

Making 'Leathernecks' at Parris Island

Brazil's Contribution to Hemisphere Defense

An impressive view of the military airport in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, (upper picture) showing some of the planes of the Brazilian air force, most of which are of U. S. manufacture. Below: Three of Brazil's four submarines, at their base at Lajes Island navy yard. Brazil keeps these submarines, all of which were built in Italy, in tip-top shape, ready for any emergency.

Fighting 'Raid Bombs' in Gotham

Assisted by regular firemen, air raid patrol workers are shown using rescue ladders in the "air raid" drill staged in Union Square, New York City. Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia, national director of civilian defense, watched the boys doze "incendiaries" and rescue victims.

U. S. Officers in Eskimo Regatta

Lucky Driver

This auto, driven by Philip Fisher, M. of New York, smashed through the guard rails, sending car and driver to railroad yards below. Fisher got off with a bruised knee and a cut over the eye.

Back to the Wars

Delivered by the British naval air-landing plane above, British soldiers, U.S. Marines, and other troops are shown in a group of the Government patrol.

THE TWITCHELLS

There is trouble in the home of the Elmer Twitchells. Ceiling trouble. Elmer is establishing ceiling. Not that there haven't been ceilings in the Twitchell residence. The same just now is a different kind of ceiling. The Washington kind. The warring type.

Elmer is trying to put a ceiling on Mrs. Twitchell's tail, for instance. (We heard that crack about them being funny enough as is.) He wants the ceiling established at two bats per season, a drop of about eight. And he thinks there should be a price ceiling too; somewhere around $3.50.

Elmer is for a fair cost ceiling, too, but the crisis hasn't arisen this season, because Mrs. Twitchell got a new coat last winter. She got it wholesale at above twice what it would have cost elsewhere.

And he thinks there should be a ceiling on all the wife's expenditures. "I told her last night that there must be a ceiling on bridge losses," said Elmer today. "Every time she goes to one of them Tuesday Ladies Bridge parties she loses coffee on a pre-defensive emergency level. Maybe the best way to solve the would be to put a ceiling on her job."

He wants a ceiling on the wife's contributions to charity, also. "I am all for being charitable and fair," he explained, "and my heart is no mustard seed when it comes to reacting to the worthy appeals of today, and there has gotta be some limit. The old lady just subscribes to everything. Last week she put me down for $10 to the American Fund to Save Infants from American Army Slugs. She ain't got no judgment. I've proposed a ceiling. Everything she subscribes above $4 a week is top."

"Me and the wife ain't speaking just now," confessed Mr. Twitchell. "Yeah, it's some ceiling trouble. Pin money ceiling. I used to give her $10 a week, but this is a time of crisis. The future is uncertain. Nobody can tell what may happen next in the world war. So I told her the new ceiling on pin money would be $3.50."

"What did she say?" we asked. "What didn't she say?" exclaimed Elmer. "Did you explain inflation to her?" "No." "Why not?" "I don't even understand it myself," concluded Elmer.

E. E. Smith Jr. says he knows a man who is so rich he can afford to take the ladies for cocktails and dinner in the hotel dining room at a man's club.

John Galtley says that Elmer looked to him like a man with a malignant disease. He's a victim of geographical ill-fortune, lack of the head and detailed mistakes.

"What Mr. Lewis fears is that he would lose face," News item. We can think of no face which could stand it better.

The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that experiments at Harvard prove that women suffer from cold and heat more than men because they do not dress as warmly. This makes the opinion unanimous and presumably official. C. F. Yagou and Anne Messer who conducted the experiments had a group of men sit in an air-conditioned room in men's trousers and then change to women's lingerie. They then had women go through a similar test. Smoking can relieve us that the whole thing wasn't arranged by a couple of Yale men.

Washington, in its new tax proposals, may subscribe to the notion that it is impossible to get blood from a stone. But it thinks the idea is good.

THE DELUSION

FARM TOPICS

PROPER FEEDING NETS MORE EGGS

Methods and Food Quality Are Important Items.

By V. E. SCOTT

(University of Nevada Extension Service.) Successful farmer-poultrymen pay nearly as much attention to the way they feed their pullets and laying hens as they do to the kinds of feeds they provide.

For one thing, abrupt changes in the diet may cause the birds to go "off feed" and result in lower egg production and slower growth, as will the use of stale feed.

If a change in diet must be made, it is suggested that it be gradual and extended over a period of at least a week or ten days.

Important too, is sufficient hopper space, but the more timid birds in the flock go hungry. At least 10 linear feet of hopper, with hens eating from both sides, should be provided per 100 laying hens, and a sufficient length of watering trough or number of containers to prevent crowding.

When there are enough separate pens a good idea is to separate the timid hens from their more aggressive companions, making a small pen of this group. They will soon forget their timidity.

One practice followed by many poultrymen is to provide only a little more feed each day than the birds clean up.

The left-overs, if clean and dry, can be mixed thoroughly with the fresh feed in the hoppers, and in this way, there will be no accumulation of stale feed at the bottom of the hoppers, reducing likelihood of mold.

Feed mixtures containing fish oil, as sources of vitamin A or D, should be bought or mixed in small quantities so that they can be used within 10 days or two weeks.

High Egg Production Is Government Goal

Three billion seven hundred dozen eggs are expected from American hens in 1942 to provide an adequate supply for home needs and for the British.

The increase of 11 per cent over the expected 1941 production has been called for by the government because of the vital part eggs play in the nation's diet, according to C. F. Parrish of North Carolina State college.

During the next six to eight months, there will be a special need for good feeding and care to get increased production from each hen. After that time, greatly increased numbers of pullets will come into production.

The number of layers on farms at the beginning of 1942 is expected to be 10 per cent greater than during the early part of this year.

This is one time when farmers should really use all their skill in getting more eggs from their hens. Careful feeding and management, essentials of any good poultry program at any time, should be brought into use by everyone during this emergency.

Favorable egg prices, together with the government pledge to put a floor under prices, provide a strong incentive to boost production.

Farm Work Clothes Under Price Control

The government's interest in the farm working man has extended as far as his working clothes.

Pointing out that the wholesale price of overalls has gone up 25 per cent and the wholesale price of work trousers 57 per cent in the past two years, the Office of Price Administration now is acting to keep the cost of this wearing apparel from getting further out of line.

Quilting, cotton coveralls and denim, widely used materials for working clothes, have been added to the list of cotton goods now under a definite price schedule. Forecasting of advances in price on the fabric is expected to head off the inevitable increase which comes when the work clothing market is left uncontrolled.

The OPA, of which Miss Harriet Elliott, consumer consultant, is assistant administrator, acted last spring to put standard print cloth and other higher grade cotton goods under a "ceiling." Since then fabrics for work clothes have increased in price until they are out of line with the established ceiling.

Profitable Pastures

Pasture land promises to be one of the most profitable sources of farm income in the next year or two in view of the steadily increasing demand for meat and dairy products. In order to obtain the most profitable results from pasture, a program of good and intelligent management, including the application of fertilizer is essential. Such a program not only will produce greater yields in meat and dairy products, but will promote more rapid growth.

THINGS

A WALKING duck, a hopping rabbit, clown ring toss toy and owl bookends—all come from your workshop to make some child happy. Each is traced to wood, cut out with jig, coping or keyhole saw and painted. Off center wheels make the rabbit hop merrily—feet on a disc turning inside make the resplendent duck walk when pushed. The clown's long nose is an excellent target for catching the ring on the end of the string.

How Do Bank Checks Provide Safety?

Checks provide safety in at least two ways: (1) They eliminate the need of carrying cash and (2) They furnish valid receipts in the form of cancelled vouchers which prove that payment has been made to the designated person. Both of these features are entirely automatic yet the amount of money they have saved for people with checking accounts, if possible to calculate, would be enormous.

How Do Bank Checks Provide Safety?

Checks provide safety in at least two ways: (1) They eliminate the need of carrying cash and (2) They furnish valid receipts in the form of cancelled vouchers which prove that payment has been made to the designated person. Both of these features are entirely automatic yet the amount of money they have saved for people with checking accounts, if possible to calculate, would be enormous.

Deep Water Island
By ALAN LEMAY

Karen Waterson is convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she is heiress to the plantation of Alaska, in the South Pacific. They set out to get it.

But they met handsome Richard Wayne, who was in control of the island—and his half brother. Trouble? Plenty of it. And plenty of romance, too.

DEEP WATER ISLAND

By Alan LeMay

In the vast expanse of the South Pacific Karen Waterson felt as out of place as snow on a straw hat. But John Colt, her lawyer, had convinced her she was heiress to the island of Alakos, and he was determined to get it for her. Incidentally, John was in love with Karen.

The struggle to wrest the fertile little isle from Richard Wayne and his half brothers makes interesting reading, especially so after Wayne falls in love with the young lady. If you like mystery with your romance this is the story for you.

Mrs. Prudencia Chavez

Last Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, at the home of her son, Judge Elerdo Chavez, the above-named pioneer lady of Lincoln County, who was nearing the age of 90, passed away after an illness of long duration and the infirmities of an advanced age.

The Chavez family were among the first residents of Carrizozo, coming here from the lower valley in 1907, but afterwards left here and made their home in Arabela and Hondo for a number of years. After again coming to Carrizozo, her husband preceded her in death about nine years ago, also at a very advanced age. Mrs. Chavez was a truly Christian woman, a loyal wife, a kind and charitable neighbor and a very fond mother and grandmother. She is survived by her son, a daughter, Mrs. Delbert Alcorn of Socorro, several grandchildren and great grandchildren, to all of whom the sympathy of our community is tendered.

Funeral services were conducted by Father Salvatore at Santa Rita Church Sunday afternoon and the remains interred in the local cemetery.

THE FORD WAY OF DOING BUSINESS

The Ford Motor Company was founded by a working-man for working-men. Its present officers began as employees of the Company. It was the first company to pay a minimum wage, beginning in 1914, at the then astounding figure of $5 a day. That was double the prevailing wage of the time. The Ford minimum is now $6 a day for all employees engaged in production work. And from that, the wages rise to $10.30 a day, with the average wage $7.25, exclusive of salaried employees.

The Ford Motor Company was the first large company to establish the 8-hour day—also in 1914. And the 40-hour week was inaugurated by the Ford Motor Company in 1926, years before any such laws existed.

The Ford Motor Company employs men without regard to race, creed or color. It is common knowledge that working conditions in the Ford shops are the best that science and constant care can make them. A square deal, a just wage and stabilized employment for a large proportion of our employees—and as fully stabilized for all as conditions will permit—enable our men to retain their personal independence.

In consequence of these policies the Ford Motor Company has one of the finest bodies of employees in the world. The large proportion are mature men of long service with the Company—sober, decent family men. Hundreds of them have been with the Company for more than 25 years—thousands for more than 15 years. Their health record, home ownership and citizenship records are good.

All this is reflected in Ford products, whether cars, trucks or tractors. The work is honestly done. Materials are the best that can be made or procured. Less profit to the Company and more value to the customer is known throughout the motoring world as "Ford's way of doing business."

Ford Motor Company was the first to make a motor car within the means of the average family—quitting the manufacture of what was then the largest-selling model in the world to do so. Its chosen field in all the 30 years since that time has been the average American family—for which it has consistently provided car facilities which formerly only the wealthy could buy.

It is the policy of the Ford Motor Company to share the benefits of advanced methods and management with workers and public alike. Increased wages and employment over a period of many years have resulted in

A 300 per cent increase in the built-in value of the Ford car and a 75 per cent reduction in its price.

Henry Ford and Edsel Ford keep daily personal touch with all phases of Ford manufacture. In a conference with his staff, Henry Ford often says: "Go ahead—I'll sit here and represent the public."
