PERSONALS

S. P. Operator Clyde Brewster is now in Three Rivers.

Paul Spear of Claunch was here on business Tuesday.

Bill Balow and Henry Morris of Ancho were here Wednesday.

Mrs. C. A. Marley of Roswell wrote this office a nice letter this week.

W. J. Sandfer of Ifonie was a business visitor here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lamay of the Nogal Mesa were here on business Monday.

County Clerk-elect Ben Greisen of Capitan was a visitor in town Wednesday.

T. B. Maddux of the Maddux Monument Co. of Roswell was here on business this week.

Manuel Jones is recovering from a fractured foot sustained when he stepped off an engine.

The Carrizozo Woman's Club will give a Bazaar in the near future. Watch for the announcement.

E. B. In, stockman of Claunch, was here on business Monday and made this office a friendly visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sanders were here the first of the week from Tularosa and while here they visited Dr. R. E. Boney.

Attorney John E. Hall of Albuquerque-Carrizozo was present in the receipt of the Hard pill box Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sargent of Santa Fe were among the deer hunters this week. Mrs. Sargent is the former Miss Katherine Keit.

Mrs. B. B. Giza, formerly of Natchez, Ariz., has moved to Springerville and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Helms of Natchez, are with her for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith of the ranch near here were here on business in town Monday and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Smith is the new manager of the Harvey Sheep and Cattle ranches.

Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Moore are here from Artesia and will be a valued addition to Wade Lane at the Carrizozo Cleaners. Mrs. Moore is a sister to Wade and Mr. Moore is a competent Cleaner and Presser. They will remain here permanently. The Moores have an apartment in the Phipps Building next door to the Burke residence. We welcome the folks to Carrizozo.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shook were here Tuesday from their home near Alto, where they are again situated in the old home which they recently purchased (after having sold it to Ted Collier) and they moved to Arkansas. After residing there about one year they, like others who leave here, miss the fond memories of mountains, where they spent many happy years, lured them westward and now they are able to breathe the pure mountain air and listen to the song of the pines.

Comments

Lewis Burke

Cooper Hightower and Ed Fitzpatrick shot a big bear up in the Bonito country. They presented this office with a generous portion, for which we express our thanks.

Successful deer hunters, as far as we have been able to ascertain are—Colonel Jones, Wm. Gallacher and Sam Matthews.

M. U. Finley killed an 8-point buck the second day of the hunting season.

Ralph Petty also shot his buck. He also presented us with some venison, for which we express our thanks.

Won Bumb Lung, the Chinese wise man, remarks:

Men seem to fall into two groups. They're either old and bent or young and broke.

All of which proves that a man is just a worm. He comes along, wiggles a bit and then some chicken grabs him.

Welcome to Carrizozo Attorney and Mrs. Daniel R. Brenton. Mr. Brenton is associate in the office of John E. Hall, recently moved to Albuquerque, but will maintain his law office here.

Falstaff Oppenshaw (precisely why he's here) has written a poem:

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who, when he spies a girl in red
Has never turned his head and said, "Not bad?"

Rastus. What's the difference between a bathroom and a cemetery?

Mirandy. Ain't no difference, honey. When you gotta go, you gotta go.

Barber Andy Hale in Poston, Ariz., can't see any difference between Japanese-Americans, whether they be soldiers or civilians. They might close up my shop, but I sure as hell won't work on a Jap, he remarked.

Roper's Club Turkey Shoot at Capitan

On Sunday, Nov. 25, there will be a Turkey Shoot at the Roper's Club arena east of Capitan. The shooting will begin at a crack. Free coffee will be served on the grounds. Come and get a turkey.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 10. Base and top surfacing has been awarded to highway 64 between Carrizozo and Tularosa. The construction will cover 10,222 miles, subject to the approval of the public roads administration.

Notice to Subscribers

If you fail to get your New Mexico Magazine, don't notify us, be sure to notify the Magazine at Santa Fe, N. M.

Announcing the arrival of an 8lb baby girl to Rep. and Mrs. Will T. Coe at St. Mary's Hospital, Roswell, N. Mex. on Nov. 13th. Mrs. Coe and baby doing fine at St. Mary's and Rep. Will is all fussed up over the new arrival right on the heels of a fine vote confidence from the people of Lincoln county in making him the "The choice of the people" to represent them in the state Legislature in the coming session.

FIGURED THIS WITHOUT MASTER MATHEMATICIAN

Sometimes we even bore ourselves about politics and making analyses of election returns. Still, this is only Friday, the third day after President Roosevelt was reelected for the fourth time. Perhaps we will be forgiven for putting the following obvious conclusions down on paper if we promise to shut up about the returns until the next time we think of something obvious (maybe) until Monday, anywhere). Here's what we figure out all by ourselves, without the aid of any master mathematician: If you take away from President Roosevelt the votes of his 3,250,000 federal employees, he would be defeated even though you gave him his CIO-PAC support together with his "Solid South"; if you take away his CIO-PAC backing, he would be defeated even though you left him his federal employees and he continued to hold the South in his Yankee palm; if you took away the "Solid South, well; why bother?—Santa Fe New Mexican

By-Gones

The election is over, and both Democrats and Republicans have cause to celebrate, and to rub wounds, results being what they were. Democrats were victors in national and state races while Republicans won almost all county offices. We feel that Lincoln county has been fortunate in the conduct of the campaign here. As usual a few feelings were ruffled, some hard hitting campaigning was done but we feel that the election is over and we call upon all citizens of this country to give their wholehearted support to our new officers of the nation, the state and the county in their efforts to give us the kind of government that the majority of the people want.

This paper wishes to congratulate all the successful candidates on both tickets, and to say to the losers, be good sports, for it's easy to win, but it takes a good man to be a good sport when he loses.

Pounded the Preacher

Monday evening, November 13 at 7:30 about twenty five members and friends of Trinity Methodist Church met at the parsonage home of Rev. and Mrs. John J. Loudin and surprised them with an old-fashioned pounding. Many people who could not be present sent gifts and when the crowd was assembled the dining table was loaded with foods of all kinds to attack the parsonage party.

After some time spent in conversation games and group singing were enjoyed. Rev. Loudin made a short talk of appreciation for the pounding and Mrs. Loudin read a poem which expressed her sentiments.

After 9 o'clock the guests departed after expressing themselves as having had a very enjoyable evening and wishing they might get together more often.

Contributed by a guest

A good improvement is being made at the local station. The space east of the station, where people gather to take trains is being provided with a crushed rock foundation and covered smoothly. This makes a solid smooth roadbed where people may gather in comfort. The SP is to be commended on the improvement.

Attention Masons

There will be a regular communication of Carrizozo Lodge No. 41, Masonic Temple, Saturday night Nov. 26. Work in third degree. All Master Masons are invited.

Farmand War News Roundup

by Carl P. Radcliff
County Extension Agent

Smaller marketing of lambs indicate that prices for lambs are likely to average higher this fall and winter than they did last year. Ewe prices, now at lowest level since the fall of 1941, are expected to continue materially lower than in 1943.

A quick, inexpensive method of estimating the shrinkage of wool which will put New Mexico wool growers on an equal basis with wool buyers has been devised by P. E. Neale, Associate Animal Husbandman of the New Mexico A. & M. Experiment Station. A copy of Mr. Neale's bulletin can be secured from the county agent's office.

Baan hulla treated with arsenical dust or sprays according to the recommendations of the Extension Service may be fed to livestock with safety, according to Dr. J. W. Banner, Extension Veterinarian.

Manufacturers of cubes and pellets are doing right by the range feeding areas with an estimated increase of 43,165 tons for the last half of 1944 as compared with the same period in 1943. Of this increase, 25,642 tons will have a protein content of more than 30 per cent. War Food Administration officials advise ranchers to look to regular channels for much of the available supply of cubes and pellets.

Successful Republicans Will Celebrate

There will be a FREE dance at the Gymnasium at Capitan, Saturday night, Nov. 18, given by the successful candidates on the Republican county ticket at the recent election. The Carrizozo Republican Men's Orchestra will donate the music. Everybody invited.

Hondo Box Recount

A recount of the Hondo box held in Carrizozo on Wednesday made no changes in results of the election.

Changes of from two to five votes in totals of state and county candidates were made.

The recount was called by the canvassing board when it was noted that eight more votes were tallied in the box than there ballots issued. The error was made in handling the War Ballots.

Attorney John E. Hall, who was appointed by Judge Frenger, served as referee in the recount. Mr. Hall is now practicing law in Albuquerque, where he recently moved from Carrizozo.

Bowen Zumwalt of Nogal was here yesterday.

In the Service

Col. and Mrs. Maurice Lemon and small daughters are here this week as guests of the Colonel's parents Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Lemon. They came here from Maxwell Field, Ala. and will leave Monday for Randolph Field, Tex.

In a letter received from Mrs. R. M. Clayton of Roswell, formerly of Ancho, she says that one of her sons W. D. is Seaman 1-c when last heard from, was somewhere in New Guinea; and his brother George Clayton is in Mentone, Tex.

Word was received from Navy Petty officer Otto Prehm who has been confined in the Navy hospital at San Diego, saying he will be seeing us soon.

Marine 2nd Lieut. Lowell C. Czzenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Czzenz of Capitan, was graduated with the 54th Reserve officer's class at Quantico, Va., on Oct. 24. While a student at the University of New Mexico Lt. Czzenz majored in physical education and social science.

Mrs. Jack Harkey is visiting the John W. Harkey and Ralph Petty families. She is the wife of Sgt. Jack Harkey.

This office is in receipt of word from Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts of Tonopah, Nevada, to the effect that their son, Allen Roberts, has been promoted from mechanics mate, to chief machinist's mate. Allen has had a varied career in the service. He was wounded when his ship the U. S. S. M. Farland was bombed near Guadalcanal. He spent several months in a naval hospital, where he was given the Purple Heart award. He returned to Tonopah last December and was married to Miss Lorraine Walters. He is now serving on a naval vessel in the Atlantic. Allan is the grandson of Mrs. Alice Roberts and nephew of Mesdames Anna Roberts and Ada Edmonston of Carrizozo.

Wounded by Flak

Wounded by flak during softening up attacks on German positions in Normandy, Technical Sergeant Sultemeier, 24 year old Corona, N. M., air gunner is now receiving specialized treatment at Bushnell General Hospital, Brigham City, Utah.

T-Sgt. Sultemeier was hit as his B-24 "Liberator" bomber was starting its bombing run to send down flares to mark the target area for following waves of B-17 "Flying Fortress".

Nose gunner on the ship, he was the only man wounded, and the plane was able to send down the flares over the target. This was T-Sgt. Sultemeier's 29th mission since arriving in England in February of this year. Among his missions is one against Berlin, the German capital. He was injured August 8.

For his share in smashing at Hitler's fortress Europe, T-Sgt. Sultemeier wears the air medal with three clusters. After medical care for about three months in military hospitals in England he was flown to this hospital. T-Sgt. Sultemeier is a graduate of the Corona high school, and was working on his father's sheep ranch prior to entering the service in October, 1941. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sultemeier of Corona.

He Feeds Fighters

Shelton Schneider, Lincoln County 4-H boy, has brand new $25 war bond his reward for placing in the state blue award group in the 4-H food-for-victory contest. During his five years of club work, Shelton has done outstanding work in his swine and turkey projects.

Helps Capture 21 Germans In Italy

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Private First Class Frank A. Jimenez of Pecos, N. M., helped capture 21 Germans in the Gothic Line in Italy recently.

His platoon in 351st "Spearhead" Regiment of the 86th "Blue Devil" Division in Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, made the capture in the rugged Apennine Mountains during the push to the Po Valley. As the American's cautiously pressed closer to the two houses in which the Nazis were hiding, the Jerries walked out behind white flags and with their hands upraised.

The prisoners said during their four or five years in the German army they had fought in Russia, came to Italy about two months ago. They all agreed that the war in Germany would end soon and expressed happiness in the fact that it was ready was over for them.

The Germans wore good new clothing and were well equipped with automatic weapons. They averaged in age about 25 years. Jimenez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimenez of Pecos.

Mrs. Frank Turrettine and son Corp. Edgar of the U. S. A. are here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayer, Mrs. D. Mayer and grand daughter Miss Lee Hunter. The Turrettines are from Luteka, Kansas. Mrs. Turrettine is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mayer.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

POSTWAR AGREEMENTS STILL UP IN AIR

WASHINGTON Put together what has been made public in Moscow, London and Washington recently upon the postwar program, and you will have an understanding of the situation which repudiates most of the oratory on the subject, now filling the American ether with such a din as to exclude any solid fact.

Mr. Churchill returned from Moscow announcing to commons no agreement had been reached on the Balkans or Poland with Stalin, but a working arrangement had been perfected for Moscow London cooperation during the remainder of the war.

His words, indicated, and indeed all official pronouncements confirm, that Russia maintains the upper hand in Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Jugoslavia and perhaps Hungary while the British have kept it in Greece.

Churchill said agreement would be impossible until he could get Roosevelt together with Stalin, and they have met only once at Teheran, almost exactly a year ago, where the result were all of the same name, by a military agreement for war and a complete delay of political agreements.

RUSSIA NOT AGREED

Since then Russia declined to agree on the new League of Nations formula at Dumbarton Oaks, in maintaining the 400,000 troops required of the big four powers to act against any future aggressor, or the four big powers to act against any future aggressor, or the four big powers to act against any future aggressor.

As a result of this, the British proposed a new agreement at the postwar conference, but it was rejected by the Russians.

New Moscow, however, through her newspaper, the Pravda, would delight in the idea of a new League of Nations, but she would not agree to the terms of the new League of Nations.

We have all tried to assume that the objections continuously advanced by Moscow only relate to "details," but the only actual postwar agreement reached of any importance has been the Bretton Woods financial arrangement which may be only partly confirmed, the exchange arrangement will be ratified if the rate of the dollar is properly fixed but the Morgenthau bank will have tough congressional sledding.

If the postwar agreement is an actual agreement for the new League of Nations, it will remain as two late agreements, but it is better to have a new League of Nations than to have no League of Nations at all.

We have all tried to assume that the objections continuously advanced by Moscow only relate to "details," but the only actual postwar agreement reached of any importance has been the Bretton Woods financial arrangement which may be only partly confirmed, the exchange arrangement will be ratified if the rate of the dollar is properly fixed but the Morgenthau bank will have tough congressional sledding.

STALIN HAS RESISTED

Stalin would not accept all negotiations, but he has accepted the Bretton Woods financial arrangement, the exchange arrangement, and the Morgenthau bank.

Now no one wants to let these disagreements get beyond redemption, although Moscow is plainly less skillful than we about the possibilities of any disagreements helping the Germans because they announce theirs to the press. However, as Churchill puts it, the Nazis' most important hope is that division will arise among the three great powers.

In truth, the Nazis are only liquidating both themselves and their country by continuing to resist in such a stupid hope because political disagreements are everywhere considered secondary to the necessity of Nazi destruction. At the same time there is no need that we be fools.

Obviously a great number of our people are thinking and talking in the past. They still think this is 1919 and all this country must do is to want a league in accordance with their theory.

The possibility of secret armament should be eliminated. An uncontrolled international committee should have the right to inspect not only ours, but Russia's, and should make constant public reports.

They should have access to plants, being prohibited only from exposing business secrets and purely non-military processes. Then all would know the realities of peace and war prospects.

If we could get Russia to open up and consent to this one step Germany and Japan could be well managed under the same open rules.

How to Save Heat—

SEE THAT ALL storm sashes fit tightly. Keep the storm windows closed as much as possible.

SEAL UP ALL air leaks with compounds made for the purpose. Cracks in the smokepipe and the joining of the pipe and chimney should be filled.

AIR FILTERS ON forced air heating systems must be kept clean, or the free circulation of warm air will be impeded.

KEEP SHADES, venetian blinds and drapes drawn at night and as much as possible during the day. Warm room air chills quickly when it comes in contact with colder window surfaces.

HAVE YOUR FURNACE thoroughly cleaned at the beginning of the cold season. You can do this yourself with a stiff wire brush.

Production Rate of Coal Mines More Than Doubled Since 1918

If it weren't for the efficiency of the highly mechanized coal mining industry, the fuel situation this year would be a lot more desperate than it is. If we had to depend on 1918 production rates, for instance, we'd just have to shiver through the winter. In 1918 a war year, it required 942,000 men, working 18,319 mines, to dig 579,000,000 tons. Last year 400,000 miners produced 539,000,000 tons, from 8,973 mines. The total output of coal, mostly bituminous, of course, is estimated at 616 million tons for the year. Soft coal production has been running at the rate of about 12 million tons a week during 1944. The nation has been burning about 11,400,000 tons a week so far this year, so production is slightly ahead of consumption. This would look like a sound and safe situation. But it isn't. The squeeze comes because of several reasons. Despite the splendid job the railroads and water carriers are doing, the great volume of freight they must handle forces them to sidetrack coal shipments for days and weeks. Thus many localities may be in need of coal, but unable to get it quickly. Another factor is the uncertain but huge demand of the armed forces. Great quantities of coal must be shipped to liberated countries, both for American military establishments and for the countries' own utilities.

We'll Have to Stretch Our Fuel If We're Going to Keep Warm

Serious Shortages of Coal, Wood and Oil Make Heat-Conserving Practices Necessary for All.

Coal, coke, oil, gas or wood—whatever you burn for fuel—will be short in supply this winter, as they all have been for the last three years. They may be even scarcer. The reason is familiar enough—it's the war. There are fewer men mining coal, or making coke, or cutting wood. On the other hand, industrial uses of all fuels and particularly soft coal, have doubled and trebled. Transportation difficulties further complicate a bad situation. Overburdened railroads cannot haul the usual volume of fuel, and war plants get the first chance it what does come to market.

It is estimated that we will be short 38 million tons of coal this winter. Wood will be extremely scarce. So will coke, charcoal and gas—all by-products of these primary fuels. While the production of crude oil will be 15 per cent higher than last year, very little of it can be spared for heating. Most of it will have to go to the gasoline refineries.

Nevertheless, nobody needs to be cold. There will be enough fuel to keep everyone warm, if it is intelligently used. This means that all leaks that cause loss of heat will have to be closed. The best possible combustion methods must be used to get every possible heat unit out of the fuel.

One way to spread the available coal and wood on an equitable basis among the 45 million families of the nation would be to ration these fuels. This has already been done with oil. But the government believes it can avoid this step. As an alternative, a fuel conservation campaign is being launched by the War Production board, the Solid Fuel administrator, the Office of War Information, and other agencies. Book let advertisements, feature articles and radio programs will be employed to instruct householders in ways to get the most out of their coal, wood or oil.

Expert Advice. The heating industry, which includes 50,000 dealers and jobbers and many thousands of manufacturers, is volunteering its help. Drawing on their years of experience with heating problems, many manufacturers have prepared booklets on fuel saving.

The War Production board recently announced that raw materials are being made available for the production of automatic temperature controls, thermostats and similar devices on the basis that the fuel saved will more than compensate for the small amounts of steel and other materials necessary to make the instruments. The automatic controls will make possible fuel savings of 15 per cent on the average, the government agency said. Enough materials to make 35,000 residential commercial, institutional and industrial heating parts have been released for the third and fourth quarters of 1944.

One company, the Minneapolis Honeywell Regulator Co., has made 70,000 electric thermostats in the first three quarters of this year compared with an average production of 1,000 over the same period in average pre-war years. The electric thermostats for use on hard fuel oil heating plants save up to 20 per cent on fuel consumption by a variety of automatic systems, ranging in price from the economical to the expensive.

How to Save Fuel

Some of the ways to save fuel are the following recommendations of heating engineers:

Have your heating plant thoroughly cleaned.

Remove all scale from heating surfaces in furnace or boiler. Clean the stack and chimney. Every two or three weeks be sure all soot and ash is removed from boiler flue surfaces. Soot deposit of one-sixteenth inch thickness results in 34 per cent waste.

All air leaks in heating plants should be sealed or caulked after cleaning. Seal smoke-stack connection with chimney. Repair insulation on hot water and steam pipes as well as boilers. Be sure chimney is in good repair.

Periodically throughout the heating season remove all air from radiators in hot water systems. You can do this by opening the air valves. In a steam heating system make sure the automatic bleed valves are in working order.

Use your fireplace but see that fireplace dampers are closed when not in use.

If the temperature at the bottom of the casing in the vicinity of the cold air return on gravity warm air furnaces gets above 75 degrees, a baffle should be installed in the furnace to eliminate heating of the cold air return. This will promote better air circulation through the furnace and thus make your home easier to heat.

Keep Air Filters Clean.

Air filters on forced air heating systems must be kept clean. A good rule is to change the filter every year. The dirt that accumulates on the filter even in comparatively clean neighborhoods interferes with circulation of the warm air.

In any warm air system, keep rugs and furniture away from warm air delivery ducts and cold air returns, so that free circulation of air can take place. This may seem elementary, but it is disregarded in many homes.

Insulate the heating plant if the basement of your home is warmer than the upstairs rooms. You will thus save heat which otherwise is being wasted.

Cut off heat in unused rooms. If rooms are subject to temperatures below freezing, have a plumber drain the radiators. Shutting off registers in a warm air system may disturb the distribution of heat to other rooms, particularly in a forced air system. In this case, have your dealer re-balance the system.

All glass in both regular and storm window sashes should be tight and should not rattle. Keep the storm sash closed as much as possible.

Experiments of government fuel conservation agencies prove that storm windows are an important aid to fuel saving.

Seal all chimney openings not in use. The women of the household may object, but remind them that considerable heat loss can be saved by closing the kitchen ventilator for the winter.

Sleep With Windows Closed.

Many people prefer to keep the bedroom windows closed at night and close off the heat supply. This really conserves fuel, and after all, if the windows are opened for a few minutes before retiring there will be a sufficient fresh air supply with normal ventilation to last throughout the night.

If bedroom windows are left open all night doors should be closed and the space under the doors sealed. The cold air passing under doors will cool the rest of the house and require the use of more fuel. A felt strip which can be attached to bottom and sides of doors can be purchased in most hardware stores. Turn off all radiators and close warm air registers.

Keep shades, venetian blinds and drapes drawn at night and as much as possible during the day. Warm room air chills quickly when it comes in contact with colder window surfaces.

Maintain as low a temperature as consistent with health. Uncle Sam figures that you will have to keep your house at 65 degrees, under average conditions, if you are going to have enough fuel to last all winter. Tests show that each degree the temperature is raised above 65 degrees results in a 3 per cent increase in fuel consumption.

If you heat your home with stoves you can still apply most of this advice with benefit. A well-insulated house will save a great deal of heat. And by keeping the house a little less warm than you are accustomed to, you can stretch out your fuel considerably. If we all follow the program of fuel conservation, we will get through the winter in comfort.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

No Cooking, No Work, Real Saving.

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Thanksgiving Favorite... Turkey With Cranberries! (See Recipes Below)

Turkey Talk

This time every year we set aside a day of thanks—thanks for the bounty of the year, our good fortune, our harvest. We may have worried about ration points, about balancing the budget, but hasn't it been a good year in spite of it all? Yes, so good! Our day of thanks is appropriately celebrated with as good a feast as can be set upon the table. The turkey is frequently the queenly bird that sets the tone for the whole dinner, so let it be proud and beautiful.

To Roast Turkey.

Rub inside cavity with salt, 1/2 teaspoon or less to each pound of bird. Place enough dressing in the neck to fill the cavity nicely. Fasten skin to the back. Stuff cavity well but do not pack too tightly. Truss, then grease skin with unsalted fat which has been melted. Lay in pan on a rack, preferably on one side, back up. Or, place in V-shaped rack breast down, and keep in this position throughout the roasting period. Cover with fat moistened cloth, then roast at constant temperature until tender, turning bird to the opposite side, still back up. Turn bird breast up when about half done. Do not sear, cover or add water to the pan. Sprinkle melted fat on cloth as it dries out. Cut trussing string between drumsticks after about an hour of roasting. This releases the drumsticks slightly for better cooking of the thigh, improves the appearance of the bird on the platter and facilitates carving.

Testing for Doneness.

Move the leg by grasping end bone. If the drumstick thigh joints break or move easily, the turkey is done. If a thermometer is used, it should register an internal temperature of 190° F when placed inside in center of inside thigh muscle. If placed in the center of the stuffing, it should register 160 degrees F.

Roasting Time Table

Weight	Oven Temperature	Total Roasting Time
8-10 lbs.	325 deg. F.	3-3 1/2 hrs.
10-14 lbs.	325 deg. F.	3 1/2-4 hrs.
14-18 lbs.	300 deg. F.	4-5 hrs.

Speaking of Stuffing

There are several different types of stuffing which may be used for the bird. There is the basic bread stuffing which may be varied in at least five different ways:

Bread Stuffing

(For 12-16 lbs. of turkey)
1 1/2 pounds loaf bread, stale

Lynn Says:

Trussing Turkey: Insert needle through breast through rib at the base of the thighs. Draw cord through and pull string across by pulling cord through openings formed by folding wings triangular shaped onto the back. The needle does not go through the flesh & re. Tie cord at the side (where needle was first inserted) making body of bird compact.

Put in part of dressing through vent opening. Then insert needle between two bones at each drumstick joint and bring cord around to the tail, through the backbone. Tie securely.

The neck opening offers a place to insert part or all of the stuffing which should be filled to make breast and neck well rounded.

Fold neck skin under wing tips and string to keep in stuffing and make a nice appearance. After roasting remove cord before serving.

- *Recipes Given

1/2 pound butter or substitute
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4-1/2 teaspoon each, marjoram, sage or

1' teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/4 cup minced onion
Cut bread into small cubes, with crust removed, if desired. Drop into a large mixing bowl. Add butter which has been cut into cubes. Measure seasonings and blend with bread and butter. Mix in onion and stuff bird.

Variations

Celery: Add 2 cups finely chopped celery which has been sauteed partially.

Egg: Add 4 well beaten eggs.

Oysters: Add 1 pint or more of drained oysters, chopped or left whole if small. Add raw or preheated in 2 tablespoons of the butter.

Sausage: Add 1/2-1 pound sausage meat or tiny sausages cooked until brown and thoroughly done. Break meat into small chunks before cooking. Omit or reduce butter.

You can add more holiday spirit to your meal if you bring glorious red cranberries, spiced with lemon and cloves to your turkey dinner as a relish.

Spiced Cranberries.

- (Makes 1 quart)
- 2 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 2-inch sticks cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon whole cloves
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 4 cups fresh cranberries

Combine sugar, water, spices, lemon juice and rind and boil together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring until all the skins pop open. Chill to serve.

In the matter of pumpkin pie, either pumpkin or cooked squash may be used. Be sure that it is seasoned according to the recipe as most people object to a too prominent flavor of spices that jumps out at them when they eat the pie.

Pumpkin Pie.

- 1/2 cup brown or white sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/2 teaspoon ginger
  - 2 whole eggs or 4 yolks, beaten
  - 1 1/2 cups sieved pumpkin
  - 1 1/4 cups scalded cream or milk
- Mix sugar, salt and spices thoroughly. Add eggs. Blend and then beat in pumpkin pulp. Add scalded cream. Have previously prepared pastry lined pan that has been allowed to dry in a refrigerator for several hours. Pour in about 1/2 of the pumpkin mixture. Place on bottom of preheated oven, 400 degrees F. from which rack has been removed. Quickly pour in remaining mixture. Bake 10-12 minutes. Place pie on a rack quickly replaced in oven. Bake until custard is set. Cool on a rack.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 19

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

CHRISTIANITY AND DEMOCRACY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:13-17; Romans 13:8-10; 1 Peter 2:13-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2.

No form of government can claim divine authority, for God's Word does not prescribe any special form of government. But (and this is most important) the principles upon which government should be established are clearly given in God's Word, and the form of rule which best fits into the teaching of the Word necessarily calls for our interest and support.

We find in the Bible the declaration that men are equal in the sight of God, that government is to be a ministry for God (see last week's lesson), receiving its authority from Him and serving Him in exercising that power. Men are to be loyal to the government because they are loyal to God.

Our lesson carries forward the teaching of last Sunday. It tells us that:

The Christian Citizen Is—
I. Subject to Both God and Country (Mark 12:13-17).

His devotion to God and the things of God is to be expected of the Christian. We almost said that it is taken for granted, and sometimes that is so true there is no reality in his life. But surely if he is a follower of Christ he must be devoted to Him and to His cause.

But what about his country? That relation appears anew in the striking story of Christ and those who came to test Him, yes, to trap Him with a skillfully worded question.

The Pharisees, who hated Rome for its domination of Palestine, and the Herodians, who supported Rome in its control of the land, were enemies, but they joined forces to tempt Christ. They knew that if He said "Yes" to their question, the Jews would be angry, and if He said "No," He could be condemned as a traitor to Rome.

The trap was set, but it caught only the crafty hunters. Taking their own pocket money He declared that if they used Caesar's money they ought to pay taxes to Caesar. The coin stood for an orderly government, benefits of which they enjoyed and which they ought to support.

No real Christian will evade his duty to his country whether it be to pay taxes, to take part intelligently in its government, to defend it, to pray for it, or otherwise to show his love. One of the blots on the Christian church is the lack of civic righteousness on the part of many of its members.

II. Devoted to Both Brother and Neighbor (Rom. 13:8-10).

The Christian loves his brethren; indeed that love is one of the tests by which we may know that a man is truly born again (1 John 3:14).

But that love reaches out beyond the circle of the brethren and touches every man who has need of it. The teachers of the Jewish law had sought to circumscribe that word "neighbor," but the Lord effectively dealt with that viewpoint in the story of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10).

All the commandments concerning the vital matter of personal relationship are summed up in the one admonition, "Love thy neighbor as thyself" (v. 9). When love controls, there will be no social dishonesty, strife or ill-will. There will be no violence to the person or property of another, for "love worketh no ill to his neighbor."

This is the real "good neighbor policy." Even between nations, we need more real love and less effort to impress one another by diplomacy and good will expeditions. Let there be less political manipulation and more loving, and we shall find our neighbor, both personal and national, responding in kind. Love draws out love from another.

III. Submissive to Both the Law of God and Man (1 Pet. 2:13-17).

"Fear God" (v. 17); that is, be eager that there is no failure on your part to please Him by obeying His law. That we expect of the Christian. But we expect more; he is to be a law-abiding citizen, obeying the laws of his country "for the Lord's sake" (v. 13).

The believer may, by his godly faithfulness to his government, effectively witness against the ignorant criticism of foolish men who would have us think that being a Christian makes a man a weakling, or so other-worldly that he is useless in this world.

Our freedom in Christ is not an excuse for careless or wicked living. Not at all—just the opposite in fact. We "honor all men." How can that be done? Only by the grace of God; but by His blessing we can do it. That makes for the real appreciation of man, which is the very foundation of our democracy. If it means anything, it must have as its foundation principle the supreme value of human life and the dignity of the soul of man.

Pineapple Holder For Pots and Pans

Pattern No. 5789

AS GOOD-LOOKING as a real, golden-skinned pineapple! It is a crocheted potholder, 7 inches high and 5 inches wide, made of yellow crochet thread. The green leaves at top are crocheted separately and then sewn on. Very easily crocheted and makes a most unusual shower or Christmas gift. The pineapple, you know, is a symbol of hospitality! So give your friends this lucky "pineapple" holder at the Christmas season.

To obtain complete crocheting instructions for the Pineapple Potholder (Pattern No. 5789) sketch of stitch used, send 16 cents in coins, your name, address and the pattern number.

Due to an unusually large demand and current war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers. Send your order to:

Now we know the part we played in the Philippine invasion

The news of the successful invasion of the Philippines stirred the nation. For it was an amazing achievement—landing great numbers of troops and enormous quantities of supplies thousands of miles across the Pacific.

It was a thrilling triumph for our Army, Navy and Merchant Marine.

We railroaders got a special thrill from the news too, not only because we are Americans but also because we know now that months ago the Philippine invasion started on the railroads. And many a railroader who, in recent months, has worked double shifts to keep the war freight rolling to Pacific Ports, knows that he, too, had a part in putting those men ashore on Leyte Island.

This mighty blow at Japan placed an especially large burden on the Western railroads. Serving a less populated territory, the Western lines normally do not have the density of traffic of the eastern trunk lines, and their trackage was designed accordingly. Yet the western roads, in spite of a manpower shortage, have handled their enormous war burden efficiently and on schedule. There has been a real achievement too.

Since Southern Pacific is the largest Western railroad and serves the major ports of embarkation on the West Coast, a very large portion of the troops and war material destined for the Philippines moved over our rails.

From now on, more and more of America's might will roll West over the railroads for the final showdown with Japan. Southern Pacific's 100,000 railroaders know well how important it is to keep these war trains rolling. But they need help. They need the help of thousands of men and women for this job.

There's a job waiting for you in the supply line that backs up our men in the Pacific. If you want a good job with a company whose biggest job still lies ahead, please visit one of our employment offices, or see your nearest S.P. Agent today.

The friendly Southern Pacific

Colonial Salt Box, Pan Holder Rack

HERE is a pair of gifts that will bring joy to any homemaker. The salt box has the graceful proportions of those used in Colonial kitchens, and the rack with cup hooks screwed in place for hot pan holders is designed to harmonize with the box.

Both box and rack are easy to cut out of plywood or scraps of thin lumber—either by hand with a coping saw or with a jig saw. The quaint stencil design may be applied right on the wood with wax gray and then shellacked to fix the color.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared an actual-size pattern for all the pieces of this salt box and the kitchen rack with step-by-step directions for making. A pattern and color guide with complete directions for the stencil design is also included. The pattern may be used over and over for decorating canisters, place mats and other attractive gifts. Ask for pattern 251 and enclose 15 cents which covers cost of mailing. Address:

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT. Col. Robert L. Scoff. WNU RELEASE

The story thus far Robert Scoff, a West Point graduate, becomes an air cadet at Randolph Field, Texas, realizing his life's ambition. He wins his wings at Kelly Field and is now an army pilot.

CHAPTER V

By this time, war with certain countries appeared imminent. I had always believed that we would fight Japan, and had always believed that Japan would make the first thrust.

From Ontario I went to Lemoore, in the San Joaquin Valley of California, and there I went through one of the low periods of my life. It was not that Lemoore was bad, for the people were wonderful—but war was getting closer and closer, and I was getting farther from combat duty.

At last things began to happen. On December 10, I was hurriedly ordered to report to March Field. When these secret orders came, I thought the day for my active entry into the real war was near.

When I finally got on the post with my radiogram for admission, I tore up to the headquarters and operations office, expecting any minute to be told to jump in a P-38 or a P-40 and go up to protect Los Angeles.

Squadrons of pursuit planes would come through daily on the way up the coast and we all grew envious watching them. The only cheering thing was the radio broadcast which told of Capt. Colin P. Kelly and his crew sinking the Jap battleship Haruna.

I still wanted to fight myself. I could well remember the years and years I had trained in Panama with the 78th Pursuit Squadron; I had always been too young to lead an element, a flight, a squadron, or anything. Then suddenly I was told here that I was not only too old—imagine that, at age 31—to lead a squadron, but also too old to lead even a group. In fact I was too old to fly a fighter plane into combat.

change, and I welcomed it. I found myself director of training in a twin-engine school—I was still getting farther and farther from the war.

It seemed to me now that all was lost. I had tried desperately for the last six months to get out of the Training Center, and now that war had come it seemed that the powers at the top had decided that all of us, whether we had been trained as fighter pilots or as combat pilots, were nevertheless to stay there in the Training Center.

"Dear General, if you will excuse me for writing a personal letter to you on a more or less official subject in time of war, I will certainly submit to you for court martial after the war. But if you can just listen to me I don't care whether that court martial comes or not. I have been trained as a fighter pilot for nine years. I have flown thousands of hours in all types of planes. I've been brought here as an instructor and I think I've done my job. Please let me get out to fight. I want to go to Java, I want to go to Australia, I want to go to China, India, and anywhere there's fighting going on—just so you get me out of the monotony of the Training Center."

Capt. Colin Kelly, who sank the Jap battleship Haruna.

An answer came back from this General: He would do all he could, he would even forget the court martial, but men were necessary in the training centers. Even with those kind words, it appeared that my cause was lost. Then, when the future looked worse than at any time in my life, a telephone call came from Washington, from a Colonel.

I answered immediately: "Yes, Sir." I had flown one for a very few minutes, at least I'd flown it in spirit while standing behind the pilot and co-pilot—but that was the only time I'd ever been in the nose or in the cockpit of a Flying Fortress. His next question was, "How many hours have you flown it?" I told him eleven hundred; there was no need to tell a story unless it was a good one, and after all, I considered this a white kind of lie—a white lie that was absolutely necessary if I was to get to war.

After giving this information I went back to waiting with my hopes way up. One night in early March, 1942, they came true—and to me they read like a fairy tale, too good to be true. I was to comply with them immediately, reporting to a field in the Central States. There I would receive combat instructions from the leader of our mission.

As I drove over from Victorville to my home in Ontario that evening, it seemed as though I was already in the air—adventure had come at last. Even then the fear tugged at my heart that the orders would be changed before I could start. I told my wife that I was going to combat, but the nature of the orders forbade my telling her where, or what type of mission. Not even at the look of pain that crossed her face did I lose my feeling of victory. She was trying to act happy, but I knew it was only because she remembered that I wanted duty in combat.

That night I began to pack hastily, resolving at the same time to take my wife and little one-year-old daughter back towards Georgia, where they could be among relatives. As I packed and arranged for the furniture to be shipped I still had my exalted feeling of victory. When I got into bed, very late, I thought I would drop right off to sleep. But as my mind relaxed for the first time after the orders had been received, I felt myself come to complete wakefulness. I even sat up in bed, for I had realized for the first time what I had done.

Here was my home, with the two people whom I loved more than any others in all the world—my wife and my little girl. Here, in this wonderful place, I could possibly have lived out the war, behind a good safe desk at Victorville or some other training field. By my love of adventure, by my stubborn nature, I had talked myself out of this soft and wonderful job of staying home with my family. I was about to leave that girl I had driven all those thousands of miles to see—for even ten minutes. Tears came to my eyes—I knew I had been a fool.

For hours I lay awake. And then, in the darkness, I think I saw the other side. Suppose I called that officer who had telephoned me from Washington. Suppose I called and told him that I had lied—that I had never flown a Flying Fortress—I could easily get out of this mission—but the thought was one that I couldn't entertain even for a second. For now the seriousness of war had gradually come to me. Unless men like myself—thousands and millions of them—left these wonderful luxuries in this great land of America we could lose it all forever. I loved these two with all my heart, but the only way in all the world to keep them living in the clean world they were accustomed to was to steel myself to the pain of parting with them for months or years—or even forever. The actuality of war, grim war, had come. I knew then that the theoretical word "Democracy" was not what we were to fight for. I knew it was for no party, no race, creed, or color. We were going to fight, and many of us were to die, for just what I had here—my wife and family. To me, they were all that was real, they were all that I could understand. To me, they were America.

Next day we got the household goods packed. We piled on an east-bound train and left California. That ride for me was the saddest thing that has ever happened. I would look at those two and see that my wife was thinking my own thought; even the little girl seemed to sense that all was not well. At Memphis, I almost casually bade them goodbye, and we parted. But as I watched their train disappear down the track I knew that part of my life was gone. My world was grim.

Reaching my assembly point for instructions, I found that I was reporting to Col. Caleb V. Haynes, one of the greatest of big-ship pilots—the pilot in our Air Force who had devoted much of his life to making the four-engine bomber the weapon that it is today. The entire group of officers and men made quite a gathering. I learned that they were all picked men, and that they had volunteered and almost fought for places on the crews of the Fortresses. And as I heard the explanation of the flight from Colonel Haynes I saw the reason for their excitement.

This was a "dream mission"—one that was a million kinds of adventure rolled into one.

We were to fly thirteen four-engine bombers—one B-24 and twelve B-17E's—to Asla. There we were to "bomb up" the ships after we had gone as far East as we possibly could, and then return to bomb objectives in Japan. Our orders read that we were to co-ordinate our attack from the West with another attack that was coming from the East.

The sadness that had been with me since leaving my family vanished. Once again I saw the war in a spirit of adventure. Here was what any soldier might have prayed for—here was what the American public had been clamoring for during the months since Pearl Harbor. I was fortunate to be one of the pilots; it almost made up for my failure to finally get into single-seater fighter ships again—almost, but not quite.

That night we talked things over and met each other, and next morning we left for Washington, with our newly drawn equipment. Our planes were in Florida, being made ready for combat, but we were obliged to go by way of Washington for the purpose, astounding in war, of securing diplomatic passports. I remember that even in the joy of the mission, I couldn't help wondering what kind of a war this one could be. We were having to secure passports in order to be able to fight. Visas were obtained for all countries we were to fly over and through—Brazil, Liberia, Nigeria, Egypt, Arabia, India—and China, especially! Visas—to go to war!

Properly inoculated against fourteen diseases, with visas for everywhere, with tickets for trade with natives in Africa, Arabia, and Burma, we went on down to Florida. The instant I landed I hunted out my ship—B-17E—Air Corps number 41 9031. I soon painted on its nose the red map of Japan, centered by the cross-hairs of a modern bomb-sight, with the cross right over Tokyo. In my poor Latin was inscribed "Hades ab Altar"—or roughly, "Hell from High."

I climbed into the control room of my ship and met my crew. Each man was a character, each man wanted badly to get started.

The co-pilot was Doug Sharp, another dark-haired Southerner, a first Lieutenant who was destined to get shot down in another Flying Fortress over Rangoon. He coolly got most of his crew out of the burning ship; then, with those who were unable to parachute to safety, he landed the flaming ship in the rice paddies of central Burma. From this point he led his men—those whom he did not have to bury beside the ship—out through the Japanese lines to safety in India. He was made a Major after this gallant act.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

"SHOW GIRLS," said the late Flo Ziegfeld, "are a gift from heaven." But Bill Periberg, Twentieth Century's new beauty impresario, thinks a little grooming on earth can do wonders. He believes in gliding the lily.

And with this in mind, he's put 14 showgirls under long-term contract—and given them the tag Diamond Horseshoe Girls because they make their bow as a group in "Diamond Horseshoe." "Legs" Grable's new starring picture.

The way beauty salesmen work has fascinated the world ever since the day Paris slipped Helen of Troy a golden apple. The girl that is one man's dish is a pain in the neck to the fellow in the next orchestra seat: so the impresario has to think fast to pick 'em to suit every taste and yet get a group that blends together. Most notable successes in this line have been Charles Cochran of London, and the late Ziegfeld of Broadway. You can't omit Earl Carroll's garden, or George White's girls, Billy Rose's six footers, known as the Big Bruisers, or Sam Goldwyn's girls.

When Periberg began adding up the personality list of his 14, he got some surprises. He found he had a millionairess on his hands; a fourth generation movie family provided another; two had been welders in war plants; one had been a saleswoman for Standard Oil, taking the job to release a man to the army. Greatest shock of all was when his assistants told him he had looked over the entire group from "Cover Girl" and selected but one—blonde Carol Andrews.

Barbara Slater, of New York, lives at Town House while working—takes her millions as she does her glass of orange juice. Has what Noel Coward calls "the perfect fagghal." She's been given the typical Junior leaguer's European education. Her father is a toothpaste king, and her mother was on Broadway as June Keith.

When you talk to Periberg about beauty, he tells you it must have "Impact." "Pretty girls are a dime a dozen, Hedda," he says, "especially in Hollywood. But very few have impact—it's a combination of beauty, personality and that intangible something we call magnetism for lack of a better word."

Ellen Hall is a delicate brunette. I remember her mother, Ella Hall, of old silent films, and Arthur Johnson, her father. Some call him the Gary Cooper of his day.

Another girl was a mail clerk on Twentieth Century's lot. Bill looked up one morning and there stood a goddess with a batch of mail in her hand. Bill hustled her over to the test stage. When the rushes were run, he had another Diamond Horseshoe Girl—Mary Jane Shores, daughter of Writer Lynn Shores.

Green-eyed Cathy Downs' father is a blueprint and pattern maker at Port Jefferson, L. I. She's east coast in manners, sings, dances and went in for a classical education.

Quite a few of the girls had a bout at modeling: Alice Elyand, Carol Andrews, Mary Meade and Betty Jane Graham.

Ann Sheridan phoned to say hello, and she's happy to be home. Her first picture, she thinks, will be "Danger Signal." What it's about she hasn't an idea. She's interested in getting meat on her chassis. She went from 126 to 114 pounds. Metro has a new singing sensation, Marilyn Hansen. She turned down Nelson Eddy on the air to sing at Camp Roberts. After much ballyhoo and threatening lawsuits, Jennifer Jones does a picture a year for five years for Twentieth.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Many rubber items in common use are shaped at the factories in giant extruding machines, which in general appearance and action are much like the ordinary kitchen meat grinder. Rubber, mixed with chemicals, is extruded in any shape desired—round, square, rectangular or tubular.
