BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB

With a total attendance of 17, 15 regular members and two visitors, the Club held an important meeting and 6 o'clock dinner at the S. P. Hotel Wednesday evening.

Mr. Spencer, guest of Supr. J. M. Carpenter, gave an interesting account of an adventure he once had with an octopus, while deep-sea diving. He had been diving down to raise a sunken steamer, when an octopus came up from behind him, and soon had him entangled in its slimy arms. After a hard fight which lasted nearly thirty minutes, he finally killed it and brought it to the surface.

Jack O'Malley of Capitan was the guest of Attorney John M. Hall and made a short but interesting talk.

Mr. Paul Mayer was the club's speaker of the evening and gave a vivid history of old White Oaks, beginning with the first discovery of gold up to the present time. Mr. Mayer drew a picture of how the town thrived after the gold discovery; related many incidents connected with its prosperity, ending with a decline after the railroad came through Carrizozo. His talk was much appreciated by the club.

President McQuillen called for volunteers to attend a big road meeting at Tularosa last night and about 150 responded. Pres. McQuillen and Secretary Blaney occupied their chairs.

School Notes

Ruth Skinner is one of the best typists in the Carrizozo Hi School, with a score of 65 words per minute. She received a medal for accuracy and speed.

Mr. Spencer, a deep-sea diver, presented his diving equipment and captured octopus to the school Thursday morning. Such sights Ye Hi School students never saw before.

The Home Ec. Girls gave a Mother-Daughter Tea Thursday afternoon from 3 till 5. A large number of mothers were present. After looking over the garments the girls had made, refreshments were served.

The Carrizozo Track Team will go to a track meet in Capitan on the 15th. Carrizozo has high hopes of taking the cup again this year.

The Corona High School gave an assembly program Monday. They were on a good will tour. Earlier in the year Capitan came over on a similar tour. Miss Cole plans to take her musicians on a tour the first week in May.

Shaver—Williams

Wednesday evening at the Baptist parsonage with Rev. Vandiver performing the ceremony, Miss Nellie Shaver and E. W. Williams were united in marriage.

Not receiving this information until the eve of going to press, the particulars of the wedding will appear in our next issue.

"Souls at Sea"

The picture shown at the Lyric Theatre this week, sponsored by the Woman's Club for the benefit of the fund for the new Club Building, the Club realized the sum of $25.65. After all the expenses of the show were paid, Mr. and Mrs. Walker turned over the remaining sum as stated above.

The Village Election

Passed off quietly Tuesday, there being a total of 391 votes cast. The People's Ticket, which was the old Board which had served for the past two years, was again returned, the votes for each candidate being as follows:

Mayor: Richard 227 McQuillen 108 119
Majority
Trustees:
Rolland 308 Snow 104 204
Harkey 231 Roberts 125 106
Bigelow 218 Hoffman 142 74
Chavez 248 Vigil 127 121
Clerk: Lovelace 227 Cook 144 88

As will be seen by the above vote, Rolland led the People's ticket, while Tommy Cook led the Progressive ticket. The election passed off without any ill feeling resulting from the same, the losers congratulating the winners.

The old board in serving for one term, showed its interest in Carrizozo's welfare in many and various ways. During the term, they retired $2500 of our water bonds and at the present time they have another $1,000 in the bank which to retire more of the bonds. As far as they could go, they have oiled our principal streets, which furnishes convenience and pleasure to the driving public. They widened the intersection between Paden's Drug Store, Harvey's Service Station and the park and also straightened the death curve to the highway leading out of town to the south.

His Second Birthday

Last Sunday, April 3, Mrs. Phil Bright was hostess at a family birthday party and dinner in honor of her little son, Lewis Bright, who had just reached the second milestone on his life's journey. Aside from Mr. and Mrs. Bright, the attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burke, grandparents and Lewis Burke, uncle of the little honoree. A large birthday cake adorned the center of the dinner table with the inscription, "Happy Day" and mounted with two candles, which the young fellow blew out with two well-directed puffs.

A fire broke out in the alley across from the City Garage Tuesday, caused by some passer-by, carelessly throwing a lighted cigarette into a cluster of tumble weeds entangled in the wire fence. Mrs. Bright phoned the fire department, which responded at the call and in less time than it takes to tell it, the blaze was put out. The 300-gallon tank was put into use and was a demonstration of how quick a small fire can be extinguished.

W. J. Ayers and daughter Gertrude were here from their ranch near Oscura last Saturday. W. J. has retired from employment with the S. P., after many years of faithful service and has changed his postoffice address to Carrizozo instead of Three Rivers. This makes our old friends residents of our town and we welcome them to our borders.

Fireman Bart Holland was in town this Thursday on his regular run.

President McQuillen, Secretary Blaney and C. P. Huppertz of the Business Men's Club attended a road meeting at Tularosa last night.

Memory's Lane

A. L. B.

John and Charles Rohlender of Charlotte, N. C., were twin brothers and became separated when they were but 12 years of age. John, who always had a thirst for adventure, went west and was never heard from by his parents who died five years later. Charles traveled over a greater part of the country and at each place, made inquiries about John without success.

When the Spanish-American war broke out, the boys were 21. Charles went back to his old home and enlisted. All through his training at the camps, he often wondered what had become of John. Never being able to locate him, he was finally given up for dead. Now let us see what became of John Young though he was, he worked his way over to the west, northwest, into Canada and back again. He settled in Seattle, where he met with the favor of a gentleman, who assisted him in various ways. Being deeply religious, his benefactor had him educated as a minister of the Gospel. When the war came on, John, like many more of our ministers, enlisted and was sent to Manila. Charles was sent to the same service.

As it often happens, companies are for various reasons, disbanded and its members put into other companies and it so happened in John's case. On being transferred, he was put into the same company with his brother Charles, neither being aware of the other's presence. On the first Sunday morning, the services were conducted by John and this is what took place. Charles was in the second row of seats when the new minister stepped into the pulpit and after offering prayer, selected his text from the familiar passage of scripture, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" John had grown a huge moustache and his identity was unknown to Charles, until he told the story of his life. How he left home at an early age, how he neglected to write home and relieve his parents and especially his twin brother, whom he ardently loved.

He urged young men to profit by the mistakes he had made and added, "They may all be dead now as far as I know, but I hope I will be forgiven for my neglect." Just then, Charles jumped to his feet and exclaimed, "All are dead but your twin brother, and here he is, John." Let the reader picture to himself, the emotions which swept over that vast assemblage of young soldiers, when the twin brothers wept in each other's arms.

As a verification of the above story, Charles was in the writer's employ for several years after coming from the war and from him, the story was obtained. After the war John went to Vancouver, B. C., and Charley returned to the eastern states; they kept in close touch with one another through correspondence thereafter.

Lively vs. Dead Ball Is Riddle of 1938 Season

By GEORGE A. BARCLAY

DID the National league put itself out on a limb when it adopted the deader ball for the 1938 season...

That question will come in for plenty of attention from now until the end of the world series next October...

Government scientists have taken samples of each, shot them out of catapult-like machines and recorded their findings...

The real answer should be written in the world series. If the National league wins the event and reverses the trend...

Some critics have insisted that in voting for a change last December, the National league clubs had come to the conclusion that the ball the Yankees were pounding was too dangerous to continue in use...

If you are a devotee of strategic baseball, there isn't much argument about the ball being too lively. Strategic baseball—the sacrifice, base stealing, moving the infield in to cut off a run at the plate, the squeeze play, etc.—hasn't been played seriously since Babe Ruth made the fans home run conscious some years ago in the American league, particularly, the game has been a hitter's market...

Harridge Doubts

Mr. Will Harridge, president of the American league, has some honest doubts about what happens when you begin tinkering with baseball.

"When you change the ball it's hard to tell what results you'll get," he says. "For instance, we had three experts appear at a meeting of the board of directors of the league to explain how they might deaden the ball a trifle..."

"If the experts who make the ball differ like that, how could we know what the results of changing the ball would be? It's an experiment and there won't be an answer until a full season's trial has been made."

The consensus of opinion among baseball men is that if there is any vast amount of difference between the dead and lively ball, the former won't bother the players who have the eyes and the power to knock one over the wall.

If the dead ball assists the pitchers in improving their performance, the only fellows who will really be hurt are those who really aren't first class batsmen. The bargain home run is something that should not belong in major league baseball.

The difficulty in distinguishing the difference between the dead and lively ball was illustrated by what happened at the Chicago Cubs training camp this spring. In the early days of the camp, left-over balls of the 1937 vintage were used first. Then the 1938 models were brought out. Somehow the two vintages became mixed. All the oldtime players, coaches and newspaper men went into a huddle. But they couldn't tell one ball from the other either by sight or touch.

Baseball Miracle?

TAKE it from Joe Cronin who is something of a baseball student and in this instance sits in a neutral corner, the Chicago White Sox and the Washington Senators have actually accomplished a baseball miracle in their swap of first basemen—Zeke Bonura for Joe Kuhel. They consummated a trade in which both sides win.

It might appear at first glance that Clark Griffith, the "old fox" of the Senators, had handed Jimmy Dykes of the Sox a cold deck, when he lured him into handing over a .345 hitter for

Zeke Bonura

Jimmy Dykes

Here's how he explains it: "Kuhel will bat better than .300 for the Sox. He should drive in a lot of runs and be the best fielding first baseman seen around Comiskey park for a decade. Here's why. Kuhel will escape from many of the left-handed pitchers who have been handcuffing him at the plate."

"He is a left-handed hitter, like five other Washington regulars, who has had to face as many southpaws as the opposition could muster. With the White Sox, Kuhel joins a team that has six right-handed hitters. So he will do most of his hitting against right-handed pitchers."

"Bonura's case is exactly opposite. Zeke, a power-house right-hander, will be among a flock of left-handed hitters with Washington. He'll go to bat frequently against southpaw pitchers, which should help him, too. All things considered, it's one of the smartest inside baseball deals in years."

Some critics have insisted that in voting for a change last December, the National league clubs had come to the conclusion that the ball the Yankees were pounding was too dangerous to continue in use.

If you are a devotee of strategic baseball, there isn't much argument about the ball being too lively. Strategic baseball—the sacrifice, base stealing, moving the infield in to cut off a run at the plate, the squeeze play, etc.—hasn't been played seriously since Babe Ruth made the fans home run conscious some years ago in the American league, particularly, the game has been a hitter's market. Teams play for the big inning and a rally that will win. When a man gets on first base he doesn't try to steal. He waits for his mates to drive him home with their bats.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted By WILLIAM BRUCKART

Washington.—To have a clear understanding of the discussion that is to follow, I think I must first find a definition of the word "contumacy." It ought to be properly and officially defined because it is going to be a very important word in this country. So, I read from the dictionary here on my desk the following definition:

CONTEMPTUOUS, contemptuous disregard of authority; insolent disregard of authority; incorrigible obstinacy.

Next, it should be set down that there are—rather, there were two men with the surname of Morgan as officials of the Tennessee Valley authority before President Roosevelt removed one of them from office for contumacy. The fact that there were two Morgans must be remembered because each one figures prominently in a continuing controversy and for the reason that neither one of the Morgans is connected with "the House of Morgan" to which so many demagogues refer when they talk about economic royalists.

In the third place, we should know something about David E. Lillenthal, who, like the two Morgans, also was a director of the TVA. Mr. Lillenthal continues to be a director, as does Harcourt Morgan. The Morgan who no longer has official connection with TVA, according to President Roosevelt, is Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, founder of the famous Antioch college at Yellow Springs, Ohio. Arthur Morgan was removed as chairman of the TVA because the President said he was guilty of "contumacy," and Harcourt Morgan was made chairman.

The removal took place by executive order after Mr. Roosevelt had personally held three hearings for the purpose, he said, of determining who was wrong in an old-fashioned cat and dog fight that has been going for months among the three directors of TVA. Arthur Morgan had made accusations against the other two directors, charges of a libelous nature, charges of dishonesty—in short, charges that the other two directors were guilty of enough things to cause their removal from office. Arthur Morgan had openly urged a congressional investigation of the TVA as well, and when Mr. Roosevelt made his own investigation and Arthur Morgan refused to offer one iota of evidence to support his previous charges, he was guilty of contumacy and the Chief Executive removed, or just plain fired, him.

And so, we come to another phase. In urging a congressional investigation, Arthur Morgan followed what he thought was the proper course. He held that the TVA was a creature of congress which placed in its law, its legal charter, that none of the directors could be removed unless on charges that they had played political favorites in TVA appointments. He thought that the White House investigation was a means of checking a congressional investigation which had been so vigorously opposed by Senator Norris of Nebraska, father of the TVA and Roosevelt supporter. That is to say, Chairman Morgan didn't believe President Roosevelt had any authority to call in the three directors and there, in the presence of all, compel the chairman to substantiate his charges. So he stood pat. But Mr. Roosevelt believed he did have authority and he used it. He removed Arthur Morgan and promoted Harcourt Morgan to the TVA chairmanship.

Well, there had been a lot of hemming and hawing around the senate over the general TVA investigation proposed by the fighting young Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who was joined in the battle by Sen. William H. King of Utah. Senator Norris succeeded in stalling the investigation for quite awhile. But after the White House investigation which Senator Bridges contemptuously referred to as a "comic opera trial," things began to happen in the house of representatives as well as in the senate and so now there is scheduled an investigation in which house and senate will join an inquiry that will go into every phase of TVA to see what makes it tick.

There can be no doubt at all that instead of satisfying the country, especially congress, as to the merits of the TVA row, the White House investigation had the effect of bringing about a far-reaching investigation in congress. Many bitter words have been uttered about the White House course in firing Arthur Morgan, observations that Mr. Roosevelt had "railroaded" the chairman out of the TVA job; assertions that it constituted an American version of the famed French "Dreyfus case," assertions that "contumacy is a crime only where dictators operate," etc. Try as they may now, the public ownership advocates, socialists and others who believe in the state owning everything, are due to have the varnish removed from

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for April 10, FINDING OURSELVES IN SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-35. GOLDEN TEXT—"What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"—Mark 8:36.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Peter Found Out. JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter's Right Answer. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making Life Count Through Service. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Finding the Richest Life Through Service.

"Finding ourselves" seems like a singular, almost self-contradictory expression, but it refers to a sound principle recognized by psychologists as well as spiritual leaders. As a matter of fact, modern psychology has begun to recognize and use spiritual laws and principles which alone bring about human happiness and efficiency.

A word of warning—let no one who studies this lesson fall into the serious error of thinking that some formal religious service will bring redemption and favor with God. We are saved by grace through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ—"not of works, lest any man should boast." It is then by the new birth that we are "created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them" (Eph. 2:8-10).

It is the Christian who needs to "find himself in service." Only as he thus yields to Christ does he really find the life worth living. The words of Jesus in verse 35 are solemnly and gloriously true.

I. Clear Confession (vv. 27-30).

Even those who deny to our Christ the recognition of His deity, and the devotion of life which is His just due, must, if they are at all intelligent, admit that no man ever lived who has made such an impact on human history. Even in the days of His life on earth those who did not accept Him as Christ regarded Him as the resurrected form of one of the nation's greatest leaders. Now unbelieving men speak of Him as the great founder of Christianity, a mighty leader, a wonderful example, or an unequalled teacher.

It is not enough that we stand with the mass of humanity who may thus admire Him, but who do not count Him as Saviour and Lord. The question comes to us as it did to the disciples: "Whom say ye that I am?" "Thou art the Christ"—this alone suffices as the foundation for Christian testimony and conduct.

II. Corrected Error (vv. 31-33).

Although Jesus was not yet ready to have His Messiahship proclaimed to the public, He was prepared to teach His disciples concerning not only that important truth, but of His rejection and death. "He began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer . . . be rejected . . . killed and . . . rise again."

Note the divine "must." While it is true that wicked men showed their hostility toward our God and His Christ by hanging Him on Calvary's cross, yet it was to die for our sins that He came into the world. The cross has rightly come to represent God's love to the world rather than man's hostility to God.

Error now asserts itself, and strangely enough it is the very one who had the clearest grasp of the truth regarding the Messiahship of Christ and boldly expressed it who now objects to the revelation of the coming death and resurrection of Christ, and lends his voice to rebuke the Master for speaking of it.

Satan hates the cross and the open grave. Jesus won the victory over him there. He did not want to hear of it before it took place and used impulsive Peter for a mouthpiece to object. He doesn't want to hear about it now and uses many a skillful and gifted preacher to speak against it. "The offense of the cross" (Gal. 5:11) has never ceased.

III. Consecrated Life and Service (vv. 34-38).

"Let him deny himself" (v. 34). That command we have construed to mean that we should perform little acts of self-denial, foregoing some comfort or pleasure, possibly for a few weeks. It does not mean that at all—but does mean the renouncing of self and self-will, and a complete yielding to God's will. Likewise, to take up one's cross does not mean to bear some of life's little disagreeable experiences; it means again to die to self and to live for Christ.

Careful attention should be given to the solemn questions asked and statements made in verses 35-37. These are not the reasonings of a man—they fall from the lips of the Son of God. What, He asks, will you give in exchange for your soul?

"A Free Ride to Doom"

By FLOYD GIBBONS. Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

I've seen a lot of articles lately, in newspapers and magazines, warning automobilists not to pick up strangers along the road. Well, sir, today I'm going to warn the strangers not to get too chummy with these doggone automobilists.

And I'm not more than half kidding about that, either, boys and girls. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways, and you can get in just as much of a jam picking up with some bird in a car as the bird in a car can by giving a lift to the guy with the wiggling thumb at the side of the road.

If you don't believe that, listen to the story of Ernest A. Kehr, of Richmond Hill, N. Y. Ernie took a ride one time, back in the summer of 1934, with a bird he'd never seen before—and that ride came darned close to being the last one Ernie ever took.

Picked Up by a Strange Motorist.

Ernie had been up in Calgary riding wild horses in the rodeo and was on his way home. He had hiked through Glacier National park and he was pretty tired, but he was pushing on as fast as he could because he had arranged to meet a friend at a small town in Montana and he didn't want to keep him waiting.

Valier was the name of the town and Ernie was within 15 miles of it when a man came along driving a brand-new car. The man pulled up beside Ernie and asked him if he wanted a ride. It didn't take much figuring on Ernie's part to decide that this was an easier mode of travel than the "Shanks mare" system he had been following. He climbed into the seat by the driver and they were off.

But Ernie had no more got into that buzz buggy than he began to have his doubts. There was something queer about the driver. He had seemed cordial enough when he had offered Ernie the ride, but there his good will seemed to have ended. When Ernie passed a casual remark, the fellow ignored it. He kept his eye on the road and the car seemed to be moving faster and faster with every foot they went.

They had gone quite a distance before Ernie discovered what the trouble was. His companion was well under the influence of liquor.

Fast Driving on a Dangerous Road.

That didn't look so good to Ernie. The fellow was driving faster than was safe, even with a sober man at the wheel. By this time he was hitting fifty on a road where a sane driver would not have gone more than thirty—a long, steep downgrade that ran along a sloping mountain ridge. The ground fell away on one side of them into a deep mountain gully and on the other side it rose straight up—a wall cut out of solid rock by the graders who had leveled the roadbed.

The small car bounced about perilously on the rough, uneven road, but that didn't seem to bother the man at the wheel. Instead of slowing down he fed the machine more gas. The needle of the speedometer climbed to sixty—then to seventy.

Ernie began to get nervous about that time. The car was roaring along now at a speed that almost upset it every time it came to a curve. It bounced about the surface of the road in a thoroughly alarming manner. Ernie kept his eye glued on the driver, watching his every move and ready to grasp the wheel in the event that he should lose control of the car. It seemed nothing short of a miracle to Ernie that it hadn't gone off the road or smashed into something long before.

Plunged Right Off the Mountain Side.

They had gone skidding around a curve on two wheels and had just come to a long, straight stretch. The road ahead looked smooth and in good condition, and for the first time during the ride Ernie felt comparatively safe. He drew in a deep breath and heaved a sigh of relief—let his eyes wander over the landscape for a second. And then it happened.

Says Ernie: "I had no sooner taken my eyes from the man than I saw the car leave the hard road and go off onto a soft shoulder. At the speed we were making, that shoulder was fatal. The sudden change of surface swerved the wheels of the car and over the side of the mountain we went, the car turning over in the air as it left the ground." The earth seemed to spin about in a dizzy circle for a few seconds and then we crashed to the slope at the bottom of a sheer drop of 40 feet.

"We hit the slope with a crash—so hard that the motor of the car is knocked right off the chassis and buried itself in the ground where we struck. But the rest of the car, with both of us in it, continued to roll down the slope at a terrific speed. It rolled over six or eight times and finally crashed into a rock with such force that I went sailing 50 feet through the air. After that I lost consciousness."

A 40-foot drop, six turns in a tumbling car and a 50-foot fall through the air! The driver was dead when they found him, and Ernie—well, he got a bump on the head, three busted teeth—and that's all. And he's still wondering if he's really as tough as those figures would seem to indicate.

A Classic Example

The Hermitage, beautiful and historic home of Andrew Jackson, lies only a few minutes from the heart of Nashville, Tenn. The building is a classic example of the best architecture of its day and is preserved in every detail almost precisely as it was when Old Hickory passed away. The site of The Hermitage presents a scene of sylvan loveliness and quietude reminiscent of days gone by. The home contains relics and mementos of Jackson's tempestuously busy and aggressive life. The rooms are furnished with the places which Jackson and his family actually used, and the grand stairway in the lower hall tanks as one of the most beautiful.

Roman Emperor's Advice

Begin the morning by saying to thyself, I shall meet with the busy-body, the ungrateful, arrogant, deceitful, envious, unsocial. All these things happen to them by reason of their ignorance of what is good and evil. But I, who have seen the nature of the good that is beautiful, and of the bad that is ugly, and the nature of him who does wrong, that it is akin to me, not only of the same blood or seed, but that it participates in the same intelligence and the same portion of the divinity, I can neither be injured by any of them, nor can I be angry with my kinsman, nor hate him.—Marcus Aurelius.

The Romance Languages

The Romance languages, which are Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, French and Rumanian, are described as "romance," from the Old French word, "romanz," meaning translated from Latin.

Doctor of Divinity

The degree of doctor of divinity is usually an earned degree. There is no general regulation, however, to confer a university from bestowing such an honorary degree should it so decide.

Catarrhal Deafness

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

WHEN a patient hard of hearing has submitted to months of treatment, perhaps to operation, and finally has settled down to get what comfort possible by wearing some form of hearing aid, and then hears of some further method of restoring hearing, he may do one of two things—(a) grasp for it as a drowning man will grasp for a straw, or (b) make up his mind that no method can help him in his present condition.

I believe, therefore, that I should again record the results obtained by Dr. F. W. O'Brien, Boston, as recorded in the magazine, Radiology.

Dr. O'Brien reports that from 1929 to 1935 he treated 140 patients with catarrhal deafness and head noises by the X-ray. Of this number 73 were helped, 65 were not improved, and 2 were made worse.

Of the improved group 67 had nine treatments to each ear, and six received only eight treatments; nine treatments was considered the correct number to give. The exposures to the X-rays lasted five minutes and were given once a week for nine weeks.

Really Were Cured.

No patient had been followed less than a year, the majority for more than three years, and some as long as five years. The part of the head put under the X-ray extended from the top of the nose to the lower tip of the bone behind the ear. This means that the whole hearing structure—nose throat (with little tube carrying air up to inner side of ear drum), the spongy tissue behind the ear, the middle ear containing the little bones running from drum to the hearing nerve, and the hearing nerve itself—were all put under the direct effects of the X-rays.

Dr. O'Brien makes no attempt to explain how the X-ray treatments bring about improvement in cases of chronic or old cases of catarrhal deafness.

The points to remember are that all these cases were due to a catarrhal condition, all of them were old cases, and all those that had been improved had been followed for from one to seven years after the X-ray treatments had been given, so the cures were really cures.

Dry Diet in Epilepsy.

During the search for the cause of epilepsy (a search that is still going on), one research worker starved ten epileptics for a number of days during which time not one of them had an attack. As some of them were accustomed to having a number of attacks every day, it was thus definitely proven that foods had something to do with causing the attacks of epilepsy.

Other research workers then found that by cutting down on the starch foods and increasing the fats the attacks could be prevented or were less severe.

That too much water in the body, especially in the brain and the spinal cord, was a factor in causing epileptic attacks, was later demonstrated.

The result today is that in a large number of cases a special diet which cuts down on the water and starch foods and increases the fats, enables the patient to keep free of attacks. There are, of course, a great number who in addition to following this special diet must also use a tablet or phenobarbital or luminal daily.

It would seem that just as diabetes is caused by a lack of insulin in the pancreas, so epilepsy is caused by a lack of something from some gland or organ in the body. And just as diabetes can be controlled by the addition of extra insulin daily, so can epilepsy be controlled by increasing the fats and cutting down on liquids and starch foods.

First Austrian Railway

The first Austrian railway, proposed by Franz Riepl, was to run 300 miles from Vienna to Bochnia (now in Poland). Many difficulties arose, but finally the emperor consented. The locomotive, and carriages for the first train, the "Austria," were ordered from an English firm and shipped by sea to Trieste. A British engine driver went with the locomotive to drive it on its maiden trip, November 13, 1837. The Austrians were impressed by the engine driver, who wore a frock coat, top hat and white gloves. Only eight miles of the railroad had been completed, from Floridsdorf, a Vienna suburb, to Wagram, and the entire route was lined with curious sightseers despite bad weather. As the little train roared past, every one cheered loudly. It made the eight-mile run in twenty-one minutes, rested a quarter of an hour, then chugged back.

HOW to SEW

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

Slide Fasteners for Slip Covers

IF YOU have slip covers made by an interior decorator and you go in for such niceties as slide fasteners or welted or piped seams—the bill goes up and up. If you make the covers yourself all these "extras" amount to very little either in time or money. In fact slide fasteners require less time than a closing with snaps.

Plan the closings for a slip cover during the final fitting when the seams have been basted but not stitched. Sometimes one short placket is all that is needed. Again openings must be left at several points so that the cover will slip on easily.

To apply a slide fastener to a seam placket, turn the slip cover inside out and crease the seam open. Cut a facing strip 1/4 inches wide and 1 inch longer than the opening. Join the facing strip to the back edge of the opening as shown at A. Slash the front of the seam edge 1/4 inch above the top of the opening and crease it over the back facing as shown at B. When the edges of the opening have been prepared in this way, press the edge creases with a hot iron. Next, baste and stitch the fastener in place as at C sewing close to the metal. The matching cording foot is useful for this purpose. Do not trim away the tape at the ends of the fastener. Whip the upper ends down as at D, and cover the lower ones with the hem as at E.

NOTE: If you are making new slip covers or curtains or doing other Spring sewing you will want a copy of Mrs. Spears' book SEWING for the Home Decorator. Forty-eight pages of illustrated directions for making curtains—of every type of room; dressing tables; lampshades, and numerous other articles used daily in the home. Send name and address, enclosing 25 cents (coin preferred) to Mrs. Spears, 211 So. Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill.

Law Books and Jails Full

Too many people think that human nature can be changed by "Be It Enacted."

A youngster engaged in ruining his life is seldom open to reason. No fool like a young fool.

What persons desire who don't understand how to make or keep money is a big fortune that somebody else looks after. They want the money, but not the bother.

Usually Classified as Blue

It is better to find that a man has "feet of clay" instead of a head of that material.

Why shouldn't men talk shop; shop is what they live by.

The culture that a wife can spread on her husband who has no taste for it is usually a very thin veneer.

Strange Facts

Cat-Tails Served as Asparagus

YOU can eat the fuzzy cat-tail you have seen so often in marshy places. The Iroquois Indians used the root of the cat-tail plant to make flour. The root is starchy and the Indians dried it and made a flour that is similar to flour made from corn or rice. Cat-tail flour was one of the substitutes the Germans learned to use during the World war. The American Indians also used the root to make syrup. It is the tender shoots of the plant that Cossacks enjoy and it is this part of the plant that is sometimes served in England under the name Cossack asparagus.

The fibrous leaves of the cat-tail plant have often been used to make mats and chair seats. The flower is converted into a substitute for cotton or silk and is made into a filling for upholstery. In this form the flower was used as a dressing for wounds in the World war. The ancient people of India dried the cat-tails and used them as torches. In some places where palm leaves are not easily obtained the cat-tail leaves are used on Palm Sunday instead of palms.

The leaves of the cat-tail are grasslike, growing in double rows on the reed stalk and the flower of the plant is the tall which grows at the top of the stalk. The tail is not a single flower but is made up of thousands of little flowers. The familiar fuzzy surface is due to fine down which grows on each flower.

ELECTION ECHOES:

We congratulate Mayor Frank Richard and his Board of Trustees on the victory at the Municipal Election held Apr. 5.

To Hon. G. T. McQuillen and his ticket: Someone had to lose. — Think of all the grief you've been spared, gentlemen. As we said last week in this column, "There's millions in it." (?)

A man was seen at the Community Hall on election day, pulling a new stunt—he crawled under the curtains to cast his vote — Believe it or not.

John Doe was showing a lady how to vote in this municipal election, held Apr. 5. He thought he had explained the matter clearly. She returned from the polling place, and said to John, "I crossed off all the ones I didn't want in office."

SPRING SONG

A million stars in a velvet sky
Looked on as the moon stood still
To light the way for a vagrant breeze

As it crossed my window sill,
It carried the meadow's grassy scent;

It was moist with the river's spray,
And told of a painted western sky

That had clothed the dying day,
Then it wondered on to join the wind

And sing to another ear
The song of joy and happiness
In the spring of another year.
