DIAMOND DUST

Manager Hubert Reynolds went to Alamogordo Sunday with his Wrecking Crew and completely disabled a team composed of Trojans, Black Aces, Wild Cats and what-nots. Clyde Smith was invincible in the box and the team as a whole, did devastating damage with the willow, sending two of the opposing pitchers to the showers in the early part of the game. The final score was 15 to 5 in favor of Carrizozo. The first man up for Alamo, greeted Smith with a tremendous drive, which netted him the four stations. But after that, Clyde bore down and earned for himself the title of knockout king, for he whiffed several men in the nine stanzas. Alamo was not satisfied with the defeat and are coming here next Sunday in quest of sweet revenge. It will be one of the outstanding games of the season.

The team is considering a proposition to play the Madrid Miners at Madrid, near Santa Fe, on the 4th of July.

The Mescalero Warriors made their appearance on the local diamond last Sunday intent on giving the Carrizozo East-Siders a sound drubbing. But our boys had double intentions and fought like badgers and when the last episode of the drama had been staged, Sabino's troupers were in the lead by a score of 10 to 8.

It was a good and interesting game and a large crowd of ball enthusiasts turned out to root for Carrizozo. Lopez pitched winning ball and received good support from his teammates, with the exception of a few miscues. Barnett and Galacher did the umpiring. The boys will go to the Reservation next Sunday, that being the day when the festivities begin at Mescalero.

White Oaks was idle last Sunday from the fact that the Cloudcroft team failed to show up.

Latest word from Miss Louise Sweet and Mrs. F. H. Johnson came in Wednesday and conveyed the news that the ladies had had a wonderful time in "the land of manana" and they started home from old Mexico yesterday. After a short visit in El Paso, they will arrive here the latter part of this on the first of next week.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB

A rousing meeting of the Carrizozo Business Men's Club was held Wednesday evening at the regular six o'clock dinner at the Carrizozo Eating House. After the dinner and during the business session, Mr. Payne, a visitor, made a talk in which he said he wished to erect a small stamp mill southeast of town, where ore could be brought in from the neighboring mines and milled, instead of sending it away from here. He said he was not selling stock, neither did he ask for money. The only request he made was for the moral support of the club and people of the town. The club looked with favor on his proposition, but no official action was taken.

C. N. Hare, of the F. E. R. A., made a talk in which he explained the work of his organization and requested that citizens acquaint him with the needs of the town, and asked the cooperation of everybody while the project lasts.

Mr. Pon Corn, a visitor, made a complimentary talk in which he paid a nice tribute to the club and commended its activities.

Complimentary mention of the street improvements now going on under the supervision of the new council was made by A. L. Burke, who followed his remarks with a motion that the club endorse the council's activity in removing the light posts from the middle of the streets and getting the principal streets in readiness for oiling. The motion carried unanimously.

Mayor Johnson made a short talk on the oiling proposition, explaining just how it would be done, and the manner in which the funds for that purpose will be raised.

Representative J. V. Taylor gave a nice talk. He said the town would derive a wonderful amount of benefit from the street oiling, and pledged himself to assist in anything that would be of interest to Carrizozo.

Visitors were Messrs. Payne, Corn and Hare.

Senator Schall Calls the New Deal Damnable

Washington, June 25—Senator Schall (R-Minn.) said in a statement today that the publication "Blue Eagle," published under the editorship of "Crack-down" Johnson is a misleading propaganda sheet issued in the interest of the Democratic party and paid for by the taxpayers of the United States.

Schall said that according to his information the administration intended to make the NRA publication a daily paper and "it will contain all of the exclusive news of the government agencies, making publication of such news in the legitimate daily newspapers secondary."

"Oh, those college boys have great plans ahead, but before the more radical plans can be put into effect, they find it necessary to control the press and the airways of the nation," he said.

"They propose to accomplish this through enactment by congress of the damnable communications bill, one of the most unconstitutional measures ever proposed in the national legislature."

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Queen of White Oaks were visitors in town last Saturday.

ANCHO ITEMS

A large crowd attended the Bridge and Bunco party at the school house sponsored by the Woman's Club. In games of bridge, Dr. Barry, of Corona, made high score; Fred Dale was winner of the bunco prize, and Rosemary Handley won the kiddies' bunco prize. After an enjoyable evening, refreshments of iced punch and cakes were served.

On Saturday, June 23, Tommie Knight, son of Mrs. Allen Kile, was honor guest at a party on his seventh birthday. Mrs. John Straley assisted Mrs. Kile in entertaining. After all the guests had arrived, they were dressed to represent Indians. Indian games, including a war dance, led by Mrs. Straley, were played during the afternoon. Mrs. Frame and Mrs. Barney Wilson told several Indian stories to the kiddies, who sat in circles on the floor in real Indian fashion. Near the close of the party Sally Silvers and Viola Faye Johnson entered drawing a little wagon loaded with gifts and presented them to Tommie, who displayed quite a bit of enthusiasm while unwrapping his presents. Ice cream cones and cake were served, and the little guests departed wishing Tommie many more such happy birthdays.

Miss Thelma Storey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Storey, became the bride of Mr. Raymond O. Hobbs last Saturday morning. The bride graduated from the local school last year, and was among those who received honor certificates for perfect attendance. She is a very popular young lady, and launches out upon the sea of matrimony with the best wishes of a large circle of friends for a bon voyage.

Surprise parties for the members of the Ancho Woman's Club continue to be real surprises. The most recent one being given honoring the president, Mrs. C. C. Belknap, and the treasurer, Mrs. John Straley. Mrs. Belknap accepted an invitation from Mrs. Pruett to call on Mrs. Straley, and upon arriving found a crowd of merry-makers waiting to say: "Happy Birthday to You Two." Games arranged by Mrs. Hightower were played, with Mrs. Pruett winning the prize. Mrs. Straley's part of the party was made complete when her mother, Mrs. Adams, of Amarillo, drove up for a few hours' visit. Each of the honorees was presented a beautifully decorated birthday cake. At tea time banana ice cream and cake were served to members and two guests, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Sproule. The guests of honor were presented with arms-full of gifts, after which Mrs. Belknap expressed her surprise and appreciation for being remembered by her many friends.

John Allen and Marian Hightower will return the latter part of the week from a visit to Tucumcari.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Pruett were Nogal visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Allen Kile and Mrs. Walter Silvers were El Paso visitors this week.

Hereafter little Pick Warden will watch for barbed wire fences. While chasing a cow in the dark, he ran into a wire fence and suffered such severe cuts that he was rushed to Carrizozo for treatment. At last reports he was doing nicely.

J. F. Petty doing a rushing business selling ice—tix cold, too.

OUT-OF-THE ORDINARY

Not wanting to see Mrs. Rose Tishany and her young son starve to death, Walter Nokovsky of New York cut her throat and also cut his own, but did a bad job—physicians saved them after three hours of labor. Mrs. Tishany's throat was so badly cut that 40 stitches were required to be taken; in Nokovsky's throat, 8 were taken—48 in all. Some sewin' circle, we claim.

The Daming Headlight published a recent church notice which read—"The Silver Tea at the Christian Church given by the ladies of that organization, will be held next Thursday." Always remember, brother, that free stuff always gets you into trouble.

When you go to Santa Fe, beware of the "jinx spot" near Tolar, about 40 miles west of town. During the past year, there have been three derailments, the last of which occurred last week, when an arch bolt broke, throwing 18 empty cars into an adjoining highway.

Talk about your Painless Tax—All motor car drivers will be required to kick in with a tax of 1 cent per gallon on gasoline for oiling the main thoroughfares of the town of Carrizozo. This is an item for Out of the Ordinary. And we think it is an excellent idea, too.

The other day in Oklahoma City, deputy sheriff Geo. Kerr was hunting for a secret still in a well furnished home. The curtains were drawn which darkened the rooms. In one room there were two large mirrors. Now, George was brave. He cautiously entered the room and saw a man approaching him from the left. He fired. Glancing to the right, he saw another fellow and fired at him. All at once, one of the curtains accidentally went up and George found that he had shot twice at himself. He was uninjured, but he had to pay for two costly mirrors.

Wild Man Escapes From Show!

Man or Beast?—Descendant of the Devil, or What?

Ft. Stanton, N. M., June 28—The wild Devil man, or the "Terrible Goon" from the Brazilian Jungles, one of the fiercest, most hideous and ferocious creatures in captivity, which is to be exhibited by the George Elmgren Wild Animal Show as an extra special feature of the Fort's 4th of July program, broke through the inch-thick iron bars on its cage yesterday, gored the keeper with its horns and carried off a small girl to the nearby hills. Fortunately, he was captured before any further damage was done, but only after a terrific struggle which involved a posse of 25 men. The child was unharmed, but the keeper's condition is critical. (Last night he was running 41 degrees temperature.) Mr. Elmgren is fortunate in having secured the services of the famous animal trainer, Frank Masse, to take the injured keeper's place.

The management of the show will not be responsible for any damages sustained from teasing the animals and the Goon, or from approaching too close. The Goon was brought to this country recently by Sir Mortimer Alcroft's expedition from the up-

FORT STANTON NEWS

Lieut. and Mrs. Shannon and children left Wednesday for California after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Payman here and at their cabin on the Upper Ruidoso.

Mrs. Landrum, son, daughter and sister, Mrs. Schroeder of Clinton, Ohio, are visiting Mrs. Landrum's son Herbert, who is a patient in the hospital here.

Alexander Wheeler is another patient, being blest by a visit from his mother, whose home is in Elyria, Ohio.

Cards from our tourists in Old Mexico report a splendid time, and they are regretfully turning their steps toward home.

Mrs. E. Stalin of Florence, Ala., and Miss C. J. Guzman of St. Louis have been visiting their friend Alice Dixon. With others, have enjoyed a wonderful time in visiting all the interesting places adjacent to the Fort.

Mrs. Ila Halley recently returned from Kansas has brought as a guest her friend Mrs. Nichols of Hutchinson, Kans. Mrs. Nichols left for her home Tuesday.

Miss Jean Brockwell and Dorothy Brooks accompanied Miss Bertha Smith when she took her sister, Letha, to Fort Bayard. The Misses Smith had just returned from an extended trip to Illinois. Miss Brooks will spend the summer with relatives in Deming.

Mrs. Marie Cavanaugh and sons, Jimmie and Bill, have left to join Mr. Cavanaugh in their new home in Cleveland. The best wishes of many friends go with this estimable family in their new venture.

Dad Cavanaugh and Mrs. Cavanaugh are spending their vacation on their ranch in the "wide open spaces."

The committee for the 4th of July celebration at Fort Stanton have secured a public address system for use on the grounds that day which should prove entertaining to the crowd. Things seem to be shaping up nicely and we look for a big day and certainly hope we can entertain the people who come in the proper manner. Our rodeo horses are on hand and they look plenty "salty."

Mr. and Mrs. Vance P. Smith of Oscura, are leaving today on an extended pleasure trip which will take them to the home of Vance's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Smith at Lehi, Utah, where after a visit at the old home, they will pay their respects to other relatives in Salt Lake City, St. Joseph, Mo. and Hutchinson, Kansas, after which they will attend the Century of Progress at Chicago. They will be absent for several weeks.

Mrs. Charles Joyce left Wednesday evening for Kansas City and Lawrence, Kansas, where she will visit relatives and friends for about two weeks.

per regions of the Amazon and is the only live specimen of an extinct race of either men or apes, from which the ancients derived all kinds of mythical creatures. In order to give everybody a chance to see this rare animal that will be exhibited at the Century of Progress, a lot of the 4th, low prices of 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children will be arranged.

PERSONALS

Our efficient County School Superintendent Mrs. O. C. Jones has recovered from her recent illness to the extent that she is again attending to duties in her office.

The J. F. Petty family of the Economy Grocery & Meat Market were visitors on the Ruidoso Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Harkey and daughter Earline of White Oaks visited her mother Mrs. Rebecca Townsend the first of the week.

Supreme Judge A. H. Hudspeth of Santa Fe was in town for several days this week.

M. U. Finley notes this one: Suggested design for a Father's Day Card—Atlas Under a Heavy Load.

Work goes merrily on, on the new filling station to be owned by Frank Richard, near the Masonic Temple on Main street. Workmen are now digging a cesspool; in fact they have reached the water line.

Prof. and Mrs. F. R. Birney and children are at Las Animas, Colo., having gone there from their home in Houston, Texas, where Prof. Birney is an instructor in the high schools at that place. They will remain for the summer at the home of Mr. Birney's parents, to which place they ordered their Outlook sent. Mrs. Birney was formerly Miss Rose Bingham of this place, and Mr. Birney was a teacher in the Carrizozo high school many years ago.

Miss Hazel Melas, popular English teacher in the local high school, is now at Vaughn, employed as instructor in the Night School, sponsored by the American Legion.

Cashier E. M. Brickley of the First National Bank returned the first of the week from a business trip to Santa Fe.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Moore of their ranch near Adobe were Carrizozo visitors last Saturday; B. L. purchasing supplies for his ranch, while Mrs. Moore called on friends here.

Sabino Vidaurri is having several improvements made on his properties on the east side.

"When the new Board of Town Trustees of Carrizozo gets through with resurfacing and oiling the main sections of the town, you won't know it," Phillip Space remarks. "Everywhere I hear commendations of the new Mayor, Dr. F. H. Johnson and the Town Board."

Ginger Charles is visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Farley in Alamogordo this week.

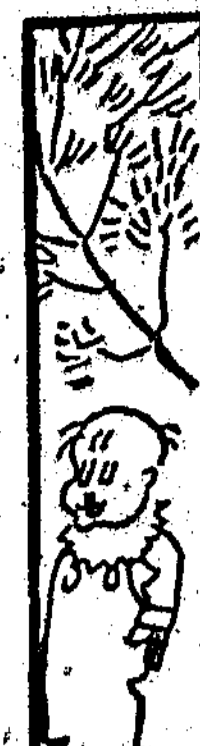

Louis Nalda, the ever-smiling stockman, was a business visitor in town from his Red-Canyon ranch this Tuesday. Louie still is cheerful, despite the drought.

The Town Council will hold its regular meetings on the first Tuesday each month from now on.

Billy Ferguson of the Nogal-Mesa was in town this Monday. Billy has almost recovered from an aggravating illness that put him in the hospital recently.

Seek Some Method to Use Lightning

Much Electric Energy Is Lost Each Year.

Washington—One billion kilowatts of electrical energy is poured down on the earth every year by thunderbolts, the American Meteorological society was told here recently at its annual meeting.

The tremendous potentialities for power from the clouds, at present out of the reach of man, were described by Dr. B. F. J. Schonland, director of research for the Institute of Electrical Engineers, at Johannesburg, South Africa.

The studies of the various phases of lightning and thunderbolts have been undertaken, Doctor Schonland said, with the hope that knowledge of the mechanism and nature of thunderbolts may enable man to utilize at least part of the tremendous electrical energy being constantly built up in the clouds and discharged to the earth.

Much New Information.

The latest research to make lightning divulge its secrets has already yielded much new information as to the speed of lightning, its manner of building up voltage, and the amounts of these voltages, Doctor Schonland said.

Measurements of the electric potential in the cloud show that each centimeter of cloud has a voltage of 10,000, or more than 1,000,000,000 volts per square mile. Generally, the voltage is dissipated before it reaches this high potential, though some thunderbolts have been estimated to reach 1,000,000,000 volts.

By far the largest part of the electrical energy in the cloud, fully nine-tenths of it, is discharged inside the cloud before it reaches the earth, and only one-tenth is discharged in the bolts that reach the ground, the research shows.

The electrical potential of 25,400 volts to the inch, it was determined, is built up by the splitting of drops of water in the cloud. The top of the cloud, the experiments show, is positively charged, while the base of the cloud is negative. The large drops have a positive charge and the small have a negative one. By gravitation the large drops fall down from the top of the cloud to a lower level, where the small negative drops are discharged.

"Leading" Flash.

The downward movement of the large droplets carrying positive electricity, Doctor Schonland stated, accounts for nine tenths of the discharge, and this takes place within the cloud. The negative charge from the base of the cloud to the earth accounts for the remaining one-tenth of the charge.

The latest findings, Doctor Schonland added, dispute the theory promulgated several years ago by Prof. O. C. Simpson of London, that the base of the cloud is positively charged, while its top is negative. Experiments, he said, show the opposite to be the case.

By the device of a special camera Doctor Schonland, in collaboration with H. Collins of South Africa, it has been possible to make photographs of lightning which furnish data for measuring its speed.

The main flash, the photographs show, is always preceded by a "leader" or trail blazer. This "pathfinder" travels from the negatively charged base of the cloud to the positively charged earth at speeds ranging from 810 to 10,000 miles per second.

The main flash travels in the opposite direction from the "leader," starting upward from the earth, from the spot struck by the "leader," and following exactly the same path traversed by the "leader," back to the cloud.

The length of the "leader" was found to vary from 1.6 to 4.7 miles. The longest time occupied by a "leader" stroke was measured at 1,670 millionths of a second for the 4.7 mile stroke. The quickest flash took sixty-nine millionths of a second to travel 3.5 miles.

Students Fail to See Answer in Question

Westfield, Mass.—George G. Sharp, instructor at Westfield high school, suddenly popped this question:

"What famous general is buried in Grant's tomb?"

"Sheridan!" exclaimed one pupil.

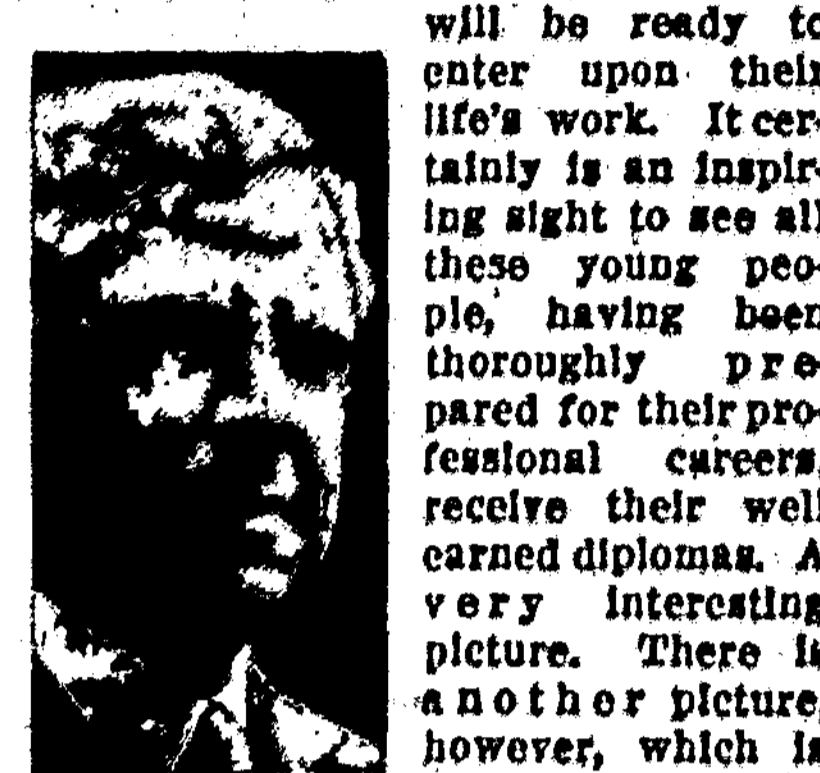

"Taylor!" guessed another.

Sharp got nearly half way around his class before getting the right answer.

THE DIGNITY OF WORK

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

In the month of June thousands of young people graduating from college will be ready to enter upon their life's work. It certainly is an inspiring sight to see all these young people, having been thoroughly prepared for their professional careers, receive their well earned diplomas. A very interesting picture. There is another picture, however, which is not so inspiring.

In our large cities today there are thousands of engineers, lawyers, dentists, physicians and other trained men not only idle but suffering acute poverty, without much hope for the restoration of prosperity in their chosen professions for some time to come. Many of these persons are high-class men and hold degrees from universities of the highest rank.

No person, however, can conscientiously undervalue the importance of the professions. Not only do they require from five to seven years in intense preparation but also work of the hardest kind in carrying them on. Some person has remarked that the life of a doctor is a slavish life if you have something to do and equally exasperating if you have nothing to do. This statement might be true of any of the other professions. They all require work of the hardest kind if success is to be the reward of earnest and self-sacrificing effort.

But there is another kind of work which is not generally regarded as of the professional type; and upon which some educators not only look with disfavor but as something to be avoided. We read learned articles on topics such as, "The value of leisure," "Facing the day of toil," "Live by your wits," "Rise above toil," etc. In other words there seems to be an effort to direct the mind of youth away from manual work as contrasted with the professional career. It is the opinion of many thoughtful persons that the professions are already overcrowded and that there must be a larger return of youth to the trades and the soil. All economic stability originated from the soil and perhaps it is to the soil that the majority must return here we have a stabilized permanent prosperity.

The Household

By Lydia Le Baron Walker

CLEARING up after the actual work has been done must be considered as part of the job unless there is a maid in the household whose duty it is to do this. In every large establishment there is a kitchen servant called a scullery maid whose work consists chiefly in clearing up after the cook or chef, who is completely occupied with the preparation and cooking of the food. The time of these cooks is valuable and it would be extravagant to pay the wages to clear up the dishes, put ingredients away, and wash, and dry pots, pans, and cooking utensils.

However, in homes of average size and moderate means there is but one maid or none. In the first case the homemaker does a part of the clearing up except in the kitchen. And in the second place she does all which attends upon her work, and unless the members of the family have learned to clear up after themselves, she has to do more than her share by clearing up after them if the place is kept tidy and neat.

The "Swiss Babouche"

The "Swiss Babouche," a Delmon shoe, copied from shoes worn by the Swiss and French peasants and adopted for the use of the American sports-woman. It is made of white buckskin with a contrasting black calf. It has a square toe to allow for plenty of foot action, and a super flexible sole.

New Drapery Change

Among the newest innovations in the drapery line are poles of natural wood, finished only with a wax coating, which are perfect for linen draperies. Mirrored tiebacks and cornices, equally new, are being used with draperies of silk, silk mixtures and velvets.

To Clean Lamp Shades

Most silk lamp shades may be successfully washed with lukewarm soap-suds. Dissolve soap flakes thoroughly before adding them to the water and use a very soft brush to apply the suds to the shade.

Rats Prove Burden Even in Experiment

Washington.—Science and culture are pitted against one another in "the battle of the rats" at George Washington university.

And, while science calmly experiments on the rodents, culture contemplates importation of a piped piper to rid "building B" of the pests.

It all began when Ross Pollock, psychology instructor and leader of science's forces in the combat, imported rats for experimental purposes. No one seemed to mind until the odor peculiar to rats—even educated ones for scientific purposes—began to permeate "building B" on the third floor of which is the psychology department. English and history teachers and their classes revolted.

Fairway Nest Doubly Protected

An unusual hazard which golfers made sure to avoid was this graybird's nest on the first fairway at Renner golf course, Detroit. The manager found three eggs in the hole almost ready to hatch, and immediately had workmen put up a foot-high screen to protect the little ones from tractors, mowing equipment and golf balls. To add to this formidable protection, Major, a police dog belonging to one of the caddies, took an interest in the proceedings and delegated himself as guardian of the nest. Both the screen and Major were left on guard until the eggs were hatched and the little graybird family was up and about. In the photograph Major is crying a couple of golf balls which have landed a bit too close to the nest.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for July 1

AHIJAH AND THE DIVIDED KINGDOM.

LESSON TEXT—I Kings 11:29; 12:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall. Proverbs 16:18. PRIMARY TOPIC—A King Who Was No King. JUNIOR TOPIC—Why a Young King Lost a Kingdom. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Right and Wrong Choices. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Prevent Divisions.

I. Ahijah's Prophecy (I Kings 11:29-33).

In view of the political situation it would have been unwise publicly to make known God's plan to Jeroboam within the capital city. Therefore, as Jeroboam was going out of the city, Ahijah, in a symbolic manner, made known the future of the kingdom. He took from his person his garment and rent it in 12 pieces, giving to Jeroboam ten of the pieces with the assurance that ten of the tribes would rally around him as their king.

1. Rehoboam Facing a Crisis (I Kings 12:1-15).

a. The demand of the people (vv. 1-4). This was occasioned by the burden of excessive taxation and enforced labor required by Solomon in order to build costly houses and temples for his heathen wives. Upon the accession of the new king, the people, through their leader Jeroboam, requested that their burdens be made lighter, promising loyalty on condition of lightened burdens.

2. Rehoboam's foolish decision (vv. 5-15).

a. Consultation with the old men (vv. 5-7). These were men of experience who had been Solomon's advisers. Being acquainted with the conditions as imposed by Solomon, and knowing the temper of the people, they advised that the people's request be granted.

b. Consultation with the young men (vv. 8-11). These young men had grown up with Rehoboam, possibly were his half-brothers, sons of Solomon's many wives. Being thus brought up in the luxury of the king's house they were ignorant of the rights of the people and advised that the burdens be increased.

c. Advice of the young men followed (vv. 12-15). At the appointed time he announced his purpose to the people, asserting his intent to increase their burdens and sorrows.

III. The Revolt of the Ten Tribes (vv. 16-24).

Upon Rehoboam's announcement of his rash purpose all Israel cried out "What portion have we in David? ... to your tents, O Israel!"

1. Rehoboam's attempt to collect tribute (vv. 18, 19). As he endeavored to collect tribute from the ten tribes, Adoram, his tribute gatherer, was stoned to death. So violent was the opposition on the part of the people that Rehoboam himself had to flee to Jerusalem in order to save his life.

2. Jeroboam made king over Israel (v. 20). The people lost no time in selecting a national head so as to be strong in their opposition to Rehoboam.

3. Rehoboam's attempt to compel the ten tribes to return to Judah (vv. 21-24). To effect this he assembled his army of 150,000 men. Through the prophecy of Shemaiah, which forbade them to go against their brethren they were persuaded to return.

IV. Jeroboam's Scheme to Unify the Ten Tribes (vv. 25-33).

1. He established calf worship (vv. 25-30). His pretext for this worship was his fear lest religious unity should heal the political separation. He was afraid that the people would go back to Jerusalem to worship and therefore would gradually be led to acknowledge allegiance to Rehoboam, and his own life would be taken.

2. His scheme of worship (vv. 31-33). a. He built a house of high places (v. 31). This was against the direct command of God. God had directed his people to destroy the high places and to break down the idolatrous centers.

b. He made priests of the lowest of the people (v. 31), though God set aside the tribe of Levi to fill the office of the priesthood.

c. He changed the day of the Feast of the Tabernacle. (v. 32). The time of this Feast was set by the Lord (Lev. 23:33, 34). Jeroboam argued that the change in the time would better suit their northern climate, but God who made the climate had ordained the time of the Feast.

d. Jeroboam himself intrudes into the priest's office (v. 33). This act of presumption on his part was the climax of his godlessness.

Hatred of Sin

True repentance has as its constituent elements not only grief and hatred of sin, but also an apprehension of the mercy of God in Christ. It hates the sin, and not simply the penalty; and it hates the sin most of all because it has discovered and felt God's love.—William Taylor.

Chic Plaid or Dotted Sports Linens

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A CRAZE for linen is on. Any fabric, just so its linen, seems to be the idea when it comes to material for this summer's sports, afternoon and even formal, evening wear.

It's the actual feeling of these marvelous linens which makes one appreciate and realize the why and the wherefore of the fuss and furor made over them.

As for beach and tennis, golf and general sports wear, these linens—well, words fail us. However, here are three illustrations which will get the message across better than anything that might be said or written on the subject.

If you are in the class of enthusiasts which go in for tennis and golf, beach sports, hiking and general outdoor sports and leisure pastimes, no need telling you that "shorts" are the order of the day.

Pleated shorts turn a clever trick, for they give every appearance of a smart-fashioned short skirt, which makes them eligible to many an occasion where the more simply constructed shorts might seem out of place.

The shorts to the left are also made of blue and white Irish plaid linen, only the plaids are larger than for the "breeze" just described.

The Irish linen which fashions the beach shorts to the right in the group is of the loose-weave uncrushable type which gives such entire satisfaction in the wearing on hot summer days for rough-and-tumble frolic in the sands.

SHOW SHORT SKIRT WITH SUMMER GARB

There are rumors to the effect that as summer advances, street frocks and suits will be slightly shorter, so that one must get after calves and ankles that have thickened.

It is possible to buy anklets of rubber that will reduce fatty accumulations.

They can be worn at night. Certain exercises are helpful—high kicking, running up stairs, lifting up on the toes. Massage will take off inches if it is vigorous.

Make a massage of the hands, twist and turn and dig in. Rub up and down with the flattened thumb. During the treatment keep the skin surface covered with borated talcum.

Travel Accessories Best

Matching All Clothes

If you are going on a trip and haven't room in your bags to pack several pairs of evening slippers and an extra wrap, take along something that will blend with each formal gown which you intend to wear.

If one of your frocks is black and another is blue, pale green or some other pastel shade, black slippers and a black wrap will go with each dress.

Brown satin pumps and a brown wrap will blend with almost everything except black. They're very nice with plunk and good with silver and gold.

Seersucker Raincoats

Checked seersucker is being used to fashion many popular raincoats. Some of them are made in a sleeveless style, with cape tops. Matching umbrellas and hats complete these ensembles.

Velvet for Summer

Black velvet and white pique are being featured in one important eastern summer collection of hats. The velvet appears in crowns, brim-facings, sewers, belts and bows.

NEW MILLINERY BY CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here's two of the latest in distinctive millinery. For the very good-looking model at the top, the designer makes a pirate's cap draped of vel plausibly which is a multi-colored striped velvet which made its debut this season, and uses it for the crown of this handsome wide-brimmed navy blue straw.

Velvet Beans Are Good for Forage

Dairy Farmer Finds They Produce Well Planted With Corn Crop.

By Elmer C. Blais, Agronomist North Carolina State College of Agriculture.

Velvet beans planted with corn is an excellent winter dairy forage. This is especially true in North Carolina where the small dairy farmer has a few acres of rather rich soil.

The farmer found this apparent explanation for good account. About November 1 he turned his 22 cows into the field and the beans with what was left of the corn provided sufficient feed to keep the cows in heavy milk flow throughout the winter.

With the extra hay the cows were kept on the field until time for spring plowing. At that time there was still a large quantity of bean vines to be turned under.

Urges Liberal Feeding for the Sows With Pigs

Producing milk for hungry pigs is the hardest work the brood sow does, as shown by her loss in weight of from 25 to 40 pounds, says E. F. Kerrin, swine husbandman, University of Minnesota farm.

Pasture is one of the best stimulants for milk production. Before the grazing season begins, green leafy alfalfa hay is a good substitute. Skim milk has always been a favorite for the sow and growing pigs, especially when combined with shorts or middlings as slop.

Self-feeding the sow and pigs is both logical and economical. Self-feeding can be begun when the pigs are about three weeks old, if they are in lots or on pasture where they get exercise.

Fattening Lambs

Many feeders claim that lambs can be more economically finished for the market by self-feeding than by hand-feeding. This claim is based principally upon the fact that when large numbers of lambs are fed, self-feeding saves man labor, and that is no doubt true.

In the Windrows

According to "Internal Debt" of the United States, by Clark & Rowley, about 60 per cent of American farms have no debts on them at all.

A survey indicates acreage planted to watermelons in the southern part of Georgia is increased 30 to 40 per cent this season.

The world's sheep population is estimated at 300,000,000. From this sheep population the world's wool clip each year is around 1,500,000 tons.

The yield of protein from soybeans—pound for pound—is twice that of meat, four times that of eggs, wheat and other cereals, and twice that of navy beans.

Soybeans, cowpeas and similar legume crops are not considered feed crops under the AAA ruling, but instead are classified as hay crops.

Hawaii's 1933 pineapple pack of approximately 8,000,000 cases was estimated to have a value of $22,400,000.

Ohio has only 75 per cent as many cattle on feed this year and the Corn Belt has but 88 per cent as many as a year ago, the United States Department of Agriculture reports.

From practical experience the Department of Agriculture has learned that temporary check of dams of brush built to stop erosion, will last from two and one-half to three years.

LONG VOYAGES OF SEA HOBBOES

Drifting Derelicts a Menace to Shipping

The recent sighting of the "ghost ship" Baybelle near Point Barrow, after she had been lost to the sight of men for a year and a half, calls to mind one of the sea's most captivating mysteries, though a dread menace to every sailor—the derelict.

The Baybelle is 657 tons, a Hudson Bay steamship loaded with $600,000 of fur, cargo. In September, 1931, she was trapped in the ice on Wainwright. The following month airplanes from Nome rescued the passengers, crew and part of the cargo. On Christmas day a heavy storm broke. The next day she disappeared, but a few days later was sighted by Eskimos. On their report a trapper visited the ship and removed $35,000 worth of furs.

There is something fascinating, something compelling in the thought of these lonely, broken, drifting sea hobbos drifting upon the seven seas at the mercy of wind, tide and current. Though a menace to shipping there still clings to them an atmosphere of mystery.

Don't give up!

I DO NOT want to give up... but why do I tire so easily... why can't I carry on... and how is it that I do not feel like myself?

It may be that as the result of colds... indoor or over work... worry and the like... the strength of your blood has been weakened—that is, the red-blood-cells and hemoglobin reduced... and Spring finds you with that tired, listless, "chick" feeling.

For such cases try that time-tested tonic S.S.S.—not just a so-called tonic, but a tonic that actually restores body strength by its action on the blood.

S.S.S. has been proved by thousands of uses, as well as by modern scientific analysis. Unless your case is a very old one, about a week's treatment will give you your color and skin should improve with increased strength and energy.

...to seafaring men was the schooner B. R. Woodside. She was captured by the "ghost ship" some hundred miles off Savannah. At once she headed straight for Cuba, but when she neared the Canaries, she was about twenty miles off her starting point. She then headed slowly down the coast of Florida and then went zigzagging again across the Atlantic. During her career as a derelict she was spotted by no fewer than forty captains of ships in all parts of the Atlantic. Each one, of course, reported her when whereabouts to the hydrographic office in Washington. At last she was picked up and towed to Abaco, New Providence, to be broken up.

A "society" has been organized in Japan to collect funds for a steamer to be named "Yamato" in honor of the emperor. The steamer will be used for shipping there still clings to them an atmosphere of mystery.

So This is "Progress"

Murphyshoro, Ill., Independent:
How Joseph and Pharaoh handled a crop surplus: "Let Pharaoh do this and let him appoint officers over the land."
"And let them gather all the food of those good years that come and lay up corn under the hand of Pharaoh, and let them keep food in the cities."
"And that food shall be for store to the land against the seven years of famine which shall be in the land of Egypt; that the land perish not through the famine."
"And the seven years of dearth began to come according as Joseph had said; and the dearth was in all lands but in all the land of Egypt there was bread."
How the brain trust handles a crop surplus:
"And let us get rid of this oppressive surplus of wealth so that all may be richer. Let us plow under one row of cotton in three. Let us pay the farmers of the fields for the wheat they do not cultivate or plant. Let us pay them for the hogs they do not raise. Let us kill the young pigs and the young calves. Let us plow the growing wheat under, and let the fields lie fallow, for truly we have more food supplies than we need and they have lost their value."
"And so it was done. And the brain trust sent men out into the land and told the farmers how much cotton they could plant. And they killed the young pigs and they plowed the wheat under in the fields. And they paid the farmers for being idle instead of for working, for with a surplus of food supplies idleness became a virtue instead of a vice, and thrift and industry became a vice instead of a virtue. And they levied a tax to pay for all this and collected it from the farmers and others."
"And the wheat crop one year was the smallest it had been within the memory of that generation."
"And the next year came the drouth and the hot winds and the dust storms."
"And there was famine in the land."
"And the people turned to the brain trust and said: "Where is the good wheat you made us plow under? Where is the good pork you made us throw on the refuse heaps?" And the brain trust said unto the people: "You are but guinea pigs on whom we experiment in the cause of progress. What matters if you starve provided we learn something about social experiments? If you have no bread, then eat cake."
"And the people were wroth and turned upon the brain trust and drove them from the city, but there was famine in the land."
Fire Chief J. M. Beck and his Carrizozo Fire Department were seen this Tuesday, laying the dust in front of the Carrizozo Hardware Co., Ziegler Bros. Store and the First National Bank.

Notice of Hearing of Final Report and Account

In the Probate Court of Lincoln County, State of New Mexico In the Matter of the Estate of Henry Benjamin Morris, Deceased, No. 339

We Invite You—

Knowledge's truth. Nothing is more convincing. Our obligation as Ford dealers in this community is not only to sell and service cars. Just as important is our duty to acquaint the public with up-to-date facts about automobile values. We believe that only in this way can intelligent comparisons be made.

So, this invitation is given to everyone — owners of large or small cars — machinists — other automobile dealers, come in and inspect the new 1934 Ford V-8. You will find out why a Ford buying wave is going over the country.

If you would like to drive the new Ford that is your privilege. New thrills will delight you. We will not bombard you with requests to buy—the car will do that.

We are looking for you!

Signing the Declaration of Independence

Washington Diary

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington, President Roosevelt's broad conception of reforms in the country's social structure has now been given the country. In it, he has presented the embryonic propositions which he intends to submit to the Congress in January 1935. Everywhere around the capital city, I believe, it is accepted as a statement upon which he expects that Democratic representatives and senators will seek to be re-elected in the November election.

Disregarding for a moment the views obtainable as to the merits of the projects which he laid down in his message to Congress outlining his social reform program, I find that most leaders look upon the Roosevelt statement as one from which they can determine his future policy. It will work out this way, I am informed: If the voters elect a preponderance of Roosevelt supporters for the house and senate again this fall, the President will consider that the country approves of his plans. If, on the other hand, there should be a sharp loss of Democrats in the house, I am told that Mr. Roosevelt would be likely to consider that as a mandate to slow up somewhat on the program upon which he has embarked.

As I reported to you several weeks ago, Mr. Roosevelt has now founded out the picture of recovery and reform as he conceives it to be necessary, or rather as he and his advisers think the course should be. At that time, predicted, would find it opportune just before Congress quit for the session to toss his ideas into the hopper for consideration during the summer months. It can now be said that he has elected to go into battle with the opposition without quarter, for his message made it clear that the critics had offered, perhaps, as an alternative. He declared they were unable to present any plan for human happiness and that they proposed to go back to the "old order" which had broken down completely in the past.

The President asserted that he proposed to make the security of the citizen and his family the first consideration of government. And to accomplish what he explained, it was necessary to deal with the traditions and practices to which we long have adhered.

"People," he said, "want decent homes to live in; they want to locate their business; they want to engage in productive work; and they want some safeguard against misfortunes which cannot be wholly eliminated in this mad world of ours."

Mr. Roosevelt's message was decidedly general in tone. He avoided specifications. But the general thoughts were certainly clear to all and sundry, and it is upon these general thoughts that they have already been drawn.

So it cannot be doubted that throughout the coming campaign we will hear much of the New Deal's new social structure as presented by Mr. Roosevelt. The Roosevelt supporters will swear by all that is holy that it is the way to happiness. Republicans and anti-Roosevelt spellbinders will shout all of the invectives that may be used to inform the country that it is headed for government ownership, destruction of property rights, etc.

Some observers here thought there might be some link between the delivery of the President's message and the labor situation. They pressed to see a closer move by the Chief Executive to satisfy many citizens as to his intention to guarantee work and food throughout the future. "I am in a position to say, however, that there was no connection between the unsettled labor situation and the time at which the message was delivered to Congress. It was ready at that time and was sent along in regular course. It has had, or is to have, any effect on the threats of strikes and the leaders in those movements, it will be wholly a coincidence."

The strikes have been bred of different causes than the things about which Mr. Roosevelt talked in his message. He is proposing such things as old age insurance, additional government money for loans to persons who want to buy homes, the transfer of those living in barren spots (inssofar as jobs are concerned) to sections and conditions where work is obtainable, and a general paternalism on the part of the national government. In other words, Mr. Roosevelt's program contemplates a long range development and has no reference to NRA schemes, its codes or what have you. It does refer directly to the movement of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration which has come a long way, and to the regulation of the production of farms and its control.

With reference to the labor situation, he said that Mr. Roosevelt is willing to abandon millions of acres of land and to have the people who own and produce it that is with one hand turned to good laws. It is a proposition that will involve the use of untold

America's Most Precious Document

17 years ago since the 13 original American states broke away from the rule of Great Britain and proclaimed their autonomy through the Declaration of Independence. That historic instrument, promulgated on July 4, 1776, is the most important in American history.

At the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the original thirteen states were in the throes of a civil war. The British were in the throes of a civil war. The British were in the throes of a civil war.

Probably no two peoples have more in common or have lived in greater unity than Great Britain and the United States have lived for more than a century. Certainly nowhere else in the world could be found such a thing as an undefended boundary line of 3,000 miles. In the light of such facts it is with some difficulty that the present day tries to understand the situation of 177 years ago. The trouble of that far-off day may be ascribed to the mischievous theory of colonization which formerly prevailed in England and, indeed, in all the rest of Europe, a theory that parliament might enact laws binding upon the colonies "in all cases whatsoever" without regard to the wishes of the colonies. Acting upon this theory, England tried to exploit her American colonies.

After the close of the Seven Years' war, during which the colonies stood devotedly by the mother country, parliament drafted certain measures for the better administration of the colonies. Among these was the so-called Stamp Act, which levied a tax in Great Britain on stamped paper. It brought an outburst of opposition, but petitions that crossed the Atlantic were of no avail. Later it was followed by import duties on glass, paper, paints and tea. Because of protests, all finally were repealed except the tax on tea. Colonists refused to buy tea, but shipsloads of it were sent anyway to New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston. It appeared that Britain was attempting to force Americans both to buy tea and to pay a tax on it. Boston rallied to the occasion with the celebrated "Boston Tea Party," an "indignant festivity" in which men disguised as Indians boarded a ship and threw the tea cargo into the harbor. To discipline Boston for this, the British then closed the port to all shipping and sent soldiers to occupy the city.

There were other measures of reprisal also. Believing that Massachusetts was the fountainhead of resistance, parliament passed another act revoking the charter of Massachusetts and providing for the transportation to England of certain offenders for trial. Massachusetts rebelled, the other colonies stood behind her. There were hurried detentions which savored of preparation for war. Minutemen were organized and quantities of ammunition were collected and stored at Concord. General Gage, occupying Boston, determined to destroy these stores and sent 800 men from Boston to do the work.

When they reached Lexington on the morning of April 19, 1775, they found about 80 minutemen in their way. They fired on the "ambushed farmers," killing eight and wounding ten, and proceeded to Concord. On their way back to Boston they were attacked by gathering militia forces and all but annihilated. The war had begun. A few weeks later followed the siege of Boston, the Battle of Bunker Hill and that great day when Washington took command of the Continental Army.

The war went on with a venal truce, and on May 15, 1776, a convention, held at Williamsburg, Va., adopted resolutions in which the delegates in the general congress were instructed "to propose to that respectable body to declare the United Colonies free and independent states." Three weeks later, Richard Henry Lee, in behalf of the Virginia delegates, introduced the resolution in congress. It passed and a committee was appointed to prepare a Declaration of Independence. America's "most precious document" was the result.

Declaration in Three Parts
The Declaration of Independence may be said to be divided into three parts. In the first, the colonists set forth their philosophy as to the right and duty of a people to throw off a government which has become despotic; in the second they rehearse a long series of grievances to show that British government in the colonies had become so; and in the third they actually declare themselves "free and independent states."

The NATION'S GREATEST PICNIC DAY
W. Washington, D. C.
The Fourth of July Picnic is Popular With All.

The Fourth of July Picnic is Popular With All. It is a day of great national holiday among all the people of the United States. It is observed by every state in the Union and by the District of Columbia. Since the signing of the Declaration of Independence this greatest of all picnic days has not wanted for popularity with people in all walks of life, from the farmer and his family to the business man and his family from the great city.

What with the preparations that have been going on since still in progress, principles of which is the collection of a great many things that will appeal to all in the party, thousands upon thousands of mothers are "chairmen of committees of arrangements"—especially the food supply. That they are doing their duty is a most wonderful manner is attested by the grocer, the butcher, the canned goods shops, and all other places that deal in the type of "eats" that will be suitable for such a great celebration. For everybody is picnic-minded this year and every one of the millions of outings promises to be "bigger and better" than ever before.

As is another usual custom on such an occasion she is stocking the special picnic basket with various kinds of canned meats and vegetables that call for little or no attention when time comes for serving. Anticipating that the family will not care to re-prepare home-pickled relishes, she is planning on two picnic meals instead of only the usual "supper" dishes. In addition to the picnic grounds, where there is to be a night program, ending with the big fireworks display, this day will be given over entirely to the Independence celebration as never before—judging from the plans, including the food supply. As the evening meal will come mostly from the splendid variety of canned meats, fruits, vegetables and such, as well as from attractive packages of foods that are prepared for just such affairs—all now is an unimagined like never before, for an old-time celebration of the "grand and glorious Fourth."

The old fellow described the smoke and country as best he could.

"Are you telling me the truth, Tim?" she asked repeatedly and the man swore that he was.

"Oh, for eyes!" she cried. "If I'd stayed in Chicago the bandage was to have been taken off tomorrow.

After a time, as her agitation only increased, Tim attempted to take her mind at least partially from the fire.

"Better come to my shanty and lay down a while," the man said solicitously.

She protested at first but Tim continued to insist that she rest and finally his way prevailed.

While he puttered about his stove a man emerged from the timber on the opposite side of the lake and stood looking across the neck of water towards the buildings.

After she had rested and eaten, Kate Flynn sat on Tim's doorstep and once more the old fellow functioned as eyes for her.

"Kotter 'n hot but she don't spread. That means th' backfire's holdin'," he said over and over.

Afternoon waned and once he cursed softly. He had gone further in his pacing, that time, and when he halted and looked across the water Tim Todd's shanty was hidden from him by the store building.

Then, very cautiously, looking all about and with one long stare up the lake toward where all the available man power of Good-Bye battled the flames he had set, ran across the sand toward the store.

"Looks better all th' time, Katie," he insisted. "I'd like to bet they stopped her at Otter creek, though how they'd do it in slash like that 'nd on a day like this—"

"He broke short as his gaze chanced to wander to the store. Through a window on the near side he saw a man clambering through a window in the other!

"I'll be dusted!" he muttered, dropping the girl's hand and rising. "How come that-a-way?"

"What, Tim? What's happened?" Kate rose, freshly alarmed at his tone.

"Just somebody at th' store, Katie. Likely they'll need somethin'. I'll skip over."

trapped, caught red-handed. He accepted the situation resolutely.

"You'd better clear out, Tim," he said darkly, snatching up the brief case. "I'm on my way. Right now!"

"You're a danged thief!" Tim cried. "Shut up and get out!" Franz snarled, walking toward him.

"Get out, be dusted! I'm in charge here! I'm responsible for what's in here. Franz, you drop that satchel!"

The other leaped backward; the bit buried itself deeply in the floor and as Tim wrenched it free Franz leaped the counter and made for the window through which he had entered.

"No ye don't!" Tim screeched and lunged after him, awing the ax again. "No ye don't! Ye can't come it over me, Franz! Back into that corner, young man! I'll split ye in two if ye try to git away, now!"

Slowly but surely Franz was being cornered. The double bit swung in wide arcs as Tim advanced step by step.

Franz's face lost color. "Get out, old man!" he cried finally. "Get out or . . ." And then Tim was looking down the muzzle of an automatic pistol.

"Yah!" he jeered. "Ye can't scare me with no pop gun! Ye drop that or I'll chop yer hand—"

"Stay back!" Franz gasped, coming up against the safe and then the automatic spat just once, orange flame darted from the barrel.

The ax lost its firm swoop of direction. It sagged and drooped and dropped, bouncing and sliding to the far side as Tim, with a low whisper, raised both hands as if they were great weights, to his pierced breast.

"Shot me!" he gasped in amazement. "Dusted if . . . ye didn't. . ."

His knees gave. He went down slowly, wilting rather than falling, slumped to one hip and then sprawled shuddering on the floor. . . .

From the doorway of the little cabin Kate Flynn had heard. She heard Tim shout; heard another voice giving answer and the tones of the exchange stirred her to action.

With that, the girl ceased groping. Her hands whipped to her temples, fingers fastened in the white gauze of the bandage and with a jerk she pulled it from her eyes.

"And with you gone? What then? Who would know?" Behind him Tim Todd closed one hand. From his chest a dark stain was spreading on the floor boards.

"You mean, you'd shoot me down, too? Because I know?" Franz laughed mockingly, and tucked the brief case under one arm.

"It isn't pleasant business, I've discovered," A slight shudder traveled his big body. "I wouldn't harm a hair of your head, Kate . . . unless it became necessary." He licked his lips again; the lights in his eyes were shifting and changing as he planned a way out for himself.

"I wanted to block your deal with MacDonald, only, but—with a shrug—"things broke badly. With the breaks going against you, you do the best you can. So, with you, there are things to be done."

"What things?" she whispered, alarmed for her own safety, now. "You are alone. When you go, there will be none to know what happened."

"No, no! You can't do that!" "I can't? Ha!" He snuggled the brief case closer against his side.

"What's in here, and liberty, are all I have left." He caught her hand as she started to turn away. "I can use them both, seeing that they're all I own."

"We'll start, now; just you and I. We'll be together long enough so I'll be sure I've a start. And then . . . we'll cross that bridge when we reach it."

She commenced to struggle in his grasp, twisting her arm to free it, kicking out with her small feet. But her efforts were futile. Franz dropped the brief case, turned her roughly about, pulled her hands together behind her and bound them securely.

"Oh, help!" she screamed. "Help, Help!" His palm cut off her words.

"No one near," he reminded her. "However, there might be a little later. We will take no chances."

The bandage she had torn from her eyes hung loosely about her neck. He put one arm about her head, drawing it tightly against his breast, and with quick movements slipped the gauze across her lips, twisted a knot at the nap of her neck and then held her at arm's length, bound and gagged.

Kate made inarticulate, raging sounds, but he paid them no heed. Lifting her in his arms, with only one look behind at old Tim's form, he walked quickly out to his canoe, and laid her gently in the bottom with the duff.

He headed up the lake to where the smoke shroud, now hanging low in the heavier air of approaching evening, obscured all landmarks.

"Pleasant journey!" he taunted, but a queer and foreboding hunger showed on his face as he stared at her.

Back in the store old Tim had rolled over. He tried to rise and could not; tried to crawl and could not so much as get his knees up. So, slowly, at the cost of infinite pain, he bled himself along half-way to the open door. He saw the canoe making northward; he tried to call out. His face dropped again to the planks and he moaned twice and was still.

Steve Drake stood aside as the other men clustered about Young Jim Flynn, the men he had saved from probable death and the others whose hearts he had won by that achievement.

Hall recently completely destroyed wheat fields two miles north of Clovis, N. M., during a severe storm. The hailstones were not large but were of sufficient size to mow the crop down.

There is every indication that the enrollment for summer school this year at the New Mexico Normal, in Las Vegas, will exceed that of last year. The enrollment last year reached the $60 mark.

The $135,000 teachers' relief allocation made to Arizona by the government will be used to pay rural teachers' salaries for April and May. It has been announced by Herman Hendrix, state superintendent of public instruction.

Revenues from the New Mexico liquor stamp tax, which became effective June 1, totaled more than $14,000 the first three days of the month. J. C. Pillow, executive secretary of the State Liquor Control Board, announced.

The Department of Agriculture recently advised United States Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico that it will start a cattle buying program in the drought stricken New Mexico counties of Union, Harding, Quay and Curry soon.

The executive board meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association, held at Las Vegas June 18, was of unusual interest to the livestock men, as reports were made of the status of bills brought before Congress which affect the livestock industry.

According to word reaching Santa Fe, the Senate has reduced the $100,000,000 request for continuation of highway construction work in the United States to $200,000,000, which means that New Mexico's share will be cut to $3,000,000 from the approximately $6,000,000 obtained last year.

Arizona's emergency relief administration allotment for June is one-fifth less than received for May. It was said by H. L. Ryder, chief auditor. For the work and relief program in June, $400,000 has been apportioned. Ryder said the curtailment would not result in curtailment of the present work.

Fire recently burned out the heart of the Duncan, Ariz., business district, destroying seven buildings, causing an estimated loss of $20,000, and for a time threatening the entire city. Volunteer fighters, handicapped by lack of fire protection, were compelled to obtain water from the Southern Pacific.

Cotton growers in the Salt river valley in Arizona signaling the government crop reduction programs have received $100,000 and an additional $50,000 is on the way, Harry A. Stewart, county agricultural agent, announced. The payments represent sums of $20 to $2,000 paid to 474 growers.

A copy of the pamphlet issued by Oklahoma City University concerning the Taos summer tour, which brings Oklahoma students through Raton, has been received at the Chamber of Commerce. The pamphlet contains pictures of Raton and vicinity and is another of ways in which Raton is being advertised.

Miss Roso Azar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Azar of Raton, has just received word from the dean of New York University that she has been awarded a fellowship to their university in the school of retailing. She has also received a fellowship from the University of Pittsburgh, but has decided to accept the offer at New York.

Phoenix will send one of the "youngest" bands in the nation to the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Louisville, Ky., Aug. 29 to Sept. 1. The Juvenile band, its membership made up of boys from 4 to 12 years of age, will parade with the veterans of Louisville, and later will be guests of Gov. Eugene Tamm of Georgia at Atlanta.

Representatives of the 70 Highway Association from Yavapai and Coconino counties appeared before the Arizona highway commission recently and asked that action be taken in the 1934-35 budget to improve that route. Grace Sparkes, secretary of the Yavapai County Chamber of Commerce, pointed out to the commission that the road is the gateway to nine national monuments and other scenic attractions.

Ruins of the old Franciscan mission, built in 1620 at Quarai, eight miles northwest of Mountainair, N. M., are to be preserved by the work of twenty civilian conservation corps men. Built of red sandstone, the walls of the old mission stand forty to fifty feet high on a forty-acre tract owned by the University of New Mexico. Dr. Edgar L. Hewitt, head of the department of archeology at the University of New Mexico and director of the School of American Research, said archeologists believe Quarai is one of the largest prehistoric pueblos in the southwest.

The condition of ranges over New Mexico on June 1 was lower than at any time since 1925, according to Fred Daniels, federal agricultural statistician, in his monthly crop and livestock report, which declared ranges suffered during May from drought and the condition of cattle and sheep declined. The need for moisture's general throughout the state, as most sections have received little rain since last fall. Ranges have been grazed short of old grass during the past winter. Green grass has made slow growth, due to lack of soil moisture.

WE KNOW THEM, TOO

Smart was looking rather puzzled. "Tell me, old fellow," he said to a friend, "have you ever heard of such a thing as cold embers?" The friend shook his head vigorously.

"Never," he replied. "There can't be such a thing." Smart smiled artfully. "Oh, yes, there is," he replied. "November and December—they're cold enough, aren't they?"

Merciless Campaigning Several of your friends in congress are physicians. "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "but they are cautious doctors who prescribe only simple remedies. What we need is a bunch of dentists who can pull teeth and administer gas."

Business and Politics "Can you keep business out of politics?" "Too easily," answered Senator Sorghum. "The folks out home say their practice of not giving taxpayers their money's worth has become painfully unbusinesslike."

Influence "Women have assumed a position of power in politics." "Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "Sometimes it looks to me as if even a beauty contest had been decided by influence rather than by merit."

Worthless Lot "I have a devoted wife and eight charming children, sir." "They must be a poor bunch if they can't support you."—Brooklyn Eagle.

SIMPLE FROCK THAT ACCENTS SMARTNESS

PATTERN 9909 A simple frock is just a simple frock unless it is cleverly cut—and then it becomes one of the smartest things a woman can wear in summer. But choose your design with the greatest care—remember it will have no help from frills or furbelows. To be dead certain of getting something chic; you cannot do better than this model with its smart and becoming neck and its well fitting panels. It is, by the way, a wonderful style for slimming the figure. Use cotton or linen for chic results. Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Pattern 9909 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 36 inch fabric. Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for the pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER AND SIZE.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth Street, New York City.

Foxy Idea "Why do you prefer players who have happy homes?" the manager of the baseball team was asked. "Because," he replied, "the big thing in baseball is getting home, and if a fellow thinks a lot of home he'll be more anxious to get there than one who doesn't."

Curiosity Warsaw—A young man was arrested because he was lying across railway lines near Warsaw. "Suicide?" he said, when questioned by the police. "Certainly not! I was just trying to find out how quickly a train could draw-up."

Tips "Can the stock market be regulated?" "Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "but you'll never stop speculation. You can't keep lambs from taking tips any more than you can hotel waiters."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

A. P. Jones, son "Curley" and Mrs. Alice Warner, Curley's mother from Denver, who is here on a visit, were in from the Jones ranch Tuesday. A. P. has justly earned the name of "Scotty" on account of driving the 12 miles from his ranch without burning a thimbleful of gas. With that record to his credit, he should be able to go through the depression and supply all of his neighbors with juice at a nominal cost.

Ted Padilla's Amateur Sluggers played a return game with the Capitan Mutineers last Sunday on the east side diamond, and again they hung crepe on their opponents by a score of 18 to 4. Ortiz and Gutierrez shared the pitching honors and Mirabal did the backstopping. The boys fielded and batted in great style. Do it again, Sluggers.

Painter Smalridge, Mrs. Smalridge and the children, Carmelita, Frank and Nick, and Joe Chavez made a pleasure trip to the Nick Maes place near Ancho on Monday evening.

Alfredo Martinez and Balloon Apodaca were visitors at Montoya, 22 miles this side of Tucumcari, the latter part of last week.

Miss Dorothy Dozier, pianist, has joined "Los Rancheros" orchestra and last Saturday they journeyed to Duran, where they played for a couple of dances on Saturday and Sunday nights. The orchestra is composed of Miss Dozier, Sat Chavez, Jr., Tennis Bigelow, Celly Sandoval and Emiliano McKinley.

Lell and Marshall St. John, Julian Mirelez, Lloyd Vigil and Alfredo Lopez motored to Duran last Saturday night to attend a big dance.

Mrs. Martin Vega, who has been confined to her bed for the past week on account of illness, is much improved at this writing.

The ever courteous waiter, Daniel Chavez, will give you "Service With a Smile" when you step into the Waffle House, and the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Compton, appreciate your patronage.

Jim King of Tularosa was acquitted at Alamogordo, last week of the charge of having caused the death of Officer Haynes at Tularosa several months ago. The defense contended that the officer had stepped in the path of the horse ridden by King, which had become unmanageable.

Mr. and Mrs. Montie Gardenhire have moved from Capitan to Carrizozo and are now located in the old Clarence Spence place.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clouse, Mrs. Nellie Branum, sons Clint and Rufus are trout fishing on the Ruidoso this week.

Dr. R. E. Blaney and Dr. R. T. Lucas were trying their luck in trout fishing on the Ruidoso Wednesday and came out ahead of the game.

OSCURA NOTES

Jim Brown came in from his ranch in the Oscura mountains Thursday and returned Saturday, accompanied by Tom Burns who went along to help him dig his well.

Buck Dillard left for Lubbock, Texas, Friday to take his father down there to visit his son Jack and family.

Mrs. Clara Loudon is visiting in Carrizozo this week.

Mr. Wettstein made a business trip to Fort Stanton Tuesday.

Mack Brazel and some of the Hatchet cowboys are gathering horses this week over on the Mountain Spring flats.

The people around Oscura are still complaining about the dry hot weather and wishing for rain.

Mrs. Sam Dillard's flower garden is still thriving, but a good rain would improve it a lot.

Uncle Fred Neighbauer was here from his ranch near the Malpais on Wednesday and was accompanied by his neighbor, C. M. Brown.

Street Oiling

Carrizozo streets are being torn up to some extent this week in preparing the same for oiling which will begin as soon as the new water pipe is put in on the street crossings. The old pipe is being taken up and replaced with new copper pipe to insure against leakage which would necessitate tearing up the oiled surface and concrete.

Now, the work performed on this project will be done by the FERA under the supervision of Mr. C. N. Hare. In other words, the putting of the new pipe, preparing the streets for oiling and placing it on, will be done at no expense to the town, leaving only the cost of the oil and the new pipe to be borne by Carrizozo. Taking it all in all, we are sitting pretty, and the council is to be commended on putting over this project with the assistance of Mr. Hare.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ferguson, daughters Mary, Frances, Mrs. Frank Titsworth and a small daughter, and Bessie Evans of the Nogal-Mesa were Carrizozo visitors yesterday.
