

By L. L. STEVENSON
Faces & Figures: Al Smith, hale, hearty and gray, being greeted by a throng as he enters a Forty-fifth street theater. Horace Heidt buying one of those golf clubs that can be adjusted into anything from a driver to a putter. . . and remarking, "It should save wear and tear on the caddy." "Hellzapoppin" Olson letting two Seventh avenue bootblacks shine his shoes at once because he doesn't want to show partiality. Don Voorhees stopping before a Forty-eighth street pet shop window and a kibitzer starting to tell him "all about Scotties". The loquacious one does not know of course that Voorhees is an expert on the breed and frequently is a judge at dog shows. Peter Arno, cartoonist and "best dressed gent," falling easy prey to a Forty-second street panhandler who begs a "dollar for a necktie."

A Broadway street corner prestidigitator, while baffling spectators with his thimberlig and sleight of hand, sighting an approaching officer and remarking, "Watch me do a Houdini!" and in an instant, he's gone. Lyn Murray, choral expert, hurrying to the Battery to see the old Aquarium before Park Commissioner Moses has it torn down. A friend asks him if he is sentimental about it because Jenny Lind once sang there. . . and Lyn replying, "No, I just like to look at fish." A decrepit Model T coughing past a stalled, sleek, chauffeured limousine on Fifty-seventh street. . . and the driver of the ancient vehicle sticking his head out of the window and shouting triumphantly, "Age before beauty!" Waiting for the light at Broadway and Forty-fifth street to change in her favor, songstress Jean Ellington, a wary canary.

Passing on Fifty-seventh street, Edward Johnson, Metropolitan impresario, and Basil Ruysdael, radio commentator. Ruysdael was a leading basso for the Metropolitan Opera company for eight years. Dr. Hereward Carrington, spook hunter, gazing in for some "spirit" gazing at a spectacular whisky sign on Broadway. Queried on the possibilities of real, honest-to-goodness ghosts, he shrugs his shoulders and replies, "Who knows?" Claudia Morgan (Ralph's daughter) and Monty ("The Man Who Came to Dinner") Woolley, watching a Central park marble game. Miss Morgan joining in and displaying prowess with an "aggie". Olga Baclanova sipping tea from a glass in a Russian tearoom and speaking nothing but English to her companions.

That white-thatched perennial playboy, Tommy Manville, displaying a novel conception of spring styles by walking into a Cafe Sutton wearing a blue dinner jacket, Inverness cape and peaked camel's-hair cap. Ted Collins radio producer, window shopping at a Fifth avenue sporting goods establishment. Collins is one of the country's greatest sports enthusiasts. He will travel hundreds, even thousands of miles, just to witness some outstanding event. A common saying among his contemporaries is that it is easier to do business with him at a sporting event than in his lavishly appointed office on Columbus circle.

A young man darting across traffic burdened Broadway and narrowly escaping being struck. While an irate motorist yells, "Hey, don't forget your country needs you!" Madeline Gray, entrepreneur of the "Bright Idea Club" for kids, getting vocalizing offers from bidders. Because there is another Madeline Gray who sings for Mal Hallott's orchestra. Thoughtfulness: While down in Florida as her New York friends were shivering in the recent cold snap, Bess Johnson sent postcards NOT showing palm trees and silvery sands but New England winter scenes.

A mid-town traffic cop used to be a taxi driver. . . and so had to take the same orders he now dishes out. . . Tommy Dorsey demonstrating to draftees that bugle calls can be blown on a trombone. . . At Fifth avenue and Fifteenth street, a lovely looking blonde staring aghast at another girl wearing an identical outfit. Her scowling face indicates disaster for some saleslady in the immediate future. (Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

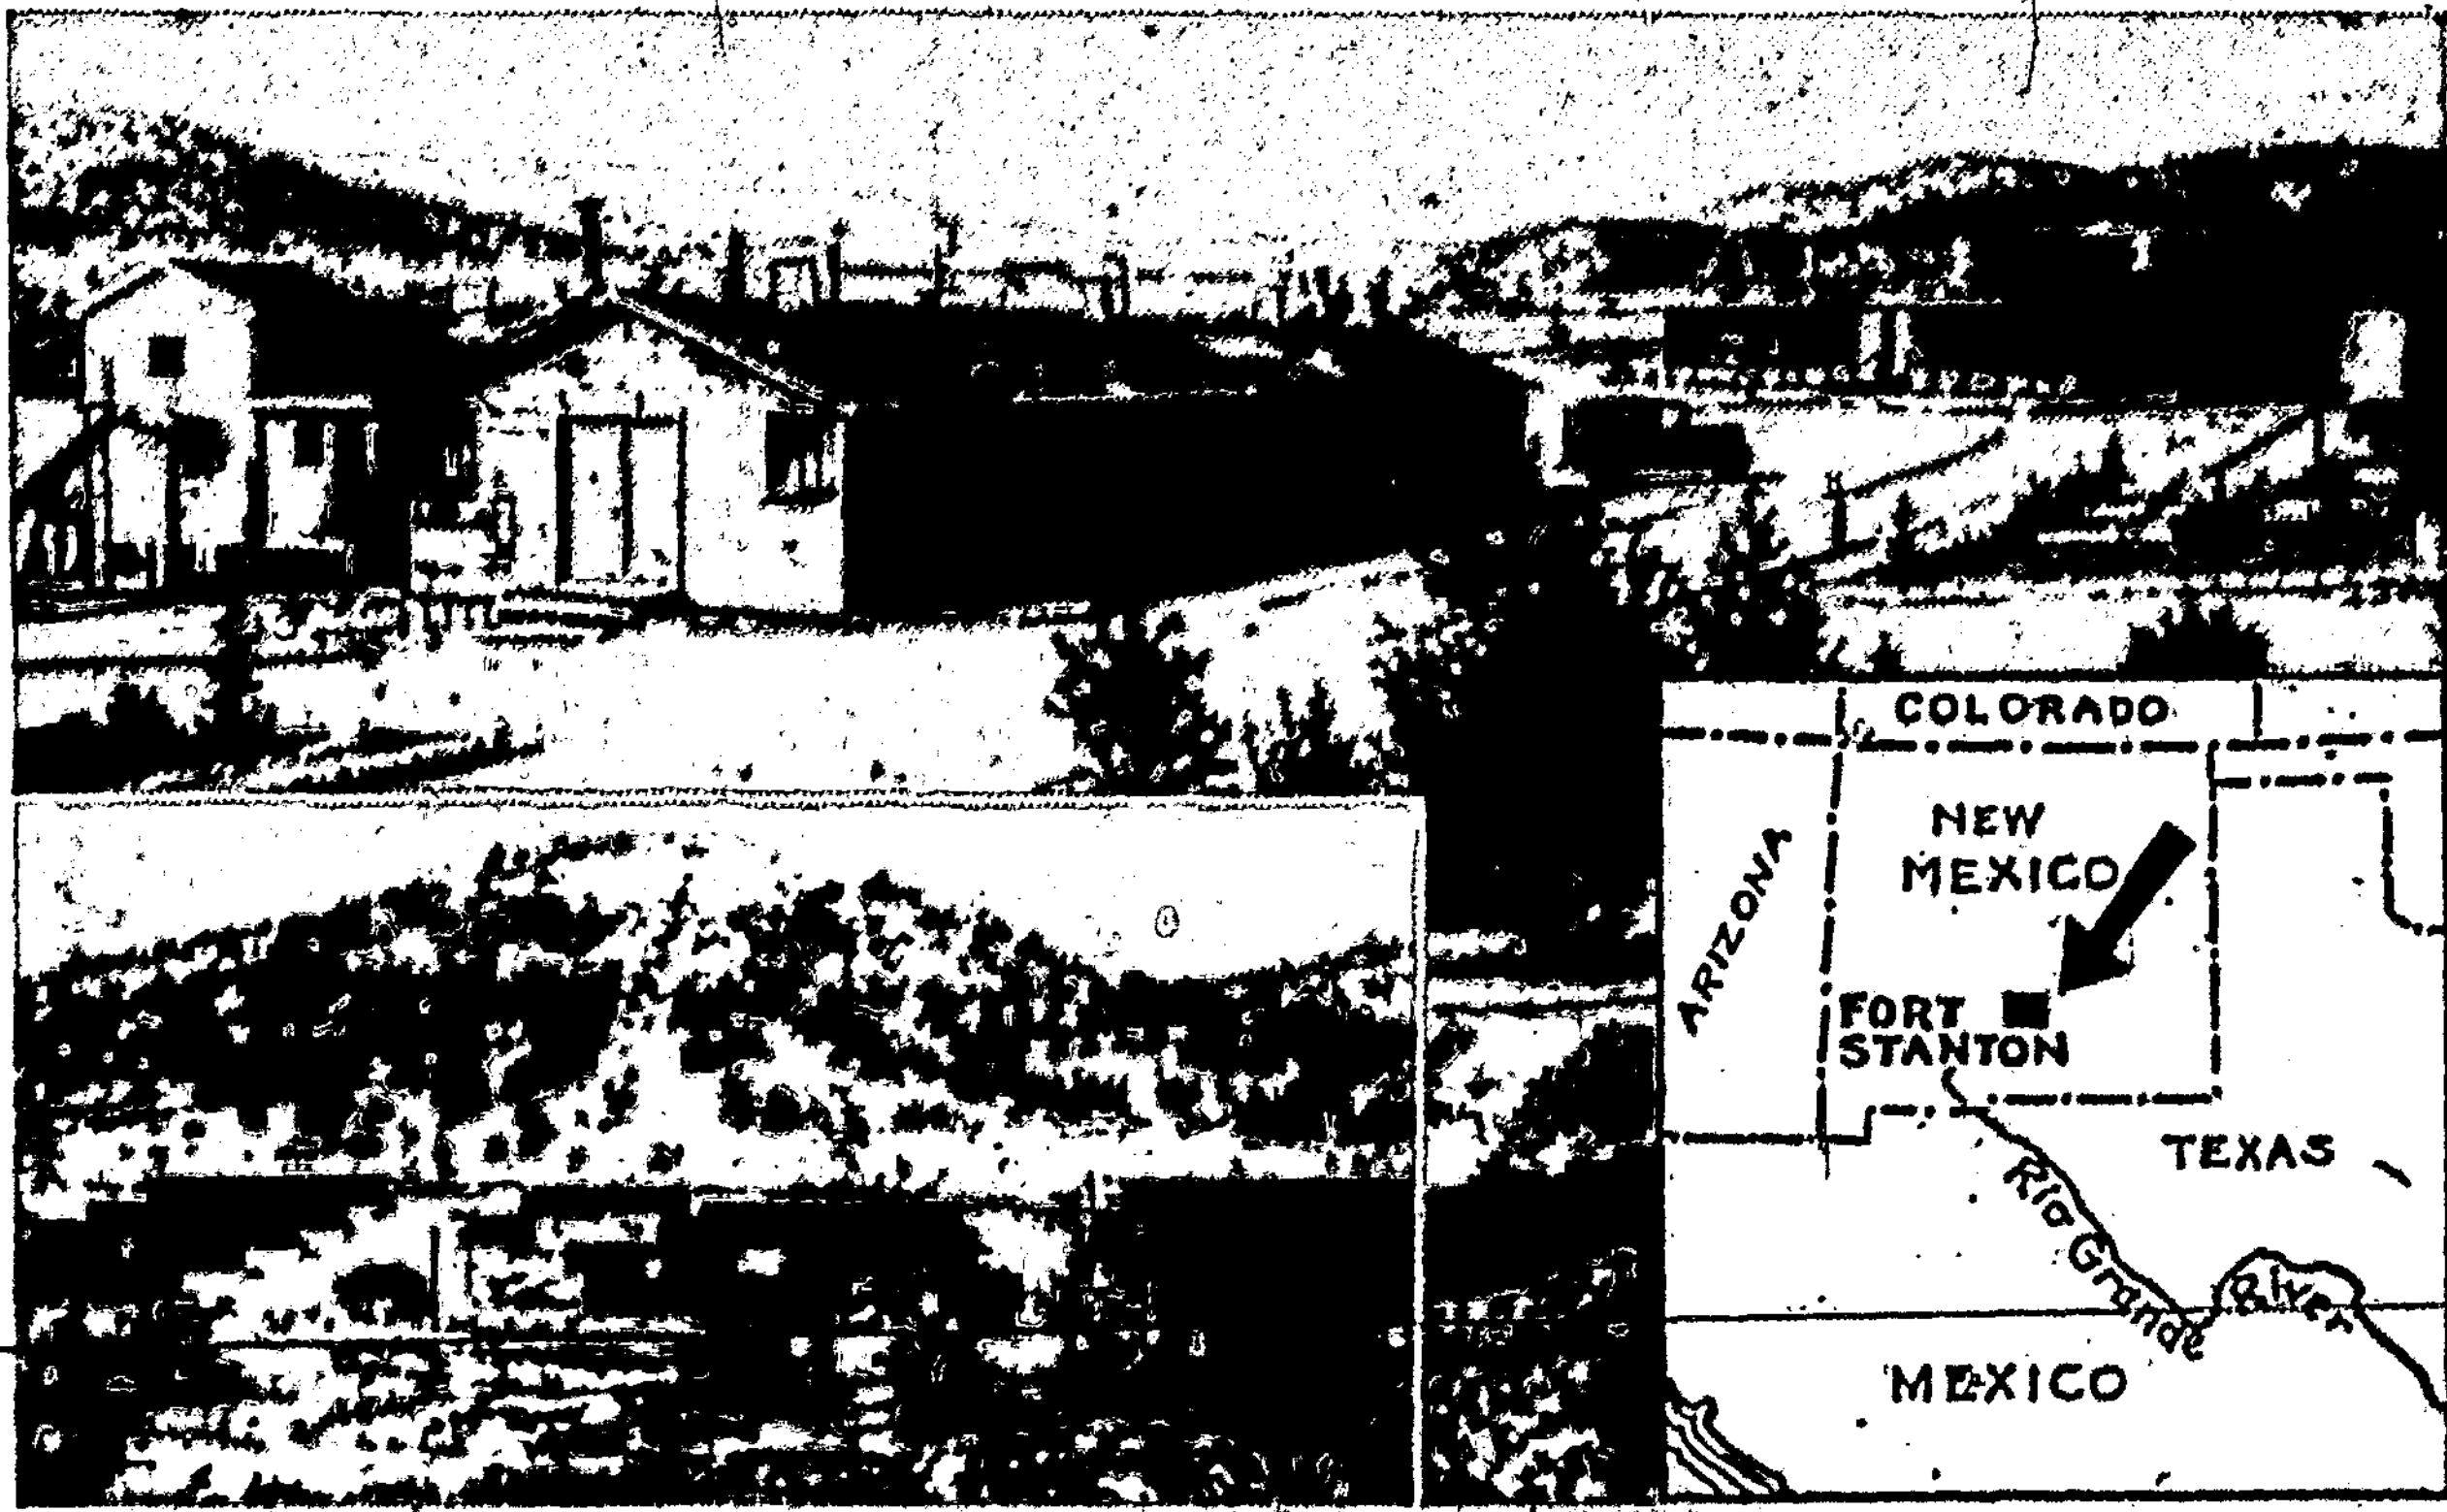

Mary's Little Lamb
Black-Sheep Toper
HARTFORD, CONN.—If Mary wants her little lamb to do well in a stock show she should take him to a tavern rather than to school, says Guy Hiltow of South Hamilton, Mass.
 He told the Connecticut Sheep Breeders' association that a bottle of beer often seemed to bring out the best performance in a sheep.

Turning Out Tanks in Quantity Lots

One of the large cogs in the U. S. defense machinery is this production plant of the American Car & Foundry company at Berwick, Pa., where tanks are turned out by mass production methods. Here is an assembly line with tanks reaching as far as the eye can see, while workmen put on the finishing touches. (Inset) New tanks leaving the plant for their first road test.

First U. S. 'Concentration Camp'

A view of the first U. S. "concentration camp," at Fort Stanton, N. M., where 300 members of the crew of the scuttled German luxury liner Columbus are interned for the war's duration. Barracks adjoining the fort are their homes, but they are not confined as ordinary prisoners, being permitted to occasionally explore the nearby foothills (shown lower left). Map shows the location of Ft. Stanton.

Soldiers, Take Your Post!

While buddies gathered round to watch and learn, members of the Fifty-eighth Signal Battalion at Camp Forrest, Tenn., show off their pole-climbing prowess in exercises designed to school men in the fine art of field communication. In actual warfare, soldiers of signal corps must be adept at tree-climbing. Climbing irons are used.

Inspects Plant

Demonstrating Aircraft Warning System

'In the Army Now'

War Brings New Navy Problems

Experts Are Kept on Move In Foreign Lands to Gather Information.

WASHINGTON.—Fresh glimpses back of the screen that hides the navy's push for a two-ocean fleet disclose a whole series of alterations that are being made as a result of developments in Europe's war.

To a far greater extent than ever before, the navy is keeping men on the move in foreign fields to gather information and enable it to devise defenses for any new forms of attack that may be cradled by European ingenuity.

At Pearl Harbor oil and power plants are being housed in underground bomb-proof shelters. Gasoline is being stored underground at all air stations off continental United States and at many of those on the continent itself. In many places this includes not only aviation gasoline but fuel oil and Diesel oil. At Panama, however, all fuel is above ground except for aviation gasoline. The storage space at Pearl Harbor is one of the most elaborate. Fuel oil there is in vertical tunnels 300 feet high and 100 feet in diameter.

Bomb-proof Shelters! Bomb-proofing of various other types is also being done, particularly at outlying naval stations. The Pacific island stations are subject to bombing, and special thought is being given there to guarding the lines of communication. High frequency radio sets are being installed in bomb-proof shelters.

In many of the areas, too, this precaution extends to personnel. Some bomb-proof shelters are being built. The quick glimpse that may be caught between the lines of the appropriation estimates does not provide an idea of how many.

Airplane attacks upon warships have led the navy to hasten plans for providing more protection for the men who operate anti-aircraft guns. The loss of life from bomb splinters on the upper works of ships was far higher than anyone expected. Thus, protective works are being designed for anti-aircraft guns.

Aircraft Defense. Until the fleet gets its full complement of planes to prevent and fight off any attack from above, the ships will carry an especially heavy battery of anti-aircraft guns. Ships that used to carry only four or six such guns are now being fitted out with 8 or 12. These include not only the long-range five-inchers but also the fast firing quadruple guns.

In addition, the speed of airplanes has been stepped up so much that old range-finding devices were useless. Before the old range computers and directors could get a bead on the plane it would be gone. New mechanical computers have been devised and are being installed.

The airplane has even changed the old lookout system. The crew's nest is not enough now. It was all right as a station from which to watch for surface vessels. But the ship that wants to stay afloat today has to watch the air as well as the sea. Sky lookout posts are being installed. Here the man on duty is stretched out in a half lying position watching the sky. It costs from $2,000 to $10,000 to install the proper apparatus on a ship.

Search for Flower Soil Profit to New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS.—An iris hunt on the swampy outskirts of this city several years ago resulted in reduced expenses for New Orleans' parkway commission and prettier flowers and shrubs throughout the city.

Felix Seeger, superintendent of the commission, noticed the rich leaf loam of the soggy swamp lands and took a load of it back for experiments. Before, the commission had to use bagasse and peat moss to cultivate camellias and azaleas, for which this city is famous.

The experiment was successful. The plant not only survived, but the blossoms were larger and more perfect than with other expensive soil mixtures.

Four Generations, Mark The Same Natal Days

RIO VISTA, CALIF.—When members of the family of Mrs. Margaret Ryan of Hamilton City met to commemorate her birthday the celebration virtually assumed mass proportions. It also was the birthday of four other members of four generations of the family. In addition to marking the seventy-seventh anniversary of Mrs. Ryan's birth, it also was the birthday of two of her daughters, Mrs. Helen Kibby of Hamilton City, and Mrs. Carleton Hansen of Crescent City; that of her grandson, Robert Winters of Colusa.

Gold 'Prospector' Finds Ore Mined and Stacked

TEMPE, ARIZ.—Gold mining deluge was the order of the day for some lucky "prospector" on the highway west of here. Guy Stewart, a truck driver hauling a load of sacked gold ore from mine to smelter, discovered he had lost two sacks. He retraced his steps, but found some "prospector" already had taken the ore. Total bonanza: two sacks, worth 18 cents each, ore worth $50.

TIPS to Gardeners

GARDENS OF QUALITY

THERE have been changes in recent years in garden practices that are worth reporting. Gardeners formerly allowed vegetables to grow as large as possible. This procedure gave a higher yield in pounds, but very often it lowered the quality of vegetables.

Some vegetables, of course, like tomato, must be mature to be palatable; but carrots, cucumbers, beets, summer squash, turnips, radishes, and others are more tender and tasty when not much more than half grown.

Gardeners are finding that it is wise to plant oftener than once or twice a year, to maintain a regular supply of proper-sized vegetables. Gardens prove more enjoyable, and more profitable when successive plantings of favorite crops are made every two or three weeks, providing garden-fresh vegetables for the table over a long season.

It is also true that few gardeners today save flower seeds. Fine flowers growing in the home garden often are cross-pollinated by others of the same species, making flowers grown from their seed inferior, and untrue.

Cousin Carrie has things figured out. "Fuller," says she, "passin' me my second halpin' of KELLOGG'S PEP, 'the reason you're a go-getter is because you're a come-backer.' And I got to admit, KELLOGG'S PEP has got me goin' and comin'—goin' and gettin' things done and comin' back for more PEP each mornin'. That's what comes of gettin' all your vitamins. KELLOGG'S PEP hasn't got 'em all, of course, but it's extra-long in the two that are extra-short in lots of people's meals—vitamins B and D.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the performing columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. This advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows how as an aid toward making all our business transactions more secure and pleasant.

Troubles of a glamour girl heading for the movies. Adela Rogers St. Johns explains some difficulties of introducing socialite refinement into the flickers and tells how one pretty little blueblood had her silver spoon rudely snatched from her mouth, but is making good without it. Don't miss this beguiling feature.

Also—Curious echo of the rich old Baron's secret romance. For 80 years, only his executors knew that the little girl he met in a railroad station had shared a love-nest with him, but now England's wartime income tax laws have revealed his sentimental double life. "The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER"
 BY ALFRED BRUCE
 Love is rarely revived.
 Love is rare as radium.
 Suspicion feeds jealousy, certainty starts it.
 It is easier to hurt those who love us than those who do not.
 We are more fooled by our own egotism than by deceivers.
 We often get credit for good qualities by hiding our bad ones.
 There are holes in many friends' shoes, but they don't know it.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is subject for Sunday. Golden Text is: "If by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ." Citation from Bible: "And this is the promise that He hath promised us, even eternal life." Passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus said, 'If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death.' That statement is not confined to spiritual life, but includes all the phenomena of existence. Jesus demonstrated this, healing the dying and raising the dead."

Buy a Poppy
On Poppy Day

The Legion home is blooming with poppies as the Auxiliary women complete preparations for the annual observance of Poppy Day, Saturday, May 24. The little red flowers of memory are being taken from the boxes in which they came from the Veterans' Hospital at Albuquerque where they were made by disabled veterans. Memories of the past and hopes for the future—that is what goes into the making of a poppy, said Mrs. Moore, poppy chairman, as she took one apart and explained its structure. They are made in exact replicas of the wild poppies of France and Belgium, which grew in profusion in the battlefields.

The men who make the flowers are comrades of those in whose honor they are worn. They were not called to give their lives, but they gave their health and strength, which makes life worthwhile. Into the little flowers they place great memories of the past, and from the work they derive new hope for the future, said Mrs. Moore.

SEE AMERICA
from border to border and coast to coast

$90 ROUND TRIP

Thousands of travelers will take time out this year to know America better. Thanks to the low "Grand Circle Tour" fares, you can see America from border to border and coast to coast for only $90 round trip in chair cars and coaches, or $135 round trip in standard Pullmans (plus $45 for a Pullman lower all the way, or $34.50 for an upper).

You can travel as many as 9,000 miles, and by going on any of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes and returning on a different S. P. route, you'll see twice as much as you would going and returning the same way. For example, take an S. P. train to Los Angeles, continue north to San Francisco on the streamlined Daylight, then go to Chicago via the direct Overland Route—over the High Sierra, across Great Salt Lake and through the Rockies. Continue on to New York—direct or via Montreal. Add Boston and Portland, Maine, for no additional rail or Pullman fare.

Visit Washington D. C. Then return to your hometown on any of several routes, each of which shows you another part of the United States.

The trip described above is just one example of how you can use two of Southern Pacific's Four Scenic Routes to see twice as much on a $90 or $135 ticket. Ask your nearest S. P. Agent about other combinations.

You have a wide choice of fine, fast Southern Pacific trains, ranging from de luxe Pullman Limiteds to friendly economy trains featuring three good meals for $1.25 a day (breakfast 35c, luncheon 40c, dinner 50c).
