

CORONA NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Ual Service and Miss Eva Rose were Corona visitors Monday.

Melvin Franks and family were in town from their vacation the first of the week. Mr. Franks reports good rains. They were accompanied by Virginia Kersey, who had been spending a few days with Ethel and Gene Franks.

Mrs. P. H. Ketter and daughter Virginia of Mesa, Arizona, who have been visiting Mrs. Ketter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Clements, left Wednesday for Cloddesett to visit Mrs. R. I. Boone and from there they expect to go to Roswell for a short stay with their grandmother, Mrs. S. J. Clements.

Marion Jolly was a Carrizozo business visitor on Monday.

Recent Changes

During the past week, Mrs. Elizabeth Gallacher has assumed management of her recent purchase, the Wetmore Apartments, and Mrs. B. D. Garner of Pico has leased the Garrard Hotel and will occupy and manage the same, we understand.

To the Parents of All School Children

As the time for the opening of school approaches, the mother of the family begins to consider whether her children are ready for the opening of school.

She gives much consideration to his clothes and books. How many give any thought to the child's physical fitness for another year of school?

There is one point that this department wishes to call to the attention of all parents and that is the following Public Health Law—"It shall be unlawful for any child to attend school, or for any teacher to allow such child within the schoolhouse unless so vaccinated against smallpox."

Will you not give us your cooperation by seeing that your part of the above law is carried out before the opening of school?

Preachers, Hogs and Blackberries

Several years ago in the state of Missouri, where Rev. Lawson, now pastor of the local Methodist church, resided, the locality near the town in which he lived abounded with blackberries and on this particular day, the pastor strolled to the rural district and the berries being so plentiful, he soon succeeded in filling two buckets with the juicy fruit. One of the buckets being scantily filled and on his way to his car, he noticed a large bush heavily laden with choice berries, so he proceeded to heap up the lesser filled vessel from the plentiful supply on the nearby cluster.

Wishing to get the best the bush afforded, he walked around it, gathered a sufficient amount, but on his return to the buckets he found two hogs busily engaged devouring the results of his labors.

On being questioned as to what he did, he said: "I drove the wind-splitters away, stood there until my mouth became so full that where I spit, the grass afterwards refused to grow." Moral: He who lives off the labors of others, without contributing anything to the result, is a beggarman and a thief.

ANCHO NOTES

Among those who attended the "patrons' dance" at Jicarilla last Saturday night, were: Miss J. Pruitt, G. P. Pruitt, Johnnie Weatherbee, J. E. Frame, L. L. Drake and Ella families, Mrs. Frances Pruitt, Oddy Grant, Don Graham, and Fannie Graham.

Miss Lucyle Cooper is a guest of the Misses Maude and Mary Piobett Warden this week.

Elvin Harkey returned from Pecos where he has been receiving S. P. Agent Holmes for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Penix of Corona spent Sunday with the Frame families.

A revival is being held this week at the schoolhouse by Reverends Hall and Jarvis.

Misses Lucille and Lila Lee Drake had as their guest for a few days Miss June Caldwell.

Mrs. Walter Silvers and daughter Sally came down from Duran for a brief visit last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Frame and Billy attended the ball game and picture show at Carrizozo last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lemasters were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Peters Sunday.

Attorney and Mrs. John Hall, daughter Jeanne of Carrizozo and Grace Thurston of Gallup were week-end guests of the J. E. Hall family.

Some improvements are being made at the schoolhouse, such as lavatories being installed, etc. There is talk of a school bus from Jicarilla, which will increase the Ancho school to four teachers.

The Woman's Club held a very enthusiastic meeting last week at the home of Mrs. T. J. Straley. A profusion of garden flowers decorated the living room. The meeting was opened with a song, led by Mmes. A. W. Drake and J. E. Frame, president and secretary, respectively. Roll call was responded to by, "What is my worse fault?" Plans were made to complete the quilt which will be sold in the near future.

Following the business session bridge was played. High score was made by Mrs. S. J. Pruitt and low score by Mrs. Bryan Hightower. Fruit salad was served with sandwich loaf and punch. Mrs. Geo. Straley and Miss June Caldwell assisted Mrs. Straley in entertaining. The meeting was made especially delightful by the presence of Mrs. J. M. Frame, who is convalescing at her home during the summer after a long absence in California. Mrs. Frame is a charter member, of which fact the club is justly proud and it was her first time to meet with us. She was presented with a lovely gift by the hostess.

Two other convalescent members are Mrs. Belknap, who recently returned from the S. P. Hospital at San Francisco and Mrs. Kile, who is home from El Paso after a six months' absence. Next meeting will be with Mrs. A. W. Drake on Wednesday, August 10.

Id of Him

Carrizozo 5; Tularosa 4

In one of the best games of the season last Sunday at the local park, Carrizozo triumphed over the strong Tularosa team by the above mentioned score.

Two new faces made their appearance Sunday in Carrizozo's line-up—Hanna of Nogal, who started on the hilltop for the locals, but had to give way to Pat Dolan when it was evident that he began to weaken and disaster would befall him. Pat, as usual, took things easy and was never much in danger. Jones, the other new acquisition, covered the hot corner and that boy did handle himself in mighty neat style both afield and at bat.

Manny Chavez saved the day for Carrizozo when he raced all over the field and garnered in some difficult running catches.

A big crowd turned out for this game and aside from the usual Bronx cheers every now and then in a game, the crowd seemed to enjoy every play.

Umpires were: L. A. Jolly, home plate; Joe Chavez, bases.

The team plays Hondo at Hondo next Sunday and Fort Stanton here on the following Sunday, August 14.

East-Siders Go to Alamogordo Sunday

As announced in last week's paper, Manager St. John of the east-side baseball team negotiated for a game here next Sunday with the Alamo White Sox (colored team), but it turned out that they were already scheduled to play Tularosa and had announcements out for the game. Tularosa's team has disbanded since and Carrizozo was called on to substitute for them.

Alamo will give our boys a return game here on Sunday, August 21, which date will be open in Carrizozo.

The following is the tentative line-up: St. John, c; Tony Perez, p-as; Bacs, 1b; A. Lopez, 2b-p; J. Chavez, 3b-as; 'Chino' Mirelez, ss-2b; Tino Lopez, rf; A. Sanchez, cf; E. Lopez, lf; F. Mirelez, F. Vega, subs.—By Fan.

Dance Fans, Follow--

"THE REVELERS" to White Oaks tomorrow night, August 6, and dance to your heart's content to the tunes of their fine, jazzy music. You'll be assured of lots of fun and frolic. So tell your friends, prepare yourselves and G-O-M-E!!!

Mrs. J. B. French spent last Sunday in El Paso with Mrs. Elizabeth Gamlin, who will return the latter part of this week, we understand.

Straws That Show the Wind

Machinery in the eastern states that has long been idle, is whirring again. During the past week, over 40,000 men have been put to work after long periods of idleness. A careful survey by the United Press revealed a new spirit of hope in the midst of the greatest depression the world has ever known.

The above amount of jobs is of course, only what we call, "a drop in the bucket." But it shows a tendency toward the betterment of things in general along industrial lines. In sympathy with this improvement, the stock market is moving upward making a new light in the gloom of despond.

Commodity prices which are always regarded as a barometer of the times, shows a hopeful increase, pouring new money into the empty pockets of the farmers and spurring the demand for goods. For the past week, the most marked improvement was shown in the textile and manufacturing sections of the east and in fact business has taken a strong start all along the line except in the far west and along the Pacific slope.

According to the opinions of our experts in the study of economic conditions, the above conditions are strong, hopeful signs that a return to prosperity is on its way. The improvement along the lines of industry has had a direct good result in the stock and commodity markets which has added millions to the stock values of American industries. A sharp rise in the price of livestock and wheat has added much worth to the farm and stock-raising portion of the people.

Mayor McQuillen on Vacation

Mayor G. T. McQuillen left yesterday morning for Los Angeles where he will enjoy his vacation with his daughters, Mercedes A. R. Turner, R. W. Emery and old Carrizozo friends and former neighbors. He will also witness the Olympics while in the "Angel City."

The Mayor will return August 23, which will cause him to miss the big dance to be given on the 20th by the Jericho Club. This will be the only thing the Mayor will have to regret. He left provided with a list of his many old friends in Los Angeles, so that he might not miss a single one. The Mayor is entitled to a good vacation and we hope he enjoys himself, which he generally does.

Mrs. Ernest Dingwall spent the week-end with friends at Tucuman.

LOCAL MENTION

Wm. and Harry Gallacher were in from the Indian Tank and the Chupadero ranches Tuesday of this week. The boys both attending the regular meeting of the local I. O. O. F. lodge. They are strictly live-wires in every sense of the word; Harry is the chairman of the 'Jericho Club' who will give another dance on Saturday night, August 20. You are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Douglas of Los Angeles, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wells at their home near White Oaks, left for home last week, accompanied by Mrs. Will T. Coe of Tularosa, who will see the Olympic games and visit with her sister's family for a short while.

Mrs. D. J. Mueller, grandmother of Marshall Beck, came in the latter part of last week from St. Louis and will spend the remainder of the summer with the J. M. Beck family. She is delighted with this part of the state, as it furnishes a great relief from the sultry and crowded conditions of the large cities.

Geo. Elmgren and Gus Sundberg of Fort Stanton were Carrizozo visitors this Tuesday. They visited the old mining town of White Oaks and George remaining over to attend the regular meeting of the local I. O. O. F. lodge held on that night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Meyer and little son Jack of Corona, who are now in Wichita, Kans., will return the latter part of this week or the first of next. Mrs. Meyer is a sister to the Groce brothers, and will again teach in the Corona schools.

Mrs. F. A. English, sons Don, Fred and daughter Glenneth and Mrs. English's mother, Mrs. S. Burleson, were week end visitors at Las Cruces.

A. P. Jones, sons Curly and Everett and Mr. Jones' mother attended the Rodeo at Santa Rosa the latter part of last week, and on the last day, Sunday, Curly won the broncho race. They returned Monday, accompanied by Mr. Jones' two daughters who reside at Santa Rosa and who will visit the family here for a short while.

Mrs. J. M. Beck entertained the Wednesday Night Contract Bridge Club at her home Wednesday evening. Mrs. Harry A. Miller won high score and the second fell to Mrs. Ernest Dingwall.

Mrs. M. C. Reilly, mother of Mrs. Wm. McPherson, is visiting at the home of her daughter and will remain until the hot period is over before returning home.

The Misses Willie Hendricks, of Fabens, Texas, and Maxine Cantrell of Anthony, N. M., were guests of Mrs. J. M. Beck Wednesday, while on their return trip from Albuquerque where they had been visiting friends for a short time. They left for their homes Wednesday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Beck and daughter Iris of Hayti, South Dakota, are expected to arrive here today or tomorrow for a visit with Mrs. Beck's brother, B. A. Dudrey and family.

LYRIC THEATRE

R. A. Walker, Owner

Thursday-Friday-Saturday—"Strictly Dishonorable," "Buffalo Bill" and "Wins Out." Special Added Attraction for these three nights—Daredevil Raed will present two big high-class vaudeville acts. Change of vaudeville every night. Don't fail to see the famous Hippodrome Clown—"Thrills & Spills."

Sunday - Monday - Tuesday—Pat O'Brien and Mae Clarke in "The Final Edition." "Hello, Napoleon" and "Slide, B a b e, Slide!"

Grand Master of A.F. & A.M. Will Visit Carrizozo

Thomas J. Hall, Most Worshipful Grand Master of the New Mexico Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, will pay his official visit to Carrizozo Lodge No. 41 at the next regular communication on Saturday night, August 13, at Masonic Temple. Full particulars next week.

Business Men's Club

The Carrizozo Business Men's Club met at the usual six o'clock dinner at the Carrizozo Eating House Wednesday evening. After the business session, Raymond Price sang two baritone solos, the first being "My Task," and responding to an enthusiastic encore, he sang, "For You," in both of which he was ably assisted by Miss Margaret Magruder, voice culturist, at the piano. Miss Magruder has gained much merited praise during her brief stay in Carrizozo.

The Carrizozo Hardware Company, not to be left out in the cold by the timely improvements around town, has recently installed a device that plays phonograph or radio 'music' in the ceiling over the front entrance. Pretty clever, sez we.

Roland Cavanaugh, nephew of Judge and Mrs. A. H. Harvey, who had been enjoying a visit of several weeks with his aunt and uncle, left last Saturday for his home in Rocky Ford, Colo.

D. L. Groce came down from his ranch at the foot of the Gallinas Mountains yesterday, after spending a week looking over range and stock conditions. Yesterday morning, his son, Prof. and Mrs. D. U. Groce went to the ranch to spend several days on a like mission of inspection.

Attorney John E. Hall, Mrs. Hall, daughter Jeanne and Miss Grace Thurston, sister to Mrs. Hall, who has been visiting at her sister's home this week, will leave Sunday morning for Gallup for a visit with Mrs. Hall's parents and will return home so that the attorney may be at his desk in his office on Saturday, August 13.

E. B. Dixon of Midland, Tex., was a guest at the Murphy & White ranch near White Oaks for a few days this week after which he left for Corona on a business trip. Mr. Dixon is a prominent stockman in his section of Texas and has sold much valuable range stock in these parts in late years.

WORLD'S GOLD

Weighing Gold Bars in a South African Refinery.

(Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.)

DISCOVERY of a gold belt more than 100 miles long and from three to ten miles wide in northern Quebec, Canada, and the recovery of the golden treasure of the ill-fated steamship Egypt which lies on the floor of the Atlantic off Brest, France, have recently brought the precious yellow metal into the world news.

Hardly a day passes, however, without gold creeping into the headlines. One day a great nation drops the gold standard. On another day another nation adds steadily to its stock of gold; on another a new mine is discovered somewhere; on another, unusually large shipments of gold cross the Atlantic, the Pacific or the Indian ocean.

Despite a universal interest in the gold, the average man probably has hazy ideas of the actual amounts of gold involved in world stocks, annual production, and the incessant shipments back and forth between countries. To a considerable extent this is owing to the extremely small unit—the "fine ounce"—by which the weight of gold is measured.

It will help visualize the amounts of gold that figure in the world's news, if we construct in imagination a "super dollar" of gold worth one hundred million dollars. This super dollar will be a disk one foot thick and just a tiny fraction less than 18 1/2 feet in diameter. It will thus retain, roughly, the shape and proportion of the ordinary gold dollar, will contain a trifle more than 275 1/2 cubic feet of gold, and will weigh a little less than 160 tons.

Gold production statistics are not available for the period covered by the history of civilization, nor even for the Christian era. But we do have fairly accurate estimates of the total amount of gold mined in all parts of the earth since the discovery of America by Columbus. Let us imagine all this gold brought together today at one spot and minted into our super dollars. With the aid of a huge crane we can have these huge yellow "chips" piled one on top of another to see how high the world's "stack" will reach. When 224 have been put in place the supply of full "dollars" will have been exhausted. To bring the pile up to date, we will have to hold to the top as a capstone, a half of one of our disks, shaped like half a pie, and worth only $50,000,000.

World's Gold in a Column.
Here, then, in a sparkling column 18 1/2 feet in diameter and more than 224 feet high, would rest all the gold that has been gleaned by myriads of men in 440 years of toil. The column would be about as high as a 20 story office building, and would be worth approximately $22,450,000,000. During the past five years, a "super dollar" has been added to this world pile approximately every three months—about $400,000,000 worth of gold each year.

But as soon as we have built up our imaginary stack, we must begin pulling it down if we would represent the current gold situation. For although almost twenty-two and a half billion dollars worth of gold has been produced from 1492 to 1932, this is not the amount "in sight" in the world today. Nearly half the precious metal represented by our imaginary stack has been lost, hidden away, or used up in industry, the making of jewelry, the gilding of ornaments, and the like. The total known stock of gold money and gold bars in the world at the end of 1931 was worth approximately eleven and a half billion dollars. We must therefore discard something like the upper half of our imaginary stack of gold, leaving only 115 of the huge disks in place. This 115 foot tower of precious metal, that we have built in fancy, represents the monetary gold of the world. On it are based all monetary systems in so far as they depend on gold.

But again we must alter our imaginary golden tower. At no time, of course, has all the world's monetary gold been assembled in one country. The greatest concentration within the borders of one nation occurred in September, 1831, when the amount of gold coin and gold bars in bars in the United States slightly exceeded five billion dollars in value. In the United States, then, there could have been built last autumn the greatest tower of gold that it has ever been possible to construct of the holdings of a single nation—a stack of 50 of our gigantic hundred-million-dollar "chips." At the same time France could have piled up 26 of the great disks.

From France's sizable 25 foot cylinder of gold, the national "tower" of precious metal fell to very modest piles. Great Britain, in September, 1831, could have built a stack little more than six feet high; she could muster gold enough for only a little more than six of the super dollars; Spain and Japan, a little more than four; Belgium, three and a half; Germany, Switzerland, and the Soviet Union, three; Italy, the Netherlands, and Argentina, less than three; India less than two; and Canada, less than one. A striking fact in regard to the gold holdings of countries is that South Africa, which in the last few centuries has produced an amount of gold equal to the unprecedented pile possessed by the United States last autumn, held at that time less than enough monetary gold to construct one half of one of the hundred million dollar disks.

Gold Supply Changes.
To get a vivid idea of the changes in the gold supply of the United States, let us imagine all the gold movements of 1931, and half of 1932, affecting the United States to be concentrated around this country's "gold tower." At the beginning of 1931, forty-five full super dollars would have been piled one on the other, while on top would have been the forty-sixth golden disk with only a tiny wedge missing. Gradually, net gold importations would have built the pile higher. Before the middle of January the forty-sixth disk would have been complete; by the end of March there would have been 47; by late June, 49 and by mid-September, the tower's peak would have been reached, with 50 of the super dollars in place.

After the middle of September, one of the heaviest gold exportation periods ever experienced in the United States set in. An observer at the mythical tower of gold would have witnessed feverish activity in removing the huge disks. In a little over a month he would have seen more than seven of the mammoth gold units lowered from the tower and carted away for shipment overseas. By the end of October only 42 1/2 of the super dollars would have remained. Then gold would have begun to arrive again at the tower's base, from imports, and the work of building would have been resumed. By the end of 1931, more than 1 1/3 of the heavy disks would have been added to the tower, bringing it to a height of a little over 44 feet.

As a final operation of the year we can imagine there being hoisted into place a segment equal to about a third of a super dollar—worth $33,000,000—representing the gold produced within the borders of the United States during the year, less the new gold made into jewelry and used in other industries and arts. The country's tower, then, after its marked fluctuations, would have contained at the end of the year, 44 1/3 of our super dollars—roughly one and a quarter less than when the year started.

Our Holding Varies.
Since the beginning of 1932, five and a half more of the "super dollars" have left the United States. During the latter part of June the United States' gold stock had been reduced to 39 of the 100 million dollar units. At the same time Great Britain possessed less than five, and France's pile had grown to 31.
During the past 18 years the column that could have been built with the stock of gold in the United States at any one time, has arisen and fallen like the mercury column of a barometer. But in the long run it has grown higher. At the outbreak of the World War in 1914 it would have contained approximately 15 of the 100,000,000 dollar disks; at the close of the war, 29. In 1920 it would have been down to 27; in 1924, up to 43. Back to 40 in 1928, it would have sprung up to 45 in 1930 and to 50 in 1931. The level at which it now rests is well below the peak of 50, but it is much higher than at any time in the country's history, except during the last eight years.

Johannesburg, South Africa, is called "The City of Gold" because it is situated in the great South African gold producing region; was born of the greatest gold discovery known to the modern world, and rose to the stature of a city in the space of a few years, practically "on the diggings." It is almost on the crest of "The Rand," the 50 mile ridge of gold-bearing conglomerate from which the world's greatest stream of gold has flowed since 1886 when production passed that of all North America.

No. 11. More About the Forcing Take-Out

THE forcing take-out fills a more imperative need than any other forcing bid in the approach-forcing system: Ely Culbertson, its originator, places it far ahead of his forcing two-bid in importance, and there can be no question that use for it occurs much more frequently than for the original two-bid. How many times when your partner has opened the bid, say with one heart, have you held a hand somewhat like the following:

S: A, Q, J, 4, 2 H: K, 10
D: Q, 10, 7, 6 C: A, 8

Certainly there is a game here, possibly a slam. But should the bid be played in spades, hearts, diamonds or no trump? You can only get the answer by gaining further knowledge of your partner's distribution. And how can you be sure of getting this further information? Simply by bidding two spades, which compels your partner to tell you more about his hand. (Unless the take-out is bid to an advanced score and is sufficient for game).

Here are examples of some sound forcing take-outs of an original bid of one diamond:

S-A K 6 5 3 S-K 10 8 8
H-K Q 8 4 H-A K Q
D-4 8 D-J
C-3 C-K J 6 4 3
(Two spades) (Three clubs)

S-A K Q J 10 9 S-A K Q 8 7
H-A K H-A K
D-9 2 D-9 2
C-7 6 C-7 6
(Two spades)

S-7 6 S-A Q 8 5 3
H-K Q 7 6 4 H-A K 8 7 4
D-J 10 9 8 D-none
C-A K C-8 8 6
(Two hearts) (Two spades)

S-8 S-8
H-A K H-A K
D-2 D-2
C-K Q J 8 6 5 4 3
(Three clubs)

Even if there is an opposing bid, a jump bid in a new suit is forcing.

When you hold strong support for your partner's suit bid with 8 or more honor-tricks, it is advisable to report to a forcing take-out in another biddable suit and give your raise on a later round. In this way only can you convey to him the quality of your raise, telling him that it is founded not alone on distributional values, but on honor-tricks as well.

A take-out, even when it is forcing, can never be made on an un-biddable suit. It should usually show at least a five card suit, but may occasionally be made on a four-card suit.

By the exchange of the exact information revealed in a forcing take-out it is often possible for a partnership to bid and score a slam which might otherwise have been missed. Take the following hand for example:

NORTH
S-6
H-A 10 6 4 2
D-Q 2
C-A K 7 5 2

WEST EAST
S-A 10 8 7 6 S-Q 4 3 2
H-7 5 3 H-Q J 9
D-7 6 5 D-J 10 8 4
C-8 5 C-3

SOUTH WEST NORTH EAST
S-K J 9 Pass 2 Hearts Pass
H-K 8 Pass 5 Clubs Pass
D-A K 6 Pass Pass Pass
C-Q J 10 4 Pass Pass Pass

Here South has opened with one club and West has passed. If North immediately jumps to five clubs, South should pass, as he has no means of knowing whether North's raise is based on distributional or honor strength, and so cannot discount enough of the opponent's honor-tricks for a safe slam bid. If, however, the hand is correctly bid by both partners, the slam cannot be missed. The correct bidding is:

Counting his honor-tricks in conjunction with the 3 shown by his partner's forcing take-out, South can readily see that his partnership is in the slam zone with 7 honor-tricks. And knowing that North also has powerful trump support and favorable distribution, shown by his high raise, South is practically compelled to bid for the slam.

More often than not, however, the forcing take-out of a suit bid indicates lack of support for the suit, and under no circumstances can the original bidder assume trump support or rebid his suit without about 4 sure trump tricks.

Tell-Tale Invention
"Please arrest me" is in effect, the message conveyed by a new German invention designed to aid the police in capturing "hit-and-run" automobile drivers. The moment a car hits a person or another vehicle, the device, located under the chassis, is said to raise a white plate with a winking red light above the license plate, and also automatically to disconnect and lock the speedometer, thus showing the rate of speed at which the car was traveling at the time of the accident.

The invention, of course, is valueless unless laws compelling its universal use are passed and unless the key is kept by the police to prevent unscrupulous motorists from tampering with the tell-tale mechanism.

Electric Light Speeds Up "Activity" of Biddy
The modern chicken farm which hatches all of its chickens in incubators also uses electric light to encourage egg production, especially for the Easter season. This method has passed beyond the experimental stage and many large-scale chicken-raising establishments are now employing it with marked success.

lay an increased number of eggs in the course of a year.
The United States Department of Agriculture has long been studying the best kind of illumination for chicken houses, and is endeavoring to determine the right intensity of illumination.

From early November to the beginning of April the day's work of a hen is unduly shortened by lack of daylight. But when the days during that period are artificially lengthened by the use of electric light in the fowl houses, the hens stay awake, scratch about more, eat more food, and lay more eggs.

That is the whole theory, and it works out in practice. A very important part of its value lies in the fact that during the period from November to the end of March eggs usually cost the consumer more, and so bring a much better profit to the producer.

Too Smart
The late Julius Rosenwald, the Chicago philanthropist, said in an address in Rome before one of the 4,000 Rosenwald colored schools:
"Smartness is al right provided it is all right. Give me the straightforward smartness of John D. Rockefeller. I want none of the tricky smartness which resembles little Willie's."
"Did you eat your caramels?" Willie's mother asked him as they left the picture palace.
"Yes'm," said Willie.
"What did you do with all the sticky paper wrappings?"
"I put 'em, said Willie, 'in the coat pocket of the fat man on my left.'"

NOT ONLY WILLING TO SERVE YOU HE KNOWS HOW!

Willingness to serve doesn't come through training; ability does. So Conoco chooses as station salesmen men who want to serve... who like it... and trains them to be experts.
When a Conoco man fills your gas tank or supplies oil, he gives you exactly the amount you want. There's no splashing, no fuss.
He gauges the air in your tires accurately and supplies the proper pressure to each, including spares. He cleans your windshield spotlessly. He fills your radiator without splashing.

The Conoco man's information service is just as expert as these things he does with his hands. Ask him about roads, mileage, hotels, camps, sports, places to buy supplies. He is ready with accurate information on these and many other subjects. He keeps his station rest rooms clean and his station inviting. He checks parcels and cares for mail and telegrams. Everything he does for you is done cheerfully, expertly. He wants to make your stop at his station a pleasure for you... and he knows how!

EDITORIAL COLUMN

The Tide Has Turned

There are innumerable indications that the business tide has turned and business is getting better, according to a survey conducted by the Editor and Publisher, a magazine of the newspaper field.

The magazine points to the success of retail sales in recent weeks in New York, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh and other cities, as indicating buyers are again going into stores and spending their money.

Another factor indicating a better business outlook is the stepping up by one large motor car manufacturer of the production schedule from 2,000 cars for July to 3,600.

New York business observers have noted that the oil industry as a whole has turned to cover and is out of the red. It is held that if the improvement in the direction of earning moderate profits is maintained, one of the most dangerous sore spots on the American economic scene will be healed.

Business leaders throughout the country are in a more cheerful mood. The financial pages of the daily papers of recent date contained such headlines as "Stocks Rally in Brick Trading," "Fear of Quitting Gold Ended in America," "Grain Values Climb," "Cotton Advances in Strong Market," "Rush of Buying Advances Prices of Hogs and Cattle."

All of which sounds as if America were entering the "Business as Usual" era. — Las Vegas Optic.

Deputy County Clerk Ernest Key contributes this one that he heard last night on the radio: A Scotchman committed suicide the other day. "What did he do that for?" we sadly inquire, "To cut down the high cost of living."

Wings Useless to Ostrich

The wings of most members of the ostrich family are useless as far as flight is concerned, but when raised they aid the birds in running. If breeze is blowing, the ostrich, a much hunted South American ostrich, uses one raised wing like a sail as it runs and can thus attain such a speed that neither horse nor dog can come up to it. It can be captured only when worn out by ceaseless pursuit.

St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty Ready for Investigation by Borah—Dictatorship Decreed for Prussia—Great Railway Merger Plan.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

UNITED STATES and Canada have signed the treaty for construction of the great St. Lawrence seaway, which is to cost in the neighborhood of $800,000,000, but the pact must be ratified by congress and the dominion parliament before becoming effective. Ratification is probable but by no means certain. There are various parts of the treaty to which grave objections have been raised, notably those relating to division of power to be developed, and withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan for the Chicago sanitary canal. These and all other phases of the pact will be investigated by a senate committee headed by Senator Borah of Idaho. The inquiry will not start until August.

The treaty, which had been under negotiation for eleven years, was signed by Secretary of State Stimson for the United States and Minister William D. Herridge for Canada. By its terms the seaway is to be constructed under the supervision of a commission to be known as the St. Lawrence International Rapids section commission. Five members are to be appointed by each country and the work is to be carried on free from governmental red tape and on a business basis. The commissioners will not have the right to direct construction of the power plants to develop 2,500,000 horse power, although they can co-ordinate these with the seaway. They can order deferred any works. When their job is done, they cease to exist as a commission.

PRESIDENT HOOVER signed the relief act but still had to complete his plans for reorganization of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which is to handle the huge fund. In doing this he had to decide on successors to Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, and Paul Beator, farm loan commissioner, whose retirement as directors of the corporation was made mandatory by the measure. The corporation itself decided to discard red tape to expedite loans from the $300,000,000 for state relief of destitution and $222,000,000 for public works, the latter including $122,000,000 which may be used to match state highway expenditures. More than two-thirds of the $300,000,000 sum will be applied for immediately.

POLITICAL riots and murders in Prussia resulted in the establishment of a dictatorship for that German state and the declaration of martial law in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg. In three weeks more than a hundred persons had been killed and 1,200 wounded in the pre-election campaign encounters, which were mainly between Hitler's Nazis and the Communists. President von Hindenburg therefore issued the necessary emergency von Schleicher decree and Chancellor von Papen became virtual dictator of Prussia, naming Mayor Franz Bracht of Essen as chief assistant. When Prussian Minister of the Interior Severing declared he would yield only to force, the decree of martial law was issued. Premier Braun and Severing were removed from the Prussian ministry. Open air political meetings had already been forbidden throughout the reich.

That Germany faces revolution is seen in the fact that Hitler, of his Nazi party does not wish control of the reichstag in the coming elections it will forcibly seize control of the government and arrest all Socialists and Communist leaders. According to an Amsterdam newspaper, Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense, will co-operate with Hitler. The general, it has been recognized for some time, is planning to make himself eventually the actual ruler of Germany.

The Amsterdam Journal also says former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm recently visited the ex-kaiser in Doorn to discuss plans for a coup d'etat after the elections. The scheme is to form a new government with the ex-crown prince as leader; to bring Wilhelm back from exile in a German warship and to restore the regime of house of Hohenzollern. Hitler, the paper says, will help but will not participate in the government.

PREMIER MUSSOLINI of Italy made a grand shake-up in his cabinet, five ministers resigning by compulsion. Chief of these was Dino Grandi, minister of foreign affairs. The others were Alfredo Bocca, minister of justice; Antonio Mosconi, minister of finance; Prof. Balbino Galliani, minister of education, and Giuseppe Bottai, minister of corporations.

Mussolini, who already was minister of interior as well as premier, kept for himself the portfolios of foreign affairs and corporations. Grandi, Jung and Ercole were named to the other vacancies. Eleven undersecretaries also were displaced. Grandi was made ambassador to Great Britain.

IN ONE of its most important decisions the interstate commerce commission approved a plan for consolidation of all eastern railroads, except those of New England, into four great systems. The plan will probably be accepted by the lines concerned, though it does not suit them in certain respects.

The four systems will be known as the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate. The systems thus created will embrace 57,000 miles of rail lines—300 roads, though many of them are already operated by the large trunk lines. The commissions' ruling caused an immediate reaction approaching jubilation in railroad circles, which hailed the plan as the most helpful factor in that industry in 12 years. In fact, as the report pointed out, the leading railroads have received virtually all that they have asked for in order to work out a new plan of economy.

GETTING into action rather more swiftly than their rivals, the Republican campaign leaders at Chicago headquarters started the preliminary work for the election of 12 United States senators in the central states. The plans are under the direction of Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, keynote in the national convention. "We are going to concentrate on the senatorial fights," he said. "Where a senator is stronger in his state than the President, we'll expect him to carry the whole ticket, and vice versa."

Senator Dickinson said the prohibition question would be the principal issue in many states, the people having to decide whether the Eighteenth amendment shall be repealed outright, as the Democrats desire, or replaced by another amendment giving congress control of the liquor traffic, the Republican solution. On August 11 President Hoover will be officially notified of his nomination and will deliver his speech of acceptance at the White House. He has decided not to make a western trip this summer, but will send Vice President Curtis to represent him at the opening of the Olympic games.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, having ended his short vacation cruise, was back in Albany attending to business and laying out his campaign plans with National Chairman Farley. The latter gentleman announced the campaign would be run through the state organizations. There will be a campaign committee at the Roosevelt headquarters in New York, but it will assist and co-operate with the state organizations rather than attempt to direct them, Farley said. There will be only one national headquarters, located in New York. The money will be raised by a special committee not yet named. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming will again be at the head of the women's organization.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who says she has always been "a profound dry," has publicly declared her belief that the Eighteenth amendment has not worked successfully and should be repealed. WHEREVER in this country or abroad are found former students of the University of Illinois the news of the death of Thomas Arlio Clark was read with mournful interest. For many years dean of men in that institution, he performed the difficult duties of his position with extraordinary skill and tact, and won for himself a high place in the educational world. Among other deaths of the week was that of Jules J. Jusserand, who for many years was French ambassador to the United States and was one of the most popular of all the diplomats in Washington. Americans in Paris joined with the French in paying a last tribute to him at the funeral services.

Field Marshal Viscount Plumer, one of Great Britain's distinguished generals of the World war, and indeed of previous wars, died in London and was interred in Westminster Abbey with great military pomp. He lived to see his pictures, rather scorned at the time he made them, selling to connoisseurs at high prices.

THE economic conference of the British empire opened in Ottawa on Thursday with many of the empire's most eminent men in attendance. Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the British council, leader of his delegation, said that this is the most important conference in history for two reasons: "First, Britain never before has been in a position to negotiate with a free hand from the electorate, and, second, never before was the trade of the world so depressed."

"They are trying to get you to go home," he said. "You ought to keep some one here in the front line trenches. You have as much right to a lobby in Washington as the United States Steel corporation. Don't take a step backward. Remember, as soon as you pull down the camp flag this movement will evaporate. Those of you who do go home, vote to kick them out of your seats!"

CONGRESSMAN J. B. SHANNON'S house committee inquiring into the inroads of the government into business in competition with private concerns opened its hearings in Kansas City, his home town, and first received briefs from many organizations.

M. W. Borders, in presenting the data assembled by the Federation of American Business, which has branches in 34 states and represents more than 160 industries suffering from competition from government boards and bureaus financed by taxpayers' money, set forth that bureaucracy has grown to such proportions that it threatens the existence of the present form of American government.

A procession of merchants from Leavenworth testified that they were being driven to the wall by the competition from new government stores in the two federal penitentiaries and by the activities of the post-exchange and book department at Fort Leavenworth.

Efforts of the government to get into the cafe and restaurant business were attacked by the American Hotel association, with 6,000 member hotels. Live stock producers, commission men and bankers pictured the "collapse of live stock industry under withering dictatorship of the secretary of agriculture," and attacked the doings of the federal farm board.

THOUGH the members of congress during the recently ended session gave up a vast amount of time to political scheming, quarrelling and useless talk, they actually did enact considerable legislation of moment, often under pressure from the Chief Executive.

They passed a series of measures that began with the moratorium for inter-governmental debts, that included the creation of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and that ended with the passage of the $2,122,000,000 relief bill and the home loan bank bill with its currency inflation provision.

They put through a new revenue measure designed to raise more than a billion dollars in additional taxes, and an economy bill saving perhaps $150,000,000 in government expenditures. They passed all the necessary department supply bills, but refused to make most of the promised economies in these.

Two measures long advocated by Senator Norris were passed. These were the "lame duck" resolution to change the constitutional dates for the beginning of congress and the inauguration of the President, and the anti-injunction bill relating to labor disputes.

The growing national discontent with prohibition was reflected in congress by two test votes in the house and several votes on the legalization of beer in the senate. On March 14, voting to bring the Beck-Linthicum repeal resolution to the floor, the house cast 157 wet votes, the largest of its kind since prohibition, as against 227 dry ballots. Two weeks later a similar vote on the O'Conner-Hull beer bill was 132 to 216.

Senate wets planned their hopes to various bills to legalize beer, and measures by Senators Hiram Bingham and Millard E. Tydings were offered as amendments to the tax bill, and in a final effort to gain modification and increase federal revenues as a rider to the home loan bank bill. The various attempts met failure.

President Hoover vetoed only three important pieces of legislation. These were the bill extending veterans' privileges to hitherto unthought of classes of former soldiers, and the first Garner-Wagner relief bill with its federal loans to individuals, and the bill to shear the President of his powers under the flexible provisions of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act.

Here are PRICES that make first-choice tires real BARGAINS

THE best tire, regardless of price, is a Goodyear. Don't take our word for it. Take the public's. The public says Goodyears are best—by a lead of 2 to 1 over any other tire.

And here are prices that prove that the best costs no more.

Every price buys Goodyear quality—a lifetime guaranteed Supertwist Cord tire—marked with the Goodyear house flag and Goodyear name.

Look them over, and ask yourself: "Why buy any second-choice tire when FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?"

NOT ALWAYS WISE TO TRUST "CHARMS"

Some Have Been Known to Work Backwards.

Little Eva is the most superstitious person I know. She wears an elephant's hair ring on her finger and carries a rabbit's foot in her bag. She observes all the known ceremonies for prevention of misfortune, such as saying "bread and butter" when walking with a friend and the two are separated by passing on opposite sides of a lamp post. Whenever she is unwise enough to remind the unkind fates that she has not had a cold in a long time, she finds that it confuses them a little if she knocks on wood and it cripples their efforts at revenge.

perhaps in this instance the rabbit's foot worked backwards. You just can't trust magic not to reverse itself for some people. Take four-leaf clovers. To the vast majority they bring good luck, but to little Eva they bring illness, disappointment and disaster, and she would sooner pick poison ivy than the treacherous clover. Then there are the terrible black cats, the sight of which is fraught with disaster for so many. With little Eva the omen reverses itself. She is a cat worshiper and has raised dozens of black ones. She became so used to their cross-crossing before her that it established a sort of immunity. She discovered it once when a black cat saved her life. The animal ran across her path and she stooped to pet it just before two automobiles crashed together and piled up on the sidewalk at the exact spot where she would have been passing if she hadn't stopped to pet the cat.

Our office boy is not so lucky. The last time a black cat ran across his path he had four flat tires before the day was done. True, the tires weren't so good anyway, but they would have held up very well if it hadn't been for the cat. He has very bad luck with brooms, too. Every time he is lit by one he gets arrested for something. Once when he was sweeping out his father's store, he hit a friend playing with the broom. "Oh, don't do that," the friend cried, "I'll be arrested!" And within 24 hours he was riding to jail in the Black Maria for speeding. Little Eva says it is a sure sign and that one reason she hates housework is that brooms are such a menace. The vacuum cleaner has helped to keep some of our best women out of jail. Eva thinks it would be a smart idea for all policemen to carry a broom with which to hit obstreperous gangsters.

Recently she presented a friend a rabbit's foot for her protection, but it played her false. Shortly thereafter the friend was in an automobile accident, and had her scalp ripped open for quite a space. But did this disaster shake Eva's faith in efficacy of rabbit peddlers? Not at all! She had two explanations ready in a moment. One was that inasmuch as she had not killed the rabbit herself she could not be sure that it was the left hind foot. This is the only foot that has any real magic in it, but commercial dealers are not careful to ascertain the original location of the amputated foot.

The other explanation is that everybody has two contrary signs, and

Down in the island of Haiti they have a sweet little custom that Eva is thinking of adopting. They make an effigy of their enemies which they torture with good effect. In order to make the torture effective they must get a piece of their enemy to paste on the effigy. A hair from his head, a paring from his toe nail, or even the dirt upon which he has spat is sufficient. The witch doctor then puts a curse on the image, and all that is necessary is to stick a pin in the effigy in the exact spot where you want the enemy to hurt. The only trouble is that it doesn't work so well on Americans. When the United States marines went to Haiti the natives made countless effigies with which to torture the intruders, who guffawed loudly at the spectacle, and never had a single pain. This would argue that the enemy must be possessed of a lively belief in magic before he could be discomfited, but it is worth a trial.

Biblical Fortress of Sichern

Geographically Sichern was one of the most important points in Palestine. Situated in the narrow mountain pass between Mounts Garizim and Ebal—the high-road of travel between the east and west—it blocked the route from the Jordan valley to the coast plain and protected the coastal region from the invasions of the nomadic hordes coming from the east. Its strategic function is thus obvious. Sichern offered a bold spectacle: with the horizontal lines of the walls, one superimposed upon the other; with the gigantic dimensions of its stones, all concentrated in the elliptic city plan, the fortress loomed in the landscape. Standing at its side, the two natural bulwark, Mounts Garizim and Ebal, reinforced the impression of impregnability.

Even today one who stands at the foot of these gigantic walls has the sense of being, as the Biblical people wailed, "in our own sight as grasshoppers. One is impressed by its sheer physical strength, and understands the fearful panic of the Israelites as they listened in Kadesh Barnea to the reports which their spies brought back from the Land of Canaan.

The builders of this fortification system were the Hittites, who were known to have dwelt in Sichern as early as the time of Jacob, 1300 B. C. (Gen. 34).

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hunt of White Oaks were Carrizozo business visitors last Saturday.

The following members of the younger set of Carrizozo were week-end guests of Mrs. J. S. Cook at her home in White Oaks: The Misses Georgia Peckham, Willie Kelt, Frances Charles, Mary Ellen McMillan and Kathryn Kelt. On Saturday night, the Elliott, Luckey and Grumbles families came up from Carrizozo and all went to Jicarilla and attended a big dance and had a splendid time. On Sunday, the party went to Water Canyon where they held a picnic. They returned home Monday.

Pity the Poor Ump!

Ball player to umpire: "You are the best player on your home team." — We pity the poor sandlot arbiter. After he is almost dragged in there to do the favor, he is lucky if he escapes the mob. He is branded as a liar, a thief and what not and has to grin and bear it, just to show real sportsmanship, and not like the crabby ball player who hands such remarks as the above to the umpire. Again we say, pity the ump! He's the goat.

The McAdoo "Razzberry"

The Democratic campaign managers are not a little worried over the so-called 'love-tap' that McAdoo administered to ex-governor Al Smith in the last Convention, when, after forming what Al said was a "gentlemen's agreement" to hold the California delegation for Al. At the time when Smith seemed to have the strongest lead, McAdoo dealt the New Yorker a jab in the solar plexus and threw the California delegation over to Roosevelt, and was followed by Garner, who did the same for Texas.

This is the "great betrayal" as spoken by the Prophet Al Smith, in which McAdoo added a beautiful razzberry with the remark "here's where I square myself." McAdoo's agreement with Al was like this: Both leaders, McAdoo and Garner, had entered into an agreement with Smith to hold their delegations solidly for the 'happy warrior' until the fifth ballot, and never swerve from those positions without first consulting each other — but early in the balloting McAdoo threw the votes to Roosevelt.

Efforts to have Smith to deny the story have so far proven of no avail and Smith still sulks in his tent and refuses to be reconciled.

It will be interesting, to say the least, to see what Al and the Tammany Tiger will do in the campaign. The Roosevelt forces are trying to get "the man-under-a-cloud" Jimmy Walker to run for Governor of New York, to whip Al Smith and Tammany into line.

Shirley Phipps received word yesterday morning of the death of his brother, Duane, at Coatesville, Indiana.

Henry Silvs, Jr., was here from the Tucson mountains yesterday on business.

FORT STANTON NEWS

The Stanton Braves wore out six pairs of shoes running around the diamond here last Sunday in what was supposed to be a baseball game with the Lincoln Tom-Cats. The Braves, with broad-minded generosity and in a spirit of brotherly love, let the Tom-Cats get four runs to even up the score. The Stanton score was not figured out because the adding machine which had to be brought to the field after the first inning broke down at about the 35th run.

Dr. L. M. Smith, formerly of the Marine Hospital in Norfolk, Va., has been assigned for duty on the medical staff here. He arrived at the Fort a few days ago and is accompanied by his wife and mother, having motored all the way from Virginia.

Book a Day Keeps Void Away
By a systematic method of collecting books, one Leon Vincent of Paris was able to defy the void of ignorance. He made it a rule to add one volume to his large library each and every day. But Vincent did not include payment for the books in his method and he was arrested at an outdoor bookstall while slipping a work into his pocket. Many Paris bookshops had contributed to his collection, according to their claims.

Chautauque
The name, "Chautauque," first applied to the lake in western New York, is from the Seneca language and is said to signify "big tied in the middle," from the shape of the lake from which the region gets its name. It became the name of the summer educational assembly first held on the shores of that lake in 1874, and then of the educational and entertainment system patterned after the Lake Chautauque gatherings.

"It Can't Be Done"

The number of Jews all over the world is somewhere around 13,000,000, at the very least, 8,000,000 of whom, particularly in eastern countries, live under absolutely unbearable conditions — economically, politically, socially, culturally and morally. — Saturday Evening (London).

SUITOR IS SLAIN
BY GIRL WHEN HE TAKES HER "PET"

"He Threatened to Take My Pekinese for a Ride," Girl Declares.

Kansas City, Mo.—Hazel Blacketer, known to her friends as "Bubbles," shot and killed her sweetheart, Milton Smith, because he was carrying her Pekinese dog away and said he was going to "take it for a ride."

At least, this "Bubbles" story, and because there were not witnesses to the shooting, that story may stand when "Bubbles" faces trial on the first degree murder charge filed against her here by James R. Page, county prosecutor.

"Bubbles, twenty-one, said that she had been living with Smith, who was twenty-eight years old, for the last eighteen months and that they had had trouble before, but not of any such serious nature as the carrying away of the Pekie.

Dared Her to Shoot.
"I dared you to shoot me," she quoted Smith as saying as he left with the dog.

"I couldn't bear to see him take Snooks, my Pekie, away," she said, "and when he dared me to shoot, I just did that."

As she shot Smith at the bottom of the stairs, she raced down and grabbed Snooks from Smith's limber arms and ran back to their apartment, where she telephoned the police and summoned a doctor, and an ambulance.

"He often beat me up," she said; "but then, a girl can expect a drinking man to do that sometimes."

She exhibited a bruise on her cheek, which she declared he had inflicted a week ago with a gun butt.

"He came home drunk about seven o'clock that morning and ordered me to make him a highball from the pint of whiskey that he had with him," she said.

Dropped the Whisky.
"I became nervous and dropped the whisky on the floor and broke the flask," she said. "He started to beat me, but soon stopped, and then, to spite me, grabbed up Snooks and started to run outside with him."

She said that Snooks, as any loyal dog should do, went to her aid when Smith started to beat her. It was then that Smith conceived the idea of kidnapping the dog. He first thought of throwing it against the wall, but dropped that plan for the kidnapping.

"When I broke that pint bottle it started a quarrel and he accused me of loving Snooks more than I did him," she told the police.

"I'm sorry that I shot him," she told the police, "but he had no business treating my dog the way he was."

She said that she had obtained the revolver from a dresser drawer where she kept it hidden. When she drew it and pointed it to Smith, he dared her to shoot.

"I don't think you have the nerve to shoot," she quoted her sweetheart as saying.

Those were his last words, because one shot from Miss Blacketer's revolver killed Smith almost instantly.

Deer's Neck Broken in Front Yard of House

Martinsburg, W. Va.—The Roush family here secured its deer recently without going hunting.

A fine doe, weighing 150 pounds, apparently chased by dogs and at sea as to direction, appeared in the Roush front yard and in trying to hurdle a wire fence, fell and broke its neck.

Edward Roush cut its throat. Officers held the deer came to death legally, gave the meat to the Roush family, which in turn donated it to the local hospital.

It is the first deer reported in this county this season. It apparently had been chased from the mountains west of here. Its hoofs had been worn smooth apparently from repeated running.

Youth, 17, Confesses
Murder of Benefactor

Los Angeles.—Cleveland Robertson, seventeen, a Redville (S. C.) orphan, was arrested and confessed to the murder of Allen R. Scharizer, thirty-two-year-old painter, police say.

Scharizer had taken Robertson into his apartment when he found the boy hungry on the street. Robertson, police said, admitted shooting his benefactor and accepting.

"Here, I killed. He gave me some ' dough,' but I wanted some more," the thin-lipped youth said.

Wild Cow of Cape Cod
Still Defies Capture

Hyannis, Mass.—The "wild cow of Cape Cod" has almost become an institution. Five years ago several heifers were captured in Barnstable. At the end of the summer one proved too wild to be rounded up. Since then it has kept to the woods and, wild as a Texas steer, has successfully defied capture.

Dog Jails Master
Holtos, Mont.—When Charles Troflet, fourteen, gets out of the state reformatory he won't be on friendly terms with his dog.

Officers investigating an office robbery found maddy dog tracks and traced them to Charles' brown water spaniel.
