High School Notes

The people of Carrizozo are beginning to realize that we have an honest-to-goodness basketball team this season. We have great hopes of winning the tournament to be held at Corona March 3 and 4.

The debate last Friday night was both interesting and instructive. The judges, Mrs. Spencer, Mr. A. L. Burke and Mr. Barber gave a decision in favor of the negative.

Teachers and students enjoyed the hall holiday Wednesday. We wish that we had many a George Washington.

The assembly program was given Thursday this week instead of Wednesday on account of the hall holiday. The program sponsored by the English department consisted of five minute talks by Margaret Shafer, Maudie Warden, Ardeene McCammon and Mrs. Sullivan. Mary Pickett Warden delighted us with a musical selection.

On March 18 a group of students from the Home Economics Club will go to Corona to attend the district Home Ec. meeting.

Mr. Burke spoke on the High Lights in the Life of Lincoln. The address had intense dramatic interest and brought laughter and tears. The students are always delighted when Mr. Burke gives one of his inspirational addresses.

Amanda Elizabeth Parker, daughter of W. L. and Martha A. Parker, was born in Rusk, Cherokee County, Texas, September 9, 1858. She died in her home in Carrizozo, New Mexico, February 16, 1933.

On July 2, 1874, she was married to Thomas Jefferson Moore. To this union one son, Reginald who died at the age of twenty, was born. Mr. and Mrs. Moore lived together for forty-six years before his death.

On February 10, 1923 Mrs. Moore married Mr. Mill Foreman who preceded her in death about six years ago.

Mrs. Foreman is survived by four sisters: Mrs. Georgia Davis and Mrs. Alice Roberts of Carrizozo; Mrs. Margaret Boone of Mexico and Mrs. Emma P. Morris of El Paso, Texas, and one brother, Mr. B. B. Parker of Richmond, California.

Mrs. Foreman came to New Mexico in 1881, and to Carrizozo twelve years ago.

The Missionary Society

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Gallacher. Mrs. Sam Nickels and Mrs. Claude Branum were assistant hostesses. This was a social meeting, and most of the afternoon was spent sewing on a quilt. Each member had assumed the task of earning a dollar for the society, and as the contribution was turned in they had to tell in rhyme how the dollar was earned—rhymes furnished plenty of amusement. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Cattlemen's Convention

Tucumcari, N. M., February 20th.—Reports from the leading cattlemen of New Mexico indicate that the annual convention of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association to be held, here, March 19-21, will draw a large representation from every section of the state as well as from south-eastern Colorado, western Oklahoma and Texas, according to Albert Mitchell, president of the association.

Mitchell states that the executive board and officers of the organization have been instrumental in arranging one of the most attractive programs in the history of the association. The program as now arranged includes speakers who are nationally known in the cattle industry, also a group of state notables who are connected with the cattle industry of the state in an official capacity. Among those who will appear on the program are: Governor Arthur Seligman, Frank Veseley, State Land Commissioner; E. N. Wentworth, Director of the Publicity Bureau of Armour and Company; Dr. H. L. Keet, president of the New Mexico State College; Chas. E. Collins and F. E. Mollin, president and secretary of the American National Livestock Association; Byron O. Beall, State Tax Commissioner; and Senator Floyd Lee, chairman of the legislative committee for the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association.

Washington's Birthday was celebrated quietly. The post-office, and Bank were a closed, part of the day. About the only evidence of a holiday was the matinee given to the school children by the Lyric Theatre.

Ed. Kelley put up a nice new monument Wednesday at the grave of sister Mary Bernadette at the local cemetery.

Mayor McQuillen and Mr. Sager have skillfully guided this work in a way to bring the most good to the greatest number and likewise others who have this work in charge in other parts of the county have done the same.

Jackie Greer is quite ill at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. P. M. Johnson.

E. T. Meagher of El Paso was a visitor at the home of his brother-in-law, G. L. Strauss Wednesday.

Mrs. Jane Gallacher has been suffering greatly this week from a painful and slightly infected foot.

Mr. Sager was unable to be in his office Thursday on account of illness.

Last Friday evening the debate at the High School Auditorium drew a crowd of about 70. The subject of debate was "Resolved, that at least 50 per cent of our taxes should be collected from sources other than tangible property." John Jackson and Edith Dudley had the affirmative while Helen Strauss and Dorothy Nickels had the negative side of the question. Honors were about equally divided, though the negatives won by a very small margin. Judges were Mrs. T. A. Spencer and Messrs. E. M. Barber and A. L. Burke.

Wireless Waves Used as Internal Poultice

The old-fashioned poultice, which is usually composed of bran, or bread, or linseed, with some admixture of mustard, is still a great standby for the family physician. The main trouble is that it can only be applied to the surface, and therefore cannot actually "touch the spot."

The latest report in medical circles is that it may soon be possible to put a poultice, in effect at least, on the liver, lungs, or any other internal organ of the human body. This prospect has been opened up by the discovery of certain wireless waves which can cook the white of an egg and leave the yolk uncooked, or cook the yolk—a more surprising thing—and leave the white unaffected. Even now, preliminary and experimental treatments are being undertaken with these rays which produce selective internal heating. Thus it looks as though doctors may be able, by adjusting the conditions, to apply this internal poultice literally wherever it is most needed.

Blemishes on Face and Shoulders Almost a Year

Cuticura Healed

"For almost a year I was troubled with blemishes that took the form of pimples and blackheads. My face and shoulders were the affected parts. The pimples were large and red and my shoulders became sore from the rubbing of my shoulder straps. The pimples itched and after scratching them they festered and were so sore that I could not sleep.

"People suggested many remedies; I tried all but to no avail. Cuticura Soap and Ointment were suggested and I was completely healed, after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Helen Mann, 7615 Claridge St., Phila., Pa., July 21, 1932.

NOW! EASE A SORE THROAT INSTANTLY

Feel Rawness, Irritation, Go At Once

These Pictures Tell You What To Do

Remember Only Medicine Helps A Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes.

Results are among the most extraordinary in medical science. On doctors' advice, millions are following this way... discarding old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." For it has been found that only medicine can help a sore throat.

Simple To Do. All you do is crush and dissolve three BAYER Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water. Gargle with it twice—as pictured above. If you have any indication of a cold—before gargling take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. This is to combat any signs of cold that have gone into your system. Keep on taking if cold has a "hold." For Genuine Bayer Aspirin will not harm you. Your doctor will tell you. It does not depress the heart. Get a box of 12 or a bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

Reduces Infection, Eases Pain Instantly. Gargling with Bayer Aspirin will do three things: Relieve soreness at once. Allay inflammation. AND—reduce infection; which is the important thing in fighting a sore throat.

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways. Results are quick and amazing.

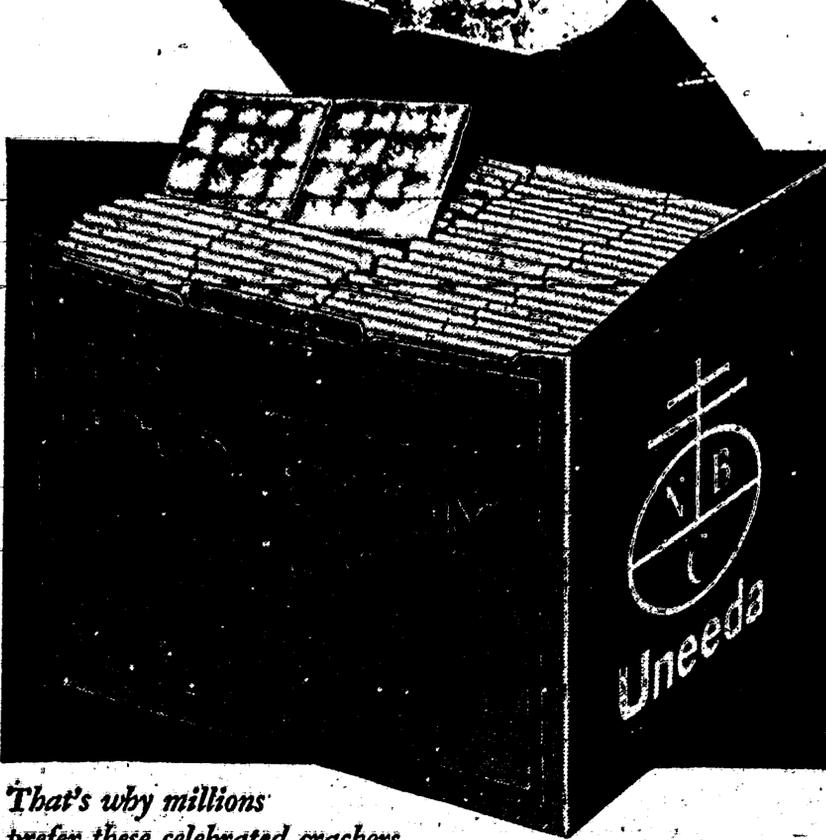

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin Tablets for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles. Watch this when you buy.

Ask your druggist about the recent price reduction on the 100 tablet size Bayer Aspirin.

Nothing For Charity

When our government was considering resumption of specie payment after the Civil War, Sherman is credited with saying that the only way to resume is to resume. That applies now. Everywhere the prevalent thought seems to be, "What can I do to cut down? Whom can I fire?" and so on. Commenting on the statement that "investment and employment are cheaper than charity," F. V. Keesling, attorney of San Francisco, says: "Unless there be continuous investment and employment, there will be nothing for charity."

You can't pile up public debts, increase taxes, discourage industry and create unemployment, without destroying the capital and earning power of the nation.

This destructive process has been going on for three years. No good fairy is coming out of the clouds and create employment. The people are going to have to create it for themselves. The good fairy will be their own desire to do something.

Every day that those of us who can afford to, delay in furnishing employment for needed and necessary work, our national wealth is reduced, taxes are increased for charitable enterprises and the day draws nearer when there will be nothing left to give for charity, and government itself will face bankruptcy through inability to collect taxes. There are millions of individuals and industries whose premises are sadly in need of repairs. The time to do that work is now. Delay is expensive "economizing."

The Mines Look Forward

The metal mining industry in New Mexico looks forward with more optimism than for some time. It believes that the depression which has held it in leash for several years, is slowly, but surely, being conquered. Many properties are being placed in readiness for increased activity when the proper time comes.

In the meantime, the nation owes its mines, as an essential basic industry, a certain obligation. It owes them a fair tax policy that will not force further retrenchment. It owes them legislative policies that will encourage and not hamper them—not only now but after the depression is over.

When good times return, we will make tremendous demands upon our mines.

International Insincerity

When a sound business needs financial accommodation, it borrows money on proper security from another and more prosperous business. The time comes for payment, and the first business asks for an extension of time on the grounds that it is unable to spare the money from its business.

Then the creditor and debtor meet and talk the matter over on a purely businesslike basis. A mutually fair agreement is reached.

But when two nations become creditor and debtor the result is very different. Business methods are forgotten. Politics rears its head. The debt is made a plank in political platforms.

That is the trouble with the war debt problem. Instead of being treated as a matter of banking it has been turned into a political football. The decision of France not to pay, after her Premier had worked to save his country's credit, was an entirely political decision, having nothing to do with the merit of the debt. France, indeed, is in a far better position to pay than either Italy or England, both of which met their obligations promptly.

The war debt question should be considered by a business commission, made up of men who understand the problem in all its phases. It should be immune to political influence. Then perhaps it will get somewhere.

Chevrolet Sales Report

In the first ten days of February Chevrolet dealers reported the sale at retail of 10,544 new cars and trucks, a gain of 92 per cent over the comparable period of 1932. H. J. Klingler, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, announced today.

Numerically, the first ten days of the present month compare with 9,650 units sold in the first ten days of February last year, Mr. Klingler said.

Last February dealers delivered 32,000 units to consumers in the full month, and with a normal rate of increase in the two remaining reporting periods in February, the total could be considerably ahead of the same month last year, Mr. Klingler stated.

By February 10th there were an average of about four new cars per dealer in the field, although due to color options a shortage existed in certain models. This condition is now largely corrected, and dealers are able to make immediate delivery on practically any desired model, Mr. Klingler said.

Economic Highlights

Happenings that affect the din-galls, dividend check and tax bills of every individual. National and International problems in separable from local welfare.

According to R. G. Dunn & Company, stability in many branches of industry is more sustained than at any time in the past three years. A survey by Standard Statistics indicates that, while trade outlook for the immediate future is irregular, a number of major lines are strengthening. It is interesting to note that food products are making a much better showing than industry in general.

The belief is widely expressed that a clear-cut legislative program at Washington would probably do more to initiate trade activity than any other single development at the moment. The present congress has created the impression in business that almost anything may happen, thus forcing industry to be extremely cautious.

The Boston News Bureau observes: "All of the factors now at work may make for further shrinkage in purchasing power, but it brings into closer readjustment the various factors that will ultimately make for stability. And the more rapidly investment confidence is strengthened the sooner will the process of financial revival be stimulated."

The index of farm prices reached a new low mark on January 15th, standing at that time at 51 per cent of the pre-war average (A year ago the index was at 63 per cent.) Eggs took a drop larger than the seasonal conditions warrant. On the other hand, small advances have been recently registered by apples, horses, wheat and cotton.

Continued severe weather, coupled with damage to crops from other factors, plus a favorable export situation, gives rise to the hope of substantial improvement in wheat prices later on. Qualified observers also foresee the possibility that within the next year domestic consumption of wheat may balance production, thus eliminating the need for foreign markets to absorb our surplus.

It is held that the farm mortgage situation, while bad, gives no cause for the hysteria that has been sweeping over the country in recent weeks. Foreclosures for the present year, if they increase in the same proportion as in 1932, will total about 267,000. This is only about 4.3 per cent of the number of farms in the country. Another favorable sign is that insurance companies and banks have been following an extremely liberal policy in the matter of farm mortgages, only foreclosing when no other course is possible. The present acuteness of the situation is, also, mainly sectional.

Great interest is expressed in the Roosevelt plan for providing jobs. It is to be a huge experiment, and is expected to give employment to 200,000 men in the Tennessee Valley alone. It includes: Reforestation, creation of flood control basins, reclamation of fertile bottom lands for agricultural use, etc. Mr. Roosevelt believes that the entire project will be self-sustaining, and can be financed through bonds.

Recent reports on major industries show: Rayon—Leading viscose producers reported booked solid for March. January shipments at new high for that month for several concerns.

Men's Clothes—Prices low, improvement in sales expected.

Steel—Production increased. Manufacturers feel turn for better has taken place.

Oil—Ability of California industry to stave off price collapse this year, in spite of internal strain and breakdown in Mid-continent markets, source of much comment.

 Rubber—Price cuts emphasize intensely competitive situation within the industry. Tire buyers can fill their needs below cost.

Farm Equipment—Manufacturers realize that special inducements to farmers must be made to maintain present trade position.

Budget increases of about 10 per cent have been registered by Congress. The greatest increase, of $130,000,000 was for the executive office and independent establishments. Other marked increases were registered by the departments of agriculture, interior, post office, war, commerce, with decreases by the treasury, state, justice and labor. Is this the way economy pledges to the taxpayer are to be kept?

Mexican crop outlook better than last year, as is retail trade. Outlook slightly improved in India, Bolivian and Cuban situations unfavorable. In most countries abroad there has been little change in any direction of late.

Interest and Penalties Suspended for 90 Days

County Treasurer, L. J. Adams received the following telegram yesterday from Santa Fe, which will be of interest to hundreds of citizens of Lincoln County:

Santa Fe, N. Mex.
Feb. 16, 1933.

"The Beall bill providing for payment of principal of taxes due for 1932 and prior years was signed yesterday by Gov. Seligman and is now law. The bill provides for issuance of receipts in full upon payment of the principal plus the court cost, without interest or penalties if paid within 90 days from date."

—Signed—

It is strongly hoped this will stimulate tax collections throughout the state and help lighten the burden of the tax payers to some extent.

Oscura Notes

As usual, on the third Sunday of the month, Rev Jordan came to Oscura to deliver his earnest Christian message to those who love to hear the good tidings. A goodly number were present to benefit by the united singing and gospel as interpreted by this good man. On the third Sunday in March Oscura will again have the benefit of this service.

The Sunday School is flourishing under the wise guidance of the superintendent, Mrs. George Dixon. A nice Easter party is in the offing for these good members, also a marshmallow roast to be enjoyed during some pleasant evening this coming week.

The stork still remains partial to our little village. At the last visit he left a most attractive tiny daughter for Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Holloway. Weight, 6 lbs; disposition, angelic; eyes, blue.

At a recent meeting of the P. T. A. it was decided to pay for the inoculation of the pupils against diphtheria. During these hard times it is difficult for the parents to meet these extra expenses and that is where such organizations as the P. T. A. has an opportunity of giving a lifetime benefit to pupils who have not had the chance heretofore to benefit by this excellent treatment.

The pupils of the school are studying hard early and late in an earnest endeavor to finish grades in spite of the shortened term. It is too bad that our fine boys and girls must suffer the inconvenience of these times. Our good superintendent is putting forth every effort to provide educational interest in Lincoln County. But we are handicapped by a shortage of funds.

Our genial postmaster and his good wife are entertaining their sister, Miss Wettstein from Louisiana. We are hoping the visit may be of long duration.

Oscura enjoyed a recent short visit of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Taylor. During his stay in the village Mr. Taylor's fat steers were rounded up and shipped to other points.

Mr Jim Brown, who is employed by the Hatchet Co. spent Sunday in the Brown home. Misses Lillian and Nettie joined the family circle for a week-end visit.

Lights of NEW YORK

By WALTER TRUMBULL

The head of a big business in New York is so deaf that he can hear only with the aid of ear phones and one of those little boxes with an electric battery, but he is one of those fortunate persons who doesn't let his affliction affect his disposition. Like the late Harold MacGrath, who was deaf to the same extent, this man is a happy, cheerful person who gets a lot out of life. Recently, he had an idea. He took a vacation and spent it in taking lessons in lip reading. Then he came back to the office, leaving his hearing apparatus at home, with the idea of astonishing all his employees. It just happens that one of his close assistants is so buck-toothed that he talks practically without any movement of his upper lip, and it also happened that this was the first employee the manufacturer encountered. He couldn't read the man's lips, because there was no lip movement to read. They conversed by writing on a pad, while the office boy dashed in a taxi to the manufacturer's home to retrieve the head phones.

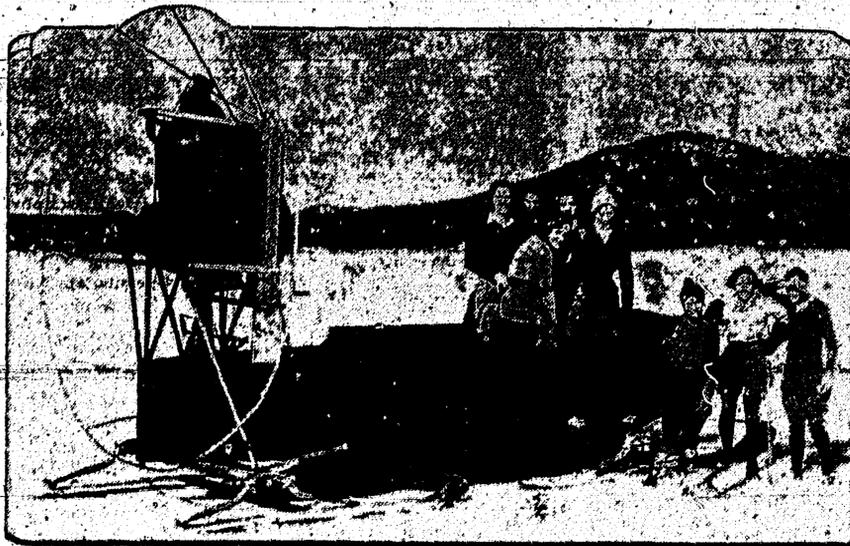

Willard Fairchild once had to make an advertising layout for clothes made of a certain cloth designed for such places as Palm Beach, Bermuda, Nassau and sunny California. The thing was to be based on photographs and owing to the elements of time and expense, the photographs had to be made in the vicinity of New York. In order to give them the real atmosphere, it was decided they must be taken out of doors. Mr. Fairchild gathered his models, four girls and three men, and took them, with the clothes, tennis rackets and golf clubs, to Atlantic City. The layout had to be made and approved around Christmas so as to be ready for the spring exodus to the South. The first three days produced hail and snow, driven by a howling gale.

The third day broke bright and fair—with a temperature of 15 degrees above zero. Mr. Fairchild hustled his models into the 65-degree-in-the-shade outfits, covered them with fur coats, gave them the rackets and golf clubs, tucked them into wheel chairs with blankets around them and took them to the beach. Then he set up the cameras, unwrapped his models and, to keep them from freezing, ran them down on the sand, where they proceeded to register "summer sports." He says the great difficulty was to get them to stop shivering long enough to make a clear snapshot. The coated and blanketed spectators on the board walk had a grand time. An artist's model has a great life.

"Fire Bird" was going pretty well when Judith Anderson, the star, joined the Manhattan club, for which so many of us have qualified. The show closed and Miss Anderson, in care of her mother, left for Bermuda to recuperate. Meanwhile, Jean Dixon left the cast of "Dangerous Corner" to go to Hollywood and appear in a movie to be called "The Kiss in the Mirror." Quite a lot of friends were at the station to see her off, among them Hughie O'Donnell. He said, "You should realize, Jean, that even Mary Boland didn't do so well as this. She had only three bags and seven people."

HINTS ON ART OF MAKING BISCUITS

Process Is So Simple That Failure Is Unlikely.

By EDITH M. BARBER

Can she make biscuits used to be a symbolic question, the answer to which settled the ability of a bride to cook. Many are the jokes on this subject to which a long-suffering public has listened—you all know them and are bored with them—and I shall spare you their repetition.

Perhaps some of you, however—brides or amateurs in cooking—may be interested in a few hints in regard to the creation of this traditional symbol of successful cookery which may save you from a personal application of this time-worn jest.

Really, there is perhaps something to say about their making, as simple as it is, so simple that it seems as if good biscuits should be the general experience. Every once in a while, however, I am offered a biscuit quite unworthy of the name, and you probably have the same experience.

Biscuit dough itself has few ingredients; only flour, salt, baking powder, shortening and milk or water. The result depends mainly on the quantity of material used and the combination with some credit or discredit, due to the baking. There is a difference in opinion in regard to whether bread or pastry flour does best. The answer depends upon whether you want a very tender—almost crumbly biscuit—or whether you prefer one with more of a "bread" texture. The amount of shortening also affects the texture. The least that can be used and still give good results is one tablespoonful to one cup of flour. I personally like to double this amount. The amount of baking powder can be reduced as the amount of shortening is increased. Biscuits should not have an excess amount in any case. (Remember that baking powder of the aluminum sulphate type should be used in smaller

Why Call It "Academy"?

ALMOST every educational institution may be found to boast in its name the word "Academy."

So universal has this word become as part of the name of a place of learning that it is practically synonymous with word "school."

How few, however, of the students in our academies realize the erudite nature of the title of the house in which they are receiving their education?

For the word "academy" is directly descended from the School of Plato, founded by Plato in the Garden of Academus which was a beautiful suburb situated on the outskirts of the famous city of Athens.

twelve minutes—shorten to fifteen minutes to twenty minutes.

By the way, for large or individual shortcake put the dough thin into rounds, spread half with butter and cover with the other before baking. They will then separate without use of either fork or knife.

Biscuits

- 2 cups flour.
 - 3 tablespoonfuls baking powder.
 - 3 to 4 tablespoonfuls fat
 - 1/2 to 1 cupful milk or water.
 - 1/4 teaspoonful salt.
- Mix and sift the dry ingredients and rub in the fat with the fingers or cut it in with a knife. Make a hole in the flour at the side of the bowl and add half a cupful of liquid. Stir in enough flour to make a ball of soft dough. Remove this from the bowl quantities than others. Too much baking powder of any sort contributes a flavor which is not desirable.

The amount of salt depends, of course, upon the kind of shortening used. When an unadulterated, such as lard, or a hardened, unflavored vegetable fat is used, the salt should be increased. After the flour, baking powder and salt have been sifted together, the shortening should be rubbed in with the fingers, or cut in with two knives. It must be so fine that when it is blended, the mixture looks like cornmeal.

It makes little difference whether the liquid used is milk or water. It is difficult to give a recipe the exact amount necessary to produce a dough of the proper texture, that is to say, soft but not sticky. A little more than one-fourth cupful of liquid to each cupful of flour is average. When adding the liquid, stir in this amount quickly with a stiff knife, add more if necessary, pat out the dough to a smooth sheet—the use of a rolling pin is unnecessary—and cut into rounds.

Shortcake or dumpling dough is made just the same with the addition of a little sugar and a little extra shortening. Biscuit of shortcake may be shaped, put in the baking pan and put in the refrigerator to wait until meal time, or they may be baked at once in a hot oven. A short time at a high temperature—350 degrees Fahrenheit—is best. Biscuit takes ten to and add to the remaining flour enough liquid to make a soft dough. Roll on a metal surface or oilcloth until one inch thick. Cut in rounds and bake ten to twelve minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees F. This recipe makes ten medium-sized biscuits:

Fruit Shortcake

- 2 cups flour
- 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- 1/4 teaspoonful salt
- 4 tablespoonfuls sugar
- 5 tablespoonfuls fat
- 1/2 to 1 cupful milk

Use the method for mixing biscuits. Divide the dough in half and roll each half the same size and shape. Place one layer on a greased pan, butter slightly and place the other layer on top of the first. Bake fifteen to twenty minutes in a hot oven. Split and cover with crushed fruit. Place the other crust on top and cover with fruit. Strawberries, raspberries, oranges or fresh or canned peaches may be used.

Tea Biscuit

The recipe for shortcake dough may be varied in a number of ways by adding chopped nuts, raisins or dates and using enough liquid to make the mixture thin enough to drop onto a greased pan. The thick dough may be rolled thin, sprinkled with grated cheese and paprika and rolled and cut as for fruit rolls.

To make Children EAT

Don't force children to eat! The girl or boy who has no appetite has stasis—which means the child is sluggish. But cathartics have caused more constipation than they ever cured! The "California treatment" is best—just pure syrup of figs. Try this for a few days, then see how eagerly your youngster will eat.

Stimulate the colon and that child with a finicky appetite will devour everything set before him. Here's the simple treatment that does more for babies or older children than all the diets, fat foods, or tonics.

Nature has provided the "medicine" you'll need to stir your child's colon muscles into proper action. California syrup of figs. Pure, delicious, harmless. It acts on the lower colon—where the trouble is.

If has no ill effects on the intestines. Begin tonight, with this marvelous "California treatment." Any druggist has California syrup of figs, all bottled, with directions. Use enough the first time to cleanse the clogged colon of every bit of poison and hard waste. Then just a little twice a week until the child's appetite, color, weight and spirits tell you the stasis is gone.

Whenever a cold or other upset clogs the system again, use this natural vegetable laxative instead of drastic drugs.

WARNING! There are dealers who practice substitution. Be sure to protect your child by looking for the name CALIFORNIA on the bottle.

ANGLER FISH GETTING SUPPER
"ANGIE" THE ANGLER FISH

"A fish in the mouth is worth three in the sea," is the motto of "Angie," the Angler fish. Never does he stir without his fish pole sturdily standing upright from the center of the upper part of his great wide mouth and on the end of it is a fascinating little tag, called a lappet which serves very nicely for bait to tempt unwary smaller fish. "Angie" doesn't believe in fishing where all can see. No indeed! He has two wide fins, one on either side of his fat body which can be used for feet. With these he can walk along the muddy bottom of the sea and when he feels hungry can bury himself in the mud and leave his fish pole sticking up. He waves the tiny lappet back and forth until it looks for all the world like a tempting live morsel. Along their unsuspecting way may come a school of minnows or baby fish. They see the moving delicacy and swim rapidly towards it. At first they swim around and around it. But as soon as "Angie" feels them near he wastes no time in snatching himself and before the tiny fish know what has happened to them, he has swallowed several.

picture but he is interesting. He is almost all head and is as flat as he can be. His great wide mouth reaches almost all the way around his head and inside are sharp teeth which obligingly depress themselves when "Angie" wishes to take anything in, but which stand firm if a lively fish should wish to escape. "Angie" is not without his decoration. He wears a rather pretty fringe around himself, each part of which looks like a tiny fern frond. This fringe is very convenient in helping to hide "Angie" and making him look like a part of the sea scenery. On top of his head are horny fins, the longest one being Angie's fish pole.

A PEACEFUL WARRIOR

fers rather to take refuge inside his armored house than to resist attack. It is easy for him to roll himself tightly in his armor, forming a perfectly round ball and leaving not a trace of himself sticking out except perhaps a few tiny hairs. Just for any enemy try to pierce through Mr. Armadillo's coat! He soon learns that it can't be done and, while he may stirgily bite and scratch for entrance, Mr. Armadillo is curled up safely, inside. He has three bands around his coat. These three bands are like the joints of your elbow; they make it possible for his armor to bend. The shield on his head and the bit of armor covering for his tail are just right to fill in any little crevices which might be left.

The calls on his hind feet are broad and flat, giving the appearance of hoofs, and though Mr. Armadillo's legs may be short he is a fast runner. At night, when the moon is out and the stars are shining, if you lived in South America, you might see him hastening along on some nocturnal errand. Some members of his family prefer the night to any other time. Hurry up, Mr. Armadillo! There are some delicious young roots and insects and perhaps a lizard or two, waiting to make a tempting supper for you.

Our Government —How It Operates

By William Bruckner

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

CASUAL visitors to the Capital City of the nation seldom receive suggestions from natives of Washington that they should visit the Department of Agriculture. The native here will freely point out places to see and the things of interest that a tourist "should not miss," but the suggestions almost never include the Department of Agriculture.

It is more easily understood than it appears. Except for the gardens and a greenhouse or two over which the department has supervision, there is little appeal for the tourist in that part of the department located in Washington, large as that section really is.

The answer, simply stated, to the circumstance is that the Department of Agriculture operates the greatest laboratories in the world, but they are scattered throughout the nation that they can be near to the problems they seek to solve. The experimental farms serve to illustrate the point. That farm in your state is located where it is for a very practical reason, the same being that it is attempting to develop some kind of agricultural product of especial fitness for the conditions of soil and climate under which you live.

But I would not have you understand that the department has only this method of serving the farmers. Although their work lacks the appeal that is required to attract sightseers, the vast offices of the department in Washington are thoroughly filled with men and women and with equipment as each one of them proceeds to work out some new factor in connection with plant and animal life. People are too prone to think of the department only in connection with wheat and cotton and corn and cattle and hogs, etc. As a matter of fact, its other work is more basic.

Let me relate the circumstance of one office as an illustration. Presiding over it is a small man, a German by birth but an immigrant to America at an early age. He is highly educated, uses many terms in conversation that go far over my humble head, and plods along with his studies.

And what does he study? Peat, peat bogs, uses of peat, how to use peat lands.

He is recognized throughout the world as an authority on peat, and slowly but surely out of the vast researches that he has made and is making is coming information that will result in utilization of millions of acres of land that is looked upon now by those reading near as not worth the taxes its owners have to pay. It may be interesting to note in this connection that this peat expert has established the value of peat as a fertilizer and that in consequence it won't be many years until truck farmers will be buying peat to mix with the soil of their farms the better to produce their crops.

The individual about whom I have written above is just one cog in a great machine, known in the department as the bureau of chemistry and soils, an agency of earnest men and women seeking facts. Scientists, they are, and scientists they will remain, and while superficially their work may be made the subject of laughter and by-play, agricultural life of America owes much to them.

For instance out of the constant investigating that goes on by that group, we already know that certain kinds of wheat will produce in greater volume in Kansas than formerly could be grown in that bread basket of the nation; we know that their soil studies have evolved ways of fertilizing that will break up "hardpan" and subsoils which the farmer despises, and we have learned from them that crops requiring soils free from acid can be grown in sections hitherto held to be areas where such crops were unprofitable.

In other words, the work the scientists do is of the sort that the farmer may not see its value until he suddenly discovers through his farm paper that the experiments have shown it feasible to plant a certain type of seed or do some other thing that opens a new avenue of profit to him. The chemical examinations, the soil investigations, and the studies of fertilizers, to mention a few, all lead directly to benefits for those who till the soil and with their products feed the nation.

It is only a step in one's survey of the department activities from the bureau of chemistry and soils to another section—the bureau of entomology—where the investigations are directed towards means of saving the crops which the other scientists have found can be produced to better advantage. The scientists in the bureau of entomology can tell you about the life history of the potato bug or any other that has been discovered as a parasite on American plant life. And what is more important to the agricultural producers, those scientists can tell you how to defeat the ravages of the insects that are known to be injurious to the crops.

Naturally, too, since they study insects, the same scientists provide the nation's bee-keepers with information about the honey bees, and how to protect them from the dangers that threaten them.

RETURNS TO CELL HE FLED IN 1917, SEEKING PARDON

Woman Appears From Past to Wreak Vengeance on Man Now Wealthy.

Canon City.—Glenn Smeeman, thirty-three, is back in the state prison here, again convict 10347, as he was when nearly fifteen years ago he fled after serving only a few months of his three years for auto theft.

During those fifteen years, under the name of Harry Stanley, he became a successful music publisher in Cleveland, married into a well-to-do family, built a $25,000 home and became the father of a baby girl now three months old.

Threatened with exposure by the woman with whom he was living when he was sent to prison and who, he says, had been bleeding him of money for years since she found him again, Smeeman came back to Colorado the other day to ask for a pardon in view of his present good standing.

Gov. Edwin C. Johnson refused and also declined to grant him a ninety-day parole for the purpose of putting his Cleveland affairs in order, but said that if Smeeman returned to prison and made application for pardon in regular order, he would give it consideration.

Back in Prison.

So Smeeman, in a shiny sedan driven by his business partner, George A. Bronson, who now is revealed as his full brother, drove up to the prison to receive the treatment accorded any "Ash" (new convict), his old number and a convict uniform bearing the white stripe which shows he is a non-truster.

Because Smeeman returned at his own expense and paid a reward of $50 for his capture, he will be spared the usual treatment for returned escaped prisoners—ninety days on the rockpile with a ball and chain welded about the ankle and head half-shaven.

Bronson was greeted cordially by Zeno B. Spurgeon, veteran guard. As convict No. 10347 Bronson served a term for auto theft from October, 1917, until July, 1919.

Smeeman, as a boy of seven, lost his father and was deserted by his stepmother in Grand Rapids, Mich. There followed years of wandering, in all kinds of company. In St. Louis he became enamored of a woman fifteen years his senior, with whom he lived as man and wife.

With the woman, known as Lulu Kelly, Smeeman came to Denver in 1917 and went into the automobile business. Some of the cars he handled were "hot," and the law pinned on him and Bronson the guilt of stealing an automobile belonging to a deputy United States district attorney.

Eludes Guard.

Smeeman and Bronson were convicted and sentenced to from three to five years in the state penitentiary. Smeeman was assigned to a convict gang building a highway up Boulder Canon, west of Boulder. One day he went into Boulder, accompanied by a guard, to get a haircut. He slipped out a back door of the barber shop and fled.

Bronson served out his term in the penitentiary. Later the brothers were reunited in Flint, Mich., and formed the business partnership which later led to success in Cleveland as the firm of Stanley & Bronson. A year ago Smeeman married Margaret Stutz, daughter of Herman Stutz, operator of a chain of meat markets. She had been educated in an exclusive girls' school at Heidelberg, Germany.

A member of the Motor Yachting colony and the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, Stanley moved in the best Cleveland social circles. His firm was the largest dealer in guitars in the world and sponsored a radio program on a national hookup.

Then came Lulu. How she had found him Smeeman did not know. But there she was, demanding her bit for keeping silence. Smeeman paid her small sums. Then she demanded $1,000. He refused. Lulu notified Warden Roy Best of the Colorado penitentiary.

Nurse Kills Patient on Smoothing Pillows

Sofia, Bulgaria.—Catherine Constantinova, a nurse in a Sofia hospital, straightened the covers and arranged the pillows on the bed of Christis Trajanov, a patient under her care. When Trajanov had been made comfortable, the nurse drew a revolver and shot him dead.

The shooting was another incident in the Bulgarian political feud. Trajanov was the assassin of Simeone Evtimov, editor of the newspaper Macedonia. He was wounded and taken to a hospital.

The nurse said she was given a revolver and told to kill her patient as punishment for the murder of Evtimov.

Conscience Fund Gets 25¢ by Death of Rabbit

Hutchinson, Kan.—"I want to lead an honest life since I have been converted," said a letter received by D. C. Williams, Reno county clerk.

In the envelope was a quarter, and the writer, Abe Taves, explained that he had received the money for bounty on Jack Rabbit, says several years ago.

He said in the letter that the rabbits had been killed in McPherson instead of Reno county. The law demands the bounty claims be made in the county in which the animals are killed.

Found New Worlds From Wheel Chair

How One "Passionate Pilgrim" Filled Her Life.

This is the story of a "Passionate Pilgrim." John Palmer Gavit tells it without revealing any other name.

She was a girl who from earliest childhood longed to travel. Her father promised that on her graduation from college they should take a trip around the world—real travel, off the beaten track and into the hidden corners of the world. The journey was arranged for when she fell in love with a young doctor. "If I were not leaving on this journey to which I have looked forward all my life," said she, "but as soon as I get back!" He asked, "If anything should prevent your going, will you marry me at once?"

And something did prevent her going. With the boat writing, and the baggage gone, she caught her heels at the top of the stairs and plunged downward—not quite to her death, but crippled, chained to a wheel chair for life. The girl who loved to travel! The young doctor made her keep her promise, and it was his father, coming upon the traveler chained, who pointed out to her that there are ways and ways of traveling. He spoke of that world under her foot where she sat in the garden, as rich in interest as any she could explore. "There," he told her, "were all the problems of science, history and philosophy, as much interest as the world could hold."

The result was a little chemical laboratory where the chained traveler studied little-known phases of the life under her feet, prospected like any Forty-Niner for minerals, and found them—even gold—in the soil of her farm—explored, under her microscope, jungles of growth and life and the limitless phase of molecules and atoms. And then the telescope, with which she traveled—to the stars. She became an expert on every phase of the history of her section of the state and wrote respected books on her scientific studies.

It has been said that you can't keep a good man down. And if one is really a "passionate pilgrim," it seems you can't keep him or her from traveling!

High Blood Pressure Not Confined to Aged

The chief resistance to the flow of blood occurs in the smallest arteries and capillaries, which act as so many nozzles at the end of the stream. Any abnormal narrowing in the caliber of these vessels demands a higher pressure head in the mains. Thus one finds a persistent elevation of blood pressure commonly associated with arteriosclerosis of the smaller vessels. This process may even occur in young people and run a rapid course to death. More commonly, however, high blood pressure appears later in life and, depending on many circumstances, the individual may live only a short time or he may with care go along, more or less handicapped, for many years. After forty, much depends on the wearing quality of one's arteries. Dr. R. W. Scott explains in Hygein Magazine, in "Forty Years Old—or Forty Years Young?"

Since Nature is interested in man only with the idea of propagating the race, the time that man survives after fifty is borrowed time. From then on, man must watch his step in this life on earth. He has no one to watch over his arteries.

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs.

At fifty, you can be in your prime.

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel it all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation! A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.

Maybe the Next Time You're always late. Why, you were late on our wedding day." "But not late enough."—London Tit-Bits.

Women To Get Heavy Jobs In New Administration

Miami, Fla.—"Petticoat rule" holds no terrors for President-elect Roosevelt, and women will be eligible during this administration for many offices previously restricted to men, it has been learned.

Mr. Roosevelt will not stop with the expected appointment of Miss Frances Perkins as secretary of labor, it was learned, but will throw the diplomatic service, important commissions and perhaps some major postmasterships open to women with distinguished records of party service.

Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida was reported to be in line for minister to Denmark.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, is under consideration for membership on the civil service commission.

Mrs. Stanley V. Hogge, Democratic national committee woman from Minnesota, is mentioned either for the Minneapolis postmastership or collector of internal revenue there.

Other names under consideration for positions were understood to include Mrs. Caroline O'Day, Rye, N. Y.; Mrs. Emmy Guffey Miller, Pittsburgh; Mrs. J. C. Buccinal, Fairmont, W. Va.; Mrs. John C. Greenway, national committee woman from Arizona; Mrs. Benton McMillan, wife of a former governor of Tennessee; Mrs. Ethel Childress, national committee woman from Tennessee; Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, St. Louis; Mrs. Jean Whittemore, Porto Rico, and Miss Mance Lanueley, Forts Grove, Ore.—El Paso Herald-Post.

Millions Spent Annually In The Radio Industry

Radio is one of our newest industries—hundreds of millions of dollars annually are being invested in all branches of Radio.

Those who profess to know say that ere long most communication will be carried on by radio.

When mammoth sea-going ships can be controlled miles out at sea by radio without a human being on board; when airplanes can be guided at will thousands of feet in the air by radio, when one can sit in his home and by the simple turn of a small ebony knob pick up programs from the farthest corners of the earth, is it any wonder that the industry grows as if by magic? The surface is only scratched thus far.

What does all this mean to the ambitious young fellow who is looking around for a vocation? A business man was heard to remark some time ago that "he had two sons and that he intended to give them both a training in Radio, for he felt that with as much money as there was being spent in the industry, surely it offered the ideal opportunity for the future."

And radio offers so many different opportunities—on board ship, in the air, in Broadcasting Stations, in airplane landing fields, Radiotricians and amateur operators. This gives the youngster a wide field from which to choose. The South is fortunate in having for its young men a great radio school at Tyler, Texas, and they have a Broadcasting Station where their students have an opportunity to become familiar with the technique of operating the transmitter. We are told that more young men successfully pass the Government examination at this school and receive operator's licenses than at any other Radio School in the whole country.

If you are inclined toward radio, we suggest that you drop a card to the School of Radio, Tyler, Texas, and ask for the booklet "R-6". It's free.

The Methodist Church

Rev. John L. Lawson, Pastor.

One hundred and eleven in Sunday school in Carrizozo last Sunday; twenty-five at Capitan and fifty-one at Angus. Regular services in Carrizozo next Sunday morning and evening. There were about fifty young people at the Epworth League service in Carrizozo last Sunday night. Perhaps you cannot attend every religious service each Sunday. Some have adopted the plan of attending one service each Sunday. It is a good plan, and commendable. Surely we can devote one hour of the Lord's day to the Lord.

Heavy Excursion
Travel Foreseen

With so-called Dollar Day cent-a-mile roundtrip fares scheduled over its lines in six western states from February 24 to 26, the Southern Pacific Company is anticipating heavy excursion travel to and from this city, according to local officials of the railroad.

A return limit of March 7 has been authorized for the lowfare transportation to provide ample time for distant journeys, it was pointed out.
