DEATH OF T. W. COREY.

Some two weeks ago our respected fellow citizen, Thos. W. Corey, was seized by an attack of the grip, which prostrated him, and despite the kind services of his mother and lady assistants and the watchful care of his Masonic brethern he sank into death's embrace about 8 o'clock last Monday morning, leaving an aged mother to feel the blow as only a mother can who sees the idol of her soul recede from her presence never to appear again in the flesh.

One can scarcely look upon the face of the dead without thinking what a wonderful, inexplicable [illegible] the fine-workers in the legislature almost wholly, of his own political faith, drew up articles of impeachment and did impeach him, thus installing Secretary of State Jones as Governor to fill the unexpired term. Years after, when the record of impeachment was expunged, Butler advanced in popular favor and his traducers sank into political oblivion.

At one time we were associated with the Governor in a lecturing tour endeavoring to secure county bonds wherewith to build a R. R. One evening we struck the town of Tecumseh. Before meeting time we secured the last cot in the house and a little later the Gov. caught on to the last "shake down" in the hotel. About midnight we repaired to our quarters where we found an Irish laborer paying of the landlord a bed but Boniface could not accommodate him. The Gov. seeing the poor fellow was clean volunteered to share his shake down with him, which proffer was freely accepted. On retiring the Gov. sought to make his strange bedfellow feel at home through familiar converse. He succeeded to his satisfaction and as a parting shot said, "Well Pat, you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have slept with a Governor, would'nt you?" "Yes," replied Pat, "and by the same token I think you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have been Governor." Realizing that Pat felt at home the Gov. turned over and sought sleep.

The Gov. was anything but pretty—in fact he was nearly as homely as Ben. Butler. He used to laugh as he told of going home to Indiana during his first term in the Gubernatorial chair. He had been absent for years and at the station at which he alighted he knew nobody. His people lived about ten miles distant and the highway was familiar to him. He had feathers of credit, good at any [illegible] but no ready money. It was [illegible] and he hastened to a livery stable where he sought to procure a rig to take him to his childhood home and expatiated the price [illegible] at our boarding house.

Beyond the clouds, the storms, blasts, darkness and blackness of night, our friend Corey has been ushered into a new morning, which we trust and believe is a bright one, in which he will see, not as through a glass darkly, but face to face, and know even [illegible] was known.

DEATH OF DAVID BUTLER.

Last week we had but time and room to chronicle the death of David Butler, Nebraska's first Governor. Our relations with the deceased were too intimate to permit us to dismiss him thus.

David Butler's life was a variegated one. With the masses he was always popular; with the fine, the machine workers of his party he was unpopular. During his second term in office he secured the transfer of the school fund into the general fund. This he knew to be illegal but the end justified the means. The school fund was not in demand and to keep up the credit of the State he temporarily converted the "sacred fund" into the general channel.—Before the ensuing campaign, thro the payment of taxes, etc., revenue was derived enabling him to cover the school money so diverted back in it's legitimate repository, and he went before the people for re election telling what he had done and proving that the "sacred fund" had served a sacred purpose through its diversion and that it had been [illegible] longer. He was re-elected, but the fine-workers in the legislature almost wholly, of his own political faith, drew up, articles of impeachment and did impeach him, thus installing Secretary of State Jones as Governor to fill the unexpired term. Years after, when the record of impeachment was expunged, Butler advanced in popular favor and his traducers sank into political oblivion.

At one time we were associated with the Governor in a lecturing tour endeavoring to secure county bonds wherewith to build a R. R. One evening we struck the town of Tecumseh. Before meeting time we secured the last cot in the house and a little later the Gov. caught on to the last "shake down" in the hotel. About midnight we repaired to our quarters where we found an Irish laborer paying of the landlord a bed but Boniface could not accommodate him. The Gov. seeing the poor fellow was clean volunteered to share his shake down with him, which proffer was freely accepted. On retiring the Gov. sought to make his strange bedfellow feel at home through familiar converse. He succeeded to his satisfaction and as a parting shot said, "Well Pat, you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have slept with a Governor, would'nt you?" "Yes," replied Pat, "and by the same token I think you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have been Governor." Realizing that Pat felt at home the Gov. turned over and sought sleep.

The Gov. was anything but pretty—in fact he was nearly as homely as Ben. Butler. He used to laugh as he told of going home to Indiana during his first term in the Gubernatorial chair. He had been absent for years and at the station at which he alighted he knew nobody. His people lived about ten miles distant and the highway was familiar to him. He had feathers of credit, good at any [illegible] but no ready money. It was [illegible] and he hastened to a livery stable where he sought to procure a rig to take him to his childhood home and expatiated the price [illegible]

The keeper told him that it would be so much with a driver or a deposit representing the full value of the turn-out if taken without a driver. The Gov. did not disclose his identity, but plead in vain for permission to be his own driver coupled with assurances that he would return and pay on the morrow. Finally he told the liveryman that if he would vacate his seat on the sidewalk, go into his office, light his lamp and take a good square look at his face he would submit to his judgment whether or not he could be trusted without a driver. The horse man did as requested, and after a scrutinizing look laid the lamp on his desk, saying, "I guess I'll send a driver with you." He did, but felt much chagrined next day who he learned whose physiognomy he had read the night before.

David Butler was a man, a gentleman, a nobleman. Tho' death is the common heritage of man the news of his surrender to the great archer unmanned us for a time making us feel as though the arrow sped, not to be in the quiver fork[illegible] To his stricken widow and [illegible] orphaning children we extend our heartfelt condolence, which we know they will appreciate coming from one whom they know was a sincere friend of their beloved one

An Arab woman, when left a widow mourns her husband devoutly; but, like other widows, if she has the opportunity, she may be married again. The night before her second marriage she visits her husband's grave. There she kneels and prays him not to be offended. As, however, she feels that he'll be offended, the widow brings with her a donkey, laden with two goat-skins filled with water. The prayer ended, she proceeds to pour the water on the grave on the grave, to keep the first husband cool under the circumstances about to take place, and, having well saturated him, she then departs.

THE U. S. Supreme Court has ratified the action of our Territorial district and supreme court touching the democratic steal of ballot boxes at Santa Fe last fall, and the contempt cases growing therefrom. A Santa Fe friend writing us on the subject winds up by saying: "You are a good hand at throwing conundrums—now I have one for you. If it takes three alcaldes to override a decision of a Territorial district and supreme court, how many alcaldes will it take to override a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court?" We give it up, but are reminded thereby of a story. A Kansas alcalde, or justice of the peace who by consent once tried a case without the intervention of a jury. At the end of the second day he said the court would withhold it's verdict until the next day In the morning, when the parties to the case were gathered together the justice said, "gentlemen, you will have to call a jury—this court is hung." The three alcaldes ought to be hung.

Fair Attractions.

The management of the Territorial Fair Association promises the following attractions as part of the programme for this Fall:

The races will, of course, occupy the same prominent place they have always done. The purse will be increased and the best race stock possible to secure will be in attendance.

A novel feature will be a five mile cowboy race, open only to cowboys and cow ponies. Each man will be entitled to five horses and can make the changes in any way to suit himself. Mr. J. E. Saint, the well known cattleman has charge of this race.

General Manager Robinson, of the A. & P. R. R., will bring in from the Needles a band of Mojave Indians who will play their national game, similar to the old fashioned game of "Shinny," and very exciting.

The National Guards of New Mexico and Arizona will be in encampment during the week of the Fair at Albuquerque, and during the week a competitive drill will take place. Prizes of $1,100.00 will be given. The management expects at least six companies to be in attendance. The encampment will be in command of an officer of the U. S. Army as the Secretary of War has been asked to furnish a batalion of troops for the instruction of the National Guards; the Regulars, in connection with the Militia, will form one of the leading attractions of the Fair.

The horse races will be a pleasing feature this year. Last years victors, the Prescott team, will be in attendance again.

The exhibits of Fruit and Farm Products this year will surprise the friends of New Mexico.

The Association has appropriated money to erect an annex to the main building and to be used as a Machinery Hall. As all machinery will be in motion, and as much space will be given to that devoted to mining, those interested will find this exceedingly attractive and instructive.

Fair commences Sept. 14, and closes Sept. 19.

C. C. HALL, President.
Chas. Geach, Sec.

The census locates the center of population in Decatur County, in the State of Indiana, about twenty miles from Columbus. Great numbers of people assembled there on May 10th to mark the spot with a monument, it being the second one raised for such a purpose. The first time was in 1810, and the place was in the District of Columbia, 45 miles north of Washington, where yet remains a small stone, on which is engraved "Center of Population." The center of population has traveled westward each decade about forty-five miles.

You Cannot Fool a Woman.

In a recent number of the Chicago Inter Ocean Mrs. Elizbeth Hunt of Bloomington, who speaks for herself and to the point, gives her impression of the McKinley bill in the following terse language:

I am a democrat's wife, but I am sick of seeing such lies as this in newspapers whose editors claim not to be fools. I cut this paragraph out of the Chicago Herald to day

When woman pays 50 cents more a yard for stuff to make a dress of than she would have paid if the McKinley bill had not become a law she should keep it to herself. So doing she will confer a great favor on President Harrison, who thinks that he may get another term in the White house if people quit making "malevolent" remarks about the tariff.—New York Times.

Now don't this fool democrat who edits the Herald know, or can't his wife tell him, that everything a woman wears costs less than it did before the McKinley bill passed? Calico is 4½ cents per yard; a good summer silk costs from 25 to 35 cents a yard It used to cost $1. Black silk can be bought from 60 to 31 that used to cost from $2 to $3.50. Sugar costs 5 cents that used to cost 8 cents. Ribbons are half the old price, feelings the same; and jerseys, they are making them in this country, costs half as much as the imported. Ladies' things are down. We ladies know that democrat husbands can lie to each other but they can't lie to us. We women are not fools. Let the Herald liar stick to men's things which he lies and not try to lie about women's things.

We won't stand it. I'm a democrat woman, but I don't want any lying to keep the party up. We women are not fools.—Elizabeth Hunt in American Economist.

Now that we have a new board of school trustees and a new school law we hope speedy measures will be taken looking to the building of a school house in this town. Three sightly town lots are on record, secured for the purpose indicated and they should be thus utilized as soon as practicable.

WE wonder what our subscribers are thinking about. We know what they don't think about, that is paying their subscriptions. Lots of them are in arrears from five to eight years. One of these fine days we will awaken them to a realizing sense of duty by publishing their names and status as they appear on our books. They cannot plead ignorance of their delinquency inasmuch as their standing forms a part of the superscription on their LEADER every week.

THE County Commissioners met at Lincoln this week. But little business was done but that little was important, as for instance:

In response to a petition of 285 voters to call an election to vote $20,000 6 per cent bonds to build a court house at Lincoln, the 2nd day of July was agreed upon as such election day.

Precinct bounds were defined and made a matter of record making 13 precincts which were renumbered....Equalization of assessment was completed....Board will meet again July 6th.

DEATH OF T. W. COREY.

Some two weeks ago our respected fellow citizen, Thos. W. Corey, was seized by an attack of the grip, which prostrated him, and despite the kind services of his mother and lady assistants and the watchful care of his Masonic brethern he sank into death's embrace about 8 o'clock last Monday morning, leaving an aged mother to feel the blow as only a mother can who sees the idol of her soul recede from her presence never to appear again in the flesh.

One can scarcely look upon the face of the dead without thinking what a wonderful, inexplicable thing life is. There are none of us volunteers in the army of humanity; on the contrary, each and all of us are conscripts. From any other beginning but that of man some approximate estimate can be formed of it's ending, but man's beginnings and endings are inscrutible—here to day, gone to-morrow—the young and robust torn from aged and infirm parents—tears drown cheer into so buoyant, and sadness freight hearts wont to carry only love and sunshine.

Mr. Corey was born in Woodstock, Conn. In August next he would have rounded his 47th year while in the same month his mother would reach her 67th mile stone and they fondly hoped to reach the goal hand in hand. During the war he served his country in the 5th Connecticut. He migrated west, settling in several States, finally drifting hither, locating here between three and four years ago and establishing a shoe-maker's shop. Everybody knew him, and none but to respect him. He was passionately attached to the Masonic fraternity and under their auspices he was laid away in the bosom of mother earth on Tuesday forenoon. He was a member of the G. A. R., and albeit not attached to this Post the Order, in a body, turned out to his burial as a mark of esteem. The funeral was a very large one containing in line, beside the Masons, G. A. R. and others on foot, 21 carriages, buggies and wagons, beside several on horse-back.

Beyond the clouds, the storms, blasts, darkness and blackness of night, our friend Corey has been ushered into a new morning, which we trust and believe is a bright one, in which he will see, not as through a glass darkly, but face to face with celestial spirits, thro' eyes the film from which was removed by [illegible] till death.

DEATH OF DAVID BUTLER.

Last week we had but time and room to chronicle the death of David Butler, Nebraska's first Governor. Our relations with the deceased were too intimate to permit us to dismiss him thus.

David Butler's life was a variegated one. With the masses he was always popular; with the fine, the machine workers of his party he was unpopular. During his second term in office he secured the transfer of the school fund into the general fund. This he knew to be illegal but the end justified the means. The school fund was not in demand and to keep up the credit of the State he temporarily converted the "sacred fund" into the general channel.—Before the ensuing campaign, thro the payment of taxes, etc., revenue was derived enabling him to cover the school money so diverted back in it's legitimate repository, and he went before the people for re-election telling what he had done and proving that the "sacred fund" had served a necessary purpose through it's [illegible] that it had been more than [illegible] longings. He was [illegible] the fine-workers in the legislature almost wholly, of his own political faith, drew up articles of impeachment and did impeach him, thus installing Secretary of State James as Governor to fill the unexpired term. Years after, when the record of impeachment was changed, Butler [illegible] in popular favor and his traducers sank into political oblivion.

At one time we were associated with the Governor in a lecturing tour endeavoring to secure county bonds wherewith to build a R. R. One evening we struck the town of Tecumseh. Before meeting time we secured the last cot in the house and a little later the Gov. caught on to the last "shake down" in the hotel. About midnight we repaired to our quarters where we found an Irish laborer paying for the landlord a bed but Boniface could not accommodate him. The Gov. seeing the poor fellow was clean volunteered to share his shake down with him, which proffer was freely accepted. On retiring the Gov. sought to make his strange bedfellow feel at home through familiar converse. He succeeded to his satisfaction and as a parting shot said, "Well Pat, you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have slept with a Governor, would'nt you?" "Yes," replied Pat, "and by the same token I think you'd have lived a long time in Ireland before you'd have been Governor." Realizing that Pat felt at home the Gov. turned over and sought sleep.

The Gov. was anything but pretty—in fact he was nearly as homely as Ben. Butler. He used to laugh as he told of going home to Indiana during his first term in the Gubernatorial chair. He had been absent for years and at the station at which he alighted he knew nobody. His people lived about ten miles distant and the railway was familiar to him. He had letters of credit, good at any bank, but no ready money. It was dark and he hastened to a livery stable where he ought to procure a rig to take him to his old home and enquire the price. The keeper told him that it would be so much with a driver or a deposit representing the full value of the turn-out if taken without a driver. The Gov. did not disclose his identity, but plead in vain for permission to be his own driver coupled with assurances that he would return and pay on the morrow. Finally he told the liveryman that if he would vacate his seat on the sidewalk, go into his office, light his lamp and take a good square look at his face he would submit to his judgment whether or not he could be trusted without a driver. The horse man did as requested, and after a scrutinizing look laid the lamp on the desk, saying, "I guess I'll send a driver with you." He did, but felt much chagrined next day who he learned whose physiognomy he had read the night before.

David Butler was a man, a gentleman, a nobleman. Tho' death is the common heritage of man the sons of his surrender to the grim archer unmanned us for a time making us feel as though the [illegible] had left in the quiver lurking [illegible]. To his stricken widow and [illegible] children we extend our heart felt condolence, which we know they will appreciate coming from those who they know was a sincere friend of their beloved one

An Arab woman, when left a widow, mourns her husband devoutly; but, like other widows, if she has the opportunity, she may be married again. The night before her second marriage she visits her husband's grave. There she kneels and prays him not to be offended. As, however, she feels that he'll be offended, the widow brings with her a donkey, laden with two goat-skins filled with water. The prayer ended, she proceeds to pour the water on the grave, to keep the first husband cool under the circumstances about to take place, and, having well saturated him, she then departs.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ratified the action of our Territorial district and supreme court touching the democratic steal of ballot boxes at Santa Fe last fall, and the contempt cases growing therefrom. A San'a Fe friend writing us on the subject winds up by saying: "You are a good hand at throwing conundrums—now I have one for you. If it takes three alcaldes to override a decision of a Territorial district and supreme court, how many alcaldes will it take to override a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court?" We give it up, but are reminded thereby of a story. A Kansas alcakle, or justice of the peace who by consent once tried a case without the intervention of a jury. At the end of the second day he said the court would withhold it's verdict until the next day In the morning, when the parties to the case were gathered together the justice said, "gentlemen, you will have to call a jury—this court is hung." The three alcaldes ought to be hung.

Fair Attractions.

The management of the Territorial Fair Association promises the following attractions as part of the programme for this Fall:

The races will, of course, occupy the same prominent place they have always done. The purses will be increased and the best race stock possible to secure will be in attendance.

A novel feature will be a five mile cowboy race, open only to cowboys and cow ponies. Each man will be entitled to five horses and can make the changes in any way to suit himself. Mr. J. E. Saint, the well known cattleman has charge of this race.

General Manager Robinson, of the A. & P. R. R., will bring in from the Needles a band of Mojave Indians who will play their national game, similar to the old fashioned game of "Shinny," and very exciting.

The National Guards of New Mexico and Arizona will be in encampment during the week of the Fair at Albuquerque, and during the week a competitive drill will take place. Prizes of $1,100.00 will be given. The management expects at least six companies to be in attendance. The encampment will be in command of an officer of the U. S. Army as the Secretary of War has been asked to furnish a batalion of troops for the instruction of the National Guards; the Regulars, in connection with the Militia, will form one of the leading attractions of the Fair.

The horse races will be a pleasing feature this year. Last years victors, the Prescott team, will be in attendance again.

The exhibits of Fruit and Farm Products this year will surprise the friends of New Mexico.

The Association has appropriated money to erect an annex to the main building and to be used as a Machinery Hall. As all machinery will be in motion, and as much space will be given to that devoted to mining, those interested will find this exceedingly attractive and instructive.

Fair commences Sept. 14, and closes Sept. 19.

The census locates the center of population in Decatur County, in the State of Indiana, about twenty miles from Columbus. Great numbers of people assembled there on May 10th to mark the spot with a monument, it being the second one raised for such a purpose. The first time was in 1810, and the place was in the District of Columbia, 45 miles north of Washington, where yet remains a small stone, on which is engraved "Center of Population." The center of population has traveled westward each decade about forty-five miles.

You Cannot Fool a Woman.

In a recent number of the Chicago Inter-Ocean Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt of Bloomington, who speaks for herself and to the point, gives her impression of the McKinley bill in the following terse language:

I am a democrat's wife, but I am sick of seeing such lies as this in newspapers whose editors claim not to be fools. I cut this paragraph out of the Chicago Herald to-day:

When woman pays 50 cents more a yard for stuff to make a dress of than she would have paid if the McKinley bill had not become a law she should keep it to herself. So doing she will confer a great favor on President Harrison, who thinks that he may get another term in the White house if people quit making "malevolent" remarks about the tariff.—New York Times.

Now don't this fool democrat who edits the Herald know, or can't his wife tell him, that everything a woman wears costs less than it did before the McKinley bill passed? Calico is 4½ cents per yard; a good summer silk costs from 25 to 35 cents a yard. It used to cost $1. Black silk can be bought from 60 to $1 that used to cost from $2 to $3.50. Sugar costs 5 cents that used to cost 8 cents. Ribbons are half the old price, stockings the same, and jerseys, they are making them in this country, costs half as much as the imported. Ladies' things are down. We ladies know that democrat husbands can lie to each other but they can't lie to us. We women are not fools. Let the Herald liar stick to men's things when he lies and not try to lie about women's things.

We won't stand it. I'm a democrat woman, but I don't want any lying to keep the party up. We women are not fools.—Elizabeth Hunt in American Economist.

Now that we have a new board of school trustees and a new school law we hope speedy measures will be taken looking to the building of a school house in this town. Three eligibly town lots are on record, secured for the purpose indicated and they should be thus utilized as soon as practicable.

We wonder what our subscribers are thinking about. We know what they don't think about, that is paying their subscriptions. Lots of them are in arrears from five to eight years. One of these fine days we will awaken them to a realizing sense of duty by publishing their names and status as they appear on our books. They cannot plead ignorance of their delinquency inasmuch as their standing forms a part of the superscription on their LEADER every week.

The County Commissioners met at Lincoln this week. But little business was done but that little was important, as for instance:

In response to a petition of 285 voters to call an election to vote $20,000 6 per cent bonds to build a court house at Lincoln, the 2nd day of July was agreed upon as such election day.

Precinct bounds were defined and made a matter of record making 13 precincts which were renumbered....Equalization of assessment was completed....Board will meet again July 6th.

OLD ABE.

The History of White Oaks' Celebrated Mine.

In the month of November, '79, J. M. Allen, O. D. Kelsey and A. P. Livingstone laid claim to a mining location on Baxter Mountain, which they designated as "Old Abe Lode," and the ground lying north and east of Baxter Gulch, which has lately become famous for its production of precious metals has been since popularly known as the "Old Abe claim."

Some work was done on the original location up to 1882, and one or two mill-runs were made on the ores therefrom, but the ore appeared in deposits and the then owners were unable to find any vein or lode from which these deposits had their source

No assessment work was done on the claim in 1882 and 1883, and the new claimants, who about the first of 1884 had acquired considerable interests under the old location, went to work on the ground and afterwards made discovery of the vein which recently has proved a bonanza, and May 2nd. 1884, located the White Oaks and Robert E. Lee lodes, which together embraced a part of the ground formerly included in the Old Abe claim.

Some $1,200 were then expended in the running of a tunnel, which cut the vein and work was put in a shaft on this vein within the tunnel. The ore always assayed well and the locators never lost faith in the value of the property.

Last November, Mr. Watson, one of the owners, went to work with one assistant, and opened the same vein one hundred and fifty-two feet south of the old shaft and found a rich body of ore within a few inches of the surface and this is where the present working shaft is located. This ore body continued down and remained in the shaft to a depth of seventy-five feet when it dipped sharply to the east and remained a few feet from the shaft until the sixth level was reached, two hundred and forty feet from the surface, where it again appeared in one side of the shaft and has since remained in the work to No. 7, two hundred and ninety feet.

A drift was run along the vein at No. 2; which topped the old shaft and secured to the mine thorough ventilation for a long time to come. In this drift it has been demonstrated that the vein is not only continuous but will average about three and a half feet wide and work done on all the lower level has fully confirmed what the drift on No. 2 demonstrated.

The latter part of December '83 the Gallagher Mill was rented and on the 18th of that month it commenced dropping its stamps on the ores of the White Oaks and Robert E. Lee.

As each level of the extensions on the work on the mine progresses downwards, the ores grow richer and the width of vein at No. 2 has been maintained.

Since the commencement of the milling about sixteen hundred tons of ore have been crushed and the fortunate owners have received $98,000 in gold bullion.

The work of development is still being pushed as fast as men can do it.

The owners have adopted the rule from the start to employ only good, solid men on their property and now have a first class crew of work. They pay the highest wages, pay their bills on the first of each month, and whenever any of their employees are discharged, or desire to quit, they receive their checks on the spot. No pains or money are spared in making the works secure from accident and protecting those engaged there from injury.

Owing to the former claim of a portion of this ground under the name of "Old Abe," the present owners have adopted as their business cognomen that of "Old Abe Co.," and the mine is still known as the "Old Abe."

The title to the property is in the names of—

John Y. Hewitt.....one-third.
H. B. Fergusson.....one-third.
Wm. Watson.....one-quarter
M. W. Hoyle.....one-twelfth

Messrs Watson and Hoyle have special charge of the milling operations; Mr. Hewitt of the finances, and Mr. J. D. Grumbles superintends the mining.

With a harmonious ownership, a competent corps of managers and employees, and especially with such a mine, there can be no question as to the results of their enterprise, and while the income assured to the proprietors is flattering, the benefit to be derived from their work to the town of White Oaks and this portion of—in fact to all—the Territory can scarcely be over estimated. Most of the owners are residents of White Oaks and the money derived from Old Abe is invested and expended here. Their work has already sent a thrill of new life along the veins of our business community, and a better feeling exists and a brighter future is anticipated.

As evidence of the purpose of the owners for the future it need only be said that a sixty horse power steam hoist has already been ordered with one thousand ft of cable with which to hoist the ores from a great depth. They are also arranging to build the coming fall, a first class 20-stamp mill which will be erected at the mine and the water for its operation pumped from the valley to the mill.

Free Reading Matter.

There are various schemes for supplying reading matter at a trifle above actual cost. What would you think if you could get good literature free?

Drop a postal to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kan., and ask for a copy of "To Mexico by Palace Car." You can also procure free copies of "A Santa Barbara Holiday," Guide to San Diego Bay Region," Las Vegas Hot Springs Guide," and folders relating to Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on this subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," or have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft.

Pacific Coast Train Service.

The present schedule of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Raton, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City, and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Burrton for St. Louis via the 'Frisco Ry.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

LARGE PREMIUM OFFER!

A SET OF THE

WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,

In Twelve Large Volumes,

CHARLES DICKENS.

Which we Offer as a Year's Subscription to this Paper, but Little More than One Regular Subscription Price.

Desiring to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer a premium to our subscribers of the Works of Charles Dickens, in twelve large and handsome volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, at little more than our regular subscription rates. Our great offer to subscribers will scarcely cover the cost of the books. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. For a long time he was the most popular author of the age, and his works are more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and faithfully wrought plots. Each book is complete in itself. No household should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the times in which we live. The set of books which we offer as a premium to our subscribers are printed from new plates, of a new type, and the two volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published here for the first time in full and unabridged form:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The whole are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every book store of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and binding machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our old readers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great writer's works.

OLD ABE.

The History of White Oaks' Celebrated Mine.

In the month of November, '79, J. M. Allen, O. D. Kelsey and A. P. Livingstone laid claim to a mining location on Baxter Mountain, which they designated as "Old Abe Lode," and the ground lying north and east of Baxter Gulch, which has lately become famous for its production of precious metals has been since popularly known as the "Old Abe claim."

Some work was done on the original location up to 1882, and one or two mill-runs were made on the ores therefrom, but the ore appeared in deposits and the then owners were unable to find any vein or lode from which these deposits had their source

No assessment work was done on the claim in 1882 and 1883, and the new claimants, who about the first of 1884 had acquired considerable interests under the old location, went to work on the ground and afterwards made discovery of the vein which recently has proved a bonanza, and May 2nd, 1884, located the White Oaks and Robert E. Lee lodes, which together embraced a part of the ground formerly included in the Old Abe claim.

Some $1,200 were then expended in the running of a tunnel, which cut the vein and work was put in a shaft on this vein within the tunnel. The ore always assayed well and the locators never lost faith in the value of the property.

Last November, Mr. Watson, one of the owners, went to work with one assistant, and opened the same vein one hundred and fifty-two feet south of the old shaft and found a rich body of ore within a few inches of the surface and this is where the present working shaft is located. This ore body continued down and remained in the shaft to a depth of seventy-five feet when it dipped sharply to the east and remained a few feet from the shaft until the sixth level was reached, two hundred and forty feet from the surface, where it again appeared in one side of the shaft and has since remained in the work to No. 7, two hundred and ninety feet.

A drift was run along the vein at No. 2, which tapped the old shaft and secured to the mine thorough ventilation for a long time to come. In this drift it has been demonstrated that the vein is not only continuous but will average about three and a half feet wide and work done on all the lower levels has fully confirmed what the drift on No. 2 demonstrated.

The latter part of December '83 the Gallagher Mill was rented and on the 18th of that month it commenced dropping its stamps on the ores of the White Oaks and Robert E. Lee.

At each level of the extensions as the work on the mine progressed downwards, the ores grew richer and the width of vein at No. 2 has been maintained.

Since the commencement of the milling about sixteen hundred tons of ore have been crushed and fortunate owners have cleaned $98,000 in gold bullion.

The work of development is still being pushed as fast as men can do it.

The owners have adopted the rule from the start to employ only good, solid men on their property and now have a first class crew at work. They pay the highest wages, pay their bills on the first of each month, and whenever any of their employees are discharged, or desire to quit, they receive their checks on the spot. No pains or money are spared in making the works secure from accident and protecting those engaged there from injury.

Owing to the former claim of a portion of this ground under the name of "Old Abe," the present owners have adopted as their business cognomen that of "Old Abe Co.," and the mine is still known as the "Old Abe."

The title to the property is in the names of—

John Y. Hewitt.....one-third.
H. B. Fergusson.....one-third.
Wm. Watson.....one-quarter
M. W. Hoyle.....one-twelfth

Messrs Watson and Hoyle have special charge of the milling operations; Mr. Hewitt of the finances, and Mr. J. D. Grumbles superintends the mining.

With a harmonious ownership, a competent corps of managers and employees, and especially with such a mine, there can be no question as to the results of their enterprise, and while the income assured to the proprietors is flattering, the benefit to be derived from their work to the town of White Oaks and this portion of—in fact to all—the Territory can scarcely be over estimated. Most of the owners are residents of White Oaks and the money derived from Old Abe is invested and expended here. Their work has already sent a thrill of new life along the veins of our business community, and a better feeling exists and a brighter future is anticipated.

As evidence of the purpose of the owners for the future it need only be said that a sixty horse power steam hoist has already been ordered with one thousand ft of cable with which to hoist the ores from a great depth. They are also arranging to build the coming fall, a first class 20-stamp mill which will be erected at the mine and the water for its operation pumped from the valley to the mill.

Free Reading Matter.

There are various schemes for supplying reading matter at a trifle above actual cost. What would you think if you could get good literature free?

Drop a postal to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kan., and ask for a copy of "To Mexico by Palace Car." You can also procure free copies of "A Santa Barbara Holiday," Guide to San Diego Bay Region," Las Vegas Hot Springs Guide," and folders relating to Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on this subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," or leave a postal card notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine the same as for theft.

Excursion Train Service.

The present schedule of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Raton, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City, and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Burrton for St. Louis via the 'Frisco Ry.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily, about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

Greatest Premium Offer Ever!

A SET OF THE

WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,

In Twelve Large Volumes,

Which by Other Weeklies Year's Subscription [illegible] More than Our Exclusive Subscription Price.

CHARLES DICKENS.

In order to increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer a premium to our subscribers of the Works of Charles Dickens, in twelve large and handsome volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a little more than our regular subscription price. Our great clerical subscribers will realize how liberal this offer is when they learn that Charles Dickens is the greatest moral teacher the world has ever produced, and his works are conceded to be more than [illegible] Dickens was a keen observer of men and manners, and his pictures of life are as true to-day as when they were written. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, and every delineation of character, with [illegible] of pages and incidents, [illegible] and [illegible] wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of his works. To have read them is to be familiar with the [illegible] in which we live. The set of [illegible] works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers are elegantly new plates, [illegible] type. These [illegible] volumes contain the following world-[illegible] works, each one of which is published [illegible] and absolutely complete:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books prevents people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and binding machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great novelists.

JOHANNA COLLIER came home from Albuquerque Wednesday.

BY special request we this week republish the historical sketch of the Old Abe Mine. It will be found on the second page.

AT the school election in this precinct last Monday, John Y. Howitt, Jones Taliaferro and E. W. Parker were elected Trustees.

IT has been known for a long time that Jno. E. Wilson had rich property, but this week his operators struck a lead of free gold which bids fair to make even the Old Abe blush.

GET your watches, clocks and jewelry repaired by N. W. Shears the watch-maker and jeweler. All work warranted and charges reasonable. Located at Ridgeway's, White Oaks, N. M.

THE doctors nowadays are a progressive set and are prolific of innovations. It is only recently that we hear of people dying of heart failure. What does it mean? We never knew a man or woman to die whose heart did'nt fail simultaneously.

WEDNESDAY there rolled out of town Jones Taliaferro and wife, and Miss McGrow. Mrs. T. goes to Salt Lake City. Jones accompanies his wife as far as Pueblo, where her father, J. W. Thompson will meet her. Miss McGrow returns to Ono.

MEMORIAL DAY was appropriately celebrated in White Oaks last Saturday. The procession to the cemetery was large and the services there very impressive.—At night the church was filled and the entertainment afforded by the children was keenly relished by every auditor.

The World Harvest.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Republican League.

Members of the Republican League of White Oaks, will meet at Town Hall, on

at 7½ o'clock, for consultation and the filling of any vacancies that may exist in the roll of officers.

LAST week R. G. Young had the pleasure of meeting Peter Lamar of savory fame at Las Vegas. His many mournful friends here will be rejoiced to know that he was'nt so dud'sh as to wear a hen-pen neck-tie, though some of them would cheerfully contribute to the outlay.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

In order to contradict all reports to the contrary, we take this mode of forming our many friends and patrons as well as the public in general, that

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using, sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

The Leader and Judge's Library, One Year for $2.50.

Everybody who will send us $2.50 for a year's subscription to the LEADER will receive, in addition to our paper, the famous humorous monthly magazine called "Judge's Library," for one year. This offer is made to both those renewing old subscriptions and to those becoming subscribers for the first time. No other paper in this county is able to make subscribers this offer, the LEADER having secured the exclusive right to club with "Judge's Library" for the vicinity. "Judge's Library" is a monthly magazine of fun, the subscription price of which alone is $1.00. It contains 32 pages of humorous illustrations and reading matter, to all which "Judge's" famous artists and writers are contributors, and is neatly printed and bound in handsomely colored covers. It is a condensation, in fact, of "Judge's brightest humor.

$300 Reward for Ore Thieves.

The common experience of this camp shows that much is lost by the mine operators by the stealing of gold specimens, if not in amalgam and bullion. Therefore, the "Old Abe" Company offers a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co., even the smallest specimen of ore.—The rule of this company is to refill all specimens. Therefore none of the ore from this mine can be honestly held as specimens. And as the receiver, with guilty knowledge, is as guilty in law as the thief, this offer applies to the holder of Old Abe specimens.
