Political Announcements

For Sheriff

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Sheriff on the Republican ticket. I have served as Deputy Sheriff of this county for the past four years and I now solicit the support of the voters regardless of past political affiliations. Such support will be highly appreciated. Respectfully, Nick Vega.

For Commissioner

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner on the Republican ticket (Re-election) subject to the wishes of the voters of this county. Resp., Roy Shafer.

For School Superintendent
Lucille Crenshaw Patterson, Candidate for Superintendent of County Schools on the Republican Ticket. Your support will be greatly appreciated.

For Clerk

Candidate for County Clerk on the Republican ticket respectfully solicits the support of the people, at the forthcoming November 7th election. S. E. (Ben) Greison.

For Commissioner

I hereby wish to announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner on the Democratic ticket from the third district and will greatly appreciate the support of the voters of Lincoln county. T. E. Kelley.

For Treasurer

I hereby wish to make my announcement as a candidate for re-election for the office of County Treasurer on the Republican ticket and solicit the support of the voters of Lincoln County, which will be greatly appreciated. John E. Wright.

For Commissioner

I wish to announce myself as a candidate on the Republican ticket for the office of County Commissioner (Re-election) and will appreciate your support regardless of past party affiliations. Marshall Atkinson.

For Assessor

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Assessor on the Democratic ticket and would appreciate the support of the voters of this county. Manuel Ortiz.

For Senator

I wish to announce myself as a candidate on the Republican ticket for State Senator for the counties of Lincoln and Otero. The support of the voters of these two counties will be much appreciated. Dan W. King.

For Representative

I wish to make an announcement that I am a candidate for Representative on the Republican ticket for Lincoln, Otero and Socorro counties. I will appreciate the support of the voters of these three counties. J. G. Moore.

For Commissioner

Vote for Marshall Atkinson, the conscientious, competent business man for the re-election to the office of County Commissioner. In fact, we can do no better than re-elect him to that important office on his past record for efficiency. This ad has been purchased and paid for by the friends of Marshall Atkinson.

In the Service

Pvt. Marvin Jones is now in France, according to a letter from him by his wife, the former Miss Dorothy Hoffman.

Capt. Carl Freeman is probably situated in Hawaii; says he likes dear old 'Carri-dusty' better. Note: Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bragg of Parsons were visitors in town Tuesday. Mrs. Jewell Bragg, their daughter, is a Private in the WAC's, serving overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Lee of the Lee ranch near Corona were business visitors in town Tuesday. The Lees have a son in the service.

Mrs. Alice French, former County School Supt., of this county and long resident of this place, came in this week from Albuquerque, where she has been residing since she closed her summer home at Eagle Creek for the fall and winter season. Mrs. French's son, B. M. French is now Commander B. M. French of the U. S. Navy, stationed at Washington, D. C. While here she was the guest of Mrs. Gusie Johnson.

Announcement

Gloria Campbell announces candidacy on the Democratic ticket for County Superintendent of Schools.

She possesses a B. S. degree in Elementary Education granted by State Teacher's College at Silver City, New Mexico, and 2-3 year's college work of her Master's Degree at University of New Mexico.

This is her 12th year of successive employment. All teaching experience having been in the Rural Schools of Lincoln County.

The above qualifications which entitles her to the highest type of certificate, are of record in the office of County Superintendent at Carrizozo. The above mentioned files are open to public inspection.

Miss Campbell through her educational experience, which is so vital and necessary in the administration of this very important office, promises, if elected, to conscientiously supervise classroom work, assist teachers through demonstration classes, and to see that every opportunity possible for advancement is given to each and every child under her supervision.

Mrs. Lillie Klansner was here the latter part of last week and while in town, made this office a friendly call, on a return trip from Las Cruces.

For Assessor

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Assessor on the Republican ticket and will appreciate the support of the voters of Lincoln county. P. E. Christiansen

For Representative

The Outlook has been authorized to announce the name of Will T. Coe of Glencos for Representative from Lincoln County. I solicit the support of the people of Lincoln county, regardless of past party affiliations.

Will T. Coe

Says Gunderson is Man for Governor

In listening to Mr. Gunderson's radio talk from Albuquerque on Thursday night, I was particularly glad that he intends to give us a decent highway from Tularosa up and through Carrizozo. We have waited and hoped for a number of years for the present governor and the ones preceding him to give us a decent highway from Tularosa to Carrizozo, but they have not done so. I am firmly convinced that the time has now arrived to put a man in the Governor's office who WILL DO SOMETHING. I believe that Mr. Gunderson is that man, and it is my earnest belief that we citizens of Lincoln County should back him with all we've got.

Mr. Gunderson also expressed himself as against by-passing our towns with the highways, and we should be thankful for that also. He is also against these new super-speed highways, and I agree with him fervently on that. We don't need such highways to take tourists through our county and state with a "Zip and a Whoosh." Let them come through our towns and stop over and visit with us. And we certainly don't want those special highways cutting through our ranches, plowing up grass, killing stock with whizzing cars and ruining the range. Grass is scarce enough in New Mexico without plowing up a lot more unnecessarily. I say fix up the roads we have, and leave them right where they are. Our roads are right where we of Lincoln County want them. All we ask for is that they be fixed up, bridged at such danger spots as those between Carrizozo and Oscura and made safe to travel in any kind of weather.

I am for Mr. Gunderson for Governor. We need more business men in our public offices instead of mere politicians. We've already got too darned many politicians mixed up in our politics, and that applies to the who's present mess from the President down.

A Disgusted Democrat.

Will T. Coe

In the announcement column this week appears one for Will T. Coe, candidate for the office of Representative for Lincoln County. Mr. Coe needs no introduction to the people of this county. He was born and reared here and all of his interests are centered here. Being a true native of this place, nobody would know our needs better than this gentleman, who aside from knowing what we desire so well, he is doubly qualified to fill the position. He will appreciate your support.

Mrs. Nelle W. Day, former county school superintendent was here on business Tuesday, from Glencos, and made this office a friendly call while in town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Withers of their ranch near Oscura were shoppers Saturday.

Bill Balow of Ancho was here on business the first of the week and was a friendly caller at this office.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hightower and Mrs. Ivy Payne and small daughter were visitors in town Saturday from Ancho. Mr. Hightower is candidate for county commissioner from dist. 2 on the Democratic ticket.

We had a letter from our old friend and former resident, John Baird this week. John has been residing at Los Angeles for a long time, but has moved to Pasadena. He sends his kindest regards to his Carrizozo friends.

P. E. Christiansen, the popular candidate for county assessor and Joe Wigley were here on business Tuesday; Mr. Christiansen devoting his time in the interest of his candidacy. His announcement appears elsewhere in this issue.

The Misses Sara Lee and Larue Lane, daughters of Mrs. Lillian Lane, formerly of White Oaks, are the guests of Postmaster and Mrs. Herman Kelt and daughter Helen Jean. They spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Jackson and other friends at White Oaks, left this morning for their home in San Diego, Cal.

Lucille Crenshaw Patterson

Above is the portrait of Mrs. Lucille Crenshaw Patterson, popular candidate on the county Republican ticket for County School Superintendent. Mrs. Patterson will, if elected, give the people of this county a fair-minded administration of affairs in the office, which the people of this county will doubly appreciate. She will appreciate your support on the grounds of efficiency and with no special favors to anybody.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Brannum of Berkeley, Calif., have been here for the past week, visiting Mr. Brannum's mother, Mrs. Nellie Brannum, daughter and Mrs. Margie Clouse. They left Wednesday for their home after a pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ferguson of the Negai-Mesa and daughter-in-law Mrs. Champ Ferguson of Capitan were visitors in town Monday, during which time they were friendly visitors at this office. The Fergusons, making arrangements for Billy's birthday party, while Mrs. Champ Ferguson having handbills and tickets printed announcing a big dance for the benefit of the Christmas Tree Fund in Capitan, Oct. 14, sponsored by the Capitan Woman's Club.

Farm and War News Roundup

by Carl P. Radcliff
County Extension Agent

In order that boys in the armed services will receive Christmas packages, members of the Hondo Extension Club are sponsoring a special gift project. Members are working in Bonito, Hondo, and Escondido Valleys.

The biggest news in agriculture this week comes from War Food Administrator, Marvin L. Jones, announcing the end of rationing and distribution control of farm machinery and equipment, except corn pickers. Farm machinery and equipment may now be obtained without any restrictions.

October 8-14 has been designated as Fire Prevention Week. Statistics show that every 16 minutes a farm house or a farm building catches fire. More than 85 per cent of these fires are caused by carelessness and can be prevented.

Big Opening Meeting Held at Hondo

A crowd which overflowed the huge Hondo School Gym heard Republican Candidates for county and district offices make their opening appeal to the voters of this county last Saturday night. All candidates were present and made short talks. Charlie Madrid, the Indian from "All Over New Mexico" made an address for the Republican state and national ticket which was received with much applause and cheering. Following the speaking program a dance was given by the candidates, which residents said was the best ever held at Hondo.

Additional rallies have been announced by Republican Headquarters to be held at Picacho, Thursday, October 12th; Lincoln, Saturday, October 14th and White Oaks Wednesday, October 18th to which the public is invited. A free dance will follow each rally.

P. E. Christiansen

The above named gentleman whose name appears in the announcement column is well qualified for the office of Assessor to which position he is asking the support of the people of this county on Nov. 7. He is an able accountant and in every manner, his qualifications are in the top column. On the grounds of efficiency to fill the duties of the office, he will appreciate your support.

E. J. Dodge, S. P. Inspector of dining room service, is here for a few days in the interest of his work in that department.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union

JAPANESE CAMPAIGN TO BE HARD AND LONG

WASHINGTON.—The sure springboards which General MacArthur's men are seizing now, from which to jump into the Philippines, and the simultaneous Quebec conference which was wreathed with victory smiles, have made the front pages look like we can make short work of Japan.

The various routine military planning announcements here are generally based on expectations of another year.

A few paragraphs from Kunning telling of our withdrawal from the huge central China front at Kweilin, due to ineffective handling of the Chinese troops, shows the difficulties involved in clearing a half-hemisphere of Japs.

Without making any pretense of special information from the Quebec meeting, it is evident that this final victory involves what the military experts are already calling a "strategic nightmare." In general it looks easy, in detail it will be hard.

The Quebec meeting itself developed no news from admirals and generals who occupied the 700 hotel rooms and the 130 newsmen wrote nothing important.

But an earlier war department statement on plans for demobilization laid out a program obviously designed to move vast quantities of our troops from Europe and this country into East Asia. This report indicated rather clearly that we intend to do the job of defeating Japan ourselves, and not rely heavily on arming the Chinese.

One negative step taken at Quebec indicated also we are not planning a single overwhelming operation as in Europe. Means Roosevelt and Churchill said they did not consider combining the operations of Mountbatten in Burma, MacArthur toward the Philippines and Nimitz in the central Pacific under a single head.

Mountbatten's campaign has not been satisfactory to many military observers, and much talk of his differences in strategic thinking with General Stilwell has been heard.

British Undertaking.

There are some who think Mountbatten should already have rallied a sufficient British force in India for a large scale invasion of southern China and Burma, saying this should primarily be a British undertaking because they have the base from which to launch and supply it. Such a prospective campaign might have been expected from a change of commanders, but nothing leaking from Quebec has given it credence.

Now MacArthur is bent on conquest of the Philippines, which is a gigantic undertaking in itself, but the Japanese officials are publicly, on their radio, expecting a direct, earlier invasion of Japan itself.

We think commonly of MacArthur and Nimitz coming up from the south to take Japan, but there are several ways in, one from our Alaskan outposts in the north, another from Russia.

Speculations that Russia will declare war on our side immediately after Germany has fallen are gaining wide publicity. But the Russians have only a guard force in Manchukuo which might wish to undertake a campaign in winter.

Also the bulk of the Red army will be nearly a third of the way around the globe in Germany at the end of the European war. Immediately available, even if Russia joined in, would only be bases air and naval, from which we might operate.

So the plain inner facts indicate we will have to do the job ourselves. Churchill, with characteristic factual humor, insisted Britain would not be deprived of the honor of killing Japs, but he mentioned his fleet and air force before land troops.

The air force will be of greatest benefit because the fleet is reputed to be on a 1 to 5 ratio with us, a decided departure from the old 5 to 5 days in which our popular thinking is still grooved.

The known facts also seem to say clearly we do not intend to go chasing Japs all over East Asia. MacArthur's announced next jump into the Philippines (announced by Mr. Roosevelt) will be short, but the steps from there to the China bases, Formosa and the southern Japan islands will require another separate operation and should not await the conclusion of the Philippine seizure.

The jumps must be limited by our ability to gather necessary force and supplies.

My guess, therefore, is (again with knowledge) that we are heading straight for Japan as well as the Philippines and Burma; that the reinforcements released from Europe will take a couple of months to get around to Asia; but particularly this—the extinction of the bulk of the Jap army strewn through northern, central and southern China must take at least a year from conclusion of the European hostilities, according to my information.

Sees Forest Conservation Needs

Vast Areas of Spent Timberland Attest to Careless Practices

By LYLE F. WATTS
(Chief U. S. Forest Service)

Recently, in an address before a section of the Society of American Foresters at Milwaukee, Wis., I discussed the nation's forest situation and presented the need for reasonable public control of the treatment of private forest lands. In commenting on that paper, a friend of mine alleged that, "In normal periods the basic American forestry problem is not one of scarcities but of surpluses, not of timber famine but of timber abundance." I want to explore that philosophy because, if it is true, there is really no occasion for much concern about forest conservation.

In discussing this question of scarcity versus abundance, I want to make it clear that forestry is something more than boards, ties, cordwood and other forest products. To me forestry has a human side. It encompasses permanent communities with prosperous industries and a stable tax base. It means good schools, public health and attractive homes. It means security for the worker to invest in a home and for the butcher, the baker, and beauty shop keeper to invest in a business.

Seventy per cent of New England is forest land, but 75 per cent of all the wood products consumed in New England comes from outside the region. The only evidence of surplus, so far as I know, is in small low-grade material which cannot be marketed even under the intense demand of the huge industrial population.

The hurricane of 1938, followed by abnormal wartime requirements for box boards, has left only scattered remnants of merchantable white pine in central New England. Scarcity of stumpage forced several of the leading operators in Massachusetts to move out of that state recently. Even in the wild lands of Maine, most of which have been gone over several times by logging operations since colonial times, the average cut of pulpwood, taking all that is considered merchantable from the ground, is estimated at only four cords per acre. Such an average certainly implies no trouble some surplus of available timber.

Not so many generations ago Pennsylvania was the leading source of the nation's lumber supply. In 1941 it ranked 23rd among the states with an output of less than 1 per cent of the total. The original pine forests have been largely replaced by scrub oak and other hardwoods as a result of fire following logging. The forest survey for Virginia showed sawtimber growth in 1940 some 25 per cent in excess of drain by cutting. So perhaps we should find a timber surplus here. But of what significance is an excess of growth over drain when lumber output is only about half of what it was 20 years earlier? The decline in Virginia's lumber output is a reflection of sawtimber scarcity. Stands with as much as 8,000 board feet per acre occupy less than 4 per cent of the total forest area. More wood was consumed by non-lumber use than for lumber in 1940.

The coastal plain and Piedmont regions of the Deep South contain over 150 million acres of land wonderfully adapted to tree growth but not well suited for other purposes. All but a small fraction of the old-growth timber has been cut so that any surplus must be in second growth.

Almost three-fourths of this great acreage is in thirty second growth, yet the growing stock is rated at less than half of what it should be. Some 10 million acres, mostly in the longleaf pine belt of the coastal plain, he denuded. Only one-fourth of the total cubic volume of pine is sawing material and almost three-fourths of that is in trees less than 10 inches in diameter. In spite of the ease of reproduction and the exceptionally rapid growth of the more valuable pines, hardwoods now account for almost 60 per cent of the cubic volume of all trees.

The timber supply is vital to the great agricultural states of the Middle West. The situation became so acute in 1942 that two large farm cooperatives bought sawmills in distant forest regions in order to be sure of having the lumber they needed.

Had the forests of this region been given proper care from the beginning, farmers might still be able to meet many of their needs from local timber. Most of the older barns in southern Ohio and Indiana, for example, were built of yellow poplar. Yellow poplar grows almost as fast as any of our softwoods and is just as easily worked. But today it is far too precious to put into barns. It is no longer a significant part of the stock of the local lumber yards. All the big pine operations are now gone from the Missouri Ozarks. Output of softwood lumber in Missouri in 1942 was only 30 million board feet. Yet in 1899 most of the three-fourths billion board feet of lumber cut in that state was softwood.

Throughout the hill country from eastern Ohio to western Missouri, millions of acres of once magnificent hardwood forests have degenerated into mere brush cover. Many of the hardwood industries of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys must now pay heavy transportation charges for raw material from other regions in order to continue operation. Some of them face extinction.

Even in New England, where this huge red oak towering 130 feet up and measuring almost 20 feet in circumference was cut, there is no real timber surplus.

The lake states afford one of the most serious chapters of our forest history. Here are some 52 million acres of generally level forest land, favorably located with reference to important industrial and agricultural sections. Extensive clear cutting and uncontrolled forest fire have made a large part of this area an economic liability. The white pine and red pine which contributed so bountifully to the development of the Middle West are now little more than memories. Although some old growth—chiefly hardwood—still remains; the most significant aspect is the large proportion of inferior species, notably jack pine and aspen, in the second growth.

Having looked in vain for timber surpluses in other important forest regions, we turn at last to the West coast.

The timber of Idaho and Montana was almost untouched up to 1900. But the wave of depletion is rolling through this country with startling speed. In Idaho the five northern counties were opened up first and were soon pretty thoroughly exploited. Output reached a peak of 705 million board feet in 1925. In 1937 it was only 292 million. Obviously payrolls in these northern counties declined in about the same ratio as lumber production. Towns like Sandpoint and Coeur d'Alene were hard hit—and Spokane turned its eyes from the panhandle of Idaho to the Grand Coulee dam.

The increased output now coming from the five counties farther south rests on a precarious base. Only one-tenth of the 10 million acres of forest in North Idaho is in white pine sawtimber—yet this tenth is bearing the brunt of current cut. White pine output is now 2½ times what the forests can sustain.

But even within this region, the apparent surplus is local in character. The only area still largely undeveloped is a portion of southern Oregon. In the older districts, notably around Puget Sound, the bulk of the readily accessible sawtimber has been removed. Sawmills have shut down and pulp mills have assumed greater importance. The available stand is no longer as large as the growing stock needed to sustain a cut commensurate with the growth capacity of the land.

The lower Columbia river district with 170 large mills and 40 billion feet of sawtimber is already feeling the pinch of scarcity. About half of the private sawtimber belongs to two large companies. Most of the other mills face difficulty in getting the timber they need for long-time operation.

I want to close by stating my conviction that a comprehensive legislative charter is needed to give effect to a well-rounded national forest policy and to strengthen the foundation for timely postwar action in the forestry field.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

SONNY TUFTS is a fugitive from the social register. A blue-blooded rebel. A Boston Back Bay backslider. He has loused up family tradition from childhood. This strange admixture of social breeding, good education, revolutionary spirit, utter frankness and self-bellitting makes him the most colorful personality Hollywood has seen in many a moon.

Sonny tells me his family is in such a rut it hasn't moved out of a radius of three square miles in 300 years. A forebear of his founded Tufts college—must have had a guilty conscience, says Sonny. His family for generations were Harvard Men. When Sonny broke away and went to Yale his mother er wired him, "Yale may be for some people, but not for us." His first year in the movies was amazing. A year after he had ambled through a Hollywood studio gate looking for a chance to do anything at all in a movie he was an official star teamed with Paulette Goddard in "I Love a Soldier."

He recently topped the 10 players elected for stardom by the nation's exhibitors. In the Motion Picture Herald's annual "stars of tomorrow" poll.

Vital Statistics

The six-foot-four, 200-pound blond was born in Boston 29 years ago last July 16 and was christened Bowen Charleston Tufts III. He's never been called anything but Sonny.

His family expected him to train for business and finance, his father being a famous banker. But Sonny, at eight, saw Eddie Cantor, and asked his dad, "Would you care if I became an actor?" Wise Tufts Sr. replied, "Not if you're a good one."

He went to the exclusive Phillips-Exeter, where he majored in Greek (honestly), rowed on the crew, was cheer leader during the football season, and organized a band. His band made money, but Sonny was inclined to cockiness, and when he let a summer hotel engagement slip out of his mitts because he was too cure he had it, his father decided he needed a practical lesson. Sonny was sent to Plymouth as a household-celler of refrigerators. He surprised every one, including himself, by winning the district sales contest—and a silver cup.

At Yale he was a legend. He started out by spending two years in the freshman class. He majored (hold your hats!) in anthropology, and even today talks glibly about races and reads heavy tomes on the subject.

A Fling at Opera

The summer before his senior year he heard Tito Schipa sing. He decided he, too, would be a great opera star.

The big lunk worked his way to Paris on a freighter and spent 6 months studying there and 18 months locked in a room back in New York learning opera scores. He was given an audition at the Met, but found out how little his starting salary would be, so leaped into a Broadway musical, "Who's Who." He was barely in it—slightly more in "Sing for Your Supper." So he turned to singing his own material at swanky hotel spots in New York and Palm Beach.

Hammed His Way In

Joe Egli, Paramount director, gave Sonny an audition, then a test. Sonny picked something from a batch of test scripts, choosing one he thought he could make funny. Long after this howling test had won him a contract he discovered he had clowned Charles Boyer's most tender love scene from "Love Affair." A week after the contract was inked Mark Sandrich saw the test, gave him another with Paulette Goddard, then the role opposite her in "So Proudly We Hail." That made the big bloke, and he went into "Government Girl," "I Love a Soldier," "Bring On the Girls," and then "Here Come the WAVES," with Bing Crosby and Betty Hutton.

Sonny makes friends easily, quickly. He's colorful every inch of his frame and it would take more than a story like this to outline all of his adventures. But the best story he told me was about the four WAVES he gave a farewell party to before they took off for duty. He wanted to bring in a couple of his pals, but the WAVES said: "What—and spill our fun? We want Tufts!" They made it their theme song.

Climbing Too Fast

Frank Sinatra walked off the set of "Anchors Aweigh" when he couldn't see his rushes, struck a half hour, then came back, apologized to everybody and went on shooting. Jess Pasternak tells me Frank's the kindest hearted guy in the world, but the most confused. He's being driven crazy by requests from all over, from benefits, hospitals, camps, etc. He needs to learn self discipline. Well, Frank's young, and even older people can't learn that overnight.

National War Fund Drive:

Almost Half of Money to Go Toward Cheering U. S. Fighters

A "home front" army four million strong went into action October 1 in every city and county of the United States to back up the fighting fronts in providing essential wartime services for our own and our Allies.

In a single united appeal in some 10,000 communities throughout the United States, this army of volunteer workers, enlisted under the aegis of the national war fund and united war chests, in seeking contributions for the support of local welfare services and to provide for the needs of the men and women of our own armed forces, American prisoners of war, the men of our merchant marine and civilian war victims among the United Nations.

The combined objective of the volunteers in this army is contributions in excess of $250,000,000. Beneficiaries of this vast fund will be an estimated 60,000,000 people who, in some way, will be touched by the services of the federated war chests and the 22 member agencies of the national war fund.

When the operations of this vast army have been concluded, it is believed that approximately 35,000,000 individuals and family groups will have contributed to the vital work of the various organizations, both at home and in some 91 major geographical areas on six continents.

Out of every dollar contributed for the national war fund agencies, 40½ cents will be spent to provide comfort, entertainment and relaxation for our own armed forces.

The expenditure of this proportion of contributions will finance the activities of the following organizations: USO, which brings a touch of home to our fighting forces in some 3,699 units from Alaska to Brazil and from Newfoundland to Hawaii; USO camp shows, which carry professional entertainment around the globe to our servicemen and women in combat zones, in base stations and hospitals; United Seaman's service, which maintains a chain of hotels on six continents and rest centers in this country for the men of our merchant marine who see that the vital cargoes of munitions and materials of war get through to the fighting fronts; War Prisoners aid, which provides recreational, educational and cultural materials for prisoners of war to afford an antidote for the boredom so aptly termed "barbed wire disease."

Approximately 32 cents out of every national war fund dollar will be spent to provide emergency relief for civilian victims of war in the nations of our Allies, overrun and occupied by the Nazi invaders.

Assistance for the peoples of the Axis-dominated nations includes: food and clothing for Chinese war orphans; medical kits and medicine for the Yugoslavs; subsistence rations for millions of starving Greeks; seeds to replant the scorched earth of Russia; dried milk for undernourished Norwegian school children; food packages for Belgian refugees; seed packets for British Victory gardens to ease the critical food shortage; aid for millions of Polish refugees scattered throughout the world; care in this country for child evacuees from Europe; food and clothing for needy people of France; and aid of various kinds for war victims of Czechoslovakia, Luxembourg, Denmark, Holland and Italy.

The remainder of the war fund dollar, including two-thirds for administration, will be held in a contingent fund for emergency needs and unforeseen developments resulting from the liberation of occupied nations.

The "home-front" army will take to its task with the following message of inspiration from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force: "All Americans know it is a privilege to contribute to the national and community war funds in this year of liberation. Complementing our military campaigns, the services which flow from these funds reach out to friends and neighbors at home and abroad and to the oppressed peoples of the world. (Signed) Dwight D. Eisenhower."

SAVE GOOD TIMBER

Wood from poorly formed trees burns just as well as wood from future saw-log trees. Wood from such weed trees as ironwood, shadbush, and even beech, has a high heating value.

The temptation is to strip the woodlot when firewood is cut, thereby destroying local and national resources for the future. "The Winter Fuel and A Better Woodlot" is one slogan that has been used by many woodland owners in this state.

IN WOODLOT BY BURNING POORER STANDS

Usually, the cut in the woodlot should be no more than 30 per cent in any one year, and the sooner another cut can be made from the same woodland. Cutters should keep in mind that a well-formed hardwood tree 10 inches on the stump is probably 50 years old, but would yield only a six-inch log containing four board feet. Doyle scale, or 0.08 standard cord of wood. In eight years more this tree would be 12 inches, would contain 16 board feet (four times as much lumber), or 0.17 cord of wood. If left 25 years this tree would be 14 inches on the stump, would contain 36 board feet in the first log and 8 in the second log, or one-quarter cord of wood.

Green wood will burn, but seasoned wood is preferred, as it is lighter to handle, has more heat value, and forms less creosote in the chimney. Most of the seasoning takes place during the first six months after the tree is cut.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Some homemakers serve raw turnips in strips to be eaten with salt, like celery.

The bottom part of a funnel may be used as an apple corer in a pinch.

Wax the metal wastepaper basket inside and out to prevent rusting.

To reheat bread, place in a paper sack, fasten tightly and warm for five minutes in a moderate oven.

A medium-sized gold fish bowl is excellent for use in whipping cream. Does away with splattering.

For a well-seasoned roast, add a few gingersnaps to the juice in the pan.

If you have difficulty in getting sonny boy to wash his neck and behind the ears, try giving him an old shaving brush and let him apply the soap.

Removing Partition Between the Rooms

HAVE you ever thought of removing the partition between your living and dining room but feared the ceiling would sag if supports were removed? Or, perhaps you have considered the idea and decided that after all it might not always be convenient to have the two rooms in one? Here is an answer to both of these questions.

The sketch shows the partition removed to give a greater feeling of space but the main supports have been left in. A balustrade division without spoiling the light between the two rooms makes a airy effect and a draw curtain matching the living room draperies make it possible to shut the dining room off when desired.

NOTE—Here is news for homemakers. This sketch is from a new booklet by Mrs. Spears called MAKE YOUR OWN CURTAINS. This 32-page book is full of smart new curtain and drapery ideas with illustrated step-by-step directions for measuring, cutting, making and hanging all types from the simplest wash curtain to the most complicated lined over-drapery or stiffened valance. Whatever your curtain problem here is the answer. Order book by name and enclose 15 cents. Address:

Federal Crime

So many federal criminal laws have been enacted in the past 50 years to cope with the increase in crime that today the federal district courts try 90 criminal cases for every 100 civil cases, says Collier's.

The result of these laws is also shown by the average daily population of federal prisons which has increased, during this period, from 300 to about 10,000, or 6,200 per cent, as compared with only 48 per cent increase in the general population.

Cake Bazaars, Cookie Sales Boost Funds

Spice cake is hard to resist when it has a fluffy seven minute or marshmallow icing and is sprinkled lightly with coconut.

Church groups and women's clubs know that one of the best ways of raising funds for their activities and philanthropic purposes is by having cake bazaars or bakery sales.

Few can resist the appeal of home-made cakes and cookies at such sales, and it is truly an ideal way of meeting the year's budget. It is here where the good ladies bring their best wares, and finance committees really have their day.

For displaying the goodies, a well set table is necessary. It's a good idea to have a good looking table cloth and flowers. The cakes and cookies will do the rest. You will find today's recipes just as delicious as they sound, and not too expensive to make. I'm giving different types of recipes in case you want to clip the sheet and pass the recipes among the members of your particular group.

*Lady Baltimore Cake
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
2 cups cake flour, sifted
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 cup milk
5 egg whites
Cream shortening and sugar until light. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately. Last fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and flavoring. Bake in three eight-inch layers in a moderate (375-degree) oven for 25 minutes.

*Frosting
1 1/4 cups sugar
3/4 cup boiling water
1/2 cup hot maraschino cherry juice
1/2 teaspoon light corn syrup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg whites beaten stiff
3/4 cup chopped blanched almonds, toasted
1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind
15-20 maraschino cherries, cut in eighths
Combine sugar, water, fruit juices and syrup and bring to a boil quickly, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly without stirring until syrup spins a thread when dropped from spoon and forms soft ball in cold water (233 degrees). Pour syrup into a stream over egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until of a consistency to spread. Fold in remaining ingredients and spread in between and top of layers of Lady Baltimore Cake.

*Red Devil's Food
2 cups pastry flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1/4 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar

*Pop Corn Nuggets
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup water
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons molasses
1 tablespoon butter
Few grains of salt
5 quarts pop corn
Place sugar, water and cream of tartar in a saucepan and bring to the boiling point and boil without stirring to 280 degrees or until syrup will crack when tried in cold water. Add molasses, butter and salt, and boil, stirring constantly until candy becomes brittle, being careful not to let it burn. Have ready a pan of freshly popped corn; pour candy over it, mixing thoroughly. Spread lightly on a buttered slab or platter and when firm, cut into pieces or break up into little bunches of three to six kernels.

*Spice Cake
1/2 cup butter or substitute
2 cups brown sugar
4 eggs
3 bananas, mashed fine
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon each, cloves, nutmeg and allspice
2 1/2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
Cream together sugar and butter, add beaten egg yolks and mashed bananas. Add alternately the sifted dry ingredients and milk. Fold in the egg whites. Bake in a large square pan which has been well greased, in a moderate (350-degree) oven 35 minutes. Ice with marshmallow icing.

Pop corn nuggets are an interesting addition to your money-raising bazaar. They will go over with the ladies who don't like to be caught munching a big mouthful of popcorn.

What Makes It So? If cake batter runs out of the pan when baking, it may be due to too small a pan, too slow an oven, too much sugar or shortening, or too much leavening. If the cake has a moist sticky crust, it is due to too much sugar in the recipe. If the crust is thick and heavy, the recipe may have too much flour, too long baking, too hot an oven, or not enough sugar or shortening. If a cake humps or cracks on top it may be because it has too much flour or was baked in too hot an oven. Coarse texture is due to too much leavening, not enough liquid, insufficient creaming of shortening and sugar, or too slow an oven.

2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup boiling water
Sift flour once, measure and resist twice with cocoa. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add well beaten eggs and beat until light and fluffy. Add soda to buttermilk. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk to creamed mixture, beating hard after each addition. Add vanilla, pour in boiling water and beat until smooth. Bake in two eight-inch greased tins in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30-35 minutes. Spread between layers and top with Seven Minute Icing.

Of all the cakes that have been developed, the one which is always ready to go over with a bang is this Graham Cracker Cake with a delicate orange topping:
Graham Cracker Cake
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup coconut or chopped nuts
25 graham crackers, rolled fine
2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks which have been beaten until light and lemon colored. Add milk and rolled, sifted crackers alternately, then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and baking powder. Bake in two greased eight-inch pans in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 30 minutes.

Orange icing can be made in a flash for it's uncooked. Cream two tablespoons of butter with 1/4 cups powdered sugar. Add the grated rind of one orange and enough orange juice to make a spreading consistency. Place in between the layers and ice top and sides.

Platters of assorted cookies are just the thing for your cake and cookie bazaar. You can expect lots of requests for recipes at such events.

For that melt-in-your-mouth quality, there's a spice cake that will fill the bill and then some. But this is not an ordinary spice cake, by any means. In addition to fine spices, it has the subtle flavor of bananas:

*Spice Cake
1/2 cup butter or substitute
2 cups brown sugar
4 eggs
3 bananas, mashed fine
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon each, cloves, nutmeg and allspice
2 1/2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
Cream together sugar and butter, add beaten egg yolks and mashed bananas. Add alternately the sifted dry ingredients and milk. Fold in the egg whites. Bake in a large square pan which has been well greased, in a moderate (350-degree) oven 35 minutes. Ice with marshmallow icing.

JESUS' UNDERSTANDING OF MAN

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 12:9-21. GOLDEN TEXT—And needed not that any should testify of man; for he knew what was in man.—John 2:25.

What is a man worth? That depends on your point of view. In a museum stands a collection of small jars containing minerals, water, etc., which make up the body of a man, and which are valued at less than a dollar. But there is more to man than his body.

And that "more"—intellectual and spiritual—is what determines his real value. Jesus understood (yes, and now He understands) man, and places a high valuation on him. That is worth knowing in a world where the price of humanity is often figured on the basis of his usefulness in warfare or the factory.

Jesus really understands man. He knows his I. Need (v. 9).

The first thing Jesus saw in the synagogue was not the leaders, or the beautifully appareled rich, or the learned scribes. He saw a man with a withered hand, one who needed His help. The enemies of Christ complimented Him by expecting Him to see the crippled one—and they "watched him" (Mark 3:2), for it was the Sabbath.

Do we see the real need of humanity? Does it speak to us and prompt us to helpful action? If not, are we like our Lord and Master?

II. Value (vv. 10-12). They who would not hesitate to save a sheep in distress on the Sabbath did not want the man to receive help. Thus they put property above the person of man, and showed their low valuation of man.

The dignity of man's personality, the fact that he is made in the likeness and image of God, the great potentialities which exist in every man—all these should urge upon the Christian church the need of a new and higher estimate of the worth of a man—or a boy or a girl. Let us look at them with God's eyes, and seek to win them for Him.

III. Faith (v. 13). No doubt this man had tried countless times to straighten out that withered arm. It was the very thing he most wanted to do, but it was quite impossible. Is Jesus then charging him with the impossible, asking him to do what cannot be done?

No, for He saw in this man the desire to be whole and faith in God's ability to make him whole. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan puts it well: "We turn from a contemplation of a withered hand and look at the face of Jesus. The moment we do this, we know that the command is possible because He commands it, however impossible it may appear. To look into that face must inevitably have meant to be certain that He was not there to reveal disability, save as He was also there to put an end to it."

IV. Emathy (vv. 14, 15a). Jesus saw the good in man. He also saw the evil. He was not unaware of the hatred and the dark devices of His enemies. Until the day when He was to permit them to take Him captive in the garden, He withdrew from them, leaving them to their evil designs and their wicked unbelief.

Sometimes when we see how the wicked seem to flourish in our day, how they appear to go on without let or hindrance, we are prone to forget that there is One who "sits in the shadows," and who knows and notes not only their ungodly deeds, but also their sinful thoughts.

He knows, and that is enough for us. Let us not be seeking vengeance, nor fretting ourselves because of evil doers. God knows, and He will care for it all.

V. Weakness (vv. 15b-21). Men hesitate to admit their weakness to one another, always trying to keep up the appearance of strength and success. Well, there is no need of that kind of subterfuge with God. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust" (Ps. 103: 14).

Jesus sympathized with those who were physically ill and He healed them (v. 15). What comfort there is in knowing that He is present at the sick bed of every believer, and that He is able to heal as it may be His will and purpose. Only He can do it.

But there is something even more precious here. Man is weak not only physically but spiritually. His spiritual light may at times be nearly out, just a smoldering wick instead of a brightly shining lamp. We might be tempted to say that it is so weak, so disagreeable, so smoky—let's put it entirely out. But not Jesus! He will, if permitted, fan it into flame again.

Then, too, man is like a broken reed. The picture is that of a stick cut to use for support as one walks. And then it breaks—what shall we do? Break it into smaller pieces and throw it away? Yes, that is what we will do if we have not the spirit of Jesus.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

John L. Collier, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., believes that it will be at least two years after the first recapture of Far East rubber-producing territories before normal operations can be restored. Meanwhile, synthetic and the constantly decreasing amount of natural rubber in the U. S. will have to take care of our requirements.

Every time an escort of 1,000 fighter planes goes into action on the battle front or on bombing raids, some 50 tons of rubber are being carried into the air. The U. S. War Department figures show that the average fighter plane has 105 pounds of rubber somewhere in its construction.

Why telephone equipment is scarce at home

The farther our forces advance, the more telephones, wires, and switchboards they need. So war has first call on the factories and manpower that make telephone equipment.

That's why it's necessary for more people to share party lines. If you are on a party line, please share it considerably and keep calls as brief as you can.

OCTOBER—NATIONAL WAR FUND MONTH. KEEP GIVING TO KEEP WINNING

For several weeks the Dept. of Public Welfare has been searching for a battery radio for a blind man who needs one and would sincerely appreciate owning one. A radio would help this man to recover some of the touch with the world about him which he has partially lost because of his blindness. The Dept. of Public Welfare has furnished this man with a talking book-machine which enables him to 'read' by means of sound.

Anyone knowing where there is a battery radio for sale at a reasonable price contact Alfred S. Chavez, County Public Welfare Director.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war sure has made a lot of changes in this old world of ours, hasn't it, Judge?"

"Plenty of them, John. One that few people realize is that the rubber producing center of the world is now right here in the United States."

"When the Japs conquered the big natural rubber producing centers of the world they thought they had us licked. But in two short years, thanks to American industry, we are now producing synthetic rubber enough to supply all our military and essential civilian needs."

"Our rubber experts knew how to make it but the problem was to get the huge amounts of industrial alcohol needed. Almost overnight the country's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey and converted 100% to the production of this vital ingredient. A high government official said recently this was an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war."

"Come to think of it, Judge, it was a mighty fortunate thing the beverage distilling industry was in existence, wasn't it?"

Fascinating Designs For Flower Boxes

Pattern No. Z9298

FIVE baby animals peep beguilingly over shoulders—and become fascinating designs for indoor flower boxes. Outlines for the fronts and backs of the pup, kitten, rabbit, lamb and duck are on Pattern No. Z9298.

Trace these outlines to plywood or thin lumber and cut out with jig, coping or keyhole saw. Then nail the fronts and backs to small troughs and paint in natural colors. Put each succulent or other small plants in these boxes.

Due to an unusually large demand and current war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers. Send your name, address, pattern number and 15 cents, the price of the pattern, to:

Freak Accidents

Many freak accidents occurred in the year 1943, but the following are the prize ones for that period, as announced by the National Safety Council:

First Prize: To soldier who was welded in his sleeping bag when a bolt of lightning struck his zipper.

Second Prize: To soldier whose left leg was broken by a coconut which was felled by a stray bullet.

Third Prize: To Washington rancher who was tossed in the air and stripped of all clothing except shoes and eyeglasses by the spinning reel of a combine.

When Your "Innards" are Crying the Blues

WHEN CONSTIPATION makes you feel peck as the dickens, brings on stomach upset, sour taste, gassy discomfort, take Dr. Caldwell's famous medicine to quickly pull the trigger on lazy "innards", and help you feel bright and chipper again.

DR. CALDWELL'S is the wonderful senna laxative contained in good old Syrup Pepsin to make it so easy to take.

MANY DOCTORS use senna preparations in prescriptions to make the medicine more palatable and agreeable to take. So be sure your laxative is contained in Syrup Pepsin.

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kurts, pilot of Flying Fortress "The Swoose," tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines, killing eight of his men and demolishing Old 79, with many other Forts, before it could get off the ground. After escaping to Australia, what is left of the 19th Bombardment Group flies to Java, where they defend the island until it falls. U. S. fliers evacuate to Australia to safety on the war from there. From its base in North Australia the 19th, plus the 7th, paste New Guinea and New Britain islands. Red Varner, Swoose crew chief, tells of a close call, with the general aboard. He had to hug the ground to prevent being dive-bombed.

CHAPTER XXIII

"So the Major started out then on an ordinary box-search problem, trying to find this Cloncurry—you fly 90 many minutes north, and then east, and then south, and then west, and then, lengthening your time, north again, and so on. We kept this up for quite a while, but no Cloncurry, and our gas was running out. I'll say this, though, the Major sure wasn't running short of advice. What with his cockpit full of air generals of all nations, he had plenty of that, and every different kind you can imagine—they all knew just what to do.

"The trouble was, every time he paced from the nose of the plane back to the tail, it would throw the plane out of balance, and Frank here would have to trim ship, in addition to all the questions he was answering. I guess this pacer had never thought of that.

"By this time Frank had decided the only thing to do was to make a forced landing, so he was leaning over the side trying to pick a spot.

"With all of those guys yammering at you, telling you what to do," said Red, "and this guy pacing. Only for a while he stopped, but just for a minute, while he was putting on a parachute. Why, I wouldn't quite know. Because we were down to 500 feet, and if he did jump of course it would never have time to crack. But I didn't say a word, because buckling himself in was keeping him quiet. Only right away he starts this pacing again, with the poor Major trying to nose her down for a crash landing, and he tells me to tell them all to get back in the tail so it will act as a brake, only this guy starts pacing again.

"Now I was getting the jumps, for even if the Major is the best pilot in the business, a crash landing is no joke, even for old-timers. So I grab this pacing guy and 'Now look,' I says to him. 'You may carry plenty of rank on your shoulders, out to this pilot you're just two hundred pounds of ballast. So now you quit shifting around—you get on back there and sit down.' And I nudged him back to the very tip end of the plane, and pushed him down, parachute and all, on that little seat. You've probably been wondering all along, just where this little seat is, on a bomber. Well, it's just where it would be any place else—even on a farm—all you do is follow the clothes line, back down to the end of the grape arbor, and there she sets.

"Well, I pushed him down on the seat, and in about a minute there was quite a bump, but still it was a perfect three-point landing. In four seconds the Major had her rolling smooth. The ground was soft. Twenty-five tons is a lot of bomber, and her wheels began to sink in—about six inches. But the Major could sense this, so he gave gas to all four engines to keep her rolling, and taxied her up to high ground hard enough to hold her up.

"We got out. Pretty soon Australian ranchers begin crawling out of holes in the ground—I don't know where else they came from—and right away Lieutenant Commander Johnson gets busy. He begins to get acquainted. They tell him where we are and some of them go off to get a truck to take us into town where we can telephone, and more keep coming, and Johnson is shaking hands all around, and he comes back and tells us these are real folks—the best darn folks in the world, except maybe the folks in his own Texas. Pretty soon he knows all their first names, and they're telling him why there ought to be a high tariff on wool, and there's no question he swung that county for Johnson before we left. He was in his element. I know he sure swung the Swoose crew. He can carry that precinct any day."

"Listening to him made us all homesick," said Frank, "so I suppose it was a good thing we got suddenly ordered back to the States at the end of the month. In a gurlous way I was ready now to come. I'd turned it down before, because after we were thrown out of Java we all had that sick feeling—trying to hold onto something that was slipping away in spite of everything you did. You couldn't walk out feeling things might suddenly cave in again.

"But now it was different. In Australia and that island chain above we were getting firmly set, the way we should have been in the Philippines and Java, and didn't have time.

"But we'd had it now, and knew how to use it. Best of all, we were finally getting some fighting equipment, not just production figures, so even though we were looking up plenty of heavy punches in the island chain, we were sure now we could at least hold them. But as yet I hadn't dared hope for much more.

"Only now I come to the thing which at last changed that, because I had to see it before I could believe it.

"It happened out on that long trans-Pacific trail where we've almost worn ruts in the sky between the States and Australia. It was like this. We were letting down for one of the island steppingstones which, according to Harry's navigation, should be somewhere ahead of us. It was very early in the morning. Harry's the best navigator in the business, and he had said we should be in there six hours from the time we left the last island. But of course his figures could be a little out, or maybe the wind drift would change—you never know. The Pacific is too big a place to take chances in, as Eddie Rickenbacker's party found out. So after we'd been out five hours we got the island on the radio, and asked them to give us searchlights, just so we wouldn't miss their little pinpoint in the dawn.

"We'd flown without change of course for five hours. Now Harry took his final shots and we started down the line to that island. Harry had said six hours—it took us just five hours and fifty-seven minutes. The island was an atoll around a shallow basin where Navy PBV flying boats could light. The atoll is two feet above high tide at its high point. On one side are labor construction tents, a cantonment building for the tiny garrison, ack-ack, searchlights, and even a tiny movie theater. On the other side is the landing strip. I'll swear Harry must have navigated not for the island, but for that landing strip itself. For without change of course, all we have to do is let our wheels down. Some day I want Eddie Rickenbacker to meet Harry.

"As we climbed out of the Swoose, the island garrison asked us, very excited, 'Did you see anything?' When we said we hadn't, they went off by themselves, whispering. I wanted to know what was up, so I asked their Colonel. Told him we were on an important mission ourselves—had a top-ranker aboard—and what did he expect here at this atoll?

"Trouble," he said. Looking at his little setup, I couldn't help thinking of those poor guys who were overwhelmed on Wake Island. But the Colonel wasn't sure what kind of trouble was coming. He only knew orders had mysteriously come putting the Navy patrol planes on extra-long hours, doubling shifts. Somewhere, somebody was certainly on the lookout for something, and those poor devils had to sit on that atoll and guess what it might be.

"It didn't smell good. We gassed up and got out forty-five minutes later, just as it was cracking dawn. By now, the equatorial front had dissolved into a spotted ceiling. I suppose we'd been going an hour when, through a hole in this ceiling, out suddenly popped four or five ships down on the wrinkled sea. But I could only look at one of them.

"Now you think you're a man, with everything under control, yet I'm telling you I reacted to this one the way a fox terrier does to a rat. Because it was a whopping aircraft carrier! And after Java and the Philippines, say 'carrier' to a pilot, and he steadies everything for his bomb run, tense as a violin string, hoping his bombardier has the hairlines of his bomb sight crossed on its flight deck just over the engine room. It's like a bird dog pointing quail, with his tail tip quivering. Only, after half a second, I'm a man again and can think, can remember we haven't any bombs swinging on their shackles in our bomb bays—nothing we can drop on this beautiful target but the high-ranking passenger who is riding with us.

"Then comes reaction number two. No bombs, but what about the carrier's covering fighters? You talk about a mother tiger fighting for her young—that's nothing to the way a patrolling carrier fighter will defend its mother ship. Because every carrier-based fighter knows that once his carrier is hit and the waves begin to sweep over that long flight deck, and one end of her holts up in the air, then he's out in the big sky by his lonesome—no pontoons, nothing to do but sink into the sea when his tanks are dry. Those Zeros will come screaming in to hit me from almost any cloud. Since I can't make a bomb run, I must get away quick!

"But now, over the interphones, comes a shout—they've spotted another carrier. I look and see it too. Then another! And now—my God, it can't be, but it is—four! It makes us frantic we haven't got something to plunk through those smooth flight decks into their engine rooms, and maybe blow a few square yards out of the bottom of their hulls!

"Only we now grow cold, because where are the escorting fighters? We can't speed up, because they should be up ahead, but they might show up any place—come leaping up at us out of this fleecy blanket of over-cast like dolphins jumping through the foam.

"Down there are not only four carriers but a gang of other stuff—a dog of destroyers, at least fifteen cruisers, and one thundering big battleship. Only as a bomber pilot I'm fixed on those carriers, enormous brutes. Too enormous. Say, what's going on? Because Jap carriers are little devils—you can hardly pack forty planes into them, while these might hold double that, like our best ones. Now wait. Maybe we're too low and these just look big, but no—I glance at the altimeter and we're at 7,500.

"So they're ours! This big parade of surface strength is us Americans! I change course just the same—30 degrees, swinging wide of this big naval parade, because we can take no chances on their air patrol. Even an American carrier fighter, when he sees a bomber over his mother ship, should shoot first and ask questions later. We don't want to tangle with Grummans.

"We swing out wide and away, but with what a different feeling! 'Well, I guess that's about all, except on our homeward trip, we cracked the trans-Pacific record wide open. The old Swoose, with her war-worn motors, made it from Brisbane to San Francisco in thirty-six hours ten minutes flying time, the only one of the original 35 on Clark Field to see home again."

"When they said long distance was calling from San Francisco, of course that didn't mean anything to me," said Margo. "With two brothers in the Air Corps, one in bombardment and one in pursuit, it might be either one. Then I heard Frank's own voice saying 'Margo?' Because I hadn't heard any overseas operators, or any censor clicking in. I knew he must be here in the States. For the first time I could cry on the phone. . . . It's nice to be strong, but so much more fun to let down when you can, and I did."

Ft. Stanton Library

In supplementing the drive for cash donations with which to purchase books for the Fort Stanton Hospital Library, Mr. John McGarr, Librarian, asks that we contribute any books or late publications that might furnish the only recreation available to the many patients of this facility.

Many of these patients are victims of the present war as a result of extreme exposure from having had their ships sunk by enemy submarines and bombers.

These Seamen who manned our Merchant Marine ships supplying our Allies and our own fighting men when the odds were definitely against them ever getting through have certainly performed a patriotic duty and are deserving of our every consideration in their fight for recovery.

Many of these men will be bed patients for months and will be appreciative of that book you have finished reading.

Gather up these books and publications and turn them in to the committee-women of the following communities:
