The Call to Arms!

Most of us and perhaps all of us, are well posted by this time on the outrages which have been heaped on us by the sneaking, treacherous, almond-eyed Japanese. Like sticking a knife in a man's back when asleep, they have pounced on our outposts without the least warning, sunk our ships, killed our soldiers and civilians in an unprecedented manner which only "rats" of the lowest elements could do.

Being aware of this, it now becomes the duty of every man, woman and child to respond to the call to arms. What we mean by a call to arms, is that it will not be necessary to shoulder a gun; there are numerous other ways in which we can answer the call, among which are—assisting against waste, buying Bonds and Stamps, encourage organization instead of war hysteria, help to effect community police protection, locating and exposing un-Americanism, displaying the flag, rallying to its support, and many other means of showing our Americanism.

Public meetings should be held where speakers should be on hand to promote and keep alive the spirit of Freedom.

Then, as we have said, we cannot all carry arms, but we can be of great assistance to our country in various ways too numerous to mention.

Let the flag be displayed in as many places as possible—and let our light shine against heathen aggression, darkness and ignorance.

Let us be on the alert for traitors, spies and those who are enemies of our cause.

This is a call to arms—let us be up and doing. "He that is not for us, is against us."

Later—Germany has declared a "savage" war on the United States and Italy has done likewise.

We accept that CHALLENGE!

AIR service is just as important in football as it is in actual war.

Grantland Rice

The Gophers were the best defensive team in the league, and also the most powerful on attack.

The passing game moves in about this order: First, the passer; second, pass protection; third, receiving.

Notre Dame this year had all three essentials—something they were unable to show against Army in the rain and mud.

The best passers are born—not made—to a large extent, Leahy continued.

"Or a Bertelli?" we suggested. Mr. Leahy smiled, wanly, "Or a Bertelli," he added.

There are times in the Navy game when almost the entire Notre Dame line seemed to be on guard around Bertelli who was rarely hurried or rushed.

Good protection is just as necessary. You may remember how well Dutch Meyer at T.C.U. surrounded Davey O'Brien with Aldrich and Hale—center and tackle.

There are always wide football ranges, but 1941 was fairly close to the all-time record.

For example, the first five opposing teams scored 132 points against Pittsburgh this season.

Then suddenly Fordham couldn't score against Pittsburgh. This was the main shock of this game—more than Fordham's defeat.

Baylor, beaten by Villanova, slaughtered 40 to 0 by Texas A. and M., suddenly turned on a great Texas team, a team that had averaged 34 points a game against teams that looked to be about on Baylor's level.

Pittsburgh never had a chance to get back on her feet after facing such teams as Michigan, Minnesota, Duke and Ohio State on successive Saturdays.

But the Panther was on all four feet against Fordham, which has developed the mournful knack of jumping off the cliff once a year somewhere along the route.

One answer is that certain teams, such as Harvard, start slowly and begin moving up week by week.

Harvard, beaten by Pennsylvania and Cornell in her first two games, was a match for anybody at the end of the season.

Question—Would you like a short tip? You football writers build up beyond our actual strength, and then a lot of you cut our throats because we lose.

Answer—No answer. It's practically 100 per cent true.

Question—What was the best single play you saw this year?

Answer—By Bertelli—in the Navy game. All officials working this game agree on the verdict.

Answer—No answer. It's practically 100 per cent true.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

This "cozy little club" was the famous Junto or "Council," a mutual self-improvement society, formed by Franklin and several of his "ingenious acquaintances."

Although the proceedings of the club were secret and no minutes of its meetings were kept, Franklin, in his writings, has revealed some of the topics which the members of the Junto discussed.

At least one veteran football writer, following the Wisconsin game, was inclined to rate Minnesota as the best team he ever saw when it was functioning at full strength.

What unhappy effects of interdependence have you lately observed?

But the Junto is important in American history if for no other reason than this: It was this club which helped launch Franklin upon the career as a scientist which brought him world-wide fame.

"I never was before engaged in any study that so totally engrossed my attention and my time as this has lately done, for, what with making experiments when I can be alone, and repeating them to my friends and acquaintances, who from the novelty of the thing, come continually to see them, I have, during some months past, had little leisure for anything else."

Undoubtedly the encouragement which he received from his fellow members of the Junto had a great deal to do with his continuing the studies in electricity and branching out into other scientific fields.

This writes Howard McClenahan in the chapter, "Franklin, the Philosopher and Scientist," in the book, "The Amazing Benjamin Franklin."

The Junto lasted for 40-odd years and out of it grew the American Philosophical society, the oldest scientific society on the American continent.

Among these were: 1731, the Library Company of Philadelphia, the first circulating library in America; 1735, the Union Fire company, the first volunteer fire department in Philadelphia; 1740, "Proposals relating to the Education of Youth in Pennsylvania," which led to the formation of the College (afterwards the University) of Pennsylvania; 1751, the Pennsylvania hospital, the first of its kind in America, and 1752, the "Philadelphia Contributionship for the Insurance of Houses from Loss by Fire," the first chartered fire insurance company in America.

IF THAT TAX-DEDUCTION FROM 'PAY ENVELOPES IDEA GOES' FURTHER

Boss—You say you might take a job with us?

Applicant—I think so. What is the pay?

Boss—It's fifty minus.

Applicant—Well, on my last job I got $55 if.

Boss—Come, come, exactly how much do you want to go to work for me?

Applicant—What's E.U. stand for?

Boss—I can't do that. The best I can do is to put you on at a salary of fifty-seven S.F.A.W.K.

Applicant—That means my salary is S.T.W.W.W. or Subject To Washington Weekly Whims. I can't run my house according to whims. I've got to know how much I am going to get each week.

Boss—You can solve that by buying groceries and paying rent on the Federal I.T.H.A.L., or I-You-Have-Anything-Left plan.

Applicant—But ain't a man entitled to know from week to week how he stands financially?

Applicant—No, thanks. But I know a feller who might work for you. He's a beginner. What do you pay a beginner?

Boss—We pay ten dollars minus to begin with. At the end of a year if he makes good we advance him to fifteen dollars minus.

Applicant—That leaves him owing both you and the government money.

Boss—Yes. Applicant—I can see there's no future in working.

Boss—Nonsense. One of our best men here started with us on one dollar a week and worked it up to a mere pittance.

Applicant—That's an exceptional case.

Boss—Not at all. Look at me. When I began here I worked for nothing. Now my salary has grown to such proportions that everything I get goes to the government.

Applicant—In other words, you still get nothing.

Boss—Yes, but if I work hard I can double it.

Applicant—That's an exceptional case.

Poinsettias Need Water, Warmth To Retain Vigor

The beautiful poinsettia is a temperamental plant. It must have the proper amount of sunshine, darkness, water and warmth, or it will die.

Strong, healthy plants and fine blooms will result if the flower is understood and pampered just a little.

Constant warmth is required by the poinsettia. The temperature should be kept between 70 and 80 degrees during the day and about 65 degrees at night.

Abundant water is important, but it should be applied only once each day so that the soil can become moderately dry between watering.

When flowering is over and the leaves are dropped, withhold water until the soil becomes dry.

It is best to give the plant the sunniest spot available. Occasionally fertilize it with a good commercial food tablet.

PREVENT DISEASE IN DAIRY HERD

Good Management, Feeding Will Reduce Losses.

By Dr. GEORGE TAYLOR

Dairymen should think more in terms of herd health and disease prevention and less in terms of treatment and cures.

The value of any dairy animal is dependent primarily upon its health.

Prevention of disease is far less costly than disease treatment, and good feeding and management practices can go a long way toward reducing annual losses in dairy herds due to disease.

The ration should supply the proper balance of protein, energy, minerals, and vitamins. Water is also needed.

Quality roughage, including hay, pasture and grass silage, is the most essential item of dairy feed.

Management ranks with feeding in importance in checking disease. Because the spread of disease is more rapid in large herds, the size of the milking unit should be limited to 50 cows or less.

Separate quarters should also be provided for growing heifers and baby calves. Separate isolation and maternity quarters are also desirable.

Strict sanitation is a most important part of management. Regular systematic cleaning and disinfecting will aid materially in keeping down the causative organisms associated with disease.

Dairy animals should be allowed ample exercise under conditions where they may benefit from fresh air and exposure to sunshine.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Wood

It took the circus to make the peanut into a national food, and it remained for a Negro scientist, Dr. George Washington Carver, to find scores of new uses for the lowly peanut and its shell.

Dr. Carver has developed a peanut milk, shampoo, vinegar, soap, cosmetics, ink powder, rubber and charcoal.

Peanuts are used commercially in more than 300 products including shaving lotions, dyes, linoleum, axle grease and wood stains.

Every part of the plant may be used to advantage. When properly cured, the peanut vines make edible hay for stock which compares favorably with clover and alfalfa.

The shells have been crushed into insulating boards.

Co-operative Marketing associations of the peanut-growing states, have banded together in a National Peanut Council which aims to increase the use of peanuts.

About 200,000,000 pounds are made into peanut butter annually. Salted peanuts appeared first in 1887.

At the New Orleans region's research laboratory of the U. S. department of agriculture, scientists are working on the processes of extracting peanut oil and its use as a lubricant in the textile industry.

To replace imported olive and linseed oil. Shelled peanuts contain 40 to 50 per cent oil and this is often substituted for olive oil in food.

Largest Rural Network

What is believed to be the world's largest rural electrification network connects areas in the adjoining states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa, according to Rural Electrification News.

The generating plant of the Tri-State Power Co-operative, largest yet constructed in the REA program—is located near Genoa, Wis. It is serving 11 farmer-owned distribution co-operatives, and has an installed capacity of 8,000 kilowatts.

Two additional turbo-generators, each with a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts, are to be installed. Its 400 miles of transmission lines, distributing electricity at 34,500 volts, branch out in all directions to large areas in the three states.

Farm Notes

A. G. Black, Farm Credit administration governor, has outlined a plan to prevent a speculative boom in farm real estate at the present time.

The U. S. crop reporting board, in its latest release, estimates the 1941 cotton crop at 11,610,000 bales, as compared with 12,568,000 bales ginned in 1940.

How would you like to be introduced to a pretty girl and, two minutes, later have to throw a glass of water into her face? Barry Nelson knows how it feels to do exactly that. The girl was Laraine Day; Nelson, discovered by Metro on the University of California campus, had to throw the water because William Seltz, directing "China Caravan," liked the idea. Nelson wants to play tough roles; according to Spencer Tracy, he's a "sterling actor," so he should be able to. The role in "China Caravan" is his fourth in pictures, but throwing that water was almost too much for him; he'd rather be tough some other way!

Ann Sheridan and Madeleine Carroll probably didn't know it, but for three weeks they ran neck-and-neck with Lana Turner in an election. The boys at Forts Hancock and Tilden were voting to choose "The Sweetheart of Harbor Defenses." Lana won the title.

If Joan Fontaine needed to make sure of her laurels as an actress, she's certainly accomplished it in "Suspicion," the new Alfred Hitchcock thriller. Her performance is superb. RKO provided an excellent cast, which includes Cary Grant, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Dame May Whitty, Nigel Bruce and Heather Angel. You can see what an actress Miss Fontaine is, to stand out in such a cast.

Clyde Cook, who has a bit part in "Suspicion," directed Hitchcock in an English film in the days before the mystery director won his spurs. Incidentally, if you read that thriller, "Before the Fact," don't expect this picture-version to resemble it too closely.

"I guess the hair-dresser just doesn't like Joan Crawford," remarked a friend of mine after seeing "When Ladies Meet." "And maybe the costume designer felt the same way," she added. Certainly Greer Garson's hair was more becomingly done, and her clothes were prettier than Miss Crawford's. But hair-do's and clothes must be an old story to the Crawford girl, who could give a good performance if she had to wear a sugar sack and have her hair shaved right to her head. Robert Taylor ought to make new friends in this one, too.

Rosalind Russell and her bridegroom drove to New Orleans after their marriage, went by boat to Cuba, flew to Jacksonville and took a train to New York. After a brief stay there she had to rush back to Hollywood for wardrobe tests for "Take a Letter, Darling," in which she plays a bachelor girl. Frances Farmer, who's been co-starring with Tyrone Power in "Son of Fury," is cast as her rival.

Richard Arlen wants to go to China to make a picture, when he flashes "Wildcat," which he's to start about the first of the year. Says it would take about three months to shoot exteriors there, then the troupe would come home to make the rest of it.

A miniature Big Town has been built by a New Orleans man who visualized the imaginary city after listening to Edward G. Robinson's CBS show, which has been on the air for four years; he wants to give it to Robinson, who hesitates—he'd need a special building to house it.

ODDS AND ENDS—Herbert Marshall became an actor because he couldn't add or subtract readily enough to hold a position as a clerk... Raymond Gram Scieszka's vacation begins Christmas Day... John Conner will substitute for him during his three weeks' absence... Jerry Colonna, Allen Jones and a few buddies have the difficult task of concealing the fact that Judy Canova is a stowaway in their army camp in "True to the Army"... Columbia will finally screen its long-postponed "Life of Chopin," with Glenn Ford as the composer... The famous "Thin Man" is wearing thinner than ever, yet "Shadow of the Thin Man" is amusing.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

LESSON TEXT—II Corinthians 8:1-9; 9:6, 7.
GOLDEN TEXT—It is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful.—I Corinthians 4:2.

The Christmas season, when there is so much thought about gifts, is a most appropriate time for a lesson on Christian giving. Dr. John Willis Baer was once asked: "How can we raise money for foreign missions?" Quick as a flash, he answered: "Don't raise it, give it." "If all believers could come to a true knowledge of what the New Testament teaches regarding giving, and would seriously put this knowledge into practice, the Christian church could advance more in the next 10 years than it has advanced in any 50 years in its history" (Wilbur M. Smith).

I. An Example of Liberality (8:1-5).

For some reason people are overly sensitive when one speaks of money. The subject must be approached tactfully, so Paul skillfully directs the attention of the Corinthian church to their fellow Christians in Macedonia. They had been in great affliction and were in "deep poverty" (v. 2), and out of their sorrow and went they gave far above Paul's expectation (v. 5) and "beyond their power," and then pleaded with Paul that he should let them give more. The explanation is found in verse 6, where we learn that they had first given "their own selves to the Lord," and then in loving co-operation with Paul himself, as the Lord's agent, in this matter of the offering.

Is it not strange that those who suffer most for the gospel and have the least to give are the most generous in their giving. Those to whom the gospel has come easily, who bear no special burdens for Christ, and who are well situated financially, are commonly the most stingy with their money. Could it be that they have not really given themselves to the Lord? One wonders.

II. An Exhortation to Faithfulness (8:6-9).

Apparently the Corinthians had made a promise or pledge to give for the poor at Jerusalem, but had become a bit forgetful and negligent. It seems to be so easy to neglect to keep up a pledge for the Lord's work. Some folk even feel that they cannot make a pledge. They pledge to pay their rent, to make payments on a car, or a washing machine; but to the church they just can't pledge, or if they do, the promise is often neglected. Such things are dishonoring to the name of Christ.

As they abound in other graces (v. 7), Paul exhorts the Corinthians to abound in "this grace also." So giving is a Christian grace! And why not? Consider Christ (v. 9), who left the glory He had with the Father and came to the poverty of the One who had not where to lay His head, that we through Him might be eternally rich.

Christian friend, when that truth lays hold of your heart and life your purse strings will loosen, your check book will open more easily, you will gladly give—for Christ's sake.

III. A Principle of Christian Giving (9:6).

The harvest is always in proportion to the sowing of the seed. The man who is stingy with his seed at sowing time will reap that kind of a harvest. The opposite is also true. It works in the field of business too. The merchant who gives the fullest return for one's money, and the most liberal measure of service is bound to prosper, while the stingy one is left to lament the fact that his goods rot on his shelves.

In the spiritual realm it is even more true. But, someone may say, we ought not to do good that we may profit by it. No real Christian will give just that he may prosper, but, mark it well, if he does give for Christ's sake and His glory, God will prosper him. "You can't beat God giving."

IV. The Spirit of Christian Stewardship (9:7).

Our giving is to be done according to the purpose of our heart—not grudgingly, nor with grief, nor yet by compulsion, because someone put on pressure.

God loves a cheerful or (as it may be translated) hilarious giver. When done in the right spirit, giving for Christ can be one of the happiest experiences of the Christian life. Let's make offering time in our church services the most joyful time in the meeting. Then we shall be liberal as well as cheerful in this grace of stewardship.

Faith in Christ

"Martha said, 'Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.' Of all the true disciples of Christ this may with perfect confidence be said, 'He is here, therefore they shall not die.' Faith causes Christ to be present in the heart; and where Christ is, eternal death cannot be."
—Dean Howson.

There's always a Cousin Joe from Kokomo on your Christmas list. You'd like to send him more than a card, but you can't afford an expensive gift. Send him a carton of cigarettes or a pound tin of smoking tobacco. The cost is moderate and it's a gift any smoker welcomes. More smokers prefer Camels than any other cigarette and, of the smoking tobacco, the National Joy Smoke is Fring Albert. Local dealers are featuring gift-wrapped Camels cartons and a novel package of four "flat fifies." THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD

Today's popularity of Doan's Pills, after wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory results. An favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under existing laboratory conditions. These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer dragging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won worldwide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

Recent Biblical research reveals that centuries before Jesus was born the term was given to kindly leaders, whose followers were likened to well-tended flocks. How Do Bank Checks Provide Safety?

Checks provide safety in at least two ways: (1) They eliminate the need of carrying cash and (2) They furnish valid receipts in the form of cancelled vouchers which prove that payment has been made to the designated person. Both of these features are entirely automatic yet the amount of money they have saved for people with checking accounts, if possible to calculate, would be enormous.

JAPAN:

Demands

Following exploratory talks between Japanese envoy Kurosu and Secretary Hull which had more or less been kept secret, the latter suddenly issued a five-point ultimatum to Japan which showed plainly that the United States feared no crisis with Nippon, and that her attitude toward Japan's plans in the Pacific was unchanged.

The United States boldly asserted she was insisting on Japan's withdrawal from the Axis, that Japan must get out of China, that she must withdraw from Indo-China, that she must be willing to keep the open door in the Pacific.

This was followed closely by a welter of rumors that Japan was sending 30,000 men in 70 transports to Indo-China that the U. S. was going to patrol the supply lines to China along the Burma road with airplanes.

On top of all this came Premier Hideki Tojo's blunt statement that in the light of developments Japan considered Britain and the United States "hostile nations" accusing the Western powers of attempting to exploit East Asia, and saying:

"We must purge this sort of practice with vengeance."
Then came word from Singapore that all army leaves had been cancelled and that the entire British force there had been placed "on the alert."

There was little doubt but that the sword of war was dangling by a thread in the Pacific, a fact which President Roosevelt had recognized in taking a brief vacation to Warm Springs, Ga. As he left he remarked that his date of return "depended on Japan."

Tojo continued his tirade against Britain and America by taking note of the rumor that this country was planning a Burma Road patrol. He said that Japan "could not ignore" such a move, and would consider it a "deliberately hostile action."

Real apt that all eyes were turned upon was the border of Thailand, against which many believed that Japan would launch an invasion attempt as an "answer" to Hull's latest message.

RUSSIA:

Gateway Gau

As the Russians admittedly had their backs to the wall in Moscow, they had claimed an outstanding victory in the central southern sector where they asserted their armies had recaptured Rostov-on-Don, an important gateway to the Caucasian oil fields previously lost to the Nazis. For several days the Russians had been talking about a counter-attack somewhat to the west of Rostov, an attack which was driving southward with some success.

At that time Pravda and the army paper Red Star had hinted that this counter-attack was seriously affecting General Von Kleist's supply lines.

Suddenly the Russian armies fell with full force on the Von Kleist army corps, and Kuibyshev reported the entire corps was annihilated and that the Russians had the Nazi forces in the Rostov district rushing off westward in "disorderly retreat."

The Germans admitted the evacuation, and ascribed it to an effort to gain time for retaliation against the attacks of the civilian population on the German rear "in defiance of international law."

Stripped of its Nazi propaganda angles, this seemed at least a partial admission on the part of the German High Command that the Russian attacks on the German communication lines, which had featured Red dispatches for a week, had played a big part in the German disaster at Rostov.

LIBYA:

British Ring

After winning battle after battle by swift encirclements based on the use of fast tanks and screaming dive-bombers, the Nazi forces in North Africa had evidently received a dose of their own medicine, and while dealing out deadly punishment to the British, had been unable to break the iron ring which had trapped an estimated half of the German armies.

The German High Command had blithely announced early in the battle that a "counter-offensive" had retaken Sidi Omar and was moving across the Egyptian frontier, despite the fact, obvious from the maps that in this maneuver the German tanks were going the "wrong way up a one-way street" as one British commentator put it.

The chief Italian mechanized force, the Ariete division, finally managed to join forces with the chief remnants of general Rommel's tank outfits, and were attempting to break out near Rezegh. But Rezegh was at the extreme west end of the British trap, not the extreme east end, as was Sidi Omar.

It was obvious that it was at Rezegh that the main battle was joined, the battle that would spell success or failure for the British effort.

Despite the fact that Germany was sending airplanes from Europe to back up her tank forces in Africa, the British claimed they were still able to hold supremacy in the air, being equipped with hundreds of American planes in addition to their own.

The British also claimed they were steadily widening their wall within which the Nazis were trapped, and that each day the battle continued found them better able to continue it.

ARMS:

For Merchantmen

As America rushed to arm its merchantmen in accordance with the permissions under the neutrality act as revised, the controversy raged hotly as to what good the weapons would do the vessels.

Naval authorities pointed out that they would do little good if the vessel encountered a surface raider.

But against submarines it was a powerful weapon if the ship were able to fire a lethal weapon at its attacker.

Naval men gave figures from the last war, showing that of 302 unarmed merchant ships attacked, only 67 escaped; but of 310 defensively armed merchant vessels attacked, 263 got away.

The secret was this, they said: Submarines attacking a ship while submerged, must get close enough to get a good view of the target through the periscope. Through a choppy sea this is well-nigh impossible because the vantage point is so close to the surface.

But if a submarine may attack a ship from the surface, then its chance of missing its mark is much less.

Hence the presence of guns, fore and aft, on the armed merchantman practically forces the submarine to remain submerged for its own protection.

Guns and depth charges on merchantmen may spell safety for a large percentage, navy men believe.

VICHY:

Surrendered?

London had become perturbed over reports it had obtained from a "reliable foreign source" that Vichy already had yielded to German demands for air and naval control in French North Africa.

While the reports had been current that Petain was seeking a final showdown with Hitler while watching anxiously the British offensive in North Africa, it was reported that the Nazis had taken over four French commercial airlines.

'Natural' Man

DETROIT, MICH.—To Russell Allen, 26-year-old die-maker of Detroit, shoes are only the dictates of dignity. Nightly he can be seen walking down Detroit's streets—sans shoes. He says shoes aren't natural and has gone barefooted for years. He was sickly until he adopted a diet of foods in their natural state. His only meat is raw beef.

U. S. ARMY:

Changes Ideas

Partly as a result of maneuvers in the South, partly as a result of reports from American observers with the warring armies in Europe and Africa, the U. S. army's ideas of a fighting force are undergoing rapid changes.

Modern arms had been accepted, also modern motor transport, and our army had its planes, tanks, anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft guns, and all the other appurtenances of modern warfare.

But this has not been deemed the best arrangement, and army officers now are rearranging the basic arm, the infantry, so that each unit is practically a whole mechanized army in itself.

Each infantry outfit, the new army idea envisions, will have its own screen of tanks, will be completely motorized as regards transport from place to place; it will have its own battery of planes; even its own self-propelled 75-millimeter guns.

Thus what used to be a regiment of foot-soldiers, working in conjunction with separate outfits of plane, artillery and tanks, will now become a complete little army in itself, with all the necessary arms.

FINNS:

Being Replaced?

The report by the British admiralty that submarines of the Royal navy had sent to the bottom eight Axis troopships and supply vessels recently in Arctic waters gave rise to the belief that the Nazis were seeking to replace Finnish troops on the northern Russian front.

This indicated a probability that Finland might not be as wholeheartedly in the war as the German High Command would have the world believe.

One submarine, the British reported, sank five ships and seriously damaged a sixth, and the other sub sent three to the bottom out of a convoy of seven and damaged the others so that "their destruction was believed probable."

At least two of the vessels were carrying troops, London said.

GILLETTE:

His Letter

Senator Gillette of Iowa, a Democrat who was the first target of one of the New Deal's unsuccessful purge efforts in 1937, and who has long been a relentless and capable foe of the President's foreign policy, had written a letter to the President offering his services in any capacity during the present emergency.

The President replied, in part: "If the occasion should warrant it, I would not hesitate to ask you to place your abilities at the disposal of your country in some other capacity than as United States senator."

The incident was regarded as another spectacular development in the progressive collapse of opposition to the administration's foreign policy in the light of the extreme tension in the Far East.

The Iowan informed the President that he had not retreated from his viewpoint. He said, however, that he was utterly willing under the present circumstances to work for causes which were in conflict with his personal opinions. Said he: "This is for the purpose of enlisting myself and all that I have in service for the duration of the emergency."

MISCELLANY:

Washington: Five days before the nation's operating railway workers were to go out on their scheduled strike the tie-up was averted when it was announced from Washington that mediation had finally won out.

New York: The American Institute of Decorators was celebrating the addition of two new members (both honorary)—John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Henry F. Dupont.

Atlantic Amphibious Force (A.A.F.) in Action

Men and Machines in Desert Role

Youth of France Band Together

Last of U.S.S. Lehigh

This striking series of photographs of the sinking of the U. S. S. Lehigh was made by Samuel Hakam, its radio operator. An unseen submarine fired a torpedo into the ship near Freetown, Sierra Leone, Africa. Note U. S. flag painted on her side.

Gen. M-U-D in Action

This photograph which arrived from London via cipher plane shows how heavy rains in northern Russia have hampered activities of the Royal Air force wing serving there with the Reds. The improvised landing field is waterlogged. However, the planes do get into the air. Three Hurricanes rear in for a landing, while another stands on the muddy field.
