Fourth of July, 1890.
Next Friday will be the 114th anniversary of American Independence, and the occasion is one worthy of consideration—the connection of the Day with the past, present and future.
114 years ago the population of the Colonies was but little over three millions, a considerable proportion of which was negroes of foreign extraction. When the late civil war broke out the population of the States was less than thirty-one millions with a computed wealth of sixteen billions. This year of our Lord the population will border closely on seventy millions, with a computed wealth of some sixty billions of dollars.
Our forefathers never saw a R. R. or even a steamboat, for there were none in the world in their day. Here, again, we see evidence of the progress of our country. In 1861, when the war bugle sounded “to arms!” there were but little over 80,000 miles of railroad in the country—to-day we have over 140,000 miles, (not counting the White Oaks R. R.), in ante-bellum days the manufactured commodities of the country were $1,800,000 while to-day they are over $7,000,000,000. Again, speaking of the innocence of our forefathers as compared with our advanced intelligence, not one of them ever licked a postage stamp, cried “hell-o!” through a telephone, sent a telegram, or over rode a bicycle. But in their day they were giants, more than a breast of the age.
In 30 years our foreign commerce has more than doubled, and our internal commerce is more than $10,000,000,000 per year, while, according to official figures, our work-people have on deposit in the savings-institutions of the country over $1,100,000,000, so that to-day the United States stands in wealth, power, grandeur and civilization, first among the nations of the earth.
Now, what have we got to be peculiarly and honestly boastful of? Lots. We are, beyond cavil or dispute the freest people on earth. Men or women may sit on pedestals, far above their fellows, and have in their hands gilded scepters signifying authority; but here, in this country, every man is a king, every woman a queen. God bless our kings and queens!
Our country is the greatest and most versatile producer on earth, and there is no music sweeter than the scream of our eagle. Other nations may excel us in some particulars—Germany in music, Italy in art, Greece in literature, France in culture and England in foreign policy, but we are the only nation that has no special weakness.
Our country is the greatest and most versatile producer on earth, and there is no music sweeter than the scream of our eagle. Other nations may excel us in some particulars—Germany in music, Italy in art, Greece in literature, France in culture and England in foreign policy, but we are the only nation that has no special weakness.

tion has, namely, a hazardous one of the future on which our flag, the Stars and Stripes, shall forever float.
So solid are we that we have no standing army, while ten nations of Europe, covering less area than the U. S., have 3,500,000 men in arms.
Then we have abundant resources, which means that the forces of men may flow over beyond the mere struggle for existence, giving him time to play, to read, to dream. It gives the average man and woman time to think of something else besides bread, meat and coal, to really live.
Then Americans have a typical characteristic, a spirit of buoyancy, restlessness and activity; an aspiring, patriotic mind which enables it to stand before any of the institutions of the old countries and say: “You excel us in some things and we revere you because of your age, but we belong to the future, and, as Franklin said, it is the rising and not the setting sun that gilds our banner. Selah.”
SERGENT DUNN, of the United States Signal Station of New York, who figured so conspicuously in the great scare to the people of the lower Mississippi Valley last Spring by foretelling an unparalleled overflow of the Father of Waters in that region, is again out in the role of prophet by announcing that the extensive irrigation system of Wyoming, Colorado, and other western States and Territories has caused the stormy track to follow such irrigating enterprises, and that those regions where such systems had not been adopted had failed in the great beneficent rain falls and will not realize such results until this system is adopted and put into operation. Now, this is good news in one respect and bad in another. The great Pecos Valley irrigation enterprise, according to Sergt. Dunn is now destined to give a plenty of water and good seasons in the future, and the system is on such a large scale that enough rain will hereafter be had for northern Lincoln Co. The Government will not help even a little bit, but this enterprise must hereafter be wholly carried forward by personal capital and individual enterprise. Now, Sergt., this is a little too bad. Why could you not have privately given us this information until we had secured the Government aid and then made the matter public. However, we will get our buckets, barrels and cisterns ready for the shower, and when filled we will conclude it is an ill wind which blows luck to no one.
Guest (from the rural districts.)—Say, Mister, can you have a little more water put in room?
Hotel Clerk—Why, you have a pitcher full there. How much more do you require?
Guest—Well, I have three shirts and a pair of socks to wash yet.
Hotel Mail.
Smith—Look here when I engaged this room you told me it was furnished, but I find nothing but a bed in it. How is that?
Landlord—That's all right. I furnish the room and you furnish the bedding.

STANLEY.
Henry M. Stanley, the now famous explorer, who is receiving the well earned homage of crowded heads, celebrities and the applause of the world as he is welcomed back to civilization from the dark wilds of equatorial Africa, was born in the year 1840, in Wales, of parents poor but honest, and at the age of 13 years, up to which time he was a public charge, he felt the restlessness and activity of the coming man, urging him to visit America as being more conducive to the full play of all of his faculties, and we find him a cabin boy on a ship bound for New Orleans.
Arriving safely at his destination he soon attracted the attention of a gentleman by the name of Stanley, who adopted the orphan and stranger and made him his own son, giving him his name. The boy's parental name was Rowlands. Young Stanley was soon left alone by the death of his foster parent and again thrown upon the exercise of his own powers to gain a livelihood. He soon found himself in the golden State of California, where he was called upon by the outbreaking of the war and he hastened to respond to the call of his adopted country and joined—the Confederate army, and was soon taken prisoner. Upon gaining his freedom he entered the U. S. service in the Navy. At the close of the war he made his way to New York, where he made the acquaintance and gained the confidence of James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald. How was sent as a correspondent to Abyssinia. Here, in the midst of dangers and great difficulties, he won a name and renown by his bravery and daring and on the close of that short war he was sent to Spain, but was soon recalled to undertake another expedition that resulted in making him the foremost explorer and most successful traveler among uncivilized peoples the world has ever known. The search for Dr. Livingstone who was and had been lost to civilization for several years, and Stanley's success and his triumphant return reads more like the Arabian Nights tales than the possible events of this fast, practical age. It would seem that such success as had crowned Mr. Stanley's efforts would have been sufficient to satisfy the most ambitious spirit which can only feed on the stimulus of adventure and dauntless work would be a loss daring spirit than Stanley's. But to him it was only the prelude to grander harmony, of still greater glory. The journeys made in the search for Dr. Livingstone had been those of a careful, practical and keen observer, and to the quick mind of Stanley it was most natural he should hastily conclude that equatorial Africa was rich in commodities of commerce as well as adventure, and he was fired by the spirit of enterprise which might result in giving a continent to America whose future commerce should astonish the world and give wealth and greater renown and celebrity to Henry M. Stanley.
To one of such mental capacity as his, to conclude war to war, and falling to interesting the capital of New York in how to be his on terprise he hastened to Europe and was favorably received by the King of Belgium, Leopold, whose public spirit and progressive tendencies made him more a true king among men than his crown, and soon arrangements were in progress of completion that again sent Henry M. Stanley to win and conquer an empire, not by battles and blood, bloody war and fearful carnage, but by fearless bravery, consummate tact and Christian heroism, which for all time will make the fame of Henry M. Stanley second to none of the world's benefactors.

This sketch of a remarkable character will, in our next issue, be brought down to the present day.
DEN. HENRY'S LETTER.
Washington, D. C., June 14, 1890.
EDITOR LEADER—
The length of the present session of Congress is still a matter of doubt. It may adjourn in July and it may go into September. The tariff bill has just been re-printed and will be called up again, but differences will be discovered that will cause further delay.
The Public Printer asked for $2,800,000 for the approaching fiscal year and his chief clerk stated that even more would be required next year. The committee cut down the amount to $2,250,000. That sum seems very large for one printing office. Government work is increasing and more men are being employed in this branch than ever before. There is plenty of room for improvement both in amount of work done, in the cost of the work and in the quality. Men too often get into important positions in Government employ who are unfit and could not fill such places for individuals. It is so easy to pay out the Government dollar, you know the Civil Service investigation, as reported, has been overhauled and revised and corrected to suit those accused of wrong doing until nothing will be done in the matter. Such changes have been made in the original testimony as “yes” from “no,” and “I did” from “I did not,” and so on.

Turk-South Homestead Mill started up this week on another run, with good ore as the prophecy of a golden harvest. We like this kind of music and the owners are deserving the results.

Johnson, the Irish Jew, of Lincoln, was in town on Tuesday, his first visit in four years. He expressed surprise at the growth of our town since his last visit.

W. S. PRAGER passed through town on Monday enroute from St. Louis to his Roswell home. He reports that in a month or two active work looking to the completion of the big ditch will be resumed.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Mrs. W. S. PRAGER reports that in a month or two active work looking to the completion of the big ditch will be resumed.

Rev. J. M. STEVENSON will conduct the services at the Methodist Church Sunday and Sunday evening. There will be preaching Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, after which the Quarterly Conference will convene. All are respectfully and cordially invited to attend.

HARRY W. LYONS, of Silver City, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal of the Grand Lodge, K. of P. of New Mexico, dropped down on our camp Tuesday last and on the evening of that day he inspected Backer Lodge here. From this point he goes to visit the Theobald lodge, and thence to Roswell, at which point he will hold a new lodge which will be organized at Roswell Lodge, Nov. 11. Mr. L. is a clerk of the Grand Lodge of Silver City, and a live real estate dealer in that city.

The ice cream festival given by the W. O. Church South of this town Friday night of last week called a large number of persons and resulted in a very enjoyable occasion.

The LEADER acknowledges an invitation extended by the San Francisco Chronicle to attend the inauguration of its new office building on the occasion of that paper's 25th anniversary. When started it occupied a two-story structure - now it owns a 10-story with tower building. The success of the Chronicle has been phenomenal.

The first number of The Inter-Mountain Mining Review, of Salt Lake City, Utah, reached us this week. This is a much needed publication and its appearance and general make-up, together with its comprehensive articles relative to the mining industries of Utah, makes it a valuable accession to our list of exchanges. Messrs. Frank Burk as editor, and E. B. Aspinwall as publisher, have made a good beginning in the journalistic field and we bid them God-speed in their new undertaking.

Mrs. Mrs. Jamie and Morris Parker, sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Barker, of this place, returned to their home last Sunday after an absence of several months attending school at Colorado Springs, Col. These young men are most favorably known by their residence in the city for several years, and their kindly bearing and gentlemanly disposition have won them many friends. We congratulate the family and community on this accession to White Oaks domestic and social life.

W. S. PRAGER has been authorized by the W. O. M. & M. Co. to complete, at least as far as White Oaks, the extension of the A. T. & S. F. company before the 1st of August. It would seem that the outlook for railroad developments in New Mexico is of the most encouraging nature. It will cost several million dollars to carry out these several enterprises, and several million dollars more to complete the same. The work will have commenced on the San Pedro extension of the A. T. & S. F. company before the 1st of August. It would seem that the outlook for railroad developments in New Mexico is of the most encouraging nature.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

ARRANGE the regular religious services of the White Oaks Congregational Church Sunday evening, June 15, 20, the following preamble and resolutions were presented and read by Capt. E. McElroy, and moved by Geo. B. Barber, Esq., that they be adopted at the next meeting (held by several) and adopted unanimously by a rising vote:

Whereas Miss Abbie F. Hull, under the auspices of the New West Education Commission, has had charge of the White Oaks Academy during the past year, and whereas, during the period of her said charge, she has given universal satisfaction as a teacher to parents and pupils; and whereas, Miss Hull is about to depart for her old home in the East to enjoy a well earned vacation, therefore, Resolved, That the citizens of White Oaks desire, and do hereby tender to her their sincere thanks for the faithful and efficient service rendered by her as a teacher, and in so publicly expressing their thanks do so with unqualified pleasure, for during her residence in our midst she has not only proved her worth as a teacher, but has also endeared herself to parents and pupils by the exercise of those virtues which enable the Christian woman; and be it further Resolved, That the New West Education Commission, their Superintendent, Rev. E. Lyman Hood, be requested to secure the services of Miss Hull for the coming year.

And as a further token of our appreciation of her worth as a teacher and a woman, we hereby tender to her a copy of these resolutions; and also that a copy be forwarded to Dr. Charles R. Miller, Secretary of the New West Commission.

It is for the Democrats to never so happy as when denigrating Republicans as thieves in face of the fact that the Republican party was the one that ever developed the silver coinage. The other day the Globe Democrat was caught in a trap to particulars also for a sketch of the champion thief, Tweed, and we clip it's reply:

"The most important steals by State Treasurers in the past dozen years or thereabout, and the names of the recipients and the amounts of the steals, in round figures, are as follows: Churchill, Arkansas, $30,000; Polk, of Tennessee, $400,000; Vincent, of Alabama, $240,000; Tate, of Kentucky, $247,000; Burke, of Louisiana, $527,000; Norland, of Missouri, $22,000; Hemphrey, of Mississippi, $315,000; and Archer, of Mississippi, $200,000. These men were all Democrats. William M. Tweed was a Democratic politician, who summarily held the purse of Appleton, and Deputy Street Commissioner of New York City. State Senator and Commissioner of the Department of Public Works in the city. For his dishonest practices while in the two posts last named he was fined in 1871 and 1872, convicted in twelve years imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $20,000 in 1875. He was a Republican."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Mrs. W. S. PRAGER reports that in a month or two active work looking to the completion of the big ditch will be resumed.

"FUNNY!" Well, I should say so! Look at the one in front! He is a kid to the knees, rubber boots, bare arms, an immense mustache, and a beard! What is it? Why, that is a modern Columbus in the uniform of that name given to a dramatic club of the celebrated 66th Regiment of New York, and these illustrations and the account of it are as you see in Des Moines' Family Magazine for July, which has just arrived. The pictures of the six footers of the Seventh, arrayed in feminine toggery are about the funniest that have appeared in any magazine for a long time. This number also contains a beautifully illustrated article on the interior of Vice President Morton's house, which is full of suggestions for modern household furnishings. The article is Stanley's Rescue of Emma, profusely illustrated, and also of interest at this time; and "The House-Boat in American Waters" will give hints to many who are wondering how to spend the summer. Indeed the whole Magazine from the handsome Watercolor in the front to the "Spice Box" in the back is artistically and handsomely executed. It is wonderful how Des Moines' Family Magazine has come to the front in the past few years, and now stands in the forward of the Great Magazines. Indeed, there is no other Magazine published that so acceptably caters to every member of the family. Published by W. JENNINGS, Des Moines, 15 East 14th St., New York.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Mrs. WINDLUM'S BOYBINDER SYSTEM, for children, is the best of its kind in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It relieves the child from pain, nervousness and distraction, and gives health to the child & roots the mother. Price 25c. a bottle.

E. R. CLINE was last week the recipient of a nice present which no one but his wife would or could have given him - a bouncing boy, the image of his pap. Cline did nothing all day but kiss the mother and little one, and congratulate himself. In the latter exercise we desire to take a hand.

Mrs. AL. GUITTARD, who with her husband left here a year ago, arrived in the Oaks on Sunday last to visit for a week. Al was not successful in his business venture at Albuquerque, and is now working at Lake Valley. We are indebted to Mrs. G. for friendly calls. She leaves next week for her new home.

A Malted Mamma. This baby of ours has been blessed to a teaspoon. It often has a humped appearance - on stomach. Scurvy, the stercoraceous, typhoid, digestion dies and refuses to return. What can break the spell, what can raise the babe laid upon the unhappy parent? We answer unhesitatingly, Mother's Malted Mamma, and we are warranted in the opinion of the mother, because in many cases of the children, and completely satisfied with the result in our patients, we can say that the mother restores her milk, her appetite, her strength and her health. We are sure, every mother who has used the Malted Mamma, and who has seen the result, will say that it is the best, and that it is the only one that will restore the mother's milk, her appetite, her strength and her health.

We are in receipt of a letter from our old Las Vegas friend, J. J. Fitzgerald, who informs us that he is now engaged in heading the construction of a R. R. 185 miles long in Old Mexico, and desires his LEADER transferred to Chihuahua. She goes. In concluding his letter, he says: "I am glad to see you are fighting for a second. Right, as usual."

John K. Byers, County Superintendent.

About a year ago Ernest Langston dropped his stick in the LEADER office and went to College at Springfield, Mo. We are in receipt of "The Drury Mirror" organ of the College, dated June 13, giving an account of College Commencement exercises, which, among other mentions says: "Ernest Langston, of White Oaks, N. M., was introduced. Mr. Langston chose for his subject, 'The Minute Man of the Revolution,' which he delivered with credit to himself and was highly complimented by his many friends." While feeling a personal interest and pride in the promise which confronts the microscope of Ernest, we take opportunity to congratulate his parents upon the honor he bids fair to shed upon them.

Why Woman is Men's Very Best Friend. First and foremost, woman is man's best friend: Because she is his mother. Because she is his wife. Because she is his patient in illness, endures his fretfulness and "mothers" him. Because she will stick to him through good and evil report, and always believe in him, if she loves him. Because without her, would be rude, rough and usually. Because she teaches him the value of gentle words, of kindly thought and of consideration. Because she can with him, endure pain quietly, and meet joy gladly. Because, on her breast, he can shed tears of repentance, and he is never reminded of them afterward. Because when he is behaving like a faithful boy - and you all do you know, at times - with no reason in the world for it, woman's soft word, touch or glance will make him ashamed of himself as he ought to be. Because without her as an incentive he would grow lazy; there would be no good work done, there would be no noble books written, there would be no beautiful pictures painted, there would be no divine strains of melody.
