PERSONALS

Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Johnson made the first semester honor roll at McMurry College, Abilene, Texas, where she is enrolled as a senior. Miss Johnson is a member of the McMurry Girls' Glee Club, Chanters, and the Sigma Lambda Kappa, literary society. She is majoring in French.

Mrs. Selma Degitz entertained the Carrizozo Bridge Club this Thursday at the home of Mrs. Albert Ziegler.

Mrs. Dean Curbello was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club yesterday afternoon at the Carrizozo Eating House. Decorations were of a St. Valentine's Day nature and the same prevailed in the refreshments.

Mrs. Ben S. Burns entertained at Bridge last Saturday in honor of Mrs. John Gutknecht of Chicago, at the home of Mrs. F. L. Boughner. The high score went to Mrs. Bessie Dingwall.

Last Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Forest Cathey, a birthday surprise party was given for little Patricia Bigelow. There were 16 tiny tots present. The color scheme was pink and white. The birthday cake was artistically decorated and held pink and white candles. Games were played, refreshments served, and little Pat was the recipient of many lovely gifts in honor of her fifth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rolland were Roswell visitors last Sunday. Like others who visited that section, they encountered rain and snow on the route.

Miss Thelma Shaver entertained at her home Wednesday evening with a valentine party. There were 15 guests present and four tables of hearts were arranged. After the game, the hostess served refreshments. Edith Ridgell and Fred Greer won the prizes.

Mesdames E. L. Whitwell and D. J. Queen entertained the White Oaks Bridge Club on Jan. 14. This was also the occasion for a surprise Stork Shower given by the Club and the Ladies' Aid in honor of Mrs. Donald Queen.

The Village Trustees have installed a street light in front of the home of the Sisters of Mercy on the east side. This light was much needed and the Sisters are grateful for the improvement.

Mrs. Ola C. Jones, Co. School Supt., attended and spoke at a meeting of the Stetson School P. T. A. Tuesday, on the observance of "Founder's Day." This evening, she will attend a meeting of the same society at San Patricio. Mrs. Jones is deeply interested in this movement on account of the close relationship it bears to the school work, in general.

We are glad to announce that Mr. and Mrs. William Gallacher, daughter Jane and son Bill, Jr., have now become permanent residents of Carrizozo.

Mrs. Doyle Rentfrow entertained at Valentine bridge Wednesday evening at her ranch home across the Malpais in honor of Mrs. Gutknecht. The hostess served refreshments after the game.

OUT-OF-THE ORDINARY

We couldn't ride as fast with the old horse and wagon as we can go now, but the horse knew where he was going. To prove that, some years ago here in Carrizozo, a milk peddler got aboard before he started out on his trip, got in his wagon and went to sleep. The horse visited every customer on the route and returned to the dairy with the same load of milk, but he had no collisions and nobody was killed.

Last week at Green Bay, Wisconsin, with the thermometer at 25 degrees below zero, a thief stole a sample case containing 226 gloves, but imagine his grief when he found out that all gloves were for the left hand. This was verified by the salesman from whom the case was stolen.

Judge D. B. Caudhill at Mt. Sterling, Ky., was in favor of excusing Clayton Ramey from serving as a juror on a murder case. It seemed on both sides objected, so the judge ordered the sheriff to take the other jurymen to Ramey's dairy and help him milk his 50 cows as long as the trial lasted.

Due either to good horse-sense, dog-sense or luck, call it what you may, saved the life of Mrs. George Bellamy, rural resident in an isolated section in Oregon. She was so ill that her husband could not leave her long enough to go for help. In his desperation, George saddled up his horse, tied a note on the horn calling for assistance. He then set the dog barking furiously at the horse's heels and they were soon out of sight and within an hour, they reached the highway, where the note was found and medical aid reached the sufferer. Good man, horse and dog, say we—what do you think?

L. G. Walker, Towanda, Pa., trained his cat, Otis, not to harm birds and that saved the life of an early robin one day last week. Otis found the bird nearly frozen to death. He carried it into the house and left it in front of the warm stove. Mr. Walker fed and cared for the robin, releasing it when the weather moderated.

John R. Jones, Wilkesboro, N. C., bears the distinction of being the only Republican office holder in the state of North Carolina. He is such a curiosity that people come from miles around to get a glimpse of him. He chews long green tobacco, smokes North Carolina stogies and wears spats.

Being born to a man and wife who were mutes, a little girl 6 years old was found at Liverpool, England, who could not utter a word and she was presumed to be deaf and dumb also. Her first test was on her hearing. A little tune was played and she tried to hum it, which proved she could hear. After that her vocal capacity was tested, found to be normal and now she is being taught to talk. Nobody had ever attempted to teach the child to talk before.

At Ringwood, Colo., a bunch of pretty young puppies are wondering if their mother has leathers or fur, for this reason. One day in the absence of the mother, they got cold and hollered. An old hen, hearing their cries,

Mr. Brickley Entertains

The Goofus Club and substitute guests were entertained by Mr. E. M. Brickley at his home, Friday night, the Misses Frances Ruppertz, Ella and Ruth Brickley doing the honors. After the usual games, music was furnished by Messrs. Saturnino Chavez, Jr., Celestino Sandoval, Emilio McKinley and Frank Vigil, the guests taking part when a song was played.

Then came the interesting finale, the eats—or could such a plebeian name be given to the delectable refreshments set before the guests?

On bidding the host goodnight, the club signified its willingness to be entertained often by Mr. Brickley.—One of the guests.

School Notes

Ola C. Jones, Co. Supt.

Each month of the school year the rural schools of the county bring in exhibits which are placed on bulletin boards set up for that purpose just outside of the office of the Co. School Supt. Several interesting and instructive exhibits are on display at the present time, as for example, the geological one submitted by the Ramon school, the corn one submitted by the Lincoln school and the meat one submitted by the Baca Canyon school. The public is cordially invited to see these and other displays submitted throughout the school year.

On Feb. 7 and 8, KOB radio station read an interesting paper pertaining to Lincoln county. Such items as climate, historical background, and rural schools were included in this set up.

The Chavez County Archaeological and Historical Society at Roswell has extended a cordial invitation to all schools of the county to participate in the flag salute to be given at the dedication service of "El Torreón," which will be given at Lincoln on Sunday, Feb. 24, at 11 a. m. They would appreciate a large attendance at this meeting.

hovered them. Now, the hen and mother take turns in snuggling the puppies.

Goes to His Reward

Last Saturday morning, Feb. 9, at the hour of 4:30 o'clock, at his home on the east side, Silvestro Baca answered the last summons, after being confined to his home for several years with rheumatism. During those long years, he endured his suffering with commendable fortitude, and not until about two weeks ago did his resistance break down, when at that time, complications set in from which he never again left his bed.

Mr. Baca was born in Lincoln, above the old Torres ranch in 1858, and lived there until 1915, when he sold his ranch and moved to Carrizozo, where he has conducted a dance and pool hall ever since. Mr. Baca was an honest and upright citizen, a kind and charitable neighbor and many are his friends over the county who will mourn his passing.

Funeral services were conducted by Father Salvatore at the St. Rita Church on Sunday afternoon and the remains accompanied by a large circle of friends to the local cemetery for burial. He leaves to mourn his departure, one sister, Mrs. Felicitas Carrillo of Roswell, two daughters, Mesdames Regina Baca and Juanita Padilla, nine grandchildren, Mrs. Alfredo Lopez, Juan, Syl, Antonio and Eusebio Baca, Manuel, Rosa, Solomon and Carolina Padilla and several great grandchildren, to all of whom the sympathy of this community is tendered.

Valentine Twins Entertain

The little Bowlin twins, Etta Loy and Nell Joy, entertained at a birthday party yesterday in unique fashion. As their birthday was on St. Valentine's Day, the little hostesses made merry with their friends amid decorations appropriate to the day of the patron saint. Varied colors predominated even to the refreshments. The twins were the recipients of many nice and useful presents on their 8th birthday.

Word received from Mrs. Chas. Spence by Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sager this week was to the effect that Charles Spence is recovering nicely from his recent accident as published in this paper last week.

SCHOOL ELECTION

At the School Board election held Tuesday, the largest vote that was ever cast at an election of that nature was polled—the total number of votes cast being 427. Total vote follows—

Mrs. Frances Spencer 290
Roy Shafer 262
Mrs. Grace Hobbie 152
Mrs. Nora Phipps 143

The Hauptmann Trial

The Hauptmann kidnap-murder trial which has occupied the attention of not only the court of the little New Jersey town, but of the whole country, came to an end Wednesday night when the jury brought in a verdict of first degree murder with a death sentence recommendation. Counsel for the defense worked hard and diligently, but there was so much evidence against the defendant and so damaging it was, that there was nothing to do but to bring in the verdict which that body did.

To make a spectacular ending, Judge Trenchard sentenced him immediately to die in the electric chair on the week of March 13. It is said that a man so young in life and with so much to look forward to, should so degrade himself as to enter into what we may say, "a one-man show," for it would seem by the testimony, that it was the work of his own hands and that he had no accomplice.

That should put a damper to the kidnaping crime—and let us hope that it will.

Active Rebekahs

At the regular meeting of Coalora Rebekah Lodge No. 15, I. O. O. F. held Wednesday evening, nine applications for membership were read from the desk of the secretary. The lodge begins the new year with great encouragement. There will be degree work to perform in the near future and the degree team from the Alamogordo lodge will be invited to confer the same as an act of courtesy to which they have kindly consented to respond.

It is brim full of pithy articles concerning people at the Fort, contains some accurate cuts or pictures of principals at that place—among whom we readily recognize the caricature of "Ameego" George Elmgren—"Uncle George." Good luck to the sheet—and that goes for everybody at the Fort.

Mrs. S. H. Nickels entertained the pupils in the grade school building with a valentine party yesterday afternoon. The honor guest on that occasion was Superintendent Hall.

Miss Haldane Stover has returned to take up her duties as instructor in Spanish at the Carrizozo HI School.

Advice from Fort Stanton gives the assurance that the condition of Miss Charlotte Rice is greatly improved.

Supt. and Mrs. Karl Cunningham of Capitan were business visitors in town this Wednesday.

Ancho Items

The Ancho Woman's Club met with Miss Crawford Saturday afternoon at the Johnson Hotel. The meeting was very interesting and well attended. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wilson on March 9.

Mesdames Allen Kille and Geo. Straley have gone to Carrizozo for a few weeks' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Weathersbee of Canyon, Texas, are visiting friends here. The Weathersbees are former residents of Ancho.

B. W. Wilson was a business visitor in Carrizozo Tuesday.

A community gathering will be held at the schoolhouse Friday night. These gatherings are interesting.

Each of the four rooms of the school had valentine boxes to the enjoyment of the children.

Dies at 105; Dug Billy the Kid's Grave

According to the Fort Sumner Leader, Vicente Otero, 105, died at that place last Wednesday. He had been in good health up to a year ago, when he quit the business of sheep herding in which he had been engaged most of his life. It is related of him, by old-timers, that he was one of the best Indian fighters that section of the state has ever had. He could pick off an Indian as far as his gun could reach. At one time, he had a growth on his chest which the doctors called a tumor and said he must have an operation, but Vicente sharpened up his knife, went away to himself and performed the operation successfully. His body was covered with scars from fights with the Indians. He was the man who dug Billy the Kid's grave, and about four years ago, he had his picture taken standing at the foot of the grave.

Valentine Babies

As far as we can ascertain, we are giving the names of those who were born on St. Valentine's Day. They are: The Bowlin twins, Etta Loy and Nell Joy, Mrs. Herman Kelt, Miss Ruby Johnson of the Carrizozo-Eating House and Jack Claunch.

Little Glenn Snow, 5, entertained 15 of his tiny tot friends on Feb. 12, this being Glenn's birthday. The wee folks played games and enjoyed refreshments at the home of Glenn's mother, assisted by her daughter, Wilma.

Individual Gold Mining

Offers Poor Prospects
The rush to the abandoned gold mines and placer workings of the West has been one of the tragedies of the present unemployment situation and thousands of inexperienced individuals, lured on by rumored and exaggerated reports of wealth attained in gold mining, have gone into the hills seeking gold and finding only disappointment.
Experienced miners, thrown out of work in the non-precious metal mines, have in some instances gone to work on their own, but these individuals have sought abandoned mines or have gone into the hills with pick and shovel to prospect. These men know what they are about and have some chance of success. They work in abandoned mines with the consent of the owners on a royalty or share and share basis.
The bureau of mines, wishing to remove as much of the false hope of the prospective miner as possible, has issued bulletins giving information on the subject of placer mining and pointing out the difficulties to be encountered. Ways of making a living by a combination of skill and hard work are outlined but the hopes of an Eldorado are painted in their true colors.

Queer Vocabulary Spoken by Hoboes

Punk Means a Boy Tramp or Loaf of Bread.

Baltimore, Md.—Most folks think sailors have the strangest vocabulary of their own, but sailors have nothing on the American hobo when it comes to quaint and curious lingo, writes Charles A. Scarpello in the Baltimore Sun. That is my final opinion after a few hobo trips of my own in which I drifted from port to port.
I was born in the City of Chicago, where I completed the seventh grade in grammar school before I ran away to sea at the age of thirteen. In my nine years of wanderings, beginning as mess boy and now as a quartermaster, I have sailed the Great Lakes and some of the tributaries of the great Mississippi and the well-known seven seas. I have been on the beach in Havans, Copenhagen and Stockholm. In between trips I have hit the trail through every state in the Union and Canada and Mexico. And the folks who think a tramp is just a tramp or a hobo ought to try the life for a while and see.

Among the tramps with whom I have traveled in the United States are bindle stiffs, pack stiffs, mission stiffs, jingle stiffs, gas hounds, mush fakers, jungle buzzards, panhandlers, bowery bums, highway bums, dock rats, beachcombers, rubber tramps and local characters.

The Bindle Stiff.

The bindle stiff is a bum found in southern and central California mostly. You can see them any day, rats or whine, either in the jungles or walking along the railroad tracks. He is either carrying his bed roll or bindle or is followed by a young boy whom he calls his punk and who carries it for him. Most bindle stiffs are too lazy to carry it themselves. The bindle consists of a piece of canvas, two blankets or quilts, a few pieces of clothing, soap and towel, shaving and sewing gear and cooking utensils. It is tied up and slung over the shoulder.

Kit Is Busy Again

Kit Klein of Buffalo, N. Y., who was the women's speed skating champion in 1935, is active in this winter's contests. At Newburgh, N. Y., she won the 220 yard dash in the Middle Atlantic meet, her time being 24 1/2 seconds.

The pack stiff is somewhat like the bindle stiff and you find him mostly in and around Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana; almost anywhere in the Pacific Northwest. He almost always carries his own pack. Lumberjacks carry a pack looking for work, but they are not to be classed as tramps like the pack stiff.

The mission stiff is seen mostly in the big cities where there are lots of missions, soup lines and bread lines and they can live without work. They get up in the mission prayer meetings and tell how religion has saved them, and tell about their wicked, sinful lives before they were saved. The wilder the story the better, because it arouses the sympathy of the worshippers therein. The mission always feeds them and gives them a place to sleep, and old clothes until they find a job. They never find it. When one mission wears out they tackle another. I even found several who made such convincing speeches that they began to believe it themselves and became religious fanatics. All the others detest the mission stiff. When any other kind of a tramp or bum goes to a mission, the mission stiff acts as if he was the whole cheese and you ought to bow down to him because he is "saved," and they even preach to you.

Teacher of Bumology.

In Los Angeles a few years ago the best place to get picked up by the police was just outside a certain mission. The police railroaded you on a vagrancy charge and you either got 90 days in Lincoln Heights jail or 24 hours to get out of town. This is called getting a foater out of town.

The hoboes have a vocabulary all of their own. Punk means a young boy tramp or a loaf of bread. Ryno, dno and dlogbat mean old bums. A jocker is a teacher of bumology. A buck is a Catholic priest. A banjo is a frying pan. A telescope is a series of tin cans each smaller than the other carried inside each other for cooking in the jungles. A hippins is a mattress of straw or wadded paper. A sougan is a quilt. Gas is denatured alcohol diluted in equal parts with water. Peoria may be a city in Illinois to some. To a tramp it is a dish of potatoes and onions, first boiled and then fried. A shack is a railroad brakeman. A hole is a railroad sidetrack.

Buttonholes.

Buttonholes made with a fine crochet thread do not tear out so easily as those made with ordinary sewing thread, and can be made faster.

Breaking With the Past

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Historians tell us that civilization will go forward just so far as it has gone backward. The pendulum of a clock swings in both directions an equal distance from the center. Society can make no progress without a part out of which that progress emerges. The past, remote and inaccessible as it is, is very definitely related to and responsible for the present. "Out of the yesterdays many and great" come both the mind and material which makes our future. So far as society is concerned, the most important contribution the past makes to the present is experience. All else may be forgotten, but that remains. It is experience that urges us to avoid past mistakes and profit by the lessons we have learned. If this were not so progress would be impossible. We become stagnant when we live more in the past than in the present. Living in the past means that we repeat the same mistakes, think in the same old grooves and harbor the same selfish mental attitudes toward life's value. A fresh start, or the power to begin over again, whether we start with the new day, week or year, requires a very definite breaking with the past. The song of Pippa in Browning's poem, expresses the true philosophy of progress.

"Wherefore repine with thee to lead me O day of mine."

Breaking with the past demands the elimination of all remorse and the removal from our vocabulary of that obnoxious little word, "if." The moment we carry into the future all that is suggested by the phrase, "it might have been," we impair vision, diminish vitality and cloud judgment. The decision to begin again demands a tremendous amount of will-power. Theodore Roosevelt always took keen delight in speaking about "his second wind." Our second wind, or the opportunity of a fresh start, is within the reach of every person who casts off weights taken over from the past and permits courage, hope and perseverance to lead him on.

Acadian Hayfork Found
St. John, N. B.—A 200-year-old Acadian hayfork, believed to be the oldest in Canada, has just been placed on exhibition at the New Brunswick museum here. Heavy and awkward, the fork was used by early French settlers. It was found in the barn of an old Little Brook (N. B.) farmer.

Hot Water Bottles

Hot-water bottles should always be light in weight. Don't make the common mistake of filling them to bursting point, thinking they will keep hot longer. A bottle should be filled to about one-quarter its capacity. Press the bottle to allow the steam to escape before you add the stopper.

Paint Basement Floor

A good grade of deck paint that resists dampness is most satisfactory for concrete basement floors. It comes in medium brown, buff, yellow, stone, medium gray, dark red and other colors.

The Household
By Lydia Le Baron Walker

ONE of the petty annoyances that every one has who wears shoes that fasten with ties or shoe strings, is their coming untied. That is unless these persons have learned the way to make the bows secure, and few have found the solution. So let me tell you today of a method whereby this bother can be prevented. It is so easy any one, even a child, can do it.
Make the first twists of the strings about each other, as usual, which is loosely termed tying the knot. However as a knot is defined as inter-twining parts "so that they will not slip," the use is scarcely correct.

But we will understand what is meant whether we signify this crossing of shoe strings ("one over and one under the other) as tying them together or knotting them.

Make a loop of one of the ends close to this tying as usual and proceed to loop the other end about it exactly as you do when tying a bow. But, instead of making the second loop immediately, draw the whole length of the string or ribbon through and proceed to make the second loop, which this time is actually formed into the loop of the bow. Draw tight as is customary. This bow will not come undone or work out.

Make Bow Straight.

It is easy to understand that when the strain and rub come on the bow, the knot beneath, instead of working loose, tightens. We now have a real dictionary type of knot for it "will not slip." This is no theory, but a practical working plan, one I have used for many years and found absolutely successful.

While the first requisite of a tied shoe lace is that it remains tied, the second is that the bow comes straight across the front of the shoe without twisting. How you do this depends on how you make the first tying, and the direction of the ends, which must follow their natural tendency or the bow will be askew. A little careful watching and experimenting will be all that will be needed to perfect the tying of the bow. When knot is tight and bow straight, both comfort and good looks are well met.

Selecting Silverware.

Selecting silverware is a pleasant task which, at one time or another falls to the lot of every homemaker. It may be the silver is for her own home, or it may be for a wedding present for a new home. In either event the person sees the beautiful pieces, reproductions of choice old patterns or new pieces and new styles. As silverware has both a decorative and practical purpose, it should fulfill both missions, and always prove an artistic pleasure.

The shapes and sizes of flatware and hollow ware have been carefully thought out by makers in order for each piece to fulfill best its special use. The name flatware refers to knives, forks, spoons and all such pieces as lie flat on the table and are service or individual pieces. The name hollow ware pertains to all containers, which in order to hold things must be hollow, such as pitchers, coffee and tea pots, sugar bowls, and plates, dishes of all sorts and descriptions that are made of this precious metal. Trays and platters, although they may be flat, yet nevertheless, are containers come under the category of hollow ware. Flatware consists of small articles. Hollow ware pieces are larger, although their sizes differ widely.

Eats 80 "Hot Dogs," "Is Not Very Hungry"

Belgrade.—Dragolju Illic wasn't very hungry, otherwise he might have bettered his record of eighty sausages at one sitting. Illic, a carpenter, devoured eighty of the Serbian "hot dogs" called "ce-vapcici," highly spiced roasted pieces of lamb, pork and veal, washing them down with four bottles of wine.

He started fast on his first forty, but lagged a little the next ten and coasted on toward sixty. There the going got tough, and he barely limped through the last twenty.

A large crowd watched him and applauded his efforts.

Lois Picks Cotton From a Tree

Picking cotton from a tree might be something new to cotton growers in this country. But it's nothing new to pretty Lois Smith, who is shown picking real cotton from a tree in Miami, Fla. This cotton tree is one of the few left in south Florida. It is a native of tropical America and was introduced into the state by the Cuban Indians in the days before Columbus. The tree grows to a height of 30 feet.

Lace, an Ideal Choice for the Matron Contour Plowing Will Cut Erosion

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

YES, the fashions paraded in style shows and pictured in newspapers and magazines are attractive enough, but they are only for slim and avelte young creatures, why don't they ever consider the needs of women who have reached forty and plus! It's a complaint, and only too often a just one, which those older are continually voicing.

Just to prove to mothers and matrons that they are not left out in the scheme of things, look what's here in the picture—two of the loveliest maturing lace gowns imaginable, for women of stately grace be they young or not so young. In spite of all the frenzied excitement over sumptuous gowns for the budding debutante, when it comes to beautiful appearance, smoothly groomed self-confidence and slim-silhouettes, daughters better look to their laurels when it comes to competing with mothers and matrons in the art of dress these days.

The fact that lace is scheduled to play so important a part in fashions coming and here, is a good omen for matrons who appreciate the magic which flattering apparel yields in erasing the years, and as every woman knows, there is nothing more flattering, more exquisitely feminizing than beautiful lace. The stately matron to the left in the picture is wearing a lace gown of high distinction. It's particularly ideal for the woman who has a limited wardrobe, for it is a rich black lace, which will give grand service the year round, winter and summer. With an eye to being practical, the designer has created a short matching jacket, making the gown as happily apropos for informal dining as for formal dancing.

The other gracious lace gown which is here pictured is charmingly tuned to a very youthful matron's dress-up needs. Bands of green moire at the back enliven it. This lovely dress is a Lucille Paray model.

Lace is also being worked into chiton dresses very cleverly, the lace and the chiton going fifty-fifty. A very winsome gown has a deep flounce of the lace with the same lace intricately set into the bodice and sleeves.

There are legions of novelty laces being shown in the advance displays. Most interesting are the laces which have cellophane and metal accents. Beaded laces and embroidered laces of every imaginable type are also among the showings.

Interesting news about laces includes the shirtwaist dresses which are being fashioned for resort wear and which will be good for summer wear later on. Midseason afternoon frocks in dark or bright crepes or light woolsens are also trimmed with lace dyed a perfect match.

Tailored lace is also being smartly featured for afternoon wear. The laces are of a somewhat sturdy character and the ensemble idea is carried out in that there is always an accompanying jacket.

Parallels Terraces in Long, Winding Furrows; Corn Must Be Drilled.

By Ralph C. Hay, Agricultural Engineer, Department, University of Illinois, WNU Service.

Pride in straight rows will cost farmers inestimable losses this winter in the form of soil erosion on sloping fields that have been plowed up and down the slope. Contour plowing and cultivating will stop most of this loss.

Plowing and cultivating up and down the slope makes for straight rows of corn and other crops, but it also speeds up the flow of run-off water and may start serious gullying.

Coupled with contour plowing and cultivation in a good soil erosion plan there must be terracing, the application of limestone and the growing of legumes.

Contour cultivation is so called because it parallels the terraces in long, winding furrows. The corn must be drilled instead of planted in check rows, but this is quite advantageous because more soil and soil moisture are conserved as a result of the run-off water being retarded by each corn row.

Farmers who practice contour cultivation report that it increases crop yields, and but little more time is required than by farming in straight rows. Working the curved rows which are longer than the field compensates for the cultivation of the few pointed rows between the terraces.

Drilling corn has proved satisfactory where tried in Illinois, particularly if a rotary hoe is used for the first cultivation, and less time and trouble are required than for check-rowed corn. Furthermore, farm work done on rows running practically level requires less power to pull the machinery than where the implements must be drawn up and down the slopes.

Farming in straight rows over terraces, especially on steep slopes, is also objectionable. There may be trouble in getting the machinery over the ridges, and furthermore, the ridges may be torn down so that considerable work has to be done to keep the terraces from breaking over during heavy rains.

Grape Vines Prosper in Various Kinds of Soil

Grape vines are usually planted six to eight feet apart. The grape thrives well in a variety of soils provided there is good drainage, the heavier loams giving best results as a rule, says the Montreal Herald. One or two year old plants are used in planting and are usually trained to a two wire fence, one wire 18 inches from the ground and the other four feet. The young plants are cut back to two or three buds at planting time and as these develop the strongest one is retained and the others removed. The growth from this bud is allowed to grow its full length. At pruning time the second year this growth is also cut back as before on the previous year's growth and again the strongest growth is retained and allowed to develop as in the first year. At pruning time the third season this cane is cut back at the top of the fence. As growth commences select the strongest, near the wires, removing the others, thus the ones retained will form the future frame-wood of the vine.

Use Manure for Orchards

Where stable manure is available, it should be used for the orchard as much as possible this winter says A. B. Murneck of the Missouri College of Agriculture. Manure will not only add nitrogen but will also improve the water-holding capacity of the soil. A fair application for apple trees of average size is 200 to 250 pounds to a tree, depending on the fertility of the soil and vigor of the trees. The use of a fair amount of commercial nitrogenous fertilizer, followed by a moderate dressing with manure and a certain amount of pruning of the trees, may be considered a desirable combination of practices to put vigor into many of our devitalized orchards.

Agricultural Briefs

Farming by electricity is rapidly growing in England.

Desert plants defy unending drought and their ways are being studied.

Nearly 10,000,000 pounds of tobacco were grown in Argentina last season.

Italy's wheat crop the past year was 20 per cent less than that of 1933.

Repeated requests from farmers caused the city of Guthrie, Okla., to order four horse troughs constructed.

Pumpkin and squash, placed in a dry and fairly warm basement, will keep perfectly until late winter or early spring.

Grain and grain by-products are sometimes cheaper than hay, all costs considered.

The greatest decrease in hog slaughter is expected in the late winter and early spring.

New England had a bumper potato crop the past year, eight million bushels above the average.

Mixing 50 pounds of superphosphate with each ton of manure almost doubles its fertilizing value.

Give Thought to Abnormal Child

Neglecting and Spoiling Are Both Extremes to Be Avoided.

Depending on what kind of parents they have, handicapped children are classified into three groups by Dr. John Ruhrah, author of "The Parent and the Handicapped Child," in Hygeia Magazine. The crippled child may be neglected, or he may be spoiled, or he may be treated sensibly and correctly.

The parents of the neglected child will feel outraged that such a thing as a handicapped child has been wished on them. They are liable to worry a bit and then they shut the child out of their lives and emotions as far as possible and feel no responsibility for his preparation for life.

The second set of parents make pity, of themselves and of the child, the biggest stumbling block in the way of educating the child. If the parent pities the child, the child will pity himself instead of making the best of his condition. The child is allowed to become spoiled, irritable, exacting, wanting everything his own way and doing nothing for himself.

There is the third set of parents who are quick to realize that they have a problem on their hands, and they set about learning how best to solve it. The child must be taught first that he is to behave as other children do as far as he is able, taking into consideration his handicap.

The child can be taught independence if the parent finds out what the child can do for himself and what he cannot do, and then does only what is necessary. Children like to do things for themselves and it is one way they learn not only to do things, but to be independent. This also applies to teaching the child to make decisions for himself. Children who are never allowed to decide things for themselves grow up into men and women who have a hard time, and no one needs self-confidence and independence more than the handicapped person.

Idleness is bad and makes children unhappy. The handicapped child should be kept occupied with games and hobbies in which he is interested, but there should be a careful steering between overexertion and underexertion. All physically handicapped children need extra rest, which should be a part of the daily routine. Too much exercise is worse than none.

SCENTED "GAS"

Fastidious motorists can now fill the tanks of their cars with scented petrol. A process has been developed whereby it is possible to perfume petrol, and it may soon be a delight to trail a motorist as the exhaust pipe of his car emits violet, lilac, or possibly attar of roses. A patent has been granted for a process which eliminates the unpleasant smells from the exhaust gases of internal-combustion engines. These gases can be given an agreeable odor by adding to each gallon of petrol four grammes of an artificial musk compound, which it is claimed has the property of resisting combustion in the engines of motor cars and converting the unpleasant smell of exhausted gas and half-burned oil into a delightful odor.—London Tri-Bit.

SMART SPORTWEAR

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

For fun and right smart jauntness, look to the leather hiplength jacket. It is easy to slip into, comfy, free with action back, and inside it has a Johnny collar to keep out wintry blasts. The Scotch plaid skirt has as its predominant color, the same color of the jacket, as do the calfkin kiltie tongs that are excellent for walking. The beret adds yet another note of jauntness.

A New Velvet
A new velvet with a pile of shiny cellophane on a silk back is recommended for making accessories, such as hats, bags, capes and evening jackets.

FASHIONS INSPIRED BY PEASANT THEMES

Peasant themes, with their lovely colorfulness and freshness, are inspiring the season's fashions. In virtually every branch of apparel there are innumerable details that bear the unmistakable imprint of peasant inspiration.

Materials, with the new fringed edges in rustic fabrics, the peasant print cottons in sports frocks, and the combinations of gay colors, like red and green, purple and pink, are distinct changes from the modern trends.

Bloused bodices and gathered skirts, belts embroidered in peasant colors and motifs, ruffs, cord-tied details and heavy linen and cotton laces in accessories further establish the pre-eminence of this influence.

Trains Are Short for the Evening Gowns Are Slit

Most likely your new evening frock will have a slit skirt to show an alluring few inches of silk-clad leg, but if it has a train, the train will be short. And it is quite likely that it may have a tunic and it may be trimmed with fur. All these points mark a lovely gown which is of dull rose taffeta with slanting shoulder straps of brown kollinsky that continue down the back to the waist. Delightful for the more mature woman is a tunic dress of plum colored Chantilly type lace with a long slim tunic and a trained skirt. There is a sash of plum-colored satin. Another tunic dress has a tunic that is pointed at the back to form an overtrain. It is of red sequins over a dull red crepe skirt.

Patou Uses Moderate Slit in His New Dress Designs

Patou has surpassed himself with the simplicity and elegance of his "little woman" collection. He probably never before has designed such completely lovely things.

The lines which were felt to be a bit over-severe in his August collection have been modified into the most graceful of curves and angles, and the slits have become shorter for daytime and smartly moderate for evening.

BOSH! I TRIED ONE ONCE. EVEN LADIES FIGHT! I'LL PROVE IT! THIS ONE IS NEW.

Controversy always follows the introduction of any new scientific discovery. But no discovery in years has caused so much heated discussion and had such far-reaching effects as this one. See what happened to these two housewives.

HELLO GRACE, THOUGHT MAYBE YOU'D LIKE TO GO TO TOWN THIS MORNING... BUT I SEE YOU'RE WASHING.

I'LL BE GLAD TO GO NOW, IF YOU WAIT ABOUT 15 MINUTES WHILE I FINISH THIS TUBFUL OF CLOTHES.

15 MINUTES! I'D BETTER GO ON THAT WASHING WILL TAKE AT LEAST AN HOUR.

WAIT AND SEE! I'M USING A NEW SOAP... OXYDOL. IT LOOSENS DIRT OUT IN 15 MINUTES SOAKING... NO SCRUBBING OR BOILING AT ALL.

WELL IF IT WASHES THAT FAST I KNOW IT FADES COLORS AND HURTS CLOTHES! AND YOU'RE SURE NOT FOR ME—MARRY WOULD!

YOU'RE WRONG THERE! MY OXYDOL'S FASTER WASHING THAN ANY OTHER SOAP AND GETS CLOTHES 4 OR 5 SHADES WHITER, TOO. BUT IT SIMPLY NEVER FADES A THING!

THAT'S BOSH! NO SOAP CAN SOAK OUT DIRT FROM CLOTHES IN 15 MINUTES—AND DO IT SAFELY.

I'LL PROVE IT! LOOK... I'LL JUST START A TUBFUL SOAKING IN THESE SUDS AND YOU'LL SEE.

15 MINUTES LATER

I CAN SCARCELY BELIEVE IT. THAT'S THE WHITEST I WASH I EVER SAW! AND YOU'RE SURE IT'S OXYDOL IN TOWN TODAY!

ABSOLUTELY POSITIVE NOW, HERE'S MY BEST PRINT DRESS I'VE WASHED A DOZEN TIMES AND THE COLORS ARE LIKE NEW! OXYDOL SAVES WORK, TIME AND CLOTHES, TOO.

IT'S TRUE! THERE IS A NEW WAY IN WASHING. READ THESE FACTS.

MADE by a patented process. New and Improved Oxydol dissolves instantly and completely in hard or soft water, and does these things:

- Gives thick, 3-inch suds, rich as whipped dairy cream.
- Suds that go to work on grease, dirt, and stains—in any water—2 to 3 times faster than less modern soaps.
- Sets up a unique "soak and flush" washing action. 15 minutes' soaking loosens dirt out so it fluffs away without scrubbing or boiling.
- You save long hours of washboard drudgery. You get clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter without washboard wear and tear. And yet, due to its special formula—Oxydol is safe. Absolutely safe to hands, colors, fabrics!

Get new, improved Oxydol from your grocer today. Money back if you don't have the whitest, sweetest wash ever. The Procter & Gamble Company.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

The Crooning Lover And The Great Falls

The Saturday Evening Post of this week devotes its editorial page mainly to defining the difference between Conservatism and Liberalism, and makes the contrast as follows:

With New Dealers alternately crooning sweetly, if vaguely, over the radio about the beauties of Liberalism and damning Conservatism for its sins of omission and commission, there is need for a clear cut definition of terms. What is a Liberal, and what is a Conservative, and, above all, what is the New Deal? It has had all the propoganda and touting and ballyhoo that a Barnum could have given it, but does anyone, as the end of the second year of its reign over the American people approaches, know just what it really stands for, besides spending, and just where it is heading?

Around the New Liberalism every shade of theory, from the old and new shades of pink to the bootstrap cranks, has clustered. If one listened to the talk of its more extreme exponents and its camp followers, one could only conclude that the New Liberalism is synonymous with demagogism.

Some Republicans have tried to curry favor with the Administration and its followers by professing to see the outlines of a new and better state taking shape in the New Deal. Propaganda has made Conservatism such a term of reproach that almost everyone who belongs under the banner of Conservatism is afraid to join the colors. The true Conservatives—and they are in the majority—have been bluffed, intimidated and scattered in all directions by New Dealers and by organized and unorganized groups, lending strength and power to the New Deal as the great dispenser of money taken by every conceivable form of taxation. But in these days when we are destroying abundance in the name of the more abundant life; when we are discarding thrift in the hope that spending will bring back prosperity; when we are reaching up into the blue sky in an effort to pull down the comets by their tails, it is not a bad thing to keep one's feet on the ground and to strive for the possible—in short, to be a Conservative and not afraid to say so.

—This reminds us of the story of the gallant Indian lover, who with his canoe laden with beautiful wild flowers for his sweetheart, who stood on the bank of the rapids, listening to his crooning love song and waiting for him to land. Lured by the enchanting scene, he forgot about the yawning abyss to which he was travelling. Disregarding her cries and warnings, he at last tumbled tragically to turn the

Notice of Foreclosure Sale

WHEREAS, on the 30th day of November, 1934, in Cause No. 4205, pending in the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, wherein C. Y. Allen and Bertha Allen Nafziger are plaintiffs, and Waldo E. Lott and Effie Lott are defendants, the same being a suit for judgment upon a promissory note executed by the defendants, Waldo E. Lott and Effie Lott, for the principal sum of $500.00, together with interest, and to foreclose a certain mortgage deed securing said indebtedness upon the property hereinafter described, the plaintiffs recovered a judgment against the defendants in the total sum of $667.22, together with all costs of said action, which said judgment at the date of sale hereinafter mentioned will amount to the sum of $682.60, together with all costs of said action in the sum of $10, and the accruing costs of sale, and on the said date the plaintiffs recovered a decree of the Court foreclosing the said certain mortgage deed securing said indebtedness for the amount of said judgment and costs in favor of the plaintiffs and against all of said defendants upon the following described real estate located in Lincoln County, New Mexico, to-wit:

Lots One, Two, Three and Four, E½NW¼, NE½SW¼, E½ of Section 19, Township One South, Range 18 East, N. M. P. M., containing 632 54 acres; and in said decree plaintiffs' said mortgage was declared a first, valid and subsisting lien upon all of the said real estate therein described, as against the defendants, and each of them; and,

WHEREAS, in said decree the Court ordered that said described real estate be sold, and that the proceeds of such sale be applied in the first place to pay all the costs of this suit and the expenses and costs of this sale, and second, to pay off and discharge the money judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiffs in said decree, and the remainder, if any there be, to be paid to the defendants, their heirs or assigns; and,

WHEREAS, in said decree the said Court appointed the undersigned, Jack Hanny, Special Master, and directed that he advertise and sell said property as provided by law and the decree of the Court;

THEREFORE, pursuant to said judgment and decree of the Court, and order of sale in the premises, and the power vested in me as Special Master, I will, on the 15th day of March, 1935, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P. M. at the front door of the Courthouse in the town of Carrizozo, Lincoln County, New Mexico, expose and offer for sale, and sell, at public vendue said real estate to the highest bidder for cash, subject to the confirmation of the Court, for the purpose of satisfying said judgment and decree, costs of suit and accruing costs of sale, provided however, that plaintiffs may be bidders at such sale, and if the highest bidders or bidder therefor may purchase said real estate and have the amount of their said bid credited upon their said judgment.

Witness my hand this the 5th day of February, 1935.

JACK HANNY,
Special Master.

The Great Emancipator

Abraham Lincoln was the fourth President to die in Washington and the third to pass away while holding that office. He was also the first to die by the hand of an assassin. He was six feet four inches in height, and was the tallest man who has been President of the United States.

Lincoln's early reading

THE education of Abraham Lincoln is a subject of interest to every one, from the scholar who studies the many influences which left their imprint on his personality to the schoolboy who tries to work out an argument for not going to school because Lincoln did not, writes Esther Cowles Cushman, custodian Lincoln collection, Brown university, in the New York Times.

A group of books in the Lincoln collection at Brown university at Providence, R. I., which attracts much attention, consists of copies just like those Lincoln used when he was a boy in Kentucky and Indiana. These books, mostly in old calf or sheepskin bindings, make a row less than two feet long, yet a thorough familiarity with what is there would give a boy an education not to be despised.

In commenting on only a part of these books—the Bible, "Pilgrim's Progress," "Aesop's Fables," "Weena's Washington," "Robinson Crusoe" and "The History of the United States"—Dr. William E. Barton says: "If we could substitute a better life of Washington and a modern history of the United States it would be for the profit of any American boy if he were shut-up with these half dozen books and no others until he thoroughly mastered them. They were an almost ideal selection. Of the Murray's 'English Reader' Lincoln himself said that it was the most useful book ever put into the hands of an American youth."

Thomas Lincoln's old Bible, the one that his son, when a boy, kept always at hand along with Aesop's Fables, and read over and over again, has been preserved and is now one of the treasures in the Oldroyd collection in Washington. It was the custom of Nancy Lincoln, on Sundays when there was no preaching service in the community, to spend part of the day reading the Scriptures to her family, and after Abraham and his sister, Sarah, learned to read they took turns in assisting her.

It is thought that Lincoln's first textbook, the one he used while attending the schools in Kentucky taught by Zachariah Riney and Caleb Hazel, was Dilworth's spelling. This was much more than a spelling book. The title reads: "A New Guide to the English Tongue, in Four Parts." The Brown university copy is the eighteenth edition, published in 1795.

There is a surprising amount of material in this little book, 6 1/2 by 4 inches, with 192 pages. First is the alphabet, then are tables of the simplest words followed by reading lessons of the same words. The tables of words increase in difficulty up to eight syllables and the reading lessons correspond. These lessons are extremely religious and moral in tone. The first simple sentence states: "No man may put off the law of God." A number of proverbs are quoted from the Bible. Many admonitions like the following are used: "Liberality should have such a mixture of Prudence as not to exceed the Ability of the Giver; and be rightly suited to the Circumstances of the Receiver."

Part III of this versatile book is "A Practical English Grammar," and is arranged by question and answer. For example: "Q—What is Grammar? A—Grammar is the science of letters, or the art of writing and speaking properly and syntactically." Following the grammar are sentences in prose and in verse, all of a religious nature, and a number of select fables; and finally, "A short introduction to geography" in twelve pages. There is plenty of subject-matter for a pupil to use for several years.

Pike's arithmetic and that by Daboll were in common use at the time Lincoln was studying. Herndon states that Lincoln used Pike's as a casual reference has been found to his use of Daboll's. Neither book seems to have been used to copy the examples that the boy wrote in his famous copybook. Apparently the Lincoln family did not own an arithmetic, and he had to copy what he wanted to keep for reference.

Denpis Hanks, the cousin who supplied so much information about Lincoln's early years, said he bought the paper for him to make the copybook, leaves of which are to be found in many collections of Lincolniana. The leaves, dated 1824, are headed "Multiplication" and "Simple Interest." Another is on compound multiplication and compound division, still another on compound interest and long division. On more than one page of this book is a verse of doggerel:

Abraham Lincoln his hand and pen. He will be good but God knows when.

One of the most famous books that Lincoln had is Weems' "Life of Washington." It is thought that he may have had a copy in Kentucky before the family moved to Indiana, when he was seven years old; at all events, in a speech in New Jersey in 1861 Lincoln said he got hold of it in the earliest days of his reading.

This is the book that tells the famous story about the cherry tree. There is a strong moral tone running throughout, but there was much to kindle the imagination of a boy, such as the account of the capture of Trenton. Tradition says that Aesop's Fables belonged to Lincoln in Kentucky. At any rate, we are sure he had it in his early years and probably could repeat most of it word for word. This copy in this collection is "with instructive Applications and a Print before each Fable." In the frontispiece the scribe is seen surrounded by all the animals he has written about, and the little cuts above each fable show much imagination.

Lincoln's first law book he found in Indiana. David Turnham, for whom he worked, was a prosperous farmer and a justice of the peace, and he had a copy of the "Revised Laws of Indiana" published at Corydon, Ind., in 1824. As Turnham needed the book often for reference, he could not lend it, and Lincoln had to visit his house to read it. This he did, spending his time, when Turnham needed the book, in reading Scott's lessons and "Sinbad the Sailor," which he also found in the Turnham home.

The government's cattle drouth purchasing program has come to a definite end in Dona Ana county, according to County Extension Agent Gould's office.

New Mexico's share of unemployment relief this year is a minimum of $500,000, Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, has informed Gov. Tingley.

The value of metal produced in Arizona during 1934 more than doubled the output in 1933, it was disclosed by the U. S. bureau of mines, in a report compiled by G. N. Gerry and Paul Luff.

C. O. Phillips is the new president of the Arizona Pure Bred Breeders' Association. He succeeds Hubert Corman. Hollis Gray was elected vice president and J. A. Waltron, secretary-treasurer.

James Young, 102, negro orderly for Gen. U. S. Grant during the Civil War and the soldier-president's valet until his death in 1885, died at Tucson recently. Young came to Arizona after the death of President Grant.

Sheepmen from twelve western states gathered in Phoenix January 29-31 for the seventieth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' Association. President F. A. Ellenwood of Red Bluff, Calif., presided.

Gov. Clyde Tingley announced he would actively support efforts to make New Mexico, the state magazine, a more important factor in calling attention to the state's scenic attractions, climate, outdoor life, schools and industries.

The Federal Land bank of Wichita closed more land bank and land bank commission loans in Colorado and New Mexico during 1934 than in all its seventeen years of existence, according to W. E. Fisher, vice president and secretary of the bank.

An increase in the Arizona birth rate during 1934 is reported by the State Board of Health. With some birth certificates not yet filed, 8,316 births have been reported to the board for last year. This is an increase of 504 over 1933, when 7,812 births were reported.

Two distinct earth tremors were felt in Socorro recently. R. H. Reece, dean of men and professor of physics and mathematics at the New Mexico School of Mines, said the shocks, which he attributed to the settling of rock layers, were local, as far as could be determined.

Arizona spent $15,505,434.47 for unemployment and emergency relief during the last two years. This was disclosed in a report to the twelfth legislature by Gov. B. H. McCreary, outlining the activities of the State Public Welfare Board from October, 1932, to November, 1934, inclusive.

Relief for those who need it, and nothing for those who don't, is the rule laid down by Governor Clyde Tingley of New Mexico, in announcing a changed policy in the state. The governor said the State Board of Public Welfare had accepted the resignation of Miss Margaret Reeves, director, and was seeking a successor.

A catch of gold dust from the sky, apparently drifting meteor particles, is reported by Louis Schloss, amateur astronomer from Prescott, Ariz. His catch is made in a new kind of meteor dust trap. This device apparently registers tides of meteor dust, which coincide with the annual passage of the great known meteor streams.

J. M. Foote, supervisor of the state standardization and inspection service, has announced that restrictions on grapefruit from the Salt River valley for eastern markets has been lifted. The consignments sent to, or through California, must continue to be inspected in Phoenix, however, because of a law in the neighboring state.

The School of Engineering of the New Mexico State College, in cooperation with the School of Agriculture, has recently installed a course in the elements of soil erosion. This course will be offered to seniors in the two schools in recognition of the need for technically trained men with a working knowledge of the problems of soil erosion.

The gas pressure system of producing oil wells of limited production, as has been found successful in many of the midcontinent districts, after successful experiments in Oklahoma, will be tried out in the San Juan Basin oil field, according to an announcement made by Harry Phillips and Frank Healey, who own a small shallow oil well near Aztec, N. M.

Sheriff Joe Lucero has begun his twenty-ninth year as chief outlaw-chaser of Dona Ana county, despite the New Mexico law allowing an officer to succeed himself only once. Lucero circumvented that law by allowing his brother and chief deputy, Felipe Lucero, to run for the office at alternate elections. The name Lucero became symbolical of "the law" in 1900.

Dr. W. G. Carhart, who for the last ten years has been pathologist at the Whipple veterans' facility near Prescott, Ariz., has received tentative orders which will mean his transfer to St. Cloud, Minn., where he will take charge of the same department. Dr. Carhart is one of the most widely known pathologists in the southwest, and during his time of service at this station has filled various types of positions other than his regular duties. During the last few months he has been in charge of the X-ray laboratory.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(By Rev. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, & Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for February 10

PETER PREACHES AT PENTECOST

LESSON TEXT—Acts 2:12-18, 36-42. GOLDEN TEXT—Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. Acts 2:38.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Peter Preached a Great Sermon.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Peter Preached at Pentecost.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Story of a Wonderful Day.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Source of Spiritual Power.

In teaching this lesson it is essential that the full meaning of Pentecost be apprehended. It is desirable, therefore, that the entire second chapter of Acts be brought into view.

1. The Day of Pentecost Fully Come (vv. 1-3).

1. The significance of the day (v. 1). Pentecost is from a Greek word meaning fifty. It was the feast held fifty days after the wave sheaf offering (Lev. 23:16). The wave sheaf typifies the resurrection of Christ (1 Cor. 15:20-23).

2. The gift of the Holy Spirit (vv. 2-4). On this day the Holy Spirit descended upon the disciples. This does not mean that the Spirit was not in the world before this, for throughout all the ages he has been in the world, giving light and life to it.

3. Upon whom the Spirit came (v. 1; cf. 1:13-15). The twelve and others, both men and women, to the number of one hundred twenty, which shows that the gift of the Holy Spirit was for all believers, not merely the apostles.

4. The marks of the Spirit (vv. 2-4). These marks were external and internal.

a. External.

(1) The sound of a mighty wind (v. 2). This is suggestive of the mysterious, pervasive and powerful energy of the Spirit.

(2) Tongues of flame (v. 3). Each of the one hundred twenty was crowned with such a tongue for witnessing.

(3) Speaking in foreign tongues (v. 4). This miraculous gift characterized the apostolic age, but no authentic case has been reported in modern times.

b. Internal. This is seen in the transformation wrought in the disciples. Peter, who shortly before this covered before a Jewish mob, now with boldness stands before the chief rulers and declares that they have murdered their King, and are guilty before God.

5. The effects (vv. 5-13).

a. The multitudes were filled with amazement and wonder.

b. Some mocked and accused the disciples of being intoxicated.

11. Peter's Sermon (vv. 14-47). Peter's sermon is as wonderful as the gift of tongues. It demonstrates the presence and power of the Spirit because he was a Galilean fisherman, without literary training. His homiletical analysis is perfect.

1. The introduction (vv. 14-21).

a. Defense of the disciples against the charge of being drunk (v. 15). He cited Jewish custom, showing that they would not be drunk at such an early hour of the day.

b. A scriptural explanation (vv. 16-21). He showed that this was a partial fulfillment of Joel's prophecy (Joel 2:28-32).

2. The proposition, or theme (v. 30). This was the messianship of Jesus. The argument which followed proved that Jesus was the Lord upon whom they were to call in order to be saved.

3. The argument (vv. 22-30). It was threefold.

a. From Christ's works (v. 22). He was approved of God among the Jews by his miracles, wonders, and signs, with which they were familiar.

b. From his resurrection (vv. 23-32). The Old Testament Scriptures had foretold the death and resurrection of Christ (Ps. 16:9-10). The disciples themselves were living witnesses of Christ's resurrection (v. 32).

c. From his ascension to the right hand of God (v. 33). The proof that he had ascended on high was the wonderful miracle of the Spirit's operation in their midst (John 16:7).

4. The effect of the sermon (vv. 37-42). Many people were convicted of their sins; some three thousand reported and were baptized. The evidence that the coming of the Spirit was real was:

a. That they continued steadfastly in the apostolic teaching (v. 42).

b. They continued in fellowship with the apostles (v. 42).

c. They continued in prayer (v. 42).

d. They gave their possessions to sustain those who had need (v. 45).

e. They lived gracious lives (vv. 46, 47).

Source of Disorders

An improper use of time is the source of all the disorders which reign amongst men. It is a treasure which we would wish to retain forever, yet which we cannot suffer to remain in our possession. This time, however, of which we make so little moment, is the only means of our eternal salvation.

Inspiration

How do you know the Bible is inspired? Because it inspires me.—Rev. Chas. Spurgeon.

AND NO QUESTIONS ANSWERED

At the Children's hospital Johnny was the terror of the ward. He was always in trouble. One day a weekly visitor, who knew his character, said to him: "Johnny, if you are good for a week, I'll give you sixpence when I come again." A week later she stood before Johnny's bed again. "Well," she said, "I'm not going to ask the nurses if you've behaved. You must tell me yourself. Do you deserve the sixpence?" There was a moment's silence. Then from among the sheets a small voice said: "Gimme a penny."—London Express.

Impossible to Do

The lodger was settling his bill with the landlady of his "digs," but found several overcharges. Indignantly he pointed those out, whereupon the landlady was obliged to say they were mistakes. Landlady—And don't get excited, keep your "wool on." Lodger—I can't keep my wool on when I'm being felled!

Safe

"Tommy, if you eat any more of these preserves I'll give you a whipping!" "You wouldn't whip a sick boy, would you, ma?" "Of course not." "Then I'll eat more."

IN HEAVEN

"Do you think happy marriages are still possible?" "Certainly, it's the life that follows that makes one pessimistic."

Plenty of Time

Man—Come on, let's play another game. Friend—Can't do it. I have an engagement to meet my wife. Man—What time? Friend—Three o'clock. Man—Oh, come on, you still have plenty of time. It's only 4:30 now.

Time is Money

"Have you any ideas about balancing the budget?" "I have," answered Senator Sirghum. "Everybody knows that time is money and we have millions of years before us."

He'll Never Learn

"What's the matter up at Tom's house?" "They're taking 'im away in the ambulance for beatin' 'is misus'."—Pearson's Weekly.

MAYBE YES

Congressman—Forgive your enemies. That's good religion. Senator—Yes, and sometimes good politics.

Some Dumb

"You're so dumb I wouldn't call you a ham." "Why not?" "A ham can be cured."

He Believes It

Farmer—How's Lawyer Jones doing, doctor? Doctor—Poor fellow, he's lying at death's door. Farmer—That's grit for ye; at death's door, and still lying!

Up-to-Date Cat

"I never see the cat washing her face any more." "That cat is progressive. She strolls around in front of the vacuum cleaner whenever I have it in use."

Young but Crafty

"You ought to lend your scooter to your little brother sometimes," said auntie severely. "I do, aunty," declared Freddie. "He has it up the hills and I have it down."—Answers Magazine.

No, Two Were Woe Over

Judge—What possible excuse did you have for acquitting that murderer? Foreman of Jury—Insanity. Judge—What, all twelve of you?

PERFECT FOR THE SMARTEST PARTY

For an after-the-dinner dance, or an after-the-working-day dinner engagement, this lovely afternoon dress would be perfect. It's a shining hour frock, designed with an eye to the vogues for elegance in this winter's mode. A spirited double-jacket tops the bolero lines of its youthful bodice. Smart slashes at each side give a final touch of chic to its pencil-slim skirt. For a costume of unusual glamour, try chiffon-velvet with shimmering metal cloth for the bodice bolero. Satin with velvet would be a lovely choice, too. Make the sleeves with nicely pointed cuffs or in a smart three-quarter length like the small back sketch.

Pattern 9198 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 2 1/2 yards 30-inch fabric, and 1 1/4 yards contrasting.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Complete, Diagrammed Sew Chart Included. Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern department, 222 West Eighteenth street, New York, N. Y.

TAKE THAT

"It's going to be a real battle of wits, I tell you," said the sophomore member of the debating team. "How brave of you," said his roommate. "To go unarmed."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

Wise Old Santa

Assistant—Do I understand that you have traded your herd of reindeer for a flying machine? Santa Claus—Sure, and a good trade, too. Next trip I'll have a cinch dodging the custom house inspectors.

Death in Good Cause

"Mother, papa wouldn't murder anybody, would he?" "Why, certainly not, child! What makes you think so?" "Well, I just heard him down in the cellar saying, 'Let's kill the other two, George.'"

Lincoln County Pioneer Passes Away at Engle, N.M.

Monday morning just before the noon hour, Porfirio and Flavio Chavez received a message stating that their father, Porfirio Chavez, was critically ill and not expected to survive through the day. The boys left for Engle immediately, but when they arrived there, Mr. Chavez had passed away. Mr. Chavez had been ill for several months.

Porfirio Chavez was born in Valencia County sixty-five years ago and came with his parents to Lincoln County in his boyhood days, settling in the town of Lincoln, where he received his schooling, married and became one of the county's most outstanding and highly respected citizens. Mr. Chavez served the county in various official capacities, chief among which were those of Assessor and Sheriff.

In the last election, he was elected commissioner of Sierra county from the first district on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Chavez leased his home in Lincoln a few years ago and moved to Engle, where he engaged in the farming and livestock industries.

The funeral was held at that place on Tuesday afternoon. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow and seven children, four girls and three boys, to all of whom the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends over the county is tendered. Mr. Chavez died on his birthday, January 28.

Election Proclamation
