Religion Tackles a Big Job

Those who feel that the promotion of international peace is a process of education rather than a task for legislation and diplomacy read with interest recently that the Church Peace Union is sending abroad its executive secretary, Doctor Henry A. Atkinson, to discuss with the leaders of the great world religions how the followers of these beliefs can best organize their efforts against war. The Church Peace Union, which is one of the Carnegie Foundations for the promotion of international peace and good-will, has been at work on this plan for several years. Before sailing, Doctor Atkinson announced that officers and committees have been appointed in almost all the great countries of the world to organize the "World Conference for International Peace through Religion," which will be held probably during the summer of 1932.

The character of this movement is indicated by the fact that among the six presidents appointed to represent the leading religious beliefs are Doctor S. Parkes Cadman, of America, Professor Einstein, of Relativity fame, Baron Saketani, a member of the Japanese House of Peers and formerly mayor of Tokyo, and the great Indian philosopher, Doctor Rabindranath Tagore. Leaders of twenty different sects, including Christians, Jews, Mohammedans and all the great religions of the East, have subscribed to the conference plan.

Leading churchmen here and abroad see in this movement an opportunity for the church to regain the ground which it seems to have lost since the war by demonstrating its power to solve the great problem of permanent peace.

Plans are now being made, according to Doctor Atkinson, to collect a fund in America to finance the conference and make it

Author Says New Mexico is "Land of Enchantment"

"Yucciland is a land of enchantment," Sallie Graham Stice declares in an article in the March issue of the State Highway Journal, just off the press. "From Raton Pass down to that gem of the Southwest, Santa Fe; on through that glamorous country trodden so long ago by the conquistadores and padres of old Spain to that latest world wonder, Carlsbad Cavern; from Carlsbad west to Lordsburg, the 'Air Capital of the State; thence northward to Asteo Ruins Monument and out among the ancient Cities of Cibola; east, west, north, south it is all one amazing panorama."

She proceeds to describe a trip through southern New Mexico, including Silver City, Pinos Altos, Santa Rita, The White Sands, Cloudcroft and other points, with references to many of northern New Mexico's attractions, all couched in superlatives.

School Budgets

School Budget Auditor, Carl D. Comstock, spent Monday and Tuesday here with local budgeting authorities in the preparation of budgets for the schools of Lincoln county. The budget for 1930-31, if finally approved as submitted by the auditor and the local budgeting authorities, will show an increase over the previous year. On the other hand, the average daily attendance, upon which the budget must be based, shows a proportionate increase, and the cost per capita will be approximately the same—$100. It is quite possible that the per capita cost may be slightly reduced the coming year, for the reason that all the emergencies provided in the budget may not be required.

A Gospel of John Revival

May 18 to June 1st.
The services at the Baptist church were well attended Sunday and plans for the Gospel of John Revival were discussed. Rev. Earl Keating, the popular young pastor at Alamogordo, is to assist in this meeting. Rev. Keating is very successful in and many young people attend his services.

The music and Bronner Band will be in charge of Prof. C. F. Frazier, of Lake Arthur. He needs no introduction, having thrilled and inspired his audiences here some two years ago with his sweet gospel singing. The pastor of the Baptist church in these services, and that a well-come awaits all.

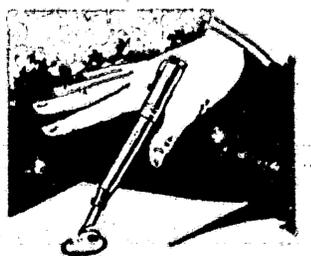

He Is Risen

"Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust." No matter how soft or musical the voice, no matter how filled with human sympathy, when these words are uttered human heartstrings are a-re torn. In them is the confession that the enemy takes our loved ones. We stand defeated, conquered, cowed. It is the sting of death. It is the victory of the grave. Mounds of earth, heaps of ashes, piles of dust—broken hearts; parents bereft of children, children bereft of parents; loved ones mourning the loss of loved ones; the race of mankind sighing for the touch of vanished hands and sounds of voices that are still.

But down the ages comes the message of the first Resurrection Morn, "He is risen!" The Lord is risen! He was dead and is alive again. Drooping heads are lifted; tearful eyes are filled with hope; ears are strained to catch more of the glad tidings. He said, "Because I live ye shall live also." And "He that believeth on me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." For, "I am the resurrection and the life." Tongues which were before silent with grief now shout aloud, "O, death, where is thy sting? O, grave, where is thy victory?"

And mounds of earth shall blossom forth with our resurrected loved ones; those we have loved long since and lost awhile shall rise phoenix-like from heaps of ashes; piles of dust will be transformed into glorious sons and daughters of God. And in gratitude fathers and mothers, and children and loved ones will gather with the "thousand times ten thousands of thousands" around the great white throne and sing, "Blessing and honor, and glory, and power be unto Him that sitteth on the throne, and unto the Lamb forever and ever."

Special Easter services in the Methodist Church next Sunday night. Come, and let us rejoice together in the resurrection of our Lord and in the hope of our resurrection. Special music and songs and a sermon on the Resurrection await you.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

It's an old proverb to say, "haste makes waste," but it is quite a new and up-to-date truth that "waists make haste" in these days—haste to consult the looking glass to see if one has a possibility of wearing the new "normal waisted" dresses; haste in many cases to obtain the corsets of days gone by; haste to

Grace J. Austin, declare, if one is perhaps a little stout, that certainly the normal waistline is as impossible for many of this soft-living generation as to obtain perpetual motion.

Dame Fashion delights to hear statements that Paris is reviving the wearing of clusters of artificial flowers on evening dresses; after a period when they were decided not to be in the mode. Once back in her early housekeeping days a statement was read that if an unusually busy morning were ahead, to pin a flower—of course meaning a natural one—on the front of the dress would give substantial aid. Dame Fashion is here to testify that she has tried this many times with genuine success.

But a pretty natural flower cluster is not always at hand. The wearing of such, with daytime as well as party frocks, is accepted at this time as quite an approved custom. There is just a hint in the air that flowers may return to hats before the summer is over, if it is only to peep out from beneath the brim. That was a favored fashion of Civil war days, and so might as well be expected to return, with other looking-back styles.

Both gloves and shoes are obtainable in colors. The bride who longs for "all accessories to match" in her going away apparel will have no difficulties ahead. But this generation has good judgment, for the preference for slip-on gloves remains. Dame Fashion can well remember how women used to have to toll with that peaky article, the glove-buttoner.

Hats have never been more delightful than at present—at least, that is the way they seem to Dame Fashion. So many of them seem to look like wise, guarding friends. From one or both sides they drop down soft little arms of protection, with a caressing look, as if they said, "I like this pretty girl or woman, and you must, too."

The hat well of the forehead gives its wearer a remarkably innocent and sweet expression. Dame Fashion has noticed young women whom she knew to be watchful mothers of their children, and yet in their new hats they had quite the modest, engaging look of a girl in her first year at boarding school.

Pink has always been called a color of happiness, and this will be a great summer for pink. There are pink articles to be found in almost every possible article for the wearing and adornment of women and girls. The pink color started with little pink ripples, to herald the on-coming tide of the rosy hue. There have been pink touches on black hats, pinkish jersey dresses, pink jewelry.

Now comes a suggestion that pink and white dotted swiss gowns may become the mode. And for sweet modesty, for that, try "quinlup split" that we have heard of as returning, what can equal dotted swiss? (© 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

Bolero Effect Is Noted in the Boulevard Frock

The Boulevard frock emphasizes the bolero effect in rounded-over blouse and accented skirt with long tabs which fall over the waist. Worn for a woman's shopping, a day at the office or an informal day at home. Made of lightweight wool with silk or cotton lining and with... Western's Home Department.

Children Follow Their Mothers in Fashionland

A charming travel suit with plain lines is of blue covert cloth that is smartly tailored for one so young. It is not dissimilar in style from the travel suit her mother wears.

Suit Gets Approval for Women's Spring Outfit

Enthusiasts on the subject of the suit advocate it, even though it may be necessary to supplement it by a top coat. Lightweight woollens and some of the mannish suitings which, are in this category make such supple suits that they may readily be interchangeable with dress of a tailored type.

It is interesting to note that while suits are highlighted for street wear at the Paris openings, the one-piece woollen dress is by no means ignored, several chic examples of this type of costume being made of Jersey. Among the newer color effects in novelty woollens may be mentioned those with a yellowish cast and others which are faintly mauve-red. Black and white mixtures, although not new, are important, as are gray with either black or white. Rumors of gray persist.

The hat to complete the tailor has heretofore been felt—without a question. Other fabrics present themselves this spring. Hats are frequently made of panama-like with or without another material and of a variety of straw fabrics, not forgetting tweed or linen. Cloche shapes are being revived and one-sided effects are liked, or off the face models are another alternative. Trimmings continue to be minimized, the silhouette being the important thing. Egg trims are liked, and jeweled ornaments, clasps especially, make an appeal. The usual effective contrast of shiny ribbon on a dull surface or the other way about is employed.

High Shoes for Street Wear New Paris Fashion

Skirt lengths have cast their shadows in the form of high shoes for street wear, put out in the new collection of one of the leading designers. The last word in footwear, available only to the exclusive few so far, is a patent leather version of grandma's gaiter boots. It reaches three inches above the ankle bone and forms a glove-like covering, all neat and shining and decidedly different.

The fastening of the new high shoes is located on the instep of the foot, instead of atop the instep. A strap and button on the outer side define the top and provide a neat finish. High shoes, according to the man who designs them, are part of the changed requirements since skirts lengthened.

Evening styles have already made it difficult to sell dance shoes with straps, he asserts. Unbroken lines, neatness and ability to make the foot look small are required of evening shoes.

Mother-of-Pearl Petals Make New Paris Chapeau

Straight from Paris comes a new evening hat which is a cross between a mermaid's cavern and a South Sea hatched roof. It is a mere cap made up of rather long petals, the petals being mother-of-pearl. Since the petals are rather stiff, each one stands out just a trifle from its neighbors, lending the shaggy, hatched effect which goes pleasantly with a certain piquant sort of face. A mother-of-pearl bonnet can, of course, be worn with any color including black.

Evening Pumps Offered in Variety of Colors

Things have been so arranged that it is almost impossible to make one pair of evening slippers go with two or three frocks of different shades. Nevertheless, this triumph can be achieved. Fresh colored shoes go with almost any other color, and so do more slippers in that new, lacelike material shade which is midway between pink and beige, with the faintest dash of coffee. Various shops give this shade various names, which does not alter its graceful beauty.

Analyzing YOU

With the New Science of Syllables By C. J. COFFMAN Dean of All the Enumerators

Irene
As the eye indicates our wakefulness, so the first syllable in this name, IR, really signifies the wakefulness of the city. This naturally makes you most adapted to city life, where you will not only be most at home, but where your greatest success is almost certain to be found.

Your second syllable, ENE, tells us a lot about singing. This means not only songs of a joyful, happy nature, but the song of triumph, which you will sing because of your wakefulness for opportunity in the city. Only a few people can succeed, and then be peaceful. You have real ability here, because you avoid the continual urge of ambition, the dynamic drive for more of success and of applause.

The whole word Irene means peace, quietness and rest.

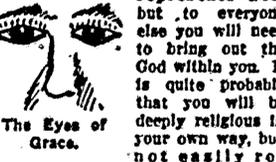

The letter I in your name, like the human eye in your body, is able to radiate great peacefulness among your friends and loved ones. At times this wakefulness may have a dash of fire in it, like that of Irene Bordoni, the French actress and vaudeville artist.

Taking the letters separately in your name I signifies immaculate, innocent; R stands for Righteousness and Restoration; E stands for Entrance and Entertainment, while N stands for both Nobility and Novelty.

Whatever advice is given you, you will do as you like about following, but the principal bit of advice that you really need is to be kind to your inferiors.

The reason for this is that you have the tendency to attract around in-felicitous who grow. These may, quite unexpectedly, catch up with you or even go ahead of you. To you especially applies the conclusion of the little fable about the grasshopper who spurned the acquaintance of the caterpillar, and was afterwards snubbed by the butterfly who had been the caterpillar.

Grace
Your name begins with G, the seventh letter. To the enumerator this represents—God—but to everyone else you will need to bring out the God within you. It is quite probable that you will be deeply religious in your own way, but not easily restrained by creeds or dogmas.

The word GRACE really means to do things without friction, and you are happiest only when you are doing things that way.

Your deep and studious eyes show the ability to penetrate the thoughts of others. You can mother them, even though you disagree with them.

With an almost unlimited courage you combine a peculiar timidity, a fluttering of heart and mind, like a frightened bird, making almost a paradox in your life.

Taking off the G in your name we find the word RACE. This indicates the speed with which you can accomplish a thing your heart is set upon. It also has a relationship to the pride you take in skill of fingers.

The first three letters of your name, GRA, relate to an old Greek root to write. In this you will probably find your greatest career. Among the modern Graces who have exemplified this is Grace Coolidge.

Taking off the first two letters of your name gives us the word ACE. This gives you the desire as well as the ability to hold to a single ideal, and to demand the singular possession of what you feel to be your own.

You have one of those peculiar natures that gives you access to what you set your mind upon, but this is curiously restrained by the timidity that I mentioned. Ordinarily you are not lonesome even when alone, your mind is so filled with things to learn and to do.

Go right on courageously then, Grace, knowing that all things come to him who waits, if you continue to labor while you wait.

Checkers' Many Names

In England the game of checkers is known as draughts; in France, Jeu des Dames; Italy, Gas Damsopoli; Holland, Damroet; Poland, Dama; in the Arabic of Egypt, Damah. The recurrence of the forms of "Dame" is attributed to the fact that part of the board and some of the draughts of Queen Hafass, daughter of Thothmes, who lived in Egypt 1000 B. C., have been found.

Idea of Wedding Cake Credited to Victoria

Gunter's famous confectionery shop in Berkeley square, London, goes back to 1760, when it was known by the sign of the Pot and Pine Apple. A perusal of the firm's books, dating from 1820, affords many curious insights into the table customs of late Georgian and early Victorian times. Twelfth cakes were ordered by the ton year after year, and the addition of two packs of cards to every such order was the almost invariable rule. Curiously enough, however, wedding cakes would seem to have been unknown at London society weddings until Queen Victoria set the fashion by ordering one on her marriage. So great was the public curiosity concerning this cake that over 21,000 people passed through the Berkeley square premises in order to view it.

Insect-Catching Plants

All plants have interesting characteristics, but few are so endlessly mysterious and fascinating as are the insect-catching and insect-devouring plants, of which Florida has an especially large number, comprising species of butterworts, sundews, pitcher plants, and bladderworts. No less than five species of pitcher plants grow in Florida, says Nature Magazine, and the large flowers are so remarkable in form that a writer in 1872 aptly called them "fantastical flowers." Yet the hollow, trumpet-shaped leaves, dotted and veined with white and red and purple, are even more fantastic than the flowers, and most fantastic of all are the means by which these handsome leaves lure and capture and devour their living prey.

High School Attendance Grows

Twice as many students are entering high school now as were enrolled ten years ago, the bureau of education finds. Virtually all children attend school until completion of the fifth grade, the bureau announces. Frank M. Phillips, chief of the division of statistics, directed the investigation into high school conditions. He said that of 1,000 pupils reaching the fifth grade in 1918, only 342 entered high school and 180 were graduated. In 1920, the latest year for which figures are available, 603 of every 1,000 pupils entered high school, and 247 were graduated.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comforted; if not, you should call a doctor. Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

THE FIRST REALLY NEW OIL IN 25 YEARS

This is the simple story of the new oil that is now enjoying such remarkable acceptance: Conoco Germ-Processed... In the first place, this new oil is an extraordinarily fine paraffin-base lubricant. And then... under exclusive Conoco patents, this oil is endowed with the unusual faculty of penetrating and combining with metal surfaces. This faculty, we call "Penetrative Lubricity." The Germ Process, by adding a precious oily-essence lacking in all other oils, does this... And so provides constant unfailing lubrication for your motor under any conceivable strenuousness of motor operation. Germ Process is the first fundamental improvement in refining methods in the last quarter century.

Indian, and Blind Scouts

A Troop of Mescalero Apache Indian Scouts will attend the Scout Jamboree which will be held in Roswell April 25th. This is one of the few Indian troops in the country. The Scoutmaster, Assistant Scoutmaster and all of the scouts are members of the Mescalero and Apache tribes. These boys are competing with the other troops in Archery, fire Building, Wall Scaling, First Aid, etc.

At the evening program they will put on one of their Indian Dances and sing some of their songs.

A troop of Blind Scouts from New Mexico Institute for Blind at Alamogordo will be another interesting troop at the Jamboree. This troop will attend 100 per cent and take part in many of the competitive events. They will bring their orchestra and furnish music at the evening program.

Local scouts and leaders are making plans to attend this big scouting event.

Typing Contest Results

District Shorthand and Typing Contest met at Alamogordo Apr 11. Entries from Carrizozo were as follows: Novice Shorthand Mary and Julia Romero; Amateur Shorthand, Helen Huppertz; Novice Typewriting Katherine Ke and Frank Shelton; Amateur Typewriting, Evelyn Grumbles and Dorothy Dzier. Hurley, New Mexico, won first place, in Novice Shorthand with Deming second; Las Cruces won first and second in Amateur shorthand with Carrizozo a very close third. Deming won first and second in Novice typewriting; Las Cruces won first in Amateur typewriting and Alamogordo second. Both Frank Shelton and Evelyn Grumbles qualified to enter the State contest May 9, which means they made above average rates of speed in the District Contest.

Unusual rates were made in this contest. Vivian Hess of Las Cruces who won Amateur contest, writing 70 words a minute, while 59 won the state contest last year. 54 words won the Novice contest in the state last year and 64 won in our district. It would seem that our district will offer some keen competition at the State Contest.

NO EXCELLENCE WITHOUT LABOR

I was at a concert in New York, where a celebrated teacher of the violin was exhibiting his pupils. A boy of eighteen stepped on the stage and began to play. A hush fell over the room. His face, his fingers, every move and look proclaimed an embryo artist.

With easy assurance, in which no trace of effort, he played one number after another, the audience urging him on with enthusiastic applause. Each of us felt the thrill of personally discovering this new star in the musical heavens. The concert over, a gentleman, pushed forward to congratulate the teacher.

"You must be wonderfully proud of that brilliant boy!" he exclaimed. The teacher was unresponsive. "Not very proud," he said.

"But, surely he will be a master." "No, He will probably be a fiddler in a restaurant."

The man was a bit indignant. Was this coolness born of professional jealousy--the envy of an older man for the brilliant youth? The teacher did not leave him long in doubt.

"The boy could be a master," he explained, "but he never will. Some of the others who performed less well today you will hear from later. But he--no. He will be a fiddler." It comes too easy; he will not work."

If you have read much of biography you know that the teacher was right. Nothing is more impressive than the infinite pains which great men have taken, not merely to achieve position, but to keep it.

Emerson tells of a letter from an artist friend describing Michelangelo's huge mural painting of the Last Judgment, which the friend "had the opportunity of seeing very near, and was astonished at the minute finish of muscles and nerves, finished like a miniature." No deal was too small for the artist whose shoulders were bent by the long effort of finishing his immortal picture under the dome of St. Peter's.

Booth, the great actor, was never satisfied. One night, after a performance in which he seemed to the audience to have surpassed himself, a friend went to congratulate him.

He "found Booth with his head in his hands in the deepest dejection, from which not even the praise of an old friend could arouse him, disgusted at having given so miserable performance."

Whether great success is worth what it costs or whether mediocrity is a happier state are debatable questions. But there is no secret about the formula. Eternal work is the difference between the artist--and the fiddler.

Nogal Nuggets

L. R. Hust has been a business man the past week, attending to the Nogal Service Station for his son Elmer who has been ill.

Frank Peacock, of Nogal, and Miss Georgia Johnson, from the Pecos Valley, were quietly married at Judge Harvey's office, in Carrizozo, the first of the week. Frank and his bride will start on their honeymoon trip in a few days.

Roy Hust has broken out in a new place. He thought he had gotten by the measles, but they overtook him the first of the week. He was pretty sick for a few days but is better now.

Miss Moxel Myles, of El Paso, and Miss Geneva Lynch, from the Mesa, were visitors of the Charles Pfingsten family this week. Miss Myles is a sister of Mrs. Pfingsten.

There are a few more new families in Nogal--Messrs. Roberts, Jones and Hands--the latter two are employed by the railroad Co. Mr. Roberts has been doing some work for Mr. LeBaron.

Mrs. Dorothy Zumbalt and Tommy, Jr., are visiting in Nogal this week.

Mrs. Effie Peacock has just returned from Roswell, where she has been the past two weeks, and announces the birth of a big boy, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stacy.

Mrs. Stacy is a sister of Mrs. Effie Peacock, also a sister of A. J. McBrayer, Carrizozo.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker G. White were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron the past few days, but have now returned home.

If you want to see a fine set of antlers, from one of the biggest bucks killed last fall, Jesse May has them mounted and at his home. Mr. Russell, of South Fork, a gifted taxidermist, did the mounting, which is a fine piece of work. The buck was a 13-pointer.

The dance at Nogal last Saturday night was something extra--everybody peaceable and well behaved. The hall was crowded; the Mountain Boomers made the music--Everybody knows them.

Their next dance will be the 26th of this month; everybody invited. Hereafter the Mountain Boomers will play every first and third Saturday of each month through the summer, at Nogal Hall. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. John L. Bryan and son Job returned Tuesday from a visit to Mrs. Bryan's daughter at Sayre, Oklahoma. They left last week, George, coming over from Amarillo, drove the car, picking up Elwena at Roswell, and the trip was extended to Sayre from Amarillo. On their return George stopped at Amarillo, Elwena at Roswell, and Mrs. Bryan and Job made the last leg of the trip from Roswell.

Oliver Peaker, of White Oaks dropped into our office late Friday evening, dropped the remark that "it was about time," and dropped into our hands two pieces of paper bearing the likeness of the "Father of our country," and also Uncle Sam's promise to make the obligation good. We see Oliver often, but he comes into this office at this time of year, just as regularly as a clock—an example worthy of emulation.

Western Motors Sels

The entire stock and fixtures of the local Ford Agency, known as Western Motors, Inc., have been purchased by Mr. Roy Shaffer, of Carlsbad, New Mexico. The stock was invoiced this week and the formal transfer was made yesterday, at which time Mr. Shaffer took charge. Mrs. Shaffer and children will join Mr. Shaffer as soon as school closes at Carlsbad.

The purchaser until a few weeks ago was engaged in the ranching business in Eddy county with Mr. C. N. Farnsworth, of the Roswell Auto Company, and will, for the present, have associated with him some of the Roswell Auto Co. organization, which has had many years experience in the Ford business. The new company will remain in the location formerly used by the Western Motors.

The good will and best wishes of the retiring Ford dealers go with Mr. Shaffer in his new undertaking and we welcome Mr. Shaffer's coming and entry into the commercial life of the town.

Last Sunday's game, the first of the season, resulted in a score of 11 to 4 in favor of the East Side against the High School team.

Factory Speeding Up

Business is good and it is going to get better, says Frank A. English, local Frigidaire Dealer, who recently received word that the factories at Dayton, Ohio, are employing more men than they ever did before at this time of the year and that all first quarter production records were broken during the first three months of 1930.

"There are more Frigidaires in use than all other makes of electric refrigerators combined," he said. "This is because the outstanding value of the product, backed by General Motors guarantee of absolute satisfaction, has won and held public preference."

"The Frigidaire cabinet is finished, inside and out, in flexible porcelain-on-steel and will not rust, peel or blister. The mechanical unit is placed at the bottom where it operates in cool air near the floor. This means efficiency and lower operating costs. All household cabinets elevated food shelves, the famous cold control, the new acid proof hydrator, which keeps vegetables crisply fresh, and all other features which have contributed in making Frigidaire the outstanding choice of discriminating buyers."

Sorry but I have been so busy it's wise to choose a SIX!

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no rumble or drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting, longer-satisfying automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No other automobile consumes less gasoline and oil. No other shows a lower expense for tires. And no other car costs less for service.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high resale value.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes; a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear; four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a heavy, rigidly-braced channel-steel frame. And it gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance . . . and for economical transportation!

Carrizozo, N. Mex.

The home market is every day proving its value to the livestock producer of the west and south-west. The freight rates should break where the distance breaks, and if it isn't so now, it will be so in the future as the west develops as a consuming section, and it's well on its way.

Transportation costs and conditions, as a rule determine the market, so that the producers on the line of cleavage between the middle west and the coast markets, naturally have a choice of markets, and as we proceed either east or west, conditions change accordingly.

The home market is usually within 24 hours by regular scheduled trains so that the owner can get his money, and have it working again as a rule before he can reach eastern markets. The man that tops out his flocks or herds, and cashes them, is likely to be in better financial shape than the one who holds a back stuff that is ready to go. This brings the home market prominently into view of the producer, and the situation warrants a very careful survey on the part of our producer, in order that he may know "his market", and its benefits.

I have always contended that barley fed to livestock year in and year out would yield more money than selling it as grain. It gives the producer a dual marketing opportunity, and if he used only 50 per cent in the feeding of livestock, and sold the other half on the market as grain, that might be a good way to try it out, but right now there is no chance of matching the results of feeding the barley to livestock. We are still within the bounds of safety so far as over production of pork is concerned, although the price of feed if continued on a low level for a considerable time would undoubtedly mean lower hog prices, but to the farmer who raises his grain and hogs, there is no better combination as a year in and year out plan, and even at this time, those who take up the business of hog feeding, should start in a safe and sane way, and with the intention of making it a business rather than taking a flier for a few weeks or a few months.

Denmark imports barley to feed and fatten a particular type of hogs favored by the markets of the United Kingdom. We can produce from our present foundation herds exactly the same type of porker, namely, the bacon type. In fact, we should produce that type because it fits in with the demands of the coast markets and then, if by any chance, in the future we should have a surplus it is a whole lot better to feed our barley at home and ship the pork in dressed form to the European markets. This does not look like a difficult proposition when we consider that Denmark buys barley from our Western States to feed hogs for the European markets. This is something to look forward to.

Every busy man, when called upon to do some work outside of his business, feels at times like turning down all such demands upon his time by the community. On the other hand, if every citizen of this community had refused to give up a portion of his time for community work this town would have had no electric lights, no water, no sewer, no cement sidewalks, and many other conveniences we enjoy—and the same thing is true of every town.

Old White Face's Birthday

The M. U. Finley home—situated at the foot of Sierra Blanca—had a little birthday celebration last Saturday evening, the occasion being Old White Face's 75th anniversary. Just what the anniversary was did not receive even honorable mention, and when the huge birthday cake was exposed, bearing a forest of lighted candles, a glance indicated that old White Face might be an octogenarian; but as he extinguished every candle by one huge exhalation we reached the conclusion that it was impossible for a man to have such a bellows at 80, and, in our mind, immediately reduced his age by 10. We recall meeting old White Face first about 25 years ago, and he looks no older now than he did then and he was then, no doubt, 45. So add the two items and you reach his approximate age—a few years, one way or the other, would make little difference.

At the heavily laden table with the open-handed host and charming hostess and their little granddaughter, Alene Lyman, sat Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. Haley. That the dinner was sumptuous and altogether satisfying would, from a descriptive standpoint, fall far short of doing justice to Mrs. Finley's culinary attainments, which are household words in two counties, and would also lack proper recognition of Old White Face's ability in assembling the elements that made the occasion so happy—both before and during the dinner—so we refrain from further attempt, and resort to the old, but apt, declaration that the Gods themselves would have bowed in holy glee had they the opportunity we poor mortals were accorded on this anniversary occasion.

Junior Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's Club of Carrizozo met April 12th. Each member responded to Roll Call, by giving descriptions of National Monuments, and interesting places of U. S.

The Roll Call was unusually interesting, as many of the members had visited these places, and consequently, were able to make their answers original, as follows: Miss Bigelow....The Great Salt Lake.

Miss McCammon.... The Mt. Rushmore Memorial.

Miss Barnett.... Trees.

Miss Claunch....Grand Quivera Ruins

Miss McPherson... Old Indian Ruins

Miss Snow.... Carlsbad Caverns.

Miss Shelton....The Natural Bridge.

Miss Shaver... The Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

Miss Strauss.... The Yellowstone National Park.

Miss Romero.... The Grand Canyon.

The usual club business followed. Much interest was shown in the drawing of Pal names, to be revealed at next meeting. A program, of interesting Music and Literary numbers, followed by refreshments, ended a delightful meeting.

STEEL ECLIPSE

Windmill

Starts sooner— pumps longer

Two windmills stood just across the road from each other. With the first sign of a breeze one started up smoothly and quietly. When the breeze became a wind, the other started with a groan and lumbered away only as long as the wind raised a dust in the road. Then it stopped as abruptly as it had started, while the other continued pumping for hours—then it really came smoothly to rest with the last trace of the drying breeze.

This is the difference between a superior windmill and just a windmill. It is the difference between accurately machined and fitted gears and ordinary cast gears; the difference between turned, ground and polished shafts and ordinary steel shafts; the difference between machined and polished bearings and ordinary bearings; the difference between running in oil and running with dry gears.

In other words, it is the difference between the Fairbanks-Morse Self-Oiling Steel Eclipse Windmill and just a plain windmill.

Come in and see this great advance in windmill construction. See the self-oiling feature—the unique lift feature—the mechanism that enables the Eclipse to actually pump water during two-thirds of every revolution of the wind wheel. You will form a new idea of how good a windmill can be.
