfully entitled. The company has in the past recognized the rights of all prior valid appropriations along said stream, and has no intention of encroaching on any of such rights. Its present ownership of such waters, and of Eagle Creek, far exceeds any quantities which it intends, or would ever be able to divert or carry out of such watersheds and consume for railroad and domestic purposes. The proposed dam is located about 12 miles above the western boundary of the Fort Stanton Reservation, above which dam location the amount of water originating in the watershed of the Bonito River is very small, the total annual runoff from which does not exceed in gallons, and often falls far below, the continuous flow of five second feet due to seasonal differences, and all originates within an area of considerably less than one township. It is the precipitation of rains and snows flowing in the small channels of the creek above such damsite alone which the company proposes, or would ever be able to store in its proposed reservoir. It cannot by means thereof either store or divert any waters arising in the Bonito River below such point. However, there is a considerable acreage under irrigation by many owners of small tracts of ground below Fort Stanton in the Bonito valley proper who claimed an interest in such upper waters, the Company, after purchasing and acquiring all rights above Fort Stanton, finally decided to, and many years ago commenced, and has practically concluded the purchase, and is now the owner, of, with a few small exceptions, all the irrigated lands and water rights on the Bonito River below Fort Stanton, including the considerable number of springs arising in such lower section, but it diverts none of the same from the Bonito valley. Much of the water used below for irrigation rises below such dam and cannot be diverted thereby, nor is it practicable to divert the same out of the Bonito Valley by any other means. Notwithstanding the original company as early as 1907, by purchase and cessation of use for irrigation purposes in the valley, upon its application to the Territorial Engineer, was lawfully granted the right to divert through a pipe line having its intake from such river at a point which the proposed reservoir will cover, and above the point of its proposed dam, five second feet of such water so purchased by it, equivalent to 27 1-2 gallons per second, yet it has never been able, by using the maximum capacity of such pipe line, to actually divert an amount in excess of an average of 4 second feet, equivalent to 20 gallons per second therethrough, and some years, during excessive drouths, the amount diverted has not been more than half that flow.

In addition to the acquisition of the appropriations referred to on the Bonito River, it has been found necessary to divert the waters of Eagle Creek through an additional pipe line which joins such Bonito pipe line near Angus, but the amount which it has ever been able to obtain from its Eagle Creek diversion in any one year has never exceeded on an average approximately 1 1-2 second feet, equivalent to approximately 15 gallons per second, and many years it has fallen far below. The reason the company has never been able to divert more waters from either of such streams is because the flow of such streams above such point of intake of the pipe lines does not furnish on an average any more water. The combined flow of both such streams, the waters of which have been diverted when possible, has not exceeded in any year an average flow of 45 gallons per second, which the company management is informed by geological reports and other reliable information, does not equal the flow in gallons per second of many individual artesian wells, in the Pecos Valley, and does not near equal that of others.

This reservoir is being constructed for two essential purposes, both of which are in the public interest and in the interest of the people of New Mexico, as well as in the interest of the railroad. The first of these purposes is to insure an adequate and pure supply of water essential to the carrying on of interstate, as well as intrastate, transportation by providing a larger storage to insure against periods when the runoff of the stream is not sufficient to care for both the railroad needs and at the same time allow for the existing prior appropriations, if any, of the lower users and to provide more economical storage, and, second, to provide an alternative storage which will permit the present reservoir near Nogal Hill to be detained temporarily and repaired, thereby saving a large quantity of water which is now unavoidably lost, although large expenses have been incurred to prevent the same, through leakage therefrom. The proposed new reservoir will not, and is not intended to, shut off the flow of the stream which now supplies the lawful prior appropriations below.

All of the normal flow of the Bonito River, both above and below the point of the proposed reservoir, either from snowmelt or rainfall, had been appropriated and consumed in irrigation for settlers, the management is informed as far back as 20 years ago, and none of the same went

LINCOLN NOTES

Mothers' Day services at Community Church, in which the Capitan, Ft. Stanton and Lincoln Sunday Schools joined, were attended by a large crowd. The services began with a meeting of the Sunday Schools at 10 a. m., followed by morning worship at 11, sermon by Rev. McArthur of Albuquerque. Mrs. Penfield entertained the children on the Bonito Inn lawn during the services. The basket dinner was enjoyed by about 250 people. At 2:30 the special Mothers' Day exercises called the assembly to the church again and an interesting program was given. Much credit should go to the committee in charge of the affair, that all was managed very capably. Mr. Fagan is already planning next Mothers' Day program. We also wish to thank Mrs. Lloyd Hulbert for her courtesy in the use of the lawn and Mr. Pfingsten for arranging tables and marshalling the coffee pot.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dow returned to El Paso this week after attending the funeral of Mrs. Emma Peppin Chavez.

Mrs. Woods broke her shoulder blade last week, but is improving nicely.

The Piano and Violin Recital

given last Friday evening at the High School Auditorium by the pupils of Mrs. T. E. Kelley and Miss Louise Sweet, proved itself to be a musical treat to the big audience that greeted the pupils, and the applause was merited in every sense of the word.

Music lovers who were good critics too came away from the Auditorium, high in their praise of the Recital, after lingering to congratulate Mrs. Kelley and Miss Sweet after the event.

Those who missed the Recital missed a treat, and those who were present, were doubly benefited.

Capitan Notes

Wallace Ferguson purchased a new Chevrolet Coach from the City Garage, at Carrizozo.

Mike Farr of Fort Stanton who was operated on for appendicitis three weeks ago, returned to school Monday.

through the Bonito stream to the Ruidoso during the irrigation season, or at other times except when the Bonito Community and other dams had been washed out, and during the time when the same were being repaired. The heavy floods which have occasionally gone through the Bonito River into the Hondo during the summer seasons have entered the Bonito River far below both the Company's proposed reservoir, and intake of its pipe line, and came from the Capitan watershed, which is of vast extent and the same are not as usual being diverted or used for irrigation purposes on the lands below.

The new reservoir will not, and is not intended to, shut off the flow of the stream which now supplies any lawful prior use below, and the railroad does not intend to encroach upon any prior lawful appropriation below.

Respectfully,

A. E. SWEET,

Assistant General Manager,
Southern Pacific Company.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Farm Board and Chamber of Commerce of U. S. in Open Warfare.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WARFARE between the federal farm board and business as represented by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reached its climax at the annual meeting of the chamber in Washington. Stung by bitter criticism of the board's policies, Alexander Legge, its chairman, retorted scathingly. As a member of the board he uttered a challenge to match any other member "dollar for dollar" in financing a permanent nonprofit making organization to work for farm betterment, a challenge that was later accepted by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the chamber and wheat director under Herbert Hoover during the war.

Mr. Legge indulged freely in sarcasm in his address.

"I am sure that most of you will agree that you know more about the agricultural situation and how to meet it than I do," he said. "A considerable percentage of your membership have made that quite clear, and perhaps the best answer I can make is the statement that if this is true, and you really know so much about it, the situation presents a very severe indictment of the organization which, having full information of the facts, has made so little effort to remedy the situation.

"When it became apparent that a means had been provided that really would help the farmer get organized co-operatively so that he, like other producers, would have some voice in determining the sale price of his commodity, the effort was branded as government price fixing, putting the government in business, etc.

"I do not recall in years gone by of hearing you business men making any such complaint against government aid that was extended to the manufacturing industry, to transportation, and to finance."

Daniel A. Millett, an investment banker and stock man of Denver, made the chief speech in criticism of the policies of the farm board as fantastic attempts at stabilization without regard for the law of supply and demand and was loudly applauded. His own formula, "in the interest of the farmer and business man alike," he said was:

"1. Repeat the agricultural marketing act and cease any such governmental attempts, and

"2. Revise our tariff downward, not upward, with its elimination, save in a few respects, as speedily as possible, as our idea."

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, an ex-officio member of the farm board, defended its actions, and the discussion became general.

W. C. McCabe of Duluth, representing the grain exchanges and dealers, contended that the independent grain merchant cannot hope to meet the situation created by the farm board.

"It is the ruin of his business," he said. "It is unfair and un-American, and we demand that the marketing act be modified."

Harrison Jones of Chicago said he represented a four-billion-dollar poultry, butter and egg merchandising industry. He demanded a "policy of modification, whereby American citizens may remain in business without outlay by government interference."

The chamber, at its closing session, adopted a resolution condemning the policies of the farm board and urging repeal of provisions of the agricultural marketing act which authorize the use of public funds "for the purpose of participation in business in competition with established agencies." The resolution advocated continuance of the farm board as a proper agency for gathering information and for advice and assistance toward the solution of the farmer's business problems.

President Hoover, speaking at the chamber's banquet, said the country had passed through the worst of its trade slump and, with continued unity of effort, would rapidly recover.

SECRETARY of State Stimson, accompanied by two of his colleagues in the London conference, arrived in Washington and were received by President Hoover. In a brief ceremony on the lawn of the Executive mansion Mr. Stimson handed to the President a certified copy of the naval treaty and was formally thanked for the efforts of the delegation. Save for the President's aides, the only spectators at this affair were the operators of talking picture machines. The London agreement is now in the hands of the senate for ratification or rejection. Mr. Hoover expressed the desire that it be acted on at this session.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the only Democratic member of the delegation, was given a hearty reception by the senate, which recessed so that he might be greeted and congratulated upon his services in London. Speaking informally, he said the treaty marks a distinct advance in world relations. He advocated a building program calling for the construction of all the warships necessary to give the United States a navy built up to the tonnage limits set by the pact, asserting that $100,000,000 a year should be expended for this purpose during the life of the treaty, if such a sum is necessary. To stop building now, the senator said, would place the United States at a distinct disadvantage in the next naval conference five or six years hence.

ITALY, always rather contemptuous of the efforts to conclude a naval reduction treaty, has embarked on a building program that seems to make likely a navy construction race with France. A few days after launching four cruisers and one submarine, the council of ministers decreed the program for 1930. It comprises 20 units, totaling 42,000 tons, all to be laid down within a year.

The warships to be built embrace one 10,000 ton cruiser, two 5,000 ton scout cruisers, four destroyers, and 22 submarines. A feature of this program is the large number of submarines, in which arm the Italian navy is especially deficient as compared with France. Four of the submarines are to be of 1,400 tons, six of 800 tons, and 12 of 600 tons, and adapted for coastal activities in home waters.

REVOLT of the Indian Nationalists has assumed such threatening proportions that the British government has agreed to back the government of India in any action it may deem necessary to suppress the movement. It was reported in London that the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi was imminent, although influential native leaders have urged upon Viceroy Lord Irwin the view that this step would render the situation much graver. They thought a rapprochement might be reached if both sides retraced their steps. Lord Irwin replied that "as long as the law is openly defied, neither the viceroy nor his government can do anything but resist its subversion by whatever means may be in their power and in whatever way may seem appropriate."

Meanwhile the clashes between the natives and the police and troops are becoming more numerous and a number of deaths have resulted. Despite the censorship, rumors have come of the virtual mutiny of some of the Sikh troops. Two platoons of the Eighteenth Royal Garhwal Rifles refused to fire on a mob at Peshawar and were removed to Abbottabad. Incidentally, the revived censorship law caused the suspension of twelve newspapers in Delhi. The editors refused to put up the cash security of $18,000 which the law provides every paper must deposit as a guarantee to refrain from publication of seditious matter.

Gandhi's campaign, an important feature of which is propaganda against foreign cloth, is having important economic effect. The cotton manufacturers of Manchester are especially concerned.

guards opened fire on them, wounding two. A detachment of the state troops was then called in and machine guns were mounted. Six hundred of the worst men were put in a barbed wire stockade where tents were placed and will be confined there until the burned part of the buildings has been repaired. Several others were transferred to other state prisons. The convicts had refused to work since the conflagration, but it was stated the prison workshops would soon be reopened.

SPEDDY action on the law enforcement legislation recommended by the Wickersham commission and the Department of Justice was asked of congress by President Hoover, and there were indications that his appeal would be heeded.

The President enumerated the prohibition bureau transfer bill, which has been passed by the house and recently was approved by the senate judiciary committee; bills for the relief of congestion in the courts, which have become involved in controversy in the house judiciary committee; the prison bills, which have been passed by the house and approved by the senate judiciary committee; the border patrol bill, on which hearings were commenced before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and the District of Columbia prohibition enforcement bill, on which hearings have been held before the senate district committee.

Senator Jones of Washington, a leader of the drys, called at the White House to urge that the President call a special session of congress if necessary, to get action on the administration's program of law enforcement legislation.

RUTH HANNA McCORMICK, appearing before the senate campaign funds committee, testified that she spent $252,572 from her own pocket in her successful campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in Illinois. She said she received no contributions except from some members of her family. She added that she was supported by only two organizations in Cook county, the Voters' Progress club and the Ruth Hanna McCormick volunteers.

Senator Donnen informed the committee that his losing campaign against Mrs. McCormick cost him a total of $23,493.21.

Mrs. McCormick read a statement in which she urged that legislation be enacted to provide a closer scrutiny of all campaign activities by senatorial candidates.

MAY DAY demonstrations were of various kinds in the various great cities of the world. In Moscow, as might be expected, the Reds put on an immense parade, nearly a million proletarians following the army through Red Square singing revolutionary hymns. All buildings were decorated and the marchers were reviewed by the highest officials of the Soviet Union. Theatrical companies gave free open air performances, and bands were everywhere. Next day the Soviet government demonstrated its technical achievements with a parade of automobiles, motorcycles, armored motor cars, fire engines, tractors, buses and tanks.

In Paris the radicals were kept from disorders by the activities of the police, and in Berlin they had parades and a huge meeting but refrained from all violence. The same was true of American cities. Japanese officials forestalled trouble by making hundreds of arrests, but the demonstrations were notable for their size and enthusiasm.

MISS Belle Sherwin of Cleveland, Ohio, was re-elected president of the League of Women Voters at its convention in Louisville. This was arranged under a leave of absence plan under which all the vice presidents will take turns at the headquarters in Washington. Miss Marguerite M. Wells of Minneapolis became fifth vice president in place of Mrs. W. W. Ramsey of Chicago. All the other vice presidents were re-elected. They are Miss Katharine Lushington of Lynn, Conn.; Miss Roscoe Anderson of St. Louis; Mrs. Helen Ruth Morgan of New York city; and Miss Margaret J. Hunter of Grand, Ohio.

WARFARE ON CRIMINALITY

By ARTHUR D. WOOD, Michigan Parole Board.

CRIMINAL tendencies, like tuberculosis or cancer, are easier to cure or control when discovered early. It will be necessary to go down into the plague spots—the breeding places where the scourge germinates—if we would rid our land of the malignancy of crime. Intense sociological and psychological preventives in homes, kindergartens and schools to discover the potential long before the overt act is committed, doubtless will be one of the most potent remedies for crime in coming generations.

We are in a transition era and when we find ourselves psychology will have a prominent place in the solution of crime. At present we are compelled to depend upon our protective agencies.

Punishment never will rid society of the criminal. Even if the prisons attain the maximum of efficiency, they will be unable to salvage, rehabilitate and make law-abiding citizens of more than 70 per cent of those committed. The ablest police department can only check, not eliminate, crime. Whatever deterring effect there is in punishment is best realized when punishment is swift and certain.

There are just three objectives in criminal jurisprudence—the protection of society, deterring from crime and reformation or cure of the criminal. The first objective is supreme. If we accomplish by any means whatsoever the last two, we will realize to that extent the first, namely, the protection of society.

We cannot measure all criminals by the same standard. Neither are the demands of society met by the same treatment in all cases. All criminals are different personalities, and scientific handling demands that they be given individual treatment.

RELIGION UNDERGOING CHANGE.

By CHARLES FRANCIS POTTER, Humanist.

Many of those who deplore the present persecution of religion alleged to exist in Russia do not seem to be aware of the fact that the anti-God agitation in that country is only one part of a world-wide revolution in religion. In the Philippines many people have left their former faith—Roman Catholicism—and have formed a new independent church which has adopted a faith similar to Unitarianism. This independent Philippine church already has a membership of 2,000,000 persons.

In Czechoslovakia there has been a similar movement of large proportions, and President Masaryk is accused by his enemies of being a Humanist. In Japan and in south India similar movements are starting, while Mohammedanism now is being rent by a great religious division. A leader of the reform movement in Islam recently told me that the religious reformation in Mohammedan countries is jumping over the step of Protestantism and is leaping from the authoritarian old Islamic religion straight into Humanism.

Religion is not disappearing; it is merely changing form to fit the new age. Monarchic religion is passing; democratic religion is coming.

WORLD SWAYED BY EMOTIONS

By RT. REV. FRANK E. WILSON, War Chaplain.

We hear a lot today about modern civilization being founded on merciless selfishness. My own experience tells me such is not true. We think we are hard, but as a matter of fact we are painfully soft. Popular magazines are pouring forth sentimental mush because it is what the public wants.

The moving pictures present prolonged appeals to your most watery emotions. The air is filled with speeches consisting of flowery rhetoric which doesn't attempt to say anything but only to make you feel good.

Public sentiment vaporizes over anything that touches its softer sensibilities. One of the scandals of our day is the way juries render verdicts in accord with their emotions rather than the dictates of justice.

I would guarantee that if all the newspapers of Chicago collaborated in presenting some wholly unworthy cause embroidered with quantities of sob-stories the public would forsake its judgment and pour in thousands of dollars for something which ought never to be done. Our great danger lies not in a settled spirit of cold indifference, but in unreliable outbursts of emotional insincerity.

CHURCH'S REPLY TO SOVIETS

By DR. J. W. G. WARD (Congregationalist), Detroit.

The day of many deities has not passed, but many strange schemes of salvation are propounded, making the fate of the human soul a matter of doubt. Christianity remains inviolate because it has worked out practically in the tests applied by human life.

The minds of men are still dominated by various beliefs, all of which claim some veneration, but Christianity has stood the test of generations. God has not failed those who trust, obey and honor him. It is His providential care and unfailing purpose which makes life worth living.

In Russia the government has attacked Christianity and seeks to spread her theories beyond her own borders. The corrective lies not in public denunciation so much as in private living. By a firmer loyalty to, and active part in the Christian church, we can show that he who lays hands on this threatens what we hold most sacred and shall not go unchallenged.

PLAN FOR ALUMNI "EDUCATION"

By DR. W. M. LEWIS, President Lafayette College.

Within ten years the principal colleges and universities of this country will have established residence halls for the education of alumni.

A college degree no longer signifies that a man is educated. In the rapidly changing whirl of modern life and ideas any graduate out of the college more than four years begins to lose touch with new discoveries, ideas and formations.

The only way that colleges can meet this condition is to establish residences for alumni on the campus, where graduates and postgraduates can come at any time for further study and training. This already has been done at Lafayette college where such a hall has been established, which alumni are now using for varying periods each year.

Pointing an Appeal

Bishop Lawrence Mott, in the course of an eloquent appeal for funds, told a story at a banquet in Tulsa.

"A minister," he said, "consented to preach during his vacation in the country at an Episcopal church. When he arrived at the church on Sunday morning, the sexton welcomed him and said:

"Do you wish to wear a surplice, sir?"

"Surplice?" said the minister. "Why, man, I'm a Methodist. What do I know about surplices? All I know about is deficits."

Shocked the Waitress

The American colony at Istanbul, Turkey, is chuckling over the linguistic mishap of an elderly American woman missionary, who after long years in Turkey, visited the United States. Lunching in a sedate New York tearoom, the missionary called a waitress and tipping her glass of lemonade, said: "Please bring me some booze." The waitress stared, but the dignified old lady repeated her order unflinching. Unwittingly she was using the Turkish word for "ice."

Mr. Sweet's Letter

On page 1, will be found a letter from Assistant Manager A. E. Sweet of the Southern Pacific Company, concerning the proposed reservoir, or the Bonito Dam which the company is preparing to build to store waters, a great amount of which have heretofore been going to waste in the crevices and on the lower lands.

The letter is a straightforward statement of facts. In answer to some objections that have been offered by Roswell neighbors, to the effect that the dam would cut off the flow that supplies the water in the Pecos Valley. To this claim, Mr. Sweet answers by proving that the dam, instead of jeopardizing the interests of any locality, will be a boom to all the surrounding territory.

Regardless of what some may think, the Southern Pacific has always been our best friend and in times past, when funds were needed for different purposes, it came to our assistance without being requested to do so and many times, paid its taxes long before the same became due in order to assist us in times of need.

In the case of the reservoir, as in other things of interest to us, the company seeks to be of benefit not only to this particular locality, but to the entire section, which includes both Lincoln and Chavez counties. We hope none will fail to read Mr. Sweet's article, for he has made every point so plain that one may readily see the benefit the project will be to the two counties. Further comment is unnecessary and we again urge the people to read the article on page one.

Corona Repeats

The Town Team went to Corona Sunday and suffered their second defeat by a 14 to 7 score. The Spanish-American team repeat their challenge of last week to Corona, for a game here next Sunday or the following Sunday. The boys feel that with Frank Vega, A. Lopez and Candide Martinez, as pitchers, they can stop the Corona sluggers and avenge Carrizozo's defeats. The boys are practicing hard, will be ready to go when Corona makes its appearance.

Keeping Money at Home

The government estimates that 85 per cent of the money that is spent in a community for labor remains at home. Labor puts it at 87 1-2 per cent.

This means that for every dollar spent for carpenter work, plumbing, plastering, painting, etc., in Carrizozo 85 to 87 1-2 cents turns back into channels of trade in the community where the labor is performed, if the workman lives in the community.

Dangers Forgotten in Keen Desire for "Drag"

This may not be your idea of a big moment, but it sure was one big moment for me.

I was a first-class private in the Seventh Machine Gun battalion, Third division.

On June 15, 1918, we were ordered to take positions on Hill 204. At this point the lines were very close together; in fact we could hear the boches talking.

We were given strict orders not to smoke, for fear the enemy would locate our positions. Anyone disregarding these orders was very liable to be court martialed.

I was a runner at the time and was about all in for want of a smoke. Determined to get a few drags regardless of orders, I went into the shelter half, crawled under a blanket, and had just nicely got started to smoke when in strode Lieutenant Hose. "Who in h—l is smoking?" he bellowed. I knew I would be discovered anyway, and fearing the worst, I answered nervously, "Private Allan, sir."

He responded in a much lower voice, "For G—d's sake give me a drag—'m dying for a smoke!"—Stanley H. Allan in American Legion Monthly.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

Marble Vein Relocated

What promises to be an important event in Vermont marble fields is the discovery of a large deposit of pure white statuary marble in the quarries at Middlebury. Sixty years ago there was a small deposit of this stone worked in Middlebury and so famous did the stone become that nearly all the prominent sculptors of that day used the marble. After a time the vein was lost and after many efforts to find it again the owners of the quarry were obliged to give up the search.

Children Find Millions

Children playing hide-and-seek in an abandoned monastery in the Volga region of Russia discovered treasure chests containing gold, silver and jewelry to the value of several millions of rubles. Similar finds have been made in other parts of Russia, the treasure generally having been hidden and left by czars in their flight.

Tea Cart Great Help in Serving

A Wheeled Tray is a Step-Saver.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
We would all like to have houses built so that the arrangement of the kitchen and its relation to the rest of the house suited our particular way of working and ideas of convenience. Many of us, however, must get along with houses designed without much regard to step-saving. In owned homes the position of some of the larger kitchen equipment, and even of plumbing and lighting fixtures can be changed; but in rented houses, very little, apparently, can be done to reduce the walking necessary in a badly planned kitchen.

A medium-sized wheeled tray is a very practical aid in such cases. In homes where the dining room and kitchen do not connect directly or where the work centers are not arranged in the best order, it will save many steps. It can be used as a movable work table in the kitchen. Instead of carrying a few dishes and other articles at a time from one part of the kitchen to another, or from the kitchen to the dining room and back again, the wheeled trays can be loaded and pushed from one room to the other in one trip. It is especially helpful in a large family where many dishes must be handled.

A simple type of wheeled tray can be made at home by any man or boy handy with tools. Such a tray might be stained and waxed, or finished with enamel paint so it can be easily washed. All wheeled trays are equipped with a shelf at axle height which doubles the available surface. Noiseless swivel casters are generally used so the tray will move in any direction easily. The dimension of the tray should be such that it will pass readily through doorways and between various pieces of furniture in a room. A good size for the top is 16 by 20 inches.

The wheeled tray or "tea wagon," "tea cart" as it is variously called, is also a great help in serving afternoon tea, Sunday suppers in the living room, or party refreshments. The one shown in the illustration was photographed by the United States Department of Agriculture in a farm home in Massachusetts. It is intended to be brought into the living room as well as to serve a strictly utilitarian purpose between kitchen and dining room. It is made of wicker, with a movable glass tray for a top. In the stores one often finds tea wagons or wheeled trays of finely finished wood, and with drop sides which can be raised to extend the serving surface.

If the wheeled tray is set near the hostess or homemaker at the dinner table it can be used in place of a serving table or buffet. Vegetable dishes, extra plates and silver, and other accessories to the meal can be put on it to make more room on the dining table. A course can be changed without the homemaker's leaving the table, if the soiled dishes are stacked on the shelf of the tea wagon.

In the sick room, too, the wheeled tray has many uses as a bedside table.

Fairy Tale for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"I really don't know much about planet history," Harry said, "though I'm sure I did know that Venus was one."

"I just hadn't recognized the old girl—that was all, and I knew the Earth was one."

"Don't let it worry you about Venus," said his friend, Cosmo.

Harry didn't say anything, but he felt like saying that it wouldn't worry him at all!

"Venus has been called for morning and the evening star for almost as long as she has been known."

"I think I'd better brush you up on family information before you start visiting these planets—that is if you'd like to go to the planets first!"

"I would," agreed Harry, very heartily. "I'd like to go wherever I could." He had just discovered some nuts. He was very fond of nuts.

"Three cheers!" shouted Cosmo. Harry wondered where he had heard that expression.

"You see I know how it is," Cosmo explained, "you forget about people you've not seen or heard of in a long time. The Sun, you remember, your very own Sun is a star, and together with the planets make up your grand solar system—and the moons you know are those which travel around some of these planets."

"Moons?" shouted Harry. "You mean moon?"

"I don't at all," laughed Cosmo. "I mean moons."

"But there's only one."

"Only one? Hush! Don't let Jupiter or Saturn hear you say that."

"Why?"

"Because there are twenty-seven moons and you'll hear about them when you visit some of their planets."

"I always thought there was only one moon. I guess," Harry added, as though this thought was a great comfort, "that there are lots of people, too, who think there is only one."

"You can tell them they're wrong."

"Are you sure I won't be fooling them?"

"Perfectly sure. Now the names of the planets, giving them in the usual order of their distance from the Sun are Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, the Asteroids (they're the baby planets and we won't have time for them), Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune."

"The old Babylonian priests discovered the planets which we know as thoughts at home, (and home is everywhere for me) wandering through the sky."

"But you said they always followed the same path."

"True. Still they get plenty of exercise and plenty of wandering as they travel along. You never wander off the earth and yet you probably do a good deal of exercising and walking and exploring."

"But now you must get started," Cosmo signalled to the plot and they increased their speed again, the rockets shooting off behind them as they sped through the sky. "I'll come back for you. Ah, we've landed on Mercury."

A Good Recipe for Stuffing Peppers

Almost everybody has a favorite recipe for stuffing peppers. The filling generally consists of rice or bread crumbs or macaroni—a starchy material—flavored with chopped onion, butter, salt, pepper, sometimes meat or chicken, and almost anything else the cook decides to put in or has left over. The recipe for stuffed peppers below is from the bureau of home economics, and has been tested for excellence of flavor.

- 6 green peppers
- 2 cups flaky cooked rice or bread crumbs
- 2 tbs. butter or oil or fat
- 2 cups ground cooked meat
- 1 small onion, chopped fine
- 1/2 tsp. salt, or to taste
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup chili sauce, catsup, or meat gravy
- 1/2 cup buttered crumbs

Cut off the stem ends of the peppers, remove the seeds, boil the pepper shells for 5 minutes in lightly salted water, and drain. Stuff the peppers with a mixture made from the other ingredients, cover with the buttered crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes, or until the peppers are tender and the crumbs are brown.

Look at your heels. Just as soon as they begin to wear off, have them renewed with a new leather or rubber heel. The feet are one of the most important parts of our body and they are the most neglected.

Many women ruin their feet by wearing soft felt slippers often without heels. The feet become tender and a shoe then becomes a torture. Have the feet examined by some one who understands them; they are just as important to be looked after as the teeth. After your feet have been examined and the trouble known, buy your shoes to correct the trouble.

Too short a shoe on young, growing feet will ruin them for life. The child's shoe should be carefully chosen for support and fit. With comfort in the clothing, which is now the prevailing style, let us look to our shoes and be as sensible in the choice of them.

Filling for Sandwiches

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Sandwiches that are filling enough for a good meal are the kind to put up for an active youngster or a picnic party that will have a day of fishing or hiking.

Lamb Sandwich.—Chop cold roast lamb fine, season with salt, pepper and tomato catsup. Add to this mayonnaise dressing to which chopped olives have been mixed and spread on buttered bread.

Elite Sandwich.—Take three-fourths of a cupful each of finely minced cold lamb and celery, add one tablespoonful of minced mustard pickle, two tablespoonfuls of shredded watercress, salt and paprika and a pinch of curry. Use one rounding tablespoonful of this mixture for each sandwich and a crisp leaf of lettuce dipped into french dressing. Spread on whole wheat bread buttered.

Lamb and Mint Sandwich.—Lay thin slices of roast of lamb between slices of buttered bread. On the lamb lay a sprig of mint which has been washed and dried between cloths and slightly crushed.

Lamb and Mint.—Take one-half cupful of chopped lamb, one and one-half tablespoonfuls cooked green peas, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of sliced celery, mayonnaise, one teaspoonful of chopped mint. Mix and use on split, buttered, dinner rolls.

Lamb and Jelly Sandwich.—Split rolls and spread with currant jelly with mint. Lay on a thin slice of roast lamb and cover with a buttered top of the roll. To the currant jelly, beat until smooth, add the grated rind of an orange, salt, and two tablespoonfuls of finely minced mint.

Mutton Sandwich.—To one cupful of chopped mutton add two tablespoonfuls or more of chopped cucumber pickle, season to taste. Mix with a boiled salad dressing and spread on the sandwich bread. Horseradish instead of pickle may be used for variation.

Lamb and Pepper Sandwich.—To half a cupful of minced lamb add one tablespoonful of finely chopped green pepper. Mix with mayonnaise or boiled dressing to spread.

Caution: Use of too many utensils in preparing food, causes waste, as each dish used carries off some of the materials. Cooking food in the same dish it is to be served from saves waste and time, which the present-day housewife finds so valuable.

There are so many things for housekeepers who enjoy their work and like to talk about it, and so many things that may be passed on to other housewives, that a few thoughts are included here.

We are dressing in so much more sensible way as to clothes, cutting out the hot sleeves which hamper us in our work, cutting out the collars on our dresses, down in the back to let the sun and air get at our necks, going corsetless whenever possible, so that the woman of today really is enjoying comfort in her clothing. But how about her shoes? To wear an overturned heel or a shoe out of plumb is causing untold misery for the worker who stands so many hours upon her feet. Study your feet, get an arch-supported shoe, even if you have to pay extra in price, it pays in comfort.

Box Pleats One Favored Fashion

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Study well the skirt pictured, which with its jacket of self fabric and a frilly blouse completes a most regular costume. You will discover that it is somewhat unusual. Box-pleated! That's it—later than side pleats so fashionists declare.

Which means that to be up-to-the-minute in modishness you will be losing no time in acquiring one of the new-type pleated skirts. Take note, if you please, that the box pleats graduate from narrow at the top to wider at the hemline. Pleaters tell us that the way to prepare for these widening pleats is to cut the material somewhat circular, not, however, a complete circle as for the sunburst types. You'll love a skirt like this in the illustration, which, as you see, has a fitted yoke buttoning at the side, to which the flaring pleated portion is seamed.

Of course every style-minded woman will be wanting a frilly blouse to wear with this skirt. Make it of crepe, satin or shantung, sheer wool challis, pastel-colored handkerchief or dainty batiste as you will, and, providing it has a finely pleated jabot frill, it will answer to fashion's latest call.

Speaking of pleated skirts, the designer cut from Paris for the evening gown in the sunburst pleated skirt made of filmy chiffon. Attached to a bodice top, its enormously full hemline floats and flutters about the ankles, almost touching the floor, so long is the skirt.

Now that so many unusual and fanciful forms of pleating are being exploited by the mode, it is well worth one's time and effort to visit one's nearest pleater for the purpose of informing one's self on the multitudinous ways of pleats this season.

It is quite a revelation, this diversity given to pleats, such as for instance, double-pleating box pleats and their stitching them flat part of the way so that they will flare and flare at the hemline to the utmost satisfaction of the wearer. Combination pleats are especially smart, worked so that they form a delightful patterning. Their intricate handling challenging the admiration of all who behold. When placing an order for pleating the skirt, why not have an extra amount pleated for a matching cape? The pleated skirt plus the pleated cape either of plain or printed fabric makes a charming ensemble to wear with the summer blouse.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. ## Worms Multiply Fast in Cereals

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As warm weather approaches it sometimes happens that weevils or worms appear in cereals or flour, in spite of their having been bought in tight packages or kept in tin or glass containers. According to the bureau of entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture, this may be because some almost invisible eggs were in the cereal or flour in the warehouse or factory before it was sealed, or because an infestation has occurred from some nearby source—perhaps staples bought loose and placed in the pantry. Whatever the cause, the cereals are rendered unfit for food when the higher temperatures cause insects to develop faster.

It is very troublesome to the housewife to have these pests gain a foothold among the supplies. They multiply rapidly where conditions are favorable, and may even necessitate fumigating the entire kitchen or pantry. Food once infested should be promptly destroyed and any infested containers thoroughly scalded and sunned. All cereals should be bought in very small quantities in warm weather, so that in case of infestation there is but little waste. Glass mason jars make good storage places if kept closed, or pound coffee tins or tin sets of light-tinned tin often sold for the pantry.

If the house is shut up at any time during the summer while the family goes away for a vacation, all remnants of cereals should be given away or thrown out to prevent all possibility of infestation by weevils.

Have Work Table Correct Height

Raising or lowering the height of the kitchen work table may be an important factor in conserving energy. A table is the correct height when a woman can stand near it and place her hands on top of it without stooping or bending. Casters or blocks of wood may be used to increase a table's height.

TIPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Over fatigue or unhappiness at meal time may be the cause of children's loss of appetite.

Finely chopped raw cabbage, celery, lettuce, or carrots seasoned with a little salt and put between thin, buttered slices of whole wheat bread make delicious and nourishing sandwiches for the small child.

Instead of giving the small child rich sweet food which may cause digestive upsets on birthdays or other special occasions, dress up his usual, simple, wholesome food and serve it at his regular meal time.
