PRICE $2.00 THE YEAR

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On April 1, the High School had its annual picnic on the Bonito. The same was a howling success—chiefly howling.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillette, Misses Davis and Melas spent Sunday afternoon at the Keller ranch. They report an enjoyable time.

The horseshoe pitching contest has reached its final stage. There is only one more game to be played. Plans are being made for a contest for the girls and a doubles contest for the boys.

On Wednesday, the Teachers' Club entertained the assembly with a short program consisting of an opening chorus, an account of the year's work and a short play.

On Friday, Miss Birdie Adams of Las Cruces spoke before the students. She is an interesting as well as an educational speaker.

The English II class has been studying Shakespeare's "As you like it." Each one was asked to write a character sketch of his favorite character. A particularly good one by Bea Romero follows:

TOUCHSTONE

Touchstone cleverly dashes cold water on the romantic gush of his two mistresses in "As You Like It." The jester plays pranks, he conceals practical jokes, he punctures the silly pretensions of haughty hypocrites, he sits up late to crack puns with roistering cronies. Mischief-maker extraordinary, he seldom pays any penalty for his "excellent fooling." He has nimble fingers, a mellifluous throat and skipping heels. His songs are the most beautiful lyrics Shakespeare ever wrote. More or less conscious of his dependent position when his betters are present, he swells with superiority and puffs with pride when he is the ranking man. To me he seems to wear a green cap with a red tassel on it, his face is painted with red and white, his shoes turn up at the toes into a long point. Around his green pants are bells and his purple blouse is trimmed with orange. He is the typical court jester of the days when "Kings and Queens" reigned.

Woman's Club Benefit Program

The Woman's Club is sponsoring a benefit program to be given at the Lyric Theatre Thursday and Friday evenings, April 13 and 14 at 8 p. m.

The committee in charge has secured an excellent picture, "The Thirteenth Guest." An interesting feature will be the "Flapper Chorus" consisting of some of our prominent males dressed in gowns designed by Parisian modistes.

The Flapper Chorus will be directed by Miss Dia Herrings, who made a specialty of directing similar choruses while engaged in Chautauqua work.

There will be additional musical numbers by some of our best local musical talent. Piano and violin duet.

Otto and Ernest Prehm Vocal solo

Mrs. Raymond Gillette On behalf of the Woman's Club the Committee requests your patronage.

Admission, 85 and 10c. Hazel Melas, Mrs. D. U. Groce, Mrs. J. M. Snyder, Mrs. Clint Branum, Mrs. R. E. Lemon, Committee.

LOCAL MENTION

P. T. A. Dance a Success

The dance given at Community Hall last Saturday night by the P. T. A. Society was quite a success socially and financially.

A 12-piece orchestra, under the leadership of Harold Davis, furnished excellent music and Raymond Lackland sang in his usual becoming manner. The society netted between $30 and $35, we understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tipton of Las Vegas, parents of Mrs. J. M. Snyder, visited at their daughter's home for several days last week, returning home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gallacher made a trip to El Paso Tuesday to see the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates play a game of Real Ball. They returned with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Purcey of the Camp Malpais.

Mrs. Chas. Edwards of Three Rivers was here last Saturday and disposed of her products from her ranch - farm, such as choice butter, eggs, etc. Mrs. Edwards also raises a good variety of fruit and vegetables, for which she always finds a ready market. Her fruit trees are heavily laden with blossoms and the general outlook is good.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Purcey of the Prior Filling Station and Camp Malpais made a trip to Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Santa Rosa the latter part of last week, going over and spending Sunday and Monday in seeing the sights which that part of the state affords.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mendenhall, sons Bill and John O., and Hubert Detloff spent last Sunday at Carlsbad, viewed the wonders of the cavern and returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Prior of the Camp Malpais made a trip to Hot Springs and spent two days among some of our former Lincoln county people, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. H. Patterson, who once resided at Jicarilla and now have the Chevrolet agency and also operate the Hot Springs Hotel and cafe, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Caldwell, who were residents here for many years.

Mrs. J. B. French is here this week from Albuquerque and will remain until the latter part of the week, when she will join Mr. French at the Duke City. Mr. French has gained 5 pounds during his stay at the veterans' hospital and we congratulate him on his improvement.

Mrs. Albert Ziegler will entertain the Carrizozo Bridge Club at her home Saturday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Johnson made a trip to El Paso Tuesday to see the baseball game between the Pirates and White Sox.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. Burns purchased the residence once owned by W. W. Stadtman and the folks have now become permanent residents, in which decision, we congratulate them as good additions to our community.

The Compton family of the Waffle House have rented one of the cottages across from the City Garage and occupied the same the first of the week.

Spring Migration

ANCHO NOTES

Mrs. Allen Kile is spending a few days at the ranch, visiting her mother, Mrs. T. J. Straley.

Oleta Rucker, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, in Carrizozo for the past two weeks, returned home with her parents.

John Dale and Curtis Weatherbee were elected new members on the school board at the election held Tuesday.

Mrs. John Straley was the guest of her mother in Carrizozo this week.

Mrs. C. C. Belknap returned home Monday. She attended the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star at Roswell; also visited friends in Capitan.

The Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. T. J. Straley Saturday.

Mrs. L. L. Peters spent the day Tuesday in Ancho, visiting friends and voting.

Killed While Acting as Peace-Maker

Chas. F. Reynolds, a prominent merchant and postmaster of Watrous, N. M., was killed Tuesday evening shortly after 6 o'clock at the school election polls. Sotero Martinez, rancher and local politician, was wounded. Anselmo Trujillo, constable and Martinez were in a fight concerning the casting of a few ballots after the polls closed.

Martinez insisted on voting his candidate while Trujillo objected. Reynolds stepped in as peace-maker and was shot dead. Six shots were fired during the fight.

Mr. Reynolds was a nephew of Mr. Henry Fritz of Capitan and a cousin of Mesdames Peter Johnson, Otha Lowe and Wallace Ferguson, all of whom left Wednesday evening for Watrous accompanied by Peter Johnson to attend the funeral which was held yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Frame and children, Harry Gallacher and Albert Roberts were in El Paso Tuesday to witness the baseball game between the White Sox and the Pirates. They report an exciting game of big league ball, and thought at the time they were seeing it, of dropping cards to different lovers of the national sport - "I wish you were here."

James A. Anderson of Fort Stanton was here last Friday on a business trip and as usual, Jim made the Outlook office a pleasant visit.

LYRIC THEATRE

R. A. Walker, Owner

Friday - Saturday - Sunday - "BACK STREET," with Irene Dunne and John Boles. Novel by Fannie Hurst. Also "Strange as it Seems" and "Hollywood Kids," a two-reel comedy.

Northwest Mounted Police

Will appear in person at the Lyric Theatre, Tuesday night, April 11. A show brimfull of good singing, music, clean comedy, with an educational feature thrown in which is causing much favorable comment. Something new - so don't miss it!

Mrs. Sweet Erecting Building

Mrs. E. H. Sweet has begun the erection of a two-story building which will adjoin the one occupied by the Rolland Drug Store. The lower portion will be occupied by D. X. LaVallee with a radio equipment store and the upper portion will be arranged with office rooms and apartments. Tom & Garrison are the contractors. This structure will be a splendid improvement to Alamogordo avenue as well as to the entire town.

Cheaper Than Stayin' at Home

Plans for a 4-day offering of cent-a-mile transportation over the Easter period, April 13 to 16, were announced yesterday by the Southern Pacific Co.

The so-called Dollar Day bargains in train rides will provide for roundtrip travel over the railroad's lines throughout the West, according to local officials.

A return limit of April 25 has been authorized in order to give excursionists ample time for distant journeys, it was stated.

Jailer Huber Reynolds and Mrs. Reynolds were Corona visitors on Wednesday.

We note that Dr. Brinkley's radio station at Villa Acuna, Mexico, across from Del Rio, Texas, will shortly put on more power. This station is the most powerful one in the world, and we don't see what the advantage of increasing their power would be. They might try to improve the class of programs given over this station. They feature Cowboy Songs, like "O, Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," "nigger" yodeling, and last, but not least, a program sponsored by a well-known oil heating company, featuring old-time fiddlers that play by ear. Dr. Brinkley is in Mexico - so the United States is out of it.

NOGAL NOTES

The cold snap Tuesday night killed about one-fifth of the fruit in this district.

There were two mining men here for the past few days, looking over the American & Bender group of mines and they will likely take over the property and put the same to work. They were very much pleased with the mines.

Mrs. Viola May was elected as school director Tuesday to fill the unexpired three-year term of Walter Shell.

The whooping cough has about run its course here. Most children have recovered from it.

Ralph Emerson and Elmer Hust recently finished a job of plaster work for Mr. Prehm on his summer cottage in Nogal Canyon. They did a real nice job.

Henry Gideon McEwen

On Tuesday, April 4, Henry Gideon McEwen, aged 47, miner in the White mountains, died at his home near Alto after a short illness. Mr. McEwen was born in Henry County, Mo., came to New Mexico with his parents and resided here until he was 17, when he left and returned about two years ago. The family was well known in Nogal and vicinity, especially in the Bonito region where they resided.

The funeral was held on Wednesday, the services being conducted by the Rev. Askins of the Nazarene Church at Capitan and the remains interred in the Nogal cemetery.

He leaves a wife and four children; two boys and two girls, James and Johnny and Carroll and Lola; besides four sisters, Mesdames J. H. Adkinson of El Paso, J. H. Stuart of Roswell, and M. M. McCoombs and J. C. Bennett of Los Angeles to mourn his departure.

The sisters, with the exception of the Los Angeles ladies, attended the funeral, they being unable to attend on account of the extreme distance.

The funeral was attended by the many friends of the family in the Nogal and Bonito districts. The surviving members of the family have the sympathy of the entire community in which they resided.

Masonic Banquet

There will be a Masonic banquet Saturday night at Masonic Temple at 6:30, for Masons and their ladies. The menu will be prepared and served by the Carrizozo Eating House in the banquet room of the Temple. Sealed invitations have been mailed to Masons and a good gathering is expected. A suitable program of musical numbers and other forms of entertainment has been arranged for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Branum, Mrs. Nellie Branum and daughter, Mrs. Oscar Clouse left Wednesday for a trip to Arizona and will be absent about a week or ten days.

The Senior Class Play at the High School Auditorium Wednesday night was a decided success from every point of view. The attendance was exceptionally large, characters were all well assumed and the frequent bursts of applause was an evidence of how much the appreciation was, as the play proceeded. Miss Hazel Melas, director of "Bonds on a String", is deserving of much praise for the successful outcome of the undertaking.

FORT STANTON NEWS

A report that "hoist guys" were planning to attack up the cashier from the First National Bank of Carrizozo on his trip here Monday, to cash the checks of the Stanton payroll, made authorities here busy to prepare for this emergency by mustering all sharpshooters and heavy artillery available to furnish a corps of body guards for the precious greenbacks until they had reached their various destinations. The sight of all the six shooters and cartridge belts displayed brought an atmosphere of old frontier days upon the Fort; bringing one's mind back to the happy days of Billy the Kid, the 5c beer and free lunch. Dr. Allen himself was guarding the northeast gate, where he, sitting in the station car, was ready to stick the "heat" (a huge automatic) on any suspicious character who would try to pass. A couple of orderlies stood ready at the hospital with a pair of stretchers to rush corpse to the morgue, should the outlaws show up. Unfortunately, the bandits disappointingly broke their date, and thus escaped the horrible fate awaiting them at the Fort.

A number of local talent, consisting of Henry J. Walker, pianist and E. Cukli and Frank Thomas, crooners, entertained the boys in the hospital wards last Tuesday night. Cukli, who is an expert moving picture photographer, had his portable projector rigged up for the occasion, and on an improvised screen he unfolded scenes which he had taken around the Fort, of rodeos, etc.; and also glimpses of foreign countries, taken on his world-wide travels. Walker, our talented pianist, has composed waltzes and fox trots, which, although not yet published and on the market, have met with such enthusiastic public approval whenever played that we see in him a future Irvin Berlin or Paderewski.

During a raid on 'Extremists' of Social Democracy, made by the magistracy of the Fort in search for bombs, a miniature brewery was uncovered, which, anticipatively of April 7, had been started by an enterprising amateur. This business, nevertheless, was nipped in the bud, and the luscious liquid dumped out to join its kindred dust. Where a large wet blotch marks the spot of the tragedy, passers-by frequently pause to sniff the air and let their nostrils feast on the fragrant aroma oozing out of the ground; then they sadly walk over to the nearest hydrant and moisten their dry throats with aqua pura.

Carrizozo Business Men's Club held its usual 6 o'clock dinner in the dining room of the Carrizozo Eating House Wednesday evening. Various phases of the economical conditions were discussed and the club passed resolutions demanding of the Board of Lincoln County Commissioners and the State Tax Commission a 25 per cent reduction in the present tax rates.

Copies of this resolution were sent to the State Tax Commission and to the Board of County Commissioners.

Clyde Crowe, former Carrizozo barber, was a business visitor here from Alamogordo last Sunday.

Washington Digest
National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington.—Although the Roosevelt emergency banking program was put forward purely as a solution for the crisis then upon the nation, it has since become apparent that it had a permanent phase that surely is going to carry on far into the future in the shape of a bitter controversy.

We have long had a national banking system, made up of financial institutions that were chartered by and under the control of the comptroller of the currency in the treasury. We also have had the state institutions that were chartered by and under the control of state authorities and existing by virtue of state laws.

It is interesting, therefore, to note how the creation of the federal reserve system back in 1914 made some inroads into the state banking field by providing means whereby those banks could join the national banks in the federal reserve system.

Now comes the emergency banking law, however, with provisions designed to solve the crisis in our country's financial structure but with some other sections furthering the interests of the national banks.

Actually, the situation resulting from the passage of the emergency law, aside from the provisions for making currency available, is a tremendously long step on the part of the federal government toward squeezing out the state banks.

There are few officials or members of congress who will admit that there is a big drive on to accomplish a great Banking System unified banking system. Their silence, however, does not conceal the fact.

Their claim was, and still is, that the emergency banking act and the regulations issued under it for the reopening of the banks beginning March 13 resulted in state banks being cast adrift.

This does not mean that the state bank in your community is going to die. The scheme which Washington observers believe they see and which the state bank representatives claim has been worked out operates slowly.

Thus, the basis of the controversy comes into view. There is one school of thought in the country which holds that the solution to our banking problems is establishment of a few great banks, or at least fewer but stronger banks.

the period of the depression, Senator Glass, the author of the bill mentioned above and one of the ablest banking students of the time, says there are actually thousands of banks in operation that ought never have been organized.

But there is another school of thought. Those on this side of the question argue against extension of the branch system and the limitation on the number of banks as placing dangerous power over currency and credit in the hands of a small number of individuals instead of distribution of that power among the communities where the banks are located.

At any rate, these are the points set up on each side of the question. Undoubtedly, there is merit to each argument. Moreover, experience seems to have demonstrated that varying conditions make the two propositions work differently in different communities.

President Roosevelt's bold action respecting the banking situation resulted in many persons overlooking what I am inclined to regard as a move that required more courage when considered from the political standpoint.

No one knows, nor can anyone tell how much money is being paid for disability not connected with the service.

There seems to be no equivocation about the willingness to pay compensation to veterans who received injuries in the fighting lines.

Now that congress has put through the legislation permitting the manufacture and sale of beer with an alcoholic content, something near what beer had before the days of prohibition, much speculation has arisen as to how the matter will be viewed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In view of these circumstances, it may be interesting to recall an argument made privately by former Senator John J. Blaine of Wisconsin, when he sought to get action on a beer bill in the last session of congress before his term expired.

In other words, the way he proposed to make beer legitimate was by a negative action. Since the Eighteenth amendment said congress had power to pass enforcement statutes, congress had acted in accordance with the amendment, but it had placed the blast on the punishment.

The Black Box of Silence

SYNOPSIS

Owen Landis, young inventor, has developed an extraordinary device which is known as the "black box." Landis tells Wally Markham, his chum, the only person, besides himself, who knows the combination of the safe, is Betty Lawson, with whom the inventor is in love.

"If you are out on the Topaz road, stop at the Little Alice. I'm going out there shortly."

The invitation was accepted, conditioned upon their driving that far. As they were taking the roadster out of the hotel garage Landis asked what was to be the program for the day.

"I want to take a shot at trying to find out what Canby did with those two unaccounted-for hours yesterday morning."

The "shot" was fired methodically by making inquiries on all the roads leading out of Brewster, and it led to nothing until the round brought them to the road over which they themselves had driven in.

A woman answered their knock, and Markham began the well-worn formula. "Pardon me, but we'll be grateful if you would answer a few questions for us, if you can."

"The woman nodded. 'I was—all of that. My baby was sick.'"

"I couldn't very well help it, could I—living that close to the road like this?" Then, pointing to the roadster, "I saw that car, or one just like it, go by a little after day, yesterday morning."

"Quite right; and we were in it. Was it the only one you saw?"

"No, there were three more; big cars, all just alike. Two going into town, and one coming out. I was sitting by the window."

"Could you see this big car well enough to tell us how it looked?"

"It was a fine, closed car, painted a kind of light yellow; a Himmzyzen, they call 'em, don't they?"

"Only that there was two of 'em in the front seat; a man and a woman."

"Exactly. Now the next one; when did it come along?"

hat. That's why the Fleetwing hasn't shown up in Brewster; they've left it somewhere along the road, and Canby picked them up and brought them in. We're framing the puzzle up, a bit at a time. I—hello—here we are at the Little Alice. Shall we stop?"

"Have to, won't we? If Mr. Starbuck sees us, he'll think it queer. If we drive past without stopping."

Markham parked the car, and as he was doing it, Starbuck came out. "You are just in the nick of time to have a noon snack with us," was the mine owner's greeting.

"This is our main lead," Starbuck explained, when the stoppage of the drill clamor gave him leave. "It's what the old miners call a 'true fissure' vein, and they have a belief that such veins grow richer the deeper you drive." Then, "They are aiming to load the holes and fire, and we'd better move out."

As they were walking down the main tunnel, Landis said, "You spoke of the old-time miners; do they have many superstitions?"

"Oh, not more than men of other callings, I reckon. But in that heading we've just left, we've had a curious case of 'miner's nerves.'"

"Talk Fast and Talk Straight, if You Want to Go On Living!"

Talk Fast and Talk Straight, if You Want to Go On Living!

to it at first; but after a while, when the men in that heading began to take time off on one excuse or another, we investigated.

As they came out of the mine, Markham asked the location of the Quavapal. Starbuck pointed up the road toward Lake Topaz.

"It's on the other side of the spur in the next gulch. If you are going that way, you'll see the dump as you pass the mouth of the gulch."

"They saw it, hanging like a huge gray beard from the mountain side, but a turn in the gulch hid the mine buildings. The side road was barricaded against traffic, and beyond the barricade they saw a man with a gun."

"No visitors need apply. I wonder what Canby has up his sleeve in there?"

"Time may tell. What do we do now. Go on hunting for the Fleetwing?"

"Markham made a sign of assent. 'I'd like to know where those three men left it, and why. Also, why Canby went out to meet them.'"

They stopped at the hotel, to glance over the register in search of the three names Markham had copied from the record in St. Joseph.

"I see that you are taking it lying down," Markham returned in a half growl.

"You think I wouldn't break in if I had an opening—that I don't care enough? Good Lord, Wally, I'd give the best ten years of my life if I could go back to where I stood with Betty before I began to bury myself in this cursed invention of mine!"

ing trouble making the grades, since, however slowly they drove, it never overtook them. After a time Landis spoke of the struggling flyer.

"That Lizzie seems to be making hard work of it," he said, when, on one of the reverse loopings, they could see it cross the intervening gulch. It was stopped, and two men were apparently doing something to the motor.

"What's been happening here?" Landis asked. "More rock rolling?"

"Looks like it; we'll find out when we get to the bottom."

"Now we know what made the scarred trail," said Markham. "That car ran off the road and came down here and burned up. Is it the Fleetwing?"

"What the—?" Markham choked, grabbing for his pistol. But Landis was cooler.

"Easy," he counseled. "It's those fellows up at the silvers. Don't waste your ammunition. The automatic won't carry half that far."

"D—n!" cried Markham. "We're penned up here like rats in a trap!"

"No trouble about getting out of it, with all these rocks to doggo around."

As he had pointed out, there was foresting enough on the western slope of the gulch to afford fairly well-concealed stalking cover, and as they tolled up through the undergrowth, Markham was striving to fog his estimate of his boyhood chum and college mate around to the new point of view.

But here was an entirely new development. The dreamer, pale of face, to be sure, but with his jaw thrust and the light of battle in his widestest gray eyes, was storming up the steep ascent at a pace that made his heavier follower pant and blow.

"The small, dusty, rattletap car was standing as they had seen it from the opposite side of the gulch. Beside it were two men with their hands above their heads in deference to Landis' covering pistol, and at their feet lay the rifle with which one of them had been firing into the gulch.

"What did you fellows mean by firing at us when we were down there? Talk fast and talk straight, if you want to go on living!"

"G—great Scott!" stammered the taller of the two. "Are ye meanin' to say hit was you-all down yonder in the gully?"

"You know d—d well it was! What's your game? Who sent you here to kill us off? Talk quick!"

"Fore Gawd, mister, you got us all wrong! We ain't aintin' to kill nobody! I thort you was a bar; so help me, I did! They told us, down along, that we might meet up with a bar comin' through these mountains, and when we looked down yonder, we shore thort you-all was one, didn't we, Jeff?"

"Where are you fellows from?" he demanded.

"We're from Tennessee. Been to Utah, seen 'im hit was a little country for white folks. Hit ain't, and we're aintin' to go back where we come from."

"Did you stop in Brewster?" "Didn't stop only long enough to buy us some grub."

JESTER WELL PAID FOR MAKING MIRTH

World Seeks Forgetfulness of Its Troubles.

The business of making the public laugh has reached large proportions. This modern career offers opportunity to gain substantial fortunes by those who know what the masses will consider funny.

These modern jokersmiths are serious students of the psychology of laughter, who scientifically go about the business of tickling the risibility of their audiences.

The old idea that merriment is trifling and unworthy of serious men has given way to the knowledge that a sense of humor may often enable a man to rise above his troubles.

"Tell me what you laugh at and I'll tell you your mental age," said Professor Gaum, of Rutgers college. A sense of humor is a sense of proportion.

Are You Nervous? Colorado Springs, Colo. — "At one time I was awfully nervous and did not rest well at night. My whole system seemed to be unbalanced, I just had to drag myself around," said Mrs. J. M. Hoegraas of 2110 W. Cochran St.

THIS WOMAN LOST 35 LBS. OF FAT

Mrs. M. Walter of Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "My husband and I had been married for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to have the written guaranty. I believe a nurse should know for it is tried on many babies but only Kruschen answered all purposes." EDITORIAL COLUMN

There Must Be a Tax Reduction

In 1930 the population of the United States was a trifle less than twice that of 1890.

The national wealth was six times as great.

The tax collections of government, federal, state and local, were 12 times the 1890 levies. An 827 per cent increase was registered by the federal government, with state and local taxes jumping 1754 per cent and 1139 per cent respectively.

Since 1930 taxes have continued to increase. National income has taken an appreciable drop. There has been little change in population.

At the moment, more of the individual business dollar goes to the government than at any other time in our history. During 1933 it is estimated that taxes will take at least 30 per cent of our national income.

Taxation is as serious an economic problem as we have ever faced. There has been on the one hand, an unprecedented collapse in incomes and values—on the other, an unprecedented orgy of government spending and indebtedness. Until taxes are reduced, there can be no recovery—unless taxes are reduced we face a bleak future.

Banking News

Aftermath of the banking difficulties is a drive to bring all of the 12,000 state banks into the Federal Reserve System.

Some observers hold that this is not enough—in 1932, over 80 per cent of bank failures involved banks of less than $200,000 capital and they believe this to be proof of a need for extension of branch banking.

Others point to the fact that thousands of small banks are excellently managed, and are as sound or sounder than many big banks, and hold that banking legislation should simply seek to eliminate poor management and dubious practices, whether the product of dishonesty or ineptitude.

Prehistoric Ruins Discovered in Socorro County

Socorro Chieftain

The recent discovery of prehistoric ruins at Gallinas Springs has awakened considerable interest and curiosity locally.

They are located about twenty miles northwest of Magdalena, and a superficial examination shows them to be of much greater extent than was first expected.

The probable dimensions of the biggest communal house was about 800 feet by 450 feet and was several stories in height, of rock and adobe mortar, and most inside walls also plastered with adobe.

The discovery was due to the arroyo waters exposing the walls by erosion. The outside wall next to the arroyo has been made visible for about 100 feet and partially washed away, exposing many rooms and cross walls. In most of these rooms are human bones and fragments of pottery of many different classes, indicating more than one ancient tribe or civilization has lived here at different periods in the past.

H. Garvin Smith, local head of the forest service, has recently posted on the main ruin, forbidding further exploration except with the consent of the federal government and under the supervision of the Smithsonian Institute.

Here and There

Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany has an article that began in the March 25th issue of the Liberty Magazine. We saw a news reel recently where the Crown Prince spoke English fluently, being also quite an artist. The Crown Prince wishes to correct the general impression made of him in cartoons, where he was shown with his bayonet piercing little children, and riding through their blood. He is in reality quite democratic and affable. — No, this isn't German propaganda.

There has been a boycott and persecution of the Jews started recently by the Nazis in Berlin. Signs were posted in different parts of the city, warning the public the store was owned by Jews. This age-old custom of their persecution in a civilized time like this, isn't just. The Jews rank among the most intelligent people in the world, and they are our best citizens.

Wouldn't it be nice to hear an old-fashioned German band? We have reference to the "Hungry Five" variety, that used to "buck" or play for small change around the dispensers of "conversation water" places and on the streets. Said band had a rotary valve cornet, a trombone, baritone and an E-flat bass. No more; no less. Now wouldn't it? We have learned that "anything can happen." They may be with us again.

The small boy says: "Gee, school will be over in a short time; I'm sorry, for I enjoy to go to school. (1)"

Guardians of Peace in Colorful War Game

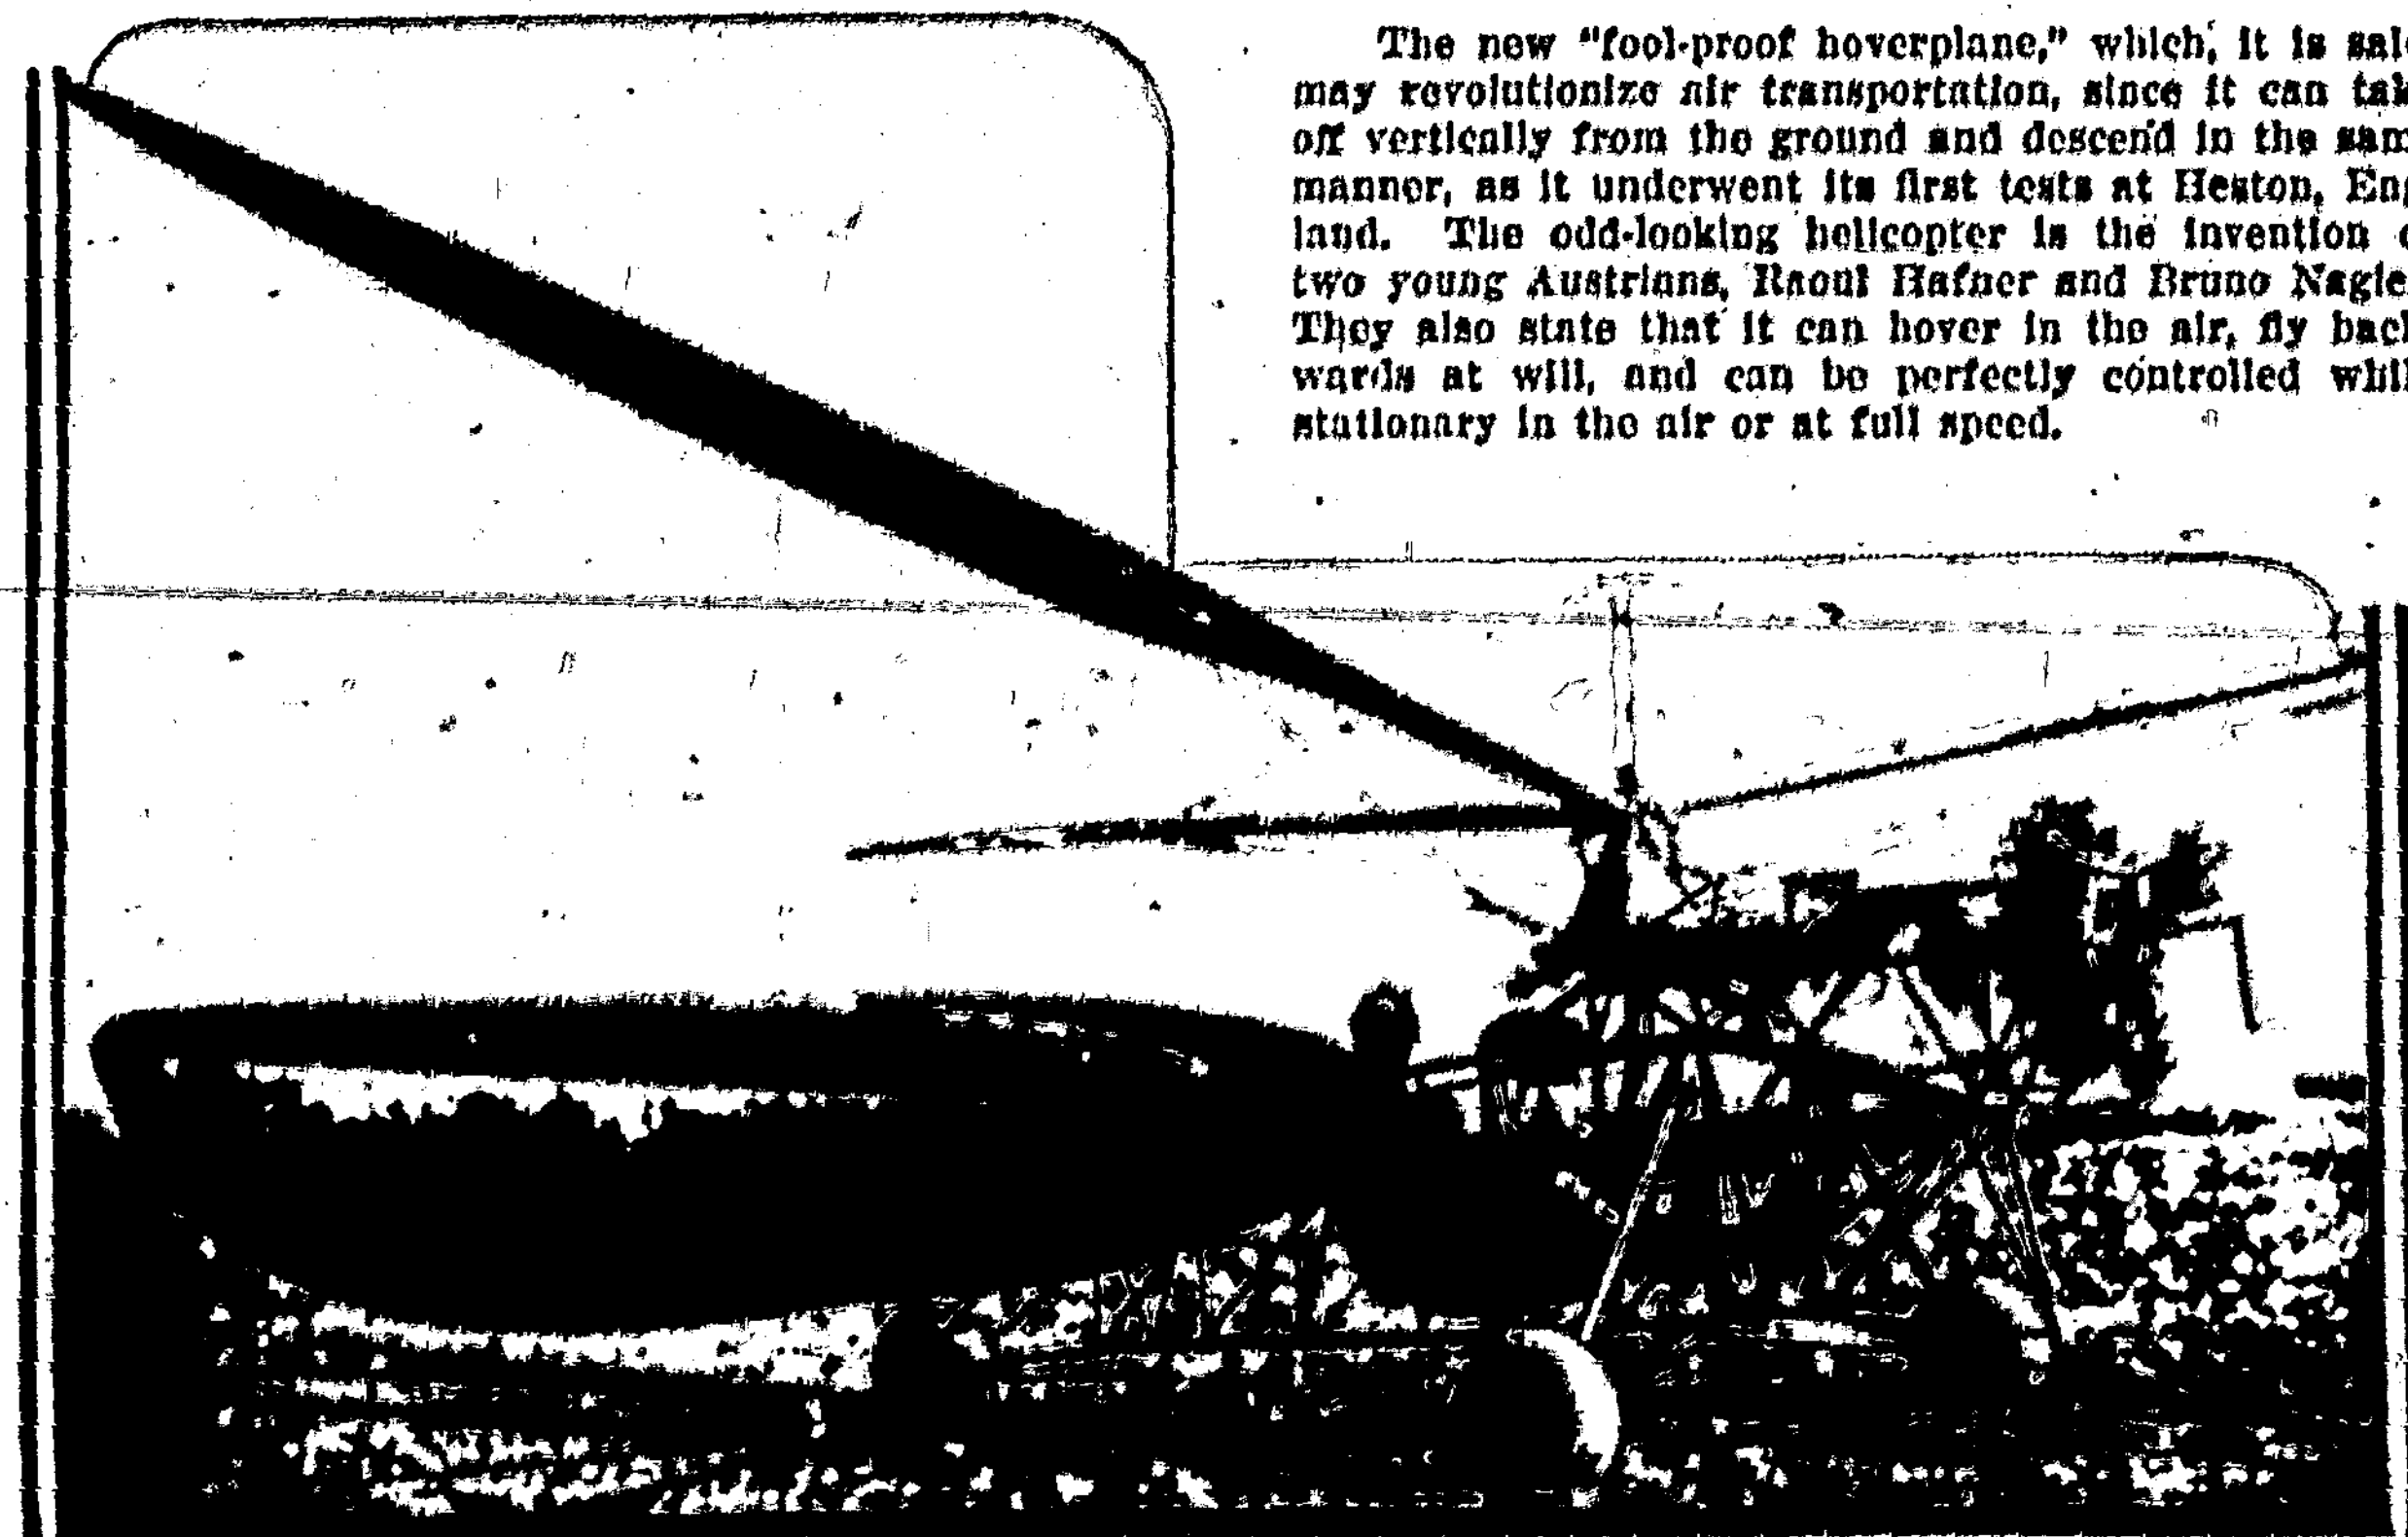

Ever since the entire United States navy was brought to the Pacific coast to remain during unsettled conditions in the Far East, the various divisions have been engaged in brilliant tactical maneuvers off the coast of southern California in preparation for further developments in the Japanese invasion of China. Photograph shows the U. S. S. destroyer Crowninshield plowing through heavy seas off the coast of southern California, leading a parade of destroyers and battleships in maneuvers.

This May Revolutionize the Air Industry

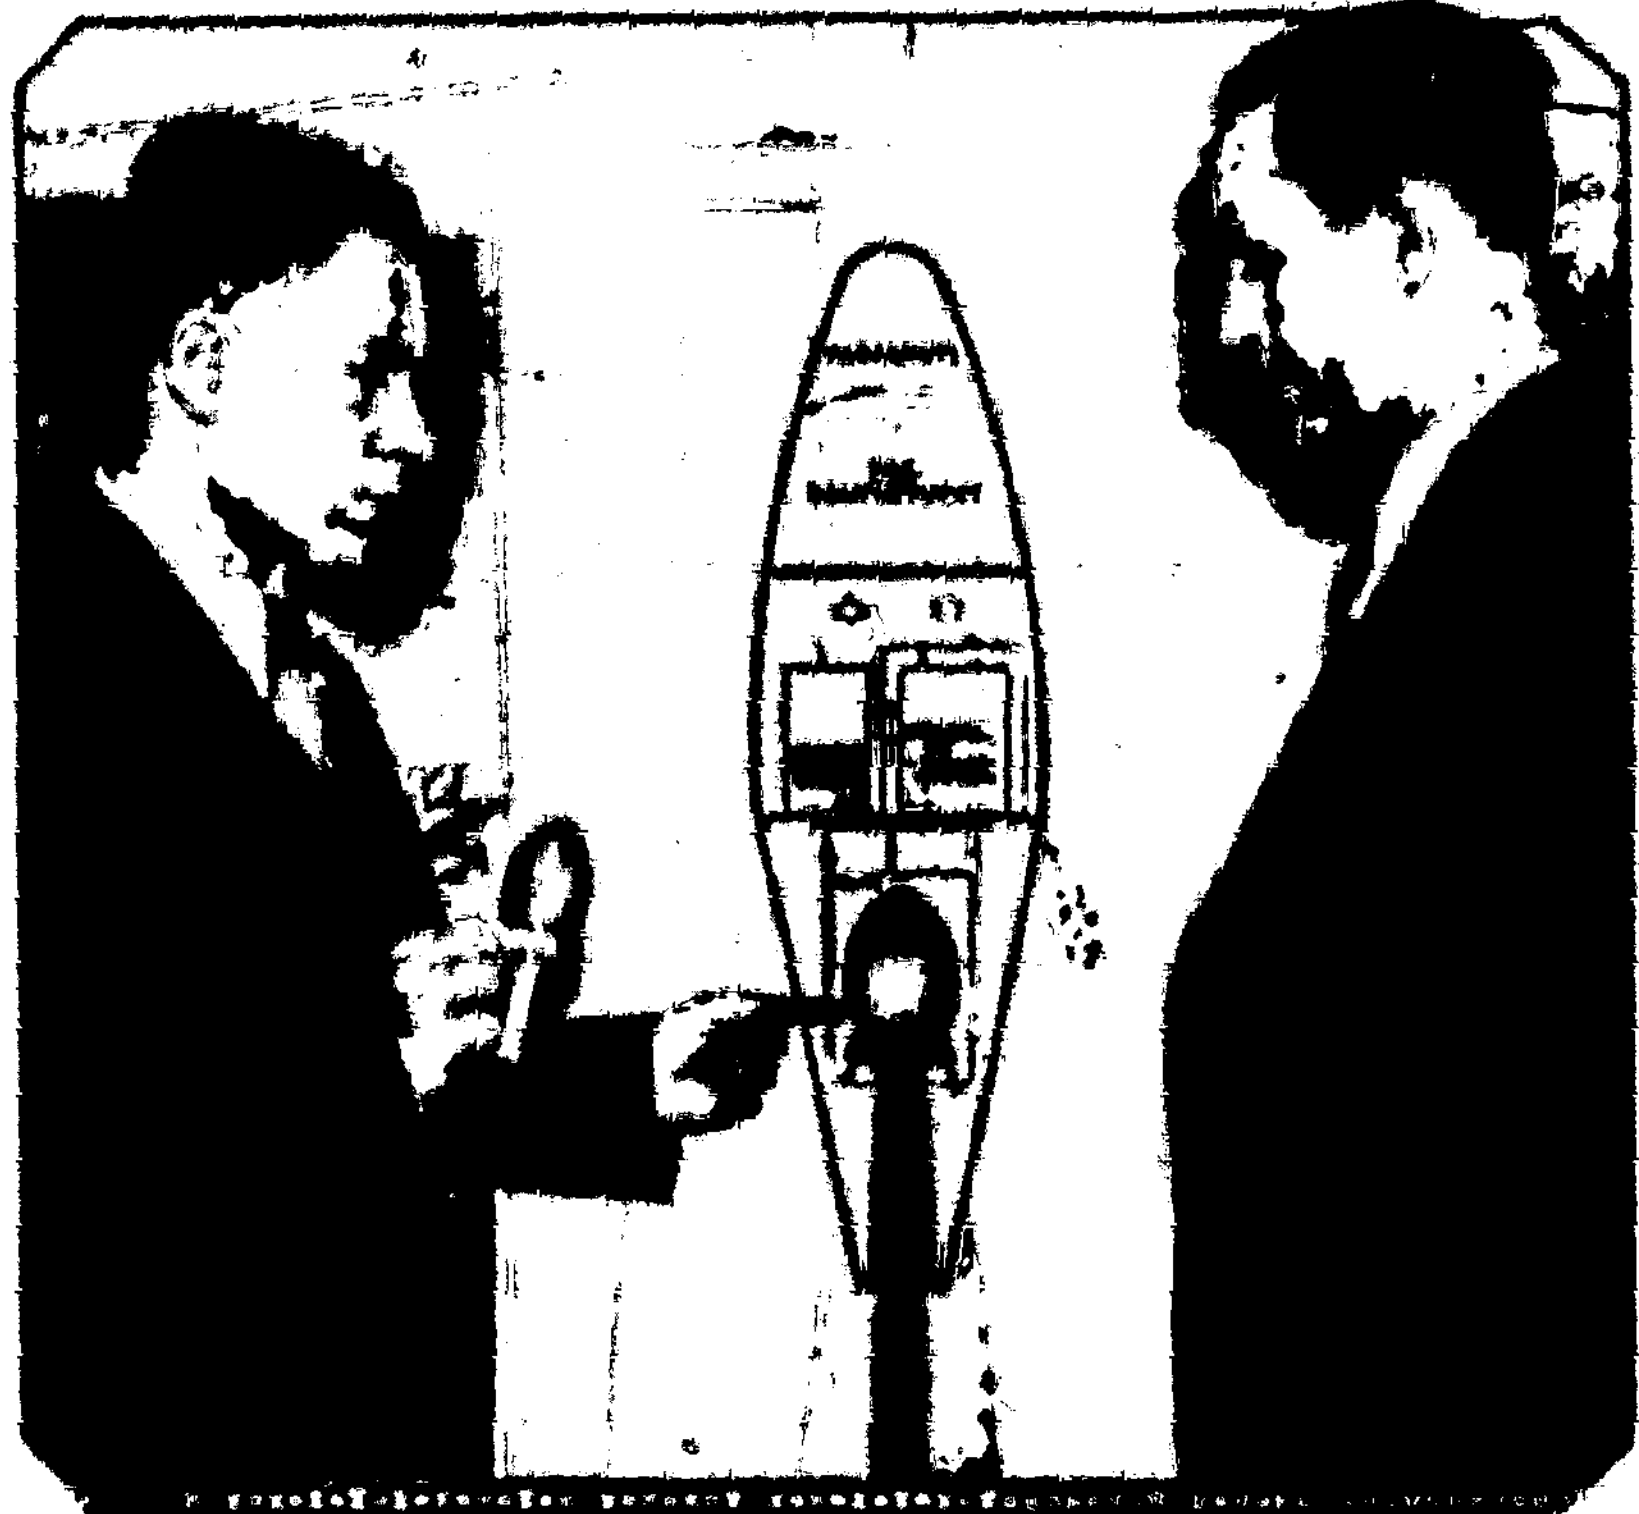

The new "fool-proof hoverplane," which, it is said, may revolutionize air transportation, since it can take off vertically from the ground and descend in the same manner, as it underwent its first tests at Heston, England. The odd-looking helicopter is the invention of two young Austrians, Raoul Hafner and Bruno Nagler. They also state that it can hover in the air, fly backwards at will, and can be perfectly controlled while stationary in the air or at full speed.

Turning Out Millions and Millions of Dollars

A scene in the printing room of the United States bureau of engraving and printing, where the $2,000,000,000 in currency was turned out in a few days to supplement the currency in circulation before the bank holiday, ordered by President Roosevelt. This is one of the first pictures made in the bureau of engraving and printing in many years, and was made on the occasion of Secretary of Treasury Woodin's inspection of the new money.

Plan Skyrocket to Ascend 50 Miles

Cleveland has become a participant in the worldwide race to skyrocket into the deep blue of outer space. Ernest Loebell, member of the German Interplanetary society of Berlin (above left) is shown going over the details of their "space ship" with C. W. St. Clair. Loebell is holding a model of the principal unit of the rocket motor which will burn gasoline in liquid oxygen.

"HACK" SIGNS UP

Hands Over $500,000 Jewel Haul

Harry Sidmor, left, of New York, handed over the $500,000 worth of jewels he obtained in a series of thefts at Miami Beach, Fla. They were concealed in a pleasant bungalow which apparently was used as a base of operations. With him are shown the chief of police and mayor of Miami Beach.

First Woman Typist in Celebration

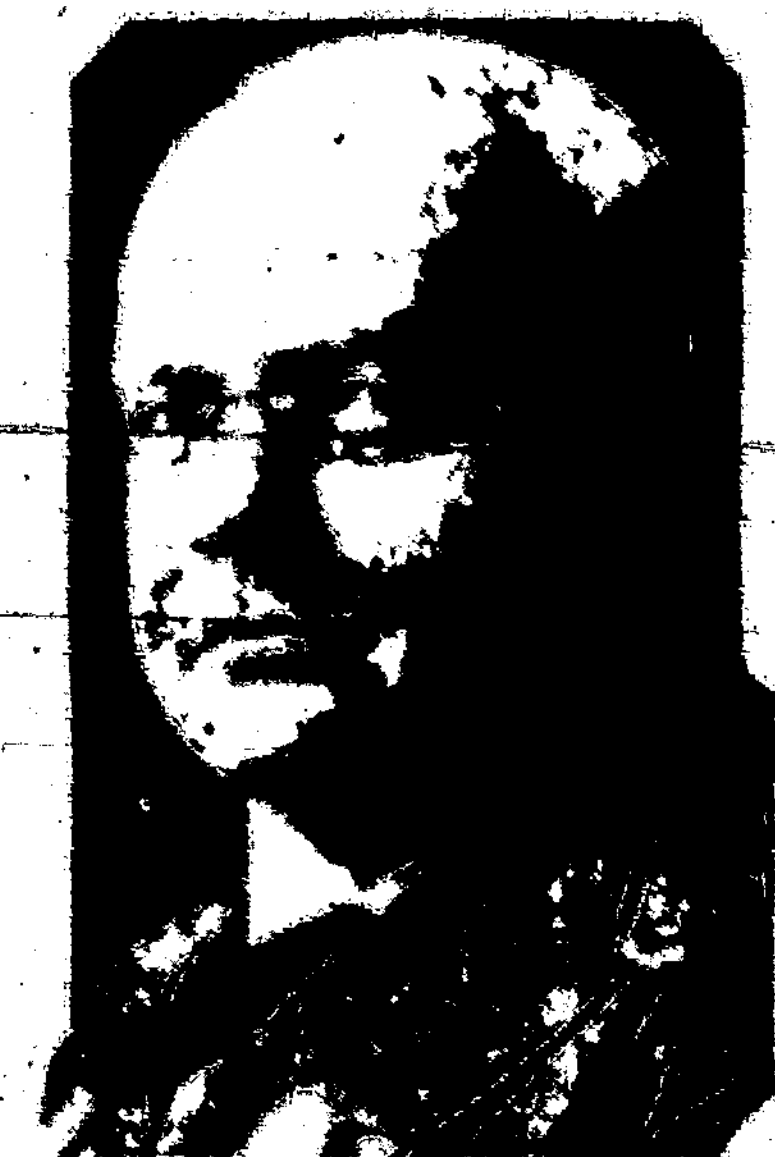

Mrs. Charles J. Fortier of Allwauke, daughter of Christopher L. Sholes, inventor of the typewriter and the first woman typist in the world, participated in the celebration marking the sixtieth anniversary of her father's invention. Mrs. Fortier, although now near eighty, is still an expert typist and has never been without a machine since 1866. She assisted her father in much of his experimental work that led to the perfection of the machine.

WINS FORTUNE

David Feinof, a bakery wagon driver of Philadelphia, won $500,000 in a Cuban lottery on a $2 ticket. That the Cuban government takes $80,000 and the United States government $28,000 does not worry him in the least. "I'm keeping on with my work until I receive the money," he said.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

What shall we write about this week? There are plenty of good clippings, but we want to get local news items as far as possible, such as: John Jones has a new colt, or Jim Smith had a serious accident last week, falling into a tub of scalding water, etc.—that's news.

We note that an exchange is mucho peeved at the well-known columnist, Senor Artie Brisbane.—He gets the shekels, anyhow.

Remember THE Ball Team?

"Batter Up!" How good that sounds. Remember that all-star baseball team we had many moons ago when Pat Dolan and Harry Norman were on the mound, Billy Norman caught, Meyer Barnett on first base, Morgan Kelly, Wilcox, Billy Gallacher and I. D. Baker on the bases. Besides, there were Louis Adams and Ernie Dingwall in the field. Quite an aggregation of ball players for a small town; in other words, "SOME baseball team!" Oh, we forgot, as Umpires there were Tex Loughrey, John Gallacher, L. A. Jolly, Wayne Van Schoyck and Mike Barnett. Will those days ever come back again?

"I note that the quaint old custom of throwing beer mugs at the Umpire will soon be in vogue" observes Will Ed Harris. "They used to miss him with pop bottles, but oh you beer mugs, hot dog," he says.

Methodist Church

Ninety-five in Sunday School; 34 in Capitan and 48 in Angus. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in Carrizozo at 11 a. m. Sunday. All are cordially invited to partake of these elements of bread and wine with us in memory of Him who died for us all. The days are getting longer so we will have Epworth League service at 7 p. m. Church service will be at eight.

Please keep the special Easter service in mind and make preparations to attend. We will meet at the church Easter Sunday morning, April 16, and go from the church to the little rocky hill on the Malpais for a sunrise service. We want to be there and sing the praises of our Risen Lord at sunrise. The sun rises at 5:30 on Easter Sunday morning. The services on the Malpais will combine the Sunday School, Epworth League and church. It will be our only service for the day. Remember that three women went to Christ's sepulchre "very early in the morning before it was yet day" on the morning of His resurrection. Let us follow their example this Easter. All who are to be baptised will be baptised at the service on the Malpais. The service will consist of music, songs, scripture, prayer and the Resurrection Story. All are welcome.

By the Woman's Club

On Saturday afternoon, April 16, all children whose mothers are members of the Woman's Club are invited to a picnic to be held in the upper grove of the Bar W ranch. Cars will be at the Community Hall at 2 o'clock to take the children to the picnic ground.

Felipe Sanchez of Tularosa visited his sons, Abe and Benny Sanchez and their families here last week. Mr. Sanchez said everything was in bloom in the Tularosa valley.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hanson of La Luz passed through here yesterday on their way to Albuquerque. Mr. Hanson was formerly with the Dawson Coal Company at Dawson, but is now retired and they are residing on their home place at La Luz, where they raise fruit and vegetables in choice varieties. The Hansons are old friends of the writer and we always meet at Republican conventions, where the Hansons interest themselves in the affairs of the party. They will return to La Luz Sunday or Monday.

Lon Atkinson of Corona was here the latter part of last week and while in town, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brack Sloan. We failed to see our old friend on this trip, consequently, we can still use our right hand at our duties, for if you ever shake hands with Lon, you'll surely remember it. In his work at his garage, if he can't hold anything strong enough in his vice, he uses his hands—and Oh, boy, he has a some grip in that paw of his'n! It is best to shake hands with him at a distance.

The Carrizozo and Mountain-air baseball teams will play the first game of the season on the local diamond on Easter Sunday, April 16. Admission, 10-25c.

J. H. Fulmer of the New Mexico Light & Power Co., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harkey and little daughter Earline are spending two days of the week in El Paso and will return Saturday.

J. A. Brubaker, proprietor of the Liberty Garage of Capitan, was a business visitor here the latter part of last week. While in town, Bru made this office a friendly call.

Proposition On the Arms Embargo

President Roosevelt has asked Congress to give him blanket authority to declare an arms embargo on any nation which might be termed the aggressor in any part of the world in case of trouble and there is no doubt but what this has been brought about by the recent trouble between Japan and China. Nothing could be better calculated to bring strife between this country and Japan, than such an embargo, whether or not, the United States would be acting in connection with other nations of Europe.

Let us reason this out and see where we would get with the embargo. If Japan should be considered the aggressor and the embargo be regarded as an act of war, our country with all of its interests in the Pacific ocean would be the "goat" and have the most to lose because of the fact that we would be expected by all European nations to bear the brunt and stop the lead. Again, if such should be the case and the embargo be followed by Japan seizing our ships or our Pacific possessions, what would there be left to do but to fight, in which the nations of Europe would render us no assistance whatever.

In speaking of the arms embargo and the President's power alone to place that at his will, Mr. Tinkham of Massachusetts said: "There is even more than this to the proposal. It would take away from Congress, the power to impose an embargo and would give the President the unlimited power to place the same at his will to declare war and also set himself up as a judge of foreign disputes. In other words, the power that has always been vested in Congress to protect the people would be taken away, parliamentary government would become a mere form and in the President, we would have a dictator.

The American people will not tolerate a dictator or follow the policies like those before the war, said to be peace policies, whereas such practices inevitably lead to war."

Calvin Lane and Ray Scaggs were here from Corona Tuesday, Mr. Scaggs filing his notice of intention to make final proof on his homestead.

Attendants at P. T. A. Dance
