PERSONALS

Mrs. Friday Sherrell is assisting as clerk at the Carrizozo Hardware Co., for the holiday period.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dabney and little daughter of the I Bar ranch were holiday shoppers here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kennedy were among our holiday shoppers from the Jicarilla mountain country.

E. M. Stuart, prominent ranchman of Claunch, was a business visitor here last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayer of El Paso, were here last Sunday visiting Mr. Mayer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Mayer and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dale and son Elmo of Ancho, were visitors here last Saturday, returning home in the afternoon.

J. Elfred Jones was here from Alamogordo Monday returning in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Corn and daughter Mrs. Ada Gray of Adobe, were here Wednesday doing shopping at our business houses.

W. D. Ferguson of the U. S. Navy stationed at Norfolk, Va. arrived Wednesday night for a short visit with his father W. J. Ferguson and family.

Mrs. Chloe Fisher of Capitan, was a business visitor here yesterday.

Orville Dow has resigned his position at the postoffice and will enlist in the regular army, so we understand.

The new flag pole at the new courthouse is furnishing a goodly amount of favorable comment.

The electric lines across town between Alamogordo and El Paso avenues are being completely rebuilt under the direction of L. N. Sneathon, an experienced electrical lineman. When completed, the entire city electric lines will have been revamped.

Dewey Stokes, Jr., a cadet at the Roswell Military Academy, is home to spend the yuletide with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stokes, Sr.

Mrs. F. L. Elliott and sister Mrs. Daisy Croft are now in Fontana, Calif., according to word received at this office the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Queen are leaving for San Diego the last of the week to spend the holidays with their sons Mr. and Mrs. Donald Queen and son Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Queen and daughter.

The new flag pole and flag at the new courthouse is furnishing much favorable comment in which the Board of County Commissioners and County Clerk Felix Ramey share the credit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hobbie of Ruidoso, have been notified that their son Theodore, now in the service in the Philippine Islands, has been wounded, but no further facts concerning the Sergeant's misfortune were available.

BILL OF RIGHTS MEETING

Monday afternoon at the High School Auditorium a fitting program was carried out with music by the band and an address by Will Robinson, assistant Adj. General of the State of New Mexico.

Mr. Robinson delivered an excellent address full of patriotism and good advice to the school students which should prove of much valuation to them in after life. The speaker was introduced by Mayor Finley, an old friend and associate. The committee composed of Messrs. Frank Adams, Felix Ramey and James M. Carpenter occupied seats on the platform. Much credit is due the committee for the success of the program. The Auditorium was crowded to its capacity.

HAD THEIR WIRES CROSSED

One night during the past week a party of night revelers with an overdose of 'conversation water' and bent on displaying their patriotism, went to the S. P. Hotel and thinking the Chinese cook, Poy Wing to be a Jap, in a demonstration with threats of doing him bodily harm. In so doing, they made themselves ridiculous from the fact that the coko is a Chinaman, born at Tucson, Arizona. His parents returned to China, taking Poy with them, but after a short stay he returned to this country, where he has since resided. He is a loyal American, eligible for the draft, being registered in class B-A ready and anxious to answer to his country's call.

Mr. Jack Cleghorn was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Sorting Out the Sexes
Women are professionals in romance; men are merely bungling amateurs.—American Magazine.

Baer and Louis

LL BRADY, whose boxing lore goes back a matter of 50 years, is one of the few who believes that Buddy Baer can peddle out a large package of poison to Joe Louis, if trained and handled properly.

Mr. Brady, who directed the earlier destinies of Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries, has thought for some time that the young Baer was the most dangerous challenger Louis had to face. He thought that before the first Louis-Baer mix-up in Washington, and he hasn't changed his mind since.

"Buddy Baer is a Grantland Rice fair boxer, and he is big and game. But, above all, he can punch. And he is capable of showing more speed than he has turned in so far. Buddy needs an extensive training campaign under smart handling. If this happens even champion Louis will have a busy afternoon."

In the other Louis contest Buddy proved that he could punch, and that he could take a bundle of punches on the side. But he was entirely too slow, and if this weakness is corrected in the next six weeks the younger Baer can be built into a threatening challenger.

The Popular Call

Not all the arguments belong to football, although football brings out the greater heat. There is another debate on now as to which is the more popular sport—basketball or bowling.

This argument will have to be restricted to the number of players involved, since basketball is ahead when it comes to attendance. Bowling supporters claim something like 20,000,000 players. Basketball backers speak of millions, with no set figures.

On the playing side, bowling should have the call since it is a simpler family game to take up and older people can give it a try. Bowling is now on a new boom, covering the entire map. On the playing side it leads the list.

Fifty Years Ago

"Dear Grant—I saw Harvard and Yale play their annual game in Springfield in 1833, and I was just thinking about the changes that have taken place when you move up to 1941. I was a 19-year-old kid when I saw Yale beat Harvard, 6 to 0, that day, with 23,000 looking on. There were two great teams. Among others, Yale had Hefelfinger, Stagg, McClung, McBride, Hartwell, and Morrison. Harvard had Cumnock, Upton, Cranston, Bernie Trafford, Leo and Dean.

"We youngsters had never seen this new type of football. When the two teams started warming up we thought they were playing with old footballs knocked out of shape. Also, there were only two substitutions in a hard, rough game.

"The big thrill we got was the arrival of Frank Hinky at Yale. I'd like to say that any one who doesn't get Hinky on his all-time All-America simply doesn't know his football. He weighed only 155 pounds, but he was the hardest, surest and deadliest tackler I ever saw. And yet in his four years of play Frank never had time taken out."

"Hinky was the star of football's all-time roughest game. This was in 1894. I remember how busy the stretcher-bearers were all through the game. The big bowl came when Hinky tackled Wrightington, a 190-pound Harvard back, so terrifically that Wrightington was carried off with a broken collarbone. Fred Murphy, a Yale star, was rushed to the hospital in a serious condition.

"It was in the 1891 game that Harvard introduced the flying and revolving wedges, which Hinky, 'the disembodied ghost,' helped to solve. The game has improved in many, many ways, Grant, but not in the manner of fighting spirit. Now that old guard loved body contact, especially Hefelfinger and Hinky, two of the game's greatest. 'Jack Doyle.'"

No one has looked through a rim of 50 years or more with more observing eyes than Jack Doyle, the well-known betting commissioner, one of the few left who has seen them come along from Hefelfinger to Ediecott Peabody.

The Year of Backs

One of the features of this season has been the number of brilliant backs supplied by the Midwest and South especially.

The Midwest offers Bruce Smith, Westfall, Kilianbrun, Graham, Bertell, Harder, Steuber, DeCarro, Karna and many others. The South has Dudley, Jenkins, Lock, Siskrick, Kaper, Rarison, and from the Southwest such talent as Moser, Layton and Crain.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

By ROBERT McSHANE
Released by Western Newspaper Union

LOU BOUDREAU, 24-year-old shortstop who will manage the Cleveland Indians next season, has taken over a job which will require all the courage and resiliency of his youth.

The Indians aren't a great baseball team—Boudreau admits that. In speaking of his new job, Lou said: "I realize I am young, and that it will be a heavy job, but I feel I can do it with the co-operation of the players and the fans. I feel we'll make our goal, which is the first division. We don't have a great ball club, but we do have a good ball club."

Boudreau didn't lead with his chin. There's more than one reason why he shouldn't. To begin with, the Indians aren't exactly famous for their ability to come through in the pinch. In fact, they have been referred to as a good team on paper because they fold so easily. The Tribe blew its big chance in 1939 and may not come as close again.

The possible—even probable—absence of Fitcher Bob Feller hasn't enhanced the Indians' chances. The army is looking upon Bob with a fond eye. It seems that he is scheduled to get a second lieutenant's rating in the air corps.

Lou takes over the job vacated by the promotion of Roger Peckinpaugh, who, when only 23 years old, managed the New York Yankees the last two weeks of the 1914 season. Peckinpaugh, who managed the Indians in 1941, has been elevated to the top front office desk as vice president. His tenure of office wasn't marked by phenomenal success.

Before Peckinpaugh there was Oscar Vitt. His two-year reign ended in a free fall and Oscar made his way out of the big leagues. His departure didn't seem to grieve him any great amount of heartbreak. The Indians and Vitt just didn't see eye-to-eye.

Boudreau's professional baseball career spans only three full seasons, with only a little more than two in the big league. Chosen the most valuable Cleveland player in 1940 by the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers' association, Lou joined the Indians late in the 1939 season and has started ever since.

Veteran baseball players sing Lou's praises. Lefty O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals, and Tony Lauer, one-time Yankee star and former Cub coach, give him their most pleasurings.

Bowling—the Right Way

By LOWELL JACKSON

(This is one of a series of lessons in bowling by Lowell Jackson, one of the country's outstanding bowlers. Mr. Jackson has achieved 200 games to his credit and has a 19-year league average of 216.)

HALF SPINNER AND SPINNER. The half spinner is delivered with your thumb pointing directly at the headpin. When releasing the bowling ball, twist your finger and wrist from right to left—the same counter-clockwise motion used in the rolling hook.

The difference in the two deliveries is that in the half spinner, the thumb points at the headpin; while in the rolling hook, the open part of the "V" formed by your thumb and index finger points at the pins. The half spinner will roll on one-third of the surface of the ball.

Place the half spinner on a spot from seven to eight boards from the right hand gutter and direct the ball straight at the No. 3 pin. Shortly before reaching the pins, it will hook into the 13 pocket. The half spinner is a very desirable type of ball to use when moving from one alley to another.

The spinner is delivered with your hand in back of the ball, with a twist from the finger and wrist as the ball is released. The delivery calls for a strike more speed than the rolling hook or half-spinner. Expert bowlers use the spinner on alleys that are "running" or slow.

SPORTS SHORTS

A total of 1,311,368 persons saw Western conference teams play 54 football games this year.

Paul Latta, captain of this year's Notre Dame football team, has outlined in the army all corps.

Lee MacPhail, 39-year-old son of Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been appointed business manager of the Toronto baseball club of the International League.

Charles Grimes calls Joe Gordon the best second baseman he has ever seen.

IMAGINARY CHRISTMAS COLUMN

"Mrs. Roosevelt says she believes in telling children there is a Santa Claus. Let them have the joy of believing that Santa Claus does come and that he is such a jolly old saint," she writes.—News item.

Yes, there is a Santa Claus. I sometimes hear people say there is not but yesterday we had quite a few friends over to luncheon and they all quite willingly came out for his existence. Last night I motored to Westbrook. A motorcycle policeman held me up. He wanted to talk about the red light but I got him to talk about Kris Kringle. I told him there really was a Santa Claus and in a very few moments he caught the spirit of the whole thing and told me to drive on.

Today I am attending two luncheons and I shall bring up the matter of Santa and ask for a more universal emphasis. There is so much every one of us can do about it if we only try. It is always hard for me to understand people who say there is no Santa Claus, but I suppose there will always be people of that kind. I get around quite a bit and I find the belief in the jolly saint rather general this time of year. Chicago, Kansas City, Dubuque, Poughkeepsie, Nyack, Los Angeles, Houston—everywhere one finds this true. I have also noticed it in New York, Haverstraw, Chippewa Falls, Cleveland, Brooklyn and Golden Beach.

I also think Santa Claus exists in a very real way in radio. Indeed, it is in a broadcasting station that he seems especially tangible to me. I never look at a microphone without seeing a little red hat on it and long white whiskers.

I think newspapers are full of Santa Clauses, too. Whenever I think of a managing editor I seem to imagine him in a sleigh crying "Oh, Dunder, On Prancer, On Cuddler, On Vixen" to eight tiny reindeer.

Yes, Santa is very real. Very, very real. I would be the last to doubt it. I believed in him as a little girl, but he has never seemed so genuine to me as now. Some of my associates do not believe in him. I regret to say, Westbrook Pegler, for example, thinks he is a fake and I hear he may expose him. I trust not.

After all we are all little children, some more so than others. I sometimes wonder if the kiddies are not smarter than the grown-ups. So let us make this a land of children and childish illusions. Until the last decade not much was done about Santa, in an aggressive way I mean. It all seemed so ineffectual. There was no government interest. But now Santa has the federal government behind him and he is a different person.

Tomorrow I drive to Carson City where there will be a council meeting for Better Santas and the next day I go to Oil City, Pa., to help launch the Women's Federation for the Standardization of Artificial Snow Flakes. If anybody asks me if there is a Santa Claus I shall not mince words.

WANNA BET?

The Society of Restaurateurs reports that a poll of patrons on the question of what to do to solve the problem of serving adequate meals in the crisis shows that 15 per cent favored a charge for bread and butter and 8 per cent favored charging extra for coffee or tea with dinners.

Well, we just don't believe it. We have never yet encountered anybody who didn't fume over a separate charge for bread and butter. And nothing makes the average patron as sore as the 35-cent pot of tea or coffee.

If the gas crisis gets as bad as predicted we may get a fellow with a half-pint of gasoline trying to get a garage to open up so let him have enough automobile for a little fun.

TOWNS THE HOUSE COMING ON?

Among the more irascible citizens of the moment are those who were fortunate enough to begin building or remodeling a house this summer. We know a man who has been a victim of so many priority laws that he is naming his new mansion "Priority Manor."

"I can't get any plumbing, change walls, gutters, radiators or door knobs," he wailed yesterday. "Well, we did Japan get all our door knobs and hinges, too?"

School Goes On As Bombs Drop

Many Children Are Barefoot, Underfed, but Readin', Writin' Continue.

NEW YORK.—They're back at their tattered books in this third school year of Great War II: Ian and Mary of England, Karl and Gretchen of Germany, Jean and Marie of France and Luigi and Angelina of Italy, in the strange school rooms fashioned by Mars.

That is, they're at school if there is any school, as almost always there is, and if they have any shoes to wear, which sometimes they haven't.

In England, 4,500,000 boys and girls, gas masks slung over shoulders, trudge daily to classes; in many cases in "safe" areas far from home; in at least one case, in the path of the shells that Germany's Big Bertha's fire across those fearful 20-odd miles of English Channel.

In France, refugees choke the schools, yet numbers of children learn their lessons at home, by radio, because their shoes are worn out. In Italy, there are new school shelters, now that there are more British air raids. In Germany, the "lehrer" with close-cropped hair and ruler, dally doles out vitamin pills to his smallest students.

Jews Are Barred. The children of neutral Switzerland have air-raid drills between classes. The schools of the Nazi-occupied Balkans have fewer to teach this year, for in increasing measure new laws have barred the sons and daughters of Jews.

But almost everywhere else, enrollments are close to normal. The children of Hell's Corner, England, which rightly is known as Dover, went back to their regular buildings this month for the first time since Dunkerque.

Since September, 1933, the movement of hundreds of thousands of children from British cities to countryside and back again has provided a mass phenomenon without parallel in history or social science.

Then France fell, the children went back to the country and those who had been sent to "safety" on the south and east coasts were trundled inland.

In the ensuing months bombs and fires destroyed hundreds of school buildings (London alone lost 600, or two-thirds of the capital's total); others were commandeered for rest centers and fire-fighting services. Yet today, school facilities are available—somewhere—for 96.5 per cent of the United Kingdom's maximum school population.

In a few places there are special schools, manned by psychologists, to heal child minds upset by bombings. But these are few.

Schoolmasters who went to great lengths to provide group singing and other distractions for pupils during air raids found, as one said: "The boys were rubbing their hands with glee in expectation of the bomb splinters and other souvenirs they would be able to collect"—even while the bombs were crunching down and the ack-ack was roaring.

Sleep Through Raids. For a time, schools kept open at night to let children sleep at their desks because they were frightened in their beds when the sirens screamed. Now, one board reports, most youngsters can sleep through the noisiest barrage.

Even counting out the shoeless absentees, schools in so-called unoccupied France opened this fall with still-barefooted refugees adding 30 per cent to the normal attendance. The schools broadcast courses to the children at home and the government is trying to get them back into class by issuing emergency shoe ration coupons.

Berlin's schools began with a normal attendance and increased health supervision, including the distribution of the vitamin tablets for the youngest boys and girls.

Six million Italian children went back to school 10 days later than usual, to find new bomb shelters in the larger cities.

Soldiers' Novelty Bait

Tricks Louisiana Fish. CAMP SHELBY, MISS.—Maybe fish in the Whiskey Chitto creek in southern Louisiana are naturally easy to please, or maybe they've got into the swing of maneuver "simulation."

Soldiers of the Thirty-eighth division reported catching on maneuvers:

- 1. Eleven catfish with paper wads on their hooks.
- 2. A mess of brim lured by cigarette butts.
- 3. And both species on bare hooks weighted down with fingernail clip pers and empty cartridge hulls.

Desolate Utah Section

May Yield Magnesium SALT LAKE CITY.—Utah, the nation's foremost nonferrous metal producing state, also may become a major source of magnesium.

Extensive tests are being made in Grand County—a desolate section of southern Utah.

The first hints of the presence of magnesium came in 1932, when test oil wells were drilled. The residue revealed a 20 per cent magnesium content.

'Peace on Earth...'

"PEACE on earth, good will to men!"

There seems to be precious little of either on this Christmas day. Yet that's not so unusual. Glance through the pages of American history and you'll find plenty of examples of Christmas days given over to war, instead of peace, and to ill will, instead of good will.

It has been true since this republic was founded. The first Christmas after the signing of the Declaration of Independence saw George Washington and his Continentals struggling to keep alive the fight for liberty. On the evening of December 25 he crossed the Delaware, attacked Trenton and spoiled the Christmas celebration of Colonel Hall and his force of 1,000 Hessians, killing 22, wounding 84 and capturing 868. The American casualty list was only four wounded.

But if Christmas, 1776, was bright with victory, Christmas, 1777 was correspondingly dark with despair. For it was spent at Valley Forge and that fact speaks for itself.

Christmas, 1788, was scarcely a time of good will among the men of the new nation, especially in western Massachusetts where armed men were marching over the hills and through the valleys, ready to plunge their state into the horrors of a civil war. For on that Christmas day the incident, which has come down in history as "Shays' Rebellion," was mounting to a climax because a people, driven to despair by poverty, high taxes and a loss of faith in their government, had resorted to armed force to right their wrongs.

Their leader was Daniel Shays, who had served with distinction for five years in the Continental army and came out of the Revolution a captain. But the "Patriot" of 1776 became a "rebel" in 1786, was driven out of his native state when the governor of Massachusetts called out the militia to suppress the "rebellion" and died a poverty-stricken exile in 1825.

In 1836 the Texans won their independence from Mexico and for a time there was peace between the two countries. Then the Mexicans began making raids on Texan territory and the Texans, under Gen. Thomas Jefferson Green, determined to retaliate. Over the protest of Sam Houston, an army of 334 men invaded Mexico. On Christmas day, 1842, they met a force of more than 2,000 Mexicans under General Ampudia at Mier and after killing nearly half of the enemy were induced by false promises to surrender. Thus the famous "Mier expedition" ended in disaster, for later, by order of Gen. Santa Anna, every tenth Texan was executed.

Four years later the Americans and Mexicans were at war again—this time a formally declared war—on December 25, 1846, Col. Alexander Doniphan of the First Regiment of Missouri Mounted Volunteers was fighting a battle with 1,200 Mexicans at Bracito river. The Mexican loss was 63 killed and 160 wounded; the American, seven wounded.

December 25, 1860, was a fateful Christmas in American history. On that night a little force of soldiers, commanded by Maj. Robert Anderson, stole quietly out of Fort Moultrie and occupied Fort Sumter in the middle of the entrance to the harbor of Charleston, S. C. Four months later the commander of the Confederate forces in Charleston called upon him to surrender; he refused and when a shell went screaming across the waters to strike Sumter's brick walls it set 2,000,000 Americans against each other in the greatest civil war in history.

Happily, not all Christmas days in American history have been dedicated to war. On Christmas Eve, 1814, John Quincy Adams, Albert Gallatin, James Bayard, Jonathan Russell, and Henry Clay, American commissioners, met with representatives from Great Britain in the city of Ghent in Belgium, to try to end the long-drawn-out negotiations which had kept them there since the preceding August. Perhaps the spirit of Christmas aided them. At any rate the wrangling ceased and they signed the treaty which ended the War of 1812.

A drop of perfume on an electric light bulb will scent the whole room.

Remove the little black line in shrimps before using them. The line is the intestinal tract.

To toast nuts, sprinkle them in thin layer in shallow pan. Heat slowly and wok until nuts are light brown in color, stir frequently with fork.

Avoid over-cooking vegetables. The one great fault in cooking them is over-cooking.

Casserole dishes made of meat, vegetables or fish can be cooked in the morning and reheated just before they are to be served.

Dry atmosphere and high temperature are the two biggest difficulties in growing house plants. Unless you have a good heating system, which gives you air-conditioning, it's necessary to put evaporating pans on the radiators to increase the humidity in the house, so that plants will do their best.

Potatoes bake more quickly if placed on the broiler instead of the floor of the gas oven, and the flavor will be much improved by quick baking.

Stop worrying about what to send that man you know in the service. He's answered that Christmas gift problem for you in any number of surveys made in camp and on shipboard. It's cigarettes and smoking tobacco first. The favorite cigarette is Camel. The big favorite among smoking tobaccos is Prince Albert, the National Joy Smoke, according to actual sales records from service stores in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. Local dealers are featuring Camels in your choice of two gaily wrapped packages, also, and tins and pound glass humidor of Prince Albert as ideal Christmas gifts for the men in the service.—Adv.

Facts of ADVERTISING

ADVERTISING represents the leadership of a nation. It points the way. We merely follow—follow to new heights of comfort, of convenience, of happiness.

As time goes on advertising is used more and more, and as it is used more we all profit more. It's the way advertising has—of bringing a profit to everybody concerned, the consumer included.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

IT IS difficult to know what to say about the National Legion of Decency's banning of Greta Garbo's new picture, "Two-Faced Woman," with Archbishop Spellman also condemning it, and various cities banning it as well. The plot, that of the woman who poses as her twin sister to prove to her husband that she is glamorous, has been used in Hollywood over and over. Will H. Hays' office had passed the picture. There is hardly a picture-goer who hasn't seen things on the screen that shocked him. But since "Two-Faced Woman" was banned, there must have been some excellent reason for it.

Do you remember that delightful story, "The Constant Nymph"? It will be made again by Warner Brothers, with Charles Boyer and

CHARLES BOYER

Joan Fontaine—who can have practically anything she wants these days—in the principal roles.

Bob Hope and Victor Moore are to be teamed in Paramount's version of "Ready Money," the farce about a young man who becomes a financier by mistake. Last time it was filmed was in 1914, after it had been a successful stage production.

Barbara Stanwyck may have contributed a new slang phrase to our language. During the making of "Ball of Fire" she happened along when Director Howard Hawks and the picture's authors were trying to think of something slightly slangy for her to say when she walked up to some men she didn't know very well, in a night club. "That's easy," said Barbara. "I'll say 'What's buzzin', cousin?' That's what we used to say in Brooklyn." It's in the picture.

"For Whom the Bell Tolls" is under way even though the cast isn't complete. More than 120 technicians and actors left Hollywood recently for the loftiest location site in film history—a spot 9,300 feet up in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Technicolor and long shots had to be made now because of favorable snow conditions, similar to those in the book.

Donivee Purkey knew what she wanted years ago; now she's got it. She wanted to get into the movies; she worked hard in high school and college dramatics, for four years, and a Paramount talent scout plucked her out of a college play and sent her to Hollywood for a screen (i. e., You'll see her, probably, in "The Fleet's In." Oh yes—she changed that name to Laura Lee.

When Gilbert Roland, Philip Reed, Errol Flynn and other Hollywoodites who like tennis enter the annual motion picture tournament next spring they're likely to rue the day that Paramount signed up Jim Brown, who's now playing the romantic lead in "Out of the Frying Pan." Brown is Texas tennis champion.

Radio's "Woman of Courage" has two leading women who made names for themselves in the movies in the days when radio was a lot of strange machinery and a couple of ear phones. They are Esther Ralston, one of the most beautiful blondes of that day, and Enid Markey, one of the most striking brunettes.

If you're a star of "Meet the People" you're destined for Hollywood fame, apparently. First Virginia O'Brien, then William Orr, signed up for the movies. The third member of the cast to face the cameras is Betty Wells, who was nabbed by Metro.

ODDS AND ENDS—It's rumored about that Errol Flynn succeeded in making himself exceedingly unpopular with the newspaper photographers of New York recently... President Roosevelt will be heard over the Mutual chain December 24 during the ceremonies at the annual lighting of the National Christmas tree... The actor-raven of "True to the Army" has been offered to the U. S. army signal corps, to co-operate with the army's carrier pigeons... Bob Hope and Rita Hayworth have been selected by the news camera-men assigned to Hollywood as "the most photogenic stars of 1941."

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 9:6, 7; John 1:1-4, 10:14; 1 John 4:9-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.—1 John 4:14.

Christmas again! How shall we keep it in a world torn by strife and poisoned by man's bitterness against man? Let us keep it with all the joy and gladness at our command. Let us make this the best Christmas we and our families have ever had. How? By giving more and richer gifts? No—although they have their place when rightly given and received. By feasting and merrymaking? No—although they too have their place, when carried on in the true spirit of love and friendship. What then? Let us make this an outstanding Christmas by centering our thoughts, our affections, our joys—yes, and our gifts of self and substance—around God's Son, whose "birthday" we celebrate.

May Christmas, 1941, be the best you have ever spent. This is the writer's sincere wish for you. One way to make it just that is to diligently study our lesson for this next Sunday, which tells of the coming of God's Son.

I. His Coming and Character Prophesied (Isa. 9:6, 7).
God who was to send His Son into the world to become the Saviour of sinful man fittingly made known His coming through Isaiah (and others) 800 years before it took place. This greatest event in all history was the subject of exact and detailed prophecy, which was completely fulfilled. Although Isaiah calls Him "a child" (as indeed He was), he saw Him as the divine One whose glory and power is revealed in the magnificent array of names found in verse 6.

"Wonderful," a much abused and misused word, found its real meaning in Him—He really is wonderful in every way. "Counselor!" He does not need or seek the counsel of others—He is the Counselor. Have you sought His counsel? "The Mighty God"—not a mere man, but God unlimited in power. "The Everlasting Father," which is really the "Father of eternity," the One to whom eternity owes its existence. "The Prince of Peace," who will one day bring peace to the earth when He comes to reign; something we need not expect before that blessed day.

Little wonder that "the government shall be upon his shoulders" (v. 6), and that He shall reign on the throne of David forever. That is prophecy yet to be fulfilled, but it will be, even as the others, for "the zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this."

II. His Incarnation and Redemption Completed (John 1:1-4, 10:14).
The Eternal One—who was in the beginning with the Father, He who was God and who made all things, this One who was the life and the light of men—humbled Himself and took upon Himself the likeness of sinful man. He was "made flesh and dwelt among us," revealing the grace and glory of God. The incarnation of Christ is a truth the greatness and glory of which we cannot fully understand; but we know that it was for us that He came—for our redemption.

The world—His own world—received Him not. "But"—and thank God for that blessed "but!"—as many as received him, to them gave he the power (or better, "the right," as in R.V.) to become the children of God. Redemption is by a new birth, a divine birth, "not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man." It is a complete redemption by faith in Him who revealed the grace of God to man. This is the great message of Christmas. Let us not miss it.

But there is another word for this precious and blessed season—it is that of love.

III. His Love and Our Love Manifested (1 John 4:9-11).
The love of God has been expressed in many precious ways, but the full and final manifestation was in the sending of His only begotten Son into the world that we might have life through Him. This is love supreme, that God loved us when we did not love Him, the altogether lovely One giving His best and dearest in loving sacrifice for the altogether unlovely ones.

Such love in making the unspeakable gift to us must of necessity call forth from us not only love toward Him, but also for one another. Christmas is an excellent time to deepen and sweeten the love which exists between Christian brethren. We need to be drawn very close to one another for mutual encouragement, strengthening of our faith, and for the effective outreach of Christ's love to the whole world through us.

The eternal, glorious Christ came. He wrought out redemption full and free. He revealed God's great love to us—and to all the world. What a delightful Christmas message that is. Let us receive it and declare it.

In the Christmas Rush
By Willard Hartwick

THEY had been doing their Christmas shopping together, and stood with burdened arms waiting to board a street car for home. Again and again they joined the line-up of would-be passengers only to see the car move off without them. "Look here, Mrs. Young. I think we're crazy to try to get home in this crush," said plump Mrs. Older. "Let us go to the Purple Tea-room and have dinner and rest till the crowd thins out a bit."

"Oh, I couldn't do that," almost wailed pretty little Mrs. Young. "I simply must get home. Teddy would be so annoyed if he got home and found me out and no dinner ready."

"But you could phone from the tea-room," said Mrs. Older. "Teddy wouldn't like it," objected Mrs. Young. "He would say I shouldn't have stayed shopping so late."

"What nonsense," scoffed Mrs. Older, with the license of an old friend. But Mrs. Young was firm. She was going to get home before Teddy if it were—at all possible.

However, after a few more ineffectual attempts to board a car, during one of which she spilled her parcels on the pavement, Mrs. Young reluctantly accompanied the hobbling Mrs. Older around the corner to the Purple Tea-room.

Under the spell of the purple-and-gold shaded lights, the two weary women ordered substantial dinners.

Mrs. Young's body relaxed into ease, but her mind did not. She ought to be at home. She wanted to be at home. Home was the place for married women at meal-time.

"Teddy and I promised each other when we were married that we'd never eat dinner apart if we could possibly avoid it," she murmured. "I hate to be the first to break that promise—I know Teddy wouldn't."

"Well, six months is quite long enough to keep a promise like that," asserted Mrs. Older. You might just as well settle down and enjoy yourself."

She noted hungrily what an unusually attractive meal it was.

But Mrs. Young couldn't smile or even pretend an enjoyment she didn't feel. She wanted to be at home preparing a cozy welcome for Teddy. Just at her most homesick and contrite moment, she raised her misty eyes to the wall opposite and read on a little framed card: "If you want a taxi call Main 0000."

She rose to her feet, the light of decision flashing across her face.

"I'm going to ring for a taxi to take me home," she said.

"Don't be foolish," admonished the rather disgusted Mrs. Older.

"A taxi will cost you quite a bit and you said you were broke."

"I still have that $10 bill Teddy gave me to buy a Christmas present for myself. I'll use some of that—and I can get be home in time to get dinner."

Mrs. Young gathered up her numerous parcels and on her way out she met a waitress carrying in her dinner. As she stopped to take her check off the tray she noted hungrily what an unusually attractive meal it was.

In an amazingly short time the summoned taxi whirled her home without notable incident—except the smash-up that occurred in the $10 bill when it came into collision with the taxi fare. Mrs. Young found that she had just 25 minutes to the good, and she did a meal-marathon that broke all records.

At the exact minute of Teddy's usual arrival she was ready for him with a smile on her face. And just then the phone bell rang. She could hardly believe her ears when she heard Teddy telling her over the wires that he would not be home to dinner.

"Go right ahead and have your own dinner, dearie," Teddy said, and his voice didn't sound a bit regretful. "I've had an extra hard day, and I don't feel like standing all the way home, as I know I would have to do if I got on a car at this hour. Older and I are going to drop into the Purple Tea-room for dinner. By-by, dearie."

First Printing of Christmas Carols
Christmas carols had a wide appeal from the very beginning. They pleased both the devout and the roisterers, and it was inevitable that they should find their way into print. The earliest printed collection is probably Wynkyn de Worde's "Christmas Caroles Newly Printed" (1520). Only a single leaf is extant. It contains two complete carols—one a hunting song, and the other a boar's head carol.

'Closed Shop'

A "closed shop" is a "shop" or business in which only union labor can be employed, says Pathfinder. In such a shop the employer is required to dismiss employees who fail to remain members in good standing in their union.

A "union shop" differs from a "closed shop" in that the employer may hire non-union workers with the provision that they will become union members within a specified period, generally, 15, 30 or 60 days from the date of employment. They too must remain members in good standing in the union; otherwise the employer is compelled to dismiss them.

Jacket emphasizing width at the shoulders and fitting smoothly over the hips helps the average figure achieve youthful slenderness—the skirt is comfortable to wear for walking, standing and sitting, the dickey provides a note of freshness for this costume so that it is always attractive to wear. Make it now for yourself in gabardine, twills, plaids, novelty rayons or serge.

Lincoln County has been asked to raise $1100.00 as its quota in the Red Cross $50,000,000.00 campaign initiated by President Roosevelt last Friday morning.

The treacherous attack by Japan upon American soil will cause untold suffering among our own people and our boys in the service. The Red Cross cannot fail those in the service and in need. The people in Lincoln County cannot fail to do their bit toward raising this fund. Lincoln County must raise its quota of $1100.00 and must have the loyal cooperation of every resident of the County.

Everyone is urged to send a contribution to Frank Adams, County Chairman, Carrizozo, New Mexico.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Japanese Follow Axis War Strategy Of Attack on American Possessions While Diplomatic Envoys Talk Peace; Nation Unites in All-Out War Effort

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

With the opening of the Japanese blitz on the United States the spotlight of news swung to this section of the world. Above are shown the battle stations of the Pacific. First blow, a bombing attack, was aimed at the chief naval base of Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands. Several points in the Philippines were bombed. Guam was attacked by planes. The British port of Singapore was bombed and Japanese troops made a landing on the Malay peninsula north of Singapore.

WAR: Sudden Attack

When war came to the United States it came with a sudden fury that startled the entire nation. First news of Japan's attack on the great U. S. air and naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, came from the White House in Washington. Later reports told of the attacks on the Philippines and on the island outpost of Guam.

Though the nation was startled it was suddenly united. From former "isolationist" leaders and newspapers came pledges of support to the government in dealing with an unprovoked attack upon the United States.

Invoking the Nazi blitzkrieg tactic of striking with great surprise, Japanese bombers swooped over the city of Honolulu, the stronghold at Pearl Harbor and on the army's nearby flying base, Hickman field, even as the Japanese envoys in the United States were talking "peace" to state department officials in Washington.

Though the immediate attack came without warning the strong defense forces in Pearl Harbor went into quick action and heavy anti-aircraft fire shook the Pearl Harbor sector as the battle got under way. After news of the attacks had reached Washington, radio listening outposts picked up word that Japan had declared war on the United States and Great Britain. By this time President Roosevelt had ordered U. S. army and naval forces in the Far East to execute "all previously prepared" orders. This order was carried out by U. S. aviators taking to the air and the fleet steaming out of Pearl Harbor to battle the enemy.

President Roosevelt called an immediate conference with cabinet members and legislative leaders to prepare plans for leading the nation through the crisis. As this conference was being held a report came in from Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, U. S. army commander in the Far East, telling of the several attacks on U. S. bases in the Philippines.

Planes participating in the bombing of Pearl Harbor were believed to be operating from an aircraft carrier somewhere in the region. A report by way of the Panama Canal Zone told of the sinking of a Japanese aircraft carrier in the Hawaiian area.

Immediate Allies

Support to the United States was immediately forthcoming from other nations. On the same day as the Japanese blitz got under way the government of the Netherlands Indies declared war on Japan. In the Western hemisphere, Canada drew up its declaration of war, as did the Central American republic of Costa Rica. Australia joined the ranks of Nippon's foes.

Even before congress could get into session, Great Britain's parliament had been summoned to draw up its declaration. Winston Churchill, British prime minister, had previously pledged that should the United States be forced to go to war against Japan, Great Britain would join in the fight "within the hour." As the Japanese began their long contemplated but currently unexpected drive Russia was expected to come with its forces on the side of the United States.

ARMY AND NAVY: Strength

"On any comparable basis, the U. S. navy is second to none," declared Navy Secretary Knox only a day before the attack made on U. S. possessions by Japanese bombers. Compared to the status when the U. S. entered the First World war in 1917, both the army and the navy are on a larger scale. The army had approximately 1,600,000 in uniform the fatal Sunday when the bombs were let loose in Hawaii. In 1917, there were but 200,000 men. While the character of naval vessels has changed in the capital ships group, so that comparison is not easy, it is significant to note the increase in destroyers and submarines. We have 170 destroyers today compared with 52 in 1917, and 113 submarines compared with 44. The available number of U. S. combat planes on the outbreak of hostilities was estimated at 7,500.

As of November 1, 1941, the navy had in commission 17 battleships, 7 aircraft carriers, 37 cruisers, 170 destroyers, and 113 submarines.

SUB-ZERO: Moscow Defends

Once again the weather man, having dished out weather much too warm for Russian comfort, turned again to aid the Red defense of Moscow, and Pravda was reporting the Soviet legions falling on the attackers in a temperature 17 below zero, and shoving them back all along the line.

Described battle lines on the southern, or Rostov front moved back beyond the Mius river, some 60 miles west of the "spigot city of Caucasian oil," and a score of miles west of Tsganrog.

Russian reports described attacks upon fleeing Germans from the waters of the Sea of Azov, the fleet's guns hammering the Nazis and preventing them from reforming their lines along the coastal road.

The Reds also claimed having crossed the Mius, and trapping German forces attempting to make it back to Mariupol, currently General Von Kleist's headquarters.

From the Moscow front came dispatches claiming a big Red victory in the Moshalak-Volokolamsk sector, directly west of the city, halting and hurling back a German drive which Berlin claimed had brought them within 16 miles of the city.

Rome reports said that "a million and a half men and 8,000 tanks were driving on Moscow" but the Russians said the pressure was less, and that with the weather more favorable (the Reds seemed to pick up speed under sub-zero temperatures), the defense of the capital seemed more hopeful.

As to the Mius river crossing in the south, the Russians said they had executed a maneuver which trapped many Nazi regiments.

FINNISH: Ships Seized

The British declaration of war on Finland, Hungary and Rumania had not been unexpected, but had been followed swiftly in the United States by the seizure of all Finnish vessels in American ports.

That was carrying out the terms of this country in "being into protective custody" vessels of Axis-friendly countries, or those registered by Axis powers on the theory that it permitted to have they would be scuttled or captured.

New Role

When the Japanese started their attack on U. S. outposts, President Roosevelt faced the biggest of the many tough jobs he has had since he began his tenure in the White House. Shortly before news of the surprise attack by the Japanese was made the President had addressed Emperor Hirohito of Japan with a moving appeal for peace. But when bombs blasted loose over Pearl Harbor his job became, not one of peace but of leading a nation at war.

PRESSURE: In Libya

The British trap in Libya had remained closed, and the war which had been confusing and swift-moving had changed to a "pressure battle" in which the British contented themselves with slowly closing the ring instead of attempting head-and-head battles with small German formations.

A partial totaling of German-Italian prisoners taken up to this point had been 5,000 in "rear camps" and 2,500 in temporary camps nearer the front.

The 5,000 were divided 3,000 Italians and 2,000 Germans and the other group was split into 1,500 Italians and 1,000 Germans. In addition the British claimed huge amounts of material captured or destroyed.

In the most recent fighting, one day's toll at Ed Duda included 15 Italian tanks destroyed, 130 vehicles and 50,000 gallons of fuel oil taken, 400 men captured, two batteries of medium artillery; five anti-tank guns, 50 supply trucks and a big quantity of ammunition.

Amusing stories abounded. The best was the German prisoner who said he was, at the time of his capture, escorting a score of British prisoners to the rear.

The men kept spreading out, he said, and finally, two of them made a break to escape. They fled toward an emplacement of Italian machine-guns. The German said the Italians, 11 in number, surrendered at once to the two fleeing Englishmen, who then grabbed the Italian guns and captured the German sentry, the whole group of one German and 11 Italians being taken back to the British lines.

PLANE: Biggest Damaged

The world's largest airplane, the 200-foot-wing-spread Martin navy bomber "Mars," was damaged by an explosion and fire on its maiden "water test" and an investigation of possible sabotage had begun.

To watchers on shore it had appeared the plane had suddenly gone out of control, then there was a sudden roar, crash and one motor dropped off, to be succeeded by a burst of flame and smoke, the crew veering the ship to the river bank and then jumping overboard with fire extinguishers, and fighting the flames from chest-deep water.

Vice President and Pilot Ken Ebel said the fire was caused by a propeller blade coming off and shearing cleanly through the control room, injuring one man and cutting oil and gas lines, which started the blaze.

Investigation centered on the fact that the propellers were plastic, first time this material had been used on an American plane of large size, though it had been reputedly used with success in German and Russian planes.

LEOPOLD: Weds Commoner

After being "out-of-the-news" practically since his dramatic surrender during the Nazi sweep through the Low Countries, King Leopold, the "tragic recluse of Laeken," has been revealed as secretly married for months to a commoner.

The fatal automobile accident which almost took his life and in which his former wife, Queen Astrid was fatally hurt, occurred in 1935.

The bride was said to be Mary Lella Baels, a "well-educated, simple woman." She is a daughter of a former Belgian cabinet member.

The new consort of the "prisoner king" is much younger than he. It was said that they were married secretly in a church ceremony, and that a civil ceremony was planned soon. Leopold's father, like his first wife, died a tragic death. King Albert was killed in a mysterious fall while climbing a mountain peak at Namur only a year before Queen Astrid's death.

Latest Additions to America's Sea Power

Above you see a "mosquito boat" of the U. S. navy, zipping across the bows of a freighter in New York harbor during a test run. Officially designated as "P-T" boats, these little craft carry torpedo tubes and machine guns in turrets and have terrific speed. Inset: Slipping into the waters of Los Angeles harbor is the 10,000-ton John Paul Jones, its name reminiscent of an earlier American ship. The cost was $1,650,000.

Start of British-African Drive

The picture at the left, made somewhere on the Egyptian-Libyan border, shows a Bren carrier coming through barbed wire that marked the Egyptian-Libyan border as the British opened their attack on Axis forces in the desert. At the right an artillery piece opens fire in a desert attack to push the Axis forces into the Mediterranean.—Soundphotos.

Guardians of Our Western Coast

Soon after word of the Japanese attack on Hawaii was flashed from the White House, American aviators took to the air and the U. S. fleet steamed out of Pearl Harbor to meet the stealthy Japanese. This photo (taken before the attack) shows the Pacific fleet steaming through the Golden Gate.

Caught Short Behind the Enemy Lines

This photograph, which was passed by the German censors and received in New York, shows according to its accompanying caption, hundreds of Soviet prisoners, captured behind the German lines. They are being marched by their captors to an internment camp somewhere behind the battle line on the eastern front.

Jones Found It Difficult Matter to Change His Diet

Going to a new restaurant for lunch Jones ordered brown bread. The waitress brought him white. Jones, being a reserved fellow, said nothing.

Then he decided that the only way to get what he wanted was to order the opposite. So he started the new week by adding to his luncheon order: 'And bring me some white bread.'

LET US TELL YOU MORE ABOUT IT

DEEP WATER ISLAND by ALAN LEMAY

INSTALLMENT THREE THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Waterson, San Francisco girl, convinced by her lawyer, John Colt, that she has a claim to the island estate of her grandfather, Garrett Waterson, arrives in Honolulu to attempt to gain control of the property.

'I always heard,' Tonga Dick said, 'that Garrett Waterson was a great old boy—quite a character.' 'Character be damned,' Willard fumed. 'He had no character at all. He was an outrageous old brawler, always at the center of every disturbance of any kind.'

On an impulse Karen said, 'I'll tell you why I have to go. I have to go because I'm afraid of those Waynes.'

John Colt looked at her curiously. To this man, this watchful and restless planner, honesty was a rigid thing; rights of property were matters decided only in courts, and no other rights existed.

CHAPTER III

Lying full length on a deck chair, Karen drank a pre-lunch Martini, and watched the stunning blue and white of the sea stream past the low foredeck of Richard Wayne's schooner.

At first, sheering away from Barber's Point, Karen had experienced a sharp sinking of spirits. But during the morning hours on the sea a new vitality had come into her, as if from the long swells of the open sea itself.

'I was wondering how your schooner came by her name,' 'Holokai means 'sea-rider,' he told her. 'That's peculiarly poetic.'

'Oh, I didn't name her myself. She was named by the man from whom she came to me.' 'Who?' Karen asked innocently.

Tonga Dick shrugged. 'There are all manner of boats knocking about the Pacific. You can always get hold of a boat.'

She studied Tonga Dick Wayne, covertly. In the bright reflected light of the cloudless sea he still seemed young, even younger than she had believed the night before.

'You're very lovely,' he said. 'It's only fair to tell you this: in every way that I can imagine, you're the loveliest thing I've ever seen on the earth or the face of the sea.'

'Well, really, are you making love to me now?' It was a flimsy defense; in contradiction to his words, she knew that he was not making love.

'No man of any sense pretends to know anything about women,' Tonga Dick was saying. 'The old island people drew deadlines past which no woman could come, and those lines were drawn by darkness, and fear. They knew the truth—that it is not possible for a man to know what things govern a woman.'

She jerked her eyes from his face and stood up, bracing herself against the reel of the little schooner. A glance across the face of the sea told her a startling thing, before unconsidered. All that day, since early morning, they had been striking straight out from Honolulu into the open Pacific.

FARM TOPICS

FARM FAMILIES NEED A-1 DIETS

Use of Protective Foods Will Aid Good Health.

By MISS MABEL G. FERNALD (Home Demonstration Agent, Ohio State University.)

One of the best ways rural homemakers can help in the defense program is to promote better health through better nutrition for the family. Rural families could improve their diets by using more protective foods such as milk, eggs, fruits, and vegetables produced on the farm.

The fact that 40 per cent of the men given physical examinations in this country failed to pass because of ailments due to faulty nutrition should spur homemakers on to a better food program.

Well-balanced meals at regular hours and plenty of rest and sleep are essential for normal growth. Foods necessary for an adequate diet at moderate costs have been worked out by nutrition specialists who say children should have four cups of milk daily; adults, three cups; Irish or sweet potatoes should be served once or twice a day; dry beans, peas, peanuts, and nuts, three times a week; tomatoes, citrus fruits, or other vitamin C-rich foods, one serving a day; leafy, green, or yellow vegetables, one or two servings a day; other vegetables and fruits about two servings a day.

Every member of the family should have an egg a day in addition to those used in cooking. Lean meat, fish, or poultry should be served seven or eight times a week; cereal daily; bread at every meal; and dessert once or twice a day.

An adequate diet can be made possible by careful planning by the homemaker but each individual will have to assume his share of the responsibility by living up to the higher nutrition and health standards.

Farm Marketing

Progressiveness is a distinctive characteristic of many of the co-operative organizations for marketing farm products, the U. S. department of agriculture notes in reviewing recent reports. 'In many fields,' says George H. Thomson of the Farm Credit Administration, 'co-operatives are maintaining their leadership.'

Exercise for Cows Is First Rate Tonic

During the winter months cows should be turned out daily for exercise as fresh air and sunshine, combined with a moderate amount of exercise is nature's best tonic for them. Cows that are stabled continuously become lame, stiff and develop a general unthrifty condition, he reminds dairymen.

Research has shown that moderate exercise tends to increase slightly, both the percentage and total yield of butterfat. Cows also benefit from direct exposure to sunshine when they are turned out-of-doors. The ultra-violet light in sunshine penetrates the skin and produces vitamin D from traces of ergosterol found in the skin tissues.

Disease and War

Germany's invasion of the Channel Islands, home of the Jersey and Guernsey dairy cattle breeders, has infected them with foot-and-mouth disease, according to Dr. John Mohler, chief of the federal bureau of animal industry. The islands were occupied in the summer of 1940. Russia's invasion of Finland last year brought the disease to that country, too. He emphasized the importance of effective quarantines to protect U. S. livestock from foreign disease.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year. It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared. When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the weaknesses in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. The advertising columns of this newspaper are making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Monkeys Once Ranged Holland

Farthest north for the monkey tribe is believed to have been claimed for a species that once, far earlier than history records, inhabited what is now Holland. Fossil remains recently discovered in that country show these monkeys to have been similar to those now found around Gibraltar, although somewhat larger, says Popular Science Monthly. Scientists believe that the fossils found in Holland indicate that a mild climate once existed there, as monkeys cannot endure cold.

Four Names for One River

The St. Johns river has had four names: the Indians called it Welacca, the French named it the River Mal, and the Spanish first called it the Rio Matco and later changed it to Rio San Juan in honor of St. John.

- 3 cups canned whole kernel corn
- 2 cups corn flakes
- 1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter or other shortening
- 1 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 3 slightly beaten eggs
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup nuts

Turn on oven and set at moderately slow (350° F.). Grease a shallow baking dish holding about 6 cups. Drain corn and save liquid. Roll corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend crumbs with melted butter and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Lay mound until needed. Melt butter in saucepan. Blend in flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt and the pepper. Stir in gradually diluted milk. Cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Add cheese and continue stirring until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth. Remove from heat. Stir slowly into slightly beaten eggs. Fold in corn and put in greased baking dish. Sprinkle top with corn mixture. Bake on oven shelf slightly below center about 45 minutes, or until mixture is firm. Serves 6.

*Cream style corn may be used if the Fat Milk is reduced to 1/4 cup. Omit liquid of corn and increase baking time to 1 hour.

**1/2 lb. processed, packaged cheese may be used if it is thinly sliced.
