Ford Reduces Prices

Reductions of $10 to $15 in list prices of 1934 Ford V-8 passenger cars and $10 to $20 in list prices of Ford V-8 commercial cars were announced last week by the Ford Motor Co., effective Friday, June 15.

Ford prices had remained unchanged since the introduction of the 1934 Ford V-8 last December, the Ford Motor Co. not having participated in the recent general automotive price increase. The reductions announced are, therefore, a decrease in the original prices.

The price reduction on the standard and de luxe Tudor Sedans, most popular individual models in point of sales, is $15. Other standard models and de luxe body types were reduced $10; except prices of the Roadster, Phaeton and Cabriolet, de luxe types, which remain unchanged. Both standard and de luxe passenger cars have the same V-8 engine and 112-inch wheelbase chassis. Body types for both are identical except for the de luxe equipment.

DIAMOND DUST

Carrizozo repeated against Socorro Sunday on the local diamond when they took the lead from across the Rio Grande to task by a score of 10 to 5. Both teams played neck and neck until the 7th inning, when Carrizozo got on a hitting spree and forged ahead never to be left behind. Red Huffmeyer pitched the entire game for Carrizozo and deserves much credit for the victory. Socorro had a very good pitcher also, and had his teammates produced hits when hits meant runs. It's probably that Diamond Dust would be in mourning again this week.

The Lincoln County Maulers, at one time one of the strongest teams of the southwest, were given a terrible setback by Carrizozo's younger blood by a score of 15 to 0. Barnett & Stokes shared the pitching burden (and what a burden it was!) Billy Norman was game to the core from the fact that he was handicapped with so much rigging around his anatomy. Billy Gallacher had his mind set more on rain than on three ball games.

McClintock and Ernest Dingwall tried very hard, but oh! those body supporters for railroad duty the next day! The boys didn't have a complete line-up from another fact: The Irishman Pat Dolan, Lewis Adams and others were not present. Wise owls. Shorty Dawson was too busy dry farming and Wayne Van Schoyck has lost his umpiring ability. Joe Chavez bet a bone against a haircut on the game - and did he win?

Well, boys, time tells the tale. All together: "The Old Gray Mare Taint What She Used To Be."

White Oaks defeated Corona by a wide margin, but we failed to get the official score.

Carrizozo goes to Alamogordo next Sunday.

The East-Siders went to Mesalero Sunday and engaged the Redmen in combat. When the smoke of battle had cleared up, our boys were trailing by a score of 15 to 12. Mesalero's No. 2 team will come here Sunday and attempt to scalp our boys again. On July 1, the date when the big annual festivities begin in the Reservation, the East-Siders will play a return game at Mesalero.

How would you like to live in Marshfield, Mass., where on the old John Wislow homestead, they have an oven in the house that'll hold 65 pies at one time. PERSONALS

Miss Nadine Lesnett arrived here Tuesday from Wichita, Kansas, where she graduated from the Wichita high school. She will remain for the summer season at least, and let us hope she will decide to stay permanently. After her graduation, she visited at the home of her sister, Mrs. Bruce Groves at Forgan, Okla., before coming here.

Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Lucas arrived here Monday morning from Kansas City and will visit for a couple of weeks with the A. L. Burke family. Dr. Lucas is like most men, fond of fishing and will try his luck as usual, in the mountain streams.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Grafton of Angus are on the sick list; let us hope for their speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Ferguson were here from their home on the Nogal-Mesa the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Burina McGee of Las Cruces, mother of our popular school teacher in the Carrizozo schools, Miss Maynor Fay McGee, has been appointed as one of the hostesses for New Mexico at the Century of Progress at Chicago, according to a letter received by Miss Rosalind Burke from Miss McGee. She is now working on a Post-Graduate course in the New Mexico State University at Albuquerque.

Mrs. Harriett Robertson

On April 5, Mrs. Harriett Robertson, owner of the Helen Rae gold mine at Nogal, passed away at the home of her niece, Edith Plummer at Alameda, California, and through some oversight, the sad news failed to reach here until the latter part of last week when we received it in a letter from Mrs. Plummer. We have no apology to offer from the fact that we were not only greatly taken by surprise, but also much saddened by the news.

Mrs. Robertson resided at Nogal for a number of years, during the mining activity at the Helen Rae. She was well known both here and at Nogal. Several years ago, Mrs. Robertson visited England, accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Plummer, and remained there for almost a year, during which time, to quote her own words, she received the Outlook regularly.

She was a kind, conscientious lady, charitable in her nature and had many friends in this county, all of whom will be sad to learn of her death. In her passing, the Helen Rae became the property of Mrs. Plummer, to whom the sympathy of our community will be extended.

Be sure and attend the ball game next Sunday.

Phoenix, She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, one son, David, aged 10 and one daughter, Margaret, aged 9, besides relatives on both sides of the family, to all of whom, the sympathy of our community is extended.

On Sunday, Mrs. Nellie Branum, Clint and Mrs. Oscar Clouse, returned home, accompanied by Rufus and the children who will remain at home for several weeks to recuperate from their sad misfortune.

CODE of the NORTH by HAROLD TITUS

Synopsis: Stephen Drake, with his four-year-old son, is rescued from a blizzard by Jim Flynn, big timber operator, and Drake, until his death, impresses on the boy Steve, the debt they owe "Old Jim"...

A second serious blaze was developing, set by sparks from his backfire, and wallowing through the down-stuff a half dozen men followed him to another interval of heart breaking, lung-scaring work.

rival until they approached, LaFane in the lead. The crew was now making a valiant effort to keep the backfire from crossing the road and finding a hold in that hazardous area. Watching all this, considering the possibilities of failure, planning how he could get his men back to the creek should they take a licking over there, Drake gave no special heed to the two who came up to him. He was aware of their coming, but took for granted that they were of the crew.

into that; it was beyond human endurance. And yet as a fresh puff of wind struck him, he knew that he must. Human lives depended on the ability of his body and will to withstand the ordeal of fire. He had only a dozen steps to take before he would be through the worst, and he held his lungs flat so he would not breathe flame. The skin bulged to blisters on his neck, the hair on one temple singed and he felt the fire licking for his legs as he summoned all of his strength, and with one final effort, ran.

Here's to a Smart Summer Wardrobe

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

TURN to the east or turn to the west or turn to the spot you love best where to tarry a while in the good old summertime. Unless your wardrobe be well stocked with timely and practical as well as chic and pretty apparel your vacation is apt to count nil in the way of uplifting joy and satisfaction. N'est ce pas?

Not that one necessarily must have an extravagant collection of lovely frocks and sporty dresses and stunning hats and—intriguing wraps and flattering accessories, for a few carefully chosen outfits count for far more than a superabundance of helterskelter ill-advised fashions.

Reducing the formula for smart vacation clothes to its simplest, first a tailored-to-perfection ensemble for general daytime wear; secondly, a casual frock with swanky details for active sports wear, and thirdly, a sheer and lovely formal of alluringly feminine charm ought to go a far way toward helping start one's summer vacation style program in the right direction. The trio of stunning fashions shown here have been selected with this thought in mind.

Beginning with the tailored ensemble centered in the group, we feel we can recommend it as having all the necessary attributes to render it eligible for election as a fashion-supreme for general daytime wear. With all its summery daintiness when it comes to actual hard wear and tear it is a sturdy little affair designed to give real service. One of several reasons why you can depend upon it is that it is made of a soft yet firm Irish linen which is everlasting when it comes to color, is easily washable and best of all it is uncrushable which counts a lot when one is on the go from morning to night. The dress is natural color with a yoke of linen strips in contrasting high shades joined by hand-fagoting. It is completed by a meticulously tailored three-quarter coat which, when removed, reveals a gay bodice top with mere suggestions for sleeves—really quite a fetching gown for informal afternoon wear.

The intriguing frock to the left in the group has all the makings of a winner whether it plays in a game of fashion or tennis or golf. It is a costume warranted to start the day off joyously, so don't it first thing in the morning. Its practicability is equalled by its smartness expressed not only in the voguish checked Irish linen which fashions it, but in such arresting details as a row of big buttons traveling down the back of the skirt, when you would expect them to be at the front. The low cut back is not only a style feature but it is an invitation to the sun to send its health rays hither.

Comes at the close of a "perfect day in June" and during the months following, the glamorous shades of night when one would dance the magic hours away or make conquest of hearts, well here is the gown that will do it for you—to the right in the picture. It is made of a sheer black printed marquisette which makes you look beautiful whether you are or not. A velvet girdle encircles the waist and the slip underneath is of black taffeta so that it "sounds like music when she moves." It's amazing to what lengths party frocks and formals are going this season reaching even unto the floor and then some.

SAILOR FASHION

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Sailor themes is news of high importance in connection with fashions for youngsters and juniors. Incidentally we might mention that it is also ultra chic for grown-ups' costumes to take on nautical details, especially wide sailor collars in versatile interpretations. But to the subject before us—this cunning child in her modish little frock of white Irish linen which looks so smartly nautical with its sailor collar and sleeve bands of blue and its cord-laced fastening. Here we see the descendant of the sailor dresses which were the pride of the well-dressed child in years gone by.

Coolie Coats

Coolie coats in pastel hannel are very smart, for street wear with dark dresses. The finger-tip length is favored and the sleeves are long and full.

Cotton Tweed

A cotton tweed coat is something to keep in mind for summer wardrobes. The new ones, which look surprisingly like woolens, have coarse yarns in white, giving a nubby effect against colored grounds.

Fine Feathers

Feathers are an outstanding trim for evening gowns. Ostrich is the favorite and is seen in many versions, forming ruffles or shoulder accents.

Ice Patrol Keeps Watch on Ocean Traffic Lanes

Keeps Vessels Informed of Position of Bergs.

Washington.—The U. S. S. Mendota of the International Ice patrol reports 165 icebergs in the Atlantic ship lanes—the largest number since 1912 when one of the floating mountains of ice wrecked the Titanic, palatial British steamship.

"Icebergs have always been the dread of transatlantic navigators," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "They just drift here and there. They give no warning of their presence. They are propelled by ocean currents, winds, and waves. Fog is their constant companion."

"A vessel speeding through an area infested with moving ice, during the night or in fog, plays a game of chance. Even on a starlit night a berg cannot be seen beyond a half mile; but when the position of the ice is known to the navigator the danger is eliminated; he can alter his course to avoid the menace."

"The ice comes down every year, as it has for centuries; but now every berg that follows the eastern edge of the Grand Banks into the steamer lanes is kept under surveillance by the International Ice patrol. From this service navigators can learn the answer to the question which each asks: Where is the ice?"

Born of Titanic Disaster.
"The founding of the ice patrol was a result of the sinking of the Titanic which collided with a berg on the night of April 14-15, 1912, with a loss of more than 1,500 lives. Following the disaster, a general demand arose for a patrol of the Atlantic ice area. Immediately the United States navy detailed two cruisers for guard duty until the last bergs disappeared from the steamer lanes in late June."

"During the fall of the same year the International Conference for the Safety of Life at Sea was convened at London, to organize the ice patrol on an international basis. Representatives of the principal maritime nations of the world signed the agreement on January 20, 1914, creating the international derelict destruction, ice observation, and ice patrol service."

"The United States was asked to undertake the management of this service. This country agreed to send two vessels which would patrol the danger area during the iceberg season. Each of the contracting parties consented to bear a share of the cost in proportion to its shipping tonnage."

"Not a single ship has been lost in the patrolled lanes through collision with an iceberg since the patrol was inaugurated."

"Greenland's 'icy mountains' are the source of most of the icebergs that come as far south as the steamer lanes, journeying about 1,800 miles before they become white 'specters' to shipping. With the exception of a small strip of coastal line, Greenland is completely covered with a vast ice cap estimated to be 5,000 feet in thickness. Always the ice mantle is moving down the slope of the land toward the sea; in great glaciers, pushing out through the valleys. As the ice reaches the sea it noses out into the water until buoyancy lifts it up, and then the front of the glacier breaks off at a weak spot.

A New Berg is Born.
"There is a deafening roar and a thunderous crash as the glacial fragment plunges heavily into the sea, almost submerging. The water is churned into creamy waves as the new born berg shakes off the sea, regains its equilibrium, and settles itself comfortably for a long journey southward. Only one-ninth of an iceberg may be seen above the surface of the sea. The bergs that menace Atlantic shipping come from the glaciers of west Greenland, floating southward in the cold Labrador current that keeps them intact. The east coast glaciers usually melt before they float so far south, for warmer water prevails on that side of the great Arctic island."

"The iceberg danger period is from March 1 to July 1. It is during that period that the cutters patrol the ice-endangered areas.

"The ice patrol cutter stands as traffic officer on this avenue of the sea. If the ice threatens a blockade, the cutter sets the stop sign and turns the traffic into a 'side road' detour to the south. Like a good traffic officer, the cutter on duty answers all queries about the condition of the road and will help a ship in trouble. On one day a cutter may hear from as many as 38 vessels."

"Thousands of Americans sail to Europe during the iceberg season. Few of them are aware, as they retire to their staterooms at night, of the precautions taken for their safety as messages after message from the ice patrol comes into the radio rooms of their ships."

Round Europe Airplane Flight in August

1934 Contest Is Sponsored by Poland Aero Club.

Warsaw, England.—The biggest European sport flying contest, the "round Europe" flight for 1934, will be organized by the Aero club of the Polish republic, to which the winner of the last race in 1932, Franciszek Zwirko, belonged. Zwirko was killed a short time later.

The first "round Europe" flight actually was started and organized in 1929 by the Aero club of France. Participation for 1934 is assured by Poland, Germany, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia. But the failure of Britain to file notification has caused great disappointment.

The flying route covers 9,400 kilometers, as follows: Warsaw, Koelnberg, Berlin, Cologne, Brussels, Paris, Bordeaux, Pau, Madrid, Seville, Castablanca, Meknes, Sidi Bel Abbas, Algiers, Blaka, Tunis, Palermo, Naples, Rome, Rimini, Zagreb, Vienna, Brunn.

Town Clock 7 Minutes Fast for 681 Years

Goerlitz, Germany.—This city probably has the only clock in the world which is always wrong.

It is a distinction dear to the heart of every good Goerlitzer. It was in 1253 that the whole thing started. A small group of disaffected conspirators had decided that the current town council was superfluous. With true medieval efficiency they arranged to kill them as they left the Rathaus at noon.

But one of the conspirators got a touch of conscience and set the clock on the "Monk's Tower" of the Rathaus seven minutes ahead. The result was that the civic minded conspirators arrived early, were met by the guard, and promptly rendered incapable of further activity.

Seven minutes later the councilmen moved augustly down the steps, heard of the attempt, mopped their collective brow, and proceeded on to lunch. Since then the clock has remained seven minutes fast, in honor of the occasion.

Will Celebrate 200th Birthday of Noted Light

Nantucket, Mass.—Brant Point Light, at the entrance to Nantucket harbor, is looking forward to its two hundredth anniversary.

Second in point of age to Boston Light among lighthouses of the United States, the venerable Cape Cod marine lookout was established in 1730 and has been rebuilt seven times.

Keepers Gerald M. Reed and Frank W. Craig, who alternate on 12-hour shifts, care for the light itself, two range lights, a fog horn, and an automatic acetylene flashing light. Both live with their families at Brant Point.

99 Per Cent of Speeders Fined in California

Sacramento, Calif.—Albion produced in California traffic courts by motor-ists charged for speeding apparently aren't "making the grade."

Figures compiled by the state department of motor vehicles show that 99 out of every 100 drivers tagged for speeding are convicted in court. The report revealed, however, that 20 per cent of those found guilty were granted probation, or received suspended sentences.

The average fine assessed for speeding amounted to $9.11, a study of 10,000 such cases disclosed.

Boston Artisan Builds World's Smallest Organ

Boston.—Louis Weir, organist, has built what is believed the smallest organ in the world—14 inches wide and 8 inches high. It can control all the stops of a large console and was played for the first time by him in a Boston theater.

U. S. Judge Hits Court Orders

Washington, D. C.—President Roosevelt and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings are under fire for invading the sanctity of Federal Court System by attempting to dictate the appointment of Court officers in bankruptcy cases.

The department of justice today admitted that it has had its knuckles rapped by some Federal Courts for attempting to pass on the appointees of the Courts, but maintained its activities were not an invasion of the courts' independent rights.

Inquiry disclosed that the department of justice has sent out "instructions" to the Clerks of all United States District Courts telling them that the appointment of conciliation commissioners in bankruptcy cases must be passed on by Pres. Roosevelt.

The instructions bore the President's approval under the signature of the attorney general.

Among the judges who rebelled against the order is Justice George M. Bourquin of the Federal District Court of Montana. Proceeding to appoint Commissioners without the White House approval.

Justice Bourquin has denounced the order as typical of the New Deal's invasion of constitutional rights.

"The order, he declared in a recent declason, "is entirely in keeping with government in defiance of the constitution, by hectoring, threat, espionage, intimidation, dictatorship, trade, and merry gamble with the fate of 120,000,000 persons.

"Abuse of executive power is notorious and grows by what it feeds upon. It tends to dominate both legislative and judicial and unless the axiom of 'resist the beginnings' be heeded, it is not unlikely that little by little it will supersede both, undermine both, overthrow the constitution, and upon the ruins of the latter erect some variety of social organization its antithesis.

Rev. Johnson, with his family will move to Carrizozo next week and will assume all responsibilities of the Church.

Defect in Speech

Speech defects occurring in children may be caused by disorders in the emotional life, says Calvia T. Ryan in a Myopia Magazine article. Among the causes he lists: lack of understanding of parents, inconsistency of treatment, laxity in discipline, dependence, dominance of the part of the parent, a too closely planned schedule of a too dynamic personality, overactivity, quarrelling, partiality, irregularity in the home, and various disciplines.

No Trick Gadgets On Ford V-8 Car

No matter what the possibilities for sensational publicity Ford has never resorted to stunt features to sell his cars. Freakish body designs on an automobile are just as speculative as freakish designs on houses. Millions of dollars were spent to sell American Motorists on free wheeling. Ford declined to put it on his cars. The Ford purchaser gets a proven car both in style and operation. There are no trick gadgets to catch the fancy and later on prove to be mistakes. The Ford policy of continuous improvement is well shown in this year's car. It is the best car the Ford Motor Company has ever built.

Voluble Dutchman Dupes U. S. Bigwigs

Notables Give Him Autographs and Seals.

New York.—No doubt the youthful Dutchman indulges in a chuckle or two as he paces the confines of the Ellis Island alien detention pen.

Hadn't he pulled the wool over the eyes of a select list of the nation's celebrities, including Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Governor Lehman of New York, Mayor La Guardia of New York city, and, apparently, President Roosevelt, too?

Pieter Jaarsma, late of Amsterdam, is the name of this super-duper who, as a sort of self-appointed good will envoy of her majesty, Queen Wilhelmina, made a specialty of gathering official seals and signatures.

A Technique All His Own.

Jaarsma, autograph collector extraordinary, had a technique all his own, and he had lots of fun crashing the highest state circles until immigration officials caught up with him and called a halt to the game.

Just why Jaarsma went about for several years posing as a Dutch newspaper correspondent collecting signatures and seals for the queen back in Amsterdam he would not say when officers pounced upon him and his album.

But it is not for that that Jaarsma is languishing on hot and smelly Ellis Island. It seems that he once washed dishes in an Amsterdam hotel and that one day he abandoned his crockery and soapuds, helped himself to 1,000 of his employer's gold guilders and several articles of clothing, and set out upon his autograph pilfering tour.

During the four-year interval Jaarsma went freely about collecting his seals and autographs with the aid of an adopted American name, Bernard Putnam, hunted as a criminal, he used Queen Wilhelmina's name freely in representing himself as an international journalist in good standing and in the service of his sovereign, Worries White House.

There was some doubt as to whether Jaarsma included President Roosevelt among the victims of his bland manner and smooth speech. Examination of his album disclosed the official wax seal of "The President of the United States" imposed upon a tri-color band of red, white, and blue.

On another page of the album—there was the brilliant red paper seal of the State department beside the photograph of Cordell Hull, director of America's foreign affairs.

On still other pages there looked out gold bordered pictures of Governor Lehman, Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, and Mayor La Guardia. Setting the photographs off in tasteful fashion were the facillious state and city seals punched into gold-leaf rosettes. It was all very imposing.

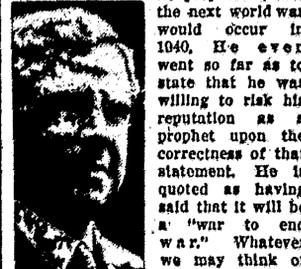

The Hollander's glib tongue and suave manner even fooled New York's police commissioner, Gen. John F. O'Rynn. The fact that the commissioner was conferring with Alfred E. Smith did not deter Wilhelmina's "emissary" when he wanted an autograph. He simply told O'Rynn's secretary that he would like to have the commissioner's signature for the queen, and he got it.

WAR IN 1940? By LEONARD A. BARRETT

No sooner had Mr. H. G. Wells placed his foot on American soil than he prophesied that the next world war would occur in 1940.

It is quite true that Mr. Wells unwittingly spoke the truth, that it will be a war to end war. We are wondering, however, just what Mr. Wells had in mind when he made that statement.

We do not think Mr. Wells had any such high moral ideal in mind. "War to end war" was shouted from the house tops in the last international struggle, and many a young man voluntarily went into the conflict fully persuaded that he was making the supreme sacrifice that would end all war and make the world safe for democracy.

War will never end war so long as war is at all possible, that is, so long as there are men willing to fight and plenty of ammunition with which to fight. War will end war only when war is no longer possible. When civilization refuses to furnish either men or guns, war will be a thing of the past.

The peace of the world will be realized not through destructive but constructive methods. Public opinion, national conscience and reverence for personality will stop war without any bloodshed.

Another war will doubtless end further wars for the reason that chemical and aerial warfare already threatens the permanency of civilization. The way to prevent a war in 1940 is to be more concerned about the manufacture of poison gases and other preparations being carried on in almost every nation.

PRESSING is an important element in good dressmaking. Sometimes this feature is slighted when the work is done at home.

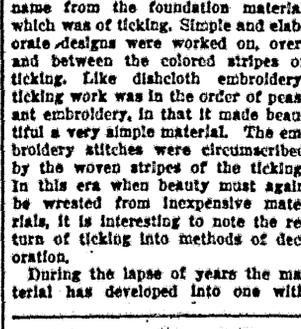

Regulation seams should be pressed open. They can be dampened by running a damp cloth over them. As the pressing is done on the wrong side of the garment, no pressing cloth is required, but all the more care must be used not to scorch goods.

Whenever a seam is to be stitched flat when joining portions of a garment together, it is imperative that the seam be spread open and pressed flat or it will rumple.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruckart

Washington.—Congress did a lot of wrestling in its closing hours, with new legislation designed to encourage the building of more homes by individuals, and in connection with this debate there developed what I believe to be one of the outstanding questions of the times. The housing bill, as it was called, would make borrowing easier for those who want to own their own homes. In other words, it is a program that will put more people into debt if they take advantage of the bill's provisions. And that is the question: After the conditions that have obtained through the last four years, is it or is it not sound economy to encourage individuals to contract new debts?

Debate on the housing bill, therefore, centered attention on one phase of the whole New Deal program that has caused concern in the back of many heads. Up to this time, however, apparently few of the legislators had paused to think of the trend of the course upon which the administration had embarked.

I noted in the committee hearings in the house that a number of the representatives exhibited a fear of too much new debt. Such stolid men as Luce of Massachusetts, Busby of Mississippi, and Hollister of Ohio, and some who are inclined to the inflationary side, like Goldsborough of Maryland, questioned whether the proposal was sound. Mr. Luce, for example, called attention to the old-time theory about debts, and the horror in which debt used to be held. Mr. Luce, of course, reflected the wholesome New England feeling and the attitude of New Englanders on savings. Mr. Busby, a southern Democrat, however, made observations that were of much the same tenor. To them, he added that a recent visit to his home ballwick had indicated to him the need of watching the government's step in encouraging debt. He suggested further that where the government had extended help in the South, things continued to hum until that aid was eliminated. Thereafter, there was another tall tale insofar as recovery was concerned.

Whatever one's conclusion about going into debt may be, the fact is unchanged that the federal government has put out approximately $7,000,000,000 in the last year in various types of loans. The individuals or the corporations to which that money was loaned are in debt to Uncle Sam, therefore, in a corresponding amount. President Roosevelt and his associates and advisers defend their course with the argument that by making the loans they have enabled all of those folks to weather the storm. He argues that the economic casualty list would have been much higher had the loans not been made. He holds that those who borrowed from the federal government were actually unable to get money elsewhere and that the government was merely looking after its own folks. To those who criticize the use of taxpayers' money in this manner, Mr. Roosevelt has said repeatedly that these loans will be repaid and that the government will suffer no loss in the end.

But, after all, there are the debts, debts on top of debts. They must either be repaid or repudiated. If they are repudiated, the borrowers must pay them out of future earnings. That condition, according to the latest line of argument that developed under the housing bill debate, means the borrowers can create little or no reserve for the future.

It is being said that the recovery program and the New Deal generally contemplates planning for the future in such a manner as to ward off a recurrence of the calamity of depression. But I have asked in a good many places; what if the theories of economic planning fail to work at all, or work only in part? The answers I obtained depended somewhat on the slant of the person questioned. If they are following the professors blindly, they said to me that the plans could not fail because they were sound by every theory under which they are drawn. If the person to whom the inquiry was directed examined the problem on a practical basis and studied it with the background of history in mind, I believe without exception the answer was: "Well, it will be just too bad."

My own feeling coincides with the latter view. If the New Deal program for economic planning, for adjusting production to consumption, for controlling crop planting and distribution, and the other items that enter into the plan fail to operate according to the theories upon which they are based, there can be no doubt of the result. It will be just too bad. There will be millions of persons more debt ridden than now, and there will be no way out. The government will be holding the bag.

On this question of debt, there is that troublesome international phase. The United States loaned something like eleven billion dollars to foreign governments to aid in prosecution of the World War against Germany. For a long time after the money was loaned, the United States got nothing at all. In the meanwhile, there was a terrific bombardment of propaganda from the borrowing nations and from some of the misguided folks in our own country calling for absolute cancellation. But cancellation could not win. It was impossible. So there followed a lot of negotiations in which commissions from foreign governments came here and conferred at length with our debt funding commission.

Settlements were eventually worked out. The debts were funded. That is, the debtor nations were given a long time in which to pay. They were given enormous concessions by our debt commission in order to get some agreement for repayment of the various loans. I know whereof I speak regarding those concessions because it happens that I am the only newspaper correspondent in Washington who reported everyone of the debt conferences, and I say unequivocally that those funding settlements represented on the average a reduction of more than one-third in the total amount which the debtors contracted originally to pay.

Now, again we are in the midst of new efforts to get something done in the way of repayments. The foreign nations are not going to pay if it can be avoided. They put up the very natural argument that obtains with everyone who is in debt and who has been hit on the chin by depression conditions. They cannot raise the money, so they say. To avoid defaults, some of the foreign nations made what they called token payments a year ago at this time. Some of them have offered token payments again. But token payments amount to about the same thing as when your friend eats the apple and hands you the core. It was a nice apple to begin with, and the funding settlements were nice settlements when they were signed.

Frankly, I suspect that the United States is never going to get more than about 10 per cent of the total now due. There will be plenty of arguments, propositions and counter propositions, negotiations and hawking and flitting, and after awhile some of the foreign governments will have succeeded in creating enough public sentiment among their home people to cause a national action of the same character as that taken by France a year ago.

The condition as regards the foreign debts owing the United States, I am afraid, will be paralleled right here at home by individual and corporation and bank debts owing the federal government. Many borrowers will run into hard luck, as they always have done, and they will appeal to the politicians to save them.

When those debts become a political issue, it will be an issue too strong for politicians to withstand. They will arise on the floors of congress and weep about the plight of "those poor people."

The special senate committee is getting under way with its inquiry into the various industries that manufacture materials for war, and it appears now that it is headed into an investigation that will disclose plenty of things that will cause a stink to arise when the investigators have laid their findings before the committee headed by Senator Bye of North Dakota. I spent a couple of hours the other day with one of the wheelhorses commanding the investigating forces and it was certainly his opinion that there are things awaiting revelation that will surprise the populace. He is confident, as he said, that the country will sit up and take notice of what the committee is preparing to bring to light.

The evening I was in the chief investigator's office eight men were receiving their credentials and money with which to start out on the trail. They were headed for what amounts to a raid on the files and books of some factory which the investigators believed had been engaged in the manufacture of war materials and which they thought also had been engaged in propagating information that would cause a couple of foreign nations to look with suspicion upon each other. Suspicion between two nations is obviously a prelude to more serious differences, and eventually war is the result. The committee has started out to expose such conditions, if they exist, and the investigators are convinced that things of that sort are being practiced by some of the makers of munitions.

I have no way of knowing where the investigators are going in their continuing effort, but from all indications they have orders to dig deep into files and records to see what they can find. They will come back to Washington, eventually, with great bales of letters and records that they think shed light on the various suspected activities, and, of course, when the committee begins taking testimony those things will be brought out. There is just no way out of it; a good many corporations whether they have engaged in war-provoking activities or not are going to be smeared.

THE TOUGHEST TEST A MOTOR OIL COULD TAKE!

NEW AND IMPROVED CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL WINS THE TERRIFIC "DESTRUCTION" TEST!

These six new strictly stock cars were used in the "destruction" test, under AAA supervision.

A DARING, competitive test—and what a result! New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil outdistanced five worthy rivals, thanks to the extraordinary film strength and penetrativeness our recently patented process gives it. Five quarts of this remarkable new oil lubricated a motor for the almost unbelievable distance of 4,729 miles before the motor was wrecked!

Five other oils, all nationally known, competed with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil in this test. All cars were driven under AAA supervision, under exactly the same conditions until the motors could no longer operate. The notable thing is that five quarts of New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil went more than 3,000 miles farther than the first oil to fail, and over 1,400 miles farther than the best of its competitors!

The results of this test should guide your motor oil purchases from now on. Look for the Red Triangle Sign.

"Spook" Was Burglar—Stories of a white-clad ghost seen walking in a suburban cemetery of Istanbul, Turkey, frightened the residents. Police investigations, however, disclosed that the "spook" was an enterprising burglar, who dressed himself up in white flowing robes, to alarm householders, while he practiced his regular profession.

Tears Best Eye Antiseptic—The most potent eye antiseptic available is that supplied by nature—tears, according to Dr. William L. Benedict of the Mayo clinic. In the

CHOOSE THE TIRE CHAMPIONS BUY Firestone

Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-Mile Race FOR 15 CONSECUTIVE YEARS

EVERY winner in the 500-Mile Indianapolis Race—the most gruelling tire test in the world—drove to victory on Firestone High Speed Tires.

Race drivers know that heat generated by friction inside the cotton cords is the greatest enemy of tire life. These men will not risk their lives on any but Firestone Tires, because they know the high stretch cords in every Firestone Tire are protected by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Gum-Dipping soaks the high stretch cords in liquid rubber and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords, counteracting destructive friction and heat. It provides greater adhesion between the plies of the tire, and between the Gum-Dipped cord body and the tread.

Firestone chemists and engineers kept pace with new car developments by building stronger, safer tires to meet the exacting demands. See your Firestone Dealer or Service Store today and equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934, with deeper, thicker, flatter, and wider non-skid tread, more and tougher rubber, more traction, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

Remember, in Firestone High Speed Tires there is Greater Strength—Greater Safety—and Greater Blowout Protection than in any tire made.

THE ADHESION TEST

Business Men's Club

met at the regular 6 o'clock dinner Wednesday evening at the popular Carrizozo Eating House, with the president, E. M. Brickley in the chair.

The Mayor, Dr. F. H. Johnson, brought up the matter of having our streets either oiled or asphalted, and also said that the highways leading into our town had been sadly neglected, and appropriations in which we should share had been going to other and larger Counties.

Mr. Albert Ziegler moved that the Club request the Town Council to negotiate for asphalt-ing or oiling the streets; also that a one cent tax be levied for a period of six months to cover the cost of same. This motion carried unanimously.

As an entertainment feature for the Club, Miss Frances Charles pleased everybody with an artistic tap dance in which she courteously responded to an encore. She was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Dozier at the piano. Let us say that if we could have such pleasing features as this at each Club meeting, it might be a stimulus to future attendance. The guest of the Club was Mr. Rufus Branum of Phoenix, Ariz.

Dolphin Brings Trouble
Bait in the Philippines that the killing of a dolphin will bring bad luck was borne out, according to the crew of the Bantams, when Dolfin Jaramilla, attorney general, recently shot an eight-foot specimen during an ocean trip. When Jaramilla took the fish on board the crew warned him, but he laughed at their fears. Soon afterward there was a breakdown ship. Then followed engine trouble, and finally the vessel was caught in a storm.
