Table with 3 columns: Team, Won, Lost. Carrizozo Cobras: 7, 5, 10, 7

The Carrizozo Cardinals were triumphant in both games during the Lincoln County Rodeo. In the first game, Saturday, the Cobras had the game well sewed up, up to the 7th inning, but as has been the custom with this aggregation, the inevitable jinx crept in and they came out on the short end of an 11 to 8 score. The Cobras scored in the first inning and the Birds tied the count in the same frame. For three more innings it was a pitcher's duel between Simpson and Lucias, the Cardinals forging ahead 8 to 1. In the 5th, the Cobras started a rally and fell one short of tying the score, but in the 6th they made good their threat and came across with a barrage of base hits, including a homerun by Alfredo Lopez, that netted them five runs to take the lead 7 to 3. In the Birds' time at bat, the catcher, Keeno Ortiz had to retire with a badly split finger, Mirelex being shifted from rightfield to do the backstopping duties and Vega sent out to the outfield. Before the inning was over and with only one more out needed to retire the side, the batter hit sharply to the pitcher's box and when Andy Lucias made a stab at the ball with his bare hand, it careened to Tony Feras, who recovered the ball and whipped out the runner at first. But the damage had been done. When the 7th came around, Andy's paw was so numb and swollen up that he could not answer the bell. Tony was called to the mound, Andy went to third and S. Chavez moved to short. Tony struck out the first two men to face him, but in his haste to mow down the next man, he went wild and woolly and hit two men in succession. Barala came to bat and hit a scorcher to the shortstop, who could not handle it and the two men came racing home to put the score 8 and 5, the Cobras having scored one in the first of the 7th. Andy was recalled to the box to try and save the game, but the Cardinals were now on a hitting spree and put across 6 markers in the 8th to clothe the game. On Sunday morning, the Cardinals repeated by annihilating the Fort Conservationists to the tune of 19 to 18. Sally and Manuel Ortiz, Huffmyer, Garrison, Chambers and Barala committed atrocities with their sticks in this game. Sunday afternoon at the east side park, the Cobras beat Socorro 19 to 8. This game was thrilling and interesting from more than one point of view. Ask anyone (if you missed it!) ENUFF SED! The Cobras play Vaughn here next Sunday. The Cardinals play a return game at Fort Stanton next Sunday afternoon.

The house at 410 Main street, West Middlesex, Pa., where Governor Alf Landon, Republican nominee for President, was born in 1887, has become a point of national interest. Today it is occupied by the Rev. Henry Schilling, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. In 1887 it was occupied by the Rev. Herman Mossman, pastor of the same church, when his daughter, Anne Landon, bore a boy baby named Alfred.

Lincoln County Rodeo Highly Successful

The Lincoln County Rodeo & Carnival started off on scheduled time, beginning last Saturday and ending Sunday evening. During the entire period, the grounds where the events took place were crowded with visitors from our neighboring towns, and also many sojourners from the nearby mountain resorts.

The manager, Mr. T. A. Spencer and his staff of loyal assistants are deserving of much credit, for to them, who labored late and long to see the event go over the top, were well rewarded.

At the Rodeo grounds, Messrs. Spencer, J. V. Taylor and Dewey Stokes engineering the different features of the affair, saw that nothing was overlooked to show the fans a good time and a successful termination of a well-arranged program.

L. A. Whitaker and his assistants excelled at the Barbecue and had the thanks of the patrons.

Frank McCutcheon of the New Mexico Motor Transportation Company of Roswell and a close friend of Mr. A. J. Rolland, brought his radio and amplified car, gave excellent concerts, and made all announcements at the Rodeo, and would only accept the expenses of the trip, to lend a hand to the Carrizozo event.

After the Rodeo was over, he played in front of the Rolland Drug Store until 9:30.

The baseball games, managed by Tennis Bigelow, were well attended, the Carrizozo Cardinals winning both games.

The dances, managed by J. M. Beck, were above the ordinary in attendance, the Community Hall being crowded to its capacity. Mr. Beck was assisted by Messrs. McClintock, Harry Gallacher and Tennis Bigelow.

Dr. R. E. Blaney handled the concessions. Phil Bright acted as publicity man. George Joyce and Phil Bright officiated at the gate during the baseball games and rodeo.

The boxing card at Community Hall served as a curtain-raiser for the dance. The affair was handled by A. L. Burke, manager, with Carl Garrison as referee and Leelle Molina acting as timekeeper. Two teams of boxers from rival CCC Camps boxed for supremacy, while local talent, Blondy Evans, Jr., tied for the Carrizozo honors. The last on the program was a free-for-all between four boys

STRANGER THAN FICTION

In the little town of Orne, France, lives what is left of one, who was at one time, the most expert detective France has ever known. At that time he was chief inspector Henri Jean Latour of the detective force, or as they call it, the Surette of that country. When the combined force had exhausted every effort to trace down a fugitive, the chief would get on the job and invariably, he would apprehend and convict the criminal. His pretty wife and infant son were the only members of his household aside from himself, but tiring of being alone so much, she suddenly disappeared with the child and was never again heard from. In that case, he failed to trace her, saying that perhaps she would marry a good man and have a home unlike what he had been able to give her. Years went on until there was a strange murder committed and one which baffled all police investigations, until it came to him to catch the criminal. He set out on the work and before a month had passed he had the murderer and had him sentenced to the guillotine. After that, he resigned his post and returned to the home of his birth, a despondent, broken-hearted man, waiting and praying for death to relieve him. He had apprehended, convicted and executed his own son.

It happened in the little town of Odell, Alaska, that Jimmy Roden and Mary Jansen were schoolmates and loved each other ardently. They grew up together and their puppy love drifted into strong infatuation. Mary's parents were somewhat wealthy, while Jimmy's were very poor, which caused Mary's parents to bitterly object to their marriage. Jimmy's folks also objected because of their hatred for the wealthy class. Rather than to cause further discord and sorrow to his sweetheart, Jimmy left home, going as far east as he could and landed in New York penniless and despondent. Seeking in vain for employment, he finally secured work on a sea-faring vessel, bound for the Orient. Years went by; the home folks never heard from him and presumed that he was dead. He became a sailor and his good conduct and efficiency won him advancement until he became a ship's captain, with his headquarters at London. One day at his hotel and glancing over the register, he saw on the list of visitors, the following name: Mary Jansen, Alaska. Being so well acquainted with the clerk, Jimmy remarked: "Charley, I once had a wonderful sweetheart by that name in Alaska, but I suppose she is either married or dead by this time." Charley said, "If you will wait a moment, Captain, the lady is a boat to check out." In a few minutes she appeared and the old sweethearts were re-united and both had remained single.

EDITORIAL COLUMN

"I for one, am dedicated to the proposition that henceforth no American citizen shall ever again be put in a position where he has to sell his vote for bread"
—Gov. Landon of Kansas.

What Will The Answers Be?

President Roosevelt was quoted as stating in a speech at Charleston, S. C., some months ago, in discussing the development of economic affairs in the United States: "We planned it that way and don't let anybody tell you differently."

Recalling this alleged statement the other night at Bismarck, North Dakota, Chairman Hamilton of the Republican National Committee has been quoted by the newspapers as desiring to ask the following two questions:

"Mr. Roosevelt, did you in the fall of 1933 destroy 6,200,000 little pigs in order that in the month of May, 1936, the imports of pork from foreign nations should be double those of the entire year 1934; did you plan this that way?"

"Did you retire from cultivation 12,600,000 acres of corn land in order that when a shortage came, as in this year, you could furnish a market in America for the corn farmer in the Argentine? Did you plan this that way?"

The answer to the questions if they are to be answered, and they probably will be ignored, is of course "no."

The AAA undoubtedly planned a program of crop curtailment for the farmers but things didn't turn out as anticipated because of the intervention of Dame Nature, an element which the college professors, in their concentration on logarithms and charts, forgot to take into consideration.

There are one or two other points which might be brought to mind.

The Brain Trust, acting for the administration, conceived a plan put into effect the NRA. Business surged under false anticipation of inflation and then began to bog down under Blue Eagle regimentation. The Supreme Court then invalidated the NRA and business began to pick up again. One might well feel justified in asking if when "we" planned it that way, a part of the plan envisioned the invalidation of the Blue Eagle program by the highest court in the land. And the same might be asked of the AAA. Was it planned in advance that the pet Wallace-Tugwell agricultural plan was to be swept aside by the Supreme Court?

DID YOU KNOW...

THAT in spite of centuries of progress in science and invention, no one ever did anything about the weather until very recent years. Now the weather on every Southern Pacific train from here to California and the East is controlled by a simple dial. The temperature is kept delightfully cool, no matter how hot it is outside.

THAT the lowest train fare from here to LOS ANGELES—

$14.89
ONE WAY

—is good in cool, clean air-conditioned coaches and chair cars on our fastest trains. Tickets good in tourist sleeping cars are very low too.

THAT not one passenger was killed last year on any railroad in the United States. You are actually much safer on a train than in your own home.

Memory of McGraw and Earlier Days Crowds Out Present

WHEN memories stick with you while you should be doing something else, there is only one solution. So you are stuck with them today:

The time when Benny Leonard, who must have weighed 300 pounds, was obtaining publicity for his vaudeville tour by letting it be known that he might soon defend his lightweight title.

There was the year when I was a very young and wise apprentice reporter in Baltimore. Then I thought that all New York sports writers must be phonies.

There was the time when I first met John McGraw. A ninth-inning decision had cost the Giants a ball game while they were battling for a pennant late in the season.

John McGraw two hours of talking about the high cost of steam yachts and the pleasure that might be obtained by owning one.

The time when, after a very delightful evening with Jim Thorpe, I shook hands with him at 5 A. M. and solemnly promised that his football career would be crowned by an opportunity to play against Bradley in the professional contest that afternoon.

The baseball club which was somewhat annoyed at the way a star was conducting his spring training. The daily search that was made of his room while he was at the ball park and the private detective who trailed him until he went to the room at night.

That year in Baltimore when I inaugurated the city amateur boxing championship tournament which has been copied so prettily elsewhere since then.

That year when there was so much talk about the International League being a one-man enterprise and Judge Landis' official pronouncement that such tales were all the bunk.

That evening when Wladok Zbyzka threw Renato Gardial as he because somehow I became so suspicious as to what that all wrestling matches are not made in heaven.

The time when the very agreeable Bradley agreed to box a four-round exhibition for charity and discovered, too late, that the setup was Kid Williams, who was just getting over being bantamweight champion of the world.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE

THE weaker clubs will make a determined fight for a share of the wealth plan when the major leagues meet next winter. They claim that they provide half the show even when they visit Yankee stadium.

Don Petrin, the light-heavyweight, wants the world to know that he now is the daddy of a nine-pound boy. Also that, because he needs more dough than can be had in his father-in-law's bakery, he would like to receive some fight offers.

Dr. Bier, the Pompton Lakes health farmer, claims a record at which all other fight camp proprietors can aim. During the sixteen years he has been conducting the place, no referee ever has counted ten over a main bout performer who trained there.

Ruppert Has Heaviest Insurance on Stadium

Colonel Ruppert carries more insurance (a bigger sum and more different varieties) on Yankee stadium than does any other big-time club owner.

The biggest better at metropolitan tracks is a young man who once seemed to be headed toward golfing stardom. He plops down as much as 50 C's on a race.

At dinner recently when a group of very well-informed baseball men were discussing the merits of the two major leagues this proposition was set forth: "The Cubs won the pennant last year while the Yankees finished second in their own loop."

That evening when Wladok Zbyzka threw Renato Gardial as he because somehow I became so suspicious as to what that all wrestling matches are not made in heaven.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

IT IS a good idea to go around with a screw driver and tighten screws frequently. It is amazing how many minor repairs can be avoided by doing just this very thing.

One of the kitchen utensils that must have the screws in firmly is the coffee percolator handle. If one loses its grip, the person using the percolator, may get badly scalded.

When a screw has to be renewed, or when the old one comes out and must be put back again, there is a little trick that will make the job easier. Soap the screw!

There is no illumination for a dining table that is comparable to candle light. The tapers should be high enough not to intercept the vision of those looking across the table or else the candles should have shades.

It should be remembered that four candles are the correct number. Never use three, or for three candles are too closely associated with church significances with a sad trend, to make the number suggest gaiety, and merry meals are good for the digestion.

To avoid this little annoyance, let me suggest using candlestick dollies. These can be as simple as circles or squares of dull finish damask table oilcloth to match the tablecloth in color.

Those who prefer better candlestick dollies, can make them of linen embroidered in soft tones, white, or contrasting colors, with scalloped edges. Or the dollies can be plain linen, lace edged. Unless the candles are of deep or brilliant dyes, these dollies are entirely sufficient.

White and light tints do not absorb and hold heat the way darker shades do. Astronomical domes are painted white to minimize the increase in temperature in the daytime.

Tests made by the Bureau of Standards show that the use of aluminum paint on the tops of automobiles, ice wagons and other vehicles reduces by about 90 per cent the amount of heat admitted through the top.

Painting the back wall of a dish cupboard terra cotta or turquoise blue substitutes the dishes in effective fashion.

MILK ESSENTIAL IN EVERY DIET

Nutrition Value Is Now Generally Recognized.

By EDITH M. BARBER

IT is a habit of the day to sigh for the bountifulness of a bygone time when foods were cheap and plentiful. While one and all we should appreciate lower prices for foods of all kinds, most of us would not exchange the variety, convenience, and safety which are provided today by modern methods of handling, preserving, and transporting them.

It is a satisfaction to know that most foods now available are of consistently good quality. Of all staple foods which must be used daily none is of more importance than milk, which provides so generously for the most important of the nutritional needs.

The first thought, however, should be that the milk is low enough in bacteria-count to be safe. While certified milk, produced under the acme of cleanly conditions, is theoretically the best milk, it is expensive and beyond the price which most persons can afford to pay.

Modern pasteurizing plants demand, in the first place, that the milk brought to them be clean and of good quality. They help rather than hinder the enforcement of farm-milk inspection by city or state.

Dried milk has had the moisture removed and is put up in cans ready to beat into four times its volume of water. It has the same food value as pasteurized milk, which has usually lost nothing but part of its vitamin C content.

In the process of making it is sterilized, and for that reason is absolutely free from bacteria. The high temperature used caramelizes the milk-sugar and gives a characteristic flavor to the milk. This process, however, seems to affect none of the nutritive qualities, except the vitamin C, which must be furnished in liberal quantities by other foods even when fresh milk is used.

While evaporated milk is used for cooking and for infant-feeding, it does not as a rule furnish a table-beverage in the same sense that fresh milk does. It does, however, make a delicious drink when it is mixed with fruit-juices or with chocolate-strap-and-frapped with ice in a shaker.

Cream of Tomato Soup
2 cups canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon sugar
2 slices onion
3 cloves
1 bay-leaf
1-2 teaspoons salt
Pepper
1-4 teaspoon soda
1-2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3-4 cup evaporated-milk
3-4 cup water
1-2 cup grated cheese

Chocolate-Walnut Dregs
1-2 pound sweet chocolate
1-2 cup condensed milk
1 cup dates
1-4 cup walnut-meats

Melt the chocolate with the milk in a double boiler. Remove from the fire, stir until smooth, and add the walnuts and dates. Drop by teaspoonsful on a greased baking-sheet and bake for 30 minutes in a slow oven (275 degrees F.) until firm. This amount will make 24 cakes.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for August 16

SOWING AND REAPING

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6:1-10. GOLDEN TEXT—Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Galatians 6:7.

Satan is "the god of this world." And as such he has wrought confusion in every realm and particularly in the field of moral distinctions and responsibility. Instead of clear-cut lines of right and wrong, white and black, he has managed to befuddle the minds of many so that they see only a twilight gray of moral indifference.

The spiritual concerns of life are far more important than the material, therefore the writer points out that the believer is

1. Humility (v. 3). The man who is wrapped up in himself is always a very small bundle.

2. Self-judgment (v. 4). Compare I Cor. 3:10-15. God will one day judge our lives. We do well to judge them now in the light of eternity.

3. Self-reliance (v. 5). The one who is quick to bear another's burdens is slow to ask others to bear his.

4. A sacrificial spirit (v. 6). The true disciple will honor his teacher and will share with him not only his material things, but also the good things he finds in God's Word.

5. The law illustrated (v. 8). The flesh stands for self, self-will, or selfishness. The man who lives for himself and his own pleasures reaps "corruption" even in the present world.

6. Its obedience rewarded (v. 9). God is gracious. Well doing is not only its own reward, but in future prospect there is a reward at hand for those who are not "weary in well doing."

7. A Summary and Conclusion (v. 10). This gathers up the truth of the entire context, reminding us that "as we have opportunity" (and sometimes it really knocks you out) we are to "work that which is good" (and it may take effort and sacrifice) "toward all men" (even if we don't like their nationality, or color, or creed, or lack of creed), "and especially" (and now we come into the intimate family circle) "toward them that are of the household of faith."

"Dried Up" Wells Made to Produce More Petroleum

Chemist Patents Process for Raising Oil Yield

WASHINGTON. — Spent or "dried up" oil wells would be made to ooze forth more black gold, according to a "process for increasing the productivity of wells" recently patented here (patent No. 2,038,720) by Melvin De Groot, of St. Louis.

Such simple chemicals as hydrochloric acid and sodium fluoride, powerful roach-killers, when properly emulsified and injected into the well would do the trick, claims the inventor.

The "sick" oil well when given a dose of this medicine would again yield oil trapped in the earth beyond the reach of man.

Wells Not All Dry.
Not all oil wells that stop producing are really dry, that is, their supply of oil is not completely exhausted. The stoppage of output may be caused by the building up of solid deposits of wax or of inorganic salts, such as cause water hardness, in the channels or pores of the oil-bearing rock.

Naturally, when pores and channels are clogged oil will not flow and the well's output eventually declines to the point where it is not practical to work the well, although there may still be much oil present.

The inventor's mixture of hydrochloric acid and sodium fluoride is intended to regenerate the productivity of such wells. It has the property of dissolving out the mineral deposits which clog the pores and channels.

Acids Make Opening.
Not only that, but injected into the well, the chemicals eat out new openings in the rock making it more porous.

The hydrochloric acid in the mixture dissolves out the calcareous or limestone-like deposits. At the same time some of the acid reacts with the sodium fluoride to liberate the powerful hydrofluoric acid which dissolves away the clogging silica deposit—most difficult to dissolve clogging mineral.

New Magnesium Pellets May Help Save Wild Ducks

WASHINGTON.—Magnesium added to the lead used in duck shot may give wild ducks a chance for their lives if the hunter misses, the U. S. Biological Survey has announced. Paradoxically, the widespread use of this new type of ammunition would result in increasing the number of ducks.

Lead pellets of the kind now used get two chances at the ducks, Survey scientists explain. The first is the hunter's honest chance to knock down a bird when he fires. The second puts no ducks in anybody's pot, but only kills the poor-fowl by slow lead poisoning.

Havoc Is Wrought.
Shotgun pellets falling thick into hunted-over marshes where wild ducks feed are shoveled up as the ducks grub in the mud for food. They are retained in the gizzard like small pebbles, and as they are slowly rubbed down some of the lead dissolves and finds its way into the blood stream.

Among these is a paralysis of legs and wings, so that if the poison does not kill the birds outright they either die of exposure or fall easy victims to predatory animals and birds.

Steepest Railroad Is Located in Oregon

RIPPLE, ORE.—What is believed to be the world's steepest standard-gauge railroad is located near here. It is 3,421 feet in length, starting up on a 28 per cent grade, continuing on a 79 per cent and cutting down to 80 per cent as it nears the top of the incline.

Bridal Veils Used in Ancient Times to Scare Demons

Greeks of Old Followed Quaint Marriage Rites

THE ancient custom of veiling a bride was once a trick to mislead mischievous demons.

Thus Prof. Ludwig Deubner of the Berlin university explains bridal veils, which in ancient times were more enveloping and mysterious than the airy veil of a modern June bride.

Fear of demons, it appears, plagued the ancient Greeks in a fashion reminiscent of the fairy-tale fear of the wicked fairy who always turned up for trouble at weddings and christenings.

Brides' Disguises.
Describing lengths to which wedding parties would go to foil demons, Prof. Deubner said that brides in Sparta were dressed in men's clothing. The Spartan maid, dressed like a man and with her hair shorn, was shut up in a dark room to await her bridegroom's arrival and a dramatic rescue.

Other ancient peoples tried other confusing practices. On the island of Kos, near Asia Minor, it was the bridegroom who dressed up. He wore women's clothes.

Prof. Deubner finds evidence that Greek marriage customs are related to customs of other Indo-Germanic Aryan peoples, and some can still be found surviving in parts of Greece.

Parents Made Matches.
Describing ancient Greek weddings, Prof. Deubner stated that as marriages were arranged by the parents, the couple-to-be were not consulted and often became acquainted only after they were wed.

The popular month for weddings corresponded to late January and early February in our calendar. The bride sacrificed her hair, her girle, and her toys at the altar of Artemis.

Corresponding to a modern church wedding was a sacrifice rite to the goddess Hera. During the wedding banquet the bridegroom removed the bride's veil. Wedding gifts went by a name meaning unveiling, because they were received after the removal of the veil.

Guests accompanied the couple to their home and threw old shoes to ward off evil. The groom lifted his bride from the cart in which they rode, and she—like ancient German brides—walked thrice around the hearth-fire in token of her entrance to a new family.

24 American Cities Escaped Typhoid Deaths During 1935

CHICAGO. — Twenty-four large cities have a place on the honor roll of the American Medical association, having had no deaths from typhoid fever during the year 1935.

These cities are: Bridgeport, Conn.; Cambridge, Mass.; Elizabeth, N. J.; Erie, Pa.; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Jersey City, N. J.; Long Beach, Calif.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Newark, N. J.; New Bedford, Mass.; New Haven, Conn.; Omaha, Neb.; Paterson, N. J.; Peoria, Ill.; San Diego, Calif.; Scranton, Pa.; Somerville, Mass.; Springfield, Mass.; Tacoma, Wash.; Trenton, N. J.; Wichita, Kas., and Youngstown, Ohio.

Eight of these cities—five of them in New England—had no deaths either from typhoid or diphtheria in 1935. They are: Bridgeport, Cambridge, Erie, New Bedford, New Haven, Scranton, Springfield and Tacoma.

Death Rate Declines.
The total of typhoid deaths for the 93 large cities annually surveyed by the American Medical association was notably less in 1935 than in 1934, 385 as against 470.

At the other end of the scale are seven cities with high death rates from typhoid. In the order of high mortality from the disease, they are: El Paso, Texas; New Orleans; Nashville, Tenn.; Tampa, Fla.; Norfolk, Va.; Knoxville and Memphis, Tenn.

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

IRENE DUNN has just returned from Europe with a lot of interesting information regarding the famous Madame Curie, whom she will portray on the screen.

Most of us have thought of the famous scientist as a solemn sort of person, but Irene has discovered that she most decidedly had a lighter side. For example, she was the best dancer in her village, and loved music.

Incidentally, Irene has drawn another plum out of the motion picture pie. One of the three pictures which she is to do for Paramount is "The Count of Luxembourg." Gladys Swarthout seemed to be all set for it, but, although she is beautiful and has a lovely voice, she is not too good in pictures. Her technique seems to be better suited to opera than to the screen.

Marlene Dietrich finally got off to New York and then to Europe, with 19 trunks (she took an extra room on the train for the trunks, so that they'd be handy whenever she wanted to change), various servants and attendants, and her daughter.

Interviewed on her arrival in New York, she said all the right things—that American women were the most beautiful in the world, that Garbo was her favorite actress, etc. She was dressed in a sheer black frock, and a tiny hat, trimmed, of course, with feathers.

If you love thrills and automobile racing, be sure to see "Speed," with James Stewart and Wendy Barrie. Young Mr. Stewart is climbing fast, perhaps because he's so natural, perhaps because all of us who go to pictures seem to be getting tired of too-handsome men.

As for Wendy Barrie, she's charming. Incidentally, she's been seen around again with the young millionaire whom rumor had her all set to marry when she landed on these shores.

Warren Hull is both resourceful and sensible. His young sons wanted a swimming pool, but Hull is one movie actor who refuses to have a pool (and what with the cost of the pool and the cost of keeping it filled, who can blame him?)

So he did what fathers all over the land have done; had a tank built, seven by nine, that can be filled easily with the garden hose, and now everybody's happy.

Joan Crawford's favorite records are no longer those made by Bing Crosby. She's switched to operatic recordings, and likes to sing along with the soloist.

And as for Bing—"Pennies from Heaven" is his next picture, and he's doing good work in it. His family is all settled in their new home, his horses are settled at his ranch, he's established as a big attraction on the radio—and how's that for a lad who'd never amount to anything, according to the prophets of not so many years ago?

Auto trailers are becoming more and more popular in the movie colony. Twentieth Century-Fox went in for them heavily a while ago—the Jones family used six to get to the location site of "See America First," and during the making of the location scenes of "Ramona" Loretta Young, Kent Taylor and Director Henry

Lived in them. Somebody had the "Ramona" cast worried by arranging for some peacocks to be used in the picture—not that anyone would come right out and admit being superstitious, of course, but they all recalled the fact that peacocks are supposed to bring bad luck.

So—somebody else just "forgot" to bring the peacocks along.

ODDS AND ENDS... Don't blame me if you miss "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford"—it's great... Core Sue Collins has autographs from all the famous folk she's worked with... Evelyn Venable recently bought her infant daughter her first bonnet—but the baby won't wear it... George O'Brien is working hard on "Daniel Boone"... George Kell is going to try his hand at pictures in England... Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable did their hitch-hiking scene from "It Happened One Night" as the actors' benefit all but rolled in the aisles... Maureen O'Sullivan may marry John Farrow when "Tarzan" is completed... The next Quintuplets picture will be "Reunited" with Jean Harlow again playing a doctor.

Maybe we imagine it, but don't these mornings and evenings seem like Fall? A friend of the writer's made the remark that it is the most pleasant summer we've had in years, and we think so too.

F. D. R. is the original Hearst candidate, not Landon; although Alfred has the support of Hearst in the coming presidential campaign. And Hearst was never wrong, from the days of Bryan. But Queen Sabe or Who Knows, this time?

When He Likes New Mexico J. D. Merriman, Editor of Mountainair Independent:

When I read the exchanges and see an editor saying what he thinks regardless of where the skin may be peeled.

When I get in the mountains and find the tall trees, the babbling brooks and the myriad blossoms in the cool and shady nooks.

When I find my fellow man easy to meet, easy to like and ready to help whenever and wherever they can make New Mexico more and more attractive.

When I find the business men ready and willing to use the newspaper as an investment in more and better business instead of buying space as a donation to the editor.

When I write an editorial and get a complaint or a commendation.

Pa-pah Dionne was accidentally touched on the arm by Bill Summersville, who was playing in the role of the backwoods Constable. Said Dionne, "I ain't done nothin'." Bill retorted, "O Yes; that's what YOU think!"

No, Adios — from the Land of Dreams and dark-eyed Beauties.
