LOCAL MENTION

Mrs. Elizabeth Gumm, our postmistress, is home again and is improving greatly from her recent illness. She said that under the advice of Dr. Laws of El Paso, she must be in the office but a few hours each day until she regains her normal health.

Mayor McQuillen arrived home Sunday evening from California, where he spent his vacation with his two daughters. While there, he attended the Olympic Games, visited some of our large battleships, and in order not to miss anything, made a trip by airplane from Long Beach to Tia Juana, Mexico, where he saw many things that reminded him of bygone days in his home country. His Honor the Mayor visited many former Carrizozo people while there; he looks well and is glad to be back on the job, looking for trouble on his line, and we are certainly glad to have His Worship with us again.

Carrizozo Public Schools

The Carrizozo Schools start this year on Monday morning, Sept. 5. Despite the forced entrenchment program in the public school system of our city, word comes from our local school authorities that the work and efficiency of the educational program this year will not be impaired. The high standard for which our school is noted awaits the students who desire to continue their education in Carrizozo this year. Although enforcing the most rigid economy in all school expenditures, Carrizozo will still maintain schools fully accredited by both the New Mexico State Department of Education and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of America.

HIGH SCHOOL

Last year our high school had the largest enrollment in its history, but all indications seem to point to a much larger enrollment for this year. All units of work which were offered last year will be offered again this year, and in addition there will be offered third year Spanish and advanced courses in both Manual Training and Home Economics.

Word has just reached us that our school has been approved for Vocational Home Economics with State and Federal aid. Miss Tressie Davis, who will be in charge of this department, is now attending a conference of Home Economics teachers in

S. P. Lowers Rates Again

A five-day offering of cent-mile roundtrip transportation Sept. 1 to 5, will be placed before the public in six western states by the Southern Pacific Company as an aid to excursion and vacation travel over the Labor Day period, it was disclosed today.

Announcement of the company's plans was made here by C. P. Huppertz, local agent. A final return limit of midnight of Sept. 12 has been fixed for the low-fare Dollar Day train rides, he said, thus providing for long-distance travel as well as weekend trips.

Transportation on the cent-mile basis will be furnished between all stations on Southern Pacific's lines in California, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico, including Salt Lake City and El Paso.

Rev. Carl Amerding of Dallas, Texas, was a visitor in Carrizozo last Sunday.

Las Cruces.

The Commercial Department will be under the leadership of Mr. J. Verl Groce, who is our only new teacher in the system this year. This department has been moved to larger quarters on the first floor.

Mr. Hubert Detloff will again teach Manual Training, Social Science and direct athletics for boys. He will arrive ten days before the opening of school in order to conduct football practice next Monday. With the large number of letter men back and with excellent new material procured, we are sure to have a winning team again this season.

As of last year, Miss Hazel Melkas will be in charge of English; Miss Haldane Stover of Spanish, Science and Physical Education for girls; Mr. Raymond Gillette, Mathematics and Science; Mr. D. U. Groce, Science and Music.

GRADES

There will be no change in the grade faculty this year. Mrs. S. H. Nickels and Miss Nellie Shaver will teach the primary grades; Mrs. Mary Johnson and Miss Dia Herring, intermediate grades; Mrs. Clara Snyder and Maude L. Blaney, upper grades. The various rooms for different grades are being given necessary repairs. We are anticipating the greatest year in the history of the Carrizozo Schools, and invite you to give your boys and girls the opportunity of an education justly due them.

Attention, Masons!

Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, A. F. & A. M., will hold a Special Communication Saturday night, Aug. 27, for the purpose of conferring the Fellowcraft Degree.

All Master Masons are cordially invited.

Station Agent C. P. Huppertz is in receipt of word from Mrs. Huppertz and daughter Helen Frances, who have been at Cedar Falls, Ia., for the past ten weeks. They went there to attend the funeral of Mrs. Huppertz's father, Mr. Pollock and shortly after, Mrs. Huppertz was taken ill, but is recovering, and will soon be able to return home.

Rev. C. C. Higbie, Presiding Elder of the Las Vegas district, died following an operation for appendicitis recently. Rev. Higbie was pastor of the local Methodist church about fourteen years ago.

Little Joe Drake Bitten By Rattlesnake

Little Joe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Drake of the Ancho country, was brought in Tuesday from the ranch having been bitten by a huge rattlesnake. After treatment at the Johnson Hospital, the little fellow was doing nicely.

A Bum Steer

Wednesday night on the road from Tularosa to Carrizozo, the agent for Swift Packing Company overtook a man with a car out of commission and not being equipped to drag the disabled car, he fastened his car to the rear end of the other and started toward Carrizozo. They had gone but a short distance when the leader turned suddenly from the road and went over an embankment, dragging the Good Samaritan with him. Both men were badly bruised and both cars wrecked to such an extent that it will be about two weeks before they can be repaired. The fellow steering the disabled car said he went to sleep and lost control of the wheel—can you beat that for a bonehead?

Fertile Country

D. L. Groce came down the first of the week from his farm about four miles southeast of Gran Quivira and brought some of the finest corn and frijoles beans we have seen for some time. In the Gran Quivira region, there is always an ample amount of rainfall which renders irrigation unnecessary. A proof of that fact is that trees remain green and none die for the want of moisture.

Last year, the corn on Mr. Groce's farm averaged 40 bushels to the acre, and will do equally as well this year. The beans on his farm are doing fine. One bean stalk we saw contained 63 bean pods with 7 frijoles to the pod. This stalk was not selected, but was picked from the first in the front row. These good conditions are not confined to Mr. Groce's farm, but others in that locality compare favorably to those mentioned above.

It is no wonder that the Piro Indians selected this region many hundreds of years ago for the land in which to raise bountiful crops that sustained them throughout the summer, and afforded them an ample amount of food stored away for the winter months.

This locality is but a short distance from Carrizozo.

Rev. Edmundo Alviljar of Alamogordo held services for three nights in the Spanish Methodist Church of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Devine have moved to one of the twin cottages across from the City Garage.

FORT STANTON NEWS

Ed Dayton Williams, who has been treated in this hospital for injuries sustained while working on the new Capitan-Carrizozo road, passed away last Friday.

Another unfortunate accident happened between here and Capitan Tuesday night when an automobile carrying two men and three women ran off the road and plunged down into a deep arroyo. All were treated at the hospital here. One of the women is in a critical condition. The car was smashed beyond repair.

Mrs. J. A. Jamison received a sprained knee when slipping and falling down on the sidewalk a few days ago. She is confined to bed in the hospital at present.

Miss Cotey returned from her vacation last Sunday and started to work Monday morning.

The chief dietitian, Miss Garnett and her brother, who came here on a short visit, are touring the state together on a sight-seeing vacation trip.

Patient Musladin was transferred to San Francisco Tuesday.

Ronald Reith, famous cave explorer, archaeologist and soldier of fortune, blew in from Galveston one morning at 2:30 this week. He received his country-wide fame through his findings in the giant cave here, to which place he brought scientists and experts on paleontology from all over the country to study the unusual rich deposits of fossils found there.

Dr. R. T. Lucas, Mrs. Lucas and Miss Rosalind Burke arrived in Carrizozo from Kansas City and will visit for about two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burke and son Lewis of the Outlook office. Miss Rosalind has lately returned from overseas, where she visited all historical places of interest in England, France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. James, son James, Jr., daughters Ida Ruth and Betty, came in last Friday from Cleveland, Texas, and will visit for about ten days or two weeks with the T. E. Kelley family, all of whom left this morning, accompanied by Dr. R. T. Lucas for the northern part of the state, Ed and Dr. to fish, while others of the party enjoy the sight-seeing which that portion of the state affords. Mrs. James is Mrs. Kelley's niece.

Mrs. Leola Bacot and her friend, Mrs. Laura Sandvich of Silver City, who had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gallacher for a week, left here Sunday, visited the Carlsbad Caverns and made a short stop-over here on their way to their home Tuesday.

Brickley Appointed Member National Tax Commission

E. M. Brickley of the First National Bank of Carrizozo has been appointed a delegate to the National Tax Commission meeting which will be held at Columbus, O., in the early part of the coming month. The appointment was made by Gov. Seligman.

SOMES without number during his most active farm days, Washington entered this door for evening talks with his wise and good friend, George Mason, the sage of Gunston Hall. Within this rural retreat, reached by a short run toward the Potomac River from Pohick Church, colonial problems were discussed as neighbor to neighbor. Here the "non-importation resolutions" were prepared by Mason for introduction by Washington in the House of Burgesses.

Boxwood Hedge, at Gunston Hall.

ONE may easily picture Washington as a quiet and observant figure at Sunday gatherings around Pohick where he served as a vestryman. The roadside church of his time was the radio of our day, and Colonial and community events were broadcast in neighborly greetings at the close of services. Pohick is located on U. S. 1, eighteen miles below Washington.

Talking Unwisely And Too Much

El Paso Times: (Democrat) Vice - Presidential Candidate Garner felt it necessary to apologize for Texas when he spoke in the east. He also declared Al Smith "one of the greatest statesmen that ever lived." He has now alibied for his billion dollar relief program in the last session of congress, by saying he didn't have time to get it together properly.

We like Jack Garner and have lauded him in the past. But we are getting to the point of wishing he would stay in Uvalde and fish until after election. And be careful not to talk lest he frighten away the fish.

Editorial Comment on the Hoover Speech

Jersey Journal, Jersey City, N. J.—As time gives the voters more opportunity to reflect upon the fact that both parties and both candidates are pledged to a (prohibition) change and that the Republicans are more apt to win the necessary two-thirds support in congress and the necessary three-fourths ratification of the states, it may develop that not only the drys but also the wets prefer Herbert Hoover.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Post-Standard—The increasing measure of confidence with which America is facing its problems will be heightened by his message.

Ohio State Journal—Mr. Hoover's speech is truly a remarkable document. It is not a political speech, but a treatise on government in an emergency, and reminds one of the state papers of such masters of old as Woodrow Wilson at his best, of Abraham Lincoln in another of the nation's crisis, of the philosophical grasp of Thomas Jefferson, of the practical soundness of Washington.

New York Evening Post—It seems as if a new Hoover were trying to struggle out through that acceptance speech—or, perhaps, the old Hoover for whom so many of us thought we were voting in 1928. There was in it a degree of candor, of definite commitment and of deep feeling such as we have not seen in any speech by the President since he entered the White House.

Betting on Election

Not that it means anything in the long run, but just for passing interest, it might be noted that the betting in New York on the election has resulted in the following odds—Hoover to win, 8 to 5; to carry New York, 7 to 5; to carry New Jersey, 7 to 5; to carry Massachusetts, 7 to 5; to carry California, 5 to 2.

The Democrats will probably say that it is just another Republican trick. — Albuquerque Journal.

Fame

President Taft's favorite joke was on himself. It happened that Jim Corbett of pugilistic fame had called on Taft at the White House and the two were walking about the grounds when a Washington newsboy spied them and yelled, "Gee, there's Jim Corbett, but who's the fat guy with him?"

Adam's Apple

The legend about the name "Adam's apple" goes back to the Garden of Eden when Adam ate the forbidden fruit, offered to him by Eve, which is reputed to have been an apple, part of which lodged in his throat. Supporters of the legend point to the fact that the Adam's apple is more prominent in men than in women.

We Are at War!

By GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING

Here's a stirring call to arms that summons the spirit of those half-forgotten days of resolute marching men.

Article I

FOURTEEN years ago an army of two million American citizens was gathering in France. They had left their homes and families and businesses; they had traveled three thousand miles across submarine-infested seas; and now they were ready to lay down their lives, if need be, for their country. Millions more, in America, were prepared to follow them and do likewise.

Today the nation faces another crisis, in which the enemies allied against us are more insidious but not less dangerous. Pervasive self-seeking and corruption, which the chosen officers of the law seem powerless to suppress; the sinister growth of the underworld, whose tentacles reach out to touch us all; the ever-increasing extravagance of government; and the mysterious paralysis of our economic system—these are the enemies which now confront us. They have been allowed to encroach upon us largely through our own carelessness and neglect of duty as citizens.

In the battle against them the average citizen is at a disadvantage because he is unprepared; he is willing enough, but he is bewildered. He doesn't yet realize that he himself is primarily to blame, hence he is taking no serious part in the conflict. By average citizen I mean a great many men to whom we should look for leadership, as well as the larger number who possess no qualifications for it. In fact, too often do citizens of all classes assume that politics, and crime, and even economics, are no business of theirs. It does not occur to them that they are, every one, individually, responsible.

Why is it that patriotism burns so brightly in times of war, so dimly in times of peace? It is just as necessary in meeting the complex obligations of peace, but these obligations do not stir the imagination like the primitive emotions of war. The average citizen feels that, somehow, the problems of peace will be solved for him, and fails to realize the possibility that calamity may result from his own indifference.

Still Can Be Proud.

We have as much reason now as we had fourteen years ago to feel proud of our country and to love it. We believe, with some justice, that it is the greatest republic in the history of the world. Under no flag in the world does a people enjoy more freedom or find greater happiness. We boast of public education, universal suffrage, liberty of speech and the press. We enjoy rights undreamed of in ancient Greece and Rome. Yet even with the sounder principles upon which to base the hope of permanence of our institutions, we too may some day go down, as did these older republics, unless we recognize and live up to our civic obligations. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon every citizen in a democracy that it is his duty to help—actively help—in the task of government.

The other day I was talking to a substantial business man from New York. We were discussing an issue of increased taxation then up before the house of representatives.

"By the way," I said, "who is the representative from your district?" He grinned sheepishly.

"I don't know," he said. "My friend pays a goodly share of taxes to support the government, and yet he doesn't know who votes for him on the tax question. He relies on 'a substitute' and doesn't even know who the substitute is!"

This is something of a retrogression from an earlier period. When our government was founded, our forefathers did not let unknowns represent them. They made it their business to know all about the character and achievements of the men they elected to public office. Then the outstanding men in the country took part in ably write that military axiom into its books for the years to come.

We have made two other military blunders. We began by underestimating the strength of the enemy, and progressed from that to overestimating it. The cry, "We are just turning the corner," of 1929-30, was the equivalent of "We will have the boys out of the trenches by Christmas" of 1914-15. And our "This country is going to the dogs," of 1932 is the equivalent of "The Central Powers are invincible" of March, 1918. I have heard leading men, given over to fear, prate of national failure, bankruptcy, and the life of a military man furnishes another example valuable in times like the present. In every army career, there come occasional times of dullness. The officer, stationed at some remote army post, has his routine duties to perform. When these are completed he finds the temptation almost overwhelming to give over his leisure to cards, light reading, social evenings, painless time-wasting. It is the officer who resists that temptation, who spends hard hours each day studying the latest advances in artillery technique, in transport, in tactics—it is this officer who receives recognition when the opportunity for active service comes.

So it is in business. In this time of extreme dullness, many have sunk back into a kind of lethargy. But the wise business man, like the conscientious officer, is using his present leisure to prepare for the battles to come. He is devising new economies of production and distribution. He is studying the problem of how his product may be varied or made more attractive. He is getting ready to take advantage of the upturn when it comes. He is not accepting gloomy defeatism. He is thinking for himself.

I have touched at some length on the depression because it has so glaringly shown us the folly of carelessly delegating our thinking to others. It has also thrown a bright light on the flaws in our political methods and on our crime problem. During the years of prosperity following the war an underworld of gangsters and racketeers unparalleled in any other civilized nation, grew up and flourished in our cities. The criminals who manned this underworld were of a new type. They were not the masked and shabby play-actors who filled the jails in earlier years. They were expensively dressed; they owned machine guns, high-powered cars, and speed boats; they had money in the bank. With this money they were able to establish a relation with corrupt officials and police which seemed to make them immune from prosecution.

On the flimsy in our political methods and on our crime problem. During the years of prosperity following the war an underworld of gangsters and racketeers unparalleled in any other civilized nation, grew up and flourished in our cities. The criminals who manned this underworld were of a new type. They were not the masked and shabby play-actors who filled the jails in earlier years. They were expensively dressed; they owned machine guns, high-powered cars, and speed boats; they had money in the bank. With this money they were able to establish a relation with corrupt officials and police which seemed to make them immune from prosecution.

Some international bankers, since the war, have been careless in leading other people's money on foreign securities. Others have been charged with something worse than carelessness. But the citizens who, against sound business principles, put up the money were not without blame. In their eagerness for gain, they too often refused to think for themselves. They preferred to delegate that task to some one else. It was well known to all who read the newspapers that certain governments had already defaulted on debts to their own people. Greedy investors did not balk because of that, but cheerfully put up billions to loan to states, municipalities, and industries of those same governments.

This is not an essay on economics. I am not an economist. I did not foresee the depression, nor do I know when it is going to end, though past experience teaches me the upturn is bound to come, perhaps slowly, perhaps suddenly when we least expect it.

"No matter how sure you are of victory, never fail to make full provision for a reverse."

This rule is axiomatic with every capable military leader, but it was ignored by most of our business leaders during the boom years. Few made plans for anything except triumphant advance from one objective to another. Many burned their bridges behind them. Then the advance was halted and the recession began. It cannot be said that they were to blame for that recession, for apparently our puny human minds have not yet solved the riddle of the business cycle. They were to blame for having made no plans to keep the retreat from turning into a rout. Business might profit

GIFTS FOR BUILDING THE TABERNACLE

GOLDEN TEXT—Honour the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase.
LESSON TEXT—Exodus 25:4-26:7.
PRIMARILY TOPIC—The Meeting Place The Love Built.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Meeting Place That Love Built.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Giving Our Best to God.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Giving in Church Life.

I. The Plan of the Tabernacle (Exod. 25-27).

It was a rectangular structure thirty cubits long, ten cubits wide and ten cubits high. It was divided into two rooms; the Holy Place, and the Holy of Holies. These rooms were separated by the veil. The tabernacle was within a court one hundred cubits long and fifty cubits wide. Within the court, before the door of the tabernacle, was situated the brazen altar; between the altar of sacrifice and the door was the laver; inside the Holy Place the candlestick and table of shewbread; directly in front of the veil the altar of incense which was closely connected with the brazen altar in the contact of fire and blood. In the Holy of Holies was found the Ark of the Covenant, the most sacred object of the entire tabernacle.

II. The Meaning of the Tabernacle (Exod. 28-30).

The tabernacle was the symbol of God's dwelling place. The bond of union affording a medium of communication was the priesthood. The priest was the mediator between God and the people. The tabernacle typified the incarnation of God in Christ (John 1:14). The furniture of the tabernacle, beginning with the brazen altar, symbolized the spiritual history of the worshiper, making clear the sinner's method of approach unto God. The position of the brazen altar at the door of the tabernacle indicated that no one could draw nigh unto God except by way of that altar. The question of sin must be settled before man dares approach God. The laver typifies the sanctification of the believer. Sanctification was effected by the washing at the laver, prefiguring the influence of God's Word. The candlestick with its central shaft and its extending branches indicated the unity and diversity of God's people. The candlestick also shows the purpose of the sanctification of the believer; namely, to shine for God. The table of shewbread was for a memorial unto God of his chosen people, one loaf for each tribe. The altar of incense symbolized communion with God in worship. The putting of the blood in the brazen altar on the altar of incense shows that acceptable prayer rests on the ground of the atoning work of Christ. The veil symbolizes the flesh of Christ. The rending of the veil at the time of Christ's crucifixion shows that the death of Christ gives access to God. The mercy seat upon which the blood of the sin offering was sprinkled indicates that the claim of God's law had been satisfied.

III. The Offerings for the Tabernacle (Exod. 35:20-29).

1. The motive of giving (v. 21, cf. v. 9). "Whoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the Lord." Giving which meets God's approval must spring from the heart (II Cor. 9:7). The offering must not only be a gift of a willing mind, but it must be as unto the Lord, an expression of love and godly fear.

2. Who had part in giving (v. 22). "They came both men and women." It was God's purpose from the beginning that women should unite in the support and care of the worship of God.

3. What was to be given (vv. 23-25). Two features characterized the giving: measure and variety.

a. The measure. They brought what they had to bring. No one is under obligation to give that which he does not possess. This is emphasized in such expressions as "every man with whom was found," "all the women who were wise hearted." What one has to give is clearly the measure of one's duty in giving.

b. Variety. They brought jewelry (v. 22), gold (v. 22), fine linen (v. 23), goat's hair and rough skin (v. 23). Wise hearted women would spin with their hands (v. 25). The rulers brought the expensive things that were needed (v. 27).

IV. The Workers Who Constructed the Tabernacle (Exod. 35:29-36:7).

1. Wise hearted women (35:25, 26).
2. Skilled artists (35:30-36:4). Bezaleel and Aholiab, with others, executed this task. Their wisdom and skill were the result of the Spirit of God upon them.

WORDS OF WISDOM

The devil does not have to worry about the children of a card-playing mother.

I see that spirituality of mind is the main qualification for the work of the ministry.—Urquhart.

There are two things we should beware of—that we ever be ashamed of the gospel, and that we never be a shame to it.—Philip Henry.

President Hoover Declares Himself for Change in Prohibition Amendment—Roosevelt Hears Mayor Walker's Defense—Secretary Stimson Angers Japan.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT HOOVER opened the campaign for his re-election with his acceptance speech, and told the nation that, in regard to the liquor question, he stood not exactly on the Republican platform but a considerable step ahead of it. He said the administration's efforts to enforce national prohibition had been of no avail because the Eighteenth amendment itself was a failure except in states where the majority sentiment was decidedly dry. He declared he could not consent either to restoration of the saloon or to the continuance of such grave abuses as the speakeasy and the bootlegger which flourish under the amendment. Therefore, he proposed such modification of the prohibition amendment as would return liquor control to the states under federal control that would guarantee the dry states federal aid in keeping out liquor and prevent the restoration of the saloon in the wet states.

In substance the position taken by Mr. Hoover on this prohibition problem is very close to that of Alfred E. Smith in 1928. It was warmly endorsed by the Republican senators who consented to talk about it, even by such veteran drys as Fess and Borah. The Republican press generally commended it, and Democratic newspapers praised the President for "bravery greater than that of his party platform."

The President's address of course covered practically all the subjects that appear in the Republican platform and was written with skill. In it he reiterated his stand for freedom in industry and commerce as opposed to radical and revolutionary proposals, for a protective tariff, for noncancellation of foreign debts, and pledged himself to work for restoration of prosperity.

The notification ceremony took place in Constitution hall and the speech was heard by 4,000 persons gathered there and by countless millions who listened in by radio. The affair was preceded by a garden party and buffet luncheon on the White House grounds, to which 700 men and women had been invited. Former President Calvin Coolidge was not there because, as he said, he feared the trip would aggravate the hay fever from which he was suffering.

MAYOR JAMES WALKER of New York, appearing before Governor Roosevelt in the latter's office in Albany, made an impassioned plea for the right to face and question the witnesses who have accused him and whose testimony before the Seabury committee resulted in the demand that the governor remove him from office. Mr. Roosevelt ruled that the mayor might present any witnesses or evidence that would contribute to the governor's examination of the case. He did not require the proof of Mr. Walker's guilt to be shown by witnesses, but he did go at once into a cross-examination of the mayor himself.

Mayor Walker's answers followed closely his previous defense as given in his formal answer to the Seabury charges and in his testimony before the legislative committee. He admitted taking the $28,000 gift from J. A. Sisto, banker interested in taxicab legislation, but denied he had given of his influence as mayor to obtain the legislation.

Answering the charge that he owned securities in a company doing business with the city, in violation of a state law, Walker asserted he knew nothing about his connection with city contracts. In succeeding sessions of the hearing he continued along the same line, denying all charges of misconduct and defending the acts on which those charges were based.

JAPAN, continually on the defensive concerning her course in Manchuria and extremely sensitive to criticism, whether direct or implied, has been aroused to great official indignation by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson. In an address before the council on foreign relations in New York the cabinet officer asserted that consultation among signatory nations to mobilize "moral disapproval" of acts of aggression is implicit in the Bribery and Kellogg treaty outlawing war and that a definite pact providing for such consultation is unnecessary. As an example, the secretary of state referred to the American protest to Japan against hostilities in China. Such a protest would have had far less weight, he pointed out, had it not been supported by "the entire group of civilized nations."

Later in his address Mr. Stimson said: "As it stands, the only limitation to the broad covenant against war is the right of self-defense. This right is so inherent and universal that it was deemed unnecessary even to insert it expressly in the treaty. It exists in the case of the individual under domestic law, as well as in the case of the nation and its citizens under the law of nations. Its limits have been clearly defined by countless precedents. A nation which sought to make imperialistic policy under the guise of the defense of its nationals would soon be unmasked. It could not long hope to confuse or mislead public opinion on a subject so well understood or in a world in which facts can be so easily ascertained and appraised as they can be under the journalistic conditions of today."

The Japanese foreign office took Mr. Stimson's remarks as an attack on Japan's acts in Manchuria and called the embassy in Washington for a detailed report of the speech. It was believed that formal protest might be made to the United States government.

ROY D. CHAPIN, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, was sworn in as secretary of commerce to succeed Robert P. Lamont, who resigned to become president of the American Iron and Steel Institute. As he took office Mr. Chapin gave expression to his optimism, saying: "Naturally, like every other American, I am gratified by the unmistakably better tone that now prevails in our industries and markets of trade. Concerning the future trend, I will not be so bold as to venture prediction now, but one thing is certain—we must all exert ourselves to the utmost striving to strengthen all favorable factors and to make the inevitable turn come as soon and with as much security as possible."

Secretary Chapin is already encouraging the railroads to go ahead with repair and replacement work and finding money to help them do it; and in co-operation with Secretary of Labor Doak he is working on the plans for spreading employment by decreasing the individual hours of work.

FOR about twenty-four hours there was a spectacular attempt at revolution in Spain by the monarchists who hoped to restore the Bourbons to the throne. The movement was led by Gen. Jose Sanjurjo, known as "the lion of Morocco," and for a time he and his helpers were in control of Seville. But the republican government was apprised of his plans in advance and the revolt was speedily squelched mainly by the police. Sanjurjo himself was arrested as he fled from Seville and was taken to Madrid for trial by court martial, and various others of the former king's military commanders also were apprehended. In Madrid there was little fighting when revolutionists sought to occupy government buildings. The whole affair was a mixture of comedy and tragedy and the net result was the burning of many royalist clubs, homes and residences by the republicans in several cities, and the prospect of death at the hands of firing squads for the royalist leaders.

REWARD for his uniformly successful prosecutions of gangsters and politicians for evasion of the federal income tax has secured to George E. Q. Johnson, United States attorney in Chicago, He has been appointed to the federal District bench by President Hoover, and probably will be confirmed by the senate in December with little opposition. As successor to Mr. Johnson, the President named Johnson's able assistant in the tax case, G. E. Q. Johnson, cases, Dwight H. Green, who has been solicitor for the bureau of internal revenue and has conducted many of the trials instituted by Johnson. Both the appointments were urged by Senators Glenn and Lewis of Illinois.

Johnson began his drive against hoodlums and crooked politicians in the fall of 1929, first indicting Ralph Capone and Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake. Other indictments followed, and trials, and Mr. Johnson was successful in sending the following persons to the penitentiary for evading income taxes: Al Capone, Ralph Capone, Druggan, Lake, Jack Guzik, Sam Guzik, Frank Nitti, former County Assessor Gene G. Oliver, and former State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien. Christian P. Paschen, building commissioner in the last Republican Chicago municipal administration, is now under sentence, but has appealed his conviction.

CHANCELLOR VON PAPAN and his cabinet acted to stop terrorism among the political factions of Germany by decreasing the death penalty for all persons convicted of acts of political violence, including rioting, treason, arson, instigation of explosions or floods or damaging railways or railway equipment. Despite this rigorous action, the acts of violence did not cease. Adolf Hitler issued a proclamation to his storm troops to curb their disorderly enthusiasm.

Von Papan invited both Hitler's National Socialists and Eugenberg's Nationalists to share in the government which he will submit to the reichstag when it convenes August 30. But the monocled chancellor is determined to keep the office of chancellor and to maintain the government on the "no-party" basis. The Hitlerites continue to claim full governmental control.

WHEN the field and track events of the Olympic games came to a close it was found the United States had won first place by a tremendous margin; Finland was second and Great Britain third. The climax of this part of the program was the marathon race, which was won by Juan Zabala of Argentina in record-breaking time. The second week was given over to all kinds of events, mainly in the water, and Helene Madison, the premier woman swimmer of the United States, distinguished herself again by winning the 100 meters free-style race in the new Olympic time of 1:03. She was first in the fastest field of girl swimmers ever assembled, and every one of them beat the old Olympic record. In other water events the flags of Japan, Holland, Australia and other nations were raised.

MUCH of the work of the British imperial conference in Ottawa was completed during the week and the delegates thought they might be able to leave by August 20. However, the questions that most interest the United States were still unsettled, these being the trade relations between Canada and Great Britain. The dominion's offer of preferences on manufactured goods was rejected by the British delegates as not good enough. The Canadians thought their offer ought to mean about $50,000,000 extra trade for Britain every year, but the British could not figure the gain at more than $10,000,000 a year.

The British made satisfactory trade arrangements with the Australians, the New Zealanders and the South Africans. Points on which the conference fails to agree will be referred to a permanent committee.

ALL the neutral nations of Central and South America joined with the United States in calling on Bolivia to lay down her arms and accept arbitration of the dispute with Paraguay over the Gran Chaco. They even set a definite time for such submission, but Bolivia's reply was not especially satisfactory. President Daniel Salamanca's government said it was willing to suspend hostilities pending arbitration, if Paraguay and the neutral powers would consent to the present positions in the Gran Chaco as the basis for negotiations. Instead of the positions of the troops on June 1, as stipulated by Paraguay. After June 15 Bolivian patrols captured three Paraguayan outposts.

Pacifists in La Paz, Bolivia, who opposed war with Paraguay, were court-martialed and eight of them were condemned and shot. Adventurous citizens of the United States have been offering their services to Paraguay and Bolivia, if war materializes, through their legations in Washington. One World War flyer with the rank of captain telegraphed both sides identical requests for service.

GEN. CHIANG KAI-SHEK, it appears likely, will be the supreme dictator of China. This results from the controversy between Wang Ching-wel, premier, and Marshal Chang Hsiao-liang, Peiping war lord. Chang refused to obey Wang's order to make war on the Japanese forces that were operating in Jehol province, and offered to resign. Soon after Wang and his entire cabinet submitted their resignations, the last to step out being Finance Minister T. V. Soong. Chiang Kai-shek, unlike Wang, still thinks the Sino-Japanese dispute can be settled by direct negotiations and therefore refuses to take any warlike steps likely to antagonize Tokyo. Under the terms of the Chinese constitution, General Chiang as permanent chairman of the military council is untouchable and is in full control of the armies.

TWO Democratic senators were successful during the week in obtaining reexaminations. They were Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, keynote in the recent national convention, who defeated former Senator George H. Martin and others; and Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, the only woman member of the upper house. Mrs. Caraway had six male rivals for the nomination but easily defeated them all.

Rat-Kangaroo Still Lives
The rat-kangaroo of Australia, long thought extinct, has been rediscovered by H. H. Finlayson of Adelaide university, that country. In a letter in Nature, a scientific periodical published in London, he points out that since 1843 it has been feared this queer animal had become extinct. The writer claims he has not only rediscovered the long lost desert inhabitant, but has obtained specimens in all stages of development. They live in the sandhill country between the Diamantina and Coopers rivers. They are marsupials and possess pouches in which they carry their young.

Fort Stanton 10; Carrizozo 8

The Carrizozo Ball Team went to Fort Stanton last Sunday and lost a close and interesting game by a score of 10 to 8. Although Pat Dolan pitched good ball, we presume this was his off-day and he was not in his usual good form. Of course, "Shorty" Dawson was down from the Bonito and made the trip with Pat and some will no doubt be inclined to blame the former for the defeat. But according to reports, the little man was one of the most ardent rooters for Carrizozo. And "Shorty" sure enough knows his baseball!

The team plays at Tularosa next Sunday, August 28.

Unexpected

The Alamogordo colored baseball team invaded Carrizozo unexpectedly last Sunday and as only two of the East-Side regulars were available, Ernest Lopez and Simon Chavez, they composed a team with what material they could gather and gave futile battle to the White Sox, losing the game 19 to 0. The manager of that team failed to advise manager St. John as to a certainty of making their appearance, so the East-Siders scattered to the four winds, the largest portion attending the game at Fort Stanton.

Foolish Prank Results In Shooting

Wednesday morning about 2:30, John Solomon of Capitan was the victim of a foolish prank which he tried to play on his younger brother, Joe. John had been out until the hour named above and on returning home, pretended to be a prowler and give his brother a good scare, but it failed. When he tried to force an entrance to his brother's room, Joe shot through the door with a shotgun, the charge entering the right breast.

He was taken to Fort Stanton where physicians still have hopes for his recovery. A statement bearing out the facts as stated above was obtained from John, after Sheriff Brady arrived and conducted the investigation.

Dolphin Brings Trouble

Better in the Philippines that the killing of a dolphin will bring bad luck was borne out, according to the crew of the Bustamante, when Delfin Jaramilla, attorney general, recently shot an eight-foot specimen during an ocean trip. When Jaramilla took the fish on board the crew warned him, but he laughed at their fears. Soon afterward there was a fire aboard ship. Then followed engine trouble, and finally the vessel was caught in a storm.
