Fess Makes Discovery

Almost simultaneously with the announcement by President Hoover that his conference on home building and home ownership will meet in this city Dec. 2-5, a story is published describing the discouraging experiences of Senator Fess, Chairman Republican National Committee, in his plan for home building, himself in a letter to an Ohio friend, and quoted by Raymond Clapper in a United Press dispatch, is given as follows:

"Applying to a banker for a loan of $6,000 to build a house (for himself at his home in Yellow Springs, Ohio), the banker, Senator Fess said, threw up his hands and said: 'Oh, Senator, we cannot make any loans at present.'"

"Fess then turned to three loan associations in which he had had deposits enough to build the house. He said he could not draw his money, not because the association did not have it, but because they feared to drain their assets."

"This meant that I could not use my money," Fess said in his letter.

Commenting on this story, the Portland (Me.) Evening News says:

"At this moment, the administration—in behalf of which the Hon. Simon D. Fess is speaking—is ostensibly engaged in an 'employment' drive, said drive consisting of impassioned pleas to communities, industries and local interests generally, to 'give a job,' 'keep payrolls intact,' 'build now,' 'put idle money into use,' and all the rest."

"Yet here comes the Chairman of the Republican National Committee, a former President of the college situated in his home town, undeniably a man of exceptional standing and credit in his community—who seeks to withdraw some of his own money from a local bank, for the purpose of giving employment to masons, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, plasterers—those who live by building, and he is met with the refusal outlines."

"And this is the story released from administration headquarters to restore and maintain 'confidence'."

Hi Johnson Speaks

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Progressive-Republican from President Hoover's home State of California, recently delivered a notable address in which he caustically but inferentially referred to the administration's unemployment relief attitude:

"Take warning," said the Senator, "the American people are patient and long-suffering, but if for too long they suffer through neglect of an inert and inept government, the time will come when that government will feel the angry resentment of the people and will be displaced by one more responsive to their needs."

Another caustic paragraph in this speech by Senator Johnson was as follows:

"To equivocate about conditions, to pretend prosperity is around the corner while supinely we watch increased suffering, is not only cruel but cowardly. For nearly two years our government has acted as does the complacent householder, who, on a bitter winter night, shuts the door of his comfortable home, and imagines all the world to be warm."

Episcopalians Split On Prohibition

Denver, Sept. 26—Prohibition has joined the list of issues upon which there is a difference of opinion among delegates to the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Prohibition was both criticized and defended, in the report of the committee of twenty-one, adopted by the house of bishops. The committee, headed by Bishop James E. Freeman, Washington, D. C., was appointed to consider prohibition and lawlessness, world peace and industrial dislocation.

"There is," the report recites, "widespread and honest difference of opinion in the nation, within this church, and among the members of this convention as to the wisdom and desirability of retaining the 18th amendment and the consequent legislation in their present form."

"There are those who honestly favor the retention of the law as it now stands, believing it has accomplished great good, and may accomplish more and better results. Others, not less devoted to the high purpose which prompted the passage of this law, believe that in its present form it ministers to disrespect for law and the growth of a dangerous spirit of anarchy."

The committee hesitated to recommend concerted action on the grounds that the issues involved are "highly controversial and closely related to partisan politics."

"The enforcement of the prohibition law," the report states, "has been steadily resisted, and has been accompanied by graft, corruption, lawlessness, murder, and political cowardice and hypocrisy. . . lawlessness, however, issues in part out of conditions which have not always been given full consideration, such as the enactment of laws, or the failure to repeal laws which do not command or continue to enlist public confidence, and have lost the respect and support of a majority of the people."

The report sets forth that this increases the disposition of individuals to ignore or violate laws designed to improve the social order. The ignoring or violation of such laws, the report continues, results solely because the laws affect personal rights and liberties which individuals themselves determine to maintain, regardless of social consequences.

Lincoln Items

Miss Julia Penfield spent a pleasant week-end with friends near White Tail.

Dr. L. H. Barry, whose Lincoln residence is at Bonito Inn, goes to Capitan on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday mornings of each week. While in Capitan Dr. Barry can be reached at Hall's Drug Store.

Mr. Faile, representing the American Sunday School Union, will be in Lincoln Sunday morning, visiting our local Sunday school, Mr. Faile organized the Lincoln Sunday School several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Giles and daughter Marie, returned the first of the week from their old home in Texas. They plan to make Lincoln their home.

Miss Helen Rise, Mrs. J. M. Penfield and Mrs. C. L. Gylling attended a delightful bridge party at the home of Mrs. Kunkel in Ft. Stanton on last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. J. M. Penfield and daughter Ruth Lydia were Carrizozo visitors on Thursday afternoon.

Federal Farm Board Busy

A charge of "playing partisan politics" in his state is lodged against the Farm Board by Representative Clarence Cannon (Dem. Mo.), in a formal statement recently issued.

"On the verge of a special election in the seventh Missouri Congressional District the Federal Farm Board, by way of lending an assisting arm to the Republican nominee, is sending to all the newspapers of the State a political letter on the 'Benefits to Missouri Farmers from the Agricultural Marketing Act,'" Mr. Cannon says. "If the Missouri farmer receives in the same mail with his newspaper containing the Board's letter notice of an overdraft in the bank, or a delinquent tax call, or a reminder that his store bill is overdue, he needs not feel depressed, for at the same time he has learned that under the Agricultural Marketing Act Missouri farmers are paying big dividends and the farmers' trouble have disappeared beneath an avalanche of prosperity. . . This political statement is one of the most purprising of all the sensational announcements the farm Board has given out."

"The purpose of the Board's letter cannot be concealed nor mistaken," Mr. Cannon continues, "and when a great national agency from which so much has been expected deliberately turns from the pressing problems which confront the farmer and the nation on every hand to play partisan politics there is no excuse which can be offered.

"The letter is more remarkable for what it conceals than for what it reveals. This shipment of American wheat on American vessels is not the only thing the Farm Board has overlooked. With all its praise of the Agricultural Marketing Act it forgets to mention that since it has been in operation, the price of wheat has fallen from $1.37 to 25 cents a bushel. It overlooks the drop in the price of eggs under the Farm Board from 38 cents to 18 cents a dozen. It does not refer to decline in the price of cattle from $15.50 a hundred the day the bill passed to $8.50 the day this letter was issued and the loss during that time of more than $5 a hundred on hogs."

Representative Cannon absolves the farm organizations from any political bias in their efforts for farm relief, and contrasts their attitude with that of the Farm Board, saying:

"The Farm Bureau, the Missouri Farmers' Association, the Farmers' Union and the Grange have endeavored to avoid even the appearance of political bias. No political considerations were permitted to enter into their fight for farm relief. On this account, the prostitution of the Farm Board to political ends is all the more noticeable, and it is not to be wondered that even administration leaders are demanding the repeal of the Marketing Act and the abolition of the Board."

Cotton Growers Profit

Santa Fe.—Cotton Growers of New Mexico are expected to have in their pockets approximately $1,290,000 more for their 1931 crop than they would ordinarily have received, this added income being due in a great degree to the activities of Governor Arthur Seligman.

Governor Seligman, acting on the axiom that "a dollar saved is a dollar earned," and being a thoroughly experienced business man, has applied the process of cost reduction to the business of the cotton growers. At the recent cotton conference it was decided that destruction of a portion of the crop or an attempt on the part of the State to regulate acreage planted were fallacious ideas. The Governor decided that the other alternative was to reduce cost production. He analyzed the emergency situation from the economic standpoint and ascertained where cost could be decreased.

Weather and crop conditions have been favorable to the Governor's plan with the result that the cotton grower in New Mexico is producing his cotton this year at an approximate saving of $7.50 per bale, on irrigation and labor costs.

As a result of the activities of Governor Seligman it is now indicated that the cotton grower will save another $7.50 per bale because of the reduction the Governor has obtained from the ginners and others. The reduction already obtained are as follows: Cooperative associations are charging $1.50 per bale fees instead of $2.00 as formerly, saving 50 cents per bale. The Governor obtained from the Federal Government a waiver of the Federal charge for fumigation of $1.00 per bale. He obtained also from the great majority of the ginners who charged 40 cents per hundredweight for ginning in 1930, a voluntary reduction to 25 cents, saving the cotton grower another 75 cents per bale.

A few ginners who have not agreed voluntarily to this reduction will appear before the State Corporation Commission which has jurisdiction over cotton gins and it is probable that a uniform scale of 25 cents will be established for this year.

Governor Seligman asked for a reduction in charge for bagging and tying which was $2.00 last year per bale, and obtained a cut to $1.00, saving the producers another charge per bale.

The power companies who furnish electric power for the ginners conceded a cut of 20 per cent at the Governor's request. Power represents a fifth of the actual ginning cost, or about 80¢ a bale. Thus the power cost is reduced 16 cents per bale.

Governor Seligman now is seeking reductions in insurance, storage and transportation costs and a better price for cotton seed. He asks that the seed buyers raise their price so that there will be no opportunity for a reduction in cotton seed price, thus offsetting the reduction made in ginning cost.

Due to the reduction in living costs and the employment situation, the cotton growers are expected to save approximately $2.00 per bale in picking cost this year. The estimated production of New Mexico long-staple cotton this year is 86,000 bales from 109,000 acres. Last year the production was 99,000 bales from 127,000 acres. New Mexico, the Governor points out, is one of the two states where a voluntary reduction in acreage amounting to approximately 25 per cent was made. The added income for the cotton producer of 3 cents per pound due to the saving of $15 per bale, added to the prospective market price of 7.09 cents on December 1, 1931 will bring the net income to the grower this year to approximately the same as it was in 1930 when the December 1 price was 10.2 cents. Governor Seligman has expressed the belief that short planting next year is not an advisable plan. He has made a careful study of the cotton situation and as a result of his survey says:

"Object to the short-planting plan for 1932. We have no way of determining what the crop conditions will be next year. Our growers may suffer severe losses from storms, boll weevil or other of the myriad adverse conditions that confront them at times. I cannot see a reason for limiting them in the planting even if it were a constitutional right of the State to do so, because there is no way to insure them that the acreage planted will come to proper maturity. As a rule the cotton growers are intelligent business men and I feel they are capable of determining for themselves acreage and planting questions."

National unemployment relief is making characteristic progress under the well-known engineering plans. President Hoover named a Commission on Unemployment (No. 2) and the Chairman of the commission has named four committees. All this with the advance warning that each community will be expected to take care of its own unemployed.

This time, it is Secretary of Labor Doak who expresses the belief that the country will stand upon "the substantial plane of prosperity before long." Recalling the fate of Prophets Hoover, Lamont, Barnes and Dr. Klein, this latest prophecy by an administration spokesman, as lawyers say, may be classified as irrelevant, immaterial and inadmissible.

Why?
Bruce Barton asks some pertinent questions which are waiting to be answered and which should be answered. The one who can submit a correct answer for them will be hailed as a Moses not only in this country but by humanity everywhere. Here they are:
Why, with so much wealth, are so many men out of work?
Why is our economic machinery so clumsy that men can go hungry in New York while other men are feeding wheat to hogs in Kansas?
Why, with so many labor-saving devices, have we so little leisure?
Why are factories closed when a large percentage of the human race is still barefoot, undernourished, and wet when it rains?
Why were our parents who were so much poorer than we, still so much more contented, peaceful and secure?
How can we think more about human beings and less about

"Why My Next Car will be A FORD"

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life. Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:
"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatever except punctures.
"The brakes were rolled at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on three, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.
"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."
This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.
Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?
If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL

Miss Glenneth English is home for the week-end from the University. So is Jean Berry, of Fort Stanton.

Miss Ella Gimmedstad, R. N., field representative of the American Red Cross, was here this week, and assisted the local chapter in arranging for the Annual Membership drive. Attorney J. E. Hall was appointed chairman to conduct the campaign.

Ed Taber, of the Nogal Lake region, enjoys the distinction of having landed one of the biggest trout caught in local waters this season. Ed caught his trout Tuesday of this week, and it measured 20 inches in length—a good trout in any man's country. The catch was made in Nogal Lake—and, knowing Ed as we do, we know this is no "fish story."

D. L. Byron, whose injury in a truck accident was chronicled last week, is gradually improving, although still in a helpless condition. For several days he was in a state of unconsciousness and evidences of serious concussion were apparent, but his condition has improved to such an extent that it is now felt that the most serious danger is behind and hopes are entertained for his rapid recovery.

Charles Coplin, who has been associated with the firm of Ziegler Bros. during the summer, left Wednesday for St. Louis. Mr. Coplin will enter the advertising field and goes into that alluring field with a basic knowledge of its possibilities that has the battle half won at the beginning. In the meantime, Mrs. Coplin and children will remain with the parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ziegler, until Mr. Coplin gets adjusted to conditions in his new undertaking.

Eastern Star Anniversary

The local Chapter, Eastern Star, held its anniversary meeting last night, and the attendance and program met every expectation. The past matrons and patrons had charge of the meeting and banquet, both of which were most pleasing. Special music and one reading was an additional and entertaining feature of the program. The huge birthday cake, which adorned a table in the center of the banquet room, bore 21 candles, indicating that the Chapter had reached its maturity.

Carrizozo Woman's Club
The Carrizozo Woman's Club will meet at Ft. Stanton, in Community House, tomorrow (Saturday) October 3. This date was fixed to avoid a conflict with the Lincoln County Fair dates. Miss Charlotte Rice will be hostess and Mrs. J. M. Penfield will have charge of the program.

Oscura Items

Tuesday afternoon, autumn enveloped the deserted village in its quiet. But quiet was not to last. For suddenly an airplane flew from out the horizon. Louder, and louder grew the roar of its engine. Nearer and nearer circled. Heads peered from out the windows, children in the school rooms longed to rush out and see the plane that flew so near. What could this be? A henchman of Al Capone? A fugitive from justice? It could be! Look! The plane is landing... there... in Brazel's pasture!

Thus was the quiet turned into bedlam. But it wasn't a gangster or a bootlegger. It was a respectable citizen, Peter E. Agerlye from South Dakota. He and a friend were flying to Alamogordo. But Mr. Agerlye was forced to land prematurely for the lack of gasoline. Gasoline was found and willing hands helped the plane over the rough pasture to smoother take off territory. Zarin went the engine. Higher and higher the plane flew. Softer and softer grew the roar of its motor. Autumn resumed its interrupted quiet.

Mrs. Dixon is expecting a visit soon from her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ellis, of Forth Worth. They plan to spend part of their vacation in Cloudcroft.

The Oscura Sunday School increased this week in attendance and interest. Miss Florence Pierce read a paper on the life of Paul. The Sunday school is following the regular America Union course.

With autumn comes the desire for more activity. Oscura has responded to the new briskness of air by organizing two basket ball teams, one composed of villagers, the other of the older school boys. After some preliminary practices, these two teams will meet on the field of battle.

Carrizozo may expect to see Oscura represented at the Fair. The school children are very enthusiastically preparing art exhibits. Among other things, they will have a display of baskets, woven and designed in the class room.

Judge Crews left Tuesday morning to spend the week with his daughter, Miss Cora Crews, in El Paso. Miss Crews may come back with her father for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Taylor and family were in El Paso last week-end shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were in Carrizozo Tuesday evening shopping.

POISONS A CHILD TO SAVE ON MILK; IS FOUND GUILTY

Tennessee Mountain Woman Must Serve Nine Years in Penitentiary.

Harrisonville, Mo.—Mrs. Martha Kennedy Swan, transplanted Tennessee mountain woman, has been sentenced to serve nine years in the Missouri penitentiary for the poisoning of Winfred York, twenty-one-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer York, tenant farmers, because she sought to save some of the milk she gave the family. Mrs. Swan took the stand to deny she sought to poison the children and repudiate a confession she had made. During all the time she was on the stand she chewed snuff.

The poison was placed in the milk on March 2. It made Donald York very ill, despite the fact that he spit it out immediately because he said it was too sour. Winfred York, the baby, died.

Parents Arrested.

The parents were arrested two days later at the grave of their baby. They told of having taken the jar of milk back to Mrs. Swan and complaining to her that the milk was bitter and that it had made their children ill. York then told the officers about a hound which had been poisoned by Mrs. Swan. Mrs. Swan and her brother, Alex, denied there ever had been poison on the place, but York was insistent and led police to the hound's grave, where its body was exhumed and found to contain poison.

Alex Kennedy then admitted his sister had given him a bottle of poison to bury, and at midnight, five days after the crime, he led officers to the spot where he had buried the bottle. Mrs. Swan was immediately arrested. During the trial she admitted that she had poisoned the hound with strychnine which her brother had bought to poison crows.

She said that she couldn't read nor write and that she believed she confused the quinine bottle and the strychnine bottle, both of which sat on the same shelf in the kitchen. "We're Good Friends."

She denied that she had had any trouble with the York family or that she disliked the children. "We're all good friends and I wouldn't harm them babies," she said.

The Yorks contradicted that statement. They pointed out that the Kennedys were a penurious family that resented having to pay for the small amount of groceries that they were required to supply in return for York's services about the farm.

Forgotten HEROES

By

ELMO SCOTT WATSON.

The Paul Revere of 1872

THE happy chance of having a poet written about his ride has made the name of Paul Revere immortal in American history. Few have ever heard of Billy Phillips, of his marvelous ride of 800 miles in nine days and of his cry of alarm "War! War with England!" which echoed through the night just as did Paul Revere's less than 40 years before.

Billy Phillips was a jockey, a little chap who had ridden Truxton, a race horse, owned by a lawyer named Andrew Jackson in Nashville, Tenn., to victory in the most noted race ever run in the old Southwest.

In June, 1812, Billy was visiting in Washington, D. C. On the first of that month President James Madison sent to congress his message telling of British aggressions upon our rights.

On June 12 Billy Phillips started for his home in Nashville. War was not officially declared until the 18th, but it was a foregone conclusion that congress would take that action. There were no telegraph or telephone lines in those days and the only means of communication were by express couriers. A dozen of them set out on fast horses an hour after congress had passed the war resolutions and the President had signed them. But Billy Phillips was already on his way carrying his message through a country where he knew it would be received with enthusiasm.

From Washington to Richmond he rode, to Hillsboro and Salisbury and Morgantown, and as he sped through the scattered towns of the wilderness country, post inn or tavern, he swung above his head his wattle containing the momentous news and shouted "War! War with England! Wake up! War to the finish!" He had left Washington at nightfall on June 12. On June 15, as he afterward told it, he "tore through Lexington, N. C., like a streak of greased lightning and on the 21st I tore into Nashville, still greased and going strong."

He had traveled 800 miles in nine days and every 24 hours. Historian John Trotwood Moore has said "his ride in daylight and in dark, over mountain, across gravelly valleys, through swamps and dense woods, across creeks, rivers and miry morasses with such sleep as he got, surpassed the heroic and borders on the wonderful."

Held Captive by the Utes

IN 1879 the Ute Indians on their reservation in western Colorado turned hostile, murdered N. C. Meeker, their agent, and every man they could find, looted and burned the agency buildings and carried into captivity Mrs. Meeker, her daughter, Josephine Meeker, Mrs. Brice, the wife of the agency blacksmith, and her little three-year-old daughter. Troops were immediately ordered toward White river but realizing that the arrival of the soldiers might precipitate the murder of the captives, Secretary Rehrer of the Department of the Interior telegraphed T. Gen. Charles Adams, a former agent of the Utes who was then special agent for the Post Office department in Denver, to go at once to the Ute reservation and use his influence for their release.

Fearful for Adams' safety, his wife tried to dissuade him, "Why do you go?" she asked. "You are not a soldier now and they have no fight to ask you to risk your life?" "Because the state of Colorado cannot afford to have those women in the hands of the Indians," he replied simply. "I would consider it just as much a shame and disgrace to refuse my influence in rescuing them as it would be if I should desert in the hour of battle."

So Adams went by train to western Colorado, then accompanied by three other whites and a party of friendly Utes, sent with him by the great chief Ouray, he made a 100-mile ride through the mountains to the camp of Chief Johnson and Chief Douglas where the captives were held. A council which lasted all night followed. The Indians were in a sullen mood and, despite their old friendship for their former agent, Adams realized that at any moment a sudden gust of savage frenzy might sweep them and result in the death of him and his companions.

At one point in the council he heard a muttered threat to kill him. Springing to his feet he declared "You can kill me if you want to. I am a soldier and a soldier expects to die in the discharge of his duty. I have been a good friend to you and you know it. Now if you want to kill your friend you can. But remember this: the soldiers of my people are as the leaves on the trees, if you kill me or harm these captives, the great white father will send his soldiers and leave not one of you alive." Impressed by this bold statement and by his refusal to smoke the pipe with them so long as they held the women captive, the Indians finally agreed to discuss terms.

Adams refused to make any promises for the government which he could not keep but told them that he would use his influence in their behalf. As a result, the captives were allowed to leave the camp with him, the troops which were on their way were stopped, the Indians returned to the reservation and another costly Indian war was averted.

Lightning Kills Plant

Denver.—Lightning which struck five persons during a storm recently narrowly missed a sixth victim. Mrs. S. P. Thomason was standing by her house during the thunder showers, when a bolt of lightning struck a climbing wild cucumber vine on the porch. The vine was withered instantly.

Too Much Noise
Gerald C. Winthrop, of the New York noise abatement commission said in an interview:
"A haggard woman went into a radio supply shop the other day.
"You keep everything for radio here, don't you?" she said to a salesman.
"Everything, madam," the salesman told her.
"Then," said the woman, "let me have an ax."

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 23 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

WOMEN: watch your BOWELS

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish, and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all drug stores keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

Jane Has a Birthday

Little Jane Gallacher had a birthday Monday, the date being the sixth anniversary of her advent. Accordingly, about twenty little tots, of both sexes, gathered at the home of Mrs. Jane Gallacher, Jane's grandmother, and made merry. Games of various sorts, usual with those of that tender age, engaged guests and hostess from 4 to 6, after which refreshments, delicious, pleasing and bountiful, were served. A number of older friends who dropped in during the hours named, declared the event one of the most loveable affairs they had witnessed, and each declared Jane to be a most charming hostess.

Express Appreciation

In our hour of distress over the death of our beloved father, Ed. R. Kelley, we would have our friends know how much comfort their expressions of sympathy have been to us. The deep sense of appreciation we feel is difficult to convey, but we wish our friends to know that our sorrow, great as it is, is softened by their loving sympathy and kindness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Kelley.

WANTED—A few good cows. Inquire at this office or see E. T. Soller.

Carrizozo Hi School Notes

(By H. S. Reporter)

And the stunts continue. Last week the Sophomores presented a short play entitled "Silence, Please," featuring Vena Snow and Sam Dow, who were ably supported by Edith Dudley and Dorothy Pratt. This was followed by a very effectively rendered solo by Deenie McCammon, accompanied by Mrs. Groce at the piano.

Thursday evening the Juniors, making the best of some very bad luck, had a wienie roast in the Home Economics room. They had made up their minds to have a roast and when weather conditions made it unsatisfactory to go across the Mal Pais, as they had planned, they made the best of things in the Home Economics room.

On Friday, by reason of the unavoidable tardiness of Miss Brupk, county nurse, a meeting of the Pep Club was called as well as a meeting of various classes.

On Monday another Pep Meeting was the only thing of importance.

On Tuesday Rev. Jno. L. Lawson spoke to the assembly on Preparedness. This was a very helpful and uplifting address, and everyone is sure to profit by it.

Several of our pupils are in the "hospital", which comes the 8th hour, for the purpose of aiding students in subjects in which they are weak, but we all feel sure that under the gentle care of Dr. D. U. Groce those who are laid up will soon be back on the teams and out of the hospital for good.

And speaking of teams—the first football game ever played in Carrizozo is scheduled for Saturday, October 3, between Carrizozo and Corona. Admission is 20 and 30 cents and an exceedingly large crowd is expected to be at the field at 2:30 Saturday. This should be a very good game, and let's all be there to give our boys a real start this season.

The Chorus and Orchestra, under Miss Eyrard and Mr. Groce, are coming along fine, and Miss Eyrard has great hopes for the boys' quartet, which is looming up in the future.

Carrizozo High School is very grateful to the friends of the school who have contributed to the athletic fund for the purchase of new football equipment.
