Joe Bradley, Ocean City, N. J., bear truck driver, stole all of his receipts, bound and gagged himself. When found by the police, he told them he had been robbed and the robbers had felled him with a blow on the head. On examination it was found that he had forgotten to hit himself. He afterwards confessed to the facts in the case and is now in jail.

Little seven-year-old Leo Cassitto fell from the fourth story of his home in Chicago and was critically but not fatally injured. As he was being rushed toward the hospital, the car collided with a truck and the child was instantly killed.

When Bowen Zumwalt and F. W. Skinner of the Southern Pacific Water System received a wire from Superintendent H. S. Fairbank, that a party composed of himself, Messrs. Stansbury and Johnson of the water and construction departments were on their way to look over the Bonito Dam and that they would appreciate a mess of mountain trout, they got busy and escorted them to the first pool below the dam. Floy had a 25 pound line and after a few casts, a big trout broke the line and carried it away. On his next attempt, he landed one of the biggest mountain trout ever taken from the Bonito waters. It measured nearly 25 inches and weighed over seven pounds. After the officials had departed he landed another one measuring 20 inches which furnished a nice repast for himself and guests that evening at Roy's Cafe. Floy Skinner has justly earned the title of "White Mountain Kingfish."

William Brady, Los Angeles, wears the belt for 100 per cent cave man stuff with hair on his chest. He proposed to Mrs. Maude Winter, who rejected his offer of marriage. He went to her home, broke every dish in the house, smeared eggs and butter over the walls and ceilings, smashed up the furniture, tore up her wearing apparel and all of the curtains and draperies in her home. Not satisfied with that amount of destruction, he pulled all of her young trees and broke them to pieces, emptied her lily pool and built a fire in it. When asked in police court as to why he destroyed the property he said he just wanted to show her what kind of a 'he man' she missed when she refused to marry him.

On his little claim near the Colorado line a short time ago, Sim Jansen, trapper, homesteader and miner, decided to change the location of his cabin and had it moved and set on a large flat rock overlooking a deep canyon. On awakening after his first night's sleep in his new location, he was surprised to find the cabin swarming with hissing rattlesnakes. As easy and quietly as possible, he crept out of the window and with the assistance of two neighbors, succeeded in killing the snakes. After removing the cabin, they excavated under the rock, which was found to contain a den of the vicious reptiles.

Carrizozo Wins Third Straight Game

Last Sunday's ball game between Carrizozo and Vaughn started like it was going to be a close and hard-fought contest, but the locals soon went on a batting spree and hammered the offerings of the Vaughn flingers at will. Tony Perea, first man up for Carrizozo, set off the fireworks when he slammed the second pitched ball to deep center for a homerun. It was one of the longest drives ever made in the local park. All the team hit consistently and scored 20 runs to Vaughn's 10; 3 of which were made when Carrizozo eased up on their opponents.

Andy Luera was the starting pitcher for Carrizozo, but lasted only a few innings and "Red" Huffmeyer had to be sent in to rescue the game. When the affair was well on ice for Carrizozo, Manager Miller shifted Tony to the backstopping position and brought in "Lefty" Martinez from rightfield to serve them over the plate. Hubert Reynolds umpired home plate and L. P. McClintock the bases.

County Surveyor L. E. Hunt, who is with the state highway project near Hondo, called at this office on his way to White Oaks to spend Sunday with his family.

Sales of Ford V-8 cars and Ford trucks have taken a commanding lead in Wayne county, in which Detroit, the motor car center of the world, is located. This may be taken as significant of the trend in motor car buying. Registrations for the first 24 days of June showed a total of 1,816 Ford cars and trucks. This is nearly twice as many as the nearest other make, which registered 986 units, while the second other make sold in the same period only 623 units. Be sure to read the Carrizozo Auto Company's ad in this issue.

No Short Cut to the Millennium

(Albuquerque Journal)

The world economic conference at London, hailed as the hope of a distressed world, has come to nothing. Indeed it may be said to have come to worse than nothing, since it has served to line up one group of nations against another upon matters of vital international importance.

Disappointing as the result may be, it is no way surprising. The nations of Europe have never given any evidence of willingness to sacrifice individual interest for the welfare of the world. Only Uncle Sam, it seems, goes on hopefully and somewhat blindly striving to do something for mankind without regard to the consequences to himself, his interests and his people.

The late President Wilson acted upon the theory that the nations of continental Europe would be as ready to act for ideals as himself and his people. The American government and the American people, following his leadership, poured out millions upon millions for rescue and rehabilitation of other peoples. The tragic result and its far reaching consequences are history.

President Roosevelt, moved no doubt by the same idealism, has also sought to do something for the world as a whole. He has scored the first failure of his administration. What can be salvaged from the wreckage of the world economic conference remains to be seen. It will not be much.

There is no short cut to the millennium.

LOCAL MENTION

Auto Accident

About 11 o'clock Saturday morning, a Dodge-Six left Carrizozo with five passengers, namely: Mrs. J. L. Fuller, Mrs. Melvin Wilkin and daughters, Jeanne, aged 12 and Melva Lee, aged 8, and Allen Watson, County Clerk of Pittsburg County, Oklahoma. They went over the Carrizozo-Socorro Highway and after making the turn and started down Red Hill, 12 miles west of here, they met Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hansen of La Luz, Miss Ludora Garrett and Madam Alex Marenehs of Santa Fe, all of whom were on their way to Carrizozo.

As the Hansen car passed the Oklahoma people, their car hit a boulder in the road which caused the car to swerve from its course, and when near the bank of the canyon it met with the same misfortune and this second encounter sent the Oklahoma car over the precipice.

The distance from the top to the bottom of the canyon is about 300 feet. The car turned over six times in its flight and landed against a large boulder about 100 feet from the bottom.

Mrs. Hansen and likewise Miss Garrett were both equipped with first aid kits and hastening to the wreck, relieved the occupants and administered first aid which proved of great benefit as they stopped the flow of blood and had the injured people out of the car and in the shade by the time physicians arrived.

The Carrizozo Auto Company sent mechanic Bill Mendenhall with the wrecker and a crew to the scene. Bill and his crew carried the injured people to the top of the canyon and brought them to the Johnson Hospital where they received treatment. All members of the party with the exception of the little girl were painfully bruised and cut but after the examination, no bones were found to be broken.

At this writing, all of the party except Mr. Watson, after having the car repaired, left on their trip to California Monday afternoon and Mr. Watson will return later to his home in Allester, Okla. They consider themselves very fortunate, and had it not been for the car having a Dodge steel body, the might have been killed outright.

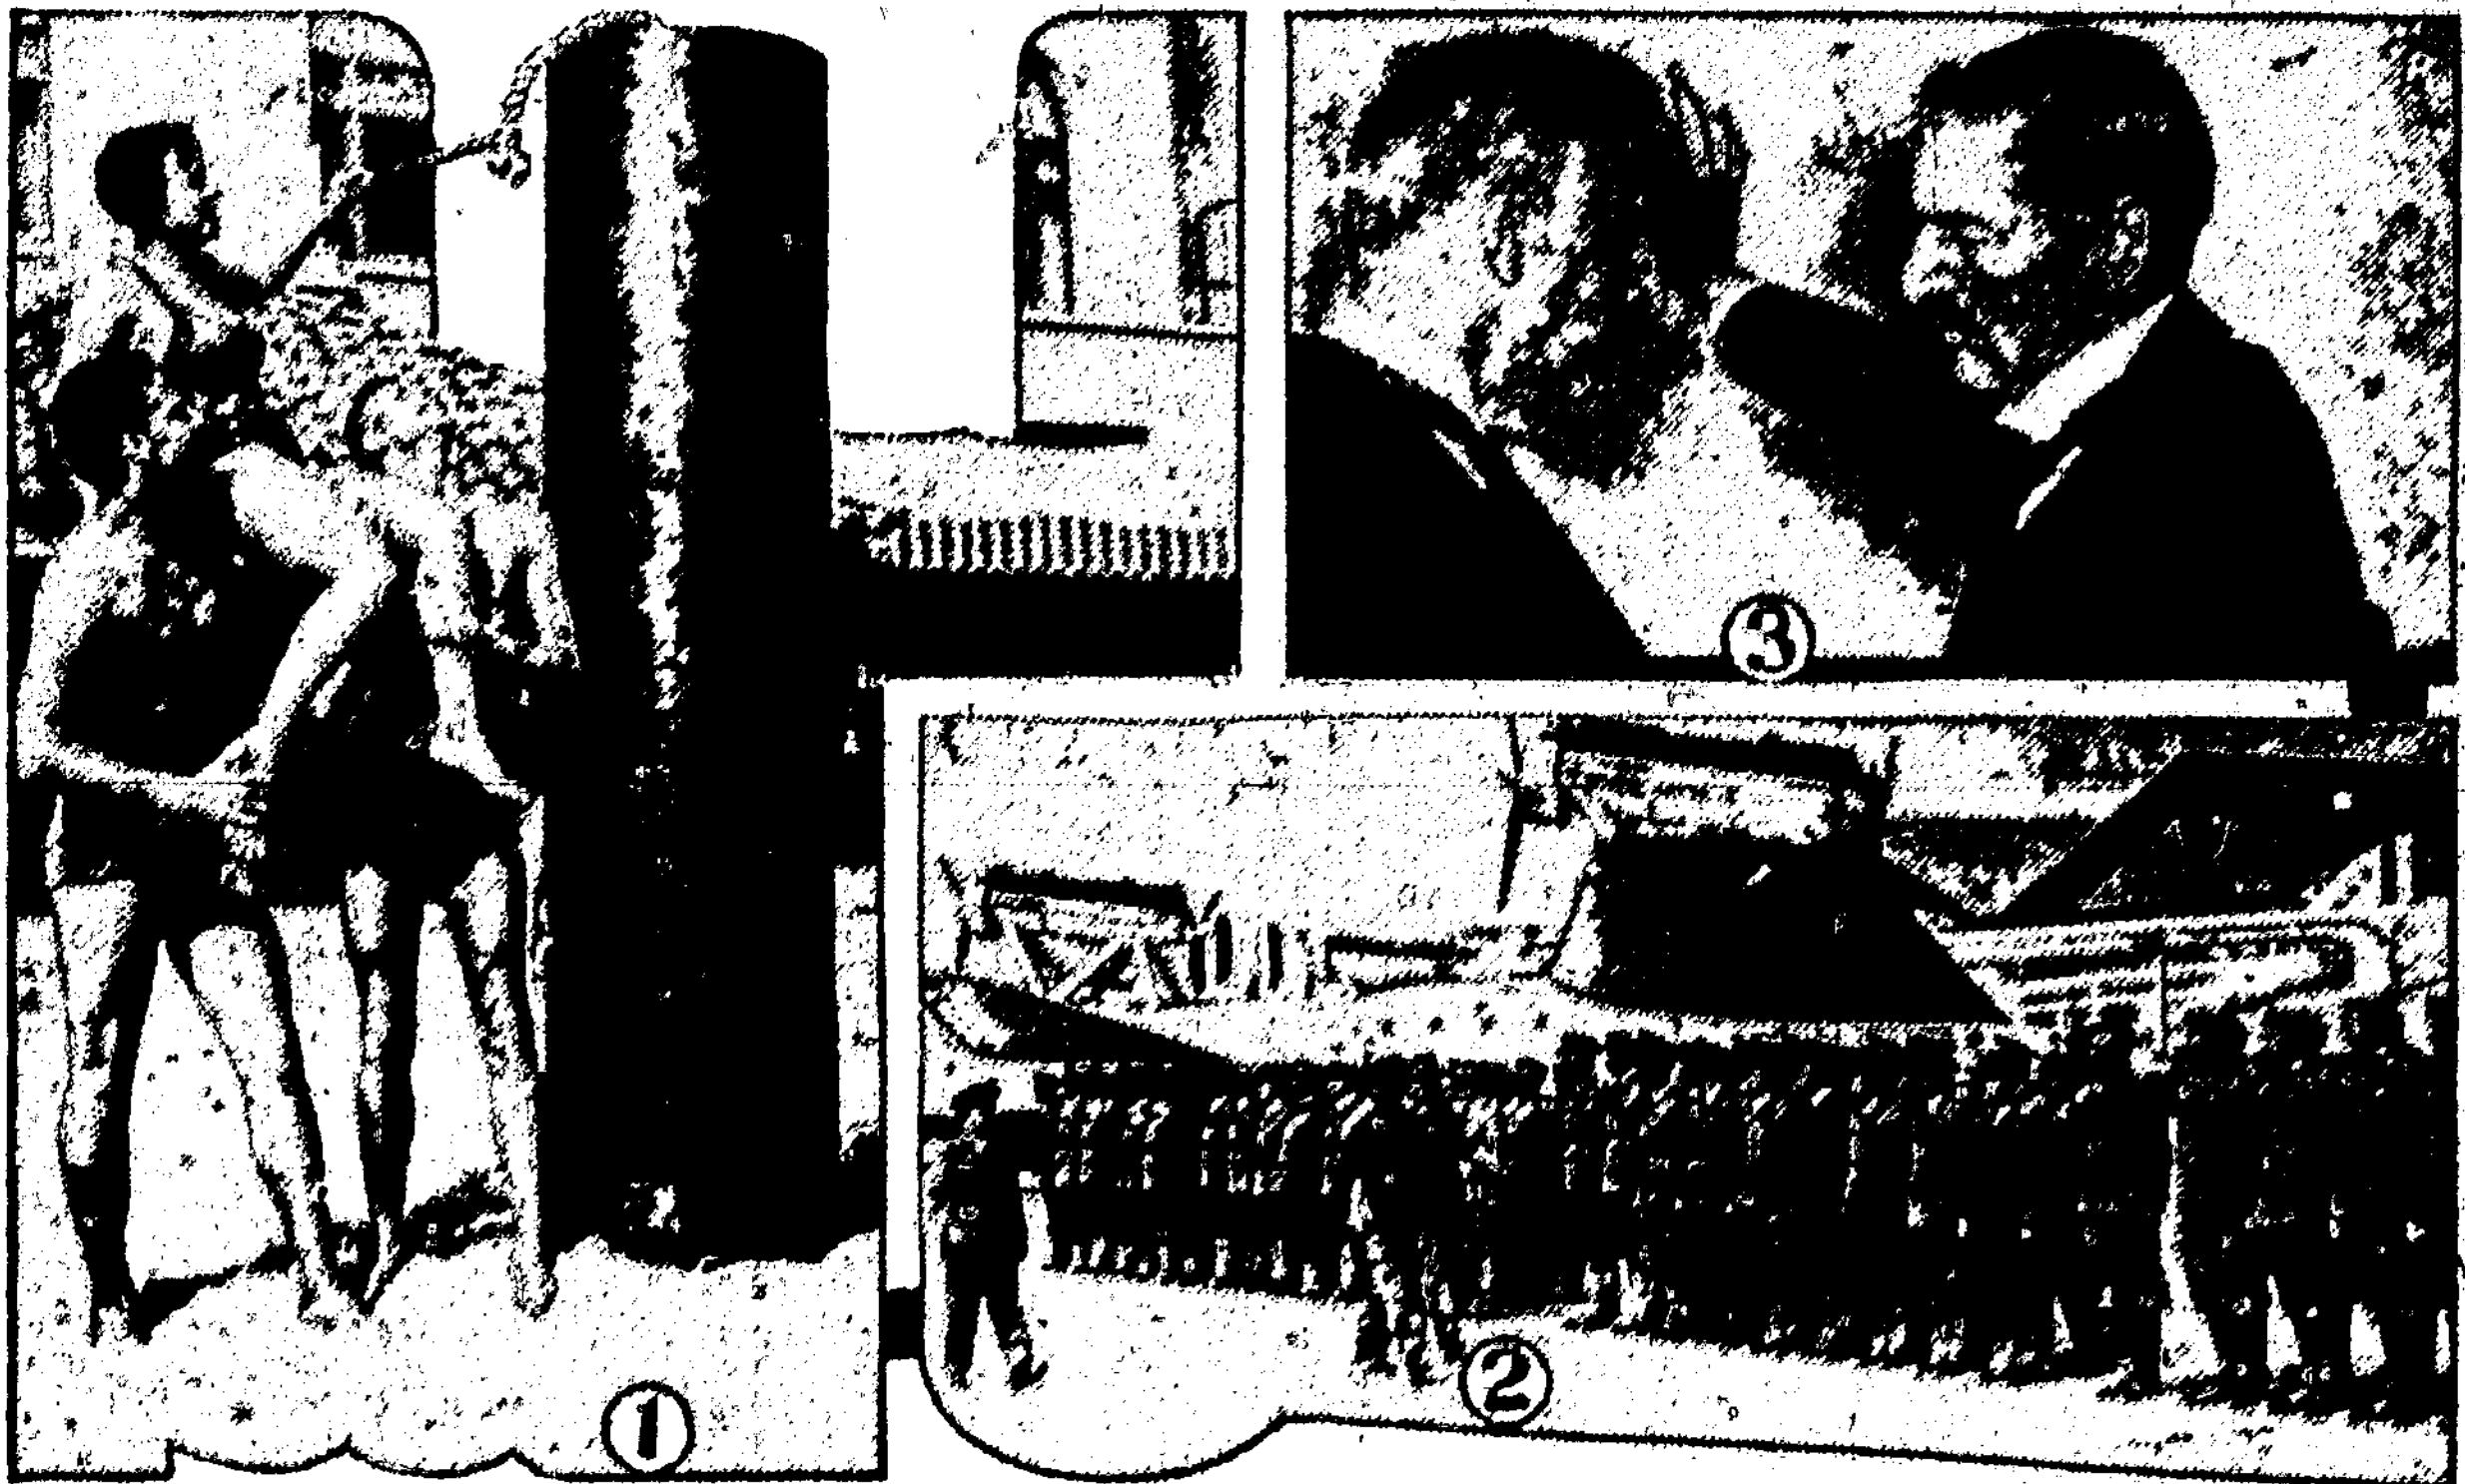

When interviewed at the Camp Malpais, where they stopped, they wished to thank the people of Carrizozo for acts of kindness and extended courtesies.

Why Farmers in Northwest Are Happy Now

Happy days are here again for the farmers in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Due to the heavy demand placed on them for wheat from war-torn China, thousands of bushels of grain are being shipped out daily. So great is the demand and the production that there is no longer any room to store the wheat in warehouses, with the result that it is stored outdoors while waiting shipment to the Orient.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart

Washington.—The patronage dam at last has broken. With congress out of the way, the administration has begun to serve the pie in a big way. But Washington observers have noted something new in the pie-dispensing system now being employed. The breaking of the dam that held up appointments while congress was made to do the bidding of the President, and that created such a terrible traffic jam around the pie counter, has shown that being a Democrat in the government service means little more than being a Republican insofar as priority for reappointment is concerned. The flood that came after the dam broke was washed out about as many Democrats as Republicans. It is always to be expected that the winning political party will put its own men in. I have heard no complaint about that course because it has happened so many times in our history that it is taken for granted.

From what I have been able to see and to hear, President Roosevelt cannot be blamed for the ruthless character of the dismissals except indirectly. He has gone so far even as to say that some three or four thousand postmasters, now serving under commissions by President Hoover, will be allowed to remain on their jobs until their commissions expire. This has caused a howl among the clique that appears to be bent on grinding its own axes because they want those jobs, and unless the President stands firm they are going to get them.

The Treasury seems to be affected less than other departments. Secretary Woodin has picked most of his people, according to well informed individuals, but he has had to accept one or two men to whom senators were indebted.

The treasury secretary has run into some difficulties, I am told, because he insists on having investigations made of men whose appointments are recommended to him. He was reported to have made a Democratic senator very angry because he would not name the senator's candidate as an internal revenue collector in one state without the prerequisite of an investigation. But the investigation was made just the same.

The President and his advisers have played a brilliant hand in the new deal in their maneuvers at creating new jobs out of old ones. Take the farm legislation, put into the hands of Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture. It is made to appear that the handling of the so-called price parity law which is the old domestic allotment plan in a new suit, and the other new farm aid laws will require something like 60,000 staff workers throughout the country. The farm loan and the home loan machinery, two separate organizations, will provide jobs running into the thousands. The legislation that is supposed to prevent blue-sky securities from being sold to an unsuspecting public likewise will enable the appointment of many more, and last but not least the public construction administration and the industrial recovery administration are two more agencies offering berths by the score to deserving supporters of the Roosevelt ticket.

It is fair to say that many of the underlings, the clerks and supporting cast in the several new agencies are being named from lists of those who have lost their jobs in the face of economy which Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, is taking so seriously. But as far as I have been able to learn, there is no dearth of jobs that can be and are being filled purely on a political basis. The hardest job the politicians have, it appears, is in sorting out the right applicants to recommend among those thousands they have been receiving while Mr. Roosevelt kept the pie closet locked.

Without wasting any time, the administration has opened the spigot on the tank of millions to speed industrial recovery through use of public money in construction. The last congress voted a total of $3,300,000,000 for public construction, it will be recalled, and now the machinery to use these funds has been set in motion. It takes time to get government machinery ready even to spend money, but the haste with which the operations have been started is looked upon here as commendable although only public highway building and the fixing up of army posts and national cemeteries are involved in the first moves.

Out of the gigantic fund, $400,000,000 has been set aside and allocated to the use of the various states in the building of roads and $135,000,000 has been marked for use in reconditioning army posts and national cemeteries. Expenditures of those funds, of course, will make jobs, which is the prime purpose of the program, but there are men in high places who are unable to reconcile the course. Obligation of these funds was permitted after July 1, so that there ought to be a considerable boom in road construction throughout the country in the next few months.

In making the funds available to the states, the federal government laid down several conditions to insure that they would not be used to overbuild one section while another part of the state remained without new highways. Further, the states are required to spend at least 50 per cent of their total share within the confines of cities and towns, for there is where the greatest amount of unemployment exists. Another requirement is that secondary roads, farm-to-market systems and highways of that character, may be constructed with 25 per cent of the state's total, while the other 25 per cent may be expended upon completion of the federal highway system. The point of all of this is that the federal government is determined to enforce a distribution of the funds to as many areas as possible. This serves the purpose of providing the work as near as may be to the unemployed and prevents "hogging" of available construction by any section. The government also put its finger on the methods to be used. It is saying to each of the states that no convict labor may be used, that the contractors must pay wages that permit of a decent and comfortable living standard, and that workers may not be kept on the job longer than 30 hours per week in order that the maximum number of workers may have jobs. This principle is regarded as especially important because it establishes the six-hour day and the five-day week for the first time on a large scale. How long it can be maintained is now a matter of pure conjecture, but it will remain as the principle on all federal grants to states for highway building during the expenditure of these funds.

The allocation of the $400,000,000 fund by states is as follows: Alabama, $9,370,133; Arizona, $5,211,960; Arkansas, $5,748,335; California, $15,607,354; Colorado, $5,574,530; Connecticut, $2,835,740; Delaware, $1,810,058; Florida, $5,231,534; Georgia, $10,091,155; Idaho, $4,456,249; Illinois, $17,570,770; Indiana, $10,037,843; Iowa, $10,035,600; Kansas, $10,039,604; Kentucky, $7,617,350; Louisiana, $5,529,594; Maine, $3,309,917; Maryland, $3,504,527; Massachusetts, $5,597,100; Michigan, $12,730,227; Minnesota, $10,639,563; Mississippi, $5,978,675; Missouri, $12,160,300; Montana, $7,439,745; Nebraska, $7,523,001; Nevada, $4,545,917; New Hampshire, $1,909,539; New Jersey, $5,340,639; New Mexico, $5,782,935; New York, $22,320,101; North Carolina, $3,523,293; North Dakota, $5,504,443; Ohio, $15,494,592; Oklahoma, $9,216,793; Oregon, $5,106,590; Pennsylvania, $18,591,004; Rhode Island, $1,928,708; South Carolina, $5,459,163; South Dakota, $5,011,479; Tennessee, $9,492,619; Texas, $24,244,024; Utah, $4,104,708; Vermont, $1,597,573; Virginia, $7,410,757; Washington, $8,115,537; West Virginia, $4,474,234; Wisconsin, $9,724,531; Wyoming, $4,501,327; District of Columbia, $1,918,469; and Hawaii, $1,571,062.

While most of us believe there has been a depression on throughout the country, none would believe it to be true if the sole yardstick for measuring business conditions was the tourist travel through the national Capitol building in Washington. Although accurate figures are not available, the corps of guides who lead visitors through the great building on Capitol hill tell that they have had what they call a big year thus far. To the uninitiated, it is plain to see that thousands of persons are making a visit to Washington this year, for there has been a steady stream of visitors passing through those long corridors day after day in an almost unending procession. The same is true of the Washington monument, that tall obelisk reaching 555 feet in the air as a mark of the reverence held for the father of his country. Passing by the monument almost any time during the day, one can see a familiar sight, a queue of tourists awaiting their turn to ride to the top in the slow moving elevator within the square walls of the structure.

A few nights ago some of the folks in the treasury had occasion to work late and in the course of the evening, one of the colored messengers was asked to visit an office for a file of papers, the regular occupant of that office having gone home. The messenger went but came back soon, saying he could not get in. An investigation revealed the office was unlocked. Some further inquiry elicited the information from the messenger that two years ago an official had died at his desk and the messenger maintained he had since observed ghosts in the office.

"Salad First" Is Now the Vogue

The United States is witnessing an interesting transition of one of its important food customs—the serving of salads. Our food customs in the past have most frequently originated in the East and spread westward. In this instance, the custom originated on the west coast, in California, and is spreading eastward.

For many years the people of California have eaten their salads as an appetizer at the beginning of their meals, while those living in the East have been accustomed to eat their salads with their meat course, or as a special course following the meat.

The California custom of serving salads at the beginning of the meal has been spreading rapidly eastward during the past few months and is now becoming the popular mode on the eastern seaboard. The custom first gained great headway in the South, and has recently been spread to all parts of the country largely through hotels and restaurants.

The custom of "salada first" became somewhat of a vogue in the East this summer when it was adopted and sponsored by no less a person than Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, daughter of President Roosevelt, who is popularly known as the "Darling of the White House."

When served at the beginning of the meal, salads are found to be more popular, especially with men and children, who otherwise would seldom eat them, thereby insuring them a balanced meal. The new mode also lends itself to colorful decorative schemes, which always please the hostess.

Song Birds Flourish

In a recent public statement Dr. T. Gilbert Pearson, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, sought to correct a popular notion that song birds and birds that feed on insects are disappearing on account of the changed conditions of life in America. Doctor Pearson said that instead of disappearing there are more of these birds in America now than when the Pilgrims landed on the coast of New England. Certainly there is no lack of these song birds in and around Mobile, and in other communities of the South. The mocking bird, the brown thrasher, red birds, finches of various kinds and other warblers are plentiful in Mobile and in other parts of the country.—Mobile Register.

Face a Sight with Painful Eruptions Healed by Cuticura

"I was bothered with an eruption on my face that started as pimples with white centers. They were in blotches about as big as a nickel and had flaky crusts on them. They were painful and I spent some miserable nights. The skin was inflamed and my face was a terrible sight."

"I had several treatments but could get no relief, and the trouble lasted about three years before I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At the end of two weeks the eruptions were growing smaller and in three weeks I was healed altogether." (Signed) L. W. Cushman, Warrenville, Conn.

LOST 40 POUNDS ON DOCTOR'S ADVICE

"I'm a user of Kruschen Salts as a refreshing remedy and can say they are fine. Have lost more than 40 lbs. in the past year. Am gradually reducing an excess weight." Miss Bertha Wicks, Houston, Tex. (Oct. 26, '23).

Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides looking ugly as SAEBLY you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

False-Faced Economy

A part of the program of the "new deal" of the present administration to reduce expenditures is the discharging of thousands of the government employees who have been serving under the civil service commission for many years. Under the administration of Grover Cleveland, that commission was established. Since that time, under Republican rule, all employees regardless of politics have been kept in office, except those who were convicted of "offensive partisanship." No Democrat who had proven himself loyal, efficient and void of offensive partisanship has ever been made to suffer under a Republican administration.

Now, comes the "new deal," which picks out the Republicans who have been serving under that commission and fired them. The scheme is plainly apparent. It will not be long before these places will be filled again, but with Democrats instead of Republicans - watch the smoke! This scheme under the cloak of economy, will prove to be one of the most drastic departures from national custom ever pulled. This and the ill-treatment given the disabled veterans will add greatly as millstones which will drag the Democratic party to its doom in the next national election.

Because of the fact that there was such a wholesale landslide at the last election, does not mean that the American people are such a bunch of simps that they cannot see through the thin veil that hangs between the actual facts and the false-faced economy.

What shall we eat? Spring Lamb Croquettes at Roy's Cafe and Market.

Wings Useless to Ostrich

The wings of most members of the ostrich family are useless as far as flight is concerned, but when raised they aid the birds in running. If breeze is blowing, the rhes, a much hunted South American ostrich, uses one raised wing like a sail as it runs and can thus attain such a speed that neither horse nor dog can come up to it. It can be captured only when worn out by ceaseless pursuit.

Center of "Cold Pole"

The lowest temperatures on the earth occur in winter in the north-eastern part of Siberia, the somewhat indefinite center of greatest cold being known as the "cold pole." At Verkhoyansk, in this region, a temperature of 90.4 degrees below zero Fahrenheit was recorded on January 15, 1885, the lowest ever recorded near the ground at a regular meteorological station.

X-Ray Penetrates Steel

Scientists use X-ray apparatus to take photographs through steel. A lead enclosed room has been built for the purpose at the University of Michigan.

School Training

Billy had been training her little brother Larry in preparation for his entering school this year. When his sister Virginia asked what some tiny black seeds were on the front porch he immediately said "Parlola."

PRODUCTION OF FINE COFFEES NATIONAL PRIDE OF COLOMBIA

Needing Plantation (above); Transplanting Coffee Shrub (right).

CHICAGO.—Fine coffee growing in the Republic of Colombia what thoroughbred horse raising is to England—a national pride.

There are now more than 400,000,000 coffee trees, which bear close to a half billion pounds of the product annually, in that republic, which is the largest producer of the world's finest grades, known as "milds."

The seeds for new growths are selected with scrupulous care and the most modern cultivation methods are used by the coffee planters in Colombia. Coffee experimental farms have been established throughout the republic by the National Federation of Coffee Growers to benefit the planters in solving cultivation problems.

The coffee is first planted in a seed bed, later transplanted in a nursery, and finally when about 1 1/2 feet high, the growths are placed in prepared groves at a distance of 6 to 10 feet apart. Colombian coffee groves are located in altitudes ranging between 2,500 and 6,500 feet above sea level. Permanent shading of the groves—a highly important factor—is provided by the use of "guano" and acacia trees, which absorb very little moisture from the soil and permit the penetration of sufficient sunlight so essential to coffee growth.

The coffee trees, which grow to a height of 14 to 20 feet, are kept pruned to 6 to 8 feet. They begin to bear when five years old. In Colombia, only the ripest (deep red) cherries of the coffee trees are harvested. The cherries are hand-picked, not stripped, from the branches. They are then cleaned and prepared for market by washing.

Practically all the better blends and brands of coffee depend upon their Colombian content for flavor and aroma. The United States imports approximately 850,000,000 pounds of Colombian coffee annually.

Needing Plantation (above); Transplanting Coffee Shrub (right).

CHICAGO.-Fine coffee growing in the Republic of Colombia what thoroughbred horse raising is to England-a national pride.

There are now more than 400,000,000 coffee trees, which bear close to a half billion pounds of the product annually, in that republic, which is the largest producer of the world's finest grades, known as "milds."

The seeds for new growths are selected with scrupulous care and the most modern cultivation methods are used by the coffee planters in Colombia. Coffee experimental farms have been established throughout the republic by the National Federation of Coffee Growers to benefit the planters in solving cultivation problems.

The coffee is first planted in a seed bed, later transplanted in a nursery, and finally when about 1 1/2 feet high the growths are placed in prepared groves at a distance of 6 to 10 feet apart. Colombian coffee groves are located in altitudes ranging between 2,500 and 6,500 feet above sea level. Permanent shading of the groves-a highly important factor-is provided by the use of "guano" and acacia trees, which absorb very little moisture from the soil and permit the penetration of sufficient sunlight as essential to coffee growths.

The coffee trees, which grow to a height of 14 to 20 feet, are kept pruned to 6 to 8 feet. They begin to bear when five years old. In Colombia, only the ripest (deep red) cherries of the coffee trees are harvested. The cherries are hand-picked, not stripped, from the branches. They are then cleaned and prepared for market by washing.

Practically all the better blends and brands of coffee depend upon their Colombian content for flavor and aroma. The United States imports approximately 350,000,000 pounds of Colombian coffee annually.
