FORT STANTON NEWS

Last Saturday night a group of artistes from Roswell entertained the boys here with song, dance and music and as usual, this program which was staged by the Trowel Club, went over in a big way. The program featured a number of beautiful vocal solos and duets sung by Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and Miss Janice Huff, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Greer. Then came some charming dances executed by the Misses Virginia Hervey and Bartha Bower, who for each different number were dressed in exquisite and appropriate costumes. Miss Hervey gave some wonderful presentations of a Turkish harem dance, a waltz solo, and a Spanish dance with castanettes, while Miss Bower lithesome exhibited her contortionistic abilities in an acrobatic dance. She also did some fancy tap dancing, and together these two artistes featured a very clever Mexican dance. To the Trowel Club, we extend our sincerest thanks for this and all previous entertainments sponsored under their auspices.

Our old friend Melvin Franks, Vice-Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, was here for several days this week attending to business.

Ray Sippis and D. L. Jackson of White Oaks were business visitors in town this Thursday.

LYRIC THEATRE

R. A. Walker, Owner

Friday-Saturday—"End of the Trail," with Tim McCoy, 2 tribes of Indians and an entire regiment of cavalry, takes you back to the exciting days of Gen. Custer's last stand at the Little Big Horn. Also comedy and cartoon.

Sunday - Monday - Tuesday—"The Prizefighter and the Lady," featuring Myrna Loy, Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston. Okay, boys, it's a knockout from start to finish! The most exciting film of today! It's a thrill for ladies, too! Comedy: "Beauty and the Bus."

DIAMOND DUST

Walter LaFleur, Field Captain of our baseball team, Mrs. LaFleur, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. McCintock, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Frame and Miss Jensen of the Johnson Hospital were in El Paso last Sunday and witnessed the exhibition game between the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Manager Hubert Reynolds had the team out for practise last Sunday afternoon and warmed the boys up in good shape. There is some talk of the team going to Corona next Sunday for a practise game. That'd be of much interest to the people of both places and at the same time, be of much value to the players on both teams.

"These Thirty Years"

the movie sponsored by the Carrizozo Auto Company, drew a record-breaking crowd at the Lyric Theatre. The story of the play was published on the first page of this paper last week. Anyone in need of a good car for strength, durability and speed, would be fully convinced of the fact that the Ford V-8 will fill all requirements along these lines. The picture should assist the sales of that Ford V-8.

OddFellows to Alamogordo

On Monday night, a party of local OddFellows journeyed to Alamogordo and assisted in conferring the First Degree on two candidates.

There were seven members from here, namely: Sheriff A. S. McCamant, Postmaster Herman Kelt, Roadmaster J. B. Dinwiddie, John E. Wright of the New Mexico Light & Power Company, Clint Brannum of Brannum's Grocery, A. L. Burke and Lewis A. Burke of the Outlook office.

As usual, the local members were made to feel at home, and hereby extend a vote of thanks to the Alamogordo brethren for their extended courtesies. The Rebekahs prepared and served the refreshments, for which additional courtesy, the local Three Linkers are equally grateful.

This office is in receipt of a nice message from one of our old friends and former neighbors, Mrs. J. C. Bender, of whom many of our people will readily remember. Col. Bender at one time owned and operated the Bender Group of mines near Nogal, later moving here, where he died about ten years ago. Mrs. Bender, who is now 91 years of age, resides in Abilene, Kansas. She wishes to be remembered to her many friends here and at Nogal.

ANCHO ITEMS

John Allan Hightower

A large crowd of pioneers and friends paused Monday afternoon to pay a final tribute to Mr. John Allen Hightower, who succumbed Friday, April 6, at 4:55 p. m., to a complication of heart and kidney trouble. He was born Feb. 20, 1862, in Ruston, La. For more than 40 years, Mr. Hightower had made his home in White Oaks and Ancho, engaged in stockraising, and in spite of his 71 years, he was very active.

He was married July 23, 1895, to Maudie Cooper and to this union six children were born. One daughter, Dora, having preceded him in death. The following survive to mourn his death: Alvin and Bill Hightower of Oakland, Calif.; Mrs. R. M. Jones of Tucumcari; Bryan and Cooper Hightower of Ancho; one brother, Dick Hightower of Ruston, La., and several grandchildren. Mr. Hightower, one of the best liked and well known pioneers and stockman of this country, had been critically ill for several days. Thursday he suffered a relapse from which he failed to rally.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Baptist Church of Carrizozo, with Rev. Jordan officiating and the remains interred in the White Oaks cemetery. Active pallbearers were: Messrs. Ziegler, Kelt, Harmon, Lutz, Sager and Paul Mayer.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Alec Fambrough, Thursday morning, April 6, a 7½ pound girl, whose name will be Alexia.

There will be a dance and picnic supper at the schoolhouse Saturday night, sponsored by the baseball boys. Let's all come out and give the boys a boost.

Mrs. Allen Kile visited her mother, Mrs. T. J. Straley of El Paso last week. Mrs. Kile reports her mother much improved, but by no means in condition to return home.

Mr. Wade of Jicarilla, who has been sick, is able to be out and about again.

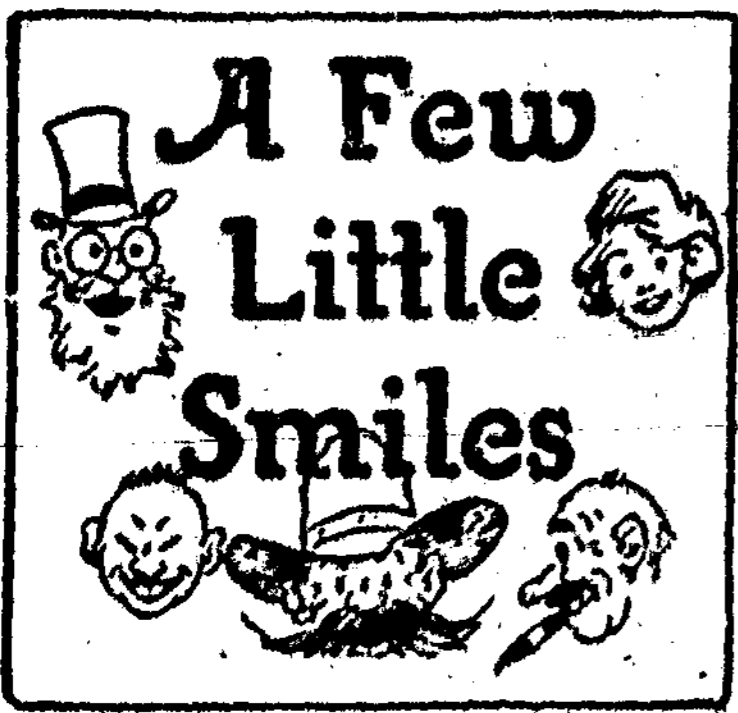

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jones have returned to their home in Tucumcari, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Jones' father, Mr. John Allen Hightower.

One of Ancho's oldest buildings, the abandoned tile school house, burned to the ground on Monday. Cause of the fire is unknown. The building was occupied as a store by Robert Bros. of Corona. Their large stock of goods was an almost total loss.

SYNOPSIS
Stephen Drake, with his four-year-old son, is rescued from a blizzard by Jim Flynn, big timber operator, whom Drake has robbed.

Steve decided to watch LaFane closely. Just now he was chaining some setters and, after a moment, with a final playful toss of the youngest child, set off into the woods with two bird dogs.

For another hour Steve and McNally talked and might have continued so until noon had not a shrill, long-drawn scream brought them to their feet.

A man appeared in the doorway of the store, looked out and whirled back. The children stood still an instant and then the oldest, with a frightened cry, tugged at the baby's hand and ran for sanctuary.

"Come on!" cried Drake. "Get a gun, Mac!" He vaulted out the window and ran to intercept the dog but he could not cover the distance rapidly enough.

The largest girl, sweeping the others behind her protectingly, stooped, scooped her hands full of pebbles and sand and as the dog rushed her, fangs bared, flung the grit full in his face.

It drove him, blinking and raging, from his course, made his rush barless and gave Steve Drake time to close in.

No more than time. The dog leaped for the baby and bore her down. The teeth had missed a hold but Steve saw blood on the child's cheek where a paw had raked, as he raised a foot for the kick that lifted the animal, spun him about and threw him clear of the little girl.

"Pick her up! Get her away! Run!" he shouted to the largest, stamping and kicking at the dog.

His toe caught the beast on the point of the nose as he leaped in to accept this challenge. With a short yelp the creature backed away, circling, and Steve, not taking his eyes from him, stooped and seized a stout hardwood stick which lay on the sand.

Once again he rushed, hurling his hundred pounds of fury through the air, straight for Steve's throat. This time the club caught him atop the skull and he went down with a yelp.

The limping individual with the rifle was close, shouting, his weapon at his shoulder.

He struck at the dog's back, but the animal threw himself sideways, going with the blow and, scuttling a few feet to safety, whirled again.

Indeed it was. The look in the dog's eyes was of such unmistakable hatred, so intense, so personal that it carried a direct challenge.

Again a rush, but this time the animal faltered, went under the swinging club and slashed at Steve's thigh as he passed. The fangs missed by inches.

Steve walked down that chain with the precision of a tightrope walker, keeping his full weight always on it, and the dog, filling his feet into the sand, strained backward with all his strength, throwing his head from side to side as he sought to tear free.

LaFane was looking at the great beast, face unperturbed, but he was breathing quickly and when he turned his gaze to the others an expression lay in the eyes such as Drake had never seen before.

But the Next Time the Club Found Its Mark.

"What you were going to do would spoil my chance," he said quietly.

Amazed, Drake hesitated; then took his weight from the chain. The dog turned to stulk away, licking his chops.

The animal heitated, stopped; the tail dropped between his legs, he lowered his head in shame or fear.

"Good Lord, man, are you going to keep that thing around after what almost happened?"

"Heel!" he said and started for the store, dog close behind.

He did not look at the creature again. The children and his wife were in the doorway, the woman trying to still the frantic crying of the youngest.

"I want to send a telegram in to town," he said. "Can you start early in the morning?"

"Anything you want of me I will do, Young Jim," LaFane said quietly.

He shrugged. "I have you to thank for something which is priceless."

He had experienced some qualms about the signature, but it had to be. No concern would be content to know that a stranger held its destinies in his hands and he knew that the truth would be the last straw for the burden which Old Jim and his daughter bore.

"It looks," he told himself, "as though we'll have to beat either Franz or this other man, MacDonald."

On the fourth day, after meeting with Wartin and the wood-choppers and conceding to their demands, feeling guilty at spending another's money and yet bolstered by the knowledge that it was the only way out, Steve set out to inspect the lower river.

Steve was wondering about the owner and how he might be approached when they shot around a sharp bend, coming from strong current to a quiet, velvety pool.

"I wouldn't have done it for the world, sir!" Steve protested. "I know what it is myself, to work over a fish."

"Yes," Steve agreed. "A splinner fisherman, a plunker wouldn't understand. For them, a fish is meat. For the dry fly . . . He's something else again. I'm sorry. Come on, LaFane."

They rounded a bend or two and the voice of the river became a mutter.

"It's little things that touch him off . . . or win his friendship. Likely, he won't speak to you for months."

They rounded a bend or two and the voice of the river became a mutter.

"Franz did it once," LaFane said, as though sensing what his companion's shrug indicated. "Two years ago. It's what got him into good standing with MacDonald. MacDonald couldn't do it even in his younger days, and he was a good man, too. Some men are like that: they'll have nothing to do with any other until he can beat them at something they're good in. Franz is no fool."

Steve thought this last might have been added as a warning. And he thought again that this companion was a strange creature.

The Laird was not in sight on their return and when they came to the pool where his great trout lived Steve called a halt and sat there for many minutes, peering down into the dark water. It was a superb lair for a big fish, presenting hazards which would put the best of anglers to a disadvantage. For some time they remained there, moving up and down while Steve, though saying little, studied the character of the bend.

"Old Jim left a fly rod and tackle here two years ago. I have fresh head-ers."

"Thanks," muttered Steve and grinned. This fellow was good!

WIDE CHANGES MADE IN NAMES

Many Show Odd Departures From the Original.

It does not seem probable that there will be any tourist push for Mendicant Ridge or Starved Creek these days, but if anyone should be curious about these strange appellations he may find complete enlightenment in "Uncle Sam's Handbook on Geographic Names."

One of the most ironic cases of evolution in nomenclature was found at Breteche creek, Wyoming. This stream, flowing into the Shoshone river, was named for Paul Breteche, an early settler of French ancestry.

Likewise our weakness for Americanization of names has made "Ozark" out of the French "Aux Arce" and "Key West" out of the Spanish "Cayo Huesco."

With a finality that admits of no dispute the board has taken the occasional "h" out of "Behring." The Bering sea was named for Capt. Ivenovitch Behring, whose explorations in 1741 gave the world its first knowledge of Alaska.

It was a surprise to see another canoe there, and a sort of shock to observe Franz in the stern, holding it in the shallows by a paddle against bottom. A decided shock, however, to meet the peculiarly angered glare turned on him by the white-haired mountain of a man who sat in the bow, a fly rod in his huge hands.

"Thank!" was his first word, spoken bitterly. "Thanks, Meester LaFane 'nd yer companion! Thanks fer puttin' doon th' grandest fish that swims th' stream!"

"See! Know! What gude'd it've done, had ye? What gude to me, I'd choose to know!" His gray eyes burned.

"Yes," Steve agreed. "A splinner fisherman, a plunker wouldn't understand. For them, a fish is meat. For the dry fly . . . He's something else again. I'm sorry. Come on, LaFane."

They rounded a bend or two and the voice of the river became a mutter.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

Lo, the Poor Consumer

We have long advocated the truth of the fact that the consumer pays the tax, or to put it a little plainer, "the work mule does all the pullin'." But it is hard to make some people believe this.

They are of the opinion that because certain people who are in the 'lower galleries' where their incomes are entitled to exemption, they pay no tax at all, but rather the big fellow pays the tax, and the little one gets out of it entirely.

Nothing can be further from the truth. The greater part of the people and the greater part of the taxation falls upon the little fellow, whether he knows it or not.

This is true in federal, state, county or municipal; because the small fellow doesn't have to pay into the collector's hands, he thinks he is getting away with it, and his big brother pays the taxation. This is all baloney. He pays it—but doesn't know it. There is where the joker comes in. The consumer pays it in various ways, namely, in higher rentals, increased cost of living, food, clothing, and even entertainment.

Along this line, the Industrial News aptly says:

"That big business which is so highly taxed, for example, is the business which you patronize when you buy groceries or shoes or insurance or transportation or something of the kind—and the costs of the commodity or service includes the taxes the business pays. In other words, the business simply acts as the middleman—it collects money from you and passes it on to the government.

Today, the tax problem is an intensely personal issue to every American. It stands in the way of employment, of wage increases, of industrial expansion, of productive investment. It is a barrier to recovery. It is going to become a bigger problem every year until the millions of wage earners realize how vital its solution is to their well-being and their future."

Knowledge is truth. Nothing is more convincing.

Our obligation as Ford dealers in this community is not only to sell and service cars. Just as important is our duty to acquaint the public with up-to-date facts about automobile values. We believe that only in this way can intelligent comparisons be made.

So, this invitation is given to everyone—owners of large or small cars—mechanists—other automobile dealers, come in and inspect the new 1934 Ford V-8. You will find out why a Ford buying wave is going over the country.

2 teaspoons double-action baking powder

1/4 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or other shortening

1 egg, well beaten
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

1 1/2 cups milk
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg and chocolate, beating until smooth. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat well after each addition. Turn into greased mold, cover, and steam 2 hours. Serve hot with hard sauce. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Serves 10.

Combine eggs, sugar, and salt; add chocolate mixture gradually, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add vanilla and pour into custard cups. Place in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325° F.) 1 hour, or until knife inserted comes out clean. (Water in pan should not reach boiling temperature.) Chill. Unmold and serve with cream, if desired. Serves 8.

To Grocers and Restaurants

Home Industry vs. Foreign Industry as applied to the Bakery Business in Carrizozo.

To Every Grocery and Restaurant—Greeting:
 The Carrizozo Bakery has been your leading baker for nearly 5 years, rendering, what we believe, satisfactory service and furnishing quality products. But what benefit is that to Carrizozo? Let us see The Carrizozo Bakery and those connected with it, pay rentals to several property owners, who in turn pay taxes and help maintain your town. The Bakery pays taxes on stock and equipment. We buy several hundred dollars worth of fuel annually from people who live in Carrizozo. We buy Electric energy from the New Mexico Light & Power Company. We buy advertising and commercial printing from the home papers. We buy several hundred dollars worth of Eggs a year, produced by people who live or trade in Carrizozo; and hundreds of dollars worth of sundry items. We live and trade in Carrizozo and so do our employees. These are some of the major benefits to your town by reason of having a H-O-M-E BAKERY—and don't forget that some of this money finds its way to your place of business, either directly or indirectly.

But what benefits does a FOREIGN BAKERY, selling Bread in Carrizozo, bring to your town, as compared to the items mentioned above? Absolutely none. A foreign bakery maintains nothing in Carrizozo but a delivery service, and so does your home bakery, a fact we considered too small to mention above.

Would you be a party to the destruction of a home industry with all its benefits, in exchange for the benefits of a delivery service of a foreign bakery? WE HOPE NOT. Think it over.

We appreciate your past patronage and solicit your future whole-hearted support.

Very truly yours,
 Carrizozo Bakery,
 John D. Anderson, Mgr.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for April 15

JESUS TEACHING FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 18:15-35. GOLDEN TEXT—And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors.—Matt. 6:12. PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Helps Peter With a Hard Question. JUNIOR TOPIC—A Lesson in Kindly Conduct. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Practice Forgiveness. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Is True Forgiveness?

This lesson touches a most vital subject, a most practical one for our everyday lives. We are always surrounded by wicked men. Ill-treatment we shall most surely receive, for all who will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution (II Tim. 3:12).

I. How to Gain an Erring Brother (vv. 15-20).

To bring a sinning brother to a knowledge of his sin and restore him to fellowship with his Lord and to fellowship with the saints is to gain him. Therefore the transcendent aim should be to win him. The method to be used is

1. Personal (v. 15). Go and tell him his fault alone. The aim in this personal effort is not to charge him with sin but to bring him to see his sin.

2. The help of a comrade (v. 16). "Take with thee one or two more." The presence of one or two Christian brethren helps in making known his fault.

3. Tell it to the church (v. 17). Sometimes the church can accomplish that which the individual and the one or two brethren fail to do.

4. The binding authority of the church's decision (v. 18-20). When the church follows the instruction of the Lord, gathers in the name of Jesus Christ and is actuated by the Holy Spirit, its decisions are final.

II. The Limit of Forgiveness (vv. 21, 22).

1. Peter's question (v. 21). From Christ's teaching as to the efforts to bring about reconciliation in case of offenses between brethren, he knew that the spirit of forgiveness would be required. The rabbi taught that one, two, or even three offenses should be forgiven, but the fourth should be punished. Peter disposed to be gracious inquired, "Till seven times?" showing his readiness to forgive his brethren not three times merely but twice three times and a little over.

2. Jesus' answer (v. 22). This answer astonished Peter. Jesus said "not till seven times but until seventy times seven," showing that willingness to forgive should be practically limitless. The Christian should be so filled with the love of Christ that he will forgive whenever being called upon to do so.

3. Christ's principle of forgiveness (vv. 23-35). This principle is illustrated by the story of the two creditors.

a. The gracious creditor (vv. 23-27). The king in this parable represents God. The servant who is greatly in debt represents the sinner—any sinner, every sinner, you and me. We were hopelessly in debt to God. Ten million talents are equal to about $12,000,000. To meet this obligation would be an utter impossibility. This man's plea for time, promising to pay all, resembles man's vain imaginations that he can pay his debt to God; that by his future good works he can atone for his past grievous sins. The law says, "Pay all," but Christ forgives all. By the justice of God's law we are hopelessly doomed. By the grace of God we are freely pardoned.

b. The cruel creditor (vv. 23-35). The man who was forgiven so much found the man who owed him a small sum, about $17. He shut his ears to the man's entreaty to be patient with him, flew at his throat and cruelly put him into prison. The great mercy shown him did not touch his heart, so he refused to be merciful. Every one who is unforgetting shows that the forgiveness of God in Jesus Christ has not been experienced. Being set free from so great a debt as our sins against God, we should make God's act of unlimited forgiveness toward us a standard of unlimited forgiveness toward others. In dealing with others we should always keep before us

(1). That we constantly need the forgiveness of God. When we pray, "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," let us be sure that we have put away all thought of things held against others.

(2). There is a day of judgment coming and at that day we shall be treated as we treat others. No mercy will be shown to those who have not shown mercy. God's action toward us should be the standard of our action toward others.

What Unten Means

Union with God in Christ wraps up every blessing. You cannot go beyond this. It is the summum bonum, containing all, and more than all, that heart can desire, or imagination can fathom.

The Glory of Our Christ

We can never add anything to the honor or glory of Jesus' name. All the works of the holiest people of God since time began and through all eternity can never add to his glory.

Southwestern Briefs

Gamma Sigma, social fraternity at New Mexico State College in Las Cruces which was recently granted a charter in Tau Kappa Epsilon, national organization, has been formally installed.

With the arrest of eighteen persons in Phoenix, Yuma, Tucson and Flagstaff, federal agents announced they have practically ended a state-wide "dope ring" after a four months campaign.

Milo Reno, president of the National Farm Holiday Association, spoke at Albuquerque recently. Reno also spoke at Clovis and Portales and Roy and Tucuman before coming to Albuquerque.

The Arizona State Banking Department, acting on a formal order by Superior Court Judge Henry C. Kelly of Yuma county, took possession of the Intermountain Building and Loan Association of Arizona.

Saying he could not see how schools could be kept open, Gov. A. W. Hockenbuhl announced the call of the twelfth session of the New Mexico Legislature, a special session to convene in Santa Fe April 9.

State Game Warden S. L. Lewis announced recently that the game commission had revoked the hunting, fishing and trapping license of R. L. Davis and Frank Davis, both of Bisbee, for illegal possession of deer meat.

Laundry owners of New Mexico met recently in Albuquerque to discuss the laundry code. C. E. Wilson of Des Moines, president of the National Laundry Owners' Association, interpreted the code approved by the association.

Favorable reaction to the suggestion that New Mexico carry its own fire insurance has been received, Governor Hockenbuhl has announced. The governor is considering including this provision in his call for the special session of the legislature.

Whether the Elephant Butte Irrigation district will lend its support to finance a $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 hydroelectric power development plant at Elephant Butte and Caballo dams was to be decided at a meeting of the district board of directors in Las Cruces, N. M.

Louis Miller, who as special representative of the National Comptroller of Currency was instrumental in bringing about the reorganization of the First National Bank at Albuquerque last fall, has been appointed an inspector for the Deposits Insured Corporation, it was learned recently.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover, his secretary, E. Sexson, and Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, passed through Yuma recently, en route to Chandler. The party were traveling by automobile. Sexson said the former president's visit to Arizona was "only a pleasure trip" of only a few days.

The Arizona Highway Commission recently considered the awarding of three contracts for construction of box culverts on U. S. 89 and widening of one mile of U. S. 80 and 180 between Miami and Globe. The contracts involve an expenditure of $43,305.62, of which more than $25,000 will be spent in Maricopa county.

Florence M. Warner, state emergency relief administrator, has received authority to add six Arizona districts and communities to the eleven cities previously designated where work under the NRA will be centralized. The new areas and communities are the Hayden-Winkelmann district, the Clifton-Morenci district, Flagstaff, Winslow, Yuma and the Superior-Ray district.

Gov. B. B. Moeur of Arizona is a pioneer physician of the state. An old-time friend, Mrs. Albert Baeca, 70, of Tempe was critically ill, but refused to undergo an operation "until the governor can attend me." Governor Moeur dropped affairs of state. With a motorcycle escort he speeded to Tempe in twelve minutes and performed the operation, which was pronounced successful.

A town may change the routing of a federal aid highway through its incorporate limits the Supreme Court ruled recently in the case of Lee Tomlin and Jennie Tomlin vs. the Town of Las Cruces. Tomlin had sought an injunction against the board of trustees changing the routing of U. S. 80 to take it away from his place of business. The lower court dismissed the suit and the Supreme Court upheld the action of the lower court.

Gov. B. B. Moeur recently sought the aid of ten western governors in indorsing the bill introduced in Congress by Senator Henry F. Ashurst for a 10 cent per pound tax on all imports of copper. The telegram further requested that the state officials aid in passage of the Ashurst bill authorizing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to purchase all surplus copper now available in the country and impound it for military purposes.

Gov. B. B. Moeur is not going to give up his fight over the Colorado river water and power rights, and will keep his soldiers in the field as official observers of work on the Parker diversion dam being constructed by the Metropolitan water district of Southern California. "More than one million acres feet of water are involved and an unlimited amount of power rights, all of importance to Arizona," the executive explained. "The fight is not with southern California nor with the metropolitan water district, nor the government.

SALOTE OF TONGA WORTHY QUEEN OF SOUTH SEA ISLE

King George a year ago made Queen Salote of Tonga a dame commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Although the world in general knew little about the last of the Polynesian monarchs, says the Detroit News, yet her portrait is in the hands of millions. In other words, her likeness appears on Tonga's current postage stamp, thus making the queen known in practically every country to the world.

Since she was seventeen, Queen Salote has occupied the much-carved, scarlet damask thrones in the white clabboard palace at Nukunofu, the seat of her government. Literally she the world's biggest queen. Standing six feet three inches in her bare feet and tipping the scales over the 300-pound mark, she is easily the outstanding woman in her kingdom, which is probably as large in area as the combined boroughs of New York city.

The only man who ever presumes to measure up to her is her husband, Uliama Tugit, himself a graduate of Newington college, Sydney, Australia, and the premier—by her own appointment—of Tonga.

Queen Salote succeeded her father, King George Tubou II, grandson and heir of Tonga's iron man, King George Tubou I, who ruled for almost fifty years. George Tubou I it was who in 1845 wrested control of Tonga from a group of warring chiefs and gave the conquered islands not only a flag but a royal family, with himself as king.

Unlike her parent, whose champagne suppers and string of race horses won him fame for extravagance, Queen Salote has always striven to be a model queen. To set a good and housewifely example to the women of her kingdom, she stays in the palace attending to the needs of the three princelings while her premier-consort runs the government.

Although she is well educated herself and is planning to send her three children to college, she prefers the simple life of the Friendly Islands. Like Tonga itself, she is a throw-back to the days when the whole South seas were subdivided into independent island kingdoms ruled by corpulent bronze kings and queens.

Thousands have Ended their Bowel Worries by taking this advice! (Image of a bottle)

Can constipation safely be relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say the many thousands who have followed their advice and know. You are not likely to cure your constipation with salts, pills, tablets or any of the habit-forming cathartics. But you can safely relieve this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

THE LIQUID TEST: First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord.

Simple, isn't it? And it works! The right liquid laxative brings thorough bowel action without using force. An approved liquid laxative (one which is most widely used for both adults and children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, and perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna, a natural laxative; the dose can be measured, and the action thus regulated to suit your individual need. If there are children in your household, don't give them any form of laxative, but use a healthful, helpful preparation like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Its very taste will tell you it is wholesome, and agreeable to the stomach. Delightful taste, and delightful action; there is no discomfort at the time, or after. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, all ready to take.

A Frank Statement Concerning Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

We believe the use of pills and tablets containing mineral drugs is rapidly giving way to gentle regulation of the bowels with a liquid laxative.

We believe Dr. Caldwell's original prescription of fresh herbs, pure pepsin, and senna is the ideal family laxative. And we know it is a safe preparation for children and expectant mothers because it does not cause bowel strain or irritate the kidneys.

CONOCO INTRODUCES A Remarkable new MOTOR OIL. Its lower consumption and greater protection to motors proved by the most convincing test ever made! (Images of cars and AAA contest board) THIS new oil has a tremendously increased "film strength"—and a penetrative oiliness to always protect your motor. The "Hidden Quart" never leaves a dry spot or a bearing without lubrication—it resists dilution—and eliminates much trouble caused by carbon and sludge. The process which gives these exclusive new features is protected by recent U. S. patents. Conoco refines a high quality paraffin base oil and then adds the extra oiliness that is absolutely necessary to obtain the protection and low consumption every motorist should demand. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil excels in the most convincing test ever made, under the supervision of the AAA Contest Board. IN presenting New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil you are furnished facts of performance. You will at once be convinced of the direct value of this new oil. A test so dramatic, so honest, that it will go down in history! This test was held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association supervised all details, thus assuring an unbiased opinion. Six new regular stock cars were delivered direct to them. They tested and measured each to obtain an equal condition in all. Six brands of motor oil, of the same S. A. E. grade, were used. Five of them, all purchased by the AAA on the open market, were nationally known, widely recognized leaders. The other one was New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. All cars were then carefully broken in for 2500 miles. Five quarts, a new and complete fill, were put in each car and the crankcases sealed. Then the real battle for supremacy began. The cars were driven for as long as the motors continued to operate. Here are the results: Oil No. 4 quit at 1713.2 miles; Oil No. 6 quit at 1764.4 miles; Oil No. 5 wrecked the motor at 1815.9; Oil No. 1 ceased its lubricative protection at 2266.8 miles; and Oil No. 3 at 3315.5 miles. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil carried on to a total 4729 miles! Over three thousand miles farther than the first oil to go out, and over fourteen hundred miles farther than the final oil of the five! It is the Germ Processing principle, only used by Conoco, that won the test. This "Hidden Quart" that lubricates all parts at all times—that stays up in your motor and never drains away. Drive into a Conoco Station or Dealer for a fill. You are getting the most in lubrication value that money can buy. THE HIDDEN QUART STAYS UP IN YOUR MOTOR AND NEVER DRAINS AWAY. Warning TO NEW CAR OWNERS... Some car manufacturers are using new types of bearings which will stand greater pressure and temperatures, resulting from increased power and speed. New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has been specifically tested on these new bearings. The results show that it gives them greater protection against damage than many standard motor oils now on the market. Protect your new car by using the motor oil you see here on. Cattle Testing

The Lincoln County cowmen are petitioning the Cattle Sanitary Board to start cattle testing here as soon as possible so that this county may be designated a modified tuberculosis free area in time to enjoy the benefits in our fall sales.

The counties to the east and north of us have had their cattle tested and are now classified as modified tuberculosis free areas, except Torrance county, where the testing will be completed by May 1, after which, it is hoped that testing will begin in this county.

The Cattle Sanitary Board is testing all the dairy animals and approximately 10 per cent of the range herds without expense to the owners and if we have our cattle tested now, we will enjoy an equal advantage with our neighboring counties.
