Republicans Hold Precinct Meeting

Meeting called to order by precinct chairman Benton W. McGinnis at 8:15 p. m. at the court house, a good representation of Republicans attending, the chairman appointing Lloyd Vigil chairman pro tem and Paulino Aldaz as secretary. Business proceeded as a committee as a whole. Delegates were selected and elected as follows to the county convention to be called February 5, 1944 at the court house in Carrizozo, at one o'clock p. m.

Delegates elected were: Alfredo Martinez, J. C. Morrison, Nick Vega, Paulino Aldaz, Frances Aldaz, Lloyd Vigil, Melvin Richardson, Ernestine Alsop, Lucille Patterson, Juan Baca, Juan Martinez, John Wright, Mrs. Josepha Vega, Mrs. Teno Lopez, Carl Degner, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. J. C. Morrison, A. L. Burke, Mrs. Carl Degner, Mrs. Nick Vega, Mrs. B. W. McGinnis, J. G. Moore, Jr., Leandro Vega, Andy Padilla, Ray Fulmer, Mrs. Nick Vega, Frank Vega, Mrs. Leandro Vega, Lewis Burke. Benton W. McGinnis also recommended that this committee as a whole go on record, recommending that our county chairman, J. G. Moore, Jr. be endorsed by this committee as a state delegate to the National Convention at Chicago. Motion made by Morrison, seconded by Aldaz, carried unanimously as all other business being transacted. Motion made to adjourn.

Lloyd Vigil, Chairman pro tem.
Paulino Aldaz, Secretary.

Charles D. Mayer

After a long period of seven years, most of which time he was confined to his bed, Charles D. Mayer, another of our Lincoln County pioneers, passed away at his home Saturday, Jan. 29th. His son, Paul W. Mayer and wife of El Paso were at his bedside when he passed away and his daughter, Mrs. A. W. Hunter of Modesto, Calif., could not arrive here until Wednesday, the day of the funeral.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Church, where Rev. Loudin held a short, but impressive sermon, was assisted by Messrs. James R. E. Lemon and Margie Clouse who sang two beautiful selections, with Mrs. Loudin at the piano, after which the remains were taken in charge by Carrizozo Lodge No. 30, I. O. O. F., and conveyed to the cemetery, where the Odd Fellows conferred the sacred rites of the order for the dead, the floral offerings were many and beautiful. The pall-bearers, all Odd Fellows, were, W. L. Burnett, A. J. McBrayer, J. F. Tom, M. O. Longley, John E. Wright, S. E. (Ben) Griesen.

Charles David Mayer was born at Oswego, New York, April 13, 1869. He came to the old mining town of White Oaks, in the year of 1884, where he continued in the business of blacksmithing until the year of 1921, when he moved to Carrizozo where he was engaged in the grocery business for about two years, after which he retired in 1931.

Editor's Note—The writer had known Mr. Mayer for the past 28 years during which time he enjoyed the friendship and fraternal ties along those years. During his long illness of nearly eight years, he was always patient, unselfish and forbearing type, which characterized him as a true example of a Christian gentleman. He leaves to mourn his loss his dutiful wife, son Paul W. Mayer, daughter Mrs. A. W. Hunter, brother Paul Mayer to all of whom, the sympathy of this community is extended.

In a recent letter from one of our subscribers, A. B. Helms, who is now on a farm at Nutrioso, Ariz., he told us that he had seen at his son Art's farm at Garfield, N. M., helping Art with his harvest.

I note there are 26 states that have gone against the New Deal. There are 208 Republican members of the House of Representatives, while the Democrats have 128—in the United States Senate there are 38 Democrats and 37 Republicans. —P. T.

Turned Down

The little town of Mosquero of Harding County hasn't a barber in it. Townsman who had gotten tired of picking themselves, imported a woman from Texas who was a good workman, but they forgot that there is such a thing as a barber board in New Mexico, who don't believe in importing barbers, especially women.

The Texanette was turned down when she applied for a license. There isn't a thing that can be done about it. The barber board is a sovereign body in New Mexico, which does as it pleases, and fattens its roll every world without end.—Rowell Dispatch.

Income Tax Returns

Deputy collector Harry W. Bliss or W. J. McAuley will be at the Court House in Carrizozo, from Wednesday, Feb. 23 to Saturday, Feb. 26, 1944.

Those who must file returns: Any single person whose total income was $500 or more. Every husband or wife whose individual income was more than $624. Every husband and wife whose combined total income were $1,200 or more. Every individual who paid or owed a tax on 1942 income. Bring tax forms mailed you, as well as forms 1125 disclosing the direct payments made to the collector, and form W-2, supplied by employers, disclosing the Federal Tax withheld from wages.

Stitch and Chatter Club

The Stitch and Chatter Club met at the Community Center building, February 1, 1944, with the president Betty Shafec presiding. The club's dinner party is set for February 18. The final naming of the club will take place Feb. 15. All members are urged to attend. After an evening of cards, delightful refreshments were served to 13 members by hostesses Margaret Stinnett and Catherine Hemphill.

Gunther Kroggel came through here yesterday, transacting some business and shaking hands with old friends. He included this office in his calls.

4-H Community Garden

A 4-H Community Garden Club has recently been organized at Stetson. Club members of the community will contribute to the War effort by planting and caring for a Victory Garden on the school grounds.

The project will be sponsored by the county agent in cooperation with school authorities and the Parent-Teacher Association. Each 4-H Club member will be given supervision in caring for a designated plot of the garden. Commodities produced will be canned by the P. T. A. and the 4-H club girls to be used for the school's Hot Lunch Project.

The club will meet at two-week intervals to study the following topics: Preparation of the Soil, Selection of Seed, Planting, Cultivating, Irrigation, Identification of the Control of Insects, Harvesting, Storage and Preservation.

Carl P. Radcliff,
County Extension Agent.

Postmaster J. L. Graves of Nogal made this office a friendly call yesterday; he spoke of his son W. D. (Buster) Graves, who is a Japanese prisoner; the last time he heard from Buster was sometime in April, 1943, when he wrote he was feeling well and inquired how the home folks were.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

A MAN who has met so many motion picture stars that he can't even remember how many, he's known told me that Joan Fontaine is really pretty wonderful. Vitality, intelligence, warmth, sensitiveness—she has them all, said he. He seems to be right. A girl who grew up with her and her sister, Olivia de Havilland, told me that Joan always did know what she wanted, and how to get it. Well, when she came to New York after finishing "Frenchman's Creek" for Paramount, she wanted a vacation with her husband, band, Brian Aherne. So she took it, in a quiet corner of Connecticut—and sandwiched work as a nurse's aid in with doing the marketing.

You've never heard her name, if you heard Marlene Dietrich recently on the CBS Playhouse, in "Manpower," that she started for the broadcasting studio in fear and trembling. Back in August, 1942, she appeared on that same program—and fans practically mobbed her when she got out of a cab in front of the impressive building. This time she wore old clothes—and the doorman didn't want to let her in!

Here's perfect casting: Samuel Goldwyn has engaged Victor McLaglen for the role of the pirate known as "The Hook" in his technical production of "Treasure Chest." McLaglen will be a good pirate, even though he will be the nemesis of Bob Hope, and so involved in comedy. Hope's cast as a touring actor who gets involved with a boatload of pirates.

Lewis E. Lawes, for many years warden of Sing Sing, calls "New Prisoner—New Men" the first picture I have ever seen which clearly portrays the all around activities of a modern prison in operation. It's the latest of the "This Is America" series.

Ruth Brennan, daughter of Walter, begins her screen career in a small role in Solznick's "Since You Went Away." Not wanting to trade on her father's fame, she used the name of Lynn Winthrop—but the only person she fooled was herself. Her father's been signed by Warner Bros for one of the top roles in support of Humphrey Bogart in "To Have and Have Not."

The Blue Network's glamour star, Gertrude Lawrence, is one of the proudest women in America, since the American Red Cross gave her her first stripe for 1,000 hours of service. Everybody who knows how much time and good hard work she gives to aiding the war effort feels that she ought to be the most decorated gal in America; she's never too busy or too tired to do whatever she can.

"One Man's Family" got its start on the air as a sustaining program on NBC way back in April, 1932. Carlton E. Morse had been writing and producing radio programs like "Chinatown Squad" and "Twisted Tales," but felt that the story of life as it is to the average American would appeal to the public. First thing anybody knew, the public made it a weekly listening habit—and it still is.

Nancy Kelly would like to spend winters on Broadway, on the stage, and summers in Hollywood, in pictures—if she manages it, let's hope she'll get better picture assignments than she's had recently. At 17 she was sensational in "Susan and God," on the stage, and the movies grabbed her. To an unprejudiced onlooker it seems that she's capable of far better work than she's done so far.

ODDS AND ENDS

Notes to girls Dick "Henry Aldrich" Jones is thrilled, but also embarrassed, by all those letters junior misses have been sending him, loaded with pink impressions of their lips. . . . Latest addition to the "Silver Theater" is Madeleine Lee, whom you used to hear as "Amos 'n' Andy's" Miss Blue. . . . When Jan Pearce of "Great Moments in Music" lets go with the full power of his lungs, listeners fully expect she sings with the best of them. . . . Hal Roach, former United Artists producer, has been promoted from major to lieutenant colonel in the U. S. army.

After Peace Comes, What? Committee for Economic Development Seeks Ways to Maintain Employment

Survey of Community's Postwar Business Prospects Is Urged

By ELLIOTT PINE

Released by Western Newspaper Union.
Within a year, and perhaps much sooner, the war in Europe will end, according to most experts, both political and military. Immediately the problems of reconverting wartime America to peacetime production will begin. Factories that have been running day and night will slow down and perhaps close. Many thousands of men will be released from the armed forces. Labor shortages will disappear, and before long, the specter of unemployment will be back.

It was to try to devise ways for the orderly return to peacetime production, and to try to avoid the mass unemployment that usually follows war, that the Committee for Economic Development was organized, a little more than a year ago. This committee is a group of the nation's foremost business executives, bankers, economists, and other technical experts. Chairman is Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation. The vice chairman is the vice president of the University of Chicago. Presidents of several nationally known corporations serve on the committee.

The committee is not connected with the federal government in any way, although its office is in Washington, D. C. Its activities are split into two major branches: Research division, and Field Development division. The research division has the task of investigating all policies of business, labor and government that retard expanding employment and production. After finding out what and where the trouble is, the research division presents recommendations for suitable changes.

The field development division "has the responsibility of stimulating and helping individual enterprises to plan now for high levels of productive employment and profitable distribution in the postwar period."

There are 12 regional chairmen, 1 for each Federal Reserve district, who supervise the field development division's work in their sections. Under the regional chairmen are state chairmen, who in turn appoint chairmen of county committees. Finally, the county committees supervise the survey work of the community committees.

How Albert Lea, Minn., Does It.
A typical survey by a community committee is one conducted in Albert Lea, a city of 12,200 in Freeborn county, Minnesota. Freeborn county is on the southern edge of the state, adjoining Iowa, so the trading radius of Albert Lea includes part of three northern Iowa counties. Nearly 50,000 people in the agricultural region about the municipality trade at Albert Lea's stores.

There are 11 major industries in Albert Lea, and 442 businesses classed as secondary employers. There is a stove factory, a gas machine factory, a creamery, a meat packing plant, a food products maker, and several specialty products manufacturers in the city. The electric power company is located there. Being a county seat, there is considerable legal and clerical activity.

Keeping all these matters in mind, the local economic development committee began its survey of postwar business and employment possibilities. Its first step was to set up two questions, the answers to which were to be the solution of its problem. Beginning with the premise that "Somehow there would be a job paying a living wage for every worker who wanted one after the war."

First thing, said the committee, is to find out how many workers would want jobs, and how many jobs business thought it could provide after the war. It took the number employed in 1940 as a base, this being the last full year before the country entered the war. Then it added the number unemployed and seeking work in that year. These figures were:

Employed in 1940	4,286
Unemployed in 1940	121
Total prewar labor force	4,407

Then the committee obtained the employment figures for 1943, recognizing that they were abnormally high, with many women and high school students working who ordinarily would not be in industry. Some people had moved into town too, who were not expected to stay after the war boom. The figures settled upon were:

HAPPY STEEL WORKERS, lined up before the pay windows of a huge Pittsburgh plant now operating at capacity, are representative of the millions of factory people now earning good wages. But how many will be working when the war orders end?

Employed in 1943	5,455
Unemployed in 1943	200
Wartime labor force	5,655

The next step was more difficult. It was to try to estimate how many persons would want work after the war, when the servicemen had returned, and other changes had come about. A survey among employers gave these figures:

Returning from armed forces	1,812
Returning from farms	25
Returning from other regions	125
Growth and maturity of population (1941-48)	428
Total	1,815

This total was then added to the wartime labor force:

Wartime labor force (1943)	5,655
Number returning after war	1,815
Total	7,470

Subtracted from this, however, was a sizable group who would not be in the labor market after the war. These were:

Returning to farms	125
Returning to other regions	50
Not seeking other jobs	134
Total	309

Taking this number from the 7,470 previous total left 6,561, which the committee called the net postwar labor force. In other words, between six and seven thousand people would be expected to find steady work in Albert Lea after the war. Obviously, the next move was to find out how many jobs the city's employers could provide. When returns came in from every employer, from smallest shop to largest factory, the results were:

Postwar labor force (as before)	5,541
Number that can be employed after war, as estimated	5,955
Albert Lea's unemployed in, say, 1946, on this basis	593

So, about 600 people would be out of work, or nearly 10 per cent.

Local Business Prospects.
The committee then turned to finding out whether business activity could not be stimulated a bit. Every business man answered a confidential questionnaire. Tabulated responses gave this salient information:

The 11 big industries gave this reply, as summarized:

Volume of business done in 1933 (gross sales)	$ 9,040,000
Volume of business done in 1940	22,795,000
Volume of business done in 1943	51,443,000
Volume of business you expect to do in the first postwar year	49,000,000

Then the 442 secondary businesses were told that these 11 major industries expected to employ about 80 per cent more workers in the postwar period than in 1940, and 1 per cent more than in 1943, the peak year to date. With this in mind, the secondary business men guessed that their volume of sales would run about 15 per cent higher, in the years immediately following the war, than in 1943.

While the survey among business men was being conducted among a selected cross-section of the city's population to find out their buying intentions, after normal conditions returned. A similar survey was made by mail among the farmers of Freeborn county, asking them what goods they expected to buy for their homes and families. Some of the things that people hoped to buy were:

New automobiles:	1,156 cars at $1,853 average cost	$2,147,268
City residents	1,140 cars at $70	1,165,800
New housing:
City houses	442 at 4,068 "	1,796,856
Farm houses	150 at 3,150 "	472,500
Repairs to housing:
City houses	714 at 314 "	224,256
Farm houses	260 at 300 "	78,000
Farm silos	360 at 1,473 "	530,280
Farm silos	360 at 519 "	186,840
Other farm purchases:
Tractors	780 at 926 "	722,280
Pre-fabricated, small buildings	810 at 568 "	460,480
Electrical installations	810 at 325 "	263,250
Other city purchases:
Furniture	646 at 163 "	105,298
Furniture	578 at 199 "	115,022
Vacation travel	968 at 178 "	172,336

How to Pay for It.
Another question put was, "How do you intend to pay for these purchases?" City people with incomes between $1,770 and $3,000 replied that they would pay in this manner:

From current income	35.2%
Borrowings	41.2%
War bonds	8.4%
No report	15.2%

Farm families with incomes ranging from $1,500 to $2,000 a year expected to pay for things thus:

Current income	61%
Borrowings	32%
War bonds	7%

In general, people with large incomes proposed to buy with cash rather than to borrow, as people of smaller means planned to do.

How Much Farm Income?
The Albert Lea committee realized fully how dependent the city was on the prosperity of the surrounding farmers. A sub-committee was working on farm income prospects while the other investigations were going on. Total income for Freeborn county was set down as follows:

Farm income, 1939	$ 7,216,000
Farm income, 1943	26,144,000
Farm income, first postwar year	19,418,000

The postwar figure was established after analyzing the possibilities of changes in crops and livestock. Aside from maintaining hemp raising, and an increase in soy beans and some vegetable crops, the committee did not anticipate any important changes. The members did recommend establishing a soybean processing plant and a cannery.

To find out how much the city and county construction projects could be depended upon to provide employment, a survey of public works programs was made. When this sub-committee reported, it was shown that some $15,000 worth of work had to be deferred because of war, representing about 14,000 man-hours. New projects might amount to $390,000 of expenditures. The committee did not consider the possibility of state and federal projects. It was the committee's conclusion that little reliance could be placed on public works as a means of relieving unemployment.

After weighing all the information gleaned by the sub-committees, the general committee of Albert Lea had a sound starting point for its postwar employment plans. Albert Lea is only one city, but it is representative of thousands of communities in the United States. Its problems are the nation's problems. It is the Committee for Economic Development's intention to help solve these problems by accurate information.

FIRST-AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman
Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.
DEPOSIT IN KETTLE

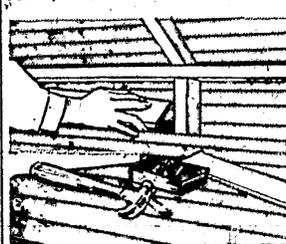

Question: Can you tell me how I can get rid of the lime that has settled on the inside of my cast aluminum kettle?

Answer: There are several ways of removing that hard water deposit. Fill the kettle with water mixed with cider vinegar in the proportion of a cupful to a quart. Bring to a boil and allow to stand overnight. Another way is to mash three or four raw potatoes in the kettle with a little water. After standing for several hours, more water is added, and the whole is brought to a boil. To prevent scale from forming, keep an oyster shell or flat stone in the kettle.

In hard water sections of the country, a teakettle with a spout is not so practical as an ordinary saucepan. (Have you thought of installing a water softening unit after the war?) The following item was sent in by one of our readers: "My mother advised me to empty my kettles of remaining hot water and set them away with fresh cold water in them. I followed her advice for eight years now, and have no scale in either my copper water pan or enameled teakettle."

STUD SPACES

Question: In my house the spaces between the studs are open to the cellar, and run all the way to the attic. The house is 15 years old, and the builder tells me that those spaces should be closed. What advantage would there be in closing them?

Answer: With those spaces open to the cellar and attic there is a continual draft through them. In winter this draft tends to chill the house, and, at all times, it would suck a cellar fire into the walls. There is every advantage in closing those spaces.

Drier Basket Stuck Fast

Question: We bought a second-hand washing machine. The directions said to remove the agitator and drier basket to clean the tub after each washing is done. The drier basket evidently is so caked with soap that it will not budge. The manufacturer's suggestion was to force it out with rope, but still the basket won't budge. What can you suggest?

Answer: Try soaking with a hot solution of washing soda, about two pounds to the gallon of water. Allow to cook for 24 hours or so, then try to remove the basket. It may be that the basket is jammed on the shaft. A machine-shop mechanic or your plumber may be able to remove it for you.

Wavy Shingles

Question: What makes a new asbestos shingle roof full of waves, instead of lying flat? Is there any remedy?

Answer: Asbestos shingles are rigid. You probably have asphalt shingles on your roof. These, when put on over wood shingles without filling in the hollow spaces at the butts of the old shingles, will follow the contour of the roofing under it when the heat of the sun softens the asphalt. Bevel or "feather-edge" wood strips should have been used to make a level surface for new shingles. Nothing can be done to eliminate the waviness except to re-lay the shingles.

Insulating a House

Question: What is the best time of year to have insulation blown into a dwelling? When openings are made in winter, is not the cold, damp air trapped inside the walls?

Answer: Insulation can be blown in at any time of year, provided the weather is clear. Cold weather will not affect the efficiency of the material used.

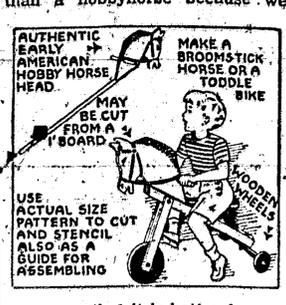

Mixing Paint

Question: Can you give me information on mixing paint or tell me where I can get a chart for mixing paint to get different colors?

Answer: Write to the Lead Industries Association, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City, for the information that you require.

with RUTH WYETH SPEARS
THIS horse head is a copy of an Early American hobbyhorse. It is full of dash and spirit—yet it is so simple that the original craftsman probably cut it out with an ordinary handsaw and a pocket knife.

A toddler bike is more up-to-date than a hobbyhorse because we know now that it is better for tiny tots to learn to use their legs than to get a sense of motion by rocking. The bike is easy to make of scraps of lumber.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared an actual size pattern (No. 257) for this authentic Early American hobbyhorse head and also all the parts of the toddler bike. The pattern includes stencil designs for painting, a color guide, and complete directions. Pattern is 35 cents postpaid. Address:

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

A Wisconsin truck driver recently received a tribute from the Office of the Rubber Director because he risked his life to save the tires on the trailer of a tractor-trailer unit he was driving. The trailer caught fire, but the driver jacked it up and removed the tires while it was ablaze.

The far-reaching influence of the rubber situation will be appreciated when it is known that close to 40% of the motor vehicles ever made in this country were still in service in December, 1941. More than half of them were owned by families with incomes of less than $30 a week.

If milk turns sour, make it into cottage cheese. Let it stand until it wheys, then turn it into a cheese-cloth bag and hang up to drain dry.

Place a flat dish under the ash-tray and if a cigarette should fall off the tray it merely drops to the dish instead of on the tablecloth.

A clean burlap sack folded twice to make four thicknesses and blanket-stitched around the edges with yarn or cord, makes a washable, durable door mat.

Wash off the mud on your work shoes with warm water. Then rub oil or grease into the leather while wet. Stuff the shoes with soft paper to hold them in shape and to absorb moisture from the inside. Let dry where it is not too warm.

And now it develops that those good housekeepers who always keep their pots and pans slick and shining haven't so much to be smug about after all. A blacked pan, say home economists of the department of agriculture, uses less fuel than a bright one because a dull surface absorbs heat while a bright one reflects it.

Here's a time and patience saver when stringing beads. Instead of using a needle, make a "stringing tip" on the thread by coating with nail polish—then work without a needle.

Shelled hard cooked eggs sometimes darken if they stand for any length of time. This discoloration can be prevented by storing the eggs in their shells in the refrigerator until you are ready to use them.

If every housewife in the nation saves as little as 2 tin cans each week, it would mean enough scrap steel to make the steel used in the hulls of 3 heavy cruisers, and the tin used in 20 submarines.

Eating Guide Assures Health For Your Family

Meat is a first class protein food and deserves a high place in your diet. It's used to build and repair body tissues and is necessary for both children and adults.

Nutritionally speaking, we aren't exactly on our toes. Doctors tell us that nutritional diseases constitute our greatest medical problem, not from the point of view of death, but from disability and economic loss.

You as homemakers can do much to give the doctors a big helping hand in this matter if you firmly resolve to feed the family according to the rules laid down by the National Nutrition Council. The rules are few, easy to follow, and flexible, enough to fit any food budget. So, how about it, homemakers, are you willing to give out a big heaping plate of health to your family? Your reward will be happier, healthier and better people to live with.

Here's the guide to good eating. Read it over and over until you have fastened every rule in your mind and you will automatically include food from each of the classes in your menus every day.

Milk is first on the list for it's the most nearly perfect food. See that the grownups get two or more glasses daily and the children have three to four glasses.

Vegetables and fruits regulate and protect the body. They should not ever be skipped for they are easily worked into the diet. Of the vegetables you should have two besides potato, preferably one green and one yellow, and one of these raw.

Of fruits you should have two a day and one of these should be a citrus fruit or tomato. This is a way of guaranteeing enough vitamin C to the system. Vitamin C is easily lost if cooked; that's why a citrus fruit or tomato is required as they are usually eaten raw.

Eggs are expensive right now but you should provide each person with 3 to 5 per week.

When the price goes down and we have more on hand give them at least one a day as that's preferred. It doesn't matter how you have them—as eggs or incorporated into food.

Cereals and bread should be enriched or whole grain; they're necessary every day.

The butter requirement is about 2 tablespoons daily. Other foods may be included in the diet to satisfy the appetite and complete growth and activity needs. This, of course, includes sweets and candies or extra quantities of the above depending upon the activity of the body.

One of the most important classes of foods which must be included in the diet are the protein foods including meat, cheese, fish, poultry or legumes. Although placed last on the list, they are one of the most important and I want to talk particularly about them in today's column because two of the most important of protein foods are rationed.

Proteins are part of every living cell. The body must have them if it is to grow or build or repair itself. You can see the necessity for giving plenty of protein-rich foods to children. Adults need them, too—although their bodies have been built, they are torn down with the work they do, and the tissues must build and repair themselves.

Fish, poultry, cheese and meat are "first class" protein foods. Legumes, in which class we include, roughly speaking, those plants that grow in pods, and consist of navy beans, black-eyed beans, pinto beans, kidney beans, black beans, lima beans and soy beans; dried split peas; peanuts and lentils, are what we call "second class" protein foods and that means they do an excellent job of body building but can't take the place of meat entirely. Possible exceptions to this are peanuts and soybeans, both of which are now being considered complete proteins.

While meat is rationed and point values high, we will have to include plenty of all the proteins in our diet. Meats with lower prices and lower point values are just as good for you, nutritionally speaking.

Here's our round-up of recipes today. They'll stretch meat and points and show you delicious ways of fixing the second-class proteins:

- Dinner Complete.
(Serves 6)
- 2 cups sliced raw potatoes
 - 2 cups chopped celery
 - 2 cups ground beef (1 pound)
 - 1 cup sliced raw onions
 - 1 cup finely cut green pepper
 - 2 cups cooked tomatoes
 - 2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place meat and vegetables in layers in greased baking dish. Season layers with salt and pepper. Place green pepper slices on top for garnish. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 2 hours.

Vegetables and fruits belong in the dietary daily. If possible have one of each raw so that you can get all the vitamins possible. Long cooking will destroy many precious vitamins.

Country Baked Limas

- (Serves 8)
- 2 cups lima beans
 - 1/2 pound bacon, cut small
 - 1 medium onion, sliced
 - Place lima beans, bacon and onion in layers in pot. Combine the following:
 - 1/4 cup light molasses
 - 1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 2 tablespoons chili sauce
 - 1 cup tomato juice
- Pour the mixture over beans. Bake 4 to 6 hours in a slow (250-degree) oven. Uncover for last 1/2 hour.

*Cherry Cake.

- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon flavoring
- 1/2 cup finely chopped, drained maraschino cherries
- 1 cup milk
- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 egg whites

Cream the shortening and sugar. Add the flavoring and chopped cherries, then mix. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Beat only until smooth, then fold in egg whites beaten stiff. Place in a greased, shallow, floured pan and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350-375 degrees). Cool and ice with boiled icing.

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDES

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:35-44; 8:1-9. GOLDEN TEXT—I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.—John 6:35.

Hungry! That word describes the crying need of the greater part of the world's population. Men who have vaunted themselves because of their ability and ingenuity have brought the nations of the earth into such awful confusion that even God's abundant provision cannot reach the needy ones.

God is concerned about man's physical need just as truly as He is about spiritual needs. This story brings Christianity into action on a level that all will appreciate—the need of food for the body. It works there as it does everywhere.

The supply of every need of man is God. "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). Countless Christians have found it to be true that we may trust God—completely—and for everything.

The stories of the feeding of the two groups of people show the wrong and the right attitude toward man's need. In two approaches to the problem the disciples were wrong. Then Christ showed them the right way.

I. They Can Take Care of Their Own Need (6:35, 36).

"Send them away"—that was the plea of the disciples when the multitude of those who had followed Him became hungry. The people were there because they were interested in Christ. They had come in a hurry (v. 33) and had not brought food. The problem was on the disciples' hands, and they sought the easiest way out. Let them shift for themselves—"Send them away."

The church has followed their example in dealing with the social problems of the people down through the years. The result is that being denied fellowship, comfort, and help by a church which was too busy building up a vast organization or a beautiful order of worship, the common people have responded to the appeal of political leaders who have provided a substitute for what the church should have given them.

When Jesus put upon them the direct responsibility to feed the people, the disciples changed their "slogan", and said:

II. We Should Like to Help, but We Cannot (6:37).

Reckoning hastily on what a small boy had brought for his lunch (trust an alert boy to be ready!), the disciples soon demonstrated that it was impossible to feed this great throng. (See similar reasoning in Mark 8:4).

Logic is such a devastating thing when it operates apart from faith in God. They were absolutely right in their reasoning and in their calculations, but they had forgotten the one factor that really counted. Jesus was there, and Jesus is God, and God is omnipotent.

As we face the need of the world now and after the war, we wonder how the peoples of other lands can be fed without depriving our own land of what it needs. It is a great problem, and we ought to pray for those who must work with it.

But let us not forget that all that we have comes from God, and that He is able to do "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). The Christ who multiplied the loaves and fishes is our Living Lord today, and ready and able to do it again.

III. Jesus Said, "I Have Compassion on the Multitude" (6:38-44; 8:1-9).

He started right. Instead of shutting His heart against the tender desire to help, He let His love for the people control. Then instead of magnifying the difficulties, He multiplied the provisions. And lo, there was enough for all, and to spare. "He commanded . . . and they did all eat" (vv. 39, 42). When God speaks, all the limitations of the finite disappear, and the needs of men are fully met—with "twelve baskets full of fragments" left over!

Note the orderly manner in which our Lord met this situation. Five thousand men, with women and children to swell the throng, were seated on the grass. Jesus took the loaves and fishes and blessed them. You who forget to return thanks at the table, notice that quiet and meaningful act. Then He broke the loaves and divided the fishes. No doubt they were multiplied as the disciples passed them out to the people.

God is able to do that very thing even in our day. Perhaps not in just the same manner, but surely those who serve Him have marveled as they have seen that "little is much when God is in it." Let those who labor in difficult places with limited resources take heart—and trust God.

Note the care with which the fragments were collected for future use. It took this war to teach America how shamefully wasteful it has been.

Opens Jan. 1, 1944. Lincoln county has been assigned a quota of $115,000, of this amount $67,100 has been earmarked for "E" bonds.
The September quota was $108,000.
The same committee that solicited for the 3rd drive is again being asked to handle the 4th war loan. Felix Ramey, Co.
war finance chairman said,
Lincoln county was the 2nd county in the state on the sale of E bonds, figured at a percentage basis on quota during the Sept.
drive.
There is no reason why Lin-

W.N.U. RELEASE

TO YOUR Good Health

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

SPOILED FOOD

Owing to the excellent food laws now in operation there are not many cases of sickness and death from spoiled foods, considering the great necessity of preserving food for future use.

Dr. Barton

In Hygeia, the health magazine, published by the American Medical Association, Mary C. Brown, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, states that sight, smell and common sense are enough to enable one to tell whether food is safe to eat.

"Intelligent planning for the purchase of foods according to the family needs, plus a proper knowledge of how to care for foods not used immediately after they are bought, how to protect 'left-overs' that must be stored from meal to meal and how to detect 'spillage,' will pay large dividends in the avoidance of unsafe foods and in protection for the family budget."

The family cupboard is not a suitable storage place for cooked meat—especially luncheon meats and cured meats. All meat should be kept in one of the coldest shelves in the refrigerator.

Further, once meat is purchased it should be cooked within a few hours as the average "home" refrigerator is powered near as cold as the refrigerator from which the meat was obtained.

Another suggestion from Mrs. Brown is that while "leftovers" cooked and eaten may seem safe and saving, nevertheless, preventing leftovers is safer and more saving. The housewife should study her needs carefully and have fewer leftovers. Leftovers should be heated again before serving which should be within 24 hours after the first cooking.

Food that has an "off" or undesirable odor must not be used. Even boiling food with an "off" odor is not sufficient to make it safe.

If fermentation and gas appear, or there is mould on top of the food, discard the entire can—not simply the part that appears spoiled.

The way to detect odors is to heat the food and smell it when it first becomes hot. An odor is more noticeable when the lid is first lifted. If in doubt, discard the food.

Those afflicted with catarrh or other conditions affecting the sense of smell and taste are not to be judged as to the fitness of food for eating.

Sugar Gives Spurt Of Energy to Heart

I have spoken before of the experiments conducted by Harvard research workers during the running of the Boston Marathon several years ago. The results showed that the amount of sugar present in the blood at the end of the race indicated the condition of the runner. The greater the amount of sugar present in the blood, the better was the physical condition of the runner and the nearer he was to being among the leaders at the finish.

By having certain runners take more sugar daily during the following year and during the race of that year, these runners not only finished in better condition but were higher up in the race than they were the previous year.

Why is sugar—dextrose—so helpful in giving energy to the muscles? In the Cincinnati Journal of Medicine, Dr. Edward Podolsky, Brooklyn, states that treatment by dextrose is one of the most valuable procedures in the treatment of heart disease. The chief reason why dextrose is so helpful in heart disease is that it supplies so readily the necessary food for the hard working heart.

Another reason is that dextrose helps to dilate or open up the blood vessels so that it requires less effort for the heart to pump blood through them.

Fortunately dextrose can be taken by mouth; the patient takes two or three ounces of sugar dissolved in a glass of water or weak tea three or four times daily for a period of two to three months. This produces a "lasting" effect.

When sugar cannot be given by mouth or by hypodermic injection it may be given in the form of an enema. Another method often used in hospitals is injecting the dextrose into a vein.

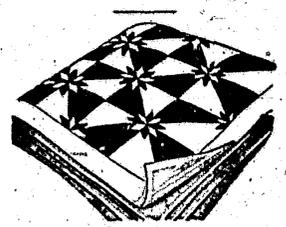

The thought, then, when we are tired from muscular exercise or work, or in cases of a weak or failing heart, is to use sugar or candy to supply "quick" nourishment to the heart.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Please give me some details on the cause and cure of malaria. A.—The bite of certain mosquitoes deposits a parasite which destroys red blood cells. There are varieties of malaria according to the time between attacks. Quinine is the treatment.

Q.—What should the blood pressure be for a person 47 years old? A.—100 plus the age is considered a safe rate.

In the Navy a floor is a "deck," doors are "bulkheads," downstairs is "below," and a cigarette is a "Camel." At least, Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men, as it is among men in the Army, Marines, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) And a carton of Camels is a favorite gift. Though there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

"Doctor, my wife tells me that I talk in my sleep. What should I do?"
"Nothing that you shouldn't."

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer Who Tried Laxative Cereal!

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this uncollected letter!

"For several years I was afflicted with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Finally, I started eating KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning, drinking water freely through the day. I have since never had the slightest trouble with constipation. Write to KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, P.O. Box 11, Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Scientists say KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulose" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They work by helping the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a laxative. Doesn't "sweep you out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or KELLLOGG'S ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. So if you, too, don't cheer like welcome relief! Inquire on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, your kidneys are working hard to keep the kidneys strong. If more people were aware of how the kidneys work, they would be better able to understand why the whole system is so important. It is to function properly that frequent urination is necessary. Some people think that frequent urination is a sign of weakness. It is not. It is a sign of strength. You may suffer nagging backache, nervousness, dizziness, headache, pain, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recognized and recommended by the medical profession. Doan's Pills stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the body. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

DOAN'S PILLS

LEW BURNET has been engaged by TOM ARNOLD, owner of the Cross T, to act as trail boss on the drive from southern Texas to Ogallala in the spring of 1875. Tom, with his son and daughter, STEVE and JOY, are moving to Wyoming. Tom must deliver 3,000 longhorns to the Indian agent by September 1 or lose a profitable contract. Lew has reason to believe that the Indian Supply Co. is trying to delay the Cross T herd. He suspects that Clay, Steve and ED SPLANN are in some way connected with the company, but he does not wish to make charges until he is sure. The drive gets started, but CLAY MANNING, foreman, and ED SPLANN, crew hand, rebel at Lew's orders.

no sound broke the almost silent thrust of the wind. Here on the flat plain, with nothing to strike against, it made only a thin hiss through the short grass. Then the ragged black pool was ahead of him. He could see the way they had swung north now in the direction the wind was blowing and knew they were held from a run so far because no leader had started it off.

Their tight fear had to be broken. He understood the slim chance a man would have caught in that mass if it jumped suddenly into its blind stampede. But there was no other way; he rode directly in among the hard, unyielding bodies.

The familiarity of a horseman, his voice lifted in a wordless crouching, seemed to ease their dumb brains. They began to move aside. They brought their heads down. He crowded on, weaving toward the middle.

There were other riders around him in the dusty dark. Ghost shapes appeared higher than the ridgepole backs and vanished.

Until after midnight, he had a certain hope. These storms came up with the suddenness of a hurricane, then often ended in a short time as abruptly as they had come. But at midnight the wind was still rising with a harder thrust. It would not end soon. By three it was blowing with a strength that made his horse unsteady. He knew the time by the strange unearthly light beginning to show a little of the herd

It was clear enough in his mind that the Indian Supply herd had needed horses and had got them by trading Cross T stock via the New Mexico exchange. The men who had caught him near Crazy Woman were, not only rustlers but part of the Indian Supply crew. Yet what still had no answer was Clay Manning's part in that deal.

Approaching camp where the two wagons had stopped beside the tank's rim, he saw the charred embers of other camps near the cook's fire. Owl-Head rose from stirring something in a Dutch oven and jerked a thumb toward them. "What do you make of that?"

He didn't say. No use spreading what he knew. But Moonlight, Bailey, driving ahead of the longhorns with his horse herd, had cut that trail from Crazy Woman. He was riding in between the wagons now, a small brown man with a bullfrog voice.

"By Judas, Lew!" he burst out, "I know where our saddle stock went!"

"All right. Keep it to yourself." "Keep it!" Moonlight's round, simple face turned dusty red. "Tom's ribbed me plenty for losin' horses. If I hadn't listened to Clay, him tellin' me there was no use lookin'—"

"Moonlight," he said, "shut up!" He had seen the canvas of Joy's wagon open. "Now you mind!"

Then he heard her voice behind him. "Lew, come here."

He wheeled his horse around. She was sitting on the blankets of her bed, her hat off and her dark hair falling loose.

"What was Moonlight saying?" "Nothing," he said. "Your wrangler sleeps out in the moon too much. He sees things."

"No. It was about the horses and I've been thinking it wasn't possible for twenty or thirty head to vanish the way they did. What has Moonlight found?"

He didn't want to worry her with mysteries, and yet he didn't want this discovery to get back to Clay Manning either. He said, "That's right, it was about the horses. Moonlight thinks he has the answer. I don't think he has. But let it go for now, will you? Don't talk."

She nodded and smiled a little. "I learned to keep things to myself, Lew, long ago. I've had such a good example from you men."

He grinned, and yet, riding from her, he hated that any doubt and suspicion should begin to trouble her so early on the trail.

Long before Lew felt an uneasiness himself the cattle were smelling something in the air. He had marked six days in his logbook, estimating one hundred miles, when they came that late afternoon to the first stream bed on the plains. Pointing the herd into it, he searched on north for the double mountain landmark and saw only the unbroken horizon hard and sharp against the sky.

There was no warning. One moment all the camp made its picture clear before his eyes. Tom Arnold stood with a tin cup waiting for his coffee. Joy and Steve were sitting on the tongue of her wagon in one of their rare times together. Three dim-shaped riders were coming in for their meal.

The next instant an unseen hand struck the campfire, scattering its red coals outward for a hundred feet. The wagon canvases belled and slapped the bows like pistol shots. The stars were suddenly gone, and the wind's full force with its choking dust was something that a man had to lean into strongly.

No one needed his yelled order. Men were already running in the pitch dark toward their horses. Yet for a distance that he could neither see nor guess. And above the rumble and clack of their walk the open-mouthed growling rose to a sharper key that turned a man's nerves raw.

He could no longer locate his rock piles; only a slim chance would let him blunder onto the double butte. Each hour he could feel himself being pressed farther into the desert of the Staked Plain, beyond the last water that he knew.

Dragging off his saddle and throwing it onto the fresh horse that Jim Hope brought, he spied two masked figures butting into the wind. Moving toward them, he recognized Clay Manning and Tom Arnold. They were shouting together.

He wanted a moment's talk, somehow the reassurance of other men's words. Bending beside them he yelled, "We've sure hit a bad one!"

It was Clay next to him. His head turned. The violence of his answer bulged the handkerchief from his mouth. "A hell of a time to think of that! How you going to get us out of this?"

Tight nerves snapped. "Fly out! You got a better way?" "Did have," Clay flung back. "It was a fool move at the start!"

"Lew?" Tom Arnold thrust himself in front of them. He looked shrunken and dried out. "You got any idea where we are?"

He couldn't have; they knew that. He shook his head and started to say, "All we can do—" A lash of the old man's temper cut him off.

"Then, by God, I'm damned if I know what you're here for! This was no way to come!"

He had no answer; you didn't fight Tom Arnold's temper. It would cool. And he understood the bitterness of what the man could lose. But at the same time he saw the quick vengeance in Clay Manning's blood-shot eyes. He had got in his word with Tom.

There was a horse bolting toward them through the dust. He didn't see for an instant that it was running loose, its head up high searching for the herd, and that a man was hunched over, clinging to the saddle horn with both hands. He grabbed its bridle. The sudden stop flung the rider down into his arms. He pulled the handkerchief off. It was Steve. Both of his eyes were glued shut, the swollen red lids puffed out of their sockets.

Struggling in the wind he brought the slack body up against him. "Steve!" He yelled. "It's all right, boy. Try to walk." Close to his side Tom Arnold shouted, "Get him to the girl's wagon!" and reached out to help.

"Don't worry," he said to Joy. "Bathe his eyes and let him rest. He'll be all right." He swung from her and fought back to his horse.

But her look went with him, turning him cold with what it showed. This was what it meant to be a trail boss. Whatever happened he would get a little credit—and all the blame.

Steve, he knew, was only the beginning. By nightfall he had led others one by one back to the wagons. For a short time all the dusty air around him had turned to gold. It was blood red now in the sunset as he crossed the front of the herd, counting his men.

Five were left spaced at far-apart intervals; himself, three older hands, Quarternight, Joe Wheat and Ash Brownstone and Charley Storms. As he passed each one he warned them. "Don't try to stick it too long."

Sheer fatigue had slackened the pace. It was again a slow walk but as relentless as a powerful machine. Thirst was what drove these animals now, a mad fever that would keep them going until they found water or dropped dead. Their horse and frenzied bawling was swept forward around him in waves that rose and fell and sometimes burst into almost human screams.

If he hadn't known this same experience once before he would not believe that men or beasts could hold through another hour. You reached an absolute limit, and then what kept you going he didn't know. Yet his awareness of being dead tired had passed; a dull, slack feeling had come over his body. It was as if he had no weight. He locked both hands on the saddle horn and let his head nod.

Then something awakened him that was like a cold damp rag wiped across his face. It jerked him upright. There was a faint grayness beyond his swollen lids. He was suddenly aware of a strange quiet. Then he saw the cattle, a thin line that trailed behind him, shoving their muzzles through wet grass.

A drop of water splashed from his hatbrim; he was riding in a misty rain with only a part of the herd that somewhere had split up. There was no wind. He drew his gun, firing it into the air, but had no answer.

Dawn had never made him feel more grateful as he sat waiting while the gray light turned to silver and a little morning breeze sprang up, pushing back the mist. The longhorns were spent. They had halted to stand with drooping heads, soaking the wetness into their hides. The mist rose and became a thick layer, and then a golden sunrise spread beneath it across the level plain.

TELEVISION NEWSPAPERS

General Electric published a newspaper by television the other day. Fifty editors saw the demonstration. None rushed out and sold his paper, but all agreed the stunt had bewildering possibilities. For one thing, for the first time in history newspaper men may have to be well dressed and handsome.

The test of the city editor of the future may not be whether he has a great nose for news but whether he has the right eyes for screening. And a telegraph editor may be winning to get a job unless he has a winning personality.

If the television newspaper is perfected a bulb may become as important as a managing editor and a little knob on a radio set may replace the pressroom. Whether you get your paper may depend on radio reception rather than on the newsboy.

General Electric gave the demonstration in cooperation with the Albany Times Union. The printed pages came hurtling through the ozone so clearly you would have thought Sinatra was publisher.

Cartoons, columns, classified ads and department store ads came out of the atmosphere, with real live models in the cloak and suit ads. Anybody present could see the possibilities; beer ads with real ads; fuel ads showing real lumps of coal and delicatessen store ads showing just how the clerk uses a razor to slice meat for those sandwiches.

Television ads will bring right into your home the goat which that fellow has been trying to sell for $18 all these years. And when you see the left-my-bed-and-when you see the actual bed.

When there is a murder mystery you will see a reporter enacting the crime and the editor's stenographer posing as the victim, if she has the right personality for murder cases.

However, we are not scared by the threat of a television press. Not many people who listen to the radio can read anyhow. And nothing can destroy the average American's determination to sit over in a quiet corner and read his newspapers. Well, maybe they're not reading, but it's an established way of avoiding conversation.

'BUTCH' O'HARE

"Butch's lights went out, and then he was gone."—From a fellow flier's story of the death of Lieut. Com. Eddie O'Hare.

"Then he was gone." The kid who in that day When fright was in our eyes So clearly showed the way! This Irish lad Who in those first dark hours Of our new war So stirred these hearts of ours!

"Then he was gone." This lad with deep-set eyes Who, when the chips were down, So terrorized for skies; Who in green days When none of us could tell How brave our youngsters were, Had flashed the "All is well!"

This "Butch" O'Hare, Whose name could stir your soul And speed your past— And make your past unroll— "Then he was gone" A red gull in the dark— The bucko with the stuff— The courage red and stark.

"Then he was gone." This ripping, tearing ace, The silent one Who "put 'em in their place"; Whose feat of five-a-day In war's first hour Had symbolized our guts— And socking pow'r.

"Then he was gone." The slashing, slamming guy— "The Socko Kid"— "The King Hawk of the sky"— The kind we have. Thank God, in days of dread To take the torch For our heroic dead!

Peace to you, "Butch" There in some distant blue With all who kept our faith, The Christian and the Jew... Now have you joined Our hosts who knew no fear: Paul Jones and Nathan Hale And Lawrence and Revere!

The Leader Has he got "that winning look"? That's like; Does he Nazi goosees cook? That's like; Can he love—and can he hook? Does he love to throw the book At that paperhanging crook? That's like.

Has he got a winning smile? Has he got a certain style? That's like; Is he slugging all the while? That's like.

Wedding Announcement and Tea

Mrs. Raymond Perkins was hostess in her home in Corona, Sunday, January 28, at a beautifully appointed tea announcing the engagement of her sister, Magdalen Greenwood, to Sgt. Merlin Longetieg.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and beautifully decorated with crystal candelabra and a bouquet of flowers. Mrs. Lonnie Atkinson, Mrs. Ardenright, and Mrs. Greenwood the honoree's mother, presided.

The bride to be wore a lovely chartreuse street length frock with a corsage of white carnations. The hostess was attractively dressed in a black street length frock trimmed with white lace collar and cuffs. Her corsage was also of white carnations. Mrs. Greenwood wore an aqua frock with a corsage of pink carnations. The corsages were gifts of Mrs. Longetieg.

Judy, Mrs. Perkins' young daughter, was responsible for each guest receiving an announcement of the event.

Miss Greenwood graduated from the Corona High School; she attended State College and is now employed by the Sub-Dept.

Headquarters in Roswell. Mr. Langetieg is from Madison, Wisconsin. He is stationed at the Roswell Army Air Field.

The couple plan to live in Roswell for the present. Their friends of Corona sincerely wish them much happiness.
