Mrs. Jackie Silvers of Ancho was a business visitor here Monday and while in town, made this office a friendly call.

Mrs. Lucy (Jackie) Silvers is Postmistress at Ancho, taking the place of postmaster Cap Straley, who has recently joined the Marines.

Mrs. Fred Pfingsten, Mrs. Maggie Pfingsten and little granddaughter, Mary Emma Pfingsten left Tuesday for Tucumcari to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Perfecto Sanchez, son Roy and father, Simon Sanchez, were here from Tinnie Tuesday, transacting some business and returning home near the noon hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poage, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, all of Albuquerque, were here this week, the men folks going out for a deer hunt, while the ladies visited relatives and friends.

We had among our letters this week, one from Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Simmons of Boron, Calif., in which they entered their name on the list for the New Mexico Magazine and the Outlook. About the cards you spoke of Mr. Simmons, we are entirely out but as soon as we can print some, we will let you know.

Mrs. Floyd Jones, postmistress at White Oaks and little daughter Betty Fern, Mrs. L. H. Kwieler and son Jackie, were here from the "Heart's Desire," Monday. The Kellers are from Russell and L. H. went hunting with Jack Claghorn, during their visit here. Mrs. Keller is the former Miss Ida Claghorn of White Oaks.

Cap Straley of Ancho and Bill Ferguson of Capitan were sworn in to the U. S. Marines on the Plaza Theatre stage at El Paso on the 168th birthday anniversary of the Marines. The ceremony was very impressive. They will report for duty at El Paso on Nov. 25, after which they will undergo 7 weeks of training at San Diego, Calif. Cap and Bill are already "leathernecks" for Cap is a hardy baseball player and Bill is a bronco buster. We predict that they can take anything the Marines have to give them—and HOW!

Receives Medal and Clusters

Mrs. R. B. Provine at Capitan recently received a Medal and two Oak Leaf Clusters from the War Department for gallantry in action in participating in fifteen air raids over Germany, by her son Charles who is now a prisoner in Germany. A letter from Charles dated May 15 stated that he was in good health. These medals and Charles photo are on exhibition at the Titworth Store where his father worked for so many years.

Corporal Albert Roberts of the Albuquerque airbase spent the week-end here with his wife, relatives and friends.

Bradley Morberly, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burnett, has received a promotion and is now First class Petty Officer in the Navy.

Dan S. Conley is in Glenwood Springs, Colo., Naval Hospital. The Doctor agreed to let him come home on a 60-day furlough soon, according to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lacey were in from their ranch farm at Nogal Wednesday. The Lacey farm is noted for its excellent sweet corn, which they raise there and which pleases the people so well.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Stuffed Eggs Are Colorful in Spanish Sauce (See Recipes Below)

Point Wisdom

There should be some sort of an "E" award for the housewives who go about their business daily, keeping their homes in order and feeding their families nutritious, well-balanced meals in spite of high prices and hiked up point values. And to you ladies who rate or would rate the household "E" aren't you finding new respect for foods low in points or which require no points? I wager there's many an egg with a heart of gold that's come to your rescue and hitherto-scorned fish that's made a hearty and delicious meal when points have been all used up. Both eggs and fish are complete proteins and they are just as important an meat in building and repairing body tissue which is necessary every day. Both can be combined into just as looked-for dishes as meat and cheese which are rationed.

A word of caution when you cook these precious eggs. Use low temperatures whether you fry, scramble, cook or bake them, otherwise you will have tough, leathery eggs. Cook them carefully, and ah! you will indeed discover how delightful they truly are. Use variety in serving eggs, too, and don't just go through the humdrum monotony of serving them plain boiled, scrambled or fried.

Spanish Eggs on Toast (Serves 4)

8 stuffed egg halves
4 slices of toast
Spanish sauce
Lay slices of toast on bottom of baking sheet. Prepare Hot Stuffed eggs on suggested in following recipe and orange eggs on top of toast. Pour hot Spanish sauce over and around eggs. Garnish with toast triangles. Serve at once.

Stuffed Eggs

4 hard-cooked eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper or cayenne
3 tablespoons salad dressing
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Cut eggs in half lengthwise or crosswise. Remove yolks, press through sieve. Add seasonings and dressing. Beat until fluffy and refill egg whites. Top stuffed eggs with buttered crumbs and broil or bake in hot oven about 6 minutes or until crumbs are browned.

Spanish Sauce

Prepare about 3 cups of your favorite tomato sauce and season rather highly. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper of the last.

Eggs a la King (Serves 3 to 4)

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour

Lynn Says:

Meat Stretchers: Store and cook meat properly for greatest economy. Fresh meat is best stored if wiped with a damp cloth, covered loosely with waxed paper and stored in coldest part of refrigerator. Variety meats, ground meats and fish should be used 24 hours after purchasing. Ground meat darkens if allowed to stand and spoils more quickly than whole cuts. Frozen meat keeps indefinitely in the freezing unit. However, after thawing, it spoils more quickly than other meat and should be cooked immediately. Cooked meats should be covered closely to prevent drying and stored in coldest part of refrigerator. Do not cut, grind or slice until ready to use. Poultry should be cleaned and washed before refrigerating. It keeps better if stored whole rather than in pieces.

Waste Fats Make Munitions and Medicines; Need 200 Million Pounds a Year, Says Nelson

Every Family Must Save a Pound Each Month to Meet Quota

"An adequate supply of fats and oils is essential to the successful prosecution of the war."

With those words Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, urged housewives of the nation to cooperate actively in a campaign designed to salvage every available ounce of waste fat.

The fat salvage drive is aimed at every home. Its specific target is the kitchen where, unfortunately, millions of pounds of glycerine-containing fat are being poured into the garbage pail or down the kitchen drain. Fats will help win the war and be a prime essential in negotiating and implementing the peace. Fat and oil sources have taken a terrific beating in the war. Whole areas that produced palm and coconut oil have been laid waste, cattle have been killed off to feed fighting men. Europe is in the throes of a fat famine.

How seriously this shortage may affect our own troops and our civilian population depends in a large measure on the people themselves. The quota of 200 million pounds of fat for household salvage in 1943 was not set as a measure of the need. The shortage for all purposes, military, industrial and domestic, was far in excess of that figure. It was worked out that American households could save and turn in 200 million pounds of used kitchen grease without undue hardship and without depriving families of their fat energy requirements.

Due to many factors, some of them beyond the control of homemakers, the rate at which kitchen grease is being turned in, is far short of the quota. Yet, a glance at the figures, at the quantity of meat, butter and shortening, available for family use is convincing proof that American households could salvage double their quota if they would buckle down to the job on a drop by drop, tablespoonful at a time program of saving and then turn in their grease to a local meat dealer collector.

The need for waste fat for glycerine and other by-products for explosives, munitions and medicines is not diminishing as our troops advance on all fronts. To the contrary, it is increasing. Nor is the need sporadic or momentary. It is a long term, continuing program which will probably extend well beyond the limits of a shooting war, according to an Office of War Production statement.

Without glycerine we could not produce gunpowder to fire many of our shells and ship and plane instruments would not function. Glycerine has no substitute, or in any case, no satisfactory one has yet been discovered for many types of explosives. Because of the shrinking reserve stock of this vital ingredient, the WPB already has found it necessary to ban the use of glycerine in practically all civilian products, cigarettes, cosmetics, dentifrices and dozens of others.

This drastic move was made because we are nowhere near to bringing used fat collections to the point which will achieve the 200 million pounds yearly quota necessary to provide the glycerine its many war uses require. National collections have continued to climb, even with the advent of meat and shortening rationing, but the highest monthly total so far—7,312,017 pounds last March—is almost nine million pounds short of the required monthly total.

If you don't think waste fat is important listen to this: 31 tablespoons of used kitchen fat will make enough glycerine for a pound and a half of gunpowder. Or 31 tablespoons of fat will provide powder to fire four 37-mm. anti-aircraft shells. Figuring another way, a pound of fat will yield enough glycerine for 1 1/2 pounds of powder for machine gun cartridges. (There are other materials in gunpowder besides glycerine derivatives, but the glycerine compound is what puts the "punch" in the explosive.)

Other uses for glycerine in war equipment requiring a liquid that does not freeze easily, or has some other necessary quality, are in recoil mechanisms for guns, hydraulic devices, such as presses and elevators, pumps, ships' steering gear, in compasses, depth charge releases and many for other mechanical purposes. Glycerine is also employed in special compounds to coat weapons, as anti-freeze in radiators and on windshields, and in medicines.

Medical Uses

The medical use of glycerine is constantly growing in importance. Glycerine is present in these and many other preparations: Tannic acid used in the treatment of powder and other burns. Some insulins used in the treatment of shock as well as diabetes. Tinctures of opium and gentian used as sedatives to ease pain. Smallpox vaccine as a preventative injection given to all men in the armed forces.

Sulpha diamine ointments for treatment of fungus growths. Nitro glycerine tablets for a heart stimulant. Acriflavine used as an antiseptic. Military medicine is achieving remarkable results in saving lives. With new techniques and drugs, the death rate from wounds has been reduced from 7.6 per cent in World War I to 3.1 per cent in this conflict. Sulfa compounds and blood plasma are given much of the credit for this splendid accomplishment.

In order that that high rate of recovery and the low rate of death of our wounded may continue, the manufacturers of medicinals for the armed forces must have a plentiful supply of glycerine. As more men are sent into various fields of action, it is inevitable that there will be more casualties and that a still more plentiful supply of healing drugs will be needed.

At the present time the house-holders of America are contributing around nine million pounds of used kitchen fats to the war effort each month, but this is only a little more than half of what is needed to keep our glycerine stocks at a safe level. It is safe to say that at least three times this amount of valuable glycerine-containing fat still is being wasted. Remember, all fat is wanted. The color is unimportant, as brown fat is as good as white for chemical processing.

The housewife has only to save as much fat as possible each day, store it in a tin can and take her savings regularly to the meat dealer, who will pay her for it and send it on its way to the war production line. Within 21 days it will be processed and the glycerine thus obtained will be put to some vital war use.

Rural Driving Hazards Greater in Winter; Death Toll 24% Above Summer Months

Winter's most serious driving hazards are slippery snow-and-ice-covered roads and poor visibility caused by frosted or fogged windshields and long hours of darkness, and these hazards are more serious on rural highways than on city streets according to studies by the National Safety Council.

"while the southern winter caused only a 5 per cent increase." Following are rules, based on council research, for driving under adverse road and weather conditions:

- 1. Adjust speed to conditions.
2. Slow down well in advance of intersections and curves.
3. Follow other vehicles at safe distances.

equipment will be an added handicap this winter in 30 northern states, Prof. Ralph A. Moyer, of the Iowa State college engineering experiment station, who is chairman of the council's committee on winter driving hazards, points out significant facts for consideration by farmers and all others who must drive on rural roads this winter. "Traffic deaths in snow belt states last winter ran the mileage death rate 24 per cent higher than the summer toll," Professor Moyer said,

- 4. Put on tire chains when roads are slippery with snow or ice.
5. Signal intentions of turning or stopping.
6. Apply brakes lightly and intermittently on icy roads.
7. Remember that braking distances on snow and ice are from 4 to 11 times greater than on dry pavement, and that wet ice at near thawing temperatures is twice as slippery as dry ice near zero.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for November 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

HONESTY IN ALL THINGS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:15; Leviticus 19:11, 13; Luke 19:1-10, 45, 46. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not steal.—Exodus 20:15.

Honesty seems to be so obviously right that one might expect it always and everywhere—if bitter experience had not indicated the opposite to be true.

As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common that a person who is strictly honest is a bit of a novelty.

Under such circumstances the Christian needs to be vigilant lest he also accommodate his own ideas of honesty and begin to justify little evasions rather than being absolutely upright.

The teaching of Scripture on this matter is very plain.

I. Honesty and Fair Dealing (Exod. 20:15; Lev. 19:11, 13).

The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned, or saved.

As a matter of fact, dishonesty has become so common that a person who is strictly honest is a bit of a novelty.

"Thou shalt not steal" forbids every kind of theft, and the passages from Leviticus indicate that this includes more than robbery or ordinary stealing.

It relates to every kind of false dealing with another, such as oppression or the withholding of just wages.

Perhaps we ought to be more specific and apply the truth to our own day. Stealing includes such things as looting on one's job, "borrowing" money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon and preaching it as one's own.

One might add gambling (which is taking another man's property by skill or by chance), making an undue large profit on the labor of another, making money out of the sorrows and failures of others, etc.

II. Honesty and Restoration (Luke 19:1-10).

The reality and thoroughness of Zacchaeus' conversion was indicated by his willingness to restore all the money he had unjustly (but legally, note that!) taken from his fellow citizens—and that in fourfold measure.

Incidentally it is possible to do so, the honest person will make right any known injustice. To be right with God must mean that we are to be right with men.

Often such actions open opportunities for Christian testimony and point others to the redemption in Christ, which makes a man live right as well as talk right.

III. Honesty and Religion (Luke 19:45, 46).

One might think it unnecessary to urge honesty upon religious folk. They ought to be honest. But here we see in sharp contrast to the quick honesty and restitution of Zacchaeus, the stubborn disobedience and dishonesty of the priests in the temple.

Had they known the change of heart of a converted Zacchaeus they would have heeded His admonition. But they did not believe in Christ and went on with their ungodly desecration of the temple area until it became "a den of thieves" (v. 46).

What happened so long ago needs application to our present day. So apt is the quotation from the "Lesson Commentary" which we have used before that we repeat it now. Speaking of "the goings on in our own churches" the writer says, "Is a church honest when it assumes obligations that it cannot meet, and is then forced to use all sorts of questionable means to raise money for the benefit of the church? Is a church honest when it turns a building consecrated to the worship of God into a restaurant or a theater, Is a church honest that turns its pulpit into a lecture platform for the discussion of current events or the review of popular books or plays?"

ASK ME ? A quiz with answers offering information on various subjects

One of the seven hills of Rome. 2. Seven: Pride, anger, lust, envy, covetousness, gluttony, and sloth. 3. It is a white powder, resembling ordinary baking soda. 4. Samuel Coleridge. 5. A kilometer is five-eighths of a mile. 6. Johann Sebastian Bach had twenty children.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Paint is "good to the last drop" if kept in glass jars tightly covered. You might try breaking up crisp left-over bacon and adding it to muffin batter for supper. To prevent white sauce from becoming lumpy, don't allow fat and flour to become too-hot before adding the milk. Stir in about one-half cup of milk very slowly as sauce thickens, then gradually add the rest of the milk and stir until it all thickens. A successful white sauce is the mark of a good cook. Keep your cut flowers fresh by changing the water in the vase each day. Thoroughly wash the vase when the change is made. Peeled, quartered apples add a delicious flavor and soft topping to a roast of lamb or veal.

The Rubber Shortage is behind us but the Tire Shortage is still here!

Less than two years ago America faced as frightening a situation as any country at war ever faced. Unless something was done, and done quickly, we would soon be without rubber.

And without rubber, no plane could fly, no tank could move, no ship could sail, no truck could roll, people could not get to work, materials could not move to and from plants.

That was the situation the Government and the rubber companies had to lick inside of two years if America was to stay in the war.

Did the "impossible" really happen?

Let's see what you think. Right now, there is nearly enough rubber to meet our essential needs.

Today, this threat to American victory is merely an unpleasant memory, because Government, the Rubber Director, and a group of industries—rubber, petroleum, chemical, alcohol—working together, compressed into less than two years a job that would normally have taken a dozen years. But...

Because the public saw huge synthetic rubber plants shoot up almost overnight, and heard that synthetic rubber was in large-scale production, they figured the tire headache was almost over.

Now—a warning!

This is the situation today—the rubber supply crisis is past, but the long predicted and anticipated tire shortage is with us.

Why is this so, when thousands of tons of Government synthetic rubber are now being made?

Why is this so, when the rubber industry is producing a tremendous tonnage of rubber products and more airplane and truck tires than ever before?

Because, as the Baruch Committee foresaw—the fact that few tires could be made until we had our synthetic rubber supply well on the way, resulted in millions of tires going out of service without replacement—and those remaining have less mileage in them. Inventories of prewar tires are gone.

Because our military needs are way beyond anyone's anticipations.

Because the rubber companies must use a lot of their manpower and machines to make bullet-sealing gas tanks and hundreds of other rubber products for war, in addition to tires.

Because half of today's requirements are for heavy-duty, large-size truck, bus, combat, artillery, and airplane tires, requiring many, many times the labor and materials of peacetime needs... and finally...

Because the manpower shortage hangs over the tire industry as it does over all industry, and there are just too few hands for the job.

Straight from the shoulder

These problems will be licked when our enemies are licked. Meanwhile, we want to tell you frankly that unless you, and all tire-owners continue to make the preservation of tires a vital personal problem... our home-front transportation will break down and slow up the war production of America.

The way out is for you to conserve the tires you've got—stretch their life in every way you can.

How to make tires last longer

Do no unnecessary driving. Live up to the government regulation—don't exceed 35 miles an hour.

Keep your tires inflated up to recommended pressure, and check them every week.

Avoid hitting holes in the road, or bruising your tires on curbs or stones. Don't start or stop suddenly. Slow down for sharp corners.

See that your wheels and axles are in line.

Switch your tires from wheel to wheel every five thousand miles, and have them inspected regularly for removal of foreign objects and repair of cuts.

And—most important of all—recap your tires as soon as they become smooth.

Though not all civilians will be able to get synthetic rubber tires in the near future, you may be one of those who will. Therefore, you should know... and remember... these facts:

FACTS ABOUT PASSENGER CAR TIRES

The synthetic rubber tire is not yet an improvement but it will keep your car rolling through the emergency.

In many respects, the new synthetic rubber tires are an unknown quantity.

How they would behave at the phenomenally high speeds of prewar days is purely academic. The patriotic citizen knows that high speeds wear out his treads far faster than the recommended speed of 35 miles per hour, and drives accordingly.

Under-inflation, driving over rough roads, and other abuses are bad for all tires—but today's evidence is that synthetic tires will stand less of these abuses than the tires you have been used to.

But, since these tires will be rationed to you in trust for the nation, it will be your duty to take every possible care of them, and to prevent misuse and abuse.

As we gain more experience with synthetic rubber tires, more and more things will become known about them, and the public will be kept informed.

If you use synthetic rubber tires, be sure they are properly installed. They should be put into the tire, then inflated, deflated, and inflated again. And they should never be mounted on rusty rims.

FACTS ABOUT TRUCK AND BUS TIRES

On truck and bus tires, particularly in over-the-road, inter-city service, the situation is less satisfactory.

Truck and bus tires are operated under more severe conditions than passenger car tires. They are heavier, thicker—generate more heat. They are all too frequently overloaded, must travel on any kind of highway their work requires.

Again we'll be perfectly frank about it: synthetic truck and bus tires now built will not stand all the abuse that the prewar tire would take, especially overloading. Progress is being made every day—but overloading which damaged a prewar tire can ruin today's synthetic rubber tire.

The Tire Industry is bending every effort to solve the serious problems of furnishing satisfactory and sufficient tires to the truck and bus field.

But a serious threat still exists to our most vital transportation.

So remember this—while the treads of present truck and bus tires are vitally important, the carcasses of these tires have a value to our truck operators, and to the nation, that is beyond price. Unless these tires are made to last and last, there is almost certain to be a breakdown of truck service.

Every one of these tires must be recapped the very minute it needs it—before any damage is done to the carcass. Speeds must be cut down, especially on hot roads. Overloads must be eliminated. Proper inflation is a necessity.

Operators, garage men, drivers, all have a heavy responsibility that they cannot now avoid. These are straightforward statements. The warning must not go unheeded. A new tire warranty recognizes these conditions, but the real job is conservation!

A new warranty

With conditions as they are, and synthetic rubber in its present stage of development, a new tire warranty has become necessary and has been adopted. It applies to all tires. Under its terms, injuries such as bruises, body breaks, cuts, snags, and heat failures, as well as tread wear are not subject to adjustment consideration.

Nor are injuries or failures which result from improper tire care or misuse or abuse. This includes failure as a result of overload, excess speed, improper inflation, or other non-defective conditions. Or when tires are used on rims not conforming to Tire and Rim Association Standards.

Remember—the tire industry, the Rubber Director, everyone is working together with all their energy, as they have from the outset, to keep America's wheels turning.

Do your part—take care of the tires you've got now!

Where Help

Counts Most

Many families today are in trouble brought on or heightened by the absence of a father, a son, a husband. Many service-men need a link with home to know the heartwarming assurance that someone is interested, will do for his family what needs to be done in his absence.

The Army and Navy have asked the Red Cross to be that link, and to that end the Red Cross maintains a worldwide two-way system of communication between field directors on the war fronts and Home Service on the home front.

The organization which makes messages immediately effective is a triumph of planning, but the spirit which acts on those messages is a triumph of humanitarianism, channeled through Home Service to reach every Serviceman's family.

Should any family of servicemen have need of assistance from the Red Cross, they are requested to contact the following individuals who represent the Red Cross in the several communities:

Mrs. Edith Crawford, Carrizozo; Mrs. W. E. Knott, Three Rivers; Mrs. W. R. Belden, Corona; Mrs. Wm. Hart, Ruidoso; Mrs. Kivas Tully, Picacho; Mrs. Sarah Fisher, Capitan; Mr. R. S. Fagan, Ft. Stanton.
R. S. Fagan, Chairman.

5 WARTIME HINTS ON CARING FOR Your TELEPHONE

REPAIR PARTS are scarce and materials for new equipment have gone to war. So we ask that you guard your present telephone with extra care. Listed below are five most common causes of damage:

1 A telephone on a narrow shelf or stand is in danger. Keep it on a wide, firm table or desk.

2 When painting, protect your telephone with cloth or paper. When washing floors or woodwork protect the cord and wire from getting wet.

3 Do not let the cord loop over drawer handles or knobs—opening may pull telephone over—closing may damage cord.

4 Keep kinks out of your telephone cord. Twisting may injure the wire and necessitate replacement.

5 Replace the receiver carefully—banging it down may injure delicate mechanism. Be sure it is placed on support carefully to avoid causing busy signal.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Powder Monkey

On board ship and in the artillery their buddies call them "powder monkeys." Not disrespectful, just a personal, intimate term between friends. Civilians call them gun crews. During a battle the crews of "powder monkeys" must work like trojans bringing the ammunition to the guns.

The gun may fire an anti-aircraft .50 calibre shell or a broadside from the 16 inch guns of a great battleship, but in either event the "powder monkey" must pass millions of dollars' worth of ammunition to make the gun effective, and your savings in War Bonds are necessary to supply the financial ammunition that provides the shells.

See Here, Private Hargrove! by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former newspaper employee of a North Carolina paper, has been inducted into the army and is receiving his basic training at Fort Bragg.

CHAPTER X

There was one Sunday evening when Sher started a letter to his family and found, after a couple of paragraphs, that there was nothing for him to write about.

Several days later—after I had swapped in skilllet for a typewriter and had moved to Headquarters Battery—I came by Battery A to see if I had any mail from my nonwriting friends in Charlotte.

The card inside read: "Dear Hargrove—We think your idea about the cookies is superb. Give Maury one or two; he's a good boy when he wants to be."

The old gang, which has lived and worked and played together for over three months and has grown into a close and sympathetic brotherhood, is dissolving now.

The student cooks whom I grew to know and feel a fondness for during those months are not so fortunate as some of the other soldiers.

I've spent too much time flirting with that cute little waitress at the delicatessen in Fayetteville.

each other's illness, fatigue, despair. When Happy Menza grows homesick for Buffalo and McGlaufflin starts a wistful reminiscence about the lakes and forests of Minnesota,

Friday night was probably the last evening the boys of my old crowd would be together. At least, it was the last evening they were sure of being together.

When we rode to the river in our chartered bus, we rang the welkin with the old songs—the faintly fragrant songs you pick up through the years and the "Caisson Song" and "Old King Cole" that you learn in the Army.

This, though—the scattering of our first fraternity—is another thing we have learned, now and for the first time. It is our first lesson in a new kind of homesickness, bred only in the Army.

"Private Hargrove," I said to myself, "you have been doing quite too much gallivanting lately. There have been too many movies, too many bull sessions, too many hours spent at the Service Club and too much time spent flirting with that cute little waitress at the delicatessen in Fayetteville."

Private Wesley Sager, late of Amsterdam, New York, grew weary of the quiet. Yawning widely, he rolled over in bed and with a sudden swoop yanked the pillow from beneath the head of Private Melvin Hart.

Private Sager rose and retrieved his pillow with dignity and formality. He placed it on his bunk, smoothed it and laid his head upon it. Three privates sighed in resignation.

Private Sager lay quiet for a while. Then he broke into a loud, regular, but unconvincing snore.

Private Carney picks up the ball. "Anything Hart says about me or about what anybody else says about me is entirely fictitious, and any resemblance to persons living or dead is coincidental and not intended."

Private Sager sits up suddenly in bed. "Don't talk like that about Hart," he says in a quiet, serious, and menacing voice. "Anything you say about Hart is a personal insult to me. If you're inclined to insult me, kindly take off your stripes and step outside with me."

Slang runs wild in the Army. It's like a disease or the liquor habit. Among the boys who sit around on

A new and glibble man is sent for the cannon report, or the rubber flag which is used on rainy days.

Water is GI lemonade. Salt is sand or Lot's wife; pepper is specks; sugar is sweetening compound. Milk is cat beer; butter, dogfat. Ketchup is blood.

It is strictly against the code of the Army to say a complimentary word about the food or the cook, no matter how good the food is or how hard the cook labors to make it so.

Here are some of the most popular figures of speech: Army Bible—the Articles of War; regulations. Barrage—a party, especially where the Demon Rum rears its ugly head.

Jubilee—revellie, which is too often pronounced "revelie." Mother Machree—a sob-story alibi. Pocket lettuce—paper money.
