Among the letters received at this office this week was one from Leon D. Smith, printer, who left here last week and is now at his old home in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Mrs. Lola S. Medina and daughter, Mrs. Isaac Marquez arrived here Tuesday evening from Tucuman, upon receipt of word that Mrs. Medina's sister, Mrs. Leonor Peralta, had passed away that morning at her home in Capitan, particulars of which, will appear in this paper next week.

Attend the Grand Opening Dance at the Miller Pavilion Saturday night, July 29. A 10-piece name orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. A $5.00 Prize will be given for the new name of the pavilion.

Ernie Prehm is sporting a new LaSalle De Luxe car.

12 members and one visitor composed the attendants at the Carrizozo Business Men's Club Wednesday evening at the S. P. Hotel. Dr. R. E. Blasey gave the high-lights on the work going on Highway 54.

Joint Installation

A delegation of OddFellows of the local lodge journeyed to Alamogordo last Saturday night and attended a joint installation of officers of the two lodges.

The officers were installed by District Deputy Grand Master Herman E. Kelt, with assistants selected from both lodges. After the installation, the Alamogordo brethren served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Following refreshments, a nine inning game of indoor baseball was played by two picked teams. Members who attended from here were: Messrs. Kelt, Carl, Tom, Langston, Burke Sr., Jones, Welsh, Burke Jr., Dorsett, Rutledge, Barnes, Kent.

Reynolds - Wolf

At the parsonage of the local Baptist Church Thursday evening with Rev. Cochran performing the ceremony, Mrs. Sallie Mae Reynolds of Carrizozo and Irl R. Wolf of Roswell were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCumant of Corona and for the past year she has been conducting a Beauty Parlor in Carrizozo.

The groom is a farmer, stock raiser and commission man of Roswell. He has a large farm three miles from Roswell. Mrs. Wolf will remain here for several weeks in order to dispose of her supplies and equipment, after which they will be at home to their friends on the farm at Roswell.

Mrs. Helen T. Walsh of Waukon, Iowa, is visiting her sisters, Mesdames Chloe Fisher and Grace Comrey of Capitan.

Mrs. John W. Rowe, daughter Martha, two sons, John, Jr. and Joseph of Los Angeles, and Mrs. G. L. Rogers, two sons, Harris and Richard of Hobbs, N. M., were guests at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ed Harris for the past week.

Mrs. W. H. Peterson and daughter Deloris of the S. P. Hotel arrived home last Friday from California, where they visited relatives, friends and also attended the big San Francisco Exposition.

Mrs. W. G. Norman spent a few days of last week in Tucuman with Mr. Norman, who is firing between that end of the division and Carrizozo.

Mrs. Ben S. Burns entertained at a card party and tea at the S. P. Hotel yesterday afternoon. Guests numbered twelve.

Theodore Hobbie of Gladstone, New Jersey and friend, Edward Zimmerman of the same city, are here this week and will return to the east leaving here tomorrow. During their stay in the southwest, they visited all places of interest chief among which was the Carlebad Cavern.

Mrs. Nellie Reilly left the latter part of last week for Pecos, N. M., where she is visiting her brother Seaborn Gray and family. She was accompanied to Pecos by Misses S. G. Allen and Esther Reilly of El Paso, who have been sojourning at Eagle Creek for the past two weeks.

Richard Shumate of El Paso is a guest of his friends Otto and Ernie Prehm for the week-end.

MEMORY'S LANE

A. L. Burke

The picture, "A Christmas Carol," shown at the Lyric Theatre, brings to the mind of the writer a similar case which happened in Atchison, Kansas, in the year of 1888. Old Dr. Tice, a character very much like old Scrooge, owned and rented many small houses or rather huts, in various portions of the city. His tenants were of course, the poorest type of humanity from whom he made collections each week. If they failed to pay on demand they were thrown out, no matter how severe the weather might have been.

A certain day for collection fell on December 24, just the day before Christmas, but he made his call just the same. The tenants begged old Dr. Tice to allow them to go over until the following week in order to have their meagre amounts for Christmas cheer for the children, but persisted in his devilish designs. One man, after repeated efforts to induce the old miser to come grant his request, offered him a part of the rent, but he refused it and had his belongings set out on the street disregarding the fact that the man's wife was very ill. Others who refused to pay were also thrown out with the temperature hovering far below the zero point. The lady who was ill died from exposure before the charity organization could get her away to warmth and medical care. The husband called on the old miser and said: "The day will come when you will freeze to death as a reward for your deviltry."

Before the winter was over old Dr. Tice was found dead in his hotel and examination showed that he had actually frozen to death. The difference between the picture, "A Christmas Carol" and the above story is, that old Scrooge had time in which he could make amends for his wrongs, but in the case of old Doc Tice, he missed that opportunity. In the case of old Scrooge, he had a chance to spend some at least of the money he had hoarded and with its use, helped to relieve suffering humanity, but in old Doc's case, he hugged his gold like the old miser in "Chimes of Normandy" and died without being in the least measure a benefit to humanity, thus proving that he who would make gold his God, shall perish with it.

Victory Parade of A. E. F. 'Corps d' Elite' in Paris Twenty Years Ago Recalls Grand Review Of the 'Boys in Blue' in Washington in 1865

THE "BIG PARADE" OF 1919—The A. E. F. Composite Regiment just before passing through the Arc de Triomphe, Place de l'Etoile, in Paris. (U. S. Army Signal Corps Photograph)

The "BIG PARADE" OF 1865—Union troops marching down Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington. (From the painting by James E. Taylor)

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

MOST Americans are familiar with the story of the "Grand Review" of the Union army which took place in Washington soon after the Civil war ended. But it is doubtful if many of them recall a similar "Victory Parade" which followed a more recent conflict even though it occurred only 20 years ago this month. One reason, of course, is that it was staged 3,000 miles away, in the capital of a foreign land. Therefore it was witnessed by only a few Americans, whereas 64 years earlier more than 100,000 of them had crowded the streets of the capital of their own country to cheer their victorious warriors.

The "Big Parade" of 1865, held in Washington on May 23 and 24, was the march of 170,000 veterans of the Army of the Potomac and 65,000 of the Army of the West, representatives of the total of nearly 3,000,000 men who had been called into service to save the nation from disunion.

The "Big Parade" of 1919, held in Paris on July 14—France's national holiday of Bastille day—was a march of only 3,200 American soldiers but they symbolized the armed might of more than 4,000,000 men whom Uncle Sam had mobilized to serve in the greatest war the world has ever known. And they were all picked men, these 3,200, for it was a composite regiment which was the "Corps d' Elite" of the A. E. F. The story of that regiment, unique in American military history, was told in a recent issue of the U. S. Army Recruiting News as follows:

On April 21, 1919, Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, then commanding the Third Army at Coblenz, Germany, issued the following instructions:

"The Commander-in-Chief will send to England about May 24 from Anstwyry, a Composite Regiment of Infantry consisting of 12 companies organized from the Third Army.

"This Regiment must consist of the best officers, noncommissioned officers and men of the Third Army. It will give exhibitions in England and possibly later in other countries.

"You will immediately organize in your Division two composite companies of Infantry . . . selecting the largest, most snappy and best looking officers and men for these two companies . . .

On May 10 the composite companies assembled at the Carnival grounds in Coblenz. The Third Army Composite Regiment was formally organized on May 18, 1919, the composite companies of the several Divisions being given regimental designations as follows:

Composite Co. from:	Designated:
1st Brigade, 1st Div.	Co. "A"
2nd Brigade, 1st Div.	Co. "B"
5th Brigade, 3rd Div.	Co. "C"
6th Brigade, 3rd Div.	Co. "D"
4th Brigade, 2nd Div.	Co. "E"
3rd Brigade, 2nd Div.	Co. "F"
9th Brigade, 5th Div.	Co. "G"
10th Brigade, 5th Div.	Co. "H"
7th Brigade, 4th Div.	Co. "I"
8th Brigade, 4th Div.	Co. "J"
11th Brigade, 6th Div.	Co. "K"
12th Brigade, 6th Div.	Co. "L"

Col. Conrad S. Babcock assumed command of the Composite Regiment on May 19, and the regiment began drilling and performed the usual camp duties at the Carnival grounds until June 15, when it entrained for Joinville-le-Pont on the outskirts of Paris.

Reviewed by Pershing. On the afternoon of June 22 the third battalion tendered a reception to Gen. John J. Pershing at the Pershing stadium, following which the regiment was reviewed and inspected by the president of France and General Pershing.

On July 4, at 6:30 a. m., the regiment embarked for Paris to parade in that city, forming in the historic Place de la Concorde and passing in review before the president of France and General Pershing.

On July 14 a provisional battalion embarked at four a. m. for Paris, forming on Boulevard Neully. The American column moved forward over the parade route, passing under the famous Arc de Triomphe and paying honors to the monument of the war dead in the Place de l'Etoile and to the president of France at the head of the Boulevard Champs Elysees.

The Composite regiment left Le Havre on July 16 and arrived at Southampton, England, that evening. On the afternoon of July 17 it arrived in London.

Inspected by Prince of Wales. The next morning the regiment formed in Hyde park and participated in a medal presentation ceremony, afterwards being inspected and reviewed by the prince of Wales and General Pershing.

Again the next morning the picked body of American soldiery formed in Hyde park for a parade past the saluting point at the Queen Victoria monument, the salute being received there by King George V in the reviewing stand.

On July 23 the Composite regiment entrained for Southampton, and sailed at six p. m. for Le Havre, arriving at the French port the following morning. Disembarking immediately upon arrival at Le Havre, the regiment entrained for its encampment at Joinville-le-Pont. On July 31, the regiment was reviewed by General Pershing, the last such review by the Commander-in-Chief, A. E. F., of the Composite regiment overseas.

Orders having been received for the regiment to move to Brest and prepare to sail for the United States, the command left Joinville-le-Pont on August 4 and detrained at Brest two days later. Until August 29 it engaged in drills and camp duties at Brest, embarking on the transport "Leviathan" on the twenty-ninth and sailing for the United States the next day.

Return to America.

The big steamship docked at Hoboken, N. J., on September 8, and the Composite regiment went into camp at Camp Mills on Long Island, N. Y. On September 10 the regiment paraded on Fifth avenue, New York city, as escort troops of honor to the general of the armies, John J. Pershing. Five days later it left Camp Mills and moved by rail to Washington, D. C., in which city it paraded with the "Fighting First" Division, A. E. F., on September 17. During the remainder of the month it was stationed at Camp Meade, Maryland, and was processed for demobilization, which was completed on September 30, 1919.

The "Grand Review" of May 23-24, 1865, was the idea of Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war in President Lincoln's and President Johnson's cabinet. To celebrate the end of the war and to give the people an opportunity to look upon the men who had saved the nation, he suggested that the Army of the Potomac and the Army of the West, then camped near Washington, be formally reviewed in the capital before being discharged from service and returned to their homes. Accordingly, Gen. U. S. Grant, commander-in-chief, issued an order for the review.

Public and private buildings in Washington were decorated for the occasion. Floating flags and draped bunting were everywhere and at prominent places along the line of march were erected triumphal arches covered with floral embellishments. In front of the White House four reviewing stands were built, decorated with regimental battle flags and flowers. The school children of the city, the girls dressed in white and the boys in black jackets and white trousers, were assembled on the terraces and balconies of the Capitol to sing patriotic songs as the soldiers passed.

Shortly before nine o'clock on the morning of May 23 a thrill of expectancy ran through the crowd as the magic word, "Here they come!" passed down the line. The blare of a trumpet, the roll of drums—and down the avenue came a little group of horsemen. At their head rode a bearded officer, on his shoulder straps two silver stars. It was Maj. Gen. George Meade, the victor of Gettysburg, who was leading the Army of the Potomac. Behind him clattered his mounted escort and then in solid rank on rank the men who had fought with Grant at Spotsylvania, at Cold Harbor, in the Wilderness, and at Petersburg, and the men who had divided their rations with the men in gray at Appomattox. Their uniforms were soiled and faded, for there had been no brushing up for this occasion. They marched in the garb in which they had fought.

General Meade lifted his sword in salute as he rode past the main reviewing stand in front of the White House. In it sat President Johnson and members of his cabinet. Grouped around them, in brilliant uniform, were the diplomats and envoys of foreign countries. On the President's left sat a stubby, bearded little man who had led this host to victory—Lieut. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant. Back of them stood distinguished officers of the army and navy—Halleck, Meigs, Hancock "the Superb" and Burnside "the Splendid but Unfortunate."

GEN. U. S. GRANT

Shortly before three o'clock that afternoon the first day of the parade had ended. It had taken the veterans of the war in the East more than six hours to pass the reviewing stand. On the morrow their brother veterans from the West would have their chance for the plaudits of the crowd. "Before daylight the fire companies of the city were out watering the streets for the splendid military display of General Sherman's army" reads a contemporary newspaper account of the second day of the review. "At nine o'clock General Sherman, heading the column, marched down Pennsylvania avenue amid the din of huzzas and congratulations and a hailstorm of bouquets and wreaths."

But if this review represented all the pomp and circumstance of war, there was a reflection of its horror and cruelty, too, in the march of Sherman's men. For along with them marched thousands of freed slaves, sheep, goats, pigs, cows and horses, which "Sherman's Bummers" had picked up along the way. In their ambulances and pack-trains were game-cocks, poultry, calves, jewelry and a miscellaneous collection of other articles, brought with them back from their campaign of devastation through the South. Perhaps the cheering crowds, looking upon these men in blue as the saviors of the nation, gave but little thought to the true meaning of that strange spectacle, nor realized the agony of defeat, or hunger, and of poverty for years to come for the people of their own blood which this part of the triumphal march represented.

Watering Flowers

IF WE would have the flowers of love blossom around us we must plentifully water them with the rain of appreciative words, and encourage them with the sunbeams of sympathy.

If the world is to find the richest treasures of genius and talent it must learn to have a sympathetic faith. Religion is not only the most powerful, but it is the most delicate of the influences that touch us; and that divine influence cannot thrive and increase within us, to warm and inspire the life, without it is nurtured by our sincere appreciation. The best things of life—love, peace, God—are "according to our faith."—Frank Crane.

IF YOU'RE looking for a graceful, sophisticated afternoon fashion in women's sizes, you will be delighted with 1763. Cut on true princess lines, it is beautifully slim and graceful. The shirred vestee and narrow roll collar give a pretty, soft, drossy touch, and it has the simplicity that you like in midsummer. For this, choose silk crepe, georgette or chiffon.

Dutch Made for Tots. Cool comfort and cuteness for tots is assured by 1763, a simple pattern including playsuit, pinafore and air-conditioned little bonnet. You can really make a whole summer-full of daytime clothes for your little girl, using this one easy design. It's so quick and easy to make. Gingham, linen, percale and seersucker are nice cottons to choose for this.

The Patterns. No. 1763 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires, with short sleeves, 4

Causes of Face on Moon
To the unaided eye dark areas appear on the surface of the moon which suggest various shapes to the fancy. This is due to the fact that the moon's surface consists of so-called mountains and craters, as well as plains. When the mountains of the moon are illuminated by a strong cross-light, as along the terminator at sunrise and sunset, they are thrown into sharp relief, and are clearly visible.

"Alright," Not Good Word
There is no such word as "alright" recognized in modern English usage. For a period during the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries before the invention of printing, the form "alright" was used to some extent by English writers, but the phrase "all right" had been previously preferred and it has been regarded as the correct form ever since.

The "Bugge Bible"
The "Bugge Bible" is an old edition, so called because in the Ninety-first Psalm where it says, "Thou shalt not be afraid for the terrors by night," the "Bugge Bible" reads: "Thou shalt not be afrayed for any bugges (our word 'bogy') by night."

RESULTS of the national ski tournament held recently on Mt. Hood, near Portland, Ore., demonstrate that skiing has at last gained its rightful place on the American sports program.

Prankish Monkeys Best Liked By Summertime Zoo Visitors

'Four-Handed' Folk Enjoy Attention From Onlookers

Prepared by National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.—WNU Service.

In captivity monkeys are always among the most popular of animals. This may be because the four-handed folk have something approximating a sense of humor, prankish and perverted though it often is.

Another reason for the popularity of monkeys is the fact that—like bears and elephants—they are interested in the public. Those superb snobs, the lion, tiger, and leopard, on the other hand, stare disdainfully past the visitor who snaps his fingers at them, says "Woof, woof," or uses baby talk.

Monkey nature calls for careful study, and is almost as baffling as human nature. Pick up a monkey, even a tame one, and he will probably bite you. But hold out your hand invitingly and very likely he will climb aboard.

The Egyptians worshipped some kinds, and mummified the huge gray-mantled Hamadryas baboon of the Sudan. The Hamadryas is a forbidding creature and exciting to look upon.

Every child seems to want a monkey. Recently a little mountain girl from Virginia who in all her life had seen no animals at all except the domestic ones on her father's hillside farm was guest in the National Zoological park at Washington.

Usually they have only one young at a time, the baby clinging tightly to its mother's fur as she runs or swings through the treetops. Sometimes they bear twins, and marmosets, low in the monkey scale, on rare occasions, have triplets.

Two Main Groups. The many families of monkeys, leaving out the great apes (gorilla, chimpanzee, orangutan, and gibbon) on one end of the line, and the lemurs, or half-monkeys, on the other, can be divided into two main groups: Those of the New world and those of the Old.

They have exactly the same number of teeth as has man, and these are sometimes highly developed into vicious weapons of offense and defense. Smallest and most primitive of the monkeys are the marmosets, about the size of squirrels, which inhabit the forests of nearly all of tropical America.

A group of excited youngsters and interested adults look on as an attendant offers a cigarette to a monkey at the National Zoological park, Washington, D. C.

Contrary to popular opinion, monkeys do not often have tuberculosis. Those that die are usually victims of pneumonia or intestinal troubles; also perhaps, of homesickness and the lack of certain foods obtainable only in their native haunts.

Numbering half a thousand kinds, monkeys occur on all the continents except Australia, though in Europe they are found only in Gibraltar and in North America only in Mexico and southward.

Usually monkeys live in family groups, sometimes few in number, but often they flock in tremendous tribes containing hundreds of individuals. Some kinds sleep in hollow trees, others in the open, perhaps curled up in a convenient tree crotch.

This picture shows two rare Tarsius monkeys believed to be the only ones ever imported into this country. This particular species must be fed every two hours and they must be kept in a temperature of 83 degrees if they are removed from their native habitat in the Philippine islands.

Blame Absurd Relief Policies For Widespread WPA Strikes

Misguided Effort to Force Government Into Greater Gifts To Them; Yell Radical Accusations When Soft Snap Is Ended; Honest Distribution-Congress' Aim.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART

WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—It is sometimes possible, I believe, to find an excuse for violent action on the part of a man who is hungry. Likewise, that individual's desperation may be explained when his children are near starvation.

Yet, there exists in this country today an extraordinarily large number of persons who seem to feel the government must bend its knees to them. They have lately taken the position—largely misguided by the lowest grade of leaders—that they can dictate to their government and their neighbors the terms upon which they will receive government relief.

To go back a bit for a review, the relief program enacted recently by congress for the year that is now starting specified that all WPA workers must put in 130 hours per month in order to get the maximum government relief. It was included by congress as a part of the law upon recommendation by WPA Commissioner F. C. Harrington, and no right thinking persons can find reason to disagree.

Congress Sought to Set Up An Honest Distribution

The rules that expired June 30 had made it possible for some workers to receive the maximum pay in as little as two weeks of work. Skilled workers were being paid wages that were equivalent to the rates in private employment in the area where they were. So, some workers stayed on the job two weeks and had their month's pay; others worked longer and were paid much less.

These things are in the law, this time. In previous years, congress had been unable to break the grip of the professional relievers, like Harry Hopkins and Aubrey Williams, and the rates of pay and conditions of work were determined largely by such men.

These things are in the law, this time. In previous years, congress had been unable to break the grip of the professional relievers, like Harry Hopkins and Aubrey Williams, and the rates of pay and conditions of work were determined largely by such men.

Strike Against Government Is What Confronts Country

The condition that confronts the country, therefore, is a strike against the national government, because the elected representatives of the people as a whole laid down the rules, this time.

does, against an employer; it is quite another thing for a union to be organized to perpetuate government charity and to use that union in a violent fashion as has been done in this instance.

And, speaking of unions, there are two of them—rival organizations—among WPA workers. There is the Workers Alliance of America and the Workers League of the United States. The first named is headed by David Lasser and the second by Lloyd Leith. I do not know the background of either man, where they came from or what their mission in life may be.

I wish that congress would dig into those two organizations and see how much these "leaders" are paid and find out where the money comes from. It is difficult for me to believe that either one of them or the several dozen "field men" and secretaries and others with titles are such lovers of humanity that they are not being well paid for their work.

Why Is a Union Necessary Among These Workers?

One might also inquire quite properly, I think, why it is necessary to have a union among these workers. I fail to see why they should spare any of the meager funds that the government gives them for living purposes to be used by union leaders. Those fellows cannot do anything to make congress change its mind.

While there never was a chance of congress amending the law and anyone with a grain of sense must recognize it, these self-appointed, self-anointed saviors of the WPA workers did succeed in calling something like 40,000 workers off of their jobs in various parts of the country. The result was that those workers lost just that much money.

It is to be noted, in passing, that conditions now are somewhat different than when the policies of the professional relievers were operative throughout the country. There were numerous instances, it will be recalled, when Hopkins and Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, advised that sit-down strikers should be fed off of relief funds. State relief directors and state charity leaders seem generally to have taken a different view of the current situation.

Seems There Are Some Very Stupid Local Labor Leaders

The national labor unions, like the American Federation of Labor and the Lewis organization, the C. I. O., came close to getting involved in this picture. I do not know whether the heads of those great unions were responsible for the general aloofness, but they were quick to explain that strikes by any of their member organizations in behalf of the WPA workers were "entirely local."

Notwithstanding the gloomy phases of the story told above, attention should be drawn the meanwhile to the healthy aspect that can be found upon examination of the circumstance. Consider the courage that congress showed in taking a position which admits the existence of certain parasitic elements. That is to say, congress has taken a positive step toward placing relief on a basis that will reduce waste, to some extent. It has made some gains in the direction of sweeping out a small part—very small, it is true—of the political influences that hitherto operated. And, more important than the rest, the congress over President Roosevelt's opposition, has acted to compel greater local responsibility for use of public money.

Oldsmobile

Retail sales for the month of June were 83 p. c. ahead of the same month last year with a total of 12,545 cars for the month compared to 6,860 a year ago.

Retail sales for the last ten days of June totaled 4,901 cars, representing a gain of 80 p. c. over the 2,729 cars sold in the same period in 1938.

For the first six months of 1939, Oldsmobile dealers have sold 73,848 cars, a gain of 52 p. c. over the 48,229 cars sold in the first six months a year ago.

In commenting on the sales figures, C. L. McCuen, general manager said: "We are highly pleased with the excellent sales record set by our dealers in the last 10 days of June. We look upon this as a definite indication that sales will exceed our expectations during the summer months. Our sales for the last 10 days of June exceeded the sales made during the last 10 days of May which points to a good summer selling season."

McCuen also reported a healthy used car condition among Oldsmobile dealers, with used car sales for the month of June more than 21 p. c. ahead of the same month last year.

—And R U Listenin'!
Little old town, good afternoon!

SAW-MILL SLABS Cut in one foot lengths; also Cedar Stove
Wood at the Burton Fuel Yard.

Work on all WPA projects in Minneapolis was suspended following a night of street rioting in which one man was killed and 20 persons injured, outgrowth of the city's WPA strike.

INDIAN JEWELRY

W P A Workers Ask Strikers' Return; Want Jobs Restored to Men who quit—Headline.

Washington—Col. F. G. Harrington, Works Projects Commissioner, reported Tuesday 32, 688 WPA workers had been dismissed for staying away from their jobs for more than five consecutive days in protest against the new relief law regulations.

We hope there won't be any trouble in Carrizozo?

HOLLYWOOD SLACKS

"I was one of the first to sign-up for the new Propane Gas. I think it will be a step in the right direction, that is progress," declared Postmaster H. E. Kelt.

A new line of Ladies' and Misses' Sandals in White also in delicate pastel shades. All sizes. Lowest prices. At the Burke Gift Shop.

Ventured a former Carrizozo resident: "You ask me how the old town looks to me at this time: Well, I'm here to tell you that I never saw such building going on in a town of this size as you have right here."

NEW THINGS

Arriving daily at the Burke
Gift Shop.

UNHAPPY FAMILY

President Roosevelt's Cabinet probably is the most unhappy family that ever assembled around a single table. F. D. R.
is on bad terms with at least half of his advisors, though he tries to conceal it. The atmosphere at their conferences is acid and icy.

The Roswell Daily Record says
—The old Court House at Lincoln will be dedicated soon as a national monument. As a matter of fact, the whole town of Lincoln should be a state monument. That is about all that is left now since the water supply was gathered in by the S. P.
railroad to be used for Carrizozo, its engines, and along the line as far north as Vaughn.

The Record deploras taking the water as detrimental to the prosperity of the Bonito Valley and adds "in fact it has just about put an end to the upper part of the valley."
