Latest advices are that Charley Wingfield was elected Assessor by 5 majority and Soke Gray's majority over Frank Conger was 14.—The other Republican candidates were deeply snuffed under. Sick suffer tempestuous.

An Indianapolis dispatch to the New-York "Sun" says: "George W. Julian spoke here tonight. He was for many years a strong Republican. His speech tonight was a powerful arraignment of Harrison and his Administration."

Yes; Julian was once a strong Republican that he characterized the entire Democratic party as "Cherokee whelps," a phrase which has become historic.

But if the dispatch designs to convey the idea impression that George W. Julian is a recent convert to Democracy it is a fraud. He was Surveyor General of New-Mexico under Cleveland and naturally entertains a bad opinion of Harrison and his Administration.

Read or Weep.

The Democratic party pronounces Protection unconstitutional. Therefore, the present prosperity of the country is contrary to the Constitution.

PRICE'S BAKING POWDER

Supplying the Army, Navy and Indian Departments.

Chicago Inter Ocean.

The purchasing agents of the United States Government have ordered nearly one hundred thousand pounds of Dr. Price's Baking Powder in the first five months of this year, 1892.

The government oversees great care in selecting its supplies of all kinds, rejecting everything that is not of the best, and the very fact that it has adopted Dr. Price's Baking Powder is proof that it has found it the best of all the baking powders. Dr. Price's is peculiarly adapted for export, as neither long sea voyages nor climatic changes affect it, this brand keeping fresh and sweet for years while other baking powders deteriorate rapidly.

It is guaranteed to the government to be a pure cream of tartar powder free from ammonia, alum or other material substances, and it is also the only baking powder prepared by a physician of high standing.

OUR NEW YEAR'S CARD COMPETITION

The most interesting Contest ever offered by The Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Compiled in office January 15, 1893.

$300 Reward for Old Abe Thieves.

The common experience of mankind shows that much is lost by the mine operators by the stealing of gold in specimens, if not in small nuggets and bullion.—Therefore, the "Old Abe" Company offers a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co., even the small est specimen of ore.—The rule of this company is to sell all specimens. Therefore none of the ore from this mine can be honestly held as specimens. And any one, with guilty knowledge, in possession of the thief, this offer applies to, holds of Old Abe specimens.

LAST OF THE DELAWARES.

The Old Indian Who Remembers Only to the "Great Father."

The Chief of the Delawares, that is the title of the stalwart old man with the coarse black locks, the wrinkled copper skin, rounding black eyes and cruel mouth. Seventy-five years old, but more erect and of greater height than any white man in the mountains. Chief of the Delawares, but a ruler without one subject, with a log cabin on the mountain side, a bit of meadow land, a stretch of pasturage for his sheep, where his ancestors had seigniorial rights over the lovely glades of the Alleghanies. He knows, the old man, of what race he sprung and what his inheritance, but he rarely speaks of it.

Once, two years ago, he showed that he knew his family's history as well as the proudest New Englander. The late W. W. Corcoran, of Washington, was stopping at Deer Park, and in one of his drives some one pointed out Manner Male and told Mr. Corcoran that he was Chief of the Delawares.

Mr. Corcoran turned to him quickly and asked his name. Not acknowledging the name which the white people have given him, "Manner Male," he drew himself up proudly and said: "I am the Chief of the Delawares."

"I remember well," said Mr. Corcoran, "when an ancestor of yours, probably your father, was taken by my father to see the President, Andrew Jackson, about a treaty signing away this whole section to the white man and agreeing to leave this country for the Southwest. Did you ever hear of it?"

"Yes. It was my father. His people went. When the time came he could not go. He died on the spot where my cabin is when the news was brought to him that the white men were building a railroad in the valley where his people built their campfires at the coming of the winter."

Old Manner Male did not take off his hat or bow his head as he stood at the side of the fine equipage, but the courtly old gentleman in the carriage raised his hat and bowed homage to the last Chief of the Delawares.

It is the same old Manner Male who comes twice a week to the rear door of a pretty summer cottage and exchanges a fine saddle of mutton for money handed him by a pretty young matron, before whom he takes off the hat that he will never raise to any white man save one, and that is the stately gentleman who sits on the porch with a white-frocked child at his side and always says: "Good day, Mr. Male. We are greatly indebted to you for your mutton."

The old Indian bows to the Great Father, for it is the President of the United States who has greeted him and the President's daughter who has taken the mutton, of which he is as proud as his ancestors of their God-given rights, the glades of the Alleghanies.

He has dozens of grandchildren, this old Manner Male. The dusky, brown-skinned daughters of the fallen household noses off rhododendrons and laurels to the summer guests, and in the winter gather the red berries of the wintergreen, which they trade for flour in the neighboring towns. The sons of the house, none of whom have Manner Male's proud carriage, slouch into the village with a string of pheasants slung across the shoulder or a half-dozen mountain trout dangling from the hand.—Deer Park (Md.) Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman Cleveland, has taken some pains to collect and compile the decisions of the U. S. Courts on the subject and gives to the Washington Post, as the result of his investigations, the following, which may be relied upon as correct:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to renew their subscriptions.

2. If the subscriber orders the discontinuance of his periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of all arrearages, is sent to the publisher.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," or have a postal card sent to it by the publisher, renders himself liable to arrest and [illegible] for fraud.

A PATRIOTIC WORK.

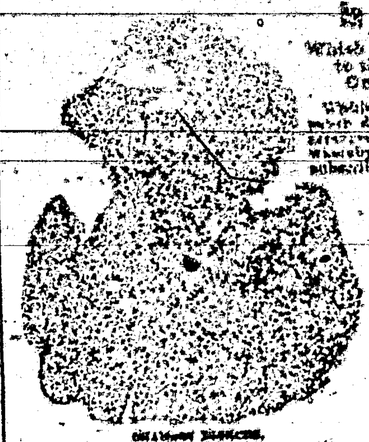
GRAND PREMIUM OFFER

A SET OF THE

WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,

In Twelve Large Volumes,

Which we Offer with a Year's Subscription to this Paper for a Trifle More than Our Regular Subscription Price.



CHARLES DICKENS.

Wishing to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a little more than are regular subscription prices. Our great offer to subscribers embraces any set of books ever made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. Nearly two dozen or more his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type. The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unabridged, and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price never before known. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set

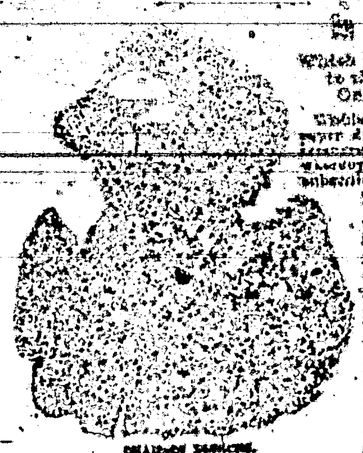
A SET OF THE

WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,

In Twelve Large Volumes,

Which we Offer with a Year's Subscription to this Paper for a Trifle More than Our Regular Subscription Price.



CHARLES DICKENS.

Wishing to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a little more than our regular subscription price. Our great offer to subscribers embraces the very greatest premium ever before made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No household should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type. The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unabridged, and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKLEBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this great luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great author's works.
