ACETHE HOLE BY JACKSON GREGORY

THE STORY SO FAR: Arriving simulinneverty at the King Cole Ranch, Ann Les and Cole Cody discovered Old Early Bill Cole had made two identical wills, one leaving all his money and the King Cole Ranch to Ann: and the other siving the same money and property to Colo. However, before his death, caused by a gus-shet wound from an unknown assallant. Old Bill had sent them each a key, which, to their amazement, they now found fitted two different locks on an old, black from box. Opening the box they found two envelopes, each containing A ave-hundred-dollar bill and a letter directing payment of the money to Dec Jee and the Judge in settlement of a lost bet-New continue with the story.

CHAPTER XI

Cal Roundtree told the story Early Bill Cole very simply. Cole Cody asked,

"When he came to making a will, then, he knew what he was doing? He wasn't delirious?"

Roundtree. "When he stood up, it was who had shot Early Bill, aiming to die on his feet the same way he had lived, his old head was as clear as a bell. You could see it in his eyes. He had a pair of eyes like an engle's."

"Then how in blazes was it that at one and the same time he gave all he had to me-and gave the seen both wills, man, and that's few days?" how they read!"

Cal shook his head. "He was having him his fun, I reckon. Old Early Bill, come rain or shine, was always a great hand for having him his own fun in his own way." He thought a moment. "Say! It might be that this way he was making sure that you and Miss Ann would marry each other! Maybe that's the way he wanted it!"

"Then you're wrong about him not being crazy," snorted Cole Cody.

They sat silent a little while, soaking in the sunshine. Presently they fell to talking of this and that as men, strangers to each other and thrown together, will, and so it chanced that the attempted stage robbery of the day before was mentioned. And so Cal Roundtree learned that the attack had been made against Bucktooth Jenkins, and that Jenkins was now lying in bed at Bald Eagle, pretty well shot up.

"Did they get the money Bucktooth was carrying?" Cal Roundtree asked anxiously.

"They didn't get anything, unless one of them got a bullet in him. couldn't be sure, it was that dark. We all wondered what Bucktooth was carrying that they wanted."

"He was carrying ten thousand dollars in hard and folding money." said Cal. "It was money he-had gone to collect for Early Bill, and he was bringing it home. I know because Enrly Bill showed me the letter Bucktooth had wrote him; the latter said he had collected all right but was staying over a couple of days to visit some relations of his at the old trading post down over by Tilton; said he'd be along on yesterday's stage, bringing the ten thousand bucks with him. But how the devil did anybody else find out about it? Bucktooth ain't a man to gab. Early Bill showed me the letter because when it come he was near blind with pain, and he just snapped at me like this, 'Oh, hell, it ain't anything if it's from that fool Bucktooth Just about whether he did as I told him or fell down on it. Here, read it to me, Cal," and he stuck on to that, same as usual, 'Il you can read!' So I read it, and left it lying on his table when he chased me out to bring him drink."

"You left it on the table, huh? He probably left it on the table.-What do you know about this Rance

way he wears his face." "He could have found the letter and acted on it. "About it being Waldren, I bet it was! He's been in and out of Bald ! Eagle a time or two, and from what I hear he ain't got a two-bit piece to his name. And I wouldn't i put him above hog-stealing. But where he'd find a side kick in a game like this, him being a Johnnycome-lately hereabouts, I wouldn't know."

Make Slip Covers for That Unusual Chair

HIS cover was a twofold conservation measure in the most literal sense. Its purpose was not to cover shabby upholstery but to protect handsome damask from everyday wear and tear, in a household where there were children. The substantial striped cotton material chosen harmonizes perfectly with the rather elegant lines of the chair frame.

If you have an esticially difficult chair to cover, you will save time by fitting a muslin pattern first. Then you can snip until it fits perfectly around arms and other supports and, if you make a mistake in the pattern just stitch a patch over it and start over again. Before removing the pattern from the chair, plan the openings so that they will lap neatly and be sure they are long enough. In the finished cover either bindings or facings may be used for irregular edges.

Bake Your Own!

Those of you who have chosen homemaking as a career can set aside a half day for baking your own goodies right in your own oven. There are few things nicer than coming into a kitchen full of busy bustling, testing the cake, plumping fat loaves of bread on racks to and bake in a moderate oven 30 cool, or packing cookies in fresh wax paper for pantry shelves-for those fine boys in the service!

When augar rationing first came into the picture, most of us feared that it would not allow enough for home baking needs, but we have found ways to make sugar stretch. Or, perhaps we should say, corn syrups and honey to make baking, possible.

With eggs up in price and fats becoming scarce, we have changed our recipes to fill these needs, too! Today's recipes may not call for the quantity of materials that yesterday's did, but they can make just as tempting a product.

Lynn Says: Tie a String Around Your Finger: The technique's different when you do your own vegetables-and you must keep these pointers on tap if you would get the most out of them:

Peel potatoes thinly—their mineral treasures are hidden right under that skin.

Use green vegetables as soon as possible after buying. They lose quantities of their vitamin C just sitting and being exposed to air. Add dressing immediately to vegetables and fruits after cutting them. The coating prevents some vitamin loss.

Put away the soda box when cooking green vegetables. It's alkaline and destroys vitamins. Shell peas or lima beans only just before using. Wash leafy greens just before cooking. The percentage of vitamin loss will be lessened. Start cooking frozen foods before thawing. It is believed that less vitamin C is destroyed by that method.

ODR LORD'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER

LESSON TEXT-John 17:1-8, 18-26. GOLDEN TEXT - "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we ere,"-John 17:11.

There are some times and places so sacred that one is instinctively hushed into reverent devotion. When Christ prayed in holy intercession (as recorded in John 17) on the night before His suffering His disciples must have been lifted into the very presence of the Eternal One. It was a holy experience.

He prayed for Himself, but even more did He pray for His believing followers. To know that someone is praying for us is indeed an anchor in a time of storm, a strong help in the hour of conflict or of service for Christ.

But to know that the Master prayed for you and me-that is enough to send us, like the disciples of old, out to face an unbelieving world in His conquering name. He prayed for Himself-and He prayed for me!

I. He Prayed for Himself (vv. 1-8). He looked up and said: "Father," and then He was ready to pray. So cloke was He to God that there was just this simple recognition of their communion. In Christ are we not as close as He?

What did Jesus ask for Himself? At first thought it seems a little unusual that He asked

1. For Recognition of His Divine Glory (vv. 1-5). Why would He who had just given the disciples an example of and an admonition to humility desire to It might be said of this cookie have His glory manifested? Be sure it was not a matter of selfish pride. He had finished His work (for He counted redemption as complete throughout His prayer), and now the glory which He laid down when He came to earth (Phil. 2:6-8) was to be resumed.

He wants man to see Him now not only as the compassionate Son of man, but the glorious Son of God, able to save. It is right that the glory of Christ should be magnified and recognized by the whole creation. He is worthy!

2. For the Manifestation of His Grace (vv. 6-8).

The Father had given Christ the Cream shortening with corn syrup and egg. Add flavorings. Sift dry heart devotion of those who believed ingredients together and add to in Him. Note that their faith rested creamed mixture. Alternate dry in- on the name of God (v. 6), and gredients with apple sauce. Fold in upon His Word which had come to chopped raisins and nuts. Drop by them and to us through Christ.

He recognized their position and spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet standing in Him and established it and bake in a moderate oven 15 to before God and man. He then Who ever heard of carrots in cook- prayed for them (read vv. 9-17) that ies? Well, the surprise is a nice they might be kept in an evil one, and the cookies are popping full world as a testimony to the graceand power of God in the human heart.

This leads to His intercession for all believers. II. He Prayed for All Believers

(yv. 18-26). Christians are not simply the avowed adherents to a particular form of belief, they are "sent" ones. As the Father sent Him into the world, "even so send I them into the world," said Christ.

Christ has gone to be with the Father, but He has left those who believe in Him as His witnesses, His representatives. For this they need holiness. He prayed:

1. For Their Consecration (vv. 18.

For their sakes He consecrated Himself. Surely if He needed it, we do far more. It is not only His willfor us, but His prayer. How wonderfully that prayer was answered we see as we look back over the intervening 19 centuries, from His immediate disciples on through the martyrs, the missionary pioneers of oughly. Drop by speonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Flatten with all ages, the faithful preachers and teachers of the gospel, yes and "liva floured fork. Bake for 15 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Store ers" of the gospel too. He knew, He prayed, God answered. Are you Whole grain, especially oatmeal, in that blessed host of consecrated is rich in that important morale believers? vitamin, B1, or thiamin, as it is

2. For Their Unity and Glory (vv.

20-26). .There is a refreshing simplicity about the Christian faith which is utterly different from all the complications which man has prepared and superimposed upon it. Essentially it is a matter of God having sent His Son Into the world to be the Redeemer of men. He and the Father are one, He and His followers are one, and so we are all one. We who today believe are included (read shortening and oatmeal. Stir well. VV. 20-23). Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in

This is an inward unity of the Spirit, not an outward union of organizations. The answer to our difficulty is not the dissolution of denominations (although there do seem to be far too many subdivisions, too), but the uniting of all groups in a oncness of love and devotion to Christ, and a united emphasis on the gospel.

.It's a hog you don't see in this country. Landrace is the breed, a wonderful bacon hog developed in Denmark.

The Danes were just about the very best farmers in the world. They were a thrifty people. Through their farm cooperatives they produced and marketed livestock and farm products of the finest quality.

Successful and happy were these farmers—until one day the Germans came. They took the hog. They took all hogs. They took the butter and the cheese—and the cooperatives too. Like vultures they picked Denmark to the bone.

Remember this story as you market your livestock, crops and other farm produce. Remember it and put every dollar you can into U. S. War Bonds -every dollar you can.

Meat Ceilings to Check Black Market; Bismarck Sea Triumph Forecasts U. S. Drive to Sweep Japs From New Guinea; Small Firms Get Billions for War Work

(EDITOR'S NOTE; When opinious are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union

Even the most advanced air base in Tunisia gets its mail, as pictured above. This photo of the mailman arriving and being welcomed at an advanced U. S. air base of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's army, should be an incentive to those on the home front to write and keep writing to loved ones no matter how far away on Uncle Sam's service they may be.

BLACK MARKET:

Action on Meat

Action rather than words was the keystone of a program sponsored by the OPA and the department of agriculture to smash the black markets in meat.

First barrage laid down in this offensive was Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown's order imposing specific retail price cellings on meat, beginning with pork products. Second attack came in the announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard of orders licensing livestock slaughterers as well as those who buy and sell livestock for slaughter.

Effective April 1, the meat ceilings were expected to check black markets and end an "unjust squeeze" on packers. Mr. Brown said they would also lay the groundwork for the start of meat rationing about April 15. Pork ceilings were to be followed by uniform regulations on beef and lamb.

When red meat rationing is undertaken, the order will include bacon, butter, cheese, lard and other cooking fats.

With prices uniform throughout a community on all cuts of meat, Brown said, it would be difficult for dealers to get rid of illicit meat-at higher prices.

BISMARCK SEA:

Disaster for Japs

Three facts of major significance to the future of the war in the Pacific emerged from the stunning victory of General MacArthur's bombers over the 22-ship Jap armada in the Bismarck sca, approaching New Guinea.

Fact No. 1 was that in sinking the 22 enemy ships and bagging 82 Jap planes, MacArthur's airmen proved that a force of land-based bombers manned by skilled pilots Back over the snowy Russian is more than a match for a seasteppes where Napoleon's army per- borne invasion force. Military observers believed that one of the immediate results of the vance was indicated by the capture in pressure by General MacArthur's armies besieging Lac and Salamaua with the object of driving the

NORTH AFRICA: Rommel in Reverse

As Allied troops continued their drive in Tunisia, it became increasingly clear that Marshal Rommel's shert-lived Kasserine Pass offensive had been a gamble. If he succeeded, he would follow it up. If he failed, he would waste no time in retiring. This was emphasized by the rapidity with which American and British forces had regained the

Hitler in Mental Decline? Close Observers Say Yes

Reliable Reports Indicate Fuehrer Subject to Uncontrolled Emotions; German Physician Believes He Will Have Mental 'Explosion.'

> By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Where is Hitler? That question can't be answered with any certainty at this writing and nobody seems to care. For more than a month, the communications from the German High Command have not borne the Fuehrer's signature. The anniversaries of two of back. The Allied air arm remained | the great events in Nazi history have come and gone, the celebrations were held with very little display in comparison with other years and entirely without appearance of the No. 1 Nazi himself. Hitler has made no public appearance for months.

It is true that communications supposedly from the Fuehrer have been made public but always through a second party, notably the speech on the anniversary of the founding of the National Socialist party. The set excuse is that Hitler is with his troops in the Russian front. But at the rate that front is moving these days, it is doubtful posed by Secretary of Navy Frank | if he is very near it. It is quite possible that he is elsewhere or even nowhere but the interesting thing is that this man, who has managed to ing both draft-age and non-dealt-age aturn the world-upside down, does not seem at all essential to the great political and military machine he has built up. It may be functioning without him and this would seem to indicate that if he is not dead, but should suddenly die, it wouldn't Fourth Term? make much difference.

Some time ago, a report received from underground sources was received in London. It said that "Hitler either has been given an ultimatum by his generals, who pointed out his military blunders, or he is suffering from one of his hysterical fits and is in ill health as a result

Suicide the End?

Without revealing the source, have heard the opinion expressed by a man who has seen and met with Hitler many times and is exceedingly familiar with his life, that it is quite possible that a mental decline. has started which, he believes, may end in suicide,

On my own score, I may say that when I heard Hitler deliver his famous speech at the start of the war in 1939 in which he said that he was going to the front and would lead Germany to victory, that he would not take off his uniform until this Solomon Islands Lost... had been achieved, and in the next breath named his successors, I thought he was preparing for suicide.

I doubt if he is now dead. He may not even be ill but the thing is, there has been no report of any public appearance for a long time.

That, of course, is hearsay evidence-or long-distance diagnosis but what Oechsner reports comes from first-hand authority.

So Hitler may already be in a padded cell-and nobody seems to

Friends' Demands

Two things are acting in favor of persuading the President: One, this earnest and insistent demand of his "friends" who don't want "to move out" and some of whom honestly believe that it would be for the general good if the President stayed on.

The second factor and the one which could elect Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term, if he does run again, can be expressed in the well-known slogan, "Don't swap horses while crossing a stream." It is the reamost persuasive argument to any

With the Solomon Islands, 500 miles east of New Guinea, now prominent in the news, it is hard to believe that after their discovery in 1567 this archipelago, which includes 10 large islands and hundreds of smaller ones, totalling 17,000 square miles and stretching for 900 miles, was completely lost for 200 years. Soldiers Trained as Weather Observers To Assist Army in Mapping Plans; Information-Important to Bombers

The strategic and tactical importance of weather predictions, both short and long range, in waging the present war cannot be overestimated. This is particularly true in regions of the world where rapidly changing weather situations are characteristic throughout the year. Over the Atlantic ocean and in Europe changing weather is prevalent in latitudes from the foot of Italy northward. In eastern Asia, significant and frequent weather changes occur throughout the year in latitudes from Burma northward; while over the North Pacific ocean, this is true from a line running from Tokyo and Los Angeles northward. Both Berlin and Tokyo lie within the areas where the weather element is of importance the year around. Therefore, any successful strategy aiming a blow at the heart of our enemies must include the weather factor.

To this end, courses have been established to train personnel for weather work in all parts of the world. Among these courses are those designed to train enlisted men as weather observers; enlisted men as forecasters to assist the weather officers; a weather reconnaissance squadron training course; and an aviation meteorological cadet course.

In using the weather factor to determine the effectiveness of the airground team or the co-ordination of land, sea and air forces, the army air forces have evolved a few simple rules which have, in part, been verifled from a study of the strategy and tactics employed by the enemy.

Clear Dry Weather Permits Attack by Air-Ground Team

1. In clear dry weather, the sirground team can launch an attack most effectively. Under these conditions the attackers must have air superlority. These conditions permit the use of all types of air support, minimize the problems of obhervation and recognition of friendly and enemy aircraft and troops, and insite the maximum mobility o ground forces.

2. Dry weather with low clouds and good visibility permits limited air-ground operations. The types of attack by supporting aircraft are restricted. This kind of weather is fairly favorable to the operation of aircraft carriers even in areas controlled by land-based aircraft since the field of vision of the patrolling aircraft is greatly restricted.

3. Dry weather with extremely low clouds and conditions producing rather poor visibility can be used effectively for the consolidation of scattered ground units or the movement of ground forces into a posion for attack. These conditions, even with rain, are favorable for the movement of an aircraft carrier into a position for attack when the weather improves. In both cases, the attacking forces are relatively free from observation or attack.

This war has shown that a detailed knowledge of existing weather conditions over the theater of operapaigns or movements of personnel, motor vehicles, aircraft, or supplies. flight mission is conducted the flight commander should have an accurate knowledge of weather conditions to be expected during the flight, otherwise both personnel and equipment may be subjected to unnecessary hazard.

All army air forces weather forecasting stations furnish medium and short range forecasts. Short range forecasts are the most accurate type of forecasts made. Therefore, they should be given to every flight commander just prior to his take-off. These forecasts should give the weather conditions to be encountered, including state of the weather, that is, whether the sky is overcast or clear or with broken or scattered clouds; the type and intensity of precipitation; the height of the ceiling; the visibility; the wind speed and direction, both at the surface and aloft; any hazards to flight, such as fog, icing areas, fronts, etc.; and any special phenomena, such as tornadoes. Medium range forecasts are used for planning flight operations. Also short and medium range forecasts are necessary in the case of a very long flight requiring 8 to 10 hours or more for completion. For long flights, if the weather is at all uncertain or changeable, the flight commander should endeavor to obtain, if possible, one or more additional short range forecasts by radio, especially for the period of landing, and for the terminal of the flight.

Pilots must know the ceiling, amount of cloudiness, and types of clouds to be encountered on a flight for the entire route in order to plan and execute the flight properly. It a cloud ceiling exists, the pilot must either fly underneath it, fly on instruments in the clouds, or climb through and fly on top of the clouds. Flying at low altitude is usually hazardous and particularly so at night or in hilly or mountainous country with low visibility. Low ceiling or instrument weather at the point of takeoff should ordinarily be no hindrance to individual planes, provided the weather at the final destination is suitable for safe descent. However, instrument weather offers a very definite handicap to a formation of planes. The types of clouds also should be considered if instrument flight is to be made, as they will indicate the smoothness or roughness of the air. Instrument flight in clouds where thunderstorms or leing may be encountered involves a hazard to the aircraft that must be balanced against the military importance of continuing the mission. Thus, the pilot is much concerned with the ceiling and clouds to be found on every flight.

Clear Weather Is Needed For Reconnaissance Aviation

The primary mission of observation and reconnaissance aviation being to observe and report, their operations are facilitated by high ceilings and excellent visibility over the area where they operate. Reconnaissance aviation must operate great distances over enemy territory where weather conditions may or may not be known. Whether or not this weather is known will depend in a large measure upon the reconnaissance aviation itself since one of its missions will be to make weather reports from points over enemy territory. Bombardment aviation will also make a certain number of weather reports, and if these are sufficient in number and cover enough territory, it may be possible to make fairly accurate forecasts of weather for the following day. The capabilities of reconnaissance us of operation and number of air-

Bombardment aviation has probaformation. Bombardment units may, and frequently will, be called upon The influence of weather may free to perform their own reconnaisairdromes with gas tanks nearly empty. A forecast before take-off of weather to be encountered upon return is essential. Bombardment aircraft may pass through much bad weather en route to and from their objective, but to avoid wasted effort it is very important that the weather be suitable at the objective for bombing, and that this be known before take-off. Objectives should be chosen, when possible, based on the weather forecast; that is, objectives should be chosen for which weather conditions will be most suitable,

Within the theater of operations. there will normally operate an air task force and a ground force. The air task force may have its units scattered throughout the theater. one or more sub-air bases, and then the various combat units. If weather reports are required from points within an area where no weather er stations must be established at these points. Such weather observer stations will be established, where needed, within both the combat zone and the communications zone.

TO YOUR

SPEECH DEFECTS

A pupil at public school was a member of a special group preparing for scholarships. This class, of which I was a member, remained in the classroom un-class. As she was very brilliant I was Dr. Barton not surprised at her beating the rest of us, but I figured she would lose so many marks in her reading that some of us might overtake her. The explanation was that when she took her reading examination she read before the teacher only and read clearly and distinctly without stammering in the slightest. "Despite the fact that school teachers knew this fact that stammerers did not stammer amid home or familiar surroundings it is only within recent years that the general public and stammerers themselves are learning that while some speech defects are due to some disturbance of the structures that control speech, most cases of stammering are due to nervousness and self consciousness.

I am writing about stammering at this time as I have at hand a handbook of the Chicago Speech Correction society. The society was organized by a group of speech correctionists in the Chicago area, its purposes and qualifications being in accordance with the standards and ethical codes of the American Speech Correction association. The purposes of the society are to foster ethical principles and practices in the field of speech correction. To this end the qualifications demanded for membership are very high.

"The speech correctionist or therapist is one whose technical training has been such as to enable him to conduct the examination, make the diagnosis (find the cause of the defect) and direct re-education of (1) individuals whose voice or speech problems call unfavorable and embarrassing -attention to themselvesand constitute an educational, social, or business handicap; and (2) individuals who suffer from voice moisten with the remaining liquid. or speech conditions that are abnormal to such a degree that they are able to converse with others to stain. a very limited extent."

My thought is that as the stammerer or a sufferer with other speech defects can now be helped. he should look well to the qualifications of the speech correctionist he consults.

This means that 95 | closure. of every 100 overweights should follow a reducing diet containing an insufficient number of calories, the extra calories really needed to do the body's work being made up from the excess fat in and on the body. What about exercise?

If overweights realized the benefits derived from exercise, they would be more willing to take it regularly. All that most of them find is that exercise increases their appetite and so little or no weight is lost.

Why do overweights so greatly dislike exercise? Exercise means effort and there is less than the normal desire for effort in overweights. Every movement they make-walking, jogging, bending-means the lifting or carrying of much more weight than for one of normal weight. So, rather than use this severe effort, they are willing to do without some of their daily intake of food. They simply choose the lesser of two evils.

If, however, they are willing to take the exercise instead of doing without the food, they will not only use up the excess fat and so bring their figure back or nearly back to normal, but will get rid of their dislike for exercise and be more will ing to take it regularly. -As they grow lighter and more "limber." they may actually develop a desire for exercise.

Remember, exercise is useful in reducing weight before middle age. After middle age, cutting down on food is the safest method.

ENAMELED TO NATURAL FINISH

 Question: The house we bought has white enameled woodwork in the living room and dining room. How can I restore it to its natural finish?

Answer: You can take off the present finish with a commercial varnish and paint remover. Be careful to clean off all traces of the remover with benzine afterward. Both liquids are inflammable. Be careful of fire and have plenty of ventilation. Or you can use a hol solution of trisodium phosphate, three pounds to the gallon of water. This will soften the old finish so that you can scrape and wipe it off. Ringe thoroughly and allow to dry. You then can refinish with clear varnish, or whatever you wish. When using a paint remover, be sure to clean it all off after removing the paint; if any trace is left, it will continue to soften the new finish.

Rust Spot on Tile Floor Question: I kept a steel cabinet in my bathroom for quite a while. When I moved it to another room I found it had left a large rust spot on the tile floor. Scrubbing with acouring cleanser does not remove it. What should I use?

Answer: Dissolve one part sodium citrate in six parts of water, and add six parts of commercial glycerine. Mix a portion of this with enough powdered whiting, hydrated lime or other absorbing powder, to form a paste, and spread on the stoin in a thick coat. When it is dry, replace with fresh paste or A week or more may be required for the complete removal of the Covered Radiators

Question: I have metal covers on all the radiators; these are on top, but not the front and back. Does this lose much heat? I feel that the covers, besides keeping curtains cleaner, may divert the heat closer to the floors where our children play. We do not need the upper three or four feet in the room.

Answer: Heated air rises; therefore, in heating a room the warm air builds up from the ceiling down. It is estimated that about nine of A cover of any type on a radiator

Slicky Enamel

Question: Recently we removed the finish from a walnut table with paint remover, then refinished with two coats of white enamel. Newspaper print and lint from clothes stick to the top. We have waxed it, but it still remains sticky. Is there any remedy?

Answer: I make the guess that after removing the old finish you forgot to clean off the paint remover. which still is active in softening the new finish. You had better start over again by taking off all the finish; but this time clean off the paint remover with benzine (being extremely careful of fire). Sandpaper, if necessary, and refinish.

Shulling Off Radiators

Question: I have a hot-water heating system. Would I save on fuel and not interfere with the flow of water-if I shut off the third-floor radiator and possibly one or two on the second floor? Would it be better to remove the radiators entirely?

Answer: You should disconnect each radiator and plug the branch or pipe at some place below the unheated space to keep it from freezing. In the average hot-water heating system, the cutting off of a radiator should not interfere with the operation of the rest of the radiators. and will effect a saving of fuel.

Fresheaing Up Leather Chairs Question: What can be done with a maroon leather, office set that fades when sat upon during warm weather: The color comes off also. Answer: Begin by washing the leather (without using much water) with saddle soap, which can be had at a leather goods store. Rinse well and allow to dry. Then paint with good quality enamel, just as it comes in the can, without thinning.

Heel Marks Question: Could you tell me how to get rubber heel marks off my polished hardwood floor?

Answer: Wipe with turpentine and fine steel wool. If this does not remove the marks, put a little scratchless cleaning powder on a damp cloth and rub lightly. Then wipe with a clean, damp cloth and rewax the spot

Converting Our Industry

The groundwork for the conversion of American industry to war production started as long ago as 1922 when the Army and Navy Munitions board was set up, and the army established ordnance offices in 13 important cities throughout the country, says Collier's. The board then began a survey of some 20,000 large industrial plants to determine what these companies could and would produce in case of war.

These recent Ferry's All-America Award Winners have proved their merit in thousands of home gardens.
