Joint Installation

And Oyster Supper

Newly-elected officers of Alamo Lodge No. 25 and Carrizozo Lodge No. 30, I. O. O. F., were installed Tuesday night at Oddfellows Hall by Deputy Grand Master Herman Kelt...

After the installation, an oyster supper was prepared and served by a committee composed of Calvin Carl, Colonel Jones and Paul Wilson. Calvin Carl fried the oysters and let us add that they were fried to a Queen's taste.

Members of the Alamo lodge attending were: A. J. Newsom, Past Grand Master; James A. Anderson, Past Chief Patriarch; Charles E. Thomas, J. G. and Damon L. Schultz. This delegation was accompanied by C. T. Kibbe, Grand Instructor, who is organizing a class of candidates for the Alamo lodge.

There are strong ties between the two lodges and frequent gatherings of the above nature are held at different intervals during the year. A return visit will be paid to our sister lodge in the near future and we express the hope that it may be planned before Mr. Kibbe leaves for other fields.

Officers for the ensuing term of six months are: Albert Roberts, N. G.; O. T. Newton, V. G.; Wm. J. Langston, Sec'y; L. H. Dow, Treas.; Herman Kelt, R. S. N. G.; Calvin Carl, L. S. N. G.; Paul Wilson, R. S. V. G.; Colonel Jones, L. S. V. G.; E. R. Chase, Chaplain; A. L. Burke, Degree Master; J. F. Tom, Assistant Degree Master.

Capt. and Mrs. Reiter left yesterday for Las Cruces after spending a week here with friends, during which time they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ziegler.

John W. Harkey is ill at the present writing, but his condition shows improvement.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB

There were twenty-one present at the weekly meeting and dinner of the Carrizozo Business Men's Club Wednesday evening in the dining room of the popular Southern Pacific Hotel...

Attorney John E. Hall, retiring President, surrendered his office to F. A. English, the new head of the organization for 1937. Dr. R. E. Blaney succeeded himself as Secretary. G. T. McQuillen is the new Vice-President.

As a tribute to the esteem in which Attorney Hall is held by the Club, Phil Bright, with a short but well worded speech, presented him with a handsome desk set on his retirement from the Chair, to which Mr. Hall responded with his customary courtesy.

Captain Nathan Reiter, gave the Club a peep into the inner-workings of the Social Security Act which goes into effect about Feb. 1.

Forest Notes

Captain, N. M. - Forest Service figures show that approximately 500 hunters visited the Capitan and White Mountain range districts of the Lincoln National Forest during the past hunting season...

Game is one of the assets of the forest which is generally not figured in dollars and cents, however, the revenues to the state and various communities is large enough to warrant protection of this particular resource.

Predatory animals, game violators and fire are three of the principal enemies of game, with the first named far in the lead. No one has yet been able to make an accurate estimate of the number of deer killed by coyotes, bob-cats and lions...

Everyone who enjoys hunting or even seeing a deer and turkey should make it a point to deal a blow to these three enemies of game. G. J. Gray, Forest Ranger.

Mrs. Mary Jane Jones Finley. On December 27, Mrs. Mary Jane Jones Finley, beloved mother of our esteemed friend and citizen, M. U. Finley, passed away at her home in Marfa, Texas...

Mary Jane Jones was born in Kentucky Jan. 18, 1844. She was married to Dr. D. T. Finley, Aug. 10, 1865. The Finleys moved to Texas in 1870. Mrs. Finley was a charter member of the Bloys Campmeeting and since its inception, took an active interest in the affair...

THE NEW YEAR by GEORGE COOPER in Indianapolis News

A New Year Decision by Katherine Edelman

PERHAPS it was something about the closing of the year that brought Paul and Ethel to the final decision. Anyway, it was New Year's eve when they talked the matter over in a business-like way, and definitely decided upon the break...

Outside snow was falling in thick, white flakes. Every now and then sudden gusts of wind rattled the doors and windows. But neither of them seemed to notice. Perhaps the tumult in their own hearts dulled them to the fact that a storm of a different kind was venting its anger outdoors...

"What about this old clock Uncle Henry gave us?" Ethel asked, as she took it down from the mantel. Paul laughed a little harshly. "You keep it," he said; "time isn't going to mean a thing to me from now on."

"But it came from your Uncle," Ethel protested. "He would want you to have it." "I tell you I don't give a darn about the clock—or about anything else for that matter," Paul threw a pile of books that he had just picked up across the length of the room. "Let's get some one else to do this—this sort of thing makes the whole business seem awful."

"Why, Paul, we just decided that we would be business-like—that we would make no fuss, or—" "Well, I thought I felt that way, but I was wrong—I just can't foot with this stuff tonight," Ethel, this may sound crazy, but is there any reason, now that we've decided to part for good, why we can't go out and celebrate the New Year together. We—we don't have to really like each other to do that—we can go down and watch the crowds. Anything to get away from this gloom!"

"Do you really mean that?" There was a queer little catch in Ethel's voice as she spoke, and her blue eyes seemed a bit misty. "Of course I'll go—I'll be glad to—there's too many ghosts around here tonight; it does make packing a bit difficult. . . . But, can you get a cab this late?"

"I'll get one," Paul's voice was firm. Relief and eagerness shone from his dark eyes. "You hurry and doll up; I'll see to the cab." In half an hour they started away. Both were flushed, excited. It seemed a bit daring, adventurous; to go out celebrating the New Year together, when they had decided only an hour ago that life under the same roof was unbearable any longer.

In spite of the crowds in the hotels and cafes, they found a little table, with a delightful view of everything that was going on. Paul ordered a bit recklessly. Since this was to be their last evening together, he was going to do the job right. But when the food came, they both ate rather silently. The small talk that had come so easy on the way down seemed to suddenly fall them. . . . Every once in a while Paul glanced across the table at his wife. What a pity, he thought, they couldn't make a go of things! In his eyes Ethel was easily the best

A SONG for the Old, While its knell is tolled, And its parting moments fly! But a song and a cheer For the glad New Year, While we watch the Old Year die! Oh, its grief and pain, Ne'er can come again, And its care lies buried deep; But what joy untold Doth the New Year hold, And what hopes within it sleep!

A song for the Old, While its knell is tolled, And the friends it gave so true! But, with hearts of ice Let us merrily Welcome the bright, bright New! For the heights we gained, For the good attained, We will not the Old despise; But a joy more sweet, Making life complete, In the golden New Year lies.

A song for the Old, While its knell is tolled! With a grander, broader zeal, And a farward view, Let us greet the New! Heart and purpose ever leal! Let the ill we met, And the sad regret, With the Old be buried deep; For what joy untold Doth the New Year hold, And what hopes within it sleep!

Looking woman in the room—distinguished, different. . . Once his glance caught hers and held it for a moment. They both flushed and turned hurriedly to their plates. Some one asked the orchestra to play "Love's Old-Sweet Song." An silence followed the opening of the familiar melody both of them were swept by emotion. . . . Their love had been the most wonderful thing in the world! How had it died so soon? What had happened? That was the question taunting both of them as the song went on. Looking back they saw a hundred little things, magnified until they assumed tragic proportions—small hurts left unhealed, sharp words, silence and misunderstanding. There had been nothing terribly serious; neither could find any big, bitter thing accountable for the wreckage.

Again, Paul looked at Ethel. This time she made no effort to look away. Tears shone in her eyes. Suddenly his hand stole across the table and found hers. "I love you, Ethel," he breathed; "can't we begin again?—can't we prove to ourselves and to the world that 'Love's Old Sweet Song' is really the sweetest song of all?"

For a moment they did not realize that the orchestra had changed to a livelier air. Then as they sensed its swinging rhythm Paul reached out his arms. In a moment they were gliding with the happy throng of dancers, a newer and deeper love throbbing in their hearts.

Resolution That Falls It is sad but true that never yet has a New Year's resolution paid the Christmas bills.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART NATIONAL PRESS BLDG. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Hullabaloo and Clamor Washington—On the eve of the opening of a new congress, the seventy-fifth, there is great hullabaloo and clamor about social and economic legislation and particularly about the alleged necessity for constitutional amendments giving congress more power to deal with these problems. Much of the noise emanates from minorities, highly organized pressure groups, and it is difficult, therefore, to tell exactly what the attitude of the country, as a whole, may be.

There are those both in congress and out who contend that the overwhelming vote for President Roosevelt's re-election constituted a mandate for immediate action on a number of these highly delicate and difficult questions. There are others whose contention is that the great vote given President Roosevelt was, in fact, a tribute to his personal popularity and that it was in no way connected with the various problems that are now before the country in individual capacity. Whatever the answer to these contending forces, the fact remains that we are due to hear something of them on the floors of the house and senate in the next few months.

Social Welfare

The country cannot know definitely until President Roosevelt delivers his message to the new congress, dealing with the state of the Union, exactly what his position is going to be on the so-called social welfare problems of the country. This is a general category and involves such things as the so-called social security legislation and legislation giving the federal government greater control over private business. The two phases go hand in hand and as far as I have been able to discover, it will be impossible to deal with one without in some manner dealing with the other.

For example, the present social security statutes have a direct effect upon business through their taxation provisions. While basically they are designed to protect against the sufferings of unemployment and the destitution of the aged who are without resources, it can be readily seen that somebody must pay the bill. The Roosevelt administration's theory is that private employers, meaning business as a whole, shall be the logical source from which to draw the financial protection that is conceived to be necessary.

But in this theory there is involved very definitely the right of the federal government to enter into the fields that are now occupied or may be occupied by the states. It is largely a taxing proposition that the federal government must use if it is going to reach those classes able to pay. But the Constitution, federal laws and traditional practices of our people have built up certain lines of demarcation between federal and state rights. The question therefore becomes simply one that requires determination by the people whether they are going to allow the federal government to encroach further upon the fields that hitherto have been reserved for the states.

New Legal Question

This brings up a new legal question. Stated succinctly, the question is whether a state legislature that has once rejected a proposition to amend the Constitution can reverse itself and approve the resolution after having once killed it. Mr. Green contends that this is possible. The American Bar association takes a contrary view.

So, we are confronted with a problem within a problem and one that is likely to be distorted and twisted and misrepresented by those interests that have sought for a long time to make the Constitution appear outmoded. To become attached to the Constitution, an amendment must be ratified under the terms of the Constitution itself, by three-fourths of the states. That is thirty-six. Since twelve more states must ratify, there is likely to be a hard drive to gain some of the remaining states and to bring about reversal of positions already taken. It nearly always happens in "drives" that there is much loose mouthings and many unwarranted and unjustified statements. It probably will be so in this instance and the country must be on guard to sift the truth from the propaganda and must be prepared to make up its mind whether it desires to place in the Constitution a hard and fast rule that no child under eighteen years of age may be allowed to work gainfully.

On the basis of all of the information and opinion that I have been able to gather, my guess would be that before this session of congress is over something tangible in the way of a new constitutional amendment will be offered. It would seem, on the basis of the present trends, that it will be possible for the different schools of thought on this subject to get together only upon a constitutional resolution. My guess is, further, that it is utterly impossible for all of the groups and blocs to reach an understanding on legislation along these lines. Few of them are willing to compromise and without the attitude of compromise no highly controversial legislation, nothing except stalemate results. Some observers even now hold the belief that it will be impossible for any agreement to be reached within congress on any of these social welfare propositions simply because the range of views as to what is good for the country is so wide.

There are certain bits of evidence now to be seen that indicate a more determined position on the part of business itself. I think it could be said without equivocation that the business interests have been the target for political demagoguery in the last few years to a greater extent than ever in history. Of course, business has not come forth with clean hands. Yet, it is made to appear now that business has taken about all of the maltreatment to which it is entitled and it would seem, therefore, that the time has arrived for it to be given some consideration by the government which has supervision over it as well as us as individuals.

From these words, it will be seen that an attempt is made to give congress greater power over the rights of states to legislate for themselves. Such a purpose brings up in my mind the old question of whether a state or the federal government shall be supreme. There certainly

Lesson for January 3 THE SON OF GOD BECOMES MAN

LESSON TEXT—John 1:1-18. GOLDEN TEXT—And the Word was made flesh...

Simple, Elegant, Practical

TIME and Sew-Your-Own fashions march on. Today's trio have the simplicity, elegance and practicality...

of this style—one with short sleeves, the other with long. Pique, silk crepe or velveteen will serve nicely as the material...

SATURDAY—Continued

I sat down at my dressing table to comb my hair. Sarah lingered. She moved over to my table and made some casual rearrangement of the objects there.

"Mrs. Avery—" Sarah began in a low voice. "Yes, Sarah," I answered. Sarah appeared to forget that she had spoken.

That Coolness Rapidly Became the Frigidity of Horror.

he had not come back by then and I fancy he didn't come back at all. But you know Doctor Blackie! You ought to know him well enough by this time not to worry...

Horror! Terror! Confusion! And horror, terror, confusion all woven together! Fortunately I kept my head. Fortunately Sarah kept hers.

Sarah and I accompanied them to the farthest end of the piazza. There we women faltered. "Mary," Patrick begged, "if you can bear to stand it, I wish you'd come with us."

The Spinnery is a tangle. I let things grow there as they will. And they will turn to jungle. Entering the Spinnery on that transcendent day was to come abruptly from sunshine stinging hot to shade, velvety cool.

The opening of a new year always brings with it a sense of solemn responsibility for one's life and service, and at the same time a thrilling expectancy.

Three great and fundamental questions are answered in chapter 1:1-18, namely, (1) Was Jesus Christ God or man? (2) Does it matter how we regard him and relate our lives to him? (3) Is there suitable evidence upon which we may rest our faith in him?

II. Men Are Either Believers or Unbelievers (vv. 6-13). There are only two classes of people who will read these lines—the saved and the unsaved.

III. Our Faith Rests on the Testimony of Eye Witnesses (vv. 14-18). John the Baptist and John the Apostle both beheld the "glory" as of the only begotten of the Father.

Hello, everybody! Have you made any Resolutions for the New Year? We haven't, for what's the use? They're bound to be broken sooner or later.

—Are you Hatenin? As Ben Bernie says, "I hope you'll like it." Yowsah!

It was in a country school that this happened. The School Board had been invited, and the teacher said she was going to give her class some easy questions in review. Then came the following, "Who discovered America?" All was silence. A little freckle-faced boy with warts all over his face suddenly raised his hand. The teacher sneered, "I'm going to make you pupils ashamed of yourselves. Little Johnny Smith speak up and tell us who discovered America." The boy gazed foolishly around and gasped, "I don't know — but I wanta be excused."

CAN'T PLEASE THEM ALL

Last week we received two complaints from local readers. One because a certain person's name appeared in our paper and another because the name was spelled incorrectly. You get it. If you do and catch h—ll if you don't, so how in the world, we ask, can you please everyone?

Took a ride out to the Malpais yesterday and saw two signs, one on the approach to this awe-inspiring spectacle and another close to the Lovelace ranch — here is how the sign reads, as near as we can recall: "Stop and visit the Malpais, one of the wonders of the world." Note—Did Yours Truly in his writings have anything to do with it? P.S.—Now, we need a sign at the local postoffice reading, "Three miles to the Ancient Flow or Malpais." And an arrow pointing to the direction.

Let George Do It
Wonderfully fond of mushrooms, but fearful of handling them, the fatal fungi resembling them, an Arkansas man turns to the Thomas Cat for help. "How," he queries, "can one tell a mushroom from a toadstool?" "Easy," enlightens the editor. "If you die—it was a toadstool!"

CHOCOLATE CAMPAIGN A SUCCESS

We have had 108 new subscriptions and renewals to date on the offer which closed on Dec. 31, 1928. The books which are public property will verify this fact. A great deal better than a subscription contest, we think.

The Citizens State Bank presented The Outlook for a week with several nice pocketbooks or "grouch receipts" this week. They have the name of the Bank on them in gold lettering. Note—Thank a for the compliment, boys; but did you ever see a newspaper man that had a ny money?

"Didja notice that in the last few issues of your paper that you had several ads placed upside down?" quoting a well-meaning Subscriber. Note—Shux, yes; the ads you mention were ordered that way. We'll wager that You read them, even if you had to stand on your head to do so.

How to succeed in the New Year: Early to bed and early to rise; work like hell and advertise.—Adios.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

MEN, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your track shows—how your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three critical periods of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Don't Take Drastic Drugs
Your kidneys contain 3 million tiny tubes or filters which may be endangered by heat, or drastic, irritating drugs. Be careful. If you suffer from any of the following: Headache, Dizziness, or Pain, Rheumatic Pains, Disturbed Vision, Under Eye, Neuralgia, Acidity, Burning, Smarting or Itching, you need to take care. All things you eat need to be taken care of. The most modern advanced treatment for these troubles is a Doctor's prescription called Cystex (Blue-Tab). It is fast—safe and pure. In 48 hours it must bring new vitality and is guaranteed to make you feel 16 years younger. In one week or many back on return of empty pockets. NOW OFTEN CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?

Few husbands can understand why a wife should turn from pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month. You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. Beware. If you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three critical periods of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

C. H. Murray, Plaintiff, vs.
Lincoln County Mining & Milling Co. Et Al, Defendants.
No. 4882

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE
Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of an extension issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, upon a judgment rendered on the 5th day of December, 1926, in Cause No. 4882 in the civil docket of said Court, C. H. Murray, plaintiff, vs. Lincoln County Mining & Milling Co., et al, a Corporation, in the sum of $445.64 and all costs of Court, I will on the 25th day of January, 1927, at the south door of the Court House in Carrizozo, County of Lincoln, sell to the highest and best bidder for cash at auction the following described property:

All the within property is located at the mine of the Defendant above Bonito Dam in Lincoln County, New Mexico.

- 1 Case Engine No. A-2355A
- 1 Gardner Air Compressor No. 14512 complete with air line and receiver tank
- 1 Ore Car and 200 feet of track
- 8.55 Gardner Denver Liner Machine B642 including all steel and equipment used heretofore
- 1 Handy Mining Claim, known as Handy No. 1 according to Lincoln County Records

J. A. S. McCamant, Sheriff of Lincoln County, did attach the above described property and placed Elmer Murray as Caretaker at $1.50 per day until said case is settled. Sheriff's Cost $5.10 to satisfy said costs and judgment of court. The costs will include the actual costs of Court and all incident to this sale. Said sale will be made at the hour of 10 A. M. on said day.

This the 25th day of January, 1927.
A. S. McCamant, Sheriff of D25-J16 Lincoln County.

A New Year—A New Congress

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

America at this time greets a New Year—and a new Congress.

What do the American people ask of each?

Of the New Year, opportunity for longer strides along the road to recovery . . .

Of the new Congress, whatever action, or restraint, may be necessary to make such strides possible . . .

America is ready for those lengthened strides. The need exists for new buildings, new goods, replacements; for many things that supply and serve the people. Industry and commerce—all our creative facilities—stand ready to meet that need. Workers in every field are eager for the employment that increased production assures. Talk of closer cooperation among all elements essential to a quickened program fills the newspapers.

All that seems necessary is Confidence:

Confidence that public, rather than factional, advantages will sway the men chosen to represent us in our National Legislature.

Confidence that no new barriers will be placed in the way of work and production.

Confidence that constructive plans for the future will not have to be scrapped overnight to meet the vagaries of every glittering economic novelty.

Confidence that the worker's income will not be wasted by political extravagance billed against his present and future earnings.

Confidence that throughout the nation humanitarian considerations will dominate political aspects in emergency measures to aid the unfortunate.

The Seventy-fifth Congress faces a historic opportunity to inspire this confidence.

If it grasps the opportunity, it can earn the gratitude of a great and encouraged people.

If it fails . . . our wishes for a Prosperous New Year will have been in vain.

Fame
President Taft's favorite job was on himself. It happened that Jim Corbett of pugilistic fame had called on Taft at the White House and the two were walking about the grounds when a Washington newsboy spotted them and yelled, "Gee, there's Jim Corbett, but who's the fat guy with him!"

Local Mention

L. A. Whitaker left Tuesday for El Paso, where he will meet his parents, after which they will go to Roswell and spend Christmas with another of the sons.

Joe R. Adams, who is employed by the state in Santa Fe, was ill last week, but late advices are to the effect that he is gradually improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Benigno Gallegos and family are visiting relatives in the Manzano country during the holidays.

M. C. St. John and Joe Chavez were visitors at Capitan Monday afternoon.

J. H. Fulmer, Albert Snow and George Bolcourt were business visitors at Capitan Monday.

Abe Sanchez visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Sanchez, at Tularosa for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fortino Beltran and son Joe were here from Lincoln Saturday, visiting the Juan Beltran family.

Lucio Vidauri is home from Business College at Albuquerque to spend the holidays.

J. W. House, an employee of the S. P., has returned from San Francisco, where he was a patient in the company hospital.

A. B. Helms was a business visitor from Oscura the latter part of last week.

The Carrizozo Country Club again entertained the little folks on Christmas, following the usual custom, with L. A. Whitaker as Santa Claus. There were 300 bags of candy, nuts and fruit given away, besides 300 toys of various descriptions.

Bill Balow, progressive Cafe owner of Ancho, was a business visitor in town this Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Greer and children of the San Andres goat ranch in the Oscura mountains visited relatives here this Monday.

Word was received by Mrs. D. D. Tiffany and at this office concerning the grave danger of Ansel Swearingen's condition. He is in an Alamogordo hospital, where he is recuperating from the effects of a major operation. Ansel is improving, but is not out of danger.

R. M. Storey of Ancho was a business visitor in town last Saturday.

Rev. L. D. Jordan spent the week-end in the Ancho country.

F. L. Elliott is in receipt of news from Chenoa, Ill., to the effect that his nephew Robert E. Vaughn, Jr., won the supreme honor at the Chicago Livestock Feeding Contest on Dec. 1. Robert's prize-winner was a young steer, weighing 1250 pounds and rated at $1.05 per pound. The prize money was $285.00. The contest was participated in by many young men in the livestock industry from Wyoming, North Dakota and Nebraska. Mr. Elliott feels justly proud of his nephew's new honors, which were purely a reward of merit.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kelley and Mrs. M. G. Peckham and daughter Virginia Ruth left Monday for Albuquerque to visit relatives for the holiday period—the Kelleys with their daughter Ruth and Mrs. Peckham with her sister's family, the Ratzliffs.

The first copy of the new state weekly, the New Mexico Sentinel reached our desk the latter part of last week, somewhat belated, but gladly received. The paper is an eight-page tabloid, published by our esteemed friend, Cyrus McCormick and edited by H. B. Henning. It is ably edited, well arranged and will pay particular attention to doings of the state legislature, more especially. The Sentinel is purely Republican. The Outlook welcomes the advent of the new paper and glad in regard of the fact that it will speak out things of importance instead of hiding behind the bush to sharpen its ax.
