One of the members of the Ohio Democratic State Central Committee lately presented a novel hippodrome political scheme. It was to secure the presence of all democratic governors of the Union and have them present themselves at the principal hustings in the Buckeye State. It was determined impracticable.

It would also be impracticable to secure the presence of all of the democratic State Treasurers of the Union, but the Rogue's Gallery could supply the pictures of many of them which could be utilized to make a bewildering panorama.—Take, for instance:

Noland of Missouri, who stole $32,000.

Churchill, of Arkansas, who stole $80,000.

[illegible], of Arkansas, who stole $96,000.

Archer, of Maryland, who stole $200,000.

Vincent, of Alabama, who stole $235,000.

Tate, of Kentucky, who stole $427,000.

Hemingway, of Mississippi, who stole $515,000.

Polk, of Tennessee who stole $1,000,000.

Burke, of Louisiana, who stole $327,000.

The Las Vegas Optic says—"The people around about White Oaks are swearing by the Optic, these days, [terrible oath,] even sour, crusty, dyspeptic, old Major Wm. Caffrey, of the LEADER, having a clever word for this journal, always before breakfast in the morning, too." Now we submit that it is very unladylike in the Optic, after your declaring it to be the best daily and all around journal in the Territory, to stigmatize the LEADER by calling him old, cross, etc., whereas the Optic knows that there is not a more kindly, fairer member of the editorial fraternity than the party it so unjustly [illegible].

CONSUMPTION CURED.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

The Albuquerque Citizen man isn't worth a cent as a fighter, but as a knife-thacker he is a howling success. He has'nt the ability to answer argument but he can prick where it hurt. He is a descendant of the naughty boy who could'nt wipe a hated schoolmate so satisfied his anger by making faces at his opponent's mother.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE.

SHALL WE DRIVE ALUM FROM OUR BREAKFAST TABLES?

Alum and Ammonia in the Bread.

A nuisance that troubled Britland fifty years ago is now rapidly spreading in this country, that is putting Alum in the bread we eat. This question is causing a great deal of discussion at the present moment, as it is revealed that alum is being used as a substitute for cream of tartar in baking powders.

A story is told that a very large percentage of the baking powders sold on the market contains either alum or ammonia, and many of them contain both these pernicious drugs. Much timely alarm is felt at the wholesale use of alum in bread, biscuit and pastry. To young children, growing girls, persons of weakly frame, alum bread eaten morning, noon and evening is the most harmful. It is the small quantities taken at every meal that do the mischief. Alum is cheap, costing but two or three cents a pound while cream of tartar costs 30c, and the high price of cream of tartar has led cheap baking powder to be made of alum. If the reader wants to know something of the corrosive qualities of alum let him touch a piece to his tongue then reflect how it acts on the tender delicate coats of the stomach.

Following is a list compiled by Scientific American, of the alum and ammonia baking powders that have already been tested.

Dr. PRICE'S
Cream Baking Powder.
Used in Millions of Homes—40 Years the Standard.

The New Post-Office Building.

Mr. Wm. Watson, who bought the Whiteman building, has contracted with Messrs Best & Seball to put in an iron and plate glass front. The present large and unsightly room will be scientifically divided into two rooms, 26 ft. 6 in. x 80 feet, with an iron ceiling. B. F. Gumm & Sons have the contract for laying Chicago flooring, and will put in each room handsome counters and shelves built of light cherry. Plans for the new Post Office fixtures are now on the way from Chicago, and it is the intention of Mrs. Ella G. Timoney, our popular Postmaster, not only to rival but excel the best appointed post office in the Territory in the way of fitness, and accommodation for the patrons of the office. The corner room, in addition to the Post Office, will be occupied on one side by Dr Zimmerman, who will move from Roswell with his drug store and family and locate his physic department on the side opposite Mrs. Timoney's P. O., Book, Stationary, Wall Paper, Cigars and Notions Emporium.

Sixteen Ounces.
Threatens every man, woman or child living in a region of country where fever and ague is prevalent, since the germs of malarial disease are inhaled from the air and are introduced from the water of such a region. Medical judgment is absolutely necessary to purify this [illegible]. As a means of fortifying and [illegible] the system so as to be able to resist the malarial poison, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is unsurpassed. Only the best and the most popular [illegible] of the [illegible] are specially recommended. Dyspepsia, indigestion, loss of appetite, and constipation are assisted by its use, and a vigorous as well as regular condition of the system promoted by it. Consumption and pulmonary [illegible] are thus defended against the inroads of malaria by this matchless remedy, which is also a certain and thorough remedy in the worst cases of kidney, bilious and remittent fevers.

Ex-President Cleveland should be a happy man, now that he has a fair young wife and a son and daughter to bless him in his old age. It would be the manly thing for him, in his rejoicing over the birth of a daughter, to take the son of his earlier days home and and give him the protection of the paternal roof.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never failing success by millions of mothers for their children. It not only relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, and regulates the bowels, but if taken in time will give rest to the mother. Price 25c. a bottle.

A NEWSPAPER man who evidently believes in telling things just as they are says: "Do not swear. There is no occasion to swear outside of a printing office. It's useful in proof-reading and indispensable in getting forms to press, and has been known to assist in looking over the paper when it is printed, but otherwise it is a very disgusting habit."

In a letter to an American friend a Japan gentleman of some literary note in his own country says that he is learning English by the aid of a small text book and a dictionary, without the aid of any other instructor, and he adds: "In small time I can learn so many English as I think I will come at the America and to go on the scaffold to lecture."

It was with the fine Nellie Smith

Up stream, through reed and wooded dell,
We fished our way.

White Oaks R. R. Meeting.

Las Vegas, N. M. Oct. 20.—The executive committee of the Las Vegas Short Line road between Denver & El Paso was called in the sitting room of the Montezuma Club. E. B. Bronson, of El Paso, was elected temporary chairman, and Col. Theo. W. Heman, of White Oaks, temporary secretary.

The records of the convention at El Paso, were read and approved.

R. L. Wooton moved a committee of three on credentials.

They were appointed and the following members of the executive committee were reported present—

Birks Conforth, Denver; A. McClellan and P. F. Sharp, Pueblo; R. L. Wooton, Trinidad; M. P. Pels, Maxwell Grant; O. L. Houghton, F. A. Manzanares, Las Vegas; John Y. Hewitt, White Oaks; E. B. Bronson and Jesse Hart, El Paso.

On permanent organization the Messrs Bronson and Heman declined election. McClellan, of Pueblo, was made president, and A. H. Whitmore, of Las Vegas, secretary. Albert Lawrence, of the First National Bank, was chosen treasurer; F. B. Bronson and Birks Conforth, were selected vice presidents; O. L. Houghton elected general manager.

The meeting adjourned until 3 p. m.

On the committee reassembling after dinner, the work of the El Paso Convention was pretty well gone over for the benefit of those members of the committee who were not present at El Paso.

The question of the employment of an engineer was then taken up and discussed at much length. A difference of opinion prevailed as to whether this should be left to the general manager and an advisory committee or whether the executive committee should itself make the selection and let the contract.

At the evening session Messrs Houghton, Pels and Hewitt were appointed a committee to accept or reject survey applications.

A grand banquet was served at night.

***

Col. Heman arrived home from the Las Vegas Convention this Friday morning, to celebrate with his wife the 11th anniversary of their nuptials.

Bear & Co. have leased the old Town Hall and will utilize it as a carpenter shop in which to shape wood for the Hewitt and other fine buildings they are contractors for.

A banana eating contest at Tarpon Springs, Fla., ended in a tie between two of the racers, each stopping on the 31st banana. So the record reads.

It was a tender-hearted American who saved the murdered Severa Cisneros from burial in a pauper's grave, says the San Francisco Report. When he visited the undertaker's where lay the bodies of murderer and murdered he was perceptibly under the influence of liquor.

"Say, pard," said he to Carl Schussel, "that gal died afore she wanted to didn't she?"

"Yes, sir."

"And that feller there murdered her!"

"So it is said."

"And ye'r giving him a big burial!"

"His friends are..."

"Yer say the gal's got to go to the potter's field!"

"I am afraid so."

"Where's her mother!"

"She has none."

"But she had one once't, and she's got to have a square deal and be buried right. Here's $20 to get her something to wear when she is to be planted in. Here's $20 to get a better coffin with, and here's $10 for a broken wheel of flowers. Let's not have it said old 'Frisco give the murderer a better send-off than that poor girl what what he kill. Good-by, old pard."

"What is your name, please? This is an act of rare generosity."

"Have a drink, pard, but my name's my own biz."

It was on the train, and he was trying to read by the passengers among them a lady with a very sprightly little girl that had blue eyes, a head of glistening gold, and an inquisitorial tongue. She plied with questions toyed with his watch chain. The mother, who was a widow, fairly beamed upon him. He was becoming nervous, and, turned to the mother, said; Madam, who do you call this sweet darlin gi.

The widow smiled enchantingly and replied with a sigh, "Ethel."

Please call her, then.

Why did she apply for a divorce?

Because her husband married her under an assumed name.

And why did the judge throw the case out of court?

Because she assumed the name, too, when she married him. She was just as guilty as he was.

Get out o' ths, you nasty tramp or I'll set the dog on you.

Set away, ma'am. He'll be a hatch nothin'. I'm a bad egg.

A Texas lady sent her servant over to the house of a sick neighbor.

Mrs. Smith sent me over to ax you how your husband am comin on dis mawnin?

Very bad, indeed, the doctor says he may die any minute, was the reply.

Den I reckon I had better wait a little while as I hain't got nuffin else to do jes now.

A MAN OF FORETHOUGHT.

How He Provided for the Fate of a Large and Interesting Family.

He was a tall, thin man, in a black threadbare suit, and he stood in front of the drop-a-nickel-in-the-slot-and-get-an-accident-insurance-policy machine at the Polk street station and looked at it in a thoughtful, solemn, almost melancholy way.

"It seems impossible that an outlay of only five cents can guarantee a man against financial loss in consequence of an accident disabling him within twenty-four hours, doesn't it?" he said to a bystander.

"It does, indeed," was the reply.

"And that in case of any fatal casualty his family will be preserved from the demon of want for at least a considerable time to come!"

"I don't see how they can afford to do it."

"What won't they get up next?" mused the man in black, as if speaking to himself, and shaking his head slowly. "Still, it does seem as if it were almost a duty incumbent on a husband and the father of a family whom he may at any moment leave destitute to take advantage of such an opportunity as this now and then, does it not? Life is uncertain, and it is a terrible thing for a family to be deprived without a moment's warning of its natural protector and have to face the cold charity of a friendless world. Is it not?"

"It is, indeed."

"And it seems all the more painful, the more lamentable, if I may so express it, when a man who feels a vague, uneasy foreboding that something disastrous may probably happen to him within the next twenty-four hours and would like to follow the dictates of his heart and his reason by making a wise provision for those whom he may leave widowed and fatherless, but is prevented from so doing for the want of a beggarly nickel—a paltry five-cent piece—does it not?"

"Why—er—"

"My friend," exclaimed the solemn man, with glistening eyes, "I see you apprehend my meaning. When the fate of a large and interesting family may be at stake you are not the man to hesitate! You will advance me the miserable trifle of five cents, to be repaid when I see you again—thanks! thanks! Heaven bless you, my friend! I will saunter about the station until it is about train time, and then I will deposit this coin in the appropriate orifice and take passage aboard. Thank you again, my friend, in the name of my wife and little ones!"

And the tall, thin man in the threadbare suit sauntered about the station in an aimless way until he found himself by the merest accident outside the front entrance, when he followed his gleaming nose swiftly in a bee line for the nearest beer saloon, where he deposited the coin in its appropriate slot, as it were.—Chicago Tribune.

FLORENCE AND FLOWERS.

An Italian City Where Every One Wears Gay and Fragrant Blossoms.

Afternoon sees us strolling through the streets on a flower-buying expedition, and reveals the wealth of the florists' shops and the itinerant baskets. Where do they all come from? Where do they grow, these countless masses of color and form and perfume? Gigantic irises of the most un usual description, masses of a dusty purple with flapping calyxes of palest lavender, spotted thickly with almost black violet dots; others white, yellow, blue, great scarlet arums, or what look like them, in bizarre contrast to the pure white ones; tulips, both wild and garden ones, yellow, scarlet, striped; gleaming poppies, scarlet ranunculus balls, papery-looking crimped anemone things of every color, lilac, yellow, scarlet, rose pink, white; roses in hills and mountains, of every hue, every shape, every scent, new-fangled roses and old-fangled roses; Dijon, crimson, palest tea rose, the strangely-gleaming "copper rose," which is a specialty of the place; every rose that blows is here to be had—for a price. Here, too, carnations of every shade, fresh and dewy, rich and luscious in perfume; lilies of the valley by the bushel, wall-flower, mignonette, narcissus; endless the variety, bewildering the choice, from tiny bunches of sweet violets up to masses of fantastical azaleas and great branches of yellow mimosa. Home'y, but lovely still, stocks of white and purple lilac carry one's thoughts swiftly to English lanes and gardens, and so do the great pink peonies, ample and smiling. Every one sells flowers, every one buys flowers; yet the baskets and the shops seem always full, always fresh and the masses of color on the broad ledges round the grim pile of the Strozzi palace never seems any smaller.—Temple Bar.

How the Kaiser Rides.

Mr. Yates writes of the recent review at Aldershot of the British army by the Emperor of Germany: "The Kaiser was extremely industrious in legging into the heart of things, galloping about from point to point with a restlessness which rather disconcerted several corpulent officers in attendance upon him. He himself is rapidly increasing in weight, and is already quite as heavy a man as was his father in his mature prime. Needless to say, rider as he is, his seat on horseback is the reverse of good, being the very worst sort imaginable sort of seat that the old school of riding-masters used to stigmatize as a 'wash-ball seat.' There can not be much amiss with his leathers, since he holds the reins in his left hand, and, without supporting himself, sits well a horse on his hopeless days a gallop."

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman, Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on the subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or moving and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is entitled to send it, and the subscriber is responsible until an express notice is given and payment of all arrearages is made to the publisher.

The latest general laws are such that newspaper publishers can prosecute anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law the mere fact allows his subscription to run after the time paid for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud. If he orders it discontinued, or orders the paper stopped, or notifies the postmaster to that effect, he makes himself liable to arrest and fine the same for the theft.

Excellent Train Service.

The present schedule of through service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Rincon, and from Wallen to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City, and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Barton for St. Louis via the Frisco Ry.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily at noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

A MAN OF FORETHOUGHT.

How He Provided for the Fate of a Large and Interesting Family.

He was a tall, thin man, in a black, threadbare suit, and he stood in front of the drop-a-nickel-in-the-slot-and-get-an-accident-insurance-policy machine at the Polk street station and looked at it in a thoughtful, solemn, almost melancholy way.

"It seems impossible that an outlay of only five cents can guarantee a man against financial loss in consequence of an accident disabling him within twenty-four hours, doesn't it?" he said to a bystander.

"It does, indeed," was the reply.

"And that in case of any fatal casualty his family will be preserved from the demon of want for at least a considerable time to come?"

"I don't see how they can afford to do it."

"What won't they get up next?" mused the man in black, as if speaking to himself, and shaking his head slowly. "Still, it does seem as if it were almost a duty incumbent on a husband and the father of a family whom he may at any moment leave destitute to take advantage of such an opportunity as this now and then. does it not? Life is uncertain, and it is a terrible thing for a family to be deprived without a moment's warning of its natural protector and have to face the cold charity of a friendless world, is it not?"

"It is, indeed."

"And it seems all the more painful, the more lamentable, if I may so express it, when a man who feels a vague, uneasy foreboding that something disastrous may probably happen to him within the next twenty-four hours and would like to follow the dictates of his heart and his reason by making a wise provision for those whom he may leave widowed and fatherless, but is prevented from so doing for the want of a beggarly nickel—a paltry five-cent piece—does it not?"

"Why—er—"

"My friend," exclaimed the solemn man, with glistening eyes, "I see you apprehend my meaning. When the fate of a large and interesting family may be at stake you are not the man to hesitate! You will advance me the miserable trifle of five cents, to be repaid when I see you again—thanks! thanks! Heaven bless you, my friend! I will saunter about the station until it is about train time, and then I will deposit this coin in the appropriate orifice and take passage aboard. Thank you again, my friend, in the name of my wife and little ones!"

And the tall, thin man in the threadbare suit sauntered about the station in an aimless way until he found himself by the merest accident outside the front entrance, when he followed his gleaming nose swiftly in a bee line for the nearest beer saloon, where he deposited the coin in its appropriate slot, as it were.—Chicago Tribune.

FLORENCE AND FLOWERS.

An Italian City Where Every One Wears Gay and Fragrant Blossoms.

Afternoon sees us strolling through the streets on a flower-buying expedition, and reveals the wealth of the florists' shops and the itinerant baskets. Where do they all come from? Where do they grow, these countless masses of color and form and perfume? Gigantic irises of the most un usual description, masses of a dusty purple with flapping calyxes of palest lavender, spotted thickly with almost black violet dots; others white, yellow, blue, great scarlet arums, or what look like them, in bizarre contrast to the pure white ones; tulips, both wild and garden ones, yellow, scarlet, striped; gleaming poppies, scarlet ranunculus balls, papery-looking crimped anemone things of every color, lilac, yellow, scarlet, rose pink, white; roses in hills and mountains, of every hue, every shape, every scent, saw-fanged roses and old-fangled roses; Dijon, crimson, palest tea rose, the strangely-gleaming "copper rose," which is a specialty of the place; every rose that blows is here to be had—for a price. Here, too, carnations of every shade, fresh and dewy, rich and luscious in perfume; lilies of the valley by the bushel, wall-flower, mignonette, narcissus; endless the variety, bewildering the choice, from tiny bunches of sweet violets up to masses of fantastiated azaleas and great branches of yellow laburnum. Home's, but lovely still, stacks of white and purple lilac carry one's thoughts swiftly to English lanes and gardens, and so do the great pink peonies, ample and smiling. Every one sells flowers, every one buys flowers; yet the baskets and the shops seem always full, always fresh and the masses of color on the broad ledge round the grim pile of the Strozzi palace never seem any smaller.—Temple Bar.

How the Kaiser Rides.

Mr. Yates writes of the recent review at Aldershot of the British army by the Emperor of Germany: "The Kaiser was extremely industrious in looking into the heart of things, galloping about from point to point with a recklessness which rather disconcerted several corpulent officers in attendance upon him. He himself is rapidly increasing in weight, and is already quite as heavy a man as was his father in his mature prime. Headlong rider as he is in his seat on horseback is the reverse of good, being the very loose and bucketing sort of seat that the old school of ring-masters used to objurgate as a 'wash-ball seat.' These can not be much amiss with his left arm, since he holds the reins in his left hand, and, without unsighting his right, can pull a horse on his haunches from a gallop."

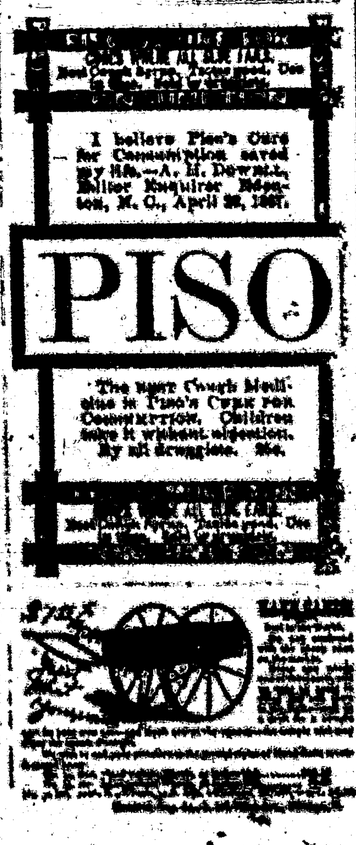
PRINTERS' INK.

A JOURNAL FOR ADVERTISERS.

Is issued on the first and fifteenth days of each month, and is the representative journal of the truly liberal of American advertisers. It indicates to the inexperienced advertiser how, when, and where to advertise; how to write an advertisement; how to display one; what newspapers to use; how much money to expend—in fact, discusses at every point that stands of profitable discussion. "Advertising is an art practiced by many but understood by few. The conductors of PRINTERS' INK understand it, and their advice is based on an experience of more than twenty-five years in placing advertising contracts for many of the largest and most successful advertisers. A year's subscription costs but One Dollar; copies free. Address:—

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.,
Newspaper Advertising Bureau,
10 Spruce St., New York.



Free Reading Matter.

There are various schemes for supplying reading matter at a trifling or nominal cost. What would you think if you could get good literature free?

Drop a postal to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kans., and ask for a copy of "To Mexico by Palace Car." You can also procure free copies of "A Santa Barbara Holiday," "Guide to San Diego Region," Las Vegas Hot Springs Guide," and folders relating to Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman, Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on the subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

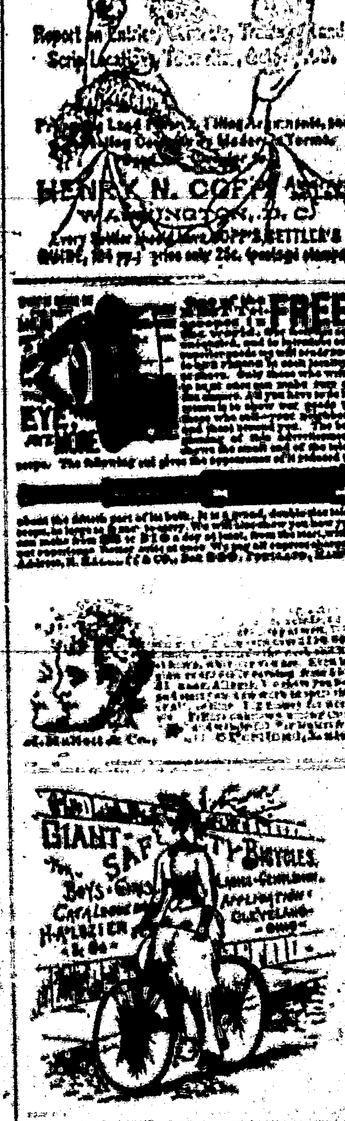
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or moving and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is entitled to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice and payment of all arrearages is made to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can prosecute anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law the mere act allows his subscription to run after some time unpaid and then ordering it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," or leaves it uncalled for, is sufficient evidence to send a notifying the publisher, and renders himself liable to arrest and fine for each for the fit.



Excellent Train Service.

The present schedule of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making direct connection at Rincon, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City, and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Burton for St. Louis via the Frisco Ry.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

SEED ANNUAL

"Hello! Tom. Glad to see you, old fellow! It's almost ten years since we were married. Sit down; let's have an experience meeting. How's the wife?"

"Oh! she's so-so, same as usual,—always wanting something I can't afford."

"Well, we all want something more than we've got. Don't you?"

"Yes; but I guess I want will be my master." I started to keep down expenses; and now Lil says I'm 'mean,' and she's tired of saving and never having anything to show for it. I now pass with down nurse, and she looked as happy as a queen."

"I think she is"; and we are economical, too,—have to be. My wife can make a little go further than anyone I ever knew, yet she's always surprising me with some dainty contrivance that adds to the comfort and beauty of our little home, and she's always 'merry as a lark.' When I ask how she manages it, she always laughs and says: 'Oh! that's my secret!' But I think I've discovered her 'secret.' When we married, we both knew we should have to be very economical, but she made one condition: she would have her Magazine. And she was right! I wouldn't do without it myself for double the subscription price. We read it together, from the title-page to the last word; the stories keep our hearts young; the synopsis of important events and scientific matters keeps me posted so that I can talk understandingly of what is going on; my wife is always trying some new idea from the household department; she makes all her dresses and those for the children, and she gets all her patterns for nothing, with the Magazine; and we saved Joe when he was so sick with the croup, by doing just as directed in the Sanitarian Department. But I can't tell you half!"

"What wonderful Magazine is it?"

"Demorest's Family Magazine, and—"

"What! Why that's what Lil wanted so bad, and I told her it was an extravagance."

"Well, my friend, that's where you made a grand mistake, and one you'd better rectify as soon as you can. I'll take your sub. right here, on my wife's account; she's bound to have a shine tea-set in time for our tin wedding next month. My gold watch was the premium I got for getting up a club. Here's a copy, with the new Premium List for clubs,—the biggest thing out! If you don't see in it what you want, you're only to write to the publisher and tell him what you want, and how it is a tack-hammer or a new carriage, and he will make special terms for you, and have it or both, or for next each. Better subscribe right off and surprise Mrs. Tom. Only $2.00 a year,—will save fifty times that in six months. Or send 10 cents direct to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a specimen copy containing the Premium List."

GRAND PREMIUM OFFER!

A SET OF THE

CHARLES DICKENS.

Wishing to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a set of the Works of Charles Dickens in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a trifle more than our regular subscription price. Our present offer to subscribers will soon be withdrawn made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, naturally delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home would be without a set of these grand and remarkable works. Nor to-day is any man to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type, on fine, white paper, and substantially bound in cloth. The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published separately, and sold at a high price:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great author's works.

LOCAL ROUNDUPS

Lunkenomology makes a game but printer's ink a black and solemn will give a pair peculiar fame, when put in this peculiar column

G. A. R. Monday night.

WHITEMAN has gone to Las Vegas, to be gone two weeks.

THE other day Goodman, Ziegler & Co., bought an inside lot, contignous to other of their property.

TRANSFERS of real estate have not been very lively this week.—Several offers have been made, but holders are waiting railroad developments.

WM WATSON is erecting a very pretty four room cottage dwelling on Harrison Avenue. It will be occupied by Mr. Ross, White Oaks new editor.

NOTICE—Rev. E. Lyman Hood, Home Missionary Superintendent, will preach in the White Oaks Congregational Church next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

W. H. WOOD has returned from Las Vegas. He reports that city on fire on the White Oaks R. R. proposition and several large property owners ready to pledge one-third their realty to carry it through Bully.

REV. HURD, our new Congregational minister, this week bought a sightly lot from J. B. Collier, upon which he will at once erect a dwelling, in which he will amply enclose his family, consisting of three heads besides his own—wife, child and mother-in-law.

ALL the mines being worked here about are yielding richly. Baxter Mountain is a sort of Pandora box, and before all that has been said in praise of that treasure vault ere long some Queen of Sheba will appear and truthfully proclaim that "the truth has not half been told."

"THE White Oaks Lumber & Building Company," is what the Gumm's have christened their new lumber yard. Lots of lumber, &c. is now on the way here from Chicago, and will be on the ground next week. The proprietors all swear "by gum" their goods will be sold cheap. J. A. Gumm will have charge of the yards.

MR. AL. PARKER and family arrived in town this week from Albuquerque, and will make this their future home. Mr. P. has bought the hardware stock and business of the late C. L. Pettengill and now on the road hither will stock it in his line as will satisfy all demands. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. P., and the little P.'s to our midst.

The World Furnishes.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will produce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

Old Soldiers Take Notice.

I have received a large supply of Pension blanks and will make out your applications FREE OF CHARGE, and forward them to Col. S. P. Hinsline, of Washington, D. C., a thoroughly competent Pension Attorney who will see that your claim is properly cared for.

MORTGAGE SALE.

WHEREAS, Felipe Miranda and Dorotea Miranda his wife both of the county of Lincoln, and Territory of New Mexico, by their certain mortgage deed, dated the 13th day of May, A. D. 1886, and recorded in the Probate Clerk's office of Lincoln County, in Book "A" of the record of mortgage deeds and conveyances, pages 16, 17 and 18 did convey unto M. Brunswick, his heirs and assigns, the following described parcel of land and real estate situated in the county of Lincoln, and Territory of New Mexico, as follows, to-wit:

The east half of the northwest quarter of section (22) twenty-three in township (9) nine south of range (18) eighteen east of the New Mexico principal meridian, and containing 80 acres.

To secure the payment of one promissory note of said Felipe Miranda, dated respectively February 13th, 1886, for the sum of $1,000 payable to the order of the said M. Brunswick one day after date with interest on the first above mentioned at the rate of eighteen per cent. per annum from maturity and twelve per cent. per annum from maturity on the note last above mentioned.

And whereas it was provided in and by said mortgage deed that if default should be made in the payment of said notes, and the interest thereon at the time and in the manner specified in said notes when the same should become due and payable, then, and in such case, the said mortgagee, his heirs and assigns or his or their agents or attorneys might sell for ready cash, the premises mortgaged, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, first giving notice of the time and place of said sale by publishing a notice in some newspaper published in the said county of Lincoln, for ninety days before the date of such sale, and in his or their notice or notices might make and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers a good and sufficient deed of said premises.

And whereas default has been made in the payment of said notes and the accrued interest on same, which default still continues.

Now, therefore, I, the undersigned, Assignee of said mortgage deed by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, will on the 23rd day of January, A. D. 1892, from 9 o'clock a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the front door of the court house in the town and county of Lincoln, the said mortgaged premises, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, the premises described and in said mortgage deed described, and will execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof a good and sufficient deed thereto.

$500 Reward for One Year.

The common experience of all camps shows that much is lost by the miners, either by the stealing of gold in specimens, if not in amalgam and bullion. Therefore, the "Old Abe" Company offer a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co., over the specimens of ore. The rule of this company with regard specimens. The general run of the ore from this claim is generally held a gold ore. And as the surface, and quartz boulders, is as rich in free gold as the ore, it would be a shame to allow specimens to be taken from it.
