Male Cow, Called Bull, Shot Around Washington Says "OPA" Description

A gag to tickle the funnybones of the ranchers in Eddy County is being circulated by Colorado stockmen. It apes the many bulletins published by the OPA, and deals with cows. It says:

"The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which there is no guile.

"She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides the filler for hash, and is at last skinned by those she has benefitted, as most mortals are.

"The young cow is called a calf, and before the war was used in the manufacture of chicken salad.

"The cow's tail is mounted aft and has a universal joint. It is used to disturb marauding flies; and a tassel at the end has a unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come often in contact with the tassel have vocabularies of peculiar and impressive force.

"The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to belching. The raw materials thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face are pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach, where they are converted into cow or milk.

"The cow has no upper plate. All her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. The arrangement was perfected by a Department efficiency expert to keep her from gumming things up. As a result she bites up and gums down.

"A slice of cow is worth 12 cents as a cow, 20 cents in the hands of the packer, has a ceiling price of 40 cents in a butcher shop, and is worth $2.25 a plate in a restaurant.

"The male cow is called a bull and is located along the Colorado fought south of the Rio Grande, and shot in the vicinity of the Potomac."—Eddy County News.

Howard Searle

Margaret Louis Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Howard of Fort Stanton, N. Mexico and Mr. Gerald Searle of Madison, Wisconsin were united in marriage on Friday evening November 28, 1943 in Denver, Colorado.

Margaret was born in Capitan, N. M. and has obtained all of her education in this state, graduating from the Capitan High School and afterwards attending the State College at Mesilla Park. While a student at this institution she was chosen by Peter Hurd as one of the six most attractive girls on the campus.

At present she is at the Denver General Hospital Training School for Nurses, and is a member of the U. S. Cadet Nurses Corps.

Gerald Searle is a native of Madison, Wisconsin, but has been in the army for more than a year and is stationed at Galveston, Texas.

The young couple will continue to serve their country until the war is over.

Memorial Services for Saturnino Chavez, Jr.

The memorial services given at the Methodist Church last Sunday evening by the American Legion and Auxiliary for Tech. Sgt. Saturnino Chavez, Jr., one of our fallen heroes, were highly impressive and well attended.

The services were opened with prayer by Rev. Loudin. The assembly then arose and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and a quartet of ladies of the Auxiliary sang a beautiful selection, with Mrs. Burns at the piano. Glen Snow and Eugene Donaldson were the flag bearers and J. D. Garrison sounded taps on the bugle.

Mr. Wm. Gallacher, who presided for Com. L. A. Whitaker, who was ill, Mrs. Gallacher for Auxiliary, Mr. John E. Hall and Supt. L. Z. Manire, paid glowing tributes to the life and memory of "Little Sat." Mr. Hall also eulogized from Sat's employers, Messrs. Louis Adams, Oscar Bamberger, E. M. Brickly and Apodaca of the AAA at Bernalillo.

Manuel Ramirez

Burial services were held at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at Evergreen Cemetery for Manuel Ramirez, who died Nov 25, 1943 from climatic exposure which caused him to freeze to death. He was born 1893 in Chihuahua, Mexico and came to New Mexico in 1915.

BONDS OVER AMERICA

Home of Freedom

Surmounting the Capitol Dome at Washington stands Crawford's bronze statue of Freedom, symbol of the freedom and liberty our government has guaranteed to immigrant and native citizen alike, since the founding of the Republic.

Keep America Free; Buy War Bonds

In the capitals of conquered Europe freedom and liberty are hollow, mocking words mouthed by jackal puppets like Mussert, Quisling, Laval, Degrelle or Laval.

INTER-PARTY FRICTION.

The Democrats who lambasted the New Deal last month would make a list so long that it is impossible to list each of them. Yet, to show how representative are the critics of the Democratic Party inside the party, we list the following persons, who scolded one or more Government agencies:

Governor John Dempsey, of New Mexico, who engaged in a public brawl with OPA's traffic rules.

Dr. Herbert R. Northrup, War Labor Board staff adviser, who accused Dr. William Leiserson, chairman of the National Railway Mediation Board, of "aiding and abetting" labor unions in discrimination against Negroes

Mayor James D. Wood of Norfolk, Va., who foresaw a "revolt" until the New Deal changes its way Representative Phillip J. Philbin (D.), of Massachusetts, who says we will have a turkeyless Thanksgiving due to the machinations of OPA.

Senator E. D. Thomas (D.) of Oklahoma, who said that he is being blamed personally for OPA mistakes and that, by cruddy, OPA had better not ruin his chances for re-election like it did the others who failed to return to Congress last November.

The Republicans didn't have to say a word. They just sat and smiled, and went forward with constructive plans for giving the Government good management starting in 1945.

We beg leave to acknowledge friendly letters from our old former Carrizozo residents who are still on our mailing list, as follows, Mrs. John O'Malley, Santa Fe, Mrs. L. A. Boone of Capitan, who is wintering at Phoenix, Arizona, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ferguson, Nogal, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Maez, Alamogordo, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Helms, Garfield, N. M., Mrs. J. C. Mosteller, Yaso, N. M., Mrs. T. C. Key, Capitan, N. M., Miss Ula Edmiston Dallas, Texas, during the present week, to all of whom we assure you are gratefully received—Thanks.

The OPA's Welcome

As the boats carrying the American soldiers who were returned to us in exchange from Jap prisoner camps landed in New York, the worn-out, neglected crews saluted the Statute of Liberty and thanked God that they were once again in the home of freedom. But of course, it was left to the OPA to gum the cards, as usual, so instead of giving them the glad welcome, the OPA gave each one a Rationing Card, thus giving them an insult instead of welcome.

Dan Conley, Jr. Is Expected Home This Week

Dan will be here from Glenwood Springs, Colo., Naval Hospital on a 40-day furlough, which he will spend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley, Sr. and his many local friends. Dan is a teen-age veteran and has been in the thick of it against those slimy Japs.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Balow and Mrs. Hamilton and children of Ancho were here Sunday.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, a newspaper man before his induction into the army, has been receiving his basic training at Fort Bragg, N. C. He has gone through the "hardest" weeks of his army career and has been classified as a cook. In addition, he has spent a considerable share of his spare time on KP duty. He is familiar with the finer points of "goldbricking" and "shooting the breeze." He has mastered most of the army slang expressions and has rather completely adjusted himself to training camp-routines. As we pick up the story Private Hargrove and some of his buddies are having supper and are about to hand the mess sergeant his share of the day's abuse.

CHAPTER XII

Orville D. Pope, Mess Sergeant of Headquarters Battery and master of all he surveys (so long as he stays in the kitchen), strolled past our table like a happy night-club owner inspecting his saloon.

Photographer Bushemi lifted a forkful of creamed potatoes to his mouth, made a sour face and inserted the potatoes as if they were seasoned with liniment. Don Bishop, the public relations reporter who sometimes shows a streak of sheer sanity, lifted his coffee, held his nose and drank it.

"Sergeant Pope," I said in a small voice, "earlier in the course of this supper I told you that I had never tasted anything harder or drier than the bread you served us tonight. I want to take that back, Pope. When I said that, I hadn't tasted your peanut butter."

"You're the only ones I ever hear griping about the chow in this battery," said Pope. "You're the only ones I ever have trouble with. You three and Mulvehill. If I'll pay for your food, won't you please take all your meals at the Service Club?"

"Let's leave Mulvehill's name out of this," I said. "Poor, poor, old Mulvehill. We knew him well. He was a good boy, was the Lieutenth."

"I noticed the place is so quiet tonight that you can even hear Bushemi eating his celery," said the sergeant. "Where is your dear friend Mulvehill, the bum?"

"You have run him over the hill," said Bishop. "Your food and your nose had and your brutishly foul mouth have driven him away. He has deserted from the Army and his guilt is upon your hands."

"You know the one thing that's missing from this meal the one thing that would make it perfect?" asked Bushemi.

"The cream?" asked the mess sergeant.

"Chloroform," said Bushemi.

Pope slapped his forehead mightily. "Why couldn't I have been a dud picker, a horse vaulter, a outside submariner—anything but a mess sergeant? Where is Mulvehill?" He wrinkled his forehead.

"Say! He wasn't here at breakfast either."

"Nor lunch," said Bishop. "Nor supper, nor lunch, nor breakfast yesterday."

"He has gone over the hill," I said, gloomily. "He has deserted."

"Let's see," said the sergeant. "He wasn't here all day today and he didn't come in yesterday and he didn't show up for supper the night before last. Is he sick?"

"He would have been," said Bishop. "If he hadn't got a decent meal soon."

"I can remember Mulvehill just like he was right here with us even now," I said. "He was a fine, noble, sensitive lad. He had a beautiful career before him in the Army. Fate can ruin any of us by tossing in the tiniest little monkey wrench or the toughest little bacnet. I hated to see Mulvehill go over the hill."

"Cut the clowning," the sergeant waited, convinced at last that Mulvehill had flown. "You can't make me think that he left because of my food. Where is he?"

"That," sighed Bishop, "is what the War Department would like to know."

Pope began drumming unrelentingly on the table. "I know my food is as good as any in the Center. That ain't it. Did he take offense at something I said to him and start eating at the Service Club?"

Acton Denington Hawkins the Third, chief cook, panned by. "Where's your friend Mulvehill?" he asked us.

"Oh," said Bushemi, forgetting the play, "Mulvehill's on furlough."

The mess sergeant rose with a roar. "The day shall come!" he screamed. "You'll all be on KP one of these days! Oh, will you suffer and will I enjoy myself! Finish your supper and get out of my mess hall! Get out! GET-OUT!"

"As if I didn't have enough trouble on my hands with payday," said Top Sergeant Tate, "now I have to be exposed to the sight of you. Be brief."

"Sergeant," I began, "when I hear people say a soldier can't live on the pay he makes, I'd like to show them myself as a living proof that he can."

"Quit beating your gums," he said, "and get to the point. You didn't come in here to compliment the Army on its pay. And take your cap off when you're in the orderly room."

"I didn't come to compliment nobody nor nothing," I said, laying my cap on the corner of his desk. "I just came in to see if the War Department is mad at me. They haven't given me a cent of salary since the first of October."

"What in the sweet name of heaven are you talking about?" the top kick-hooted, handing me back the cap. "We've had two regular paydays, including the one today. And we've had two supplementary payrolls for people who missed the regular paydays."

"Mind you," I put in, "I'm not complaining. I eat regularly and I have a roof over my head. I can get haircuts and movie tickets and cigarettes and shoe polish on credit, but I certainly would like a little cash spending money from time to time."

"Well," he groaned, slapping his desk wearily, "here we go again! Hargrove, the boy who makes a top kick's life exciting! Hargrove the hopeless—the sloppy bunk on inspection day, the soap in the soup, the thorn in the side. Hargrove, the boy who, can take the simplest problem and reduce it to its most confusing form. Now let's start at the beginning and take the whole thing slowly. You haven't been paid since October first. How come?"

"That was because when the November first payday came around, I had just got here. I signed the October payroll in my old battery."

"All right," he said patiently, counting off a finger. "That's one payday. That brings us up to November tenth, the day of the supplementary payroll, when you should have got the pay you missed on the first. Did you sign the supplementary payroll for that occasion?"

"Yes, sir," I insisted. "Then when the supplementary payday came around, something happened. Or to be more correct, nothing happened. I still didn't get paid."

"That's two paydays you missed," the sergeant sighed. "I will check into the second later. Now—what about today's pay?"

"I missed out on that one too. The battery commander couldn't find my signature on the payroll."

He patted me on both shoulders, a little heavily, and I covered. "Wait just a minute, Private Hargrove," he said sweetly. "Let sergeant-wargie see what he can find out about the nasty old payroll."

He returned in a few minutes, frowning wearily. "Private Hargrove," he sighed, "dear Private Hargrove! You didn't draw your pay on the tenth of November because you weren't here on the tenth! You were on furlough! And you didn't sign the payroll for today because you were on furlough while it was being signed. Your modest pay for October has been in the battery safe for three weeks, just waiting for you to get around to picking it up."

He took a small envelope from behind his back. "Twenty-one dollars for services rendered through the month of October. Hargrove! Minus two forty for the month of November. A dollar for the month of November. Private Hargrove, I present to you your October wages—ten dollars and sixty cents!"

I took the money, looked at it tenderly, and crammed it into my pocket.

Winter, that lost, is upon us, in the rear ranks, the surest indication is to be found in reveille.

All through the late summer and the fall, we hopped out of bed as soon as the whistle blew. Now we crawl grumblingly out when the sergeant puts the whistle to his lips for a "fall out!" blast. Since it is still dark when we stand reveille, and since we are aided occasionally by a heaven-sent fog, there are many saviors of democracy who slip on merely a pair of shoes (partially laced), a pair of trousers, and a field jacket. The field jacket, when buttoned all the way to the collar, hides the absence of shirt and tie—and the sergeant is none the wiser.

In Headquarters Battery, the process of getting up in the morning has sunk into a rut of repetition. It's the same procedure every morning.

Sergeant Roughton, platoon leader, toots his brass at six o'clock and a few energetic soldiers at the other end of the squadroom rise and begin the morning with sickeningly cheerful horseplay. They yank the covers off their neighbors. The neighbors yank the covers back on Private First Class Bishop, unofficial guardian of the public relations staff, rises from his bunk which is next to mine. "Hargrove! Bushemi! Get up! Salute the morn!" Then he yells down the length of the squadroom to the bed of Private First Class Thomas ("Thoss") Mulvehill.

Mulvehill, every morning, has already been forcibly ejected from his bed by his wild neighbors. He is, by this time, sitting on the edge of his bunk, with his great head sunk between his knees and his fingers fumbling with his shoelaces. In a thick and fiery Irish brogue, he is berating whatever forces of destiny put him in this mad corner of the squadroom.

I stick a cautious toe out from under the covers. The outer air isn't cold but, then again, it isn't warm. I roll over and look at the next bunk, where Private Bushemi is snoring gently. I roll back, get comfortable, and pull the cover over my head.

"Hargrove!" roars Bishop. "Get your lazy bones out of bed! It's five after six!"

"Call me at ten after six," I mutter. "Better still just ring out when my name is called at reveille."

Private Bishop reaches over suddenly and rips the blankets from the bunk. I rise, cursing him soundly. Private Bushemi is still sleeping, with a sweet and childish smile on his face. I lift a foot and give him a firm shove in the posterior.

"Get out of there or I'll dump you out!" I shout, giving him two or three more shoves. "Get out of there or I'll dump you out!"

I reach over and grab the edge of Bushemi's bunk. I joggle it slightly to give the impression that I am just about to overturn the bunk. Bushemi bounces out of bed, swinging wildly. "You're going to get funny just one morning too often, and I'm going to beat the eternal perdition out of both of you. It's getting to the point where it ain't funny." Then he begins mumbling aimlessly under his breath as he steps into his trousers.

Somehow, we manage to get into the second shoe just as the whistle blows to call us outside. We shiver in the dark cold as section leaders call the roll, mostly from memory. The second section of the first platoon is always the last to finish roll call. We stand there listening. "P-o-g-g-i!" "Hyoh!" "Pulver!"

"Here!" and then the piece de resistance: "Peacock!" Always the answer comes in the same way—an unbelievably deep bass, long-drawn-out and rumbling: "Heecccceer!" The second platoon snickers and titters, just as it did the day before, and the top kick shouts, "Dismissed!"

Bushemi heads straight back for his bunk. "Call me at chowtime, will you?"

Bill, a friend of Bushemi's and mine in Charlotte, drives a street bus. Before he began his service as a driver, he served a hitch in the Army. Like all ex-service men, he's ready to drop everything and just shoot the breeze any time the conversation turns to the Army.

"There was a young first-class private got on my bus last week," he told me, "and he sat in the long seat behind me, so we got started talking. Well, I thought I'd snored him under, telling him about the time I was in the Army. So, just to start the ball rolling and get the talk turned to the Army, I asked him how long he'd been in."

"Oh, I've been in for well over eight months," he said, like he was just starting his thirtieth year of service. Then he started wiping his sleeves so I'd be sure to notice his private-first-class stripes.

"I thought I'd let him blow off about his stripes, so I asked him, 'Say, what does that stripe stand for?'"

"Oh, that," he said, "as much as to say aw-shucks-that-ain't-nothing. That just means I'm a sergeant."

"Is that right?" I asked him, looking sort of wide-mouthed at him.

"Yessir," he said, real casual. "In the Army only eight months and I've already been made sergeant."

"Well, tell me," I said, "what grade of sergeant are you? I've seen some sergeants have three stripes and then I've seen them have as many as six. How come that?"

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Leftovers Used With Care Give Tempting Results

Mushrooms, rich in minerals and the B complex vitamins, combine with beef and give a tasty, nutritionally satisfying casserole.

One of the common ways of making meat points stretch their furthest is the habit of buying a large piece of meat and making it do for several meals. In this way, the family can have the pleasure of a roast from a large piece of meat done to succulence, then the homemaker can easily fashion meat dishes for at least 2 or 3 meals out of that which is left.

Unfortunately foods do not taste as good the second day as the first. Flavors seem to fall asleep, the meat becomes dry and insipid, and the family becomes tired of what they sniffing refer to as leftovers. This needn't be the case if you spend a little time and effort waking up the leftovers and making them just as appetizing as the food in its first form.

Chicken is first-rate when served in these ways:

Country Chicken Loaf. (Serves 6)
2 cups diced, cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped cooked carrots
1 cup cooked peas
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced pepper
1 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Force chicken, carrots and peas through a food chopper. Add remaining ingredients and place in a greased loaf pan or a ring mold. Bake about 40 minutes in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with cream of mushroom sauce.

Chicken Yorkshire. (Serves 6)
2 cups diced, cooked chicken
2 eggs
1/2 cup drippings, melted
1 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

Place chicken in bottom of greased casserole with gravy. Set in oven to heat. Beat eggs, drippings and milk together. Sift dry ingredients together, add to liquid ingredients and beat until free from all lumps. The batter will be quite thin. Pour over chicken and bake at once in moderate (350-degree) oven. Serve from baking dish with gravy.

Meat leftovers, even if they are few, can give a rich meaty taste if they're used in this way:

Meat and Rice au Gratin. (Serves 6)
2 cups leftover meat, diced
Milk or soup stock
2 cups boiled rice
2 tablespoons fat
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Cut meat into small pieces and moisten with stock or milk. Spread

Lynn Says:

Fats Are Important: Fats produce glycerine needed to make munitions. Take home all fat and bone trimmings you pay for with your meat. Fats that you don't use will be bought by some markets.

Accumulated sausage and bacon fat can be used for frying potatoes, eggs, fish, hash, chicken, or even in waffles, cornbread or gravy.

Fats from roasts, chops and steaks can be clarified by heating 4 slices of potato with 1 quart of fat over low heat until fat bubbles. Strain through several thicknesses of cheesecloth and store in light-proof, tightly covered container. Use this clarified fat for making spice and chocolate cakes and cookies.

a layer of rice in greased baking dish. Place several pieces of small fat on top and sprinkle with grated cheese. Season with salt and pepper. Add a layer of chopped meat, fat and salt and pepper. Repeat with rice, cheese, etc. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven.

Spanish Potatoes. (Serves 4)
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
4 tablespoons fat
2 cups sliced-boiled-potatoes
1/2 cup chopped cooked ham
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Saute onion and pepper in fat until cooked soft. Add potatoes, pimiento, ham and seasonings and cook until heated through.

Lamb and Spaghetti Casserole. (Serves 4)
1/2 package spaghetti
1 cup diced cooked lamb
3 tablespoons fat
1 1/2 cups cooked peas, or peas and carrots
1/2 cup water or stock
1 tablespoon parsley
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
2 teaspoons butter

Boil spaghetti until half cooked. Brown meat in fat. Line baking dish with half the spaghetti and fill with meat and peas. Combine broth with parsley, thyme and salt, sauce and curry powder and pour over meat. Cover with spaghetti and top with crumbs. Bake 1/2 hour in moderate oven (350 degrees) and garnish top with lemon slices and parsley.

Squash Puff. (Serves 4)
2 cups mashed squash
1/2 cup light cream or rich milk
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains black pepper

Drain and mash cooked squash well. Mix in order given. Place in well-greased baking dish and brown in oven. Serve at once.

Note: Use well-drained, thoroughly washed pumpkin, turnip or sweet potato in place of squash.

A bit of braised-chicken-garishied with buttered carrots, potato balls and celery leaves won't be a drain on poultry but will boost your menus.

Recent research reveals that mushrooms have a mineral content somewhat higher than many other vegetables and fruits. Potassium and phosphorus are available along with appreciable amounts of copper and iron. Mushrooms are also one of the best plant sources of the B complex vitamins. Used to extend meats, mushrooms are not only nutritionally satisfying, but they can add zest and flavor even to the simplest of foods:

Casserole of Beef and Mushrooms. (Serves 6)
1 1/2 to 2 pounds short ribs of beef
Flour, seasoned with salt and pepper
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 cup water
2 stalks celery, chopped
6 scallions
1 8-ounce can mushrooms
1 small onion sliced
2 to 3 carrots, sliced
3 medium-sized potatoes, quartered

Cut short ribs in individual squares and flour them. Brown in a small amount of fat in heavy skillet. Remove to casserole. Add sliced onion, vinegar, thyme, water and drippings in skillet, stirring until well blended; pour over meat. Cover and roast in slow oven (300 degrees) until tender, about 2 hours. Add vegetables and mushrooms with liquid and continue cooking 30 to 40 minutes. Add more water if necessary.

BACKACHE

for fast diuretic aid WHEN KIDNEY FUNCTION LAGS from this need

Functional kidney disturbance due to need of diuretic aid may cause stalling backache! May cause urinary flow to be frequent, yet scanty and smearing! You may lose sleep from "getting up nights" often—may feel dizzy, nervous, "headachy."

In such cases, you want to stimulate kidney action fast. So if there is nothing systemically or organically wrong, try Gold Medal Capsules. They have been famous for proof of worth for 30 years. Take care to use them only as directed. Accept no substitutes. 35¢ at your drug store.

THE SIN OF COVETOUSNESS.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:17; Luke 12:15-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's.—Exodus 20:17.

The Ten Commandments (the last one of which we study today) are characterized by their brevity, their comprehensive touch with all of life, and fidelity to the right. But they are also unique and different from all other laws in that they reach into the inner recesses of a man's heart, a realm where only God can judge and act.

This last commandment (against covetousness) emphasizes that point, for it does not expressly require or forbid any act, but deals with the motive of man's action. Man can judge another man's acts, but he cannot judge his motives, desires, or thoughts. God must do that.

But man can, by the grace of God, control his motives; and hence we have this commandment and its interpretation.

I. The Sin—Covetousness (Ex. 20:17).

It may be a surprise to many to learn that coveting—or desiring what belongs to another—is a sin. It has become one of the "respectable sins", accepted in the best circles and practiced by many church people.

As a matter of fact, this sin underlies all the other sins against which the commandments speak. He who has a love for money and an evil desire to have his neighbor's possessions will hate, lie, steal, cheat, kill, in fact, as Dr. Morgan says, "The whole realm of human interrelations is disorganized and broken up by the dishonoring of the tenth commandment."

If you have become a lover of money, or one who longs to have what your friends own, beware. You are in real danger.

II. The Result — A Ruined Life (Luke 12: 13-21).

To have such a spirit makes a man greedy (v. 13), callous and selfish (vv. 17-19), and foolish (v. 20), both regarding this life and that which is to come.

The yardstick of success in the world—for an individual, an organization, or a nation; yes, even for many a church—is the possession of wealth, or property, or other "things." Write it in large letters on the hearts and minds of our boys and girls, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (v. 15).

The one who was known to his friends (and to himself) as "a rich man" (v. 16), but whom God knew as a "fool" (v. 20), had more than he could use for himself. He had to build new and bigger barns, and could not see the "barns" that were already prepared, for, as Ambrose says, "Thou hast barns—the bosoms of the needy, the houses of widows, the mouths of orphans and infants."

He was a fool who loved money for himself. One wonders what he had to say for himself when that very night he was called into the presence of God to give an account of his stewardship (v. 20). If you are similarly situated and have the same attitude, what will you say in that day?

An important point which we must note is that Jesus expressly repudiated the connecting of His name with the so-called "social gospel" in His reply (v. 14).

III. The Cure—Trust in God (Luke 12:22-25).

Because covetousness destroys the best in life, we ought to shun it like poison. The best antidote (or cure) if we have been poisoned by it is to go all-out in our trust and confidence in God.

We who are children of God are to take no anxious thought for the morrow. This does not forbid proper preparation and forethought, but it does rule out fretful anxiety. The reasons are very clear and cogent.

First of all, while food and clothing are important, they are not of first importance. The vital thing is that one have life. Otherwise things are useless (v. 23). We must keep our sense of proportion, of relative values.

Then too, God is the One who must care for every one of us. And He does care for us! Why not trust Him? He cares for all creation; can He not care for you? If then you trust the all-powerful One, what occasion is there for worry, or covetousness?

And finally comes the devastating argument. Worry never accomplished anything. Anxiety does not help anyone, anytime, anywhere. So why be anxious?

It is clear then that a desire for that which belongs to others is a sin which destroys man's happiness and usefulness. It is needless—~~it~~ is all anxiety, because only God can provide, and He will provide if we trust Him.

Life becomes simple, pleasant, useful, confident, yes, really Christian, when we get our eyes off things and on the Lord.

Corporals and Sergeants
The United States army today contains only about 20 corporals and 25 sergeants, of all grades, for every hundred privates. The Japs were wrong
Let's keep them wrong!

The Japs were wrong.

Cutting off our rubber supply in the Pacific didn't take us out of the war—or even slow us up.

For Government, the Rubber Director, the rubber industry, and the petroleum, chemical, and alcohol industries pooled their patents and ideas, worked together, and accomplished the seemingly impossible.

Today, there is no shadow of a doubt that our planes will continue to fly, our ships to sail, our tanks to roll.

For America now has nearly enough rubber to meet our essential needs!

But our tire worries are still here!

The American people saw the new synthetic rubber plants spring up like mushrooms. They heard of large-scale production of synthetic rubber. And they applauded. Unfortunately, they also jumped to the conclusion that they could stop worrying about tires!

It is true that the RUBBER supply crisis is past. But the long-expected TIRE shortage is with us!

"But," you may say, "how can this be when thousands of tons of Government synthetic rubber are being made... when such a tremendous tonnage of rubber products is being turned out, as well as more airplane and truck tires than ever before?"

One reason is that—as the Baruch Committee foresaw—few tires could be manufactured until our synthetic rubber supply was well on the way. This resulted in millions of tires going out of use at a time when there were no replacements. Meanwhile, tires left in service have less mileage in them, and prewar inventories are gone.

Another reason is that our military needs are far greater than anyone anticipated.

Also, the rubber companies are using a lot of their machinery and manpower to turn out life rafts, bullet-sealing fuel tanks, and hundreds of other urgently-needed army and navy products, in addition to tires.

And you should know that half of today's requirements are for large-size, heavy-duty bus, truck, artillery, airplane, and combat tires, requiring much more labor and materials than peacetime products.

Finally, the tire industry, like every industry today, is feeling the manpower shortage, and there just aren't enough hands for the job.

Face up on the table!

These problems are overcome when our enemies are overcome. Meanwhile we want to put our cards face up on the table.

We've told you frankly why there is a serious tire shortage. Now we want you, and every other American who owns a set of tires, to know that this country's transportation system can still suffer a serious blow... unless you make it your personal duty to take care of the tires you now own.

How to make tires last longer

Do no unnecessary driving.

Live up to the Government regulation—don't exceed 35 miles an hour.

Keep your tires inflated up to recommended pressure, and check them every week.

Avoid hitting holes in the road, or bruising your tires on curbs or stones. Don't start or stop suddenly. Slow down for sharp corners.

See that your wheels and axles are in line.

Switch your tires from wheel to wheel every five thousand miles, and have them inspected regularly for removal of foreign objects and repair of cuts.

And... most important of all... recap your tires as soon as they become smooth.

HOW GOOD ARE PASSENGER CAR TIRES OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER?

It may be a long time before all civilians can get synthetic rubber tires. Meanwhile, if you should be one of the few who do get them, you will want this information:

Synthetic rubber tires for passenger cars are good tires, and will give you satisfactory service if you take care of them.

You should not think of synthetic rubber tires as improved tires... but as emergency tires. And remember that they have not yet had time to prove what they can do.

It is beside the point to theorize on how they would react to the phenomenally high speeds of prewar days. Every patriotic American knows that tire treads... all tire treads... wear out faster at high speeds, and so drivers at today's recommended speed of 35 miles an hour.

As time goes on, we will learn more about the effects of under-inflation of rough roads, and of other abuses. They damage all tires. Indications are that they do proportionately more harm to synthetic rubber tires.

Meanwhile, all tires are rationed to you in trust for the nation, and it is your duty to take every possible care of them, to avoid misuse and prevent abuse.

As experience teaches us more and more about synthetic rubber tires, we will pass the information along to you. Meantime, play safe. Be careful!

If you use synthetic rubber tires, be sure they are properly installed. They should be put into the tire, then inflated, deflated, and inflated again. And they should never be mounted on rusty rims.

TRUCK AND BUS TIRES ARE A DIFFERENT STORY

Truck and bus tires, being larger and heavier, generate more heat. They are given long, hard usage on all kinds of highways. They are all too frequently overloaded.

Frankly, today's synthetic rubber bus and truck tires will not stand the abuse that prewar tires would stand, especially overloading. Progress is being made daily—but overloading which would have damaged a prewar tire can ruin today's synthetic tire.

The Tire Industry is doing its utmost to solve the serious problem of providing the nation's trucks and buses with satisfactory tires in sufficient quantities.

But until this problem is solved, a dangerous threat exists to America's most vital transportation.

Therefore, while treads of present truck and bus tires are immensely important... the carcasses of these tires have a value beyond all price to America, and to America's truck and bus operators!

Unless tires now in use are made to last, these two essential services will almost certainly break down!

These tires... every one of them... must be recapped the instant the tread wears smooth... before any damage is done to the carcass.

They must be recapped not once, but again and again! High speeds must be done away with... especially on hot roads. Overloads must be avoided. Tires must be properly inflated at all times.

The responsibility to take care of these tires... to make them last as long as possible... is a vital necessity! It must be shouldered by all operators, by all drivers, by all garage men!

No American can fail to heed this warning! The situation is so serious that it is recognized in a new tire warranty. But the real job is to conserve all tires now in use!

A new warranty —

With conditions as they are, and synthetic rubber in its present stage of development, a new tire warranty has become necessary and has been adopted. It applies to all tires. Under its terms, injuries such as bruises, body breaks, cuts, snags, and heat failures as well as tread wear are not subject to adjustment consideration.

Nor are injuries or failures which result from improper tire care or misuse or abuse. This includes failure as a result of overload, excess speed, improper inflation, or other non-defective conditions. Or when tires are used on rims not conforming to Tire and Rim Association Standards.

Don't forget that many others... the Tire Industry, the Rubber Director, and many others, are working together with all their energy, as they have worked from the beginning, to keep America rolling.

And remember that, while the Japs were wrong... you must help keep them wrong! Take care of the tires you now have!

In The Sweat of Every Man Who Labors

A man in a far Western city who owns his home and has a family, is now earning approximately $92 weekly. His is not a temporary war job. He works in the communications industry. He is an almost invisible speck in what is so popularly called middle class America. He is a good citizen—the best type that this country can produce.

But this middle class American is worried. Every other week when he receives his check, he finds that $45 has been deducted—taxes, bonds, old age insurance, etc. He is worried because he is thrifty and that $45 deduction virtually eliminates the possibility of gradually accumulating savings, that is, savings over which he can exercise his individual judgment. The $45 taken from him every two weeks is subtracted from his check by the company for which he works. He never sees it. It goes directly to the Federal government where it is eventually turned over to various agencies to be applied to "essential" activities—among them Social Security. Money that this man labored long hours, to earn, and which he has never seen, is expended by unknown officials thousands of miles away who know or care nothing about his personal affairs.

This man, this ordinary American citizen, does not begrudge in the slightest, the money given to the government from his check for taxes and bonds to fight the war. But when some bureaucrat now proposes "free" medical care, or free this or free that, under a greater paternalistic bureaucracy, he becomes more than skeptical. He sees red. He knows that every such scheme means more deductions from his dwindling check and less for him to shape his future on his initiative. His money, together with that of millions of other citizens, is keeping the bureaucrat going. And someday the bureaucrat is destined to feel his wrath.—Industrial News Review.

Where Help Counts Most

"Many families today are in trouble brought on or heightened by the absence of a father, a son, a husband. Many service-men need link with home to know the heartwarming assurance that someone is interested, will do for his family what needs to be done in his absence.

The Army and Navy have asked the Red Cross to be that link, and to that end the Red Cross maintains a worldwide two-way system of communication between field directors on the war fronts and Home Service on the home front.

The organization which makes messages immediately effective is a triumph of planning, but the spirit which acts on those messages is a triumph of humanitarianism, channeled through Home Service to reach every serviceman's family."

Should any family of service-men have need of assistance from the Red Cross, they are requested to contact the following individuals who represent the Red Cross in the several communities:

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Army Reduces 1944 Manpower Needs; Red Forces Sever Nazi Rail Lines; Action Spreads in Southwest Pacific; Anti-Subsidy Battle Gains in Scope

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union

Italy—British troops here are shown picking their way through typical ruins of village in savage fighting on the Italian front. Adding to difficulties were driving rains, which converted many of the small rivers and creeks running through the mountainous country into swirling torrents.

ARMY CUTS SIZE: Draft Change Voted

An the house sent the senate a bill calling for the deferment of fathers until all other eligible single and childless married men throughout the nation have been called. It was revealed that the army had decided to cut its manpower needs by 848,000

In addition to the provision putting fathers at the bottom of the draft list and postponing their induction from 30 to 60 days, the house bill also requires occupational deferments to be reviewed by appeal boards within the district where the deferred person works.

RUSSIA:

Cut Nazi Railroads

Two important railroads in Russia linking German armies of the north with those of the south, and running westward into the big pre-war Polish cities of Warsaw and Lwow, were cut by the Red armies.

As the Russian forces covered these major German arteries, Nazi forces launched a strong counter-attack against the Reds in the vicinity of these rail lines, gaining some ground. But here, as further to the south where the Germans claimed 600,000 Russians were hammering them above Krivoi Rog, the Nazi positions still were in a fluid state.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

Action Spreads

With U. S. forces being strengthened on Bougainville for a major drive against the 40,000 Japs reportedly defending their last stronghold in the Solomons, Liberators' bombers lashed against the enemy's tiny Gilbert and Marshall Island possessions, standing out like pecky little thorns along our supply routes to the battle areas.

Warding off Jap blows from the air, U. S. warships moved up Bougainville's west coast to pound the enemy's big airplane base of Bukey. Absence of strong elements of the Japanese fleet in the advanced battle zone suggested that the enemy was concentrating his formidable naval force on protection of his 1,500 mile sea lane running from Japan proper to the rich islands south.

In New Guinea, Australian forces began moving northward from Finschhafen toward the Jap strongholds of Madang and Wewak, from which the enemy's aerial units have been striking at the Allied bases.

NEW SICKNESSES

"Jeep Disease" and "Destroyer Stomach" are the latest army and navy maladies. Because of rough riding in mechanized vehicles, many Doughboys have been afflicted with "Jeep Disease," a formation of cyst near the base of the spine, with aggravations resulting from further jostling.

"Destroyer Stomach" has been found most frequently in men serving in the rough waters of the North Atlantic, and is marked by a form of subacute gastritis due to protracted sea sickness, irregular meals and constant nervous tension.

RAILROAD WAGES: In Congress' Lap

As congress considered a resolution to grant non-operating railroad employees an eight cents an hour wage increase, it was announced railroad employment in mid-October of 1943 was 4 per cent over the same period last year, but still 100,000 short of needs.

Congressional action on the wage increase was sought after the Office of Economic Stabilization refused to sanction the award, instead offering lowest paid employees a 10 cents an hour boost and the highest paid 4 cents an hour.

In all, the railroads employed 1,367,817 workers in mid-October, with critical shortages existing in the operating departments. Maintenance-of-way and structural classifications showed a 3.57 decrease from October of 1942.

LAND HOLDINGS:

Vast U. S. Ownership

While Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson announced the war department was giving serious study to peacetime disposal of its holdings of 43,181,183 acres of land, it was revealed the federal government owned 303,600,533 acres.

Federal land holdings were equal in size to the combined areas of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Ohio, Alabama, Kentucky and Indiana.

Adding to the federal government's vast land holdings, the army and navy purchased 15 hotels at a cost of $15,000,000. Some of these hotels have been returned to private ownership, like the Stevens in Chicago, bought for $5,520,101 and sold for $5,251,000.

WAGES FOR HOUSEWIVES

Declaring housewives are the only category of workers who are denied monetary recognition for their services, a British member of parliament has proposed payment of wages to homemakers "who have a full-time job cooking, scrubbing and bearing children."

According to British law, family income is the sole property of the husband, and much ago recently was raised over the regulation when a court upheld one man's claim to 40 cents a week his wife had saved while taking in roomers over a 17-year period.

WORLD RELIEF:

Predict Needs

Approximately 134 million people in Europe and Asia will be in need of assistance after the war, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration estimated. Of this amount, 84 million will be Chinese.

To check such epidemics as typhus and tuberculosis that have wracked Poland and France, it was revealed UNRRA will send special units into reconquered areas. People moving from one section to another will be funneled through centers for feeding, vaccination and quarantine.

Food or supplies shipped into different countries will be placed in charge of the governments in control.

Lend-Lease Foods

Lend-lease food shipments abroad equal one-eighth of the U. S. supply, the Foreign Economic administration revealed. Civilians are receiving three-fourths of the production.

Figures show that in the first nine months of this year, lend-lease food shipments include 3.2 per cent of total milk products; 10.6 per cent of dried eggs; 13.9 per cent of edible oils and fats; and 21.2 per cent of canned fish.

Shipments of canned fruits and juices equal 2.5 per cent of total supply; dried fruits, 21.1 per cent; canned vegetables, 1 per cent; dried beans 10.3 per cent; dried peas, 14.2 per cent; corn and corn products, 0.1 per cent; wheat and wheat products, 0.9 per cent; and butter, 2.8 per cent.

WAR GARDENS:

Victory gardeners will be expected to raise at least 25 per cent more next year than this, delegates to the National Victory Garden Institute convention resolved. They met in Chicago.

Other resolutions ask for an increased allowance of about 33 per cent from the WPB on tools, fertilizer and insecticides, and for orders permitting garden clubs to buy 800,000 pressure cookers for canning. Extra gasoline was asked for people working co-operative gardens.

Washington Digest

International Unity Aided By Moscow Conference

Results of Famed Tripartite Meeting Continue To Grow; Spirit of Compromise Achieved in Moscow.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

Some weeks before Secretary Hull left for his Mission to Moscow, I interviewed him in his office in the state department. Shortly after he returned, he received a number of us in that same office and gave us an informal talk about his trip.

One of the things which impressed me greatly as I heard the secretary in the course of the hour-long meeting, telling us sidelights on his remarkable experience, was the way one word which he had used in his talk with me kept cropping up again and again. It was the word "understanding." He applied it to personal relationships and exchanges between the members of the tripartite meeting and to the whole discussion and the decisions which grew out of it.

It seemed to be a case of progressive understanding.

In our first conversation, the secretary, indicating the papers which covered his great desk, said they all dealt with Russia. I did not know then that there was to be a Moscow meeting. And he made the point with considerable emphasis, that there was so much suspicion on the part of persons discussing the Russian situation that it was exceedingly hard to work toward an agreement.

Open Discussion

Then, in his talk on his return, he repeated this thought, saying that many people, because of their deep prejudices, had made it hard to bring about an understanding between the three nations. He said that when he left for Moscow, he felt that much of the misunderstanding was due to misinformation which all the parties shared concerning the others. In order to correct that, every effort was made at frank and open discussion and, as a result, questions which had been considered most difficult to solve automatically disappeared.

And the secretary pointed out that as the conference progressed many points immediately developed where what might be called the "selfish interests" of each nation were discovered to be common interests.

He explained how military co-operation had been achieved as the need for it grew and how, with this development, it became clear that similar co-operation must be established along political and economic lines, especially regarding an international organization to preserve peace.

The secretary set off for Moscow under a hail of attack from one section of the press which labeled him "anti-Russian." If there ever was justice in such a charge, which Mr. Hull emphatically denied, he came back with no such feeling. In fact, he made it clear that he was now convinced that few countries had more in common and less in conflict, especially in the economic field.

Unconvinced

Although all of the official statements issued in Moscow and in London and Washington after the delegates had returned to their respective homes, stressed the accomplishments of the conference, their importance and the probability of their effect on future negotiations, still there were those who chose to see great gaps yawning and unbridged between the three nations.

Of course, only time can tell how thorough the common understanding really is and how far the respective nations will be able to go to hold to a unity of purpose through the stormy times ahead. But there have already been evidences that a spirit of compromise was achieved which did bear actual fruit.

This was true in the case of Italy. Some time ago, a magazine article appeared which purported to outline the plan by which the countries liberated from Axis domination would be governed by the successful Allies. The plan was a pretty rigid one, with the AMG (Allied Military Government) seeming to be rooted deeply into the governmental fabric of the liberated nations. There was criticism here to the effect that the United States was taking on the responsibility of running the world and it was predicted that there could never be an agreement between three victors, one with a hereditary monarch, Britain; one with a communistic form of government, Russia; and one, a democratic republic, the United States.

The test came in Italy. After the parleys at Moscow, the AMG was limited in its functions, taking over only the districts nearest the front. An Allied military commission was formed which is making maximum use of the local native civilian officials.

Italian Government

But what about the government which the Allies would accept as satisfactorily representing the will of the Italian people? Surely Britain would demand that monarchy be given a chance to remain in power. Surely Russia would have no traffic with kings and would instead demand a strong left-wing set-up.

The supposed American compromise was a temporary regency, that is, a liberal regent such as Count Carlo Sforza who was in exile from the Fascist regime and who left America shortly after the surrender of Italy. The little son of the crown prince would remain the symbolic head of the state. Many said that neither Russia nor Britain would accept this suggestion.

However, although no definite step has been taken, semi-official sources have indicated that when Rome is recaptured and Marshal Badoglio, now premier, steps out, there will be virtual agreement on the part of the three victor nations on the American compromise. All that remains will be an agreement on the part of the Italian people. Even if the latter is not achieved, there is evidence enough already of tripartite compromise and unity to seem to confirm the success of the Mission to Moscow.

Economic Questions

The ways and means committee of the house has only been able to agree on methods of raising one-fifth of the money which the government says it is necessary to have to continue the war. Not only has it been unwilling to tax the higher brackets further but it also is afraid to recommend the sales tax because that affects the largest group of voters—everybody.

Naturally the first thing that a citizen leaps to defend is his pocketbook. The administration has attempted to lay down as a goal a maximum net income of $25,000 in wartime, perhaps twice as much in peacetime. Now perhaps the American people don't want to put any limit whatever on incentive. Nevertheless, there is always an outcry against the accumulation of wealth and we know that when wealth becomes concentrated, panics result.

If the various influences resisting taxation which will bring down their ceiling on incomes succeed in forcing congress to defeat such laws, and granted the rest of the people accept the defeat, democracy is not to blame. The selfish group has won—and it has won, not because congress wants to please a few voters but because congress has been convinced that the special interests are represented by a majority of voters—in other words, the majority wins.

Another current issue which is very much before congress is the threat to little business. Right now, 70 per cent of the war contracts are held by about 100 firms.

Senator O'Mahoney is proposing a measure which would produce an incentive on the part of the investors, that is, those with large capitals to spend, to invest in small rather than large business; that would be done by making taxes on big business so heavy so that the profits resulting to the investor would not be as large as if he had his money in small business.

Small business has to be protected, it is admitted, if free enterprise in America is to continue. If any single group or groups manage to convince the elected officials of the country that they can muster enough votes to defeat the people who are responsible for such a tax plan, it is obvious that the majority will be frustrated. There again it goes back to the individual. Individuals who do not vote destroy the democratic processes by permitting a minority of the people to become the majority of the voters.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well 24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluids, excess acids and other wastes, rather than help them to function without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes signs that something is wrong. You may suffer from backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling, etc. Why not try Doan's? If you will be using a medicine recommended the country over, Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. The only kidney pills at all drug stores.

DOAN'S PILLS

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

WAR PRODUCTION: The peak demand in war production has been passed, Harry Moulton, president of the Brookings Institute, recently told the American Finance conference in Washington. He said that stocks of raw materials have become entirely adequate, and even excessive in some cases. More and more cancellations of war goods contracts are coming, he predicted.

ELECTRIC IRONS: Two million electric flatirons will be manufactured and sold next year, if the WPB will release materials. Arthur Whiteside, vice chairman of WPB in charge of civilian needs, has requested that enough metal and other material be allowed to make 800,000 irons in the first quarter of 1944. About three million irons were sold annually, before the war.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

Declaring that the German regime in Austria is opposed by practically everybody, the Swedish newspaper Nya Dagligt Allehanda reports that Austrians are now greeting each other with the salute "K D F," a pun on the German expression "Kraft Durch Freude" ("Strength Through Joy"). "K D F," the paper said, stands for "Kaputt Durch Fuehrer" ("Defeat Through the Fuehrer").

WPB has directed manufacturers of flashlight batteries to distribute approximately 20 per cent of their fourth-quarter production to farmers to assist them in the care of young stock during the winter months. Even under point rationing, American kitchens will use enough tin cans in one year to provide steel for almost 23,000 medium tanks or 900 destroyers.

U. S. Troops Overcome Early Reverses To Advance on All Fronts During 1943; Italy's Surrender Cracks Axis Bloc

Japs Pushed From Pacific Outposts After Jungle Fighting; Aleutian Victory Removes Threat to West Coast.

By AL JEDLICKA

On July 25, 1943, the world was electrified by the news that Benito Mussolini had resigned as premier of Italy. Although details of the Duce's downfall were meager, there was a feeling that the Rome-Berlin-Tokio Axis had cracked, and this was confirmed September 8 when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower announced Italy's surrender.

Thus did events shape in accordance with Prime Minister Winston Churchill's calculations of Italy being the "soft underbelly" of Europe. From January 14 to 24, Churchill and President Roosevelt had conferred with their war chiefs at Casablanca, North Africa, where military as well as political plans for the year were laid, and the general principle of "unconditional surrender" was established. There was further development of these plans when the Allied leaders met again at Quebec, August 17.

The year 1943 saw a new phase in World War II, with the Allies swinging into the offensive and the Axis resorting to rearguard action to slow the drive on their main bastions.

Not only was this phase exemplified in Europe, but it also was brought to the fore in the South Pacific, where dynamic, imaginative Gen. Douglas MacArthur began the push to oust the enemy from their outposts in the Solomons and New Guinea and clear the path for the reconquest of the Philippines and the defeat of the Japs.

Even as Churchill and Roosevelt conferred in Casablanca, Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth Army was pursuing Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel across the North African desert. To the west along the Tunisian border, U. S. forces were moving into position to pinch off the enemy as they fought back toward Bizerte and Tunis. On May 7, these two seaports fell, and five days later organized Axis resistance in North Africa ceased, with the Allies taking 150,000 prisoners.

General Montgomery had begun his drive at El Alamein in Egypt, where Rommel, famed fox of the desert, had holed up, just 67 miles away from the great British naval base of Alexandria. U. S. troops his release from captivity by the news that Benito Mussolini had resigned as premier of Italy. Although details of the Duce's downfall were meager, there was a feeling that the Rome-Berlin-Tokio Axis had cracked, and this was confirmed September 8 when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower announced Italy's surrender.

On the Russian front, February 2 saw the end of the great battle of Stalingrad, with the repulse of Nazis, but only after the big industrial city had been pounded into ruins. The Reds claimed virtual destruction of the German Sixth army and Fourth tank army, and capture of Field Marshal Frederick von Paulus and 14 other generals.

June 26, the Nazis launched heavy attacks at Orel and Belgorod, at the two ends of the big bulge in the rich agricultural and industrial province of Ukraine. But the Reds broke through their lines and they slowly fell back to the banks of the Dnieper river.

Below Kiev, the Dnieper swings due east before curving southward for some length, and then cutting back toward the west again, forming a huge bulge. To trap the German army in this bulge, the Russians spilled over the Dnieper below Kiev, but strong German rearguard action at Krivoi Rog gave their forces time to escape encirclement.

During the height of the Russian advance in the south, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull met with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Russian Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov in Moscow, where with China, the representatives of the three great powers signed a historical pact, agreeing to fight Germany and Japan until they surrender unconditionally, and determining to establish an international organization based along the lines of the old League of Nations to assure collective security.

While battles raged on land in Europe, they raged in the air, too, with U. S. and British bombers battering Germany's great industrial cities of Hamburg, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Essen and Berlin, and dwarfing the Luftwaffe's early attacks on London. Port and manufacturing center, Hamburg, was virtually wiped off the map, and, in all, it was reported 1,200,000 Germans were killed as a result of Allied air raids.

In the distant Southwest Pacific, with the memory of heroic resistance on Bataan and Corregidor still impressed in his mind, and with them his vow to return to the Philippines to avenge the U. S. setback, Gen. Douglas MacArthur struck out against the Japanese in the Solomons and New Guinea. Following their rapid conquests after the paralysis of Allied forces at Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, the Japs had surged within striking distance of Australia, before they were stopped short in the historic battle of the Coral sea in May, 1942.

Ousting of the Japs from southeastern New Guinea, January 24, and the smashing of all organized resistance on Guadalcanal, February 10, giving U. S. control of the southern Solomon Islands, set the stage for General MacArthur's big push to drive the enemy from his remaining advance posts in the two areas.

The first gun was fired June 30, with U. S. forces landing on Rendova island in the central Solomons. On the following day, U. S. troops set foot on Nassau bay, New Guinea, to fight inland for a junction with Aussies moving northward through the jungles.

Jungle Cover Slows Fighting
Jap troops made use of the dense tropical foliage and rocky, mountainous country, for cover to slow the advances. But especially in New Guinea, General MacArthur adopted the policy of concentrating against enemy bases only and cutting off Jap supply sources for cross-country fighting. Salamaua fell September 15, Lae three days later, and Finschhafen October 3.

Meanwhile in the Solomons, U. S. forces hacked their way to Munda airfield on New Georgia island, August 6, after 30 days of bitter fighting. On October 9, it was reported that the Japs abandoned their last big base of Kolombangara in the central Solomons.

During the Solomons fighting, U. S. naval and air forces took a high toll of Jap ships and barges used to supply or evacuate troops, especially at night. As a result of the New Guinea and Solomons campaigns, U. S. and Aussie forces stood squarely between Rabaul on New Britain island, the enemy's nerve-center for resistance in their advance positions in the Southwest Pacific. Even as the Japs rushed naval and air reinforcements to Rabaul to hold it as a supply center and strategic fortress to threaten the flank of any Allied movement to the north toward the Philippines or Tokyo.

One Russian soldier aims and fires the heavy anti-tank rifle while another hands him the ammunition to blast at an oncoming German tank on the Soviet battlefield.

U. S. airmen dumped hundreds of tons of bombs on the big base. On October 11, doughboys swarmed ashore on Bougainville, in a fight to throw the Japs from their last northern holding in the Solomons.

The Japs' direct threat to the American mainland posed with their occupation of the Aleutian Islands June 12, 1942, was ended August 15, 1943, with announcement of U. S. occupation of Kiska. Doughboys setting foot on Kiska found no trace of 8,000 Japanese, with evidence their evacuation had taken place within the two weeks prior to the island's fall. The enemy had quit their Aleutian holdings of Attu and Agattu October 7, 1942.

ROBBERY UNDER DIFFICULTIES

"Thieves Loot O. P. A. Offices"—headline.

Butch—What's the job this time, pal?
Slugs—Quiet. This is an OPA office.

Butch—If it's an OPA office I can't be quiet. Listen, I don't like the idea. It'll get us into trouble.
Slugs—What makes you think so?

Butch—The OPA gets everybody into trouble.
Slugs—Got cold feet, eh?
Butch—Yeah. They're frozen at the April level!

Slugs—Let's have your flashlight.
Butch—I ain't got no flashlight.
Slugs—Why not? You're always supposed to carry a flashlight on a job.

Butch—They're rationed! Where's yours? You had one when we came in.

Slugs—The battery's gone dead.
Butch—You should carry an extra battery.

Slugs—I ain't had the coupon!

Butch—I can't do anything in the total-darkness.

Slugs—That's screwy. Millions of people are in the dark with OPA and they have to get along somehow.

Butch—Here's the safe. Got a drill?

Slugs—You know better. They stopped making drills for our business.

Butch—How about the soup?
Slugs—That's rationed, too! It's all being used in the war effort.

Butch—We can't blow a safe without juice.

Slugs—You know very well it takes too many points to get juices. To hell with 'em. We'll force it open. Got the crowbar?

Butch—No.
Slugs—I told ya to get a crowbar, didn't I?

Butch—I had one. But it wore out and I couldn't get it recapped.

Slugs—Why not?
Butch—I forgot to take it in twice a year for inspection.

Slugs—Well, what'll we do now?
Butch—Search me.

(The lights flash on and an OPA chief enters.)

OPA Chief—What's going on here?
Butch—Believe it or not we was waiting for a trolley car.

OPA Chief—Congratulations! I'm glad to find a couple of fellows here who are NOT LOOKING FOR GAS!

ADOLF EXPLAINS ALL
"Strength of arms means nothing. It is the unbending determination at home to hold out and never waver that counts."—Hitler to his people.

Some people laud the German arms—they speak of Prussian force; They emphasize my blitzes in The world war's early course; But planes and tanks and elite troops

Don't mean a thing to me; The home folks (if they can stand it)

Are my key to victory.

They talk of monster armies and My armaments so vast; They point to acts of sheer brute strength

Within the German past; But, ah, I seldom think of these; I smacked the weak about With little but a firm belief My people can hold out!

The day I tore all treaties up— And Belgium felt my boot; When I blitzed children in the streets

And stayed to burn and loot The fact I had the upper hand To me had not appealed . . . I did it all because I knew THAT GERMAN WOULD'N'T YIELD!

My double-cross of Russia was . . . Not based on strength at all; It wasn't overpowering force That gave my hosts the call; Those towns to which I gave the torch Have got Der Fuehrer wrong . . . I dared to do it for I knew THE GERMAN WILL WAS STRONG!

The little tricks a Nazi loves— (Those booby traps and such); That Naples post-office affair— (It bore the Nazi touch); These do not spring from German strength;

Such acts I always back Because (ach Gott, I hope I'm right!) THE GERMAN NEVER CRACK!

The Bowling Alley Proprietors Association of New York has asked for war prisoners to set up pins in alleys. It would increase our interest in bowling if we could count on a Jap or Nazi general down at the far end of the alley.

"Hitler would laugh his head off if he collected garbage over here and saw the waste."—Ladies Home Journal ad.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Group riding is a rubber-saving procedure which is rapidly gaining acceptance. The average number of persons per car throughout the country prior to July 1, 1942, was 2. In six months it jumped to 2.44, and at the beginning of May it had increased to 2.66. The greatest gain has been in rural industrial areas, where the average is now 3.17 persons per car.

Bottled air may be a regular accessory in the postwar automobile, making the car owner independent of gas stations when emergency tire inflation is necessary. The air bottles, now used by the Army, can be refilled at any air line.

Motorist Quick to Take Advantage of His Find

A traveler who stopped at a cross-roads garage in the backwoods, asked the attendant for gasoline.

"How'd you like the bombing of Hamburg?" the motorist asked.

"What bombing?" inquired the hillsman.

"Why, you know, the one the papers have been full of . . ."

"Why bomb Hamburg?" persisted the other.

"There's a war on, you dope. Didn't you know that?"

The attendant shifted his chewing tobacco.

"Can't say I did, stranger."

"You didn't know . . . Look! Roll me out four new tires!"

When the word went out that soldiers overseas wanted packages from home—the response was so overwhelming that Uncle Sam reluctantly had to call a halt. Today, due to shipping space, there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men—but you can still send packages to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are. When you do, remember—one of their favorite gifts is cigarettes, and the favorite brand is Camel. Sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens show that Camel is first choice with men in all the services. So send him that carton of Camels today.—Adv.

Home Front Interest Focused on Economic Stabilization

During 1943, interest on the home front was focused on economic stabilization, as set forth by President Roosevelt in his "Hold the Line" order of April 7.

The President asked no ceilings be raised on food except to the minimum extent required by law, and he directed the reduction of excess prices, which was eventually accomplished by the cutting of costs to consumers through subsidies. The President also forbade wage increases except to improve substandard rates or accompany promotions.

Leading the fight for higher wages, John L. Lewis and his 460,000 United Mine Workers maneuvered for seven months before finally reaching an agreement with the government November 3, allowing a daily wage increase of $1.50, and recognizing the miners' claim to underground travel time.

At the height of the coal situation, congress overrode a presidential veto, to pass the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, June 25, outlawing work stoppages in government owned plants and prohibiting them in other industries without 30 days notice and a secret ballot.
