We want no hermophradite democrats whose political sex is, or has been in doubt. * * * We want men whose hands are clean and whose records are not soiled by any complications with republican schemes to defraud the people. The time has arrived for a great effort at reforming the political condition of the Territory. —Albuquerque Democrat.

This "hermophradite" which the Democrat does not wish does not exist. Such a word is not found in the English language, no where save in the fertile brain of the editor from whom we quote. It cannot be found in the dictionaries. But it is as much of a verity as the Democrat's desire for real reform. It is as real as the so-called arguments of the democratic party of New Mexico against Statehood. They are the offspring of a diseased political imagination, and when the vote of Oct. 7th. next, is counted, it will be found that "hermophradite" is another name for the democratic rooster. He will be nowhere.

Put on the Brakes

If you find you are going down hill in point of health. Failing strength, impaired digestion and assimilation and the marks of decline. Check these and other indications of premature decay with the great Vitalizer and restorative tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Regulator of the liver, the stomach, the bowels, promotes its healthful action, prevents the accumulation of bile, and by its vigorous action throws off the morbid matter which, if allowed to remain, poisons the blood, superinduces biliousness, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney troubles and nervousness.

THE EAGLE TRADUCED.

The republicans of Indiana have adopted the eagle for their symbol and certain republicans were in favor of adopting the same emblem in this territory. It should have been done by all means, for of all feathered bipeds the eagle is most like the republican party. It is a scoundrelly, rapacious, destructive creature, living only for its own good, and the enemy of every creature weaker and better than itself. It is a thief and a sneak, the destruction of which is demanded by the welfare of civilized man. It hasn't even the plea of usefulness, which apologizes for the carrion crow. In a word, like the republican party, it is clothed in romances with virtues it never possessed, while in reality it is one of the vilest, filthiest and most destructive creatures God ever made. In fact, it is the most fitting type of republicanism man ever devised. —Albuquerque Democrat.

Well, really, Mr. Democrat, we sympathise with your insatiate hatred for the poor eagle. We agree with you in one respect, viz., that the eagle could not by any manner of means be a fit emblem of the democratic party, especially as you so desperately hate it. Of course the rooster is the most appropriate for you and the party whose champion you are, inasmuch as it's most characteristic condition is that after a battle he comes back to his coop with a sore head and bedraggled tail, so very graceful and noble in his defeat, a synonym of all that is woe-begone and sneaking, crawling to the foot of his dunghill that he is too cowardly to climb lest his enemy be lurking near to renew the battle that he, the rooster, had lost. How different that grand old eagle, "Old Abe," which followed the fortunes of a Wisconsin regiment through the late war, cheering the boys in blue by his exultant and inspiring screams, and at the conclusion of an engagement, whether of success or defeat, was wont to resume it's position on the tip of his color bearer's pole and scream defiance at the enemy.

But, Mr. Democrat, how is it that you do so really hate the typical American bird? Of course you cannot be a native-born American citizen, and the ship you came over on must have had an elephant or a dragon, or some such emblem to indicate it's nationality; or was it a lion and unicorn, as contradistinguished from the "legal?"—The shamrock is a modest plant and yet the brave and heroic son of Erin feels proud to wear it in his button-hole. In fact we are unacquainted with your nationality, for the rooster is little known except it may be in the Democrat's coop in the suburbs of Albuquerq. And really, it was a little too previous that those deluded Indiana Republicans should have had the temerity to choose this ignoble bird, the hateful, cowardly eagle, for their symbol, especially when it is such an annoyance to you.—To be sure they could have meant it only as a political joke for they could not have hoped to succeed with such a representative of all that is cowardly and mean. Of course they ought to have taken to your lordly symbol and you are very kind in suggesting it. We will be sure to notify them before the 4th of November next and they will doubtless hereafter adopt the brother-in-law of your symbol the crow, or, if preferable to you, the buzzard, for there will be many democratic carcases to dispose of. We thank you for the suggestion.

And yet, Mr. Democrat, did you ever read or hear of a nation in past history which was proud to acknowledge the ignoble bird who bears your bitterest hatred as the symbol of it's nationality!—The Roman eagle was known and feared by all the nations of the world when old Rome ruled the world from her seven-hilled city, and while to be a citizen of Rome was a claim to make the heart of any man proud. Yet that citizenship was made possible only because the Roman eagle was feared and respected by all. Then the Napoleonic eagle was somewhat of a majestic bird. In modern times a western nation that adopted you in it's beginning saw fit, foolishly, perhaps, to adopt this "mean and cowardly bird" as the symbol of it's nationality. Yes, the United States of America so loved this "thief and sneak" the eagle, to be it's symbol and give it a prominent place, even to stamp it on it's gold and silver coins. Of course you would have none of them with this "filthiest, vilest and most destructive creatures" on, would you—might soil your immaculate pockets.

Withal, the eagle is the king of birds and represents the grandest and mightiest nation on earth. It has served it's purpose well as the national emblem of our country—our country, not yours—and as such it is appropriately fitting that the Republicans of Indiana should adopt it as it's symbol, but it is the proper symbol of the Republican party of the Nation. Do you ask, why? Because this party is the kingly party of the Nation in the sense that it holds a position so far above and in advance of the one you represent, in it's origin, history and present aims to perpetuate the Nation it was born to save and did save from the filthy talons of the democratic rooster which sought for years to destroy it.—And now, having made of it the greatest nation of the earth it is eminently proper that it should still carry it above the filth and mire of democratic corruption—that the institutions of our fathers shall be ever safe from this vampire that has always sought it's life.

Further, Mr. Democrat, you will see that this noble eagle, that you wisely say is "a fit representative of the Republican party," will carry the Territory of New Mexico so safely out of the grasp and power of the democratic rooster on November 4th next the sight of this woe-begone symbol you have adopted will appear again only to plague you, with not enough life in it to crow even a little bit.

Hurrah for the American, the Republican Eagle!—and the American, the Republican Flag!—Selah!

On a tree there sat a crow,
In his bill a chunk of cheese,
On the ground a fox below
Said: "Some music if you please
You are beautiful of wing,
And I bet that you can sing."

Cheered by flattery, the crow
Sang and dropped the cheese belo'
Then the cunning fox did seize
To that fallen chunk of cheese,
And he calmly lugged it off,
And he scoffed the song with scoff.

The Albuquerque Democrat publishes a list of large grant holders, all Republicans. It makes no note of Joseph, one of the largest holders in the Territory.—It puts C. B. Eddy down as holding a grant of several hundred thousand acres in this county, whereas everybody knows there never was a grant in Lincoln Co. The Democrat is nothing if not unreliable.

"Freddie have you seen my spectacles?"

"Your gold-rimmed glasses grandma?"

"Yes."

"What you wear on your nose and see through?"

Yes; where are they?"

"The glasses that grampa gave you?"

"Yes."

"For a Christmas present?"

"Yes tell me where they are."

"Are they the glasses that you read the Bible with gramma?"

"Oh, yes! I'm getting impatient Freddie. Get them for me?"

"Glasses that you about David and Gerliah with, and three children in the fiery furnace?"

"Yes the same glasses. Tell where they are and quit asking so many questions."

"Do you want to raed with them now grandma?"

"No; I want to sew."

"What are you going to sew, gramma?"

"I want to hem a few handkerchiefs."

"For me?"

"No; for grandpa. Where are those glasses you little torment?"

You can't sow with the glasses can you gramma?"

"Of course I can. I can't sew without them."

"I though you sowed with a sewing machine grandma?"

"O you aggravating boy! Look right at me! Now tell me where those glasses are."

"Dunno."

"Have n't you seen them lately?"

"Nome." —Wm. H. Switzer "in Puck."

The latest news is that which comes in after a paper has gone to press. It is too late for anything

If I could read my title clear to castles in the air,
And could secure a baronet, my father's cash to share,
I'd bid farewell to earthly woes and wipe my weeping eyes,
For what's the use of money if you can't have what it buys?

If I could drop my maiden name—the ordinary Brown,
And call myself "My Lady," and could wear a ducal crown,
I'd never more feel envy, but enjoy that blissful rest
That comes alone from owning a coat-of-arms and crest.

If I could only change my friends, that everlasting mob,
Of Misters and of Misses, known as Clara, Dick or Bob,
I always would be happy, and no sinful pride evince,
If I could hear my intimates called Baron Duke or Prince.

If I could lose my nasal twang and Democratic face,
And buy myself the figure of a more patrician pace,
I'd never, by my carriage, or by word or look betray
The fact that I was born and bred in plain America!

The N. Y. Sun thinks the rise in silver will put about $100,000,000 a year into the pocket of American producers of cotton and wheat. Large as the estimate is it is not in the least unreasonable. A rise of two cents a pound in cotton is easily figured out as the result of silver legislation and a corresponding rise in wheat is inevitable. The advocates of silver have maintained all along the low prices of American produce in foreign markets was caused in part by the demonetization and consequent depression of silver. The gold men, however, were firm in the belief that the price of products was regulated by the the law of demand and supply and treated with derision the proposition that legislation might influence the law. The so-called silver lunatics are now having their innings. The theories of the gold men are exploded. Nothing has happened as they predicted and almost everything has happened that they predicted would not happen. In speculating upon the probable result of the Congressional elections the effect of the rise in silver should not be over looked. The Silver Act is a Republican measure. If the Democrats had succeeded in defeating their President in 1888 and a Congress of the same political color, silver would have been a drug at 70 cents on the $1. Now it is worth 90 cents with further rise of 10 cents inevitable. The $100,000,000 a year thus distributed among producers of cotton, wheat and oil is one of the results of Republican success in 1888.—S. F. Call.

FAMILY SCRAP-BASKET.

An Interesting Conglomerate of Household Fact and Fancy.

The most successful method of destroying black ants that infest a house is to pour kerosene down their holes, which will be found near the house somewhere. Set it on fire, and cover over all a wet pad or old blanket. In this way a complete colony may be wiped out.

In putting down carpets if care is exercised in thoroughly drying the floors beforehand, the moths will not be so liable to bother in the house.

When making frosting in warm weather, set the whites of the eggs on ice for a short time before using.

No matter how large the spot of oil, any carpet or woolen stuff can be cleaned by applying buckwheat plentifully and faithfully, brushing it into a dust-pan after a short time, and putting on fresh until the oil has all disappeared.

Every mother knows how difficult it is to clean the baby' finger-nails. By folding some tissue paper into a sharp point, and when using it calling the attention of the baby to something else, this simple task can be easily performed. The paper is so soft that it does not hurt the tender flesh, yet it is sufficiently firm to remove every particle of dirt.

Lard may be made perfectly sweet by boiling a pared potato in it.

After beating an egg thoroughly in a bowl, add a cup of cold water and use enough of this to wet your coffee when making. Keep it in a cool place and so waste no more egg by drying.

Willow furniture should be scrubbed well with salt and water, applied with a nail brush, to clean it. Dry it thoroughly.

Cups and saucers stained with tea may be made bright again by using damp salt.

Placing a piece of zinc on the live coals in a stove or grate is an easy way to clean a sooty chimney.

A large proportion of the "currant jelly" sold to hotel-keepers and bakers is said to be manufactured from gluten and molds, colored to resemble somewhat the genuine article. As it can be bought for about four cents a pound, and "answers the purpose" as well as the more costly genuine jelly, the latter is not in great demand.

Kerosene oil should be kept for use in air-tight closed vessels. A large quantity is best kept in a well-corked can, provided with a faucet an inch or two from the bottom, so that the oil can be drawn off as required without disturbing the sediment which usually collects on the bottom of the vessel. The oil for daily use should be kept in a small can, kept corked at the nock and spout. If either cork be left out for a day or two, the oil will burn dull and cake on the wick, especially if the kerosene is kept in a warm place.

If the eggs you have to use for frosting are not quite as fresh as you could desire, a pinch of salt will make them beat stiffly.—Boston Budget.

THE WHITE ROSE ROAD.

A Charming Poem in Prose by Sarah Orne Jewett.

It was a country of wild flowers; the last of the columbines were clinging to the hillsides; down in the small, fenced meadows belonging to the farm were meadow rue just coming in flower, and red and white clover; the golden buttercups were thicker than the grass, while many mullein were standing straight and slender among the pine stumps, with their first blossoms atop. Rudbeckias had found their way in, and appeared more than ever like bold foreigners. Their names should be translated into country speech, and the children ought to call them "rude-beckies," by way of relating them to bouncing-bets and sweet-williams. The pasture grass was green and thick after the plentiful rains, and the busy cattle took little notice of us as they browsed steadily and tinkled their pleasant bells. Looking off, the smooth, round back of Great Hill caught the sunlight with its fields of young grain, and all the long wooded slopes and valleys were fresh and fair in the June weather, away toward the blue New Hampshire hills on the northern horizon. Seaward stood Agamenticus, dark with its pitch pines, and the far sea itself, blue and calm, ruled the uneven country with its unchangeable line.

Out on the white rose road again, we saw more of the rose trees than ever, and now and then a carefully tended flower garden, always delightful to see and to think about. They are not made by merely looking through a florist's catalogue, and ordering this or that new seedling—a proper selection of bulbs or plants—every thing in a country garden has a history and personal association. The old bushes, the perennials, are apt to have most tender relationship with the hands that planted them long ago. There is a constant exchange of such treasures between the neighbors, and in the spring slips and cuttings may be seen rooting on the window ledges, while the house plants give endless work all winter long, since they need careful protection against frosts long nights of the severe weather. A flower-loving woman brings back from every one of her infrequent journeys some treasure of flower-seeds or a huge miscellaneous nosegay. Time to work in the little plot of pleasure-ground is hardly won by the busy mistress of the farm-house.—Sarah Orne Jewett, in Atlantic.

Excellent Train Service.

The perfect schedule of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Rincon, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Spring, also Denver, and at Burton for St. Louis via the Frisco Ry.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

Inquire of local agent, or write to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A., Topeka, Kans.

Free Reading Matter.

There are various schemes for supplying reading matter at a trifle above actual cost. What would you think if you could get good literature free?

Drop a posta to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kan., and ask for a copy of "To Mexico by Palace Car." You can also procure free copies of "A Santa Barbara Holiday," Guide to San Diego Bay Region," "Las Vegas Hot Springs Guide," and folders relating to Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workmen Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on this subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," or have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest quicker the same as for theft.

Mrs. Lee. "Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manage to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen—and she makes all her own clothes. But see how much I spend."

Mr. Lee. "What is that?"

Mrs. Lee. "Oh, she gets all of her information from the Magazines they take. I admit that she knows all that is going on, and is bright and well as she does if I had the same source of information. She lent me the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about perfect social matters and the topics of the day, than I would pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. It certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of housekeeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Minnie goes over to the Allens' she comes back and teases me to get you to take Demorest's Family Magazine, as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a place is found for them also in the paper; and Mr. Allen swears by it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family!"

Mr. Lee. "Well, perhaps I had better send for a Specimen Copy I for, if it is anything like what you say it is, it will amuse the whole of us."

Mrs. Lee. "I see that W. Jennings Demorest, the publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 10 cents, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a 'Pattern Order' entitling the holder to any Pattern she may choose, and in any size—which alone makes each copy worth 30 cents; and I just want a jacket pattern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $1 a year, and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."

Dobbins' Electric Soap

THE BEST FAMILY SOAP IN THE WORLD.

It is Strictly Pure. Uniform in Quality.

THE original formula for which we paid fifteen years ago has never been modified or changed in the slightest. This soap is identical in quality to-day with that made twenty years ago.

It cleans nothing dirty, but will not injure the finest fabric. It lightens the labor of washing and cleaning.

It washes flannels and blankets as no other soap in the world does—without shrinking—leaving them soft and white and like new.

READ THIS TWICE

THERE is a great saving of time, of labor, of soap, of fuel, and of the fabric, where Dobbins' Electric Soap is used according to directions.

ONE trial will demonstrate its great merit. It will pay you to make that trial.

LIKE all good things, it is extensively imitated and counterfeited.

Beware of Imitations.

INSIST upon Dobbins' Electric. Don't take Magnetic, Electro Magic, Philadelphia Electric, or any other brand, simply because it is cheap. They will ruin clothes, and the dear at any price. Ask for and take no other. Nearly every grocer from Maine to Mexico keeps it in stock. If yours hasn't it, he will order from his nearest wholesale grocer.

DOBBINS' ELECTRIC

READ carefully the inside wrapper around each bar, and be careful to follow directions on each outside wrapper. You cannot afford to wait longer before trying for yourself this old, reliable, and truly wonderful

Dobbins' Electric Soap.

THE BATH.

There is no item more important in the care of food than accepts so powerful an effect upon the infant's health as care or neglect of the infant's daily bath. Old wives often insist that some children, which make always their children, are too delicate to bathe. Young mothers often are frightened out of giving the bath daily because the child cries and seems unhappy. It is not the bath that injures a child, but the way in which it is given. The water may be too cold or too hot. There is only one way of settling this matter with perfect surety, that is with a thermometer. As a rule the water for bathing a young child should be ninety degrees. After it is a year old the temperature may be reduced to the temperature of the room. Never begin to bathe an infant until every article to be used in bathing and dressing it is laid out ready at hand. One of the most necessary articles of the bath is a good-sized tub. A large foot tub is better and cheaper for this purpose than the regular child's bath-tub because it is larger, and abundance of water is necessary. A rubber apron for the mother or nurse that bathes the child, and large blanket apron to spread over and envelop the child when first taken from the bath is a necessity to the child's comfort. Do not on any account receive a child from the bath on the rubber apron. The chill it will receive from such carelessness will counteract all good effects of bathing. Allow the baby to remain in the water from five to ten minutes, never longer. The flannel or blanket apron should be warmed to receive the baby when it is taken out, and the child should be dried with a soft linen towel as rapidly as possible, rubbing the body with a friction towel to stimulate the circulation. Dress the little one carefully, uncovering only part of the body at a time. If a child is properly bathed it will be hungry soon after. Arrange the bath hour so it will come just before one of the morning feeding hours. Before the ten o'clock or eight o'clock hour is usually most convenient. If the bath is delayed till before ten o'clock it will come before it's long mid-day nap, and a baby kept fed at regular hours and bathed regularly at this time will fall asleep after feeding if it is well, and often sleep till one or two o'clock. No intelligent mother will wake up a child to feed it. It is, however, prudent to regulate the hours of an infant's sleeping as soon as it begins life, when most of its time is spent in sleeping. Between the feeding hours of four and six in the afternoon the child find best be kept awake by gentle means. It will then be ready to sleep after its six o'clock meal, and usually will wake only twice or three times in the night, and then only just long enough to be fed. Most healthy babies, however, do wake up at sunrise, when it is well to feed and take them out in the morning air, if possible, as they seem jubilant with high spirits, ready to shout with the lark and all nature that the night has passed and the new day has come.—N. Y. Tribune.

HUMOROUS.

—Usher (at a reception in Chicago, pompously, as Mr. Foot and daughters enter)—"Mr. Foot and the Misses Feet!" And yet they say Chicago has no culture.—Puck.

—Johnson—"That statue of a weeping angel at the tomb of your wife's mother is a beautiful work of art. Why did you select the figure of a weeping angel?" Thompson—"Because I thought there ought to be somebody weeping at her grave."—Texas Siftings.

—Judge—"Your age?" Lady—"Thirty years." Judge (incredulously)—"You will have some difficulty in proving that." Lady (excited ly)—"You'll find it hard to prove the contrary, as the church register which contained the entry of my birth was burned in the year 1845."—Berliner Tageblatt.

—"Can't I stay home from church with you, pa, just to-day?" pleaded Bobby. "No, Robert, you must go with your mother." Then he added to his wife, as he slapped his morning paper into position: "I believe my mother's old adage: 'Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it.'"—Life.

—Madge—"Yabsley and Miss Flypps have been out on the balcony for over an hour. I believe he has been kissing her. I'll just notice her when they come in and see if she is blushing or looks embarrassed." Wickwire—"You're foolish. It is the man you want to watch for signs of embarrassment in a case of that kind."—Terre Haute Express.

—Moneybags—"You say you wish to marry my daughter? Well, you know I have three, and on the marriage of each I shall give her husband ten thousand dollars. Which one do you want?" Jack Napes—"I'll tell you what we'll do. You'll move out to Utah and I'll take all three of them off your hands. I'm willing to do the square thing."—N. Y. Sun.

—"I declare," said Mrs. Sharpleigh, turning from her mirror, "I look like a perfect fright in this horrid bonnet, don't I?" "Why, my dear," replied her husband, abstractedly without looking up from his paper, "you do." "Sharpleigh, you're a brute! The bonnet is the most becoming I ever wore, and makes me look ten years younger." "I thank so, too," mused on the Hiawatha." Still absorbed in his paper.—E. L. Ledger.

GRAND PREMIUM OFFER!
A SET OF THE
WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,
In Twelve Large Volumes,

Which we Offer with a Year's Subscription to this Paper for a Trifle More than Our Regular Subscription Price.

CHARLES DICKENS.

Wishing to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a trifle more than our regular subscription price. Our great offer to subscribers reaches any ever heretofore made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type. The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unabridged, and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and sewing machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great novelist's works.

Under one management.

A. T. & S. F.

An eminent example of American Enterprise, Energy and Perseverance.

In the hands of young men this great system has been so carefully managed that it has earned a reputation second to none for convenience, safety and the luxuries of travel. It is fast becoming the popular route for transcontinental travel, in connection with the Southern Pacific railroad

It has opened up an almost unlimited field for pioneer enterprise in the far West. No other railroad can carry a man, who is seeking his fortune, to golden opportunities such as are open along a thousand miles of this great system.

Special freight rates are given to miners and immigrants.

LOCAL ROUNDUPS

Luck sometimes makes a name,
But printer's ink so black and solemn
Will give a man peculiar fame,
When put in this peculiar column.

POLITICS are ripening.

G. A. R. Monday night.

DISTRICT Court will meet at Lincoln on the 3rd Monday of next month, Judge McFie presiding.

R. J. NUGENT, of Nogal, was in town this week. He is disgruntled because enough Republicans are not provided him to vote for this fall.

ATTENTION is called to the offer we make on our 3rd page a full set of Dickens' Works for 75c. to every paid in advance subscriber to the LEADER. None others need apply.

GRUMBLES and Price returned from their prospecting trip between Three Rivers and Tularuso last Saturday, and brought some promising ore samples with them as the result of their trip.

GEO. E. SLICH, with his family made a flying visit this week to relatives and friends in White Oaks from his San Andreas ranch and returned last Tuesday. He reports the range and stock looking well in his locality.

DAN. DEALE, who has been in the employ of the Black Ranch for some months past, visited town this week and reports having found something good in the mineral line on the south-east of the Capitan Mountains. The LEADER is in hopes it may pan out big.

JACK FORSYTHE, a miner in the South Homestake, met with a very painful accident the other day, caused by the upsetting of a bucket of ore, resulting in breaking one of the bones of his right arm. Dr. Paden reduced the fracture and Jack will doubtless soon be at his work again.

"GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK" for October ahead of time, is a boss number. The young and old grave and gay may always be sure to find something in the pages of this magazine in accordance with their tastes. Godey Publishing Co., Phila., Pa. Price, $2.00 per year.

This week will closes the eighth year of the precious life and record of the LEADER. Now is an opportune time for every subscriber to examine the figures following his name and cause their advancement. There are many who should be ashamed to have 1882 stare them in the face every week. Each of them should see to it that a "2" smiles upon them and they will receive our benediction.

JUDGE Andy Richardson married an old man and his daughter the other day, and Andy knew the relationship when he married them. The old man and father first approached the alcalde linked to an old woman and by the jerk of a steer's tail were made one and told to go and sin no more. Then the blooming daughter appeared with her affinity and said she'd take some of the same in her'n, and Andy joined the young couple by the same mystic words he employed in yoking the aged pair. Andy would rather harness a loving couple than eat or drink although he never ran in double harness himself and hence does'nt know how it tastes.

E. W. PARKER, Supt. of the South Homestake Mining Co., returned Monday of this week from a flying business trip to St. Louis. Mr. P. looks rested, even after so long a journey, and resumes his many duties with new life and increased vitality. Mrs. Parker remains with friends at St. Louis for a much needed rest and to enjoy the benefits of city life for a limited period.

A RECENT letter from C. L. Pearman, our popular hardware merchant, informs his family and friends that he was not improving as had been anticipated. Mrs. P. will doubtless leave in a few days to join and attend him in his illness. Charley's many friends wish him a speedy recovery and hope to soon greet him in new and robust health.

WHEN a man is mean enough to slander his fellow man he is generally too cowardly to assume authorship of the scandal, so quietly goes about whispering, "I hear on good authority," "I understand," "they do say," etc. Such men are worse than a plague in any community, especially a small one, and they should be asphyxiated.

MURRAY has sold his stock of drugs to Dr Paden, who, in turn, has removed them to his new brick building, where he will have the prettiest drug store in the Territory and he proposes stocking his new find elaborately. Mr. Murphy proposes returning to his old home in Mo. Our people will be loath to part with him.

IN accordance with circular of General Land Office dated Sept. 5 and received Sept 15th, that this office is now open to receive filings, the law of 1888 having been repealed, insofar as withdrawal of lands from settlement in the arid region is concerned.

FRANK LESNET, Register

SHERIFF NOWLIN spent a couple of days in town this week. 'Tis said that nothing is surer than death and taxes. We note, however, that in this neck o' woods people are more afraid of taxes than of death, and are as poorly equipped to meet one as the other It was taxes Nowlin was after.

WE received a very pleasant call on Wednesday from Rev. Mr. Gibbons, the newly assigned Methodist minister here, late of Roswell. He is a suave gentleman and will doubtless take well in this community.

IT is reported that the North Homestake Mill will start up Oct. 1st. This will be the ushering in of increased activity for the fall and winter and the Oaks will put on some of it's former activity.—The ore coming in the bottom of the shaft of this mine, which is down about 880 feet, gives promise of something rich.

SHAFER is in town.

Republican Rally.

A meeting will be held at the Town Hall, on Saturday Evening, September 27th,

at 7 o'clock, to ratify the nomination of Lon. M. S. OTERO as Delegate to Congress, and also to discuss the merits of the Constitution to be submitted to the vote of the people on the 7th of October. Messers Jewett, Heman, Caffrey, Timoney and others will address the meeting.

As this meeting is intended for a free and full discussion of the proposed Constitution, our Democratic friends are cordially invited to attend. Come one, come all.

THE Home Magazine, conducted by Mrs. JOHN A. LOGAN, has attained the most remarkable success of any periodical of its class. It is now entering its third year publishing regularly twenty-four large pages of finely illustrated matter, with a regular circulation of over 200,000 copies. It contains Long and Short Serial Stories, Poems, Essays, Short Stories, and contributions from the Home, Fashion, Health, Hygiene, Social and Society Topics. We have made arrangements to furnish this Magazine to all subscribers old and new who pay one year in advance for the LEADER for 30c. a year. This is the best offer yet made. Now is the time if you want the best local paper in the county and a good Magazine.

ELECTION PROCLAMATION.

BY THE

Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County.

WHEREAS—By law it is made the duty of the Board of Commissioners in each county of the Territory of New Mexico to proclaim an election to be held in their respective counties for the purpose of voting for or against the adoption of the Constitution for the State of New Mexico, as framed by the Constitutional Convention held in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Whereas—The 7th day of October, 1890, is designated by an ordinance adopted by the said Constitutional Convention, as provided by law:

Therefore—The Board of Commissioners of the County of Lincoln in regular session held in the town of Lincoln, county seat of said County, the 22nd day of September, 1890, has ordered as follows, to-wit:

That on Tuesday, the 7th day of October, A. D. 1890, at 8 o'clock a. m., of said day, an election will be held in the various precincts within the County of Lincoln, Territory of New Mexico, for the purpose of voting

For the Constitution,

—OR—

Against the Constitution,

by the legally qualified voters in each precinct.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Lincoln County, New Mexico.

In witness whereof I have placed my hand, ordered the seal of said Board affixed, this 22nd day of September, 1890.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25c. a bottle.

WE are requested to announce that the public school will open on next Wednesday, Oct. 1st.
