Forshadowing the Bi-g Rodeo

Last Sunday morning, a big force of Sheriff's Possemen met at the rodeogrounds and worked, erecting fences and getting the grounds in readiness for the two-day Rodeo event which is to be held tomorrow and Sunday.

There will be a good time for everybody. There will be bronco riding, calf roping, wild cow riding and in fact, everything that goes to make up a first-class Rodeo.

The Sheriff's Posse has spared no pains in order to make that event one in which all will have a good time. One of the features of the rodeo will be the best girl steer rider in the southwest. This little lady is but 14 years of age, yet she rides better, undergoes more danger than old riders and comes out without a mishap. Be sure to see her. You can't afford to miss this big show and come prepared to stay with us for the two days. There will be a dance each night for those who like that kind of entertainment. Don't miss it.

In Memorium

At the regular meeting of Comet Chapter No. 29, Order of Eastern Star, held Thursday evening August 6th, the Past Matrons of the Chapter held a beautiful memorial service honoring Mrs. Maude L. Blaney, one of their number, who departed this life July 31st, 1942. The services, under direction of Mrs. Ula G. Mayer, President of the club, were very impressive, each Past Matron paying tribute to the loving memory of one who had been so faithful and whose presence and co-operation in all our activities will be so sadly missed. Many beautiful flowers, gifts from friends, adorned the Chapter room.

Mrs. George Goodson has returned from Oklahoma City, where she was at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Belle Collier, who was seriously ill, but was recovering. Mrs. Goodson came home accompanied by her niece Nonna Jeanne Bailey, who will visit with the Goodsons for several weeks.

Mrs. Melvid Frank and sisser Miss Donnie Franks were here yesterday.

Mrs. Clyde Brewster and son Dicky of Pastura were here last week.

Dr. J. P. Turner has returned from a fishing trip down in Mexico.

Registration for Canning Sugar

The following places will open for canning sugar applications on August 18, 19 and 20th., Mrs. Joe Wigley, registrar at Capitan, Rev. L. A. Rolis, registrar at Tinnie, Mrs. Silas, registrar at Lincoln, Ruidoso, at school house. Mrs. Lee Hancock, registrar, at Corona, Carrizozo at Community Hall. The registrars at this time will receive only applications for sugar for canning. These applications will be passed on later by the Local Rationing Board and certificates mailed to each applicant.

THIS IS FINAL REGISTRATION FOR CANNING SUGAR.
Signed Wm. W. Gallacher, Chairman.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Wayne Richard of Tucumcari visited relatives and friends here this week.

County Commissioner Corbin Heater of the Corona district was here on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Helms of Nutrisio, Ariz., were here for two days this week to take back some farm machinery to their new home, where Mr. Helm is engaged in farming.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. McGinnis and grandson Eugene Donaldson are here from Lincoln to make Carrizozo their home. Mr. McGinnis is a candidate for the office of Representative of the shoe-string district, composed of Otero, Lincoln and Socorro counties. They are at home in one of the Burke cottages, formerly occupied by Sheriff Stever and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Montie Gardenhire were here from Ruidoso Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Harkey and children of Ancho were Monday guests of the John W. Harkey and Fay Harkey families here.

Mrs. Price Miller, sons Bill and Jim of their ranch home near Ancho were business visitors Monday.

We had a letter from Mrs. Jack O'Malley this week in which she said that Jack had gone to sea and that she was nursing at the Marine Hospital in New Orleans. Mrs. O'Malley sends her kindest regards to her friends here and over the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Petty and children of Tucumcari were week-end visitors at the J. F. Petty home.

J. L. Craves of Nogal was here Monday and told about hearing from his son, Boster, who joined the army and was taken to the Philippine Islands. Since that time, nothing has been heard from him until this letter came. On leaving, he left his car in some garage in El Paso, but even with the assistance of the police, he could not find the car. In the letter, Boster told his father that he had left it at the Longworth Garage. Mr. Graves will now get the car, and says he certainly envies the ability of the El Paso police.

Mrs. Alice French came in Sunday morning from Albuquerque, where she had been for several days preparatory to her return to her summer cottage on Eagle Creek for the remainder of the summer. Mrs. French was the guest of Mrs. Gusie Johnson over Sunday, going to her cottage Monday.

Sometimes people are brutally frank about themselves when requesting a newspaper Note to publish an item.

We were thinking of a colored couple. They asked that their marriage license not be published "because we have been livin' together for quite a while and we don't want our friends to know we weren't married."

Another couple didn't want their marriage license published, because "the stork is on the way."

Another reason in the hasty marriage of a soon-to-leave draftee. "Please don't print the license, because her folks will kick her out if they find out."

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Moore, daughter Eugene Garland and infant son son, Edwin Lewis, are here from Albuquerque and have located in the Gallacher residence in the western part of town. Mr. Moore is the new superintendent of the Carrizozo Municipal Light and Power system. We welcome the Moore family to Carrizozo.

Hi-School Students

All high school students that attended school in other high schools last year, should have a complete transcript of their credits sent to the superintendent of schools here before the opening date August 31st. If this is made before that date it will enable quicker classification and assigning of proper courses to continue in the high school work. A book card or a statement that all text books has been returned where they attended school should be presented at the time of enrollment.

Business Men's Club

With an attendance of nine members and no visitors, the club listened to communications from commanders of airports from Roswell, Albuquerque and Alamogordo, all of whom wrote letters saying they would cooperate with us in every way possible and referred the secretary's letters to headquarters in Washington.

The more the matter is urged and discussed, the nearer we are coming to secure an emergency air landing, but the land seems to be the only barrier and as soon as the proper amount of acreage is pledged, we will be getting somewhere.

It is customary with the members to have the boys in the service who are home on furlough, as their guests. For instance, at one meeting, Corp. Gene Dow was the guest of G. H. Dorsett, Sgt. Saturnino Chaves was a guest of Lewis J. Adams and Commander Charles Cree of the Royal Canadian Navy was a guest of the President, A. L. Burke. Other who will be home will also be entertained.

MRS. GERTRUDE STEBBINS

Word was received Sunday night from Salina, Kansas, of the death of Mrs. Gusie Johnson's twin sister, Mrs. Stebbins, who died suddenly, after hopes had been entertained for her ultimate recovery. Mrs. Johnson was a guest at the summer cottage of Mrs. Alice French at Eagle Creek, when the news of her sister's death, was phoned from here. Mrs. French and Mayor Finley of Carrizozo, brought Mrs. Johnson down and in the short time of 30 minutes she got ready and took the night train for the east and arrived at Salina Tuesday morning. As the news so far is vague, more particulars will appear in our next week's issue.

Mrs. Lola Jones was a visitor from Corona the latter part of last week.

Frank Maxwell was here on a business trip from his home near the Gran Quivira Monday.

Petty--- Grantham

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Petty last Sunday afternoon, with Rev. James of the Baptist Church performing the ceremony, Miss Ruth Beatrice Petty of Carrizozo and Mr. Robert Malcolm Grantham of Seattle, Washington, were united in marriage.

Mrs. Ben S. Burns, pianist, contributed the beautiful selections, "I Love You Truly" and "The Indian Love Call," which selections were followed by The Wedding March from Lohengrin. Only members of the immediate family attended. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Petty of Tucumcari were Matron of Honor and Best Man. The bride wore a full-length white dress, groom wore tuxedo; the bridal bouquet was white carnations and pink gladioli. The Matron of Honor, Mrs. Gweneith Petty, wore a blue dress with pink carnations.

The ring ceremony was performed in front of the flower altar. For something old and cherished, the bride wore her mother's wedding necklace; for something borrowed and blue, she wore Mrs. Vernon Petty's bracelet. The beautiful wedding cake was made by Mrs. Ralph Petty. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Petty served the wedding cake with punch. After the ceremony, the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip amid a shower of rice from the children of the neighborhood. For her honeymoon trip, the bride wore a costume of dark green with white accessories. The newlyweds were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts.

The bride, as we have said, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Petty. She is one of Carrizozo's popular young ladies and has many becoming characteristics. She is one of Carrizozo's sweet singers; she ranks high in educational endeavor, all of which coupled with a sunny disposition, has made her a host of friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grantham of Seattle, Wash.

He is a graduate of the Washington University and is now employed by the U. S. Bureau of Mines as a Geologist.

They will make their home in Tucson, Ariz., and the best wishes of their many friends are extended.

Mrs. Ward Charles and nephew Joe Boy Davine spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Ward's mother Mrs. Ladema Joyce, while Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Inghram of El Paso were in Tucumcari on account of the illness of Mr. Inghram's mother.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Red Communiques Admit Grave Peril As New Flank Attacks Harass Nazis; CIO President Proposes Peace Plan; Cargo Planes Get Qualified Approval

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union

One of Uncle Sam's newest weapons for the armored force, the M4 tank, is shown on special demonstration at Fort Knox, Ky. Here the 28-ton tank plows through a barn to demonstrate its ability to negotiate obstacles. It has a 75-mm. cannon in a revolving turret and a completely welded hull.

RUSSIA:

Flank Tactics

While Moscow's official radio was telling the Germans in their own language that the United States and Russia had come to their agreement on the creation of the second front in 1942, Soviet troops were busy with flank attacks on the Nazi forces all along the 300-mile Don river front.

German drives had pushed far beyond Rostov, toward the Caucasus, but the Russians were claiming that their new flank attacks were getting a terrific toll of Nazi tanks and men. At Voronezh, northern anchor of the Don front, the Russians had been holding out doggedly while their columns were being pushed back in the other sectors.

If Germans in the homeland had been listening to the Russian radio tell of the coming of the second front, they heard too that their country would be confronted with 15,000,000 men, 65,000 tanks, 100,000 guns, and 50,000 airplanes.

Meanwhile, through England and the United States the cry was getting louder for military officials to establish the much-discussed second front. From widely diversified groups and sections came the urging. There was considerable agitation for this move for many people feared the United Nations would suffer a most severe blow should Russia fail to last the year on the European side of the Ural mountains.

ALEUTIANS: 10,000 Japs

Breaking an official silence, a navy spokesman officially estimated that the Japanese have succeeded in putting "not more than 10,000" troops into the Aleutian island area and at the same time announced there was no evidence that the Pribilof island to the north had been occupied by the Nipponese.

The statement came in answer to a report made by the Alaskan delegate to congress, Anthony J. Dimond, that between 20,000 and 25,000 Jap troops were on the Aleutians and that the Pribilofs had been occupied.

Questioned about Dimond's reports, the spokesman said that "we believe that not more than 10,000 Japanese are in the Aleutians, probably one-half ashore and one-half afloat."

PEACE PLAN: For CIO-AFL

A proposal that the Congress for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor initiate discussions regarding possible establishment of organic unity was made by Philip Murray, CIO president, in a letter to William Green, AFL chief.

Peace proposals between the two organizations have been discussed for several months as a step toward speeding war production. In his letter, Murray proposed the establishment of a committee composed of representatives of both organizations, with an impartial arbitrator, to settle all jurisdictional disputes between the two groups.

Murray named a committee of three to discuss the problem of "organic unity." He named himself, R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, and Julius Emepak, secretary of the United Radio and Machine Workers union.

BEEF: Two Varieties

In butchershops from the Bronx to Boise there was considerable beefing about beef. Beef was high. Beef was hard to get. What was the trouble?

President Roosevelt told his press conference there were three main reasons for the current meat shortage: (1) this is the off-season for beef; (2) people have more purchasing power now, with which to buy better cuts of meat; and (3) around 4,000,000 men under arms are now eating much more meat than they ever ate on their own dinner tables at home.

Meanwhile Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard reported that there may be some relief in the temporary beef shortage this fall when more cattle are brought in off the range. But other sources looked with disfavor on what effect this would have on the normal spring beef market.

GIANT PLANES: From Shipyards

There was a new answer to the shipping problems of the United Nations looming on the horizon. It was an unofficial agreement from the War Production board to give the "green light" to plans of Henry K. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder, to build giant cargo and troop transport planes in nine of the nation's shipyards.

First hitch to be overcome in the suggested set-up was the granting of authority by military officials to release engines and other parts needed in the building of aircraft for the army and navy.

Donald Nelson, WPB head, appeared to be willing to proceed with the plan if these materials could be obtained without hampering the war effort. This came as a surprise as WPB first voiced skepticism on the plan.

Kaiser's idea calls for the conversion of three shipyards on each coast to produce 5,000 flying boats a year. The ships would be of 100-ton design fashioned after the 70-ton flying boat Mars, now in active use.

Support of Glenn Martin, Baltimore bomber builder, Tom Girdler, steel magnate and all others with knowledge of production problems of plane building would be sought, according to Kaiser.

AIR MONSTERS:

Things to Come

Reading like a tale from the pen of Jules Verne, the story of two super-gigantic cargo planes was unfolded in Washington by aviation engineers. Senate committees heard the stories.

Details of a huge plywood plane were disclosed by Dr. W. W. Christmas, technical aviation engineer. The plywood carrier, weighing 1,120,000 pounds, would be both a cargo and battle plane. It would be a 60,000 horsepower, two hull plane with 400 foot wingspread and with wings 16 feet thick, with a speed of about 350 miles an hour. It would carry 3,000 men. It would carry a rack of torpedoes weighing 20,000 pounds. Dr. Christmas pointed out that the torpedoes would have a striking force of 10,000,000 pounds when dropped. "A battleship deck would be like wet paper when one of these bombs hit it," he said.

The second plane was a revolutionary type of amphibian flying cargo plane, which would be lifted and propelled by a combination of engines, helium gas and air tunnels. The engineers are Horace Chapman Young and Eric Langlands of the Aerodynamics Research corporation.

A single wing combination cargo-fighter-carrier, the plane would have a flying deck of approximately 200 feet, from which 12 fighter planes could take off. It would carry enough helium gas to lift 36 tons and with its engines could lift 70 tons. Four tunnels would run through the wing. Engineers in these tunnels would create a semi-vacuum, whose suction would supply pulling power while the propellers gave it thrusting power. Its speed would be about 200 miles an hour.

LADIES:

Of the Navy

"Waves" is not a new word to U. S. navy men but in the future sailors will have to think twice before using it. For this is the name being given to the Navy's woman's auxiliary, counter-part of the army's WAAC.

Now officially organized, the Waves plan to enlist 10,000. First call was for 1,000 women, preferably bachelor girls, to volunteer as officer candidates.

Miss Mildred McAtee, 42, president of Wellesley college, Wellesley, Mass., is being chosen head of the feminine navy unit and will hold the rank of lieutenant commander.

While there appeared to be a preference for single girls, married women are not prohibited from volunteering. Unmarried women will have to agree not to marry while in training—a one-month period.

Waves will be assigned to desk or administrative jobs to release men for active sea duty.

Rationing Student

John Leigh, gas station attendant in Washington, is pictured studying rationing rules. When Price Administrator Leon Henderson ran out of gas, Leigh refused to fill a can for him. Henderson later proved that such an act would not be a violation of the regulations, but his proof came too late. He already had been forced to take a taxi.

MISCELLANY:

COUSINS: Conklin Mann, New York genealogist who discovered last month that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are eighth cousins once removed, announced that he had found the President to be a sixth cousin once removed of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MARKETING: U. S. farmers in the first half of 1942 marketed products totaling $5,773,000,000, according to a department of agriculture estimate. This compares with $4,012,000,000 for the same period in 1941.

FATS: The Office of Price Administration has set a ceiling of four cents a pound on waste kitchen fats now being sold by housewives to retail meat markets in the national salvage campaign.

GASLESS: Pleasure driving is practically a thing of the past in Britain. As of August 1, gasoline is sold only to business and professional automobiles.

DEATH: Maj. Gen. Julius von Bernauth, German tank expert, was killed in action on the Russian front. It was announced on a Nazi broadcast.

Speaking Sports by Bob McShane

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

LARRY FRENCH may not be the best pitcher in the National league but it would be extremely foolhardy to attempt to prove the point within hearing distance of a Dodger fan.

Larry MacPhail and Leo Durocher, Big Men of Brooklyn baseball, should feel extremely grateful for the co-operation extended them by the Chicago Cubs. In 1941 Billy Herman, a Cub product, was credited generally with tightening up the Dodgers. It's certain that he did more than his share in making possible the pennant.

This summer the work of veteran pitcher Larry French is helping pave the way to another pennant. The Dodgers secured Larry from Chicago late in August last year.

Currently in his 14th big league season, French is playing better ball than at any time in his career. In his first 11 games he was whipped only once—when the Cardinals stopped him 7 to 4 in mid-July. His earned run average at that time stood at 0.810—a sensational job.

Poor Start

French last year compiled a miserable record of five victories against 14 defeats. He had a poor start, and that coupled with a change in management brought his career with the Cubs to a close. He went to the Dodgers on waivers. Though the bulk of his 1941 record was established in Chicago, he wasn't of much help to the Dodgers. Nor did he give much promise for 1942. In fact, he wound up with an earned run average of 4.56, denoting extreme generosity toward opposition clubs.

In his major league playing, French never has been a consistent year-after-year ball of fire. As a minor leaguer with Portland and Ogden from 1928 through 1928, French totaled 31 victories against 36 defeats. His best year was in 1928, when he won 8 and lost 7.

Despite his record, Pittsburgh took him from Portland and kept him six years. During those six years he won 87 and lost 83. In 1933 he won 18 and lost 13. The next year he won only 12 while losing 18 and was sent to the Cubs in a player deal.

With the Cubs for half a dozen seasons, French won a total of 99 games and lost 76. His first year with the Cubs—in 1935—he won 17 and lost 16. The next year he won 18 while losing 9. In 1937 he captured 16 and lost 16.

Downgrade?

Two of the next three years were unsuccessful. In 1938 he won 10 and lost 19. He came back in 1939 to win 15 and lose 8. In 1940 he broke even with 14-14.

French realized he was on the downgrade at the end of last season, but figured, rightly enough, that he had quite a bit of good pitching left in that arm of his. Even though his 1941 season was somewhat of a flop, he persuaded Larry MacPhail not to draw up his contract until he had an opportunity to show what he could do.

Judging from his recent performance, French may draw a salary considerably better than he would have accepted on a straight contract. He never had any great speed, even while in his youth. Now, at 35, he still is kidded about his "butterfly ball." But he has developed a teasing knuckle ball taught him by Freddie Fitzsimmons, the old Dodger pitching star. Then, too, his curve is breaking the way it should. Which seems to be all that is necessary.

French works just as hard as Fitzsimmons did—and the acquisition of the knuckler won't hurt French a bit. As you may remember, in 1940 Fitz established a new National league high for wins and lost percentages with a mark of .88, resulting from 16 victories and only 2 defeats. This record came after 20 years of hurling.

It has been pointed out that if French creates a new mark he will undoubtedly earn it. Most of his pitching probably will be done against hard-bitting clubs, such as the Cardinals and Giants.

Sportlight by GRANTLAND RICE

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

TURNING back the pages of many, many calendars, your correspondent still recalls the thrill that came when the first breath of early fall came along, and the dog days were over. That meant football. We began practicing around September 15, and the season came to an abrupt finish on Thanksgiving day.

Grantland Rice

It's all different now. Football is already at full swing in many colleges and many camps. Yale, for example, one of the most conservative of all the universities, has gone all out—not so much to develop a single outstanding team, but to have hundreds trained in the matter of condition and discipline that football demands. Certainly no university is doing a finer job. I also could mention Maryland and many others.

The Change

These teams want and will work for winners. But beyond that more attention will be paid to mass than to class.

Students who never thought of football before now will be shown the feeling of hard body contact, of increased speed, of improved stamina, of quicker reactions in competition. In the universities, the colleges and the prep schools there will be at least five, or possibly ten, football players in training against one for other seasons.

"Why," someone has asked, "shouldn't these men be in active war service?"

The main answer is that the war department wants it this way. First, because most of these men also are taking war training. Second, because the war department wants its coming replacements and reserves to be the best soldiers in the world, trained and conditioned for what is to come later on.

Every university and college of any standing in the country is doing its best to comply with the demands or requests that come from the top.

Football is already under full swing at the Naval Cadet camps located at the universities of Georgia, North Carolina, Iowa and St. Mary's.

"War," as the late General Sherman said, "is hell." But football in Georgia and North Carolina through August is no part of a picnic.

No one yet knows just how such coaches as Bernie Bierman and Jimmy Crowley will be able to get winning teams with squads that come and go, with almost no stars from the pros or from the colleges. The odds are all against them. But football is a big part of their training, and this happens to be the main idea.

These four Naval Cadet camps have over 40 games scheduled with the stronger university teams, facing one of the toughest schedules of the year.

Other Games

In the meanwhile the pros and the army squad are both on their way to camp, to many camps, for the eight games scheduled this month and through early September.

This army division, under Bob Neyland and Wallace Wade, will set at least one football record. They will finish up their schedule by September 20, just about the spot when most of the others are swinging into action.

Coaches Neyland and Wade have the "rush act" to handle. They have the material—many of the great football players of recent years—but the job of whipping these men into a football machine in a short while is no simple job.

You can gamble that the Washington Redskins, the New York Giants, the Green Bay Packers, the Brooklyn Dodgers and others will be something to shove around, despite the fact they have lost close to a hundred star men to the services. Messrs. Steve Owen, Curly Lambeau, George Halas and others still have enough good material left to keep any team busy, no matter how many stars may be working against them. They, also, are out to win.

And these games will play a big part for Army Relief. They are a big part of the bigger game. And they will be something to see.

Stout Combination

The Big Nine, plus Notre Dame, may easily be football's stronghold for the new campaign. And this isn't overlooking Iowa, which would be a serious mistake.

There are lineemen on hand to match the backs, especially at Minnesota, where Norse forwards usually have the call. Minnesota's big line will be led by Dick Williams, one of the greatest forwards in 1941—a sure balck in the season that is not too far away, and which the fans are looking forward to.

ALL-BRAN FUDGE SQUARES—BEST YOU EVER TASTED!

Every mother in the land will want to bake these scrumptious cookies. Children will demand a plate of them in a wink. Grow-ups rave about their "different" taste and new crunchy texture. They're made, of course, with the famous cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran.

3 squares un-sweetened 1/2 cup All-Bran 1/2 cup butter 2 eggs 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

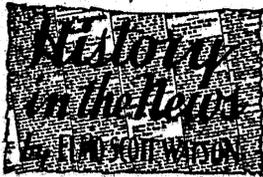

Melt chocolate over hot water and add butter. Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and butter. Stir in All-Bran, chopped nuts and vanilla. Spread in greased pan, making a layer about one-third inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: sixteen 2-inch squares (8 x 8 inch pan).

The Wagon Box Fight

AUGUST 2 of this year marks the 75th anniversary of one of the most remarkable engagements in American military history. That was the Wagon Box fight on Little Piney creek near the present town of Story, Wyo., and it is noteworthy for several reasons.

With the possible exception of "Custer's Last Stand" on the Little Big Horn river in Montana in 1876, no other Indian fight has been more written-about nor inspired more fiction masquerading as fact. Certainly no other event in Plains warfare ever resulted in more extravagant statements as to the number of Indian opponents and losses inflicted upon them, even though the white man invariably exaggerated both in telling or writing about his battles with the red man.

The Wagon Box fight is so named because it was fought in and around a small fortification composed of 14 wagon boxes set on the ground, end to end, to form an oval corral. Into this flimsy protection fled a detachment of 30 soldiers of the Twenty-seventh infantry, commanded by Capt.

Capt. J. W. Powell

and Lieut. J. C. Jenness, when, on the morning of August 2, 1887, they were attacked by a force of nearly 1,000 Sioux and Cheyenne warriors.

The soldiers had recently been supplied with new breech-loading rifles, a vast improvement over the old muzzle-loaders of Civil war days and they had nearly 7,000 rounds of ammunition for these weapons. But, despite this fact, it seemed like a forlorn hope for them, for they were outnumbered 300 to 1 and the memory of the disaster which had overtaken Capt. W. J. Fetterman and his 80 men the previous December was fresh in their minds.

Resolved to sell their lives as dearly as possible, they immediately opened fire on the savages who began riding in an ever-narrowing circle around the corral and for the next three hours they fought off repeated attacks by the Indians, both mounted and on foot, until they were rescued by a relief party from Fort Phil Kearney, six miles away. One of the remarkable features of this fight was the number of charges made by the Indians and the determination with which they pushed home their attacks in the face of the incessant fire from the breech-loaders of the defenders of the corral. Both were unparalleled in the history of Indian warfare.

In view of these facts, the wonder is that the Indian casualty list was not larger than it actually was. After the battle Powell reported that his men had killed 63 Indians and wounded more than 100 while suffering a loss of three soldiers killed, including Lieutenant Jenness, and three wounded. Some of his men later boosted the Indian losses to 300 killed and wounded.

Then the myth-makers got busy. It started with Col. Richard I. Dodge in his book "Our Wild Indians," published in 1882. He set the number of Indians at 3,000 and their losses at 1,137 killed and wounded. Later "historians" repeated his figure of 3,000 warriors but reached a new height of absurdity by placing their losses at 1,500!

Indian participants tell a vastly different story. They say their losses were six killed and six wounded. This is a bit too conservative, especially for the number wounded, but it is probably much nearer reality than the usual accounts by the white man.

In his biography of Chief White Bull, who was in the Wagon Box fight (published under the title of "Warpath" by the Houghton Mifflin company), Stanley Vestal, who is probably the best authority today on the Sioux wars from 1866 to 1891, points out that Indian losses rarely ran to more than 1 or 2 per cent and that the highest known casualty list in all Sioux history was only 15 per cent. Therefore, says Mr. Vestal, "even Captain Powell's estimate is fantastic." Certainly the claim of a 50 per cent loss is preposterous.

ISAAC PRACTICES PEACE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 26:18-31. GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.—Matthew 5:9.

To talk peace in a warring world seems almost futile, and so it is, unless it be the peace of God. In a world largely dominated by the philosophy that might makes right, and in which men demand what they call their rights, taking them even by lawless and violent methods, it is increasingly difficult to proclaim the truth that patience and meekness are not weakness, but are Christian virtues worth emulating.

The story of Isaac is interesting from beginning to end. He was an ordinary man, one of the common people. He had come through varied experiences of victory and defeat before the time of our lesson. Fearing a famine, and apparently not trusting God at the moment, he had gone down from the promised land to the country of the Philistines, there redigging the wells which his father Abraham had dug. The result was that he prospered. Ere long, however, envy on the part of his enemies taught Isaac that—

I. Peace in This World Is Temporary (vv. 18-21).

Isaac had prospered, but he was still out of the promised land, and while he was in the land of Philistines he could expect no permanent peace.

We are in the world. We long for peace, and would throw all our influence and service into the cause of bringing a righteous peace to the troubled peoples of the world. But let us not be misled by that desire into the support of unscriptural and impossible peace programs. This world is a sinful world, and as long as that is true, there will be strife and war, that men (as James puts it) may have the gains thereof for their own pleasure.

Our business in such a world is to preach the gospel of grace, winning men to Christ, that they may become men of good-will. Isaac was such a man, willing to yield even what seemed to be his right, rather than cause contention.

Undoubtedly there are times when one must defend his name and his possessions, but all too often those who do "stand for their rights" have wrecked homes, churches, and nations, and have gained nothing but an empty victory.

The peace of this world is temporary. Is there then no real abiding peace and joy?

II. Abiding Joy Is Found in Fellowship With God (vv. 22-25).

When Isaac came up into Canaan, the land which God had promised to him, he found real peace and an abiding joy in renewed fellowship with God. Even so, the Christian man and woman who will step out of a spiritually destructive fellowship with the ungodly world and come over wholeheartedly into the spiritual Canaan of full consecration and separated living, will find true peace and satisfying communion with God.

Our thought, however, has wider application—one much needed today. There is to come a time when this world will have true and abiding peace which shall cover the earth like the waters cover the sea. When the One who has the right to reign, the Lord Jesus Christ, returns to take His throne, then, and not before, will there be true peace.

We await that day with longing which grows more intense as men grow more violent in their hatred. But is there nothing more we can do? Yes, we learn from Isaac's experience that—

III. A Godly Life Is a Testimony to Warring Men (vv. 26-31).

These men were wicked men, even speaking falsehood in their claim of friendship toward Isaac (v. 29). Now that they perceived that God was continually blessing Isaac in spite of their repeated injustice toward him, they decided that it would be well to make a covenant of friendship with him. Even those who follow the way of war and aggression cannot deny the effectiveness of true Christian testimony.

Observe also that by his patience and kindness Isaac ultimately made friends out of his enemies. "It is better to turn enemies into friends than to beat them, and have them enemies still." And so this man with the patient, self-sacrificing spirit brought peace not only to himself, but to those about him, because he believed and trusted God.

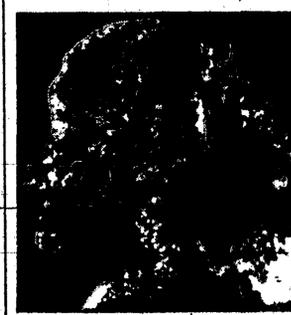

When a man's ways please the Lord, he maketh even his enemies to be at peace with him" (Prov. 16:7). What can we do to bring peace today? We can pray that God will help America and her allied nations to turn to Him in repentance of sin, and in a desire to so honor His name that He may be able to give His blessing. When Hezekiah spread before the Lord the threat of his enemy, God undertook for him in a mighty way, because his heart was right toward God (Isa. 37:14-20). Will he do less for us?

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

YOU'RE going to see something in the new Fibber McGee picture, "Here We Go Again," that you never saw before—and that's Charlie McCarthy moving around without benefit of any manipulation by Edgar Bergen. It's perfectly simple—RKO just engaged a mid-get, Jerry Maren, for the part. He's practiced those stiff, mechanical movements of the dummy's until he's got them down pat. In fact, he does them so well that people who stroll onto the set without knowing what's happened have thought they were imagining things when Charlie, in the person of Jerry, went into action.

How'd you like to have a blind date with Ginger Rogers? Nine boys in uniform did recently. Planning to see two new feature pictures at home, she sent her station wagon to the USO to ask if some of the men would like to spend a quiet evening and see some pictures free. They dined with her, (to their surprise; they hadn't known who their hostess was to be,) and then, when they said they'd like to see one of her pictures, she showed them something few people have seen. It's a film of every dance she's done since "Flying Down to Rio"—shows her with old-fashioned makeup, clothes, etc., and that's something most stars avoid like poison.

Tony Merrill had a perfect alibi when he showed up two hours late for scenes with Rosalind Russell in "My Sister Eileen" the other day. He had been down town being sworn into the army. If Janet Blair's late for work in the same picture she'll have a good reason, too. She sang at the San Diego marine base just before the picture started, and the leathernecks sent her a souvenir—a baby wildcat.

After each "Hobby Lobby" broadcast thousands of dollars' worth of war bonds and stamps are sold in a "Victory Auction." Dave Eiman auctioned the handicraft or property of hobbyists, selling to the person who buys the most bonds. Lieutenant Bulkeley's tie pin and shoulder insignia brought $10,000!

James Cagney and his neighbor at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., have turned over their estates to the army for maneuvers—6,500 acres altogether, of which Cagney owns 500. He has also offered his summer home as quarters for staff officers.

Hope you've been listening to those Stage Door Canteen broadcasts. Rafts of amusing stories come from the canteen. Alfred Lunt was making sandwiches when a young actor approached him. "What are you doing?" asked Lunt. "Nothing—" said the youth. "I'd sure like to go into a play with you this fall. I could go into rehearsals right away; I'm not doing a thing now." "Well, then," roared Lunt, "go empty this garbage pail!"

Five-year-old Maxine O'Brien will play the title role in "Journey for Margaret," starring Robert Young and Laraine Day, so that "search" is settled! Incidentally, Laraine is filmdom's loneliest bride—her husband, Ray Hendricks, was recalled to his flying instructor's post six hours after his first leave began.

Ann Summers is leading lady in "The Avenging Rider," Tim Holt's next. She's the girl who was told that she was to appear in an earlier Holt western, devoted six solid weeks to learning to ride a horse—and then when she reported for work, found out that she didn't have to. But in this picture she'll ride, at last.

ODDS AND ENDS—Cary Grant has bought a new organ for the church in San Bernardino, Calif., whose minister married him to Barbara Hutton... Eddie Cantor and his wife entertain 12 to 15 service men with luncheon and a swim nearly every day... Got any old band instruments? Joe E. Brown, between scenes of "The Daring Young Man," is still collecting them—wants to equip a navy band before its departure for an undisclosed spot; has 23 so far... "Come One, Come All," a film based on the housing shortage in Washington, D. C., will probably be Joan Arthur's next at Columbia.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

SO, YOU are going to have a baby! Well, the clothes problem can be settled very easily—with a frock and jacket—just the type we offer in this pattern. Frock has cap sleeves, pleats down the front provide all the extra fullness needed and is very easy to make. The jacket tops off a very successful outfit which can be produced at small expense at home.

Pattern No. 8199 is made in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 dress and jacket requires 6 1/2 yards 39-inch material.

Ribbon Banded.

THE short cut to glamour these days is to add a dainty frock to your wardrobe. Today's pattern brings you the very style everyone seems to be wearing. For individual style excitement the long torso top of this model is banded with ribbon—here you can effect a plain color contrast with a printed material—or a plaid, striped or printed contrast with a plain fabric.

Pattern No. 8186 is in sizes 11 to 18. Size 12, with short sleeves, requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch material.

ASK ME ANOTHER?
A General Quiz
The Questions

1. Does February ever have five Sundays?
2. To what political party did George Washington belong?
3. Does a beam of light from the sun travel equally as fast as a beam of light from a candle?
4. What had the following women in common—Lot's wife, Bluebeard's wife and Adam's wife?
5. How many Pilgrim Fathers landed from the Mayflower?
6. What capital city of what country has had three names all within this century?
7. What is the date of the year following 1 B. C.?
8. What is a shaddock?
9. How many countries does the Iberian peninsula contain?
10. We apply the slang expression "cock-eyed" to an intoxicated person. Is this expression in any sense true?

The Answers

1. Yes; It will again have five in 1948 and 1976.
2. The Federalist party.
3. They travel at the same speed.
4. Curiosity about forbidden matters led to disastrous consequences.
5. One hundred two.
6. St. Petersburg, Petrograd and Leningrad, in Russia.
7. 1. A. D.
8. A pear-shaped citrus fruit.
9. Two, Spain and Portugal.
10. Yes, literally so. The alcohol progressively weakens the muscles that draw the eyes outward and, consequently, the pupils gradually converge and the drinker becomes cock-eyed.

Work and Education

It is not necessarily the mark of a superior intelligence to disdain an inferior job, and advanced education does not and never has guaranteed an advanced position in life.

One may be fitted for an important post, but that does not mean that one is unfitted for an unimportant post. Humble and monotonous occupations can provide scope for great qualities; they can be performed well or ill and the better educated the man the better he is likely to perform them.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Gas masks which came into use in warfare for the first time when the Germans used poison and mustard gas in World War I, are much improved today over those used then. The Chemical Warfare Branch of the War Department issues these gas masks to every man in the service. We are taking no chances.

The type pictured here is the "can" and "elephant nose" mask and costs about $9.25 each. The headgear is transparent, made of material resembling cellophane and does not cloud with the breath. You can buy two of these gas masks with the purchase of an $18.75 War Bond. We need thousands of them. Don't fail to give at least ten percent of your income every pay day for War Bonds. Buy them at your bank or postoffice, regularly.

Youth Climaxes Rescue at Sea

He and Shipmates Given Up As Missing, Learn Rescuer Is His Neighbor.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Miles Purdy, Keyser, W. Va., youth with his shipmates from their torpedoed transport in the Gulf of Mexico met up with one climax after the other, only to have him put the finishing touch to the adventure with final and unusual surprises.

The ship Purdy was on was torpedoed sometime shortly after midnight and crippled. All on board abandoned the ship. While they were floating about in life boats the sub resurfaced, shelled the ship, sank it.

Ten hours after the sinking, two of the life boats were picked up and the crew brought to shore. The one Purdy was in with his shipmates was overlooked.

After six days of floating, an airplane flew overhead and failed to see them.

Two more days they drifted. On the eighth day a fishing craft was sighted. Later it was learned that the fishing vessel was then 300 miles off its course!

After considerable time the vessel came near, recognized the life boat, and took the crew aboard.

Purdy then recognized the captain, Russell Calvert, as being a neighbor from the same county in West Virginia.

Shortly after Purdy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Purdy, received notice that their son was numbered among the missing from the ship sunk at sea, they received a wire from him here that he was well and safe. He then returned home on a 22-day leave.

Purdy volunteered in the army over a year ago. He has a corporal's rating.

War Is Found to Cause Rise in British Crime

WASHINGTON.—The war has produced in Britain an increase in bigamy, crimes of violence and juvenile delinquency, Sir Norman Birkett, noted British lawyer and judge of the king's bench division of the high court, told reporters at a press conference.

Justice Birkett said that the interruption of normal family life and the relaxation of parental control due to the movements of large numbers of the population into the army and evacuation areas were responsible for this increase. The black-out was mainly responsible for the larger number of crimes of violence, he said.

Despite these crimes and the emergency powers held by the British government, however, the essential freedoms of the British people had been maintained, he added. Freedom of speech, both in parliament and in the press, had been maintained, and even enemy aliens who had to be interned had received the right to a limited amount of freedom to govern themselves, he said.

Allies Not Reasonable, Say Nazis of New Front

BERN.—Germany's propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, complained in an article in the German weekly publication Das Reich that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are not "reasonable" enemies and might, therefore, try a second front.

He assured Germans that "the entrance to Europe is blocked" but said it would be "more agreeable" if Germany were confronted by "intelligent leadership" whose actions one could foresee with "a certain probability."

Goebbels said Roosevelt and Churchill were capable of the "greatest foolishness" and no one was in a position to "predict where, when and how they intend to establish the so-called second front."

Red Cross Is Prepared For Iceland Air Raids

REYKJAVIK.—The American Red Cross has donated to the Iceland Red Cross supplies and equipment valued at $45,000 for the care and relief of the civilian population in case of air raids or other emergencies.

The city now is supplied with a number of hospital beds believed "more than adequate" for any emergency. Large stores of medical supplies and clothing have been donated by the American relief agency.

A number of first-aid stations have been equipped in the capital and American supplies are being distributed to other Red Cross chapters in Iceland.

$500,000 Gift to Britain In '27 Is Now £1,125,703

LONDON.—Fifteen years ago the British government received from an anonymous donor $500,000 which, together with other gifts of money, was kept until it increased sufficiently to pay off Britain's national debt. Today that $500,000 is officially worth £1,125,703.

But the national debt has a long way to go yet as on March 31, 1941, it was £11,512,568,961 and the budget deficit to date is $546,723,316.

(Harriet Joins Up With the WAACS)

Dear Oscar—

Don't look now, but I'm in the WAAC. If you're in an army why not me? I got to thinking of you doing your bit as a soldier and I thought I would feel better about it if I was following your example. Well, anyhow, here I am out in Des Moines and already I appreciate all those complaints you used to make about your feet. Right now the girls have made the army reverse the usual routine and give us a light noon meal and the heavy one at night. At noon we just get salads and drug store quickies but I wasn't here three days before I saw it was all a mistake as the work gives me an appetite like a horse. And I don't mean an ordinary horse.

Mess Sergeant Harry Decker says we will all be shouting for big meals at noon in no time and I admit he is right. I guess the girls all figured that they must take care of their figures but this was so much wasted worry. This army routine will take care of their shaps.

The army has figured it out that a girl soldier needs 2,700 calories a day to a man's 4,000. But it must have reached that conclusion after watching you eat. It will take 4,000 a day to keep me at normal weight. For years I have been nipping at lettuce leaves to keep my weight down but in the WAAC I can see my worries are over. They can pass me mashed potatoes from now on.

A man is boss of us. He is Colonel Faith, which is a pretty name for a colonel and he will have to live up to it if he is to get any results from this army. He is reputed to be a strict disciplinarian but the news should never have leaked out. You know how a woman reacts when she hears that any man who is to tell her what to do is a disciplinarian. He has two strikes on him from the start.

Quite a few army men are out here in general charge. They try to be stern but they look pretty uncomfortable. I can tell they would rather be anywhere but here. Susie Graham says they must have been detailed here as punishment for some army crime. The first big laugh came when army men chowed us how to make beds and insisted that we make them their way and no back talk. They made them pretty good at that but we made 'em all over again as soon as they finished. We have steel lockers at the foot of our beds and you are my hang-up boy, of course, dear Oscar. One of the girls asked me if it was a snapshot of Abbott or Costello. It was just because the picture was taken in too bright a light.

Well, dear, I hope all is well with you. How I wish we were in the same army! Your Yankee Doodle girl never stops thinking of her Yankee Doodle boy. I love you.

Harriet.

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

THE STORY SO FAR: In love with her employer, Karl Miller, night club owner, Joan Leland, secretary, is horrified and disillusioned when he shoots her partner, Eric Strom, and threatens to implicate her unless she remains silent and continues her work. He confesses he has a wife in Germany and is a member of a Nazi spy ring. Paul Sherman, his manager, reveals to Joan, he is really Paul O'Malley, FBI agent. Joan's sister, Sybil, is missing, and she agrees to help Paul secretly. Paul's sister, Patricia, innocently betrays his identity and Joan and Paul are imprisoned on a boat as they discover Karl's stolen bomber plans. They find love in each other as a submarine appears. Karl tries to murder Paul and Joan shoots him. They escape with Thomas, another victim of Karl's, to Mexico, where Joan meets Arthur Mulford, a previous employer, who offers to fly them to the U. S. and safety. He is recognized by Paul as the real head of the espionage system but remains silent, hoping to be led to the main hideout of the gang. Mulford flies them to a ranch. The wounded Miller is there. Karl wants Paul to join the spy ring.

CHAPTER XVIII

"I can't bear having anything happen to Sybil," said Joan.

"How do you think I feel?" Paul answered. His face was grim.

"Oh, darling, don't blame yourself," Joan comforted, taking his hand. "We'll think of some way out."

"Karl's clever," Thomas reminded them. "He always wins in the end."

"But he can't go on like this," Joan insisted. "As Paul has told us, even Karl must make a mistake sooner or later."

"Why don't you do it Karl's way, Mr. O'Malley?" Thomas urged.

"After all, what else can you do?" For a moment Paul looked as though he would strike him and then, sinking into a chair, he groaned. "There are some things you don't understand."

"I understand!" Joan cried. "You mustn't consider me, Paul. You must do what you feel is right. I became involved with Karl through my own volition. It was no fault of yours. And I don't want you to feel responsible."

"But I love you," Paul said quietly. "You do believe that, don't you?"

"Of course I do, darling." Thomas retired to one of the bedrooms so that they were alone now.

"I didn't expect Karl to arrive so soon," Paul said. "I've got to play for more time. If I can do that without making Mulford suspicious, my plans may come out all right."

"All right? Oh, Paul, then you do have a plan?"

"Of course I have, honey. You don't think I'd walk into a trap like this without planning some way out of it, do you?"

"Then what are you worrying about?"

"It's the time element," Paul explained.

"By the way, how did Karl get here anyway?" Joan asked curiously.

"Probably landed up the coast and flew."

"I have a hunch everything's going to be all right," Joan comforted, and Paul, kissing her tenderly, wondered at the supreme confidence of a woman in love. It was true he had made arrangements before he left the ship for a message to get through to his superiors, but Joan knew nothing about that. The message would not be received until tomorrow, which meant that help could not come until the following day. How long could he stall Karl and Mulford? If they suspected anything, they would make him pay through Joan, his only vulnerable point.

"She's so brave," he thought, holding her close. But she didn't realize the horrors that might be in store for her. She had a childish faith in him that wrung his heart. What if he should fail her after all? What if the message didn't get through? If flying conditions were bad, that would mean another delay. And each moment she was in danger—she and Sybil. Even Thomas would pay if his plan went wrong. Three lives depended upon his judgment.

"What are you thinking about, darling?" Joan asked.

Holding her closer, as though she were something very precious, Paul replied, "I was thinking that I love you now—more than I ever have before."

The next day dawned bright and cold. Joan, Paul and Thomas waited in the living room. Paul was staring out at the other house.

"I'd like to know what's going on over there," he said.

"Sure. He didn't speak a word of English."

Paul smiled. "He's played his part well. But he is a government agent just as I am."

Joan was as surprised as Thomas. She remembered the night Paul went to the radio room, not heeding a warning from Thomas, but she had not thought about the incident since.

"From the papers I obtained on the ship," Paul continued, "I guessed where this hideout was. I told Jim—that's the radio man's name—to send a message for help stating our location here. I had to guess the time element—how long we would be in Mazatlan and when we would arrive here. So the message didn't go out until today."

"Then they'll send someone after us?" Thomas asked eagerly.

"Yes. But help can't possibly come before tomorrow."

"Why did you tell him not to send the message until today?" Joan inquired.

"There was no use of their arriving before we did. In that case Karl and Mulford would not have been here either."

"But we're safe," Thomas insisted. "If help is coming, there's nothing more to worry about."

"It isn't as simple as that," Paul said. "Karl may have been suspicious of Jim, in which case that message did not get through. Even if it did, we must stall until tomorrow. There is still time for Mulford and Karl to close up this place and escape, or worse than that, take us with them."

"So now we must wait again," Joan said.

"If things look too bad," Paul told them seriously, "I'll have to make Karl think I am accepting his proposition to turn traitor. That will hold him for awhile."

"But if help didn't come, how would you get out of it?"

"That's something I'd rather not think about! The important thing is to get through this day."

But the day passed peacefully enough. Lunch and dinner had been brought, and now fresh logs were heaped upon the fire as the long shadows of night fell.

"If this goes on until tomorrow, we'll be safe," Paul commented.

But Karl Miller had no intention of letting it go on until tomorrow. It was shortly after eight o'clock when he arrived for his answer.

"You have been thinking over my proposal?" he asked Paul.

"I've been thinking about it, yes."

Karl rubbed his hands together. "Good. Then I suppose you are willing to come in with us."

"I haven't decided yet."

Joan and Thomas watched him, knowing that upon this interview depended their safety.

Karl's attitude changed immediately. "I've had enough of this! Make up your mind—right now. There are important things to be done. We will not waste any more time, Mr. O'Malley."

"Suppose I do join you?" Paul parried. "Will you assure me of Joan's safety?"

"Safety, yes. But if you want her sent back to San Francisco, you are asking the impossible—for obvious reasons. You are not buying Joan's release; you are merely saving her from . . ."

Paul silently clenched his hands. "Let us stop stalling," Karl said impatiently. "In a few simple words, this is the situation. If you do not give us your assistance and the information you have about your government's activities, Joan and Sybil, too, will be taken to the coast tonight and put aboard a ship for another country. Is my meaning clear?"

"All too clear," Paul said. "You leave me no choice but to accept."

Karl bowed slightly. "Congratulations! You have courage, Mr. O'Malley, and sense enough to know when you are beaten."

Paul's face was expressionless as he said, "One thing I must be sure of and that is Sybil's immediate release."

Karl laughed. "That is quite simple. She is waiting on the porch now. You see, I anticipated your decision."

"Sybil!" Joan cried as the door opened to admit her sister.

Paul was staring out at the other house. "I'd like to know what's going on over there," he said.

"Sure. He didn't speak a word of English."

Farm Building Must Have Board's Permit

WPB Recognizes Need of Limited Construction

County war boards of the United States department of agriculture will co-operate with the War Production board in handling applications for authorization to begin construction work on farms, the War Production board announced.

The United States department of agriculture is co-operating with the WPB in formulating policies under which county and state U. S. D. A. war boards will make recommendations covering farm residential and agricultural construction. Projects recommended by these boards will be forwarded to the War Production board for final approval.

Order L-41, issued by the War Production board, prohibits the start of unauthorized construction projects which use materials, labor and construction equipment needed in the war effort, and places all new publicly and privately financed construction under rigid control.

The War Production board recognizes that a limited amount of construction by farmers is necessary to maintain and increase production to meet agricultural goals and that certain off-the-farm facilities are also needed for the production, handling and processing of farm products.

A farmer planning to begin construction which needs authorization should consult his county United States department of agriculture war board.

All farm projects, including residential, agricultural, and off-the-farm construction, such as warehouses, processing plants, creameries, etc., will be considered first by the United States department of agriculture county war boards. Applications for projects recommended by these boards will be sent to state war boards and then to the department of agriculture.

The department will consider the recommendations and send to the War Production board for final approval those which are deemed essential.

So far as residential construction is concerned, farm dwellings are covered by the same regulations as other residential construction. If farm residential construction, during any 12-month period, costs less than $500 per farm, no authorization is necessary. Likewise no authorization is required for construction begun prior to April 9, 1942; for maintenance and repairs; or for reconstruction or restoration of farm residential construction damaged or destroyed after December 31, 1941, by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, act of God or by public enemy.

Take Care of Your Milking Machine as Parts Are Hard to Get

The milking machine is essential to wartime agricultural production, and must be cared for properly because shortages of rubber and metal will not permit normal replacement.

The following rules for the care of rubber milking machine parts are suggested:

- Use two separate sets of liners, alternating them each week. Rubber needs "rest."
- Keep liners tight in teat-cup shells.
- Keep milker rubber parts clean and free from all butterfat, which causes deterioration.
- Rubber cuts easily when wet. Use care in assembly and disassembly of units.
- Do not use chlorine solutions of a strength exceeding 250 parts per million, for excessively strong chlorine solutions will injure rubber.
- If lye is used in the care of rubber parts, be sure that it does not remain in contact with the metal parts.

Battling Soil Erosion

Legume crops such as alfalfa, clover, soybeans and lespedeza are being used with increasing success as "heavy artillery" in fighting the battle of soil erosion. Legumes keep the topsoil in place, deposit nitrogen in soil and provide it with needed supplies of organic matter. To do their best work, legumes should be reinforced by intelligent soil management such as the use of fertilizers high in phosphorus and potash.

NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF SUIT THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

To each of the above named defendants against whom substituted service is hereby sought to be obtained, GREETING:

You and each of you are hereby notified that a certain cause wherein you and each of you are defendants, and C. H. Parker is plaintiff, being Civil cause No. 4973 on the Civil Docket in the above named Court, is now pending against you.

The general object and purpose of said suit is to establish and quiet plaintiff's title in and to the real estate and property described in the Complaint in said cause, the same being in the County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, and in:

Sections 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 25, All in Township 10 South, Range 14 East, N. M. P. M. against the adverse claims of you and each of you, and anyone claiming by, under, or through you, or any of you, and to forever bar and estop you and each of you from having or claiming any lien upon, or right or title to, or interest in said real estate and property.

You are further notified that unless you enter your appearance in said cause on or before September 11, 1942, judgment will be rendered in said cause against you and each of you by default.

That the name of plaintiff's attorney and his postoffice address is John E. Hall, Carrizozo, New Mexico.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Third Judicial District Court of the State of New Mexico, this 27th day of July, 1942.
(D. C. Seal) Felix Ramey, District Court Clerk.
