SCHOOL NEWS

An Adult Home-Making Class will be organized by Miss Nina Lee Cavener in the near future. This is a Government venture in an effort to improve living conditions in the homes.

All classes in the High School met for the first time Tuesday. A slight increase is in evidence. Thirty-three enrolled in the Eighth Grade.

The latest addition to our faculty is Mr. Will White, A. B. of the class of 1941 Eastern New Mexico College. Mr. White is a specialist in Art.

Monday at 1 p. m., the Faculty and Board of Education met together and after an exchange of friendly greetings discussed the general procedure of school work for the coming year. This splendid meeting is evidence of the good school year which is just before us.

The first year typing class has 24 students enrolled, but to date we have only 18 typewriters. Hence Miss Cayou, the teacher, is in a worry whether to drop 6 students or buy 6 typewriters.

It is the pride of the Carrizozo High School to be accredited in the highest rank by the state accrediting authorities. 20 states compose the N. C. A. and has regularly accredited our high school since 1931. The public is invited to view the certificates in the office of the superintendent.

Blackout Sept. 12

Plans have been completed for the Blackout. The Wardens and Auxiliary Policemen for each of the four zones have been appointed and will receive instructions as to their duties during the blackout. The First Aid and the Ambulance and Evacuation groups are appointed. The fire department is organized and the cooperation of the entire community and public will be required to make the trial blackout a success.

On that night, all persons within the Village of Carrizozo, who are driving their automobiles, should, at the signal for blackout, park at the curb immediately with all lights extinguished so as to facilitate the movement of air raid wardens and spotters and to avoid all movement or action that may result in accident.

County Commissioners' Resolution

Whereas, it appears to this Board of County Commissioners that the interests of Lincoln County could best be served by the appointment of a Purchasing Agent for said County of Lincoln, and

Whereas, it appears that Requisition Forms need to be adopted for the purchase of all materials, services, and supplies relative and appertenant to Lincoln County, and

Whereas, it appears that the Office of the County Clerk is the proper place for all proposed purchases to be authorized in accordance with the budget allowance available,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by this Board of County Commissioners that the County Clerk of Lincoln County be, and he hereby is, appointed Purchasing Agent for Lincoln County with full power and authority to have Requisition Forms printed and to authorize needed purchases for said County of Lincoln therewith. All persons and firms are hereby given notice that all claims for materials, services, and supplies presented against Lincoln County for payment, after due notice of this Resolution by publication, must be made according to existing law and have requisition form attached bearing the signature of the County Purchasing Agent before payment will be made thereon.

Be it so ordered this 1st day of September, A. D., 1941.

Hartman-Skinner

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartman of Pueblo, Colorado, announce the marriage of their daughter, Agnes Ruth, to Ellis K. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Skinner of Boulder, Colorado, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Hole in Carrizozo.

Rev. L. A. Hughes of the M. E. Church, using the double-ring ceremony, officiated. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was costumed in a frock of dark blue crepe with accessories. Her bouquet was of pink talisman, roses and bouvardia.

The home was beautifully decorated with baskets of gladiolas, chrysanthemums, dahlias and ferns. A five-branch candelabra held tall tapers. The altar was beautiful in white.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room of the Hole home, which was handsomely decorated with sweet peas and daisies. The bride cut the wedding cake.

The new Mrs. Skinner is a graduate of the Colorado University and is an accomplished pianist; Mr. Skinner is a member of the local Border Patrol.

Out-of-town guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartman, parents of the bride, Artie and Bert Hartman, the bride's brothers, Mrs. C. J. Skinner, mother of the groom. The newlyweds will be at home in the English Apartment No. 212 and the best wishes of our local community are extended.

Hightower-Payne

Saturday, Aug. 2, a very impressive ceremony was held when Miss Miriam Hightower of Carrizozo became the bride of Mr. Ivy Payne of Ancho.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Missionary Evangelist Rev. Davis Reiter. The ceremony was followed by a beautiful prayer for blessing by Rev. Hall. The wedding took place at the annual Ranchmen's Camp Meeting near Carrizozo.

This was the first wedding to be performed at the camp meeting. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Dimmitt Bond of Corona. After being photographed, they left the camp grounds in a shower of rice and good wishes. After a lovely dinner at the home of the bride, the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Grand Canyon.

The bride is chief deputy to county clerk Felix Ramey. She is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hightower of Ancho and is very efficient. The groom is principal of the Ancho school and also efficient in his professional calling.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne were given a wedding shower at Corona by Misses Elwood and Dimmitt Bond, at which they received many lovely gifts. They are at present residing in Carrizozo and have the best wishes of their many friends.—Contributed.

W. B. Payne, stockman of the Capitan country, was in town this Friday.

Red Harkner and son Milton are here from Arizona visiting the home folks.

W. J. Sander was here from Tularosa this morning.

Mrs. J. H. Palmer of White Oaks was here yesterday.

Labor Day Dinner Party

A lovely setting at the Hi Mesa Ranch was the above party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Collier and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Robbins. The huge table was beautifully decorated with flowers and the fiesta ways. The dinner consisted of all produce grown at the ranch.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wakefield, Rowell; Mrs. J. R. Stanley, Phoenix, Ariz.; the Robbins and Colliers. Mrs. Stanley has been visiting at the Hi Mesa for the past two weeks.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

"The other ads sold me $75 worth of fruit," writes L. C. Hulbert, manager of the Brickley Fruit Farm near Lincoln. "I am selling my fruit as fast as it ripens," Mr. Hulbert added.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ed Harris of their ranch in the Claunch country were visitors in town this Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shilling have returned from taking in the Santa Fe Fiesta, accompanied by their son Cecil. After the Fiesta, they took Cecil to Santa Cruz, 12 miles from Santa Fe, where he enrolled in a boarding school for the coming term.

Lights of New York by L. L. STEVENSON

Had a few free hours and rather than hang around the apartment, May and I boarded an Eighty-sixth street cross-town bus and went adventuring.

Despite its small size, we found Carl Schurz park interesting for two reasons, the view, and the Gracie mansion. The park is high above the East river.

Having walked about the park with its flower beds, old trees and pits where children may safely play in the sand, we went into the Gracie mansion.

The Gracie mansion is now a part of the Museum of the City of New York and open to the public. That means of course that many instead of the few can enjoy the house and its grounds.

Outside, we again sat on a bench. Welfare island, with its various buildings, seemed within a stone's throw. In the old days, Welfare island was known as Blackwell's island and many were the tales about the prison there.

Somewhere I read that the north end of Carl Schurz park in the old days was known as Horn's Hook and played an important part in the Revolutionary war and the War of 1812.

Historical Highlights by Elma Scott Watson

His Songs Helped Win a War EIGHTY years ago the United States was about to plunge into the greatest civil war in history.

Then a Massachusetts-born music teacher and composer, who had set himself up in the song publishing business in Chicago, wrote the words and music of a stirring song.

GEORGE F. ROOT (From a photograph by Corbett, 1908.)

Before the Battle, Mother, sung in many a camp on the eve of many a battle during the four years of the war.

Equally mournful and equally popular among the "folks back home," as the casualty lists mounted, was another of Root's songs—"The Vacant Chair."

Altogether Root composed 56 war songs during these four years and, as a recent writer says, "if the War Between the States had its munitions barons, it also had its music barons."

Root was born in Sheffield, Mass., August 30, 1820, and from 1840 to 1850 had a successful career as a choir director, music teacher and composer in Boston and New York city.

Concerning "The Battle Cry of Freedom," a contemporary writer says: "Dashed off when the iron was at white heat and sent forth in a crisis of the nation, it carried with it the power of a battalion of strong arms."

LUKE AND ELMER ON THAT SEA CONFERENCE

"What do you think of the eight point program?" asked Luke Twitchell of his brother Elmer. "Well, Wilson needed it," replied Elmer.

"Why meet on a battleship to frame a program for peace and brotherly love?" asked Luke, plainly puzzled. "Dramatic suspense, color, mystery and all that," explained Elmer.

"Whoever thought Churchill, number one man of the British empire, would leave London, fly to sea and hold a conference with the President of the United States in mid-ocean?"

"Rumors of a conference with Churchill at sea are spread, but discredited as something that the hair tonic company would delete as incredible even if Gabriel Heatter put it in his radio broadcast," continued Elmer.

"What do you think of the eight points themselves?" asked Luke. "I don't see much new," replied Elmer. "They're just Wilson's old model streamlined and with the fluid drive."

All of which is pretty impressive. But—right on the heels of all that, the National League of Decency cracked down on "Life Begins for Andy Hardy," the latest of the series, finding it objectionable for children.

Lyle Moraine, who writes songs and works in pictures, was inspired by Bob Hope's "Caught in the Draft" to write "I've Been Drafted, Now I'm Drafting You," which Hope and Miss Lamorel sang on the air.

Dinah Shore, who sings "Yes My Darling Daughter" so effectively that it made her famous on the air, has had to defer her picture-making plans.

The Rudy Vallee program now has an impressively large production staff—six script writers and four song writers, to turn out the original music.

Lana Turner's making it three in a row—three of Hollywood's most popular male stars. She did "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" with Spencer Tracy. Then came "Hokey Toak" with Clark Gable.

As was expected, Ellen Drew lost no time after doing location scenes in Nevada for "The Remarkable Andrew" before marrying Sy Bartlett in the same state.

Mildred Coles was heartbroken a while ago when, after a week's shooting in "Scattergood Pulls the Strings," she came down with acute appendicitis and Susan Peters had to take over her role.

ODDS AND ENDS—Ann Sheridan will be in two Warner pictures at the same time for the next two months—"The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "King's Row."

One Too Many

Young Alec was watching a house painter at work. Presently he asked: "How many coats of paint do you give a door?"

"Two, my boy," was the reply. "Then if you give it three coats," said the lad brightly, "it would be an over-coat."

New Land Areas The 1940 census has issued completely revised statistics on the land areas of all states, the first remeasurement of its kind since 1880, reports Collier's. The five largest additions are 1,246 square miles to Texas, 1,151 to California, 1,145 to Maine, 1,058 to Mississippi and 743 to Oregon; while the five largest deductions are 992 square miles from New Mexico, 849 from Minnesota, 599 from Florida, 546 from Idaho and 541 from Wisconsin.

GRANTLAND RICE

SARATOGA, N. Y.—Ben Jones, Warren Wright's able trainer for the Calumet stable, has directed the racing destinies of many thoroughbreds. But from the long parade trainer Jones has never known a horse that intrigued him half as much as Whirlaway.

It isn't so much that Whirlaway has picked up more than his share of important stakes—including the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont.

These have paid for a lot of hay. The true answer is that Whirlaway is a strange, odd sort of an animal that no one can ever quite figure out.

The horse that has won as many major stakes as Whirlaway has won should never have been beaten as many times as the Wright Flyer has taken the count. That's what makes him interesting to figure out.

"He's a funny horse," Ben Jones tells you. "He is fast and strong and game—but he also wants to have his own way. You can never quite figure him out. He can be as quiet and relaxed as a plow horse, or he can be as nervous as a caged panther."

"You may remember before the Derby that I told you at times I thought Whirlaway was half-witted. Either he was or I was. I was wrong about Whirlaway, anyway. He just happens to have a mind and a personality of his own."

The Nerve Wrecker

"I don't believe many people know the care and the worry that Ben Jones has used up on Whirlaway," John Partridge says. J. Partridge is another well-known owner and trainer who is one of Ben's best pals.

"Many a time Ben has gone to the barn after midnight just to see how Whirlaway was getting along—whether he was sleeping or whether he was restless. Ben always knew he had a great horse—but also a strange horse that had to be handled differently from other horses. Just think of all that happened up to the Derby. In one race Whirlaway would look like a world beater. In his next race he wouldn't run or something would happen to him. Maybe he'd bear out—or suddenly, decide he was through running for that day. But Ben knew what Whirlaway had. I don't believe I've ever seen anyone use as much patience as Ben Jones has given this horse."

"Many things also happen to Whirlaway. Arcaro was set to ride him in the Arlington Classic. Arcaro is set down, the one rider who can handle all his whims. Then Whirlaway takes a flying sled in the eye and that never helped any horse win a race. It might have been he wouldn't have beaten Arcaro under any conditions. But losing Arcaro and taking that wallop in the eye certainly didn't help."

Both Warren Wright and Ben Jones hope to see Whirlaway rack up the all-time winning mark.

"He is a horse that likes to keep racing," Ben Jones says. "Whirlaway isn't a big horse but he has a lot of stamina. He could run two miles, if he had to. He never wants to be hurried from the start. He likes to take his time—and then make his move. When he does I don't have to tell anybody how fast he can travel. He should be good for quite a while if something unexpected doesn't happen to him."

Horses change from two-year-olds to three-year-olds. Later on they can get much better, or show little. Man-o'-War cleaned up as a two-year-old and a three-year-old. Then he was retired. Seabiscuit wasn't much until he reached or passed the four-year-old spot.

"My guess is that Whirlaway will be even better as an older horse. He has been a better three-year-old than he was as a two-year-old. He may be a funny horse at times—but he still has the two main things a big winner needs—that's speed and stamina."

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By ROBERT McSHANE

Reprinted by Western Newspaper Union

LOU NOVA, young California heavyweight who figures on taking the championship away from Joe Louis September 19, is smart enough to laugh at reports that the champ has slipped.

It isn't impossible that Louis has slipped a bit. After his fight with Conn, the Brown Bomber admitted that he lacked some of his former sharpness. Perhaps the complete lack of financial worries has dulled the urge to win. But Louis still is a dangerous opponent. After all, he whipped Conn. And championships go with victory.

Conn bewildered the champ for 12 rounds. His superior speed enabled him to outtravel Louis.

But Nova will be forced to rely on a different type of offense—and defense. He hasn't Conn's speed. In fact, not very many heavyweights have had the Pittsburgh lad's speed.

Nova can absorb punishment. Rugged, intelligent and reasonably fast, he should make things tough for Louis. However, he can't afford to let the champ hit him very often. If Louis has slipped, it will tell in his speed. He can still out-punch any current contender.

In our opinion, Louis' greatest fight was his second encounter with Max Schmeling. The big German was one of the world's best heavyweights, a former champion and a rival who had knocked him out in their previous battle. Before the opening bell of that second fight died out, Louis had sprung across the ring like a jungle cat. Brushing aside Schmeling's defense, Louis clubbed him, punched him and mauled him. There was no stopping this fighting machine. In little more than two minutes the fight was over.

World's Greatest

For those exciting seconds Louis was probably the greatest fighter the world has ever known.

That was Joe Louis at his peak. No heavyweight champion has defended his crown as often and as successfully as Louis. During his last few battles he hasn't displayed the old urge to destroy his opponent in the shortest possible time. But that doesn't mean he is through. It's largely a matter of contrast. He doesn't appear to be the fighter he was three years ago, and unquestionably he isn't. But he doesn't have to be the fighter he was in 1938 to whip most of the present-day heavyweight hopefuls.

There is a chance that he may have dropped back further than we know, but that is still a guess. The two-month rest may work wonders for Louis. It may remove the staleness which has been accumulating during the past year.

Joe is too much of a fighting man not to take his work seriously. Also he is smart enough to know that Nova will do everything he can to get himself in perfect physical condition for their match.

Just a few years ago Max Baer, another Californian, was headed for a match with Louis. That was back on September 24, 1935. Baer, the ring's most ardent playboy, refused to do any serious training. He hated to leave the bright lights for some remote training spot. He lasted slightly more than three rounds.

Conscientious Trainer

There's no danger of that with Nova. He likes solitude and seems to enjoy the rigors of training. The four-visaged giant is part Scotch, Irish, German and Italian. And he loves to fight. He has a determination amounting to stubbornness but he always has a definite goal in mind and unlimited faith in his ability to reach that goal.

At the present time his one burning ambition is to meet and beat Louis for the heavyweight crown. He believes he can do it. But whether he can or not, you can be sure he won't fail for lack of effort or preparation.

His willingness to prepare so thoroughly for the fight will be a big help, but Lou must still attain more elusiveness on defense.

There's another angle that may or may not mean much. Joe and his managers realize that the Nova entanglement may be the Bomber's last little bout. Changing world conditions can cause many upheavals in the sports world. It's only natural that Joe would like to retire an undefeated heavyweight champion. That fact may spark Joe to at least a fair semblance of his former greatness.

Temple Bells For War Metal

Japan Strips All Edifices to Supply Shortage Caused By War With China.

TOKYO.—Old temple bells, mel-low with the years, are a symbol of the Japan which is being devoured by the ever-hungry war gods.

More than four years of the China campaign, plus the United States embargo on scrap, have left the empire in dire need of a melting pot for copper and brass and iron.

The great foundries of Japan were fashioned to handle scrap, not raw ore, and months would be needed to make the change. Pig iron and scrap melt down into materials of war when mingled in the proper proportion, but alone they take a different sort of furnace.

Temples Are Stripped. Brass was needed, too, so the temples are being stripped of their treasures, including the bells.

For months iron manhole covers have been missing in the streets, with wood or concrete substitutes in their place.

Men are going through the empire's warehouses with typical Oriental thoroughness, looking for rusty typewriters and old buckets or perhaps a discarded filing case, while out through the countryside others are ripping the metal caps from telephone and telegraph poles.

In the communications ministry alone about three tons of scrap iron, 50 worthless typewriters, and some 2,000 ashtrays and 300 cabinets have been delivered up.

Stately Hibiya park is losing its iron railings and its Russian cannon, on-proud display as a trophy of the Russo-Japanese war. Even the diet (parliament) building is not exempt, and its fences and imposing gates are doomed, too.

Japan Explains.

Iron ladders in the sleeping cars on trains have been replaced with others made of wood, the locomotives have been stripped of their burnished numerals and the iron grills have been taken from the ticket-windows. Wood is now the rule.

A recent bulletin of the board of information gave this explanation of the metal harvest:

"This move is not the outcome of any positive dearth of metals, but is rather a temporary measure for obtaining enough scrap for national defense during the period to come before the intended wholesale alteration of the steel production system."

Work in some great factories, the statement pointed out, is virtually at a standstill, "chiefly on account of the ban placed on export of scrap by the United States apparently as an economic sanction against this country."

Home Canning Manual Is French 'Best Seller'

VICHY, FRANCE.—French book-stores report that the present "best seller" is a manual on how to can or bottle foodstuffs at home. This is symptomatic of a time when most conversations turn on the last meal and prospects for the next.

Meantime, restrictions of all kinds continue to be announced. Special foods for invalids will be rationed henceforth. The cheese ration, which last month had been increased by four ounces, is now reduced to the original weight.

Food cards for livestock and draft animals are being prepared. The consumption of wine is being reduced as much as possible. (It is asserted that scarcely 3 per cent of the quantity available goes to Germany.)

Railroad schedules are so reduced for lack of fuel that during the vacation season passengers will receive slips with their tickets to board trains in numerical order.

Air Mail 3 Years Late

Due to Crash in Chile
RICHMOND, VA.—Two air mail letters lost for more than two years after an air liner crashed in the hills of Chile have arrived here from South America almost three years after they were written.

The letters, postmarked June, 1938, bore an explanation in Spanish on the envelopes.

The mail had been lost June 19, 1938, on a flight over the foothills of the Andes. Later the letters were recovered and remailed—this time from Santiago, Chile, February, 1941.

Both letters were stamped as diplomatic correspondence from the U. S. embassy at Buenos Aires and were written by Alexander W. Weddell, now ambassador to Spain. One was addressed to Miss Elizabeth Weddell, his sister, and the other to the editor of the Southern Churchman.

London Boy, 14, to Pay Tax on $18 Weekly Wage

LONDON.—Peter Saunders, 14, who left school last Christmas, is trying to reckon how much income tax he will have to pay on an $18-a-week wage.

Manpower is so short that boys are being employed and paid high wages in munitions factories. Boys of 14 and 15 are making $16 to $20 every week. Slightly older lads make $24. Youths of 17, in some areas, get more than $32

What Makes a Bank Safe?

Many factors contribute. Laws and regulations play a part. Examinations by government examiners are important. Insurance protection is of course significant. But above all, the strongest safety factor is sound, progressive management. Efficient operation and policies which win public approval and patronage, are not only important—they are vital to the well-being of a bank.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

British-Russian Forces Invade Iran In Drive to Foil Alleged Nazi Coup; Navy Takes Over Shipbuilding Plant; Fierce Battle Marks Russo-Nazi War

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

COLOGNE, GERMANY.—This picture gives a dramatic view of a recent sensational daylight air raid by the British Royal Air force on a huge power station in the vicinity of Cologne. The bombers flew at a height of less than 100 feet at times. Much of the smoke was caused by air raid missiles and many direct hits were scored. The planes then swept lower still to get photographs like this.

PRODUCE: Or Else

While President Roosevelt struck out at critics who said that production was lagging, quoting chapter and verse, also war department figures to show Senator Byrd of Virginia that he had been misinformed, he also put the Kearny, N. J., shipyard back into production by ordering the navy to take over the plant.

Secretary Knox sent one of his admirals to take charge, and history, made when the army took over the North American Aviation plant, was repeated.

Yet there was said to be a difference in this latest plant seizure, in that the navy would not plan to relinquish it to the private owners after putting it in operation, but continue to operate it as a navy yard.

Thus the eventuality oddly enough sought by men and employer as well in this instance, was brought into being, an eventuality which the state authorities of New Jersey sought vainly and bitterly to prevent.

Sixteen thousand workers were affected, and the work on two cruisers, one almost ready for launching, six destroyers, three tankers and two freighters was halted, contracts adding up to $43,000,000, and awarded by the navy and the maritime commission.

The union was the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of the C.I.O.

IRAN: And Britain

The British demand on Iran that she expel all Nazi agents from her borders, and the Iranian refusal to obey, turned eyes again to the Middle East and Near East, and showed that Britain, conquerors of Syria with the aid of the Free French, realized the need of strengthening the position of her forces in that part of the world.

Few doubted the ability of the British, with the possible aid of the Russians, to take over little Persia, and present to the Nazis coming down from the Ukraine, or wishing to, a firmer front. It also would extend the common frontier with Turkey, and allow Ankara to have an excuse for maintaining a stronger pro-British neutrality.

Iran's fears were realized when British troops under the command of Gen. Archibald Wavell crossed into southern Iran and at the same time Soviet Russian forces moved into northern Iran from the Caucasus.

There was resistance encountered, according to the early reports from the fighting fronts. London sources indicated that the movement into Iran came to foil a Nazi coup. The move was seen as a direct action to the refusal of the Iran to give a satisfactory reply to the British and Russian request that Germans be expelled from the country.

Iran was powerless militarily, though with an army technically measured at 120,000, to halt a British invasion in similar force to that which moved in on well-defended Syria, but this was in an important position geographically for Britain's Middle Eastern defense, believed one of the next tactical moves of the war, as the weather in northern Russia was about to lighten into winter temperatures and snows.

TRIPOLI:

The lengthening range of R.A.F. bombers was bringing the harbor of Tripoli, chief Mediterranean base for Nazi-Fascist operations in North Africa, more easily within reach.

Ports of the character of Tripoli being rare in northern Africa, the latest of these bombings, during which 25 tons of explosive were dropped, were said to show that the British are putting into effect a plan they believe utterly necessary—the preparation for the switching of a major Nazi offensive to Africa.

Country Invaded

This is Shahrzadeh Riza Pahlavi, 63-year-old ruler of Iran, whose country has been invaded by British and Russian troops. These countries moved in, they say, to prevent Germany from taking over the country. Also, Iran has rich oil fields that would prove of immense benefit to the Nazi war machine.

UNREST:

Growing in Europe

The picture of the growing unrest in Nazi-conquered Europe continued to be sketched in, with the reports ranging from the outbreaks in Vichy and Paris to the article written for the American Mercury by Otto Strasser, the "Black Front" leader, who declared there was more than a possibility of revolution within Germany during the coming winter.

Dramatic was the broadcast picked up from England in French to the people of France in which the British urged the saboteurs and revolutionaries to hold back their chief revolt until a signal from Britain, and then to come out in force against the Nazis.

Their cue at present, the broadcast stated, was to continue to harass the war machine in small, secret ways, not in open, widespread revolt.

Yet the report was that the revolts were continuing, that Petain had set up courts-martial for saboteurs, and that opposition elements were being arrested by the thousands by Nazi soldiers and a corps of 16,000 French police.

Lieut. Gen. Von Schamburg, Paris commander, having taken thousands of civilians into custody as hostages, ordered that the prisoners be shot in numbers to correspond with the gravity of any offenses against the Nazi invaders.

Petaim's courts-martial were invested with the right to give the death penalty, and the order was that such sentences be carried out immediately and without appeal rights for the prisoner involved.

Observers held that the severity of these measures was the true mark of the seriousness of the revolt. The Vichy courts were continuing to convict and sentence to death DeGaulists, although they were still at liberty, and fighting on one front or another.

GASOLINE:

Rations

Most stations in the East were beginning to ration their gasoline customers in odd sorts of ways, so that the driver who wanted gasoline badly enough could get it, if only at the rate of five gallons here and five more there.

But New York surveyors of the field reported that even the 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. curfew was working pretty well, with 109 key stations reporting a 19.4 per cent reduction in sales.

The second method was also cutting sales, though how much remained a mystery. It was believed probable that the better method would be to enlist the co-operation of the bigger users of gasoline, such as the delivery truckers, bus operators, etc., and also to force some political jobholders to stop using their state and city-owned cars for pleasure driving.

KENT:

A Junkie

The duke of Kent, the king of England's younger brother, having flown the Atlantic, having flown from coast to coast over Canada, inspecting war work and training in the dominion, dropped in on President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, and then made a rapid trip over American defense centers.

His schedule brought him to New York, Hyde Park, Norfolk, Va., Washington, D. C., and Baltimore, Md., within a few days, and he reported himself vastly impressed with what he saw.

In the latter city, assembled and nearly ready for its test was a navy bomber so big that it made flying fortresses look like tugboats alongside an ocean liner.

Just as a pursuit ship could nestle under the wing of a medium two-motored bomber, the latter could sail under the wing of this new monster of the air, with a wingspread about a block long, and an ability to fly when and where it pleased, perhaps to fight its way successfully through a squadron of enemy fighters and come through still flying.

Land and Air Maneuvers at West Point

'Love Your Enemies' on Eastern Front

Mystery Blaze Sweeps Brooklyn Waterfront

Darting as close to the flames as it dared go, a cameraman on a special plane made this unusual photo of the conflagration that swept pier 27 in Brooklyn in one of the worst fires in recent years. In the corner, between both piers can be seen the Cuban liner, Panuco, ablaze. Scores of firemen were severely injured and some military supplies were damaged.

'Gold in Them Peaks'

Goldminer Frank Gimlett, in from Colorado, gets his first glimpse at New York's architectural peaks. Equipped with pick, shovel and gold pan, he stands atop the Pennsylvania hotel with the Empire State Building in the background. He is 76 years old.

Home from 'The Wars'

The U. S. S. Wakefield, formerly the S. S. Manhattan, is shown arriving in New York harbor with the force of soldiers who recently went south to co-operate with the U. S. marines in mimic war. Landing exercises and beach head tactics on the coast of North Carolina were high spots of the "war."

'Ears Pinned Back?'

This German plane looks like it had its "ears pinned back." Not so, however. It was a fine, almost undamaged specimen of the latest German fighting plane.
