Nearing Baltimore on their long hike towards the national capital, members of the "food for Europe pilgrimage" (left), trudge along. Their plan was to petition British and German embassies for a partial lifting of the sea blockade to get food through to starving Europe. British Keep Up Spirits in War

Concerts and Plays Planned By Professionals to Entertain Public.

LONDON.—Britain is fighting this war not only with planes, cannon and munitions, but also with violin bows, camel hair brushes and play scripts.

A total of $400,000 already has been granted for promotion of the battle on the entertainment front. Last year $200,000 was expended and a like sum is included in the 1941 plans for the advancement of music and the arts.

Under the direction of the council for the encouragement of arts and music, the program aims to "maintain the best in civilization." The council already has been responsible for hundreds of concerts, plays and exhibitions throughout Britain. The plan was started last year through a $50,000 donation from the Pilgrim Trust fund. Government authorities agreed to match this sum dollar for dollar, doubling the amount. A similar fund was raised in this manner last year.

Entertain in Shelters.

As a result, isolated factories, munitions industries, settlements of evacuees and shelter dwellers have been entertained by units of performers sponsored by the council. These units, working in regional defense areas, are created with achievements that officials said "not only have a psychological value but a therapeutic value as well." They are assigned to banish loneliness, depression and exhaustion among both the fighting forces and the civilian army fighting the battle of Britain.

Some of the nation's finest singers and instrumentalists are co-operating in the program and donating their services.

Although the performers seldom see the results of their work or know their value to the war effort, the council cited one sensational effect produced upon an old man who was struck dumb by nervous shock suffered during an air raid. The man recovered full use of his voice when he was persuaded to sing in a choir organized by one of the units. One Cockney who dubiously watched a shelter concert in a large London subway finally admitted "all that noise does seem to keep the roof up somehow."

Helps Professionals.

During the winter months as many as 400 concerts monthly had been sponsored by the council in churches, village halls, mining towns and factories.

The council is a godsend to professional musicians thrown out of work by the war. Often it has been the sole support of actors and painters whose talents are unmarketable under wartime conditions. The program also is designed to encourage amateurs from whom will spring the new generations of artists to preserve the continuity of British artistic culture.

Both professional and amateur drama, musical comedy and pantomime have been sponsored throughout the country by the council. During the first six months of this program alone more than 400 amateur productions were staged. This work largely was done through organization of amateur drama clubs and societies.

It Will Be 'Strip Tease' On Hoof This Summer

CENTRALIA, WASH.—Several dozen Guernsey heifers are scheduled for a little strip-tease competition this summer. At the suggestion of Dan Barclay, Burlington breeder, a new system will be used in the state-wide judging tour of the Washington Guernsey Cattle club. Each heifer will appear before the judges blanketed to the ears. Then the blanket will be stripped back, exposing section after section of the anatomy to the critical eyes of the judges, allowing them to rate just one part at a time.

Find Most People Favor Right Side of Things

WASHINGTON.—Most people are right-jawed chewers as well as right-handed writers. Dr. Alex Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institution, declares that studies of more than 8,000 jawbones, including those of ancient Egyptians and modern Alaskan Eskimos, show that the great majority of people keep to the right even when they are chewing. A slight difference in the lengths of the two sides of the jawbone furnishes evidence of this fact, Dr. Hrdlicka said.

'Ugliest Man' Not Ugly Enough to Enter Contest

CODY, WYO.—Edwin Algott ("Swede") Johnson knew his appearance was distinctive when he was voted the "most ugly man" at the University of Wyoming at Laramie in 1937. So when he heard about an "ugly contest" he decided to enter. But the officials shook their heads. They didn't want him in the race. "We want keen competition," the contest chairman explained.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Machine Snob: New York's night club zone is divided into two parts, the Broadway spots and the East Side, with smart Fifth avenue as the dividing line. In recent years, the East Side has been getting the top-hat, white-tie play with Broadway acting as host to the telephone book rather than the Social Register. The other evening, Virginia Peine, who vouches for the authenticity of the incident, broke her no-night-club rule to attend a charity affair at swank El Morocco. In about an hour she excused herself saying she had a date at a Broadway bowling alley. The taxicab driver, who looked doubtful when she gave the address, said it was the first time in four years he'd had a West Side call. He started along Fifty-third street merrily enough but when Fifth avenue was crossed, the motor coughed and died. And the driver, having sadly informed Miss Peine she'd have to take another cab remarked, "I guess my old bus is getting class conscious."

Street Scene: Pedestrians, with various kinds of motor vehicles waiting impatiently, hurrying to cross Broadway on Forty-second street. . . . A frail-looking woman stopping as she is about to step off the curb . . . and holding her place despite crowding and confusion. . . . A bearded man darting into the street as if pursued, then slowing down as if he had all the time in the world. . . . A lad pushing one of those rolling wardrobes in which women's clothes are transported about the city, brushing the shiny fender of a big car and getting a dirty look from the chauffeur. . . . A drunk shaking his head and muttering as he reels along. . . . The light changes and the procession stops. . . . The frail-looking woman bends over, picks up the dime on which she has been standing and goes on her way.

Dictation: Phil Spitalny recently spent several weeks trying out singers to replace Maxine who retired. Near the end of a long day of auditions he beckoned to a pretty girl sitting on the sidelines. She was hesitant and he ordered her to step up to the mike and sing. That bringing no response, he just about dragged her forward. But he stopped her when she was only about half through the song. "My dear girl," he remarked, "I'm surprised that you came up here for an audition. You have no real voice and I don't believe you've ever sung before."

"I haven't," returned the young woman. "I'm a stenographer in this building and just slipped in here to hear your tryouts. You were the one who had an idea I could sing." The red-faced Spitalny apologized and the girl sat undisturbed until the auditions were over.

Fast Tense: Ben Grauer, who likes to collect early Manhattan trivia, sends along the following: The first policemen in the city were called "leather heads". . . . They got their name from their leather helmets. . . . The early Dutch police in Manhattan carried noisemakers which they rattled before stopping anyone. . . . They were known as "raihlewaterers". . . . New York's worst years of crime were between 1800 and 1810. . . . It seems a demoralized police force induced out-of-town criminals to make visits. . . . Police stopped early-day rioters by knocking off their stovepipe hats. . . . The rioters would instinctively bend to recover their headgear and forget the riot.

Omission: Have just finished reading Norman Alley's "I Witness" (published by Wilfred Funk) in which he sketches his career from the days he was a copy boy on the Chicago Tribune, up until the time he photographed the fall of Holland. Alley, as you perhaps remember, was aboard the Panay when that gunboat was bombed by Japanese fliers and made a motion picture record of the incident. It's a book packed full of interest. But there is one strange thing about it. Though Alley has been a news photographer practically all his life, there isn't one picture in the 370 pages.

End Piece: When Quentin Reynolds left England for his recent visit to his homeland, members of the Eagle squadron of the R.A.F. asked him to bring back some Ray Noble records. Just before Reynolds flew back to England on the Clipper, Noble presented him with 25 albums of his Columbia music platters to take with him. Asked if he could get them across safely, Reynolds replied: "Certainly. When I get off at Lisbon I'll wire the Eagles I have their records and then I'm sure of an escort straight to London."

Some Britishers Hide In Shelters 4 Months

LONDON.—Lord Horder, chairman of a committee studying health conditions in air-raid shelters, said that shelters had been found in the provinces from which children have not emerged in a month. There is one, he reports in which aged and infirm persons have remained for four months.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste. Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, painless urination, a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by trained medical men. Country store. Ask your neighbor!

"Probation after Death" is the subject for next Sunday. Golden Text: "God hath both raised up the Lord and will also raise up us by his own power." Citation from Bible: "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." Passage from Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it. Neither does consecration diminish man's obligations to God, but shows the paramount necessity of meeting them. Christian Science takes naught from the perfection of God, but it ascribes to Him the entire glory. By putting off the old man with his deeds, mortals put on immortality."

The Trend in Bank Service

The objective of banking in the past decade has been to extend banking service to the greatest possible number of people. To that end banks have made loans available to a greater number through personal loans, and through the financing of automobiles and household appliances. They have made it possible for a greater number to have the advantages of a checking account through the installation of a plan of making moderate charges to pay for the service rendered and not requiring any particular amount of balance. These and many other services are offered to the American public today. We have services in this bank which can be used by everyone. We invite you to come in and let us explain them to you.

SEE AMERICA

from border to border and coast to coast

$90 ROUND TRIP

Thousands of travelers will take time out this year to know America better. Thanks to the low "Grand Circle Tour" fares, you can see America from border to border and coast to coast for only $90 round trip in chair cars and coaches, or $135 round trip in standard Pullmans (plus $45 for a Pullman lower all the way, or $34.50 for an upper).

You can travel as many as 9,000 miles, and by going on one of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and returning on a different S. P. route, you'll see twice as much as you would going and returning the same way. For example, take an S. P. train to Los Angeles, continue north to San Francisco on the streamlined Daylight, then go to Chicago via the direct Overland Route—over the High Sierra, across Great Salt Lake and through the Rockies. Continue on to New York—direct or via Montreal. Add Boston and Portland, Maine, for no additional rail or Pullman fare.

Visit Washington D. C. Then return to your hometown on any of several routes, each of which shows you another part of the United States.

The trip described above is just one example of how you can see two of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes to see twice as much on a $90 or $135 ticket. Ask your nearest S. P. Agent about other combinations.

You have a wide choice of fine, fast Southern Pacific trains, ranging from deluxe Pullman Limiteds to friendly economy trains featuring three good meals for $1.25 a day (breakfast 35c, luncheon 40c, dinner 50c).

Buy and Wear a Poppy on Poppy Day.

Making of memorial poppies is going forward rapidly in government hospitals and special work-rooms in many parts of the country. Mrs. Lois Moore, poppy chairman of the local Legion Auxiliary, reported today that 500 poppies have been ordered for distribution here. The same are being made by disabled veterans at the Veterans' Hospital, Albuquerque.

"Making the flowers, which are worn in honor of their fallen comrades, help the veterans pass away the hours or gives them remunerative work in the work-rooms," said Mrs. Moore. The more poppies we distribute here, the more work we can give them and the more funds we will have for welfare activities among their families. We are looking forward to the support of the community on this coming 22nd Poppy Day.

Seen Them?

The latter part of last week, while Mr. and Mrs. John Kimmons of Corona were returning home from El Paso, they picked up two boys who were coming to Carrizozo. The boys got off here and when the Kimmons had almost arrived home, they noticed that the boys had forgotten their grip in the car. They have no way of finding the boys; neither does the boys, wherever they are, know the names of their benefactors. If this paper reaches the young men, they may obtain the grip by writing John Kimmons, Corona, N. M. Likewise, they might drop into this office and give the ferge a little change for tipping them off and putting them on the right track.

Louis Sanchez, brother of Mrs. Lell St. John, went through here Wednesday on his way to Santa Rosa. He was coming from Los Angeles.

Majority and Plurality
Majority is more than half the votes cast; a plurality is simply the greater number, as when three or more candidates are running; the one who receives the largest vote is elected, although the sum of the other votes may be more than half the votes cast.

Use of Flemish Language
The inhabitants of Flanders are called Flemings, and their language Flemish. Flemish is also spoken by about half the inhabitants of Belgium. It belongs to the low German branch of the Teutonic tongue and is closely allied to Dutch.

THE SMOKY YEARS

By Alan Le May

Dusty King had been murdered—Dusty, who had been like a father to Bill Roper. Then Roper—who had been of respectable man—turned "outlaw" to "get even."

How Bill Roper gathered together a tougher, more desperate band of outlaws and rustlers, beat the Thorpe gang at their own game, and drove them out of the country, is told with breathless speed and with fidelity to the history of those epic times in "The Smoky Years." Don't miss it!
