FINDS NEW FUEL

A new fuel which promises to revolutionize the transportation of the world has been extracted by T. H. Kruttschnitt, son of the late railroad magnate, Julius Kruttschnitt, from natural gas. It is made from butane gas which has either been ignored by engineers and chemists or used only to help in refining gasoline.

Washington Digest National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart

Washington.—President Roosevelt's departure from the White house for a rest and a fishing cruise calls attention again to the tremendous strain to which a President of the United States is subjected. Anyone holding that office has to undergo it and, despite attempts to make the job easier, none has come forward with a workable plan to lighten the burden.

Presidents have been criticized in communities away from the national capital many times in the past because they took a week or a month off. In other years, it has been common to hear political attacks on the President then occupying the White House on account of vacations or recreational methods that caused their absence from the executive mansion. Observers here, however, can in no wise agree that such criticism is justified. On the contrary, I believe the agreement would be on a premise that were the President unable to get away from his job periodically, he would be a broken man physically, if not mentally, in a short time.

The President of the United States has at his beck and call all of the advisers, all of the expert assistance, everything that is required to enable him to do the job. Yet, with all of this, he cannot dodge the responsibility of leadership, and that is the crux of the problem. He must lead in the right direction and that necessitates familiarity with every problem to be solved by his administration. He receives advice and assistance from all shades of opinion because it is human for men and women to have varying views. So the President has to sort them out and arrive at his own conclusions and those conclusions either make or break the administration.

In order to illustrate the truth of the statement that the job of President of the United States is a man-killer, let us review what has happened since Franklin D. Roosevelt took office. He entered the White House with the most acute banking crisis ever known staring him in the face; he assumed the Presidency when the country's agriculture was in the throes of destitution, if not actual starvation; he took over the job at a time when 12,000,000 were without work and whose resources were gone, and with the industries of the nation unable to operate as a whole at more than 50 per cent of normal activity.

The President, of course, knew how desperate the conditions were and he immediately called congress into extraordinary session, he closed the banks for a holiday so they could get started fresh after they had had time to determine whether they were solvent and he began grinding out a program for legislation by congress designed to restore order out of chaos. These things were done within a period of ten days and it was thought the strain would lessen after the banks were again operating. But the days and nights between March 4 and March 15, the period of the banking holiday, were only the beginning. Others presenting just as much of a burden have occurred until the current question is: how did the President stand it?

It may sound simple that the President called congress into extra session; that he closed the banks and that he did all of the other things mentioned above. Unfortunately, it is not so simple as it sounds. For example, Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated with a hoop, March 4; he had luncheon with a few friends and went to work with the new members of his cabinet. A steady stream of men filed in and out of the President's office, as the new Chief Executive sought to map plans. This continued into the night after the President had gone to the White House itself and long after midnight he was working on a program for handling the banking situation. Awakened at seven o'clock, the circumstances of the preceding afternoon and night were repeated although it was Sunday. Then, the banking holiday proclamation was ready.

But the banks, having been closed, must needs be reopened. Emergency legislation was required. It had to be drafted quickly and it had to be bullet-proof. Bankers and experts in finance and in legislation were summoned; others were called by long distance telephone and their views and suggestions ascertained and members of the senate and the house had to be consulted that any slip might be avoided.

That was just one problem. There were numerous others, perhaps not quite as acute at that time but nevertheless vital to the country as a whole. In order to save precious moments, the President was eating his noisily meal on his desk in the Executive office. Perhaps he had had a group of legislators or advisors with him at breakfast. He seldom was able to dine alone in the evening because there were questions to be decided at once and people whom he had called to consult were awaiting the moment they were to have with him.

It would naturally seem that the strain would subside after the first few weeks of a new administration, but such was not the case for President Roosevelt. He told the country during his campaign that he would like to have "a honeymoon" in office for awhile. He wanted to start off his administration without having congress in session and with some time to map plans. But, that was not to be. The "honeymoon," if such it can be called, has been delayed until now, and even now he is not safe from the worries of his job, nor from the pestering of office seeking politicians.

The newspaper correspondents of Washington are in a peculiar position to judge the load the President carries. Those who are detailed to report White House activities are thankful when the President sends out word that there will be a brief respite. It means a moment in which those writers can safely leave their job and eat a meal without fearing that the President has sent another special message to congress or has determined to call a world conference or has suddenly decided on some less consequential thing like appointment of a collector of internal revenue or a United States attorney somewhere.

From the outlines given, it is obvious there was constant activity. But the activity itself would not have proved unbearable. It was the mental strain of reasoning out the problems and their solutions and the determination of which course should be pursued, since always there are two sides to the question. Frankly, it has always been amazing to me how Presidents have been able to survive the ordeal of their office.

Mr. Roosevelt is taking the cruise in order to recuperate and revitalize himself. He enjoys the outdoors. Just as President Hoover enjoyed outdoors and President Coolidge enjoyed fishing and as President Harding and President Wilson enjoyed golf and as President Taft enjoyed walking and President Theodore Roosevelt enjoyed horseback riding. Mr. Hoover, it will be recalled, used to spend week-ends at a mountain camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia where he could rough it and fish, and he fished in the Potomac river, too, when he had time to make a river trip. President Harding would rather play a game of golf as a member of a foursome with cronies than do anything else, thoroughly enjoying companionship. President Coolidge seemed to enjoy solitude on a yacht, although usually he had a couple of intimate friends aboard when he went on cruises.

Actually the purpose of these outings is to get away from all of the demands coming upon the office of President. He must and should have some freedom. His physical well-being is at stake at all times, for unless he is physically fit he becomes incapable of dealing with the tasks. Presidents can receive whomsoever they desire to receive in their offices, but the list of visitors has to be called closely in order not to overwork the Chief Executive's time. Some of the senators and representatives, however, have adopted another method of saving time for themselves in order to get work done. They go into hiding. Otherwise, folks from the home state would occupy so much of their time they would not be able to study the problems of legislation they have before them.

Few of the legislators have the courage, however, that has been shown by Senator Tydings of Maryland. His home state being within street car distance, the Maryland senator has plenty of visitors. He has solved his problem by posting a notice on his office door. It says his office hours are from morning until noon, when the senate convenes. After that time, no amount of knocking on the door will cause it to be opened. It seems to me that it has required a considerable determination to take such a course, but Senator Tydings did and thus far has not caused any real howl from his constituents.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri is causing just a little bit of disturbance around the White House. Although the senator is still a freshman, so to speak, because this is his first full term, he has demonstrated already that he is like his father, the late Speaker Champ Clark, who came so near being the Democratic Presidential nominee over Woodrow Wilson.

The late Speaker Clark was a thorn in the flesh of President Wilson. Senator Clark is proving he is a chip off the old block by being a thorn in the side of the present President. He broke with the President on the so-called economy bill and he refused to stand hitched to several other measures, including the industrial recovery-public construction measure. The Missouri senator always has been regarded as a Democrat through and through, but he appears to dislike portions of the "new deal" because of their unorthodox character.

BIBLICAL CITY IN DEAD SEA WATER?

May Confirm Destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah.

A message to the London Times from a correspondent in Cairo stated that an airman flying recently over the southern part of the Dead sea reported having seen a "town lying beneath the water." This town, according to an assistant to Sir Finders Petrie, interviewed by a representative of the London Observer, is thought of the London Gomorrah, or another of the "Five Cities of the Plain" that were destroyed at the same time with them. Archaeologists are not in agreement as to the probable site of those cities. The northern shores have been considered the most likely. But, in the Scriptural record, mention is made of a little city nearby named Zoar, a city to which Lot and his daughters fled, a city so small as not to be as wicked as the rest! A city of that name at the south remained into Roman times.

There is abundant evidence that there was a Canaanitish civilization in that region at a time when the plain was "well watered, everywhere as thou goest toward Zoar"—like the garden of the Lord. The place was filled with city states as the Scriptural record suggests, each with its king: "And it came to pass in the days of Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arloch, king of Elasar, Chedorlommer, king of Elam and Tidal, king of Gollim, that they made war with Bera, king of Sodom and with Birsha, king of Gomorrah, Shinar, king of Admah, and Shemeber, king of Zebollim and the king of Bela—(the same is Zoar). All these joined together in the vale of Siddim (the same is the Salt sea)."

Suddenly all the kings departed and with them all the inhabitants of the cities and that which grew upon the ground, for more than 20 centuries. An "earthquake with fiery eruptions" is postulated, and a consequent general desolation. "And Abraham looked toward Sodom and Gomorrah and toward all the land of the plain and beheld, and lo, the smoke of the land went up as the smoke of a furnace." Perhaps, too, the waters of the Dead sea were, before the disturbance, whatever it was, at a lower level. Now from the airman's height their depths even are visible, and it may be that the sequel of the story of the judgment on Sodom and Gomorrah will be told.

Puny Creatures That Have Held Up Trains

A train was traveling on the Morelos railway of Mexico when the driver suddenly saw a red light ahead, and pulled up in a hurry. Before he could find out what the trouble was, another train came up behind, and ran into his, killing three passengers. The red light was just an ordinary signal lantern, on which had settled a swarm of cochinal insects. The light, shining through their tiny bodies, caused the signal to appear a vivid crimson.

Lions have held up railway traffic in East Africa, and elephants have done the same in Burma, but you can hardly imagine a hedgehog as capable of such an act. Yet near Sandbach, in Cheshire, a hedgehog held up all traffic for nearly an hour. The unfortunate little beast crept between the points and the side rail, and was trapped when the points were moved, thus preventing them from closing properly.

Still more amazing was the exploit of a beetle, which, by crawling into the signaling apparatus at Hounslow, upset the contact and caused all signals to be set at danger. It was a quarter of an hour before the source of the trouble was discovered.—London Answers.

Eczema Burned and Itched Terribly

Healed by Cuticura

"Eczema, broke out in pimples on my child's head and later spread to her neck and back. It burned and itched terribly and the little one scratched and cried continually. Her clothing hurt her so that I kept a very thin dress on her. Her hair came out in handfuls, and what was left was lifeless and dry. The irritation prevented her from sleeping.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I could see a difference after using them. I purchased more and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. K. Thompson, Energy, Texas, July 26, 1932.

The Forgotten Farmer

We have heard among other things in the big Democratic parade, of the forgotten farmer, who, according to the Democrats, was left out in the cold by the Republican administration and after the beginning of the "new deal," a great fuss was made about the manner in which he was treated. The Democrats wept bitter tears over his condition and swore by all that was good and bad, that he would have speedy relief at the hands of the new administration. But this has gone by the wayside along with other things of the new "squel," for in a recent notice from the Department of Agriculture and bureau of economics, we find that, we quote: "Under economy program of the federal government, the federal market news service will be discontinued and all offices issuing market reports will be closed on June 30, 1933." We are still quoting: "This and other reports issued by this service will be discontinued on or before that date."

First it was the forgotten veteran and now it is the forgotten farmer and ranchman, who comes under the economy axe. Now let the farmers and ranchmen be patient, for it will not be long before we have the old wildcat money and the scrip which would not be worth a cent outside of the town or city for which the same had been issued. Then again, as one good Republican has suggested, this act of economy may be for the purpose of laying aside a fund to purchase shaving cream and powder for "the boys" — who knows? With all the flurry, ringing of bells and beating of drums, nothing that the Democratic administration has started, has gone but a short distance before it met its death like the bold strike of relieving the farmer and ranchman. In short, there is nothing to any of it. Products are going up and wages remaining the same, which is equivalent to another reduction of wages. The Democrats have never relieved a distressful condition in the nation and never will.

S. P. Announces Another Dollar Day, June 30-July 4

Excursion travel over the Fourth of July this year will have the lowest fares ever offered for the holiday period, it was announced today by C. P. Huppertz, Agent for the S. P. Company here.

Arrangements have been completed, he said, for Dollar Day offerings of cent-a-mile round-trip transportation from June 30 to July 4 inclusive, with return limit of July 11.

The low-fare program will embrace all of the railroad's lines in six western states, according to the announcement.

DE E. BRADSHAW, NEWLY ELECTED HEAD OF W. O. W., IS NATIONALLY KNOWN

As General Attorney He Was Active Legally in Nearly Every State

De Emmet E. Bradshaw, who was elected president of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Association at a special meeting of

De E. Bradshaw
the Sovereign Camp in Omaha, Nebraska, on November 30, was formerly general attorney of the organization for 16 years.

Mr. Bradshaw fills the unexpired term of the late W. A. Fraser, who died while in Europe. Mr. Fraser was buried in Dallas, and special memorial services were held in his memory at national headquarters.

The newly elected president was born in a log cabin in Arkansas.
He taught school as a youngster
and then attended LaCrosse collegiate institute. Later he was graduated from National Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio. He attended the night law school of the University of Arkansas and started his practice in Little Rock.

Mr. Bradshaw was very active in politics and business in Little Rock. He became associated with Woodmen of the World as head

Consul for the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi before being elected to the Board of Directors while J. C. Root was first president of W. O. W.

Mr. Bradshaw came to Omaha in 1916 as General Attorney and with Mr. Fraser reorganized the Association into the strongest fraternal insurance company in the world.
He engaged in litigation on behalf of W. O. W. in nearly every state of the Union and in federal courts with a very large degree of success.

Members of the Board of Directors regard Mr. Bradshaw as one of the outstanding legal minds in the fraternal insurance field. His profound knowledge of insurance law and his natural leadership are his chief assets.

"No man was ever more fortunate than I in his mother," said Mr. Bradshaw. "Her loving prayers follow me all the days of my life, and I owe all of my success to the early training and care she gave me. I am glad to say that though she is 96 years old, she is still able to get around the house, taking care of her duties, making quilts, knitting laces."

Mr. Bradshaw is a past president of the Fraternal Society Law Association and also of the Legal Section of the National Fraternal
Congress. As general attorney, Mr.
Bradshaw approved more than $200,000,000 of bonds purchased for the organization, and is largely responsible for the excellent securities it has in its portfolio.

W. O. W. has had a steady consistent growth during the 42 years of its existence. It has approximately 400,000 members throughout the United States. Its net assets on December 1 of this year
totaled more than $110,000,000, which is an increase in net assets
of $4,500,000 during one year.

Among the features of W. O. W. are Radio Station WOW in Omaha
and the World Memorial Hospital at San Antonio, Texas, for members afflicted with tuberculosis.

MICKIE SAYS

THE ONLY MAN WHO EVER FOUND IT DIDN'T PAY TO ADVERTISE WUZ -
THE KAISER!

It's His Money
"Business dislikes the self-satisfied man," says Gordon Selfridge, Jr. Perhaps, but oh! how business does bow-tow to the self-satisfied man's money.
--New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Triumphant Old Age
They're always vital magnetic women who seem to preserve an open mind and a triumphant body well into old age. --Woman's Home Companion.

When Silence Depresses
Some people's power of holding their tongues at the wrong time makes one feel like falling down a bottomless well. --Woman's Home Companion.

Not So Dull
Half the world may not know how the other half lives, but it usually has its suspicions.

Antlers Doubly Forked
The large size of the ears and the curious antics when disturbed suggested the name Mule Deer says Nature Magazine. The antlers are doubly forked. In the early spring the red-brown does leave the bands with which they have spent the winter and choose secluded canyons or wooded glades where their one to three fawns are born.

The Hedges of England
The hedges, yes, the hedges, the very synonym of Merry England--are yet
there, and long may they remain.
Without hedges England would not be England. Hedges, thick and high and full of flowers, birds and living creatures, of shade and flecks of sunshine dancing up and down the bark of trees
--I love their very thorns. You do not know how much there is in hedges. -- Richard Jefferies in "Notes on Landscape Painting."

Mirages Seen No More Certain parts of Kansas were formerly noted for the number of mirages
to be encountered there at rather frequent intervals, but in recent years
these interesting sky pictures have disappeared and the reason is said to rest in the fact that the state has been largely planted with wheat and the lack of variety in the landscape gives no opportunity for the formation of a mirage.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Miss Thelma White of White Oaks was a Carrizozo visitor on Thursday of this week.

Maurice Lemon left Saturday night for West Point Military Academy where he will begin training for a four-year term.

No More Blow-Outs

The New Safety Silvertown Fire is specially constructed to prevent Blow-Outs. Most of the fatal accidents in the last few months have been caused by such blow-outs at high speeds. Come in for a demonstration.—HARVEY'S SERVICE STATION.

R. E. P. Warden and Frank Maxwell were in town Saturday from their respective ranches north of here. They were highly elated over the recent rains.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Sanchez and Miss Carmel Pino spent last week-end in Tularosa with relatives and friends.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Padilla died last Sunday night and was buried Monday.

Mr. Doering is having the time of his life at the World's Fair in Chicago. Mike is stopping at the Sherman Hotel, and at that popular hostelry, ladies of high rank will have a chance to vamp the merchant of Carrizozo.

Miss Louise Pino was here last Friday from the ranch east of town to spend the day with friends.

Sylvester Baca, Sr., has installed a piano in his dance hall on the east side. This week he had a concrete stand erected in one corner of the hall, for the use of the musicians.

Mrs. Benigno Gallegos was in from the ranch last Saturday and in conversation, she told of her skill in milking a cow after being absent from the ranch for nearly fifteen years.

In the big horse race at Corona last Saturday, of which we made special mention in our last issue, Marion Jolly's sorrel, "Snipp" won the race and Cleve Brown was the jockey. Could you wonder at such a result with a fast horse like "Snipp" and a rider like Cleve Brown, who "knows the road"?

Mrs. Ernest Dingwall is here this week from Tucumcari visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Cora Crews of Oscura was a Carrizozo business visitor on Wednesday of this week.

Says the Tucumcari News: Miss Herndon Rely returned yesterday from Santa Rosa, where she had been since Saturday. Her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ed Harris of Carrizozo, motored to Tucumcari Saturday morning and left, accompanied by Miss Rely for Santa Rosa, where they enjoyed fishing as guests of Jerry Laaster.

Bill Mendenhall wishes to announce that the Revelers will give their next big dance at White Oaks on Saturday night, July 5 and will follow with another at Lutz Hall on Saturday night, July 15. Keep the two dates in mind so that you may attend on both occasions.

Last night at Long Island, Primo Carnera knocked out Jack Sharkey in the sixth round. It was like an elephant handling a rag doll. Carnera weighed nearly sixty pounds more than Sharkey. In the future, fighters in the human class should refuse to fight gorillas, house wreckers and steam shovels.

LYRIC THEATRE
R. A. Walker, Owner

The theatre which has been closed for the summer months, will re-open on the dates of July 7-8, for the Community Beauty Pageant, in which all local girls who choose to enter, may contest for the prize of a free trip to the World's Fair, with those from other places over the state, at Roswell on August 10-11.

One of the features of the show will be styles of the gay nineties which will be depicted with costumes such as the colonial gown, an old-fashioned bicycle suit, an 1864 bathing suit and a 1927 sport suit. Girls who compete for the title of Miss Lincoln County, will wear evening gowns, sport clothes and 1933 beach fashions.

Miss Katherine Kelt, who won the contest last year, won sixth place in the contest at Roswell. Miss Kelt will be introduced from the stage, but will not compete for the prize. Mr. and Mrs. Dallas, the promoters of the show, will arrive here today from Clovis to arrange for the coming event.

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lopez, June 28, a girl. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

Estanislao Belio, the ranchman from the Gran Quivira country, who smiles the same at Dame Fortune and Dame Misfortune, was a friendly caller at this office on Wednesday.

Several truck loads of Isleta Indians have passed through here this week enroute to Mes-calero, where they will make merry with their brethren, the Apaches, on the 4th of July.

"The outcome of the Sharkey-Carnera fight didn't surprise me a great deal," observes Steve Bostian. "I think a law should be passed regulating the size of pugilists."

Miss Elizabeth Forsythe and Mrs. Henry McFadin of White Oaks presented the Outlook office with some beautiful specimens of fossil rock, for which we express our thanks.

MEN'S NEW SPRING SUITS

WITH Commodity prices advancing almost daily, it is important for you to know our policy with regard to these advances. Not only have all commodities gone up considerably because of natural causes, but proposed legislation and the uncertainty due to new taxes and new laws have made it extremely difficult to estimate the present replacement value of nearly all lines.

For this reason, if you are in need of a NEW SUIT,

it will pay you to take advantage of this opportunity, as these Suits were purchased at the Lowest Market Price.
