That's What Norris Thinks—Or Does He?

Senator Norris of Nebraska, who lays claim to being a Republican, but he is none other than a "dyed-in-the-wool" New Dealer, says about the President's attitude toward a third term. He says that the President does not seek a third term and would only accept the nomination if he should be drafted, or in case we were to get into war.

We, who have been in the habit of reading the news or hearing it over the radio, know all about it and it is useless for Mr. Norris to step into the limelight and tell us some things we already know.

If he should not seek a third term, why did he have balloons sent up for all aspirants for the nomination and have them all to burst except the one sent up for him? Why is he planning another "purge" trip over the country to see if he can unite the Democratic party—and why does it need uniting if it is so sound and loyal to him?

Norris says again, that the President is fearful lest the next Congress becomes Republican after the next election and his purging trip is to eliminate every aspirant to a seat in the House or Senate who is not, as he says, a thorough liberal and strictly in accord with his policies. His good friend, Guffey, is in grave danger of losing out in Pennsylvania, for he has even the state organization against him and the President is going there to "purge" the opposition to Guffey and as he thinks, straighten things out—or will he?

As to war, we all know that when in Canada, he made a pledge to that country to the effect that if it should ever get into trouble, he would come to its assistance. We also know that Great Britain's troubles are also Canada's troubles and if called on, there could be such a thing as the prevailing practice just now, that rulers have plunged their countries into "undeclared war" without the consent of the people, and that could be done here as well as elsewhere.

Viewing the situation as a whole, there are several different ways in which the President might secure a third term and ascend to the throne by battering down our cherished precedents.

Fredericksburg, Va., Colonial Home Of Washington's Mother and Sister, Will Live Again Its Historic Past

Kenmore, the home of Betty Washington Lewis, sister of George Washington, in Fredericksburg. It has been restored by a national organization of women and funds obtained from the annual observance of Garden Week in Virginia this year will be devoted to the restoration of its gardens.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., is to live again its colorful past during the week of April 22 to 27 and the center of attraction in the old Colonial town will be Kenmore, home of Betty Washington Lewis, sister of George Washington and wife of Fielding Lewis, gunmaker of the Revolution. April 22 to 27 is Garden Week in the Old Dominion and this year it has a special significance.

For the receipts from the observance will be devoted to the restoration of the Colonial garden at Kenmore, a spot that was dear to George Washington and that had the loving care of his mother, Mary Ball Washington. So, during that week Colonial costumes, worn by the ancestors of the Fredericksburg folk, will be taken out of old trunks and attics or borrowed from museums, to be worn again by the descendants of the men and women who lived there when LaFayette was entertained at a great Peace Ball at Rising Sun tavern after Washington's return from the war in 1783.

From ancient recipe books the women of Fredericksburg will resurrect the recipes made famous by Mary Ball Washington and others. Ginger breads, tea, Smithfield hams and a score of other delicacies of Colonial days will be cooked for the palates of visitors over the ancient fireplaces of Colonial times that abound in the city.

Gen. Hugh Mercer's ancient apothecary shop will also come to life again, and visitors may use its famous powdering room, or procure over its ancient counters the lavender and other herbs, as well as the potions and cordials that ancient apothecaries dispensed a hundred and fifty years ago.

Birthplace of Cincinnati Society. In Rising Sun tavern, where the Society of the Cincinnati was formed and where Virginia's earliest post office was located, the tavern keeper and the postmaster will preside over throngs from many states, while in the cottage of Mary, the mother of Washington, servants will cook and dispense free to visitors those things that Mary considered delicacies and for which her recipes are still used.

On the plantation of Kenmore Negroes will sing the spirituals of olden days for visitors, while Uncle Bachus will prepare meals in the kitchen building, and visitors will be treated to a Colonial reception during the evenings. Fredericksburg will receive its visitors in costume, not only at Kenmore, but at many other homes of Colonial date throughout the city.

Old Market square will come to life again, as it existed in the days when James Monroe, George Washington and Thomas Jefferson met here to smoke a pipe and discuss the affairs of the colony in Sukey Livingston's coffee shop, where over the door will be replaced its famous sign: "Come in, Gentlemen, sit at your ease, pay for what you call for and call for what you please."

Masonic fraternities are also preparing an exhibit in the lodge where George Washington was made a Mason, and where his portrait, by Stuart, hangs upon the wall. The Bible that he kissed in taking his obligations is still preserved.

Another attraction to visitors will be the little cottage on the corner of Charles and Lewis streets. For this was the home of Mary Ball Washington from March, 1775, until August, 1789.

The property once occupied the whole square with orchard and garden, kitchen and servants' quarters. It was bought by Washington in September, 1772, from Michael and Esther Robinson and was a part of the original Kenmore estate. The garden was separated from the Kenmore garden by a fence and gate and there was a box walk—a part of which is still standing.

At the outbreak of the Revolution Washington tried to induce his mother to move in town from her home on the Rappahannock, opposite Fredericksburg. But it was not until March, 1775, that she was persuaded.

It was here that she received the courier sent by General

MARY BALL WASHINGTON (From the disputed painting by Middleton)

Washington to tell her of the victory at Trenton. It was here Washington came after the Battle of Yorktown with the French and American officers, and she received him with thanksgiving after his absence of nearly seven years. It was here he came in December 1783. Fredericksburg gave the Peace ball in his honor, and it was at that time that he made his memorable reply to Mayor McWilliams in which he spoke of Fredericksburg as "the place of my growing infancy."

LaFayette's Tribute. It was here that Marquis de LaFayette came to pay his respects to her who was the mother of the greatest American. She received him in her garden, met all his fine phrases with dignity and gave him her blessing when he bade her good-by. He said, "I have seen the only Roman matron of my day."

It was here March 12, 1780, that Washington came to bid a sad farewell after he had received the notice that he had been elected President of the new nation. With prayers and tears Mary Washington and her son parted, knowing they would never meet again.

She died August 26, 1789. Town and country assembled to do honor at her burial. Her remains lie in a spot she herself selected on the Kenmore estate and a state-ly monument "erected by her countrywomen" marks her last resting place.

But for all such historic sites which Fredericksburg has, it will not be the only city in the Old Dominion to attract those who enjoy seeing places "where the past still lives." More than 80 historic homes and gardens throughout the state will be thrown open to visitors this year. Among them are eight homes in which once lived Virginians who became Presidents of the United States.

Home of the Lees.

Featured in the Garden week pilgrimage this year will be nine estates and shrines under foundation or other public ownership, where gardens or grounds have been restored by and at the expense of the Garden Club of Virginia. The principal one of these properties is Stratford, in Westmoreland county, where two signers of the Declaration of Independence and Gen. Robert Edward Lee were born.

Here the Garden Club of Virginia has completed the restoration of the Lee gardens at a cost of $50,000.

Another as important, but whose gardens are not as yet completely restored, although well under way, is the Thomas Jefferson garden at Monticello, near Charlottesville. The Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation has restored the house and many outbuildings and furnished with original Jefferson pieces this magnificent and distinctive mansion.

Last year the Garden Club of Virginia began the job of restoring the Jefferson gardens, from plans discovered only recently. The outlines of the garden were discovered by archeological investigations and will occupy the exact location that they did originally. Jefferson's gardens were distinctive, for only native trees, shrubs and plants were used.

Other properties for which the Garden Club of Virginia has done restoration include: the Victorian garden of the Manse, at Staunton, birthplace of T. Woodrow Wilson; the Mary Washington monument at Fredericksburg, over her grave; the Bruton church at Williamsburg, which will be the center of a celebration this year in honor of its complete restoration; the memorial garden at Lee chapel in Lexington; the groups of Wilton, famous Colonial restoration of historical organizations at Richmond; and the Rolfe property, in Surry county, the grounds of which were given by the Indian chief, Powhatan, to the son of his daughter, Pocahontas and Sir John Rolfe, in Colonial times.

Plantation Homes.

Other estates to be shown will include the famous James River plantation belt homes, extending for more than a hundred miles along the James. Most recent of these restorations is Berkeley, birthplace of President William Henry Harrison. Seven estates in various sections of Virginia, never before opened, are to be shown this year, including ancient Elsing Green on the Pamunkey, one of the most important of the Colonial Virginia manor houses, and owned by a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Twenty-one places in restored Williamsburg will be opened to the public. The great tobacco plantations of Southside Virginia form another group.

Piedmont Virginia is offering a group of boxwood gardens and famous old homes of unusual distinction, including the places of President James Madison, two James Monroe homes and two estates in which Thomas Jefferson spent his life. Two more other places of great interest, several of them nationally famous, are to be opened.

JUDGE DUDLEY S. VALENTINE

of the Los Angeles Superior court conducted an important trial recently—not in court, however, and the judge wore overalls instead of his judicial robes.

The issue at stake was whether or not he still retained his skill as a locomotive engineer. The scene was a movie location set, and the stars of "Torrid Zone" comprised the jury. It seems that years ago the judge was a railway engineer—and when he learned that an old-time locomotive would be run over its own private track on the movie location, the jurist accepted the invitation of the location manager—also a former engineer—to put the train through its paces.

With Pat O'Brien and Andy Devine in the cab, His Honor took the driver's seat, tugged the whistle cord and opened the throttle. He made the two-mile run in six minutes flat, cheered on by his two passengers.

If you liked "Topper" and "Topper Takes a Trip" you'll probably be delighted with "Turnabout," by the same author. Hal Roach is producing and directing it, and the cast is made up of people famous for their gift for smart, sophisticated comedy. It includes Carole Landis, Mary Astor, Veree Teasdale, Adolphe Menjou, William Gargan, Margaret Roach, John Hubbard, Donald Meek and Polly Ann Young.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has purchased the rights to "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and is planning to produce it in England, with Robert Donat in the dual starring role. Many years ago it was the horror picture of the year, with John Barrymore playing the lead so magnificently that he scared audiences almost into fits.

Los Angeles is noted as being one of the athletic centers of the country, but when One Munson (the "Belle Watling" of "Gone With the Wind," and the "Lorelei" of radio's "Big Town") landed out there she couldn't find any women to play squash with her. She is an avid squash fan, so she advertised in a newspaper for feminine partners, and received no replies. But One didn't let that stop her. She was determined to play squash—and play squash she does, with men. The Men's University Club in Hollywood has an ironclad rule—"No Women Allowed." She's an exception. She's admitted, to play squash—but on Sundays only.

ODDS AND ENDS—William Powell and Myrna Loy will next be costarred by Metro in "I Love You Again." When radio's "Screen Guild Theater" rings down its curtain the last of this month the motion picture relief fund will have added $70,000 to its treasury. Bing Crosby may spend this year's vacation in South America. Miriam Hopkins will appear opposite Melvyn Douglas in "Singapore" for Columbia.

Since his current program, "Musical Americans," took the air Raymond Paige has received thousands of letters from students requesting auditions and advice about careers. Paige's sponsor—Westinghouse—recently held auditions for a "Vocal Stock Company," and received enough applications to form hundreds of them.

In preparation for bringing Katharine Hepburn back to the screen in "The Philadelphia Story," Metro made a recording of a performance of the play. She has had a long and successful run in it, and it's one of her best roles. In the screen version Robert Taylor will have the male lead.

Edgar Bergen wasn't sorry to peck up Charlie McCarthy and go back home to Hollywood. During his recent series of broadcasts from New York the demand for tickets was overwhelming, and Bergen confessed to a friend that he didn't believe he'd ever dare come back—said he'd had to refuse tickets to so many people that he was afraid he'd alienated all his friends.

Paramount has announced a new picture, "Merchant Marine," with Fred MacMurray in the lead.

TEST FOR AN AUTO DRIVER

(New York plans to require applicants for auto drivers' licenses to pass a written test.)

In the following sentences check the clause which properly completes each sentence:

1. When the car ahead hesitates a second after the red light has turned to green, the proper thing to do is: (a) Turn purple; (b) give a terrific blast on the horn; (c) yell bloody murder; (d) show a little patience.

A sign "School Crossing" is placed in a road to indicate to drivers that (a) the community has a school; (b) that saloons are not allowed in the neighborhood; (c) some degree of caution is expected.

2. What's wrong with these sentences:

The automobilist came to a full stop to let a pedestrian cross safely and smilingly called out: "That's all right; fair is fair."

What America needs most is not more parking spaces, but smaller cars.

The lady driver, before stepping on the gas and turning abruptly from the curb into traffic, looked carefully around to see if it was a safe thing to do.

3. Define these types of drivers and state to what class you belong: The mutterer type. The glarer type. The starrer-downer type. The epithet tosser type.

4. State whether or not you ever heard of the law which requires that a driver hold out his hand before making a sudden turn.

9. What is considered a reasonable speed limit in China?

10. Don't you know what it is in this country, either?

AN IDEA!

Bill Hillman, European manager for Collier's, says that the removal of 12 statesmen and leaders would bring peace to Europe. In other words he sees the wrong people in the wrong spots. And this column is with him. Assuming it to be impossible to give the hook to Hitler, Stalin and Chamberlain just now, this department nominates for the other nine places of power the following men: George S. Kauffman, Al Smith, Mahatma Gandhi, Olsen and Johnson, Anthony Eden, Bugs Baer, and Walt Disney. Imagine such a group in complete charge of Europe for a week. . . everything would be settled peacefully, and with even Adolf, Joe and Neville joining in the laughter.

ALL DONE BY MIRRORS

"What? Fewer people out of jobs? Aburd," New Dealers jeer. "We never could confess to that. In an election year!"

"Huh? Idle rolls have been cut down?"

The G. O. P. says: "Phew! We wouldn't want that spread about."

"Would hurt our chances, too."

Men's hats this summer will reflect Rhett Butler influences, showing broad brims. But if you insist on making that battered and faded 1937 model do another summer you can just explain that it is a "Grapes-of-Wrath" model.

Neville Chamberlain says Hitler "missed the bus." It wasn't so much a miss. What he did was to take the Chastatous bus instead of the one that would carry him straight to work.

The Rescue of an Old Wicker Chair

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

THIS chair, now so smart in its safe, cover, button tufting and moss fringe trimming, barely escaped the trash burner. It had been such a comfortable chair that everyone hated to see it go. Sis said it was out-of-date and positively untidy. Someone suggested it might be covered. Mother said that wouldn't be a bad idea if it could be padded first! That gave Sis a brain wave. Why not tuff it? By pushing a long darning needle back and forth through the cover, padding and openings in the wicker? She had been wanting a tufted chair, so work began at once.

The sagging arm rest, magazine holder and frayed-out wicker around the legs were removed. The chair was padded and covered, as shown, and a new seat cushion was added. The tufting was done by sewing through tightly with heavy carpet thread; adding a button on each side of the stitch.

NOTE: Detailed directions for changing an old iron bed into the latest style are given in Mrs. Spears' Book No. 3; also how to make "The Rug That Grew Up With the Family." Thirty other fascinating ideas for Homemakers. If you want to use this idea, better clip it out now for back numbers cannot be supplied. Sportlight

of GRANTLAND RICE

I RAN across Oscar Vitt the other night and we stopped to talk about Bob Feller. Based on his natural ability, his gain in experience and the way he has been rounding into shape, everybody expects the Van Meter fireball pitcher to have a great year. So, I discovered, does Vitt.

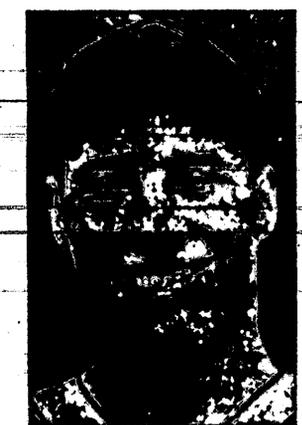

"He can't miss," the manager of the Indians said. "This will be his best year up to now—another Grantland Rice step on his way to being perhaps the greatest pitcher we have ever looked at."

"Let me tell you about this kid. You hear all about his fast ball and his curve ball—you'll find the ball players will talk more about his curve ball than his fast ball because that's what he strikes them out with in the clutch—but you don't hear much about how hard he works to improve himself. And that, if you ask me, is the greatest asset he has—or that any ball player has."

He Practices Bunting

"Here's one detail: I rounded all the pitchers up one day and talked to them about bunting. I don't mean fielding bunts. I mean doing the bunting themselves."

"When I send you up there to sacrifice," I said, "what do you do? Most of the time you bunt the ball right back to the pitcher for a force play or you pop the ball in the air. Anybody can learn to bunt if he'll only give a little time to it. And remember this: You're working for yourself when you're at the plate just as much as you are when you are in the box. You can help yourself—or you can wreck your ball game. Do you realize that by learning to bunt, so that you can move runners along when you're up there trying to sacrifice, you might win two more games a year? Two more games won might make a difference in your record for a season and might make a difference in the standing of the club."

"They all agreed with me. They had to, because I was right. But you know who has done most about it, don't you? Sure. You guessed it. Feller. He came to me after practice that day, when everybody else was heading for the club house, and asked me if I could get a couple of fellows to throw to him."

"Throw to you? I asked him. 'What do you want them to throw to you for?'"

"So I can practice bunting," he said.

"You bet your life I'll get somebody to throw to you," I said.

"I got a couple of strong-armed young fellows out to throw to him and he practiced bunting for an hour. He's been at it every day ever since. The other pitchers have been practicing, too. But not like this kid."

All He Had to Say

"You see, I told him if he could bunt, it might win five more ball games a year for him. That's all I had to say. He'd do anything to win two more games a year. He'd stand on his head in the box if he thought it would help him that much."

"It's the game way with pitching with men on the bases. That was his big weakness—but it isn't any more. They might steal on him once in a while, just like they will steal on any pitcher once in a while. But if they think they are going to run on him this year-like they used to, they're crazy. I hope some of them try it. He was a sucker for them once—but he's laying for them now."

"It's a great thing to see in a kid like that. The average kid breaking in as young as he did—why, I was looking at him the other day and thinking to myself he still looks like a baby—and getting all that publicity—the average kid would have got a swelled head and you wouldn't have been able to tell him anything. But this kid just hangs around waiting for you to tell him something or asking questions of me or some of the older players on the club—and he is a cinch to wind up as one of the greatest pitchers we ever had—maybe the greatest."

Dearth of Real Foes Ends Big Gates for Louis

By ROBERT McSHANE

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THOUGH the hue and cry to "break up the Yankees" seems to have diminished to a mere whisper, the active endeavor on the part of several second-rate pugilists to "break up Joe Louis" has sunk to even lower depths.

Joe refuses to be broken-up. In fact, he appears to be shatter-proof. At least he's impervious to the attack launched by pretenders to the heavyweight throne. It is true that some of them had no attack, others were paralyzed by fright and the rest relied on a divine providence to protect them from the black scourge. But that wasn't Joe's fault—he fought them as they came, drawing no line and refusing no bouts.

The Brown Bomber's last two fights clearly indicate his standing in heavyweight ranks. He is miles ahead of the field, from which no one brawler can be chosen as a serious threat. True enough, Arturo

FOELESS CHAMPION

Godoy managed to go the route, but in so doing he relied entirely upon a defense which was a weird combination of the bunny-hug and a reverse heel-and-toe. Joe couldn't knock him out—there wasn't enough room to get a fist between Arturo's chin and the canvas. His crowd seemed to defy all laws of gravity.

Frightened Warrior

The recent Johnny Paycheck fiasco was a black mark against Promoter Mike Jacobs. Shirley Temple could have offered more competition to the champ than did the semi-bald, 25-year-old Iowa lad, who lasted until 44 seconds after the start of the second round. Jacobs knows now that he was wrong in matching Paycheck against Louis. Paycheck was frozen with fear. He didn't throw a single punch worthy of the name. His only consolation was that the crescendo of boos was split three ways. Most of them were directed at him, but the rest were meant for Promoter Jacobs and Louis for having anything to do with the legalized robbery.

The gross gate of $42,481—smaller cash register total Louis has attracted since he won the title three years ago—proved one thing. The public no longer is interested in seeing Louis fight unless he is given a fit opponent.

That gives Mike Jacobs something to think about. Where can he find a fit opponent? He'll be forced to dig into boxing's bone yard and resurrect a former opponent or else take a chance on another unknown if Louis is to fight a September match. Of the two evils the former appears to be the less malignant.

Who's Next on List?

Shall the winner of the Tony Galento-Max Baer fight meet the champ? Remember that Baer quit to Louis, and that Galento, though courageous, is physically a travesty on the sport. Both of them were knocked out by Louis, so where is the interest in either again facing a superior foe?

Another Goddy match would be a financial washout. A contortionist doesn't draw sufficient box office for championship fights. Bob Foster has a better reputation as a bicycle rider than as a fighter, due entirely to his speed in keeping out of Louis' reach.

There isn't even a remote possibility of a "natural" fight in the near future. Any present-day brawler would be a punching-bag for Joe, and the public knows it, which makes the situation even more embarrassing. All in all, it's a problem that will tax Jacobs' ingenuity.

The question is in Mike Jacobs' lap. No one can answer it for him. The day of Louis' big purses seems to have passed. Lacking adequate compensation and the stimulus of serious rivalry, it would not be surprising if Louis decided to quit the ring.

Billy Conn, one of the more highly touted fistful performers, is advanced in many quarters as the coming white hope. But Conn is having difficulties in reaching heavyweight proportions. He's a light heavy, with small bones and a streamlined framework. Old-timers don't give him much of a chance.

The young Irishman always can topple big, slow-moving targets. Ring records are cluttered with the names of fast-moving light heavies who made short work of big bums. But Joe Louis is no bum, and he's as fast as a lightweight.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT

SEWING CIRCLE

1905-B

THE shirtwaister is always an excellent choice for those of you who want to look slimmer than the scales imply, and this one (1905-B) is designed to look especially slenderizing. The paneled skirt is slim-hipped and almost straight. The plain front of the bodice continues the line of the skirt panels, to give a lengthening effect. The shoulders are squared out, but not gathered, and the fullness under the shoulder yoke takes care of correct fit over the bust.

A smart double-collar effect finishes the deep v of the neckline.

Gems of Thought

IS NOT prayer a study of truth, a sally of the soul into the unfound infinite?—No man ever prayed heartily without learning something.—Emerson.

Now happiness consists in activity; such is the constitution of our nature; it is a running stream; and not a stagnant pool.—Good.

You cannot escape necessities; you can conquer them.—Seneca.

A heart that never hardens, a temper that never tires, and a touch that never hurts.—Charles Dickens.

Loyalty is the holiest good in the human heart.—Seneca.

—and you can wear the dress merely with its self collar, if you like. A classic style like this makes up nicely in such street materials as spun rayon or flat crepe, and in linen or chambray to wear around the house. It's one of those comfortable patterns that you'll repeat many times.

Barbara-Bell-Pattern No. 1905-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; 1/2 yard contrasting. Send order to:

Record Doctor Bill

The largest fee ever paid to a doctor was received by the English physician Dunsdale from Queen Catherine II of Russia. He had been called in to vaccinate her, and for his services she paid him $450,000, plus $9,000 traveling expenses. In addition, he received a portrait of his royal patient, a peerage, and a life pension of $2,250 per annum.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Geraniums like a fairly heavy soil and must be potbound to flower well. They will invariably refuse to bloom if kept in a large pot.

Never salt fresh meats when frying. Salt tends to extract the juices and hardens these meats.

Before polishing furniture, first go over it with a piece of cheesecloth wrung out of hot water, then apply polish. This gives excellent results.

The cut surface of a lemon will remove marks made by matches on painted walls.

Fish, when being fried, should never be allowed to soak in fat. The fat should be perfectly hot when the fish is put in and kept at the same temperature while it is frying.

Expensive Checking

With the aid of microscopes, microtomes, chemicals and special lights, a New York scientist who specializes in the detection of frauds in furs has discovered several counterfeit coats that have been passed as genuine by other fur experts. He can identify the species of animal, the part of the world in which it lived and the season when it was killed by magnifying to 800 diameters one of its hairs and a piece of its skin about the size of a pinhead.

The telephone numbers used in stage plays, movie scenarios and radio scripts are fictitious and cannot be called. They are given to writers by the telephone companies to prevent curious callers from annoying subscribers.

Complete, detailed audits of the books and other records of companies with extensive branches are rarely ever undertaken, because of the work and expense. For example one recent examination of a large corporation's accounts, although it was far from thorough, cost nearly $300,000.—Collier's.

FOREST FIRES

One of the main functions of the Forest Service is the prevention and suppression of fires. If this were left up to the ranger and a few hired guards entirely, it would be a rather uphill proposition. Certain key men are appointed Per Diem Guards each year. These men are interested in preventing fires, are able to recruit a crew of firefighters on short notice and act as foreman of that crew in fighting fire.

This year's key men are: C. L. Peetles, Dick Bingham, Alto; C. E. Joyce, L. N. Wingfield, Joe Nelson, Bill Hart, Ruidoso; Bill Hale, Bert Bonnell, Glenoco; A. B. Zumwalt, Floy Skinner, A. N. Runnels, Tom Bragg, Nogal; Carrol Johnson, Three Rivers.

Please give these men your cooperation.—G. J. GRAY, Forest Ranger.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

British-Norse Forces Combine In Attempt to Drive Out Nazis; King Haakon Rallies His Army

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

New Routes to War?

If Scandinavia is to be the battlefield for World War Two, the routes shown on this map must be used by British expeditionary forces traveling to meet the enemy. Nazi air raiders may travel the same routes on bombing missions to England.

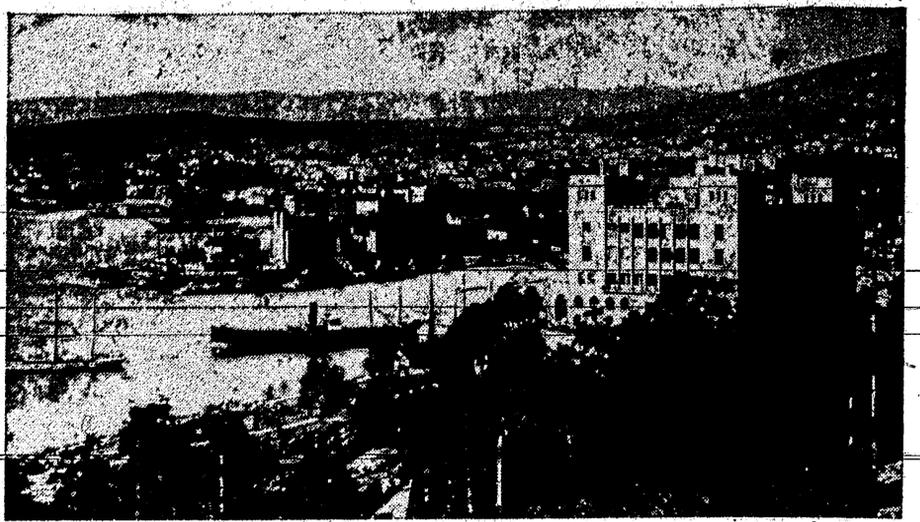

SWEDEN WILL FIGHT

... all three, the Allies, Russia and Germany, if necessary to maintain her neutrality, according to Alexis Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist, pictured above as he arrived in Miami from Nassau. Star negotiator in the recent Russo-Finnish peace treaty, Wenner-Gren brought his yacht from Nassau to forestall seizure by the British in the event Sweden became embroiled with Britain. Said he, "We (Sweden) are going to fight for our neutrality. We may have to fight all three."

Where Germany Advanced 'Protectorate' Demands

Pictured above is Oslo, capital city of Norway. It was here that German troops landed in one of the first steps of the invasion, and where the German minister in Oslo presented the Norwegian foreign secretary with the ultimatum that Norway be handed over to Germany with no resistance. Following the seizure of Oslo by Nazi forces, the Norwegian army began action to recapture the city, clinging to positions along Oslo fjord and cutting off possible German approaches to Oslo by barricading strategic highways.

European War Crisis Causes Stir in Nation's Capital

Reported disturbed by the rapid spreading of Europe's war, President Roosevelt cut short his rest at Hyde Park and returned to Washington to meet with government officials. Proudly displaying a new cane, which he jokingly referred to as "the big stick," the President was greeted by (left to right) Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles.

NORDICS VS. NORDICS:

CONSPIRACY AND TREASON

Invasion of Norway by Nazi forces was effected by the highest type of conspiracy and treason, according to special information revealed by the Chicago Daily News. According to this source, Oslo and other important, Norwegian seaports easily fell into the hands of the invaders because of a gigantic conspiracy that included bribery, extraordinary infiltration, and treason on the part of a few important Norwegian defense officials.

For eight years the Nazis have quarreled with nearly everyone, but they always stood up for the Nordic race, and for Nordic supremacy. But the Danes and Norwegians are much purer Nordics than the Nazis ever thought of being, and so are the eastern English, eastern Scotch, and eastern Irish. A strong Slavic admixture is evident in most of the Nazi leaders, and rank and file.

And so, the theoretical "Nordics" went to work on the actual Nordics, by land, and sea, and air. It was all very confusing. English planes would attack German warships in Norwegian ports, and German planes would attack English warships off the Norwegian ports. The losses in ships, and planes, and men, as reported by both thoroughly dishonest sides, were stupendous. Every Norwegian coastal town, up and down a long expanse, became a miniature "front"—at Narvik, Bergen, Trondheim, Oslo, the capital, and at several points elsewhere. The little German garrisons, in the Norwegian port towns, held on by their backteeth, pro tem.

According to latest reports from Stockholm, King Haakon of Norway was rallying his armed forces from a place of refuge in Norway's interior. A royal proclamation was issued calling upon the Norwegian people to "stand with me... and guard and fight for Norway's independence and freedom... The situation is such that I cannot tell you where myself, the crown prince, and the government are staying... God save Norway."

It appeared, currently, that German ship losses exceeded those of the English, and that hundreds, if not thousands, of German soldiers had been drowned as their troop-transports were sent to the bottom.

But neutral Swedish sources poured cold water on the red-hot news of spectacular German losses. Winston Churchill was subjected to considerable panning, in England and elsewhere, for his alleged "usual" mishandling of the English fleet, in the face of German tactical success. His political future did not look overly bright. People remembered his high praise of Hitler, in a famous Glasgow blurb of 1937. Home folks began to call him "Winnie the Pooh."

Unhappy Denmark, which did not resist like the Norwegians, began to be treated, by the allies, as a German province. The English seized her Faeroe islands, and the Danish dominion of Iceland virtually declared its independence. In North America, misty Greenland is Danish, but it appeared that either the United States, or Canada, might take over that vast tract to the north. President Roosevelt talked about the Monroe Doctrine, and lesser lights defied the Germans to come and take Greenland, which they apparently had not thought of doing.

PRESIDENT:

Our President, now in better shape physically, vetoed a bill to automatically deport alien spies, saboteurs, criminals, and dopes. This action aroused considerable annoyance among some native Americans, who are prone to purge the Augean stables at historically chronic intervals.

The President praised highly the Civilian Conservation Corps, and wished it a long life, even though the CCC is a child of the depression. Just the same, most Americans, liberal or conservative, approve of the young Conservators, although some pacifists fear it is a first faltering step toward universal military training. Such people, and some others, allege that Roosevelt merges nationalism and socialism in a high-dilted National-Socialist form.

The President conferred with New York Governor Lehman at the Hyde Park hideaway, and did not ask Vice President Garner to a White House legislative conference. This was unusual, and appeared to be a slap at Texas Jack, who is an anti-Third Termite, and a rival of Roosevelt in avowed terms. Texas Jack, however, is singularly nonsensitive to such digs, and went his own sweet, "poker-playing" way.

LABORITIS:

John L. Lewis, czar of C. I. O., took a beating on the Jersey front. There, the laborite Non-partisan league took a vote and plumped for Third Termism, even though the big chief is against it.

The Utility Workers Organizing committee in New York city demanded that Mrs. Elmore M. Herriek be fired by the much-beaten National Labor Relations board. The NLRB, however, refused the urge, did not send her to St. Helena, where her opponents thought she belonged.

MEXICANA:

Apparently, our troubles with Mexico will never cease. If iron is the curse of Sweden, oil is the equivalent curse of Mexico. Secretary Hull, growing more impatient, denounced the seizure of American possessions below the Rio Grande, in a note demanding immediate arbitration of Yankee claims for compensation and a "just" pay-off. And, as usual, the Mexicans took the Hull volley, not sitting down, but decidedly standing up. They know, smartly enough, that with their Argentine friends, they are the perfect fit in the ointment to the so-called Hull-Roosevelt good-neighbor policy, at which so many laughed in Lima, 16 months ago.

The Mexicans, who have no good-neighborly illusions, turned out in masses to defy Uncle "Sam-Hull," while the MEXICAN PRESS fired off thunderbolts of what Americans would call July 4 oratory. In Mexico City, with its magnificent climate and location, President Cardenas, No. 1 Indian of the Americas, with 50,000 others, watched 20,000 anti-Americans march in defense of their country, as they put it. Cardenas, generally quite sincere, said it was the most moving sight he had ever seen.

And that was not all. Just to clap the climax and out-manuever the maneuverers, the Mexican federal council of conciliation and arbitration demanded that some 17 American and other foreign oil companies, cleaned out by the Mexicans two years back, should pay their former proletarians roughly $20,000,000 for a "severance" fee. This hurt plenty.

WAR TRADE:

Harry Hopkins' commerce department announced that the value of American exports had gone up some 33 per cent during the first six months of the war abroad. Partly, of course, it was airplanes, which certainly are a profitable sale any time, anywhere. Trade to Europe was up by 27 per cent; to Asia, up 33 per cent; to Canada and Latin America, up 47 per cent. It is to Canada, direct, that most of the aircraft go. The Japanese against China and the Russians against Finland have done quite well with their useful imports from the United States!

MISCELLANY:

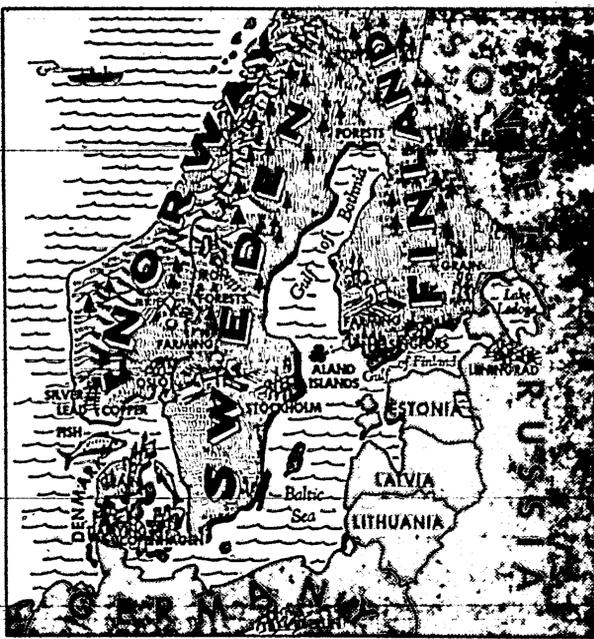

The Dies committee had another fearsome fuss with six workers-of-the-world, so-called, who would not answer questions or give away their fellow Communist members. The six came up in batches of three, the second batch more bothersome even than the first. The irritated house of representatives voted "contempt" citations. Red-minded Earl Browder, jailed for a passport fraud, was subpoenaed, with 19 others, regarding the passport racket.

General Francisco Franco, "rabid" Spanish dictator, indicated that he and his country intended to be neutral and stay neutral, despite the intense indignation felt over Norway and Denmark, in Spanish America.

Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson, U. S. N., said that he thought England's big battleships were more important tactically than Germany's planes and submarines, and so testified before a senate committee of would-be military experts.

The 17 anti-Semitic Christian Frontists continued on trial at New York. They were accused of wanting to overthrow the U. S. government. Dennis Healy, chief prosecuting witness, told how he took notes on his carefully starched cuffs at front meetings, and treated the worldly Frontlings to drinks and meals at U. S. government expense. "An old czarist trick," said one New Yorker. Before Mr. Healy collapsed from nervous strain, he said the Front talked of shooting a dozen congressmen, of making retired General Mosely dictator.

Economic Prize in Second World War?

Map shows Scandinavian countries' natural resources. Control of Norway, Sweden and Denmark by Germany would mean access to their vast stores of foodstuffs, copper, iron, lead, zinc, timber and agricultural products.

Music Box

Miss Evelyn Birrell of Washington, D. C., with a model of the first hand-driven victrola, vintage of 1884. The victrola was displayed in an exhibition marking the 150th anniversary of the first patent legislation. By way of contrast, Miss Birrell is seated on the latest model radio-victrola combination.

Nazi Invasion Endangers Three Crowns

Germany's lightning invasion of Denmark and Norway struck deep at the traditional autonomy of the Scandinavian countries and periled the crowns of three monarchs. Pictured here are (left) King Haakon of Norway, (center) King Gustav of Sweden and King Christian of Denmark. Hitler's action came as a bombshell to the nations.

No Clothes Horse

No longer is clowning confined to red-necked human performers. Dressed out in a two-piece suit, this member of a circus troupe entertained a New York audience. The Henkey performer was a success.

NAMES in the news

Dr. Paul Ehrlich's name stood extra-high. This human benefactor's chemical cure of syphilis apparently reduced its time-treatment from many uncertain months to a flat five days, and this was reported to be true in 85 per cent of cases tested. Dr. John L. Rice, New York city's health commissioner, seemed especially interested and called a great inter-state conference of public health specialists.

Mlle. Eve Curie, so-confidant daughter of the French radium cure-alls, wondered why the Americans worry about the news of the war, and boasted about the grace of La Paree. She is half-Polish, and genuinely well-liked. Also, stylists consider this brainy girl as a real something to write, sartorially, boom about.

New York's Governor Lehman banned all fireworks in his state, except in experienced hands for public display. Sale, distribution, and possession were barred, to become effective August 1, 1940.
