In a speech delivered in Paul, Minn. on April 18, 1932, Branklin D. Roosevelt said:

"There will be many in this nation during the coming months who will implore you not to swar horses crossing a stream; there will be others who will laughtusly tell you that the appeal should have been worded, "Do not sware toboggans while you are sliding downfill." But it seems to me that the more truthful, the more accurate plea to the people of the nation should be this: "If the old car, in spite of frequent emergency repairs, has been bumping along downbill on only two cylliders for three I ng years it is time to get another car, that will start uphill on all four."

Death of 91-Year-Old California Author Recalls How He, as a Young Army Lieutenant, Recorded for Posterity Famous Speech of a Great Indian Chief

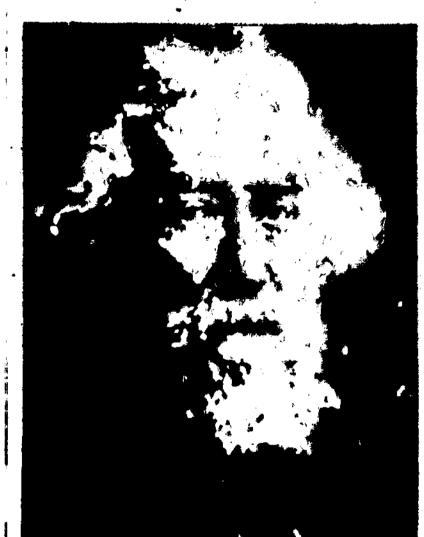

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE recent death of Col. Charles Erskine Scott Wood in California recalls one of the most dramatic incidents in American military history, for he was one of the chief actors in that drama. It was the surrender of Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce Indians in the Bear Paw mountains of Montana on October 5, 1877, after his epic retreat of more than 1,000 miles which won for him a place among the great captains of all

Colonel Wood, then a young lieutenant on the staff of Gen. O. O. Howard, was present at the surrender, took down the Indian leader's "surrender speech" and it is to him that we are indebted for a complete and accurate text of what has become a classic of American oratory.

The story of the Nez Perce war of 1877 and of Chief Joseph's retreat is too familiar a tale to need repetition in all its details here. Its origin was the old, old story of a broken treaty, of white men covetous for Indian lands, of white aggression that brought about retaliation by the red man and then a call for troops to "put down an Indian uprising." In this case, however, the leader of the Nez Perces did not decide to try to defend his native soil by fighting the soldiers. Instead, he conceived the bold plan of fleeing with his people to Canada, fighting only if the troops barred his road.

Gen. O. O. Howard, commander of the Military Department of the Columbia, acted promptly when newsof the killing of four settlers by a

After this defeat General Howard took the field himself and the chase was on. Before it was ended the Nez Perce leader outwitted, outfought and outmarched the troops of Howard, Colonel Sturgis of the Seving!" And after that matinee he enth cavalry and several other detachments sent to intercept him. To realize the greatness of his achievement one has but to read this brief summary:

The Nez Perce leader was encumbered with women and children whom he refused to desert and allow them to fall into the hands of the soldiers, as he might have done several times to facilitate his flight. His fighting force never at any time exceeded 300 warriors. Yet with these handicaps he fought 11 engagements, five of them pitched battles, and he lost only one. In the other six skirmishes he killed 126 and wounded 140 of the 2,000 soldiers who were on his trail at one time or another with a loss of 151 killed and accompanied by two friendly Nez benefit as a literary item." Perces (both of whom had daughters in the hostile camp) and an interpreter, arrived in Miles' camp. The next day, these two Nez Perces, George and Captain John, entered the camp of the beleaguered Indians. They told the chief that General Howard was there with promises of good treatment and that his whole command was only two or three days behind him. With tears in their eyes they begged him to surrender because his was a lost cause and Joseph agreed.

The scene which followed is described by Wood in a letter which has never before been published. It follows:

"The surrender was October 5, 1877. Joseph rode up the hill near to sunget to where we were-Howard, Miles, Chapman, the interpreter; Oscar Long, adjutant to Miles, Guy Howard, the general's son and alde de camp, and myself. I was aide de camp, alco adjutant general in the field-in charge of records,

"Three or four men on foot hung around Joseph, clinging to his knees and saddle blanket. All were bareheaded. Joseph's hair hung in two braids on each side of his face. He word a blanket—I do not remember the color, but I would say gray with a black stripe and I would say it was girdled about his waist but carried up and around his shoulders. Under his blanket he wore a woolen shirt open at the throat, a dark color-I am inclined to think it was army blue. He wore moccasins and leggings. His rifle was across the pommel in front of him. When he dismounted he picked up his rifle, pulled his blanket closer around him and walked toward General Howard and offered him the rifle. Howard waved him toward Miles. He then walked, to Miles and began his

The text of that historic speech as given by Colonel Wood follows:

Tell General Howard I knew his heart. What he told me before—I have it in my heart.

I am tired of fighting. Our chiefs are killed. Looking Glass is dead. Too-bul-kul-suit is dead. It is the young men now who say "yes" and "no" (vote in the council). He who led on the young men (Ollicut, his brother) is dead. It is cold and we have ne blankets. The little children are freezing to death. My poople-some of them-have run away to the fills and have no blankets, no food. Ne one knews where they are-perhaps freezing to death. I want to have time to look for my children and see how many of them I can find: maybe I shall and them among the dead. Hear me, my chiefs. my heart is sick and sad. From where the sun new stands I will fight no more ferever!

The above version of the "surrender speech" is the one given in an article "Chief Joseph, the Nez Perce" by Colonel Wood which appeared in the Century magazine for May, 1884. It has often been reprinted with considerable variation Then, having left his pursuers far in the text but we have Colonel withstood the soldiers' attacks. | not. No one was told to take it of $1.

And thus it was that the young lieutenant who took down this speech as a "literary item" "preserved for posterity this pathetic utterance of a heartbroken Indian patriot. It has often been compared with the historic speech of Chief Logan of the Cayugas, which became widely known through being printed in the McGuffey Readers and which was a favorite "piece to be spoken" by several generations of American schoolboys,

Wood was born in Erie, Pa., February 20, 1852, the son of William Maxwell Scott, who was the first surgeon-general of the United States navy. Educated at Erie academy and Baltimore city college he was appointed to the United States Military academy at West Point at the age of 18 by President Grant. He was graduated in 1874 and soon after receiving his commission as a second lieutenant was assigned to duty at Fort Bidwell in northeastern California.

By 1077 he was a first lieutenant and on the staff of General Howard. Detailed to act as military escort to a civilian explorer in Alaska, he was in that country when word came of the outbreak of the Nez-Perce war. The same mail that brought him word that his regiment was ordered into the field also brought him permission to stay on for the exploration of Alaska but he elected to join his regiment. Thus, as aide to General Howard, he participated in the long, stern chase after the fleeing Nez Perces. The Nez Perce campaign, however, was not his only Indian war service. The next year he served on Howard's staff in the Bannock! and Piute campaign in Idaho which was nearly as strenuous and dangerous as that of 1877. For a year or, so he was stationed at Fort Vancouver across the river from Portland, Ore., and while there he resolved to quit the army and study law. Before resigning from the army he was made adjutant at the military academy at West Point and while there began studying laws-re-

CRACKED PLASTER

Question: What is best to do with cracked plaster? We have had some of the cracks refilled with plaster, but after a year or two these cracks are worse than before, as the new plaster has fallen out. What do you think of covering the walls and ceilings of bathroom and kitchen, which at present are painted, with wallcloth—the kind that can be painted over? A friend has just said that putting a wallcloth on the walls and ceilings would tend to pull the plaster off the walls. Would this be possible?

Answer: Wide cracks should be cut out so that they are wider at the lath than on the surface; in hardening, the patch will lock itself into place. You can get patching plaster at a hardware store.

Before putting in the patch, the old plaster should be dampened to prevent water from being drawn from the patching compound. Fill the crack only three-quarters full. When this part of the patch has hardened, the rest can be filled and the surface smoothed. This will prevent possible shrinkage:

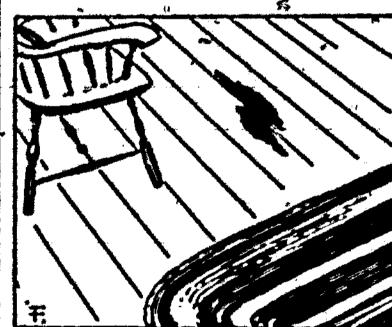

A fine hairline crack can be filled by brushing with a mixture of three parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine to the consistency of a fairly thin paste; this is rubbed on with a eloth to force the paste into the cracks, and the excess is wiped from the surface. Light sandpapering may be necessary when the paste has dried.

Wallcloth would make a very good covering for your walls and ceilings. You can get it in plain colors as well as in wallpaper designs. I see no reason why it should pull the plaster from the walls or cellings. The walls should be sized before applying the wallcloth.

ACID STAIN ON FLOOR

Question: How can I take out an acid stain from a floor? Scrubbing and sandpapering have not succeed-

Answer: If the stain has penetrated the wood, try bleaching with a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid (poison) or Javelle water. Brush this on the floor and allow to remain all night. Then rinse thoroughly. When dry, sandpaper the area. Refinish in the same way as the rest of the floor.

Cleaning a Rug

tle of carbon tetrachloride and want to use it to clean my rug, which is a light gold shade. However, while I have read that carbon tetrachloride is good for spots in rugs, I do not have any idea how it should be used, Can you tell me? Also, is it to be diluted? Answer: If there are grease spots on the rug, you can use the carbon tetrachloride for them. To do this, place the spot over a shallow pan or bowl and pour the carbon tetrachloride over the area repeatedly until the spot has disappeared. But, in order to clean the entire rug you will find it more economical to have it done by a professional rug cleaner. Or, you can do the job with one of the well-known rug shampoos. I would not use the carbon tetrachloride for cleaning the entire rug; it is too expensive for the purpose and the fumes given off by the chemical, if inhaled in large quantities, might be harmful.

Windows Stick

Question: How can I ease the opening and closing of windows in my home?

Answer: Windows will work more easily if the grooves are rubbed well with paraffin. Some hardware and dime stores sell a special preparation for the purpose.

Sticking Wattes Question: How can I prevent waffles from sticking to the waffle iron; and how should I clean the iron? Answer: The iron can be cleaned with a clean wire brush. To prevent sticking, put more melted butter in the batter. You will need to experiment.

Pelicans' Paradise Lost; Newcomers Save Situation

For many years Monterey, picturesque California coast town, was a pelicans' paradise. As the fishermen cleaned their fish they flung the offal to the birds, which grew fat, lazy, and contented. Now, however, the offal is utilized. When the change came, the pelicans grew gaunt and thin, and slowly starved to death. They had forgotten how to fish!

The problem was solved by importing pelicans accustomed to foraging for themselves. The newcomers immediately began fishing. Before long every hungry pelican in port followed suit, and the famine was ended.

LIOUT RUBBER

Authorities expect that Latin-American countries will contribute 35 to 40 thousand tons of crude rubber during 1944. In 1941 the U. S. and Canada used 200,000 tens of rubber, and current requirements are larger.

The Guartermaster Corps has developed a subber and convas Army boot for tropical wear. The sole contains both crude and reclaimed rubber, and is not affected by fungle moisture and soil chemicals.

Overseven billen passengers were transported by motor hus in 1942, compared with about four and a half billion in 1940, reflecting the curtailment of passenger car use by rubber conservation.

Thrifty Meats

Food budgets require the hands of experts these days so they don't run away with themselves.

Scan the columns of your newspapers and the prices at your butchers and you'll notice many economical cuts of meat that are just packed full of flavor if you cook them properly. It's not at all strange to find favorite foods in your family that are very inexpensive to prepare. But all of them illustrate one important fact: the cook who prepares the food knows what she's working with and what to do with it to have it at its

Make sure that all of your platters look attractive before you set them on the table. We still eat with our eyes first—and what's good to look at will disappear fast!

Save Used Fats!

Did you ever think of spreading chuck steak with grapefruit butter? No? You'll find it tenderizes the meat and gives it delightful flavor: *Broiled Chuck Sleak.

Preheat broiling oven 5 to 10 minutes. Grease broiler rack. Wipe meat with cloth, sprinkle both sides with salt and pepper and spread with grapefruit butter, made by blending grapefruit juice and butter in equal proportions. Place on rack and broil 2 to 3 inches below heat. Sear steak on both sides with cooking, turning occasionally. For a rare steak 145 inches thick, allow 12 to 15 minutes per pound. Increase time for medium and welldone steaks. .

THE SACREDNESS OF LIFE (TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT: Gen, 1:27, 28; Matt. 12: 11, 12; Rom, 14:19-21; I Cor. 6:19, 20, GOLDEN TEXT: Know-ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Spirit?—I Corinthlans 6:19.

A high and ennobling concept of the value of human life is an important element in Christian thought. The Word of God always regards human life as sacred—a gift of God to be used for His glory, never to be exploited for gain or destroyed at will.

This important truth needs constantareiteration in a social order which is so shortsighted and sinful that it will permit the destruction of man through the sale and use of alcoholic beverages. The lesson has a real application to the liquor prob-

God Honored Man (Gen. 1:27,

It-should be of primary interest t and concern to discover what the Maker and Lord thinks of His creation, man. He knows what is in man and if we learn of Him we may come to evaluate man aright. 1. He Made Him in His Own Image (v. 27).

The teaching of Scripture makes it clear that this image was not anything material or physical, but rather a likeness of personality. As God is a personal, moral, intelligent Being, so is man.

How tragic then that man will not only reject that grace, but will subject his God-given personality to the narcotic and destructive influence of micohol.

Not only did God make man in His image, but— 2. He Gave Him Power and Authority (v. 28).

This is the very thing man is seeking, and here we learn that the only One who had a right to give it—God Himself-bestowed it upon man.

Having dominion over the entire earth, man is in a place of responsibility, not only for his own moral choices, but for the welfare of others. Think that over as it relates to the ever-growing liquor problem. II. Man Should Honor Man (Matt.

12:11, 12; Rom. 14:19-21). Since God has such a high regard for man, it is clear that we ought to have real respect for our fellow man. "Man's inhumanity to man" is often declared to be the world's greatest difficulty. It would not be so if God's Word were obeyed. Man would learn that-

1. He Should Recognize His Fellow Man's Value (Matt. 12:11, 12).

Property values are so well to the front in the thinking of all, thatit requires no argument to convince anyone that a sheep that has fallen high heat, reduce and continue degrees) in a ring mold, for 35 min. Into a pit should be rescued. But the sad thing is that the man who would run for help to rescue a sheep in that predicament will hardly cast an interested glance at the drunk in the gutter, or lose a few minutes sleep over the girls who are going to hell by way of our countless tav-

> The plain fact is that we do not regard a man as of more value than a sheep. Many a neighborhood has been stirred to angry reprisal over the posoning of a pet dog, but will let the liquor dealer poison men and women-all for a small license fee.

The man who loves his fellow man knows that—

2. He Should Sacrifice for His Fellow Man's Good (Rom. 14:19-21). Paul here states a high principle of Christian consideration. He makes clear that man is his brother's keeper and must do nothing meat and vegetables to a baking which will tempt his brother to do that which will harm him.

III. Man Should Honor Kimself (1 Cor. 6:19, 29).

-Man is told not to think more highly of himself than he ought to think (Rom. 12:3), and that is good counsel. But at the same time he ought to think as highly of his own being as God does. He should recognize that-

1. His Body Is the Temple of the Holy Spirit (v. 19).

The Bible teaches that the moment a man believes in Christ-his body becomes the dwelling place of the Holy Spirit. That means that he must never take that body in any place (such as a tavern) to do anything or partake of anything (like intoxicants) which would dishonor the Holy Spirit of God.

2. He Belongs to God (v. 20). Men have been given a free will by God. He has given them the in sauces, spreads, fruits, mar- onion and salt and pepper. Fill right of self-determination. That does not abrogate God's right to

Crippled Children Easter Seals Appeal

Within the next week or ten days citizens of Lincoln County will receive letters of appeal from the New Mexico Society for Crippled Children containing a packet of Easter Seals. You will be asked to buy these seals, You purchase will enable the Society to carry on its sorely needed program of rehabilitatio: for crippled and handicapped children of New Mexico, a program which does not aim to duplicate the efforts of other agencies, but to supplement and include those children for whom funds from other agencies are not now available.

There is no more appealing picture than that of a cripplec child deprived of the pleasures, lenjoyment and opportunities to develop "like other kids". The humane hearts of Lincoln County citizens, through their purchases of Easter S. als, will make possible the restoration to health and happiness of many more of these little ones. So, when you receive your Seals, remember these children and send in your contribution. If you do not receive your seals write to Box 95 Carrizozo, or to 206 South Third St., Albuquerque, and ask for them.

Blessed are they whose prayers in deeds find wings,

Whose hands in gifts of humble service bring,

U. S. Bombers Reduce Rabaul Defenses; Hitler's Black Sea Bases Periled by Red Armies' Ukrainian Break-Through; British Strikers Slow War Production

EUROPE:

See Zero Hour

As the Axis radio dinned that the invasion of Europe could be expected at any day, huge fleets of heavy U. S. and British bombers escorted by fighter planes continued to pour fire and destruction on the enemy's industry and defense installations, with Berlin the No. 1 target.

Expecting the grandest amphibious assault in military history, the Nazi high command continued to boast of its steel and concrete coastal fortifications equipped with long and short range rocket guns, and, declaring the impending hostilities were to determine the future fate of Germany, insisted that they must fight it out in their deep defenses rather than make a wholesale retreat

In Italy, strong armored German forces jubbed at stubborn U.S. and British lines on the Anzio beachhead below Rome, while heavy-slush and anowfall slowed Allied advances on the bloody Cassino front, where bitter house to house fighting again was resumed after a long full.

GREAT BRITAIN:

Coal Strikes

Laying down their tools in dissatinfaction over recent national wage adjustments which failed to take account of their work in excessive dust and water, an estimated 87,089 Welsh coal miners walked out of 150 pits and were joined by thousands in other English and Scottish_fields as the government pondered taking over the properties.

Formerly, the Welsh were paid a weekly bonus of $1.20 or more in addition to their regular wage of $18 07 for working under unfavorable conditions, but when the government recently raised the minimum pay of all the nation's miners to $20, no adjustment was made in their compensation.

With war industries, railroads and special overseas shipping threatened, the government insisted the men return to their jobs before it moved to meet the Weishmen's demands, and also strove to iron out complaints of piece-workers that the new minimum wages gave straight-time miners producing less equal compensation.

War Production

Fully girded for war since the declaration of hostilities, Great Britain's bustling industrial machine has turned out $3,000 tanks, armored cars and gun carriers; more than 115,000 guns of more than 20 mm. caliber; nearly $,500,000 machineguns, rifles, submachine guns and automatic pistols; more than 1,060,-000 vehicles and almost 90,000 aircraft.

With the U.S. producing the mafor bulk of the Allies' merchant shipping, British yards have concentrated on naval construction, with the result that His Majesty's fleet is greater now than at the beginning army, commanded of the war.

Because of Britain's concentration on the production of heavy bombers, it has been able to supply threequarters of the total structural weight of the Royal Air force, with the U.S. providing 18 per cent and British dominions 6 per cent of the remainder.

U.S.Anterests

As high U.S. officials prepared for conferences with British leaders in London on America's postwar role in the Pacific, congress moved to appoint a 21-man committee to look into this country's military and economic interests in that part of the world in peacetime.

The whole question of America's future position of the Pacific was drawn into charp focus with Austraha's and New Zealand's declaration that these two countries are to be defensive centers for islands to their east and west, and use of any terrientitle a nation to claims or rights on them.

U. S. SHIPPING:

Equals All Others

Asserting that the U.S. merchant marine is greater than all of the Allied shipping combined, War Shipping Administrator Rear Admiral Emory S. Land called for storage of those vessels not used for world trade after the war.

In advocating extensive use of U. S. merchant vessels in the postwar world, Admiral Land said that formerly Japan carried 80 per cent of her exports in its own ships, Germany 70 per cent and Italy 60 per cent.

Declaring that the U.S. is bearing the bulk of Allied shipping in the war, Admiral Land told a congressional committee conducting hearings on extension of the lend-lease act that 42 per cent of the outbound cargo from this nation last year was lend-lease material, and of the total less than 2 per cent was lost in comparison with 5 per cent in 1942.

Anti-Fascists in Italy Lack Uniform Program

Immediate Circumstances Necessitate Allied Cooperation With King and Badoglio as Leaders of Only Unified Group.

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service. Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

How can the Allied governments, the Allied armies, sworn to defend the cause of democracy, continue to deal with Italy's Fascist king and Marshal Badoglio and refuse to recognize the anti-Fáscist conference of political parties recently organized at a meeting held in Bari, Italy?

The so-called "junta of the Committees of Liberation" named following the Bari conference, telegraphed to members of the British house of commons a message which contained this passage:

"Here Fascism, at first confused and fearful, has taken courage. has assumed a mask and has rallied the judgment of your political and military officials. Once more oppressing our people as it has always done, it is putting all manner of legal and illegal obstacles in the way of any genuine popular initiative which tries to render more efficient and serious the contribution of liberated Italy to the war against the Germans."

Addressing the Bari conference, Italian Sen. Benedetto Croce had

"It is a fact that the waning prestige of the king and the lack of confidence in him prevent the king himself from rallying an Italian army; he himself, fearing the opposition against his person, has prohibited the formation of an army of volunteers. Many young men who came to me from German-occupied territory full of enthusiasm were forced to disband, disappointment in their hearts, because they did not find anyone to rally them and give them the opportunity to fight."

Those statements seem forthright and fair. After reading them, I was not surprised when a fairly important but not "fairly" informed person said to me:

"The Allies are lined up with the Fascists in Italy. Is that what we are fighting for?"

That seems to me a typical atti-N. J., 18 month-old Veronica De Vore reflects when he considers the socalled "deals" the American government has made, the arrangement with Darlan in North Africa, for instance. Think of the abuse heaped upon the state department in that case—the deluge of flery "liberal" criticism at home and in England, the wrath of De Gaulle and the rest of the French anti-Vichyites.

And then, when on the tenth of trained, objective military govern-Objective of the plan is to restore ment provided by the Allies, who

Is there any explanation? Can there be any excuse for the United States government, loudly anti-Fascist and violently against all forms of totalitarian government, playing ball with the little king and his satellites who danced to the tune of Mussolini?

Well, there is another side but because of the delicacy of the situation, it cannot be set forth officially.

I am permitted to state it without Allied leaders. First let me quote from the guarded remarks of Winston Churchill before the house of commons in Feb-us to follow is to judge all parties of the Allies. and factions dispassionately by the test of their readiness and ability to fight the Germans and thus lighten the burden of Allied troops. This is not a time for ideological prefercertainly, we, His Majesty's governthis way at all." And he might have added, the American government, the American army, is equally uninterested in worry about ideologies. It is too ideologies.

News Analyst and Commentator. Another point Churchill made should be noted for later comment: "Should we succeed in the present battle and enter Rome—as I trust and believe we shall-we shall be free to review the whole Italian political position and we shall do so with many advantages which we do not possess at the present time." One more Churchill quote before I try to present the American viewpoint:

"I should be sorry, however, to see an unsettling change made at a time when the battle is at its climax, swaying to and fro. When you have to hold a hot coffee pot, it is better not to break off the handle until you are sure that you can get another equally convenient and servfriendship which is too recent to be diceable, or at least that you will find a disheloth handy."

So much for the shadowy outlines of the defense.

Let me give you now, from my notebook, in the order in which took it down, the story as told to me by one "who ought to know."

"At the Barl conference, there were a number of parties which seemed to agree, but they failed to offer a concrete program or one that there was any firm guarantee would receive unified support. In war, we cannot guess, we must know. There is no definitely established leadership among the anti-Fascists.

"We know there is no future for any leadership under the king and Badoglio. But we must operate in the present, not the future. At present, there is but one unified group, small or large, laved or hated as it may be, and that is the government which surrendered to the Allies, under King Victor Emmanuel.

Must Be Realists "We have to be realists now, and what is more, military realists. As Churchill said, what the Allies need are Italians ready and able to fight Germans. Such a group exists. Italians are lighting side by side with Americans and British Although the Italian fleet has not been called to action, it surrendered without resistance. The Italian officers on duty are still loyal to the symbol (the king) to which they made their outh. We are perfectly willing, we are anxious, that they choose a new democratic symbol. But until they do get a new symbol to which the majority of Italians can adhere, we are not going to throw away the old."

(Churchill's coffee pot.)

So much for what seems to be the Allies' viewpoint with my added unofficial, but none-the-less I believe, authentic, interpretation. But there is comething more that no official would dare whisper. It is the problem which the Allies know they are going to face in every re-occupied country. Italy is a sample. It is something unpleasant but something we must face.

I understand that the Italian people in the liberated regions have not been inimical to the Americans. But they are resentful. They are hungry. They cannot understand why these strong young soldiers, who have freed them, do not feed them. The trucks go by loaded with munitions and supplies. Some food has been distributed. Not enough. To feed all the people would mean halting military operations while the Germans made hay in the sunshine of our charity.

The present Italian government today would have to demand food, would increase the pressure on the Allies for supplies that they cannot spare while they are fighting for their lives. That is another real-"The sanest and safest course for listic, military reason for the policy

And, unfortunately, that is something that the Allies can expect to face as more and more European territory is liberated. The liberated people cannot be blamed if resentences for one side or the other, and | ment that they do not receive more, wipes out the gratitude for the modiment, have not indulged ourselves in | cum that military men can spare. Armies cannot be idealistic.

And armies or governments at war which support them, cannot bad. But it is likewise only too true.

"Spoils their feathers," said Rebel "They'll stay under cover now."

"Then we can count on that. If the rain holds tomorrow we can make better than twenty miles to the west. We'll be close to the Texas panhandle by that time. It's thin safety, I know, but we can call on the army if we have trouble off of Indian lands."

"Army!" Clay mocked. "You got any idea where that is?" "There's a troop," he said, "at

"Eleven men," he pointed out, "held off more than that at Adobe Walls. But there won't be six hundred bucks. Half of any tribe are squaws." He leaned back on his elbows. He needn't go on with an argument, and yet he wanted Clay to show his hand.

It came forced out with heat, where none was called for, as if Clay needed that fire of temper to bolster him up. "You're right about turning west. But the herd travels too slow. We'll send the wagons en ahead."

"What about splitting the men?" he asked. "You can't divide this outfit now. You'd have no protection anywhere."

"Then send plenty with the wagens. Make sure of that. It's Joy I'm thinking about!"

> They had made a good start, beating the dawn by an hour. The cattle had risen of their own accord from the wet bed ground and would not feed in the rain. They were walking fast. He figured they had already made better than ten miles. Still his main hope had been that when the wind came it would be out of the north—cold and stormy. What he felt against his cheek was a warm, meiting breath from the south. It would clear the skies too

> In a dead silence, as the clacking thud of the longhorns passed on, he sat facing their back trail where t even in this short time a breeze had begun to tear the gray curtain into shreds. As far as he could see the land was as flat as a floor, unbroken by any creek or dangerous hollows of ground,

> When he passed Joy's wagon, drawn up close along the point behind Owl-Head Jackson's, he saw that—she had her father's frontier forty-four lying on the seat. They hadn't talked this morning. If only the fool longhorns could grow wings! In another hour the rain had stopped. The herd was grazing now, loose-kneed, heads down, crawling at a slow, tormenting pace. A thick ground mist was left blowing northward. It gave them shelter until sometime past noon.

The lift came abruptly in a layer of fog that rose and hung suspended overhead. He swung out from the herd and looked beyond their close formation, hunting off southeast in the way from which Joe Wheat would come. But off there and on behind him the land stretched empty and flat. He brought his eyes around slowly to hold a fixed gaze on the back trail toward the distant humps of the Wichita range. That emptiness was too good.

So far away that at first he hardly caught it, looking like a part of the brown earth, a darker spot of brown was moving.

He yelled and grooked his arm at the dragmen. They jumped their mounts into a run toward his side of the point. Quarternight loped around to him. Moonlight Bailey and young Jim Hope began to drive the leading horse herd back.

He waved the wagons over, and under that pressure of mules and horses and men the point began to swing. Gradually four thousand longhorns were turning back upon themselves, until they made a great letter U. And then the gap closed as the leaders joined the drags. There had been no confusion to give them a scare. They milled only a little and came to a stop in their compact pool. It had taken perhaps ten minutes' time.

Watching east, he had seen the dark spot grow in size, coming on swiftly in these minutes.

"John," he said, "you're an oldtimer at this. What would you "Take it easy," Quarternight answered. "Set like we are. They'll have to do their fancy ridin' first. If they get too close we can outtalk 'em some ways off."

They sat with men spread out at intervals on either side, the two wagons close behind them, the mond among them. horse herd bunched between the wagons and the cattle. Like that they formed a line facing the direction of attack, a line that could shift around the pool of longhorns if the Indians swung.

He turned once and saw that Clay was backed against Joy's wagon seat, making himself her guard. Then his buckskin's little blacktipped ears pricked up, swinging forward. He felt the animal's heart pound beneath his leg. Even the horse knew these were Indians, somehow, from a mile off.

He wrapped his reins around the horn and drew his rifle from its scabbard. A cool fascination gripped him, like the thing you felt when you watched the rippled movements of a snake. They made a sight, no longer a solid brown. Their mounts were streaked with red and yellow. Naked, painted bodies and black heads lay close to the horses' backs.

They_came on at a steady trot, knee to knee in a widespread line. "Ain't that a show!" Quarter-

LIBBER McGEE is plenty I sore these days—in the muscles, not the temper. Here's the reason. The RKO picture, "Heavenly Days," which he and Molly are making, includes a dream fantasy in which Fibber, as a typical American citizen, enters the U.S. senate chamber and swims around 15 feet above the floor. It's done with invisible piano wires—which accounts for the sore muscles.

Now that K. T. Stevens has achieved screen stature with her dramatic lead in the William Cameron Menzies production, "Address Unknown," at Columbia, she can claim the distinction of being the

One night recently 70 soldiers were having fun in a New York night club. One thought he recognized a big, buxom blonde in the audience. "Miss Tucker," he said, "the boys would sure get a thrill if you'd sing 'Some of These Days' for them. We're on our last furlough, heading overseas." She sang, she wrote "Sophie Tucker" on menus for them. Didn't want to disappoint the boys by explaining that she's Lulu Bates, practically a double for Miss Tucker, a well-known blues singer who's starring now on NBC's "All Time Hit Parade."

Barry Wood, singer and master of ceremonies on "The Million Dollar Band," doesn't have too much time for his farm these days. He's been entertaining wounded servicemen at the Halloran and St. Albans hospitale, near New York.

Incidentally, that's a fine idea Barry has—that of giving war sav-l ings stamps as tips. It is one that is being widely copied in radio circles.

Something new has been added to Webster's dictionary; the new edition will include the word "puppetoon," according to word recently received by Paramcunt. If you're a movie-goer you know it well; it's derived from "puppet" and "cartoon," and is the registered trademark of those short subjects produced by George Pal. "And to Think That I Saw It on Mulberry Street," picturization of the novel of the same name, is the latest in the peries of Technicolor Puppetcons produced by Pal for Paramount.

Helen Mack, who's appearing in "And Now Tomorrow" with Loretta Young and Alan Ladd, has been nicknamed "Droopy Helen" by her friends because she plays so many emotional roles. She began training for roles like that back in the days when she studied acting in a New York children's theater school. where she had some classmates destined to be well known-Helen Chandler, Ruby Keeler and Gene Ray

'ALL-BRAN WORKED WONDERS FOR ME!"

Says Constipation Sufferer

There's real hope for common constination sufferers in this unsolicited letter!

BRAN has done for me, I'm 75 years old. Had been taking pills and salts almost every night, 6 weeks ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every morning. Soon I had regular movements without any trouble. I can't praise ALI-BRAN enough. It sure works wonders for me." Mr. E. C. Zook, Box 114, Fairbury, Ill.

How can such amazing results for thousands be explained? Scientists may it's because KELLGGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulosic" elements, lack of which in the diet is a common cause of constipation. They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Hoden't "sweep vo out" l-it's simply a gentle-acting;

"regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL. BRAN regularly with milk and fruit, or mixed with other cereals. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't get real help! Insist on gonuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.
