Missionary Society

The Missionary Society held its regular business meeting at the home of Mrs. B. L. Stimmel last Wednesday. Mrs. Lawson prepared the program. The Rev. John L. Lawson gave an interesting talk on stewardship. Assistant hostesses were Mesdames C. M. Lucky, Dan Elliot and Tennis Smoot.

Woodin Calls Bank Officials

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Secretary Woodin tonight summoned federal reserve bank officials and business leaders to come here for a conference tomorrow morning at the treasury on the banking situation.

The call was issued by Woodin from the White House where late today he was sworn in as treasury secretary in the presence of President Roosevelt.

It is believed details of the contemplated banking legislation will be discussed with the nation's financial chieftains tomorrow—El Paso Times.

Woman's Club Next Friday

Next Friday, March 17th the Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. C. W. Young. Mrs. T. E. Kelley will have charge of the program. Those who will assist Mrs. Young are Meses. F. L. Boughner, F. E. Richard, W. W. Walker, A. J. Rolland, Elsa Charles and Miss Melas. As this date is St. Patrick's Day every one is requested to wear a shamrock or some green ribbon.

J McSmith Buried Wednesday

J. McSmith died at his home in Parsons last Saturday night, March 4th at the age of 72. Mr. McSmith was a native of Indiana, but had lived in New Mexico about 25 years. He was formerly a freight conductor on the old E. P. & S. W., but retired about the time the Southern Pacific bought the road. He became a forest ranger and served until about two years ago. Since that time he has lived at Parsons taking care of some property for some of his friends. He was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors, and of the Knights of Pythias. He was buried in the K of P. plot in the local cemetery Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. A brief service was conducted at the grave-side by Rev. L. D. Jordan.

Earthquake in Japan Affects Artesian Water

The earthquake in Japan on March 2nd caused the water in the Pecos Valley Artesian basin to surge approximately a tenth of a foot or 1.2 inches. When Clifford G. Smith, artesian well supervisor inspected the gauges in three artesian wells in the valley Saturday he noticed that the pencil which marks the water level had traced a straight perpendicular line on the recorder paper in each of the three wells at the time at which the shock was felt in Japan, showing that the water in the basin had surged up and down during the earthquake. This has been shown at the exact time of several other earthquakes and there is no doubt that earthquakes cause the water in the artesian basin to surge.—Rowell Record.

P. T. A. Last Friday

The High School auditorium was well filled last Friday evening to hear the lecture delivered by Mr. P. A. Small Superintendent of the New Mexico School for the Blind at Alamogordo. The lecture was sponsored by the P. T. A. Mr. Small is a very good speaker and favorably impressed his listeners. He had one of the young lady students to demonstrate what can be accomplished by the blind. This gifted young girl took dictation at a rate which outvalued those who have the sense of sight. She then played a piano solo, followed by a piano number by Celestino Sandoval, also a former student of the school.

Mrs. John A. Haley has returned from a visit to Cloudcroft and Alamogordo.

Members Of The New Cabinet

The senate confirmed all new members of the Roosevelt cabinet late last Saturday. Following are their names:

Secretary of state, Cordell Hull of Tennessee.

Secretary of the treasury, William H. Woodin of New York.

Postmaster general, James A. Farley of New York.

Attorney general, Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut.

Secretary of war, George H. Dern of Utah.

Secretary of the navy, Claude A. Swanson of Virginia.

Secretary of commerce, Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina.

Secretary of interior, Harold L. Ickes of Illinois.

Secretary of labor, Frances Perkins of New York.

Secretary of agriculture, Henry A. Wallace of Iowa.

After a quick confirmation of his cabinet slate, President Roosevelt moved to have them take oath promptly so they would have official power to act swiftly and promptly to carry out his plans.

He arranged for the ten members to meet in the White house study at five o'clock Saturday to be sworn in by Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo of the supreme court.

There was no indication an official cabinet meeting would follow but it was pointed out the gathering would give the new president an opportunity to talk over the things he has in mind with his official family.

As the cabinet confirmations were completed, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, exercising his function as majority leader for the first time, moved a recess until 9:45 a. m., Monday, for the memorial service in honor of the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, who was slated to be one of those confirmed as a cabinet officer.

Al Smith Cheered At Inaugural Parade

Washington, March 4 (AP).—Amid more cheering than at any other point in the inaugural parade, President Roosevelt from his reviewing stand and Alfred E. Smith, a marcher in the Tammany hall delegation, waved their hats in an exchange of greetings today.

Although he had lifted his many times to others in the crowd, the president waved it enthusiastically and vigorously to Smith as he passed. Both were grinning broadly at one another.

The president singled out numerous persons in the Tammany group whom he new and waved individually to them and as the New York City police band and Mayor O'Brien passed by, he kept his hat off most of the time for those from his native state.—El Paso Times.

British Rulers Hear Inaugural

London, March 4 (UP)—The inauguration of President Roosevelt was heard today by the royal family and high British officials.

The king and queen listened to the broadcast at Buckingham palace and the Prince of Wales at Fort Belvedere, his country residence. Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald heard it at Chequers Court.—El Paso Times.

High School Notes

We have organized a chapter of the National Honor Society in our school. It is quite an honor to the school to be eligible for organization. Only Juniors, Seniors and Post Graduates are eligible to our chapter. The members are to be elected by the faculty. From the Junior class Vena Louise Snow was elected, from the Senior class, Edith Dudley, Ernest Prehm, John Jackson and Lala Joyce, and from the Post Graduate group, Adeline Marquez.

Last Friday Mrs. Rosdale, one of our former teachers, visited the school. We are glad to hear from her again.

Last Friday our County Nurse, Mrs. Reiter, came to our assembly on her final call. We are sorry to see her go, but hope that she will be happy in her new home.

Wednesday the Home Ec. Club presented an educational play entitled "Mother's Day Out."

The close of school is rapidly approaching and commencement activities are well under way.

The pictures which were taken last week are posted on the bulletin board in the study hall. Most of them are fine. They are only samples of what we are to receive in the annual.

Mrs. Lindahl Here

Mrs. Ida Lindahl of Gallup, N. M., state president of the Rebekah Assembly of New Mexico, paid the local lodge an official visit Wednesday. She gave instructions on the work and an examination on the secret work. While here she was the guest of Mrs. Calvin Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Carl accompanied Mrs. Lindahl to Alamogordo yesterday.

Mrs. Hugh Cathey of Ancho was in town Wednesday and was a pleasant caller at the News office.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. R. E. Lemon and son Maurice were in El Paso Monday and Tuesday. Maurice will leave in a few days for Long Beach.

Mrs. Frank Abel, who is spending some time in El Paso came home Sunday and returned to El Paso Monday.

Just received car of steel roofing, barbed wire, etc. Our prices are reasonable. The Titworth Co., Inc., Captain, N. M.

Mrs. J. E. Farley of Alamogordo and grand daughter, Frances Charles, will arrive today and will spend the week-end with Mrs. Elsa Charles.

Mrs. Sidney Goldston returned from Texas last Sunday where she had been called to attend the funeral of her brother, who died suddenly last week.

The high school, assisted by Mesdames Don English and T. E. Kelley, are selecting and arranging the music for Commencement and they will be practicing soon.

Miss Gussita Taylor of Las Cruces was a visitor at the C. A. Snow home this week. She has been visiting friends at Pastura and stopped over here enroute home.

Dr. M. G. Paden was quite ill last week. His brother-in-law, Dr. T. H. Williams, of Chickasha Okla., arrived and stayed with him until his immediate recovery was assured.

Walter A. Hubbard of Jicarilla was in town Monday on business. Mr. Hubbard says, now that it is clearing warm weather the mining-business is beginning to pick up a little.

Lost—Natural color, solid gold combination brooch and watch chain, set with nine pearls. Valued as a keepsake. Finder please leave at News office and receive reward.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jordan entertained about forty guests at their home last Wednesday evening at a dancing party. Delightful refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

Mrs. Maude L. Blaney who has been confined to her home on account of illness for the past two weeks is improving slightly and hopes to be at her post of duty next week. Mrs. Tennis Smoot is acting as substitute during her absence.

Mrs. J. B. French came from El Paso last Friday for a few days at home. She returned to El Paso and remained until Tuesday of this week, at which time she left for Albuquerque, where Mr. French is taking some special treatment at the Veterans' hospital.

Girls' Basketball Tournament Postponed

Due to the bank holiday, shortage of ready cash, and other drawbacks, it was thought best to postpone the basketball tournament scheduled for today and tomorrow, until a later date. This is a great disappointment to the basketball girls, as well as to all parties concerned.

Parents of Son

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hall are rejoicing over the arrival of a son, born at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, March 5th, at the Johnson hospital; weight 8 pounds. He will bear the distinguished name, Melville Hudspeth.

CARRIES CLEVER NOTION TOO FAR; LANDS IN JAIL

Justice in the Role of a Woman Betrayed Is Undoing of Robert Selders.

Chicago.—Robert Selders, an "alky" merchant, is in jail because he carried a bright idea too far. He had the audacity and ability to deceive a federal judge, but success went to his head; and when justice appeared in the role of a woman betrayed that was the undoing of Mr. Selders.

He saw her standing with a crowd of defendants, awaiting arraignment, as he strolled through the corridor of the federal building. A glance at her was all Selders needed to frame his defense. Assurance marked his stride as he answered the call of his name and he moved to the bar of justice before Judge George E. Q. Johnson. He pleaded guilty, and the judge said sixty days.

Countenance Doleful.

"Your honor," said Selders, "my wife is to become a mother in two or three weeks. I'd hate to be away from her at a time like that." His countenance was doleful, in perfect simulation of a man suffering the pangs of expectant fatherhood. The judge, ever a kindly man, smiled benignly as he pondered the case. Sixty days would keep the young man away from his wife at childbirth. The judge continued the case for investigation by the probation department.

The next day, Selders produced a certificate signed by Dr. Carl T. Steph an of the Rush Medical college's free dispensary. It stated that he had examined Josephine Selders and found her about to experience the blessedness of motherhood. Selders was then put on probation.

Then the Expose.

A few days later an indignant woman came into the office of Assistant United States Attorney Eugene A. Tappy. She wanted Mr. Selders locked up.

"He met me in the corridor of the federal building and promised me five dollars to pose as his wife," she said. "I went out to the clinic and let them examine me, using the name of his wife. I did my part, but now he won't pay me. Can't you put him in jail for that?"

The real Mrs. Selders was found at home, well and happy, but expecting no children and wanting none, for the time being. The investigators waited for Selders, who readily confessed.

"I thought if I was clever enough to fool the judge, I'd be a chump to give that woman five dollars," he said. Selders is not only in jail, but facing the prospect of a contempt sentence when he gets out. A petition has been filed by Prosecutor Tappy, asking that he be cited.

Moonbeam's Slant Fails to Save Man From Cell

Austin, Texas.—An exact mathematical calculation regarding the angle of incidence of the moon's ray was admitted in testimony at a District court trial here, but failed to acquit the purse snatcher in whose favor it resulted.

Miss Pearl Favara identified Walter Toyne as a man who took her purse from her on the run. She said she saw him by moonlight. Dr. P. L. Hatcher, professor of mathematics at the University of Texas, testified the moon was shining, but at an angle of 30 degrees, whereas 90 degrees was necessary to illuminate the spot. Nevertheless a jury gave Toyne a two-year sentence.

30 Children Orphaned in Ten-Minute Fight

Buenos Aires.—Thirty children were made orphans in ten minutes here recently when a vendetta of many years standing suddenly came to a head. Sixteen members of the Podesta and Barrera families met unexpectedly in the street, revolvers were drawn and hundreds of shots exchanged.

When the police arrived they found all the combatants dead or dying with the exception of a sixteen-year-old girl who was standing trembling in a doorway. The thirty children of the victims were placed in the municipal asylum.

Stolen Salt Leaks Out; Police Trail Burglars

Pueblo, Colo.—Three Pueblo detectives used salt to catch a couple of burglars.

The burglars broke into a grocery store and stole a quantity of supplies including the salt.

The salt sack leaked—and all the four officers had to do was to follow the trail from the grocery store right to the front door of the house where the two burglars went.

The officers found them, with half a sack of the salt left, in the house.

Rooster Loses Voice and Grieves to Death

Hayward, Calif.—Tokio, celebrated Japanese rooster who obtained fame and fortune for his owner, Lee S. Pohn, through radio, moving picture and chicken feed contracts, is dead.

Tokio was killed because of his ability to maintain a single crowing note for more than 30 seconds. His death was attributed to a broken heart after a bronchial affliction reduced his clation voice to a whisper.

No Santa Claus for the Grownup

Is Faith That Looks for Miracles Deficient in Strength?

A prominent minister the other day deplored the sort of faith that believes in a "wonder-working God"—that expects miracles. I believe he meant that it is a cheap sort of faith because it makes things easy for the one who believes. It lifts the responsibility for life right off one's shoulders and places it upon one's faith.

This seems to me a strikingly revealing point, which, aside from the religious reference, is applicable to much in our daily lives.

There is the tremendous faith of some of us in our friends—which is blunted at the first suggestion of disappointment or disillusionment.

And the faith in an idea—in its perfection—until it strikes the first snag in the process of working out.

And the faith of some people in themselves—until they find the first job that is too big, when they lose all self-confidence.

That sort of faith is like a child's faith in Santa Claus. He believes because he wants to believe. To get what he wants he needs only to pin a letter to his stocking the night before Christmas. It's up to Santa to work the miracle.

But for us grownups there is no Santa Claus. And in this day and age there are no miracles—except those we work for ourselves. Our faiths are probably the most important element in our lives. There is something revealing about ourselves in where we place them. And once we do place them there is something revealing in how we maintain them. It merits the gift of something in ourselves. It is not an easy faith or a cheap faith. The idea is not only to have faith, but to KEEP faith.

English Farmers Defy

Collectors of Tithes

To defend themselves against seizure of stock following nonpayment of tithes, several hundred farmers in the Kent district of England have organized themselves into an army.

They are working along war lines, and when three large trucks were sent recently to collect at ten farms the representatives of the law were routed without any of the 80 lots sought. A body of men is kept on farms where seizures may be attempted, and a small army is stationed in the village square ready to hasten to any farm when the signal, the firing of rockets, is given.

THEY HAVE FOUND A 3-MINUTE WAY TO RELIEVE SORE THROAT

All Pain And Soreness Eased In Few Minutes This Simple Way.

Proves Only Medicine Helps A Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes.

Results are among the most extraordinary in medical science. On doctors' advice, millions are following this way... discarding old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." For it has been found that only medicine can help a sore throat.

Simple To Do. All you do is crush and dissolve three BAYER Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water. Gargle with it twice—as pictured above. If you have any indication of a cold—before gargling take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. This is to combat any signs of cold that have gone into your system. Keep on taking if cold has a "hold." For Genuine Bayer Aspirin will not harm you. Your doctor will tell you, it does not depress the heart. Get a box of 12 or a bottle of 24 or 100 at any drug store.

Reduces Infection, Eases Pain Instantly. Gargling with Bayer Aspirin will do three things: Relieve soreness at once. Alleviate inflammation. AND—reduce infection, which is the important thing in fighting a sore throat.

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways. Results are quick and amazing.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin Tablets for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles. Watch this when you buy.

Ask your druggist about the recent price reduction on the 100 tablet size Bayer Aspirin.

NO TABLETS ARE GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN WITHOUT THIS CROSS

Why Award Them At All?

Postmaster General Brown courteously decides not to award the pending ocean mail contracts, but to leave that task to his Democratic successor, Mr. Farley.

It is a nice bit of thoughtfulness on Brown's part, handing the awarding of these fat and juicy plums to the next administration—a subsidy if there ever was one.

If Mr. Roosevelt is sincerely desirous of effecting government economies, and we are sure that he is, let him save large sums of money by refusing to act on any more of these overstuffed ocean mail contracts which cost the taxpayers of the United States thousands of dollars for each pound of mail.—El Paso Times.

The War and High Taxes

In the Boston News Bureau, Sherwin C. Badger explodes the theory that the tremendous increase in per capita federal government outlay is primarily the result of war.

If the war years are omitted entirely, and all war costs—such as interest and sinking fund payments arising from war borrowings, veterans' expenses, etc.—are deducted, the cost of government in 1932 was $22.00 per capita—three times pre-war cost. If Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds and Federal Land Bank subscriptions are included, the cost was $29.12—nearly four times pre-war expenditures.

What happened was that the cost of government was immensely increased during the boom years, when gigantic revenues accrued from income and other capital taxes. Governmental activities of all kinds were broadened; new departments and bureaus came into existence by the hundred; thousands of employees were given places on the government payroll. Now income taxes have lost their potency in producing revenue, and government is attempting the impossible—to operate at a boom standard at a time when the national income of its people is the smallest in a great many years.

When times change for the worse, business and individuals make necessary changes to compensate—they adjust-outgo to income. Government must do precisely the same thing if the deficit is to be conquered, the budget balanced, the national credit maintained and the taxpayers saved from ruin.

Dollar Bills Traded

Money is in circulation in Cheney, Washington. Three one dollar bills, with a "trailer" attached to record all transactions, were found to have visited 30 places of business and accounted for a total of $90 in that city in four days' time.

The Livestock Situation

Los Angeles, March.—In view of the fact that the livestock business has been on a strictly cash basis at the central markets for many years, stockmen are concerned over the bank "holidays," and apparent trend towards restrictions on cash withdrawals in many states. Probably the livestock business is unique in that, through good times and bad, the stockman has always been able to obtain immediate cash for his livestock, provided he sold at the central markets.

This condition is not likely to change. All buyers and sellers at the Stock Yard markets are fully licensed and bonded under supervision of the Federal Government. Thus the man who ships livestock to the open market is doubly assured that he will receive quick cash for whatever he has to sell. These and other regulations surrounding the livestock trade have been formulated over a long period of years, with the express purpose of throwing every possible protection to the producer who ships to the open market. Selling agencies are required to place the proceeds of every sale into a separate bank account for the account of the seller.

Many states have adopted some restrictive legislation on withdrawals of actual cash. The need for National action to formulate protective methods is apparent, to the end of assuring depositors of the security of their money.

Out of these difficulties will come practical legislation to protect both the stability of banks and the funds of depositors. It is probable that we will have National legislation placing all banks under direct Federal supervision.

It is to be hoped that the bad effects which came from State guarantee of banking, tried and found wanting in several states, may serve to guide us to a practical solution of this important matter.

To the end of assuring stabilized credits and sound banking, we may look for some pretty quick and favorable action to correct the weakness that has existed right along, but it required the present conditions to prove the need for remedial action. There is apparently no need for apprehension because the foundation is sound and there is reason to believe that when we get through the structure will be stronger and more secure in every way.

Fact About Circulation
The public health service says that it is not true that in circulation the heart remains unburned. The heart usually burns last, due to the fact that it is the best protected organ in the body. This, of course, depends upon how the heat is applied.

Economic Highlights

General—As the year gets under way, business shows a determination to balance budgets and make both ends meet. New retrenchment is anticipated.

Heavy industries are still sluggish. Surpluses of raw materials formidable, with stocks of finished goods low. This over-supply of raw materials, plus reduced buying power, darkens the business picture at present.

Best sign is the mental attitude of business—it is entering the new year with more moral and honest confidence than for several years past. Securities and commodities, of late, have shown considerable strength and the fact that depression has forced on industry a new meaning of efficiency should cause earnings to jump fast when the turn comes.

The Farm—Expectations are for better grain prices in 1933 unless production is heavily increased. The winter wheat crop is forecast at 400,000,000 bushels, smallest sowing since 1923. The cotton crop is expected to total 24,000,000 bales, the smallest in five years.

Livestock market and price level reported firm.

Industry—Raw steel output in 1932 was 13,000,000 tons, lowest since 1900. Steel mills operated on an average of 19.41 per cent of capacity.

Heavy engineering construction contracts for the last week of the year rose to $38,329,000, a weekly figure surpassed but twice during 1932.

Confidence is expressed that the oil industry is at last working out of the depression. Supply has balanced demand, a relative degree of price stability has been reached. Since 1930 crude inventories have been reduced by 88,000,000 barrels.

Shipping men look to the future with hope, as result of the Sixth National Merchant Marine Conference. High Government officials favoring continuance of Federal aid for maintenance and protection of the Merchant Marine.

New official figures show that copper production in 1932 was about one-half of 1931, and that refinery production was 54 per cent lower.

Full-fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers Association of America, Inc., favors 30 hour work week, and bill limiting operation of any equipment in excess of 12 hours per day.

The rail wage controversy grows steadily more intense. The $20,000,000 deficit incurred by Class I lines last year has made drastic economy unavoidable, and it is believed that wage cutting is one of the few possible ways to achieve this.

Automobile interests prepared to make a strong bid for better business this year. They point to the new low price levels, the improved products and the obsolescence of so many cars now in use as justification for optimism.

Congressional leaders of both parties now considering advisability of broadening powers of the R. F. C. to give it wider discretionary authority in making loans to railroads for their immediate needs.

Abroad—In general, Canadian business conditions show no improvement. Central American situation improved due to exports of new coffee crop. Chilean situation somewhat less optimistic, with manufacturers reducing output. Confidence reviving in Italy, largely due to successful crops, fairly stable employment and improvement in some industries. In Mexico improvements of early fall are continuing. Philippine export trade continues stagnant. Sweden showing encouraging increase in exports; however, prices are lower and ex-

Relative expenditures for vocational education in the United States:

In 1926, the last year for which the U. S. Bureau of Education has complete data, the funds spent for vocational education equaled 1 per cent of all funds spent for all types of education in the United States, the Philippine Islands and Hawaii.

From the 1920 census report, 8 per cent of the population is engaged in professional, executive, and managerial functions; the re-

In all fairness it must be observed that when compared with the total expenditure for education of all types in the United States, that for vocational education—education for the primary needs of 92 per cent of the population—is certainly not high.

Schools Pushing Music to Fore

America Destined to Lead World, Says Frederick Neil Innes

That the public school band movement is bringing America to the fore in the music world, is the belief of Frederick Neil Innes, director of the Conn National School of Music, Chicago, and internationally known band leader. "America is destined to lead the world in music," says Innes. "It does not yet rank with Germany, France, Hungary, Italy or England, but we are climbing. Fully eighty per cent of the high schools have some musical organization, an orchestra or a band, or both. Music in the public schools will give America this coveted musical supremacy."

Mr. Innes further believes that the time is near at hand when even the smallest community will have its band. He thinks that when this condition is brought about that it will be due largely to the incentive given musical training by the public schools of the nation. "The modern school is as proud when a musical championship is won by their band or orchestra as it is when their football heavies go down the field to glory in every game they play," he says.

"The band or orchestra is vastly superior to the vocal class," says Innes, "because the boy in the adolescent stage simply will not sing. He may be compelled to go through the motions, but he will not actually sing. He refuses for the simple reason that he has no voice to sing with. Give such a lad a trombone or a cornet, or any other instrument of the band and his musical progress will astound even himself."

This Town of 20

Has 44-Piece Band

A 20-man town with a 44-piece band has been discovered by the Conn Music Center at Elkhart, Ind.

Forest Grove, Mich., is the town. The entire population of 20 is housed in five dwellings. Small boys throw stones from one end of the town to the other. Two stores serve the needs of the community. Yet Forest Grove's band numbers 44 pieces.

The hamlet lacked paved streets and population. It was not even mentioned on the maps, yet the "musical urge" was there. Several of the townsmen knew something of music, as did several of the boys on the surrounding farms. There were lots of others "yearning to blow a horn. A meeting was arranged, attended by a 100 per cent representation of the town and by farm boys within a radius of many miles. The band came into being overnight.

Rehearsals are faithfully attended. "Band night" sees the one street lined with parked automobiles, and Forest Grove, once a fest, has become the envy of the surrounding communities.

Housewives Big Buyers of Musical Instruments

Elkhart, Ind.—Sixty per cent of musical instruments sold to women are purchased by housewives, it is revealed in a survey made by the Conn Music Center here. The survey was made through music instrument dealers in twenty cities, and covered 220 actual transactions.

One out of every ten instruments sold were purchased by women, and their preferences for instruments was very much along the lines favored by the men, according to the survey. Of the total number of transactions, fifty-two per cent involved the purchase of a saxophone, sixteen per cent that of a trumpet, and nine per cent that of a trombone.

That youth will be served, especially in music, was well illustrated in the ages of the purchasers. Fully thirty-four per cent of those purchasing instruments were under twenty-one years of age, while nineteen per cent were between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five, and twenty-one per cent between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. Only twenty-six per cent of all transactions involved persons of thirty years and over.

Oscura News

The hot lunches having been served to the pupils of our school have proved very beneficial. It is truly surprising how great a variety can be managed by a community that is interested in the welfare of the pupils. Each new dish is a source of surprise, pleasure and profit to the pupils. It is with regret that this enjoyable feature of school life must be discontinued, but the warm spring days make it advisable to no longer serve the hot lunch.

A social party was given at the school house last Saturday evening. It was attended by friends from near and far, and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Lights of NEW YORK

By WALTER TRUMBULL

New York is a city where, if you wish anyone to know you have been away, you have to mention the fact. Under ordinary circumstances when you don't happen to see some one for a few days, weeks, months or years, you merely assume that he has moved over by another subway line and has found a new movie theater and a new crowd of acquaintances. One has to move only about ten blocks in New York to get into an entirely different village, with a new set of neighborhood stores, new mailmen, new paper boys and new neighbors. And, should you meet one of the old neighbors after a month or so of absence, he probably will resume the conversation just where you left it off.

I never shall forget something Will Irwin told me long ago. He had been in Europe for long months as a war correspondent before the United States was drawn into the conflict, had seen unforgettable things, and had returned full of his experiences and eager to tell somebody about them. He went to one of his clubs and the first member he met said he was glad to see him, because he wished to talk to him about several things he thought should be brought before the house committee. One of them concerned the dining room, and another the number in which affairs in the billiard room were being handled. Mr. Irwin said that he had been away and was a little out of touch. The member said his vacation evidently had done him good, that he hoped to get away for a week or two himself, but that as they now were both present, it seemed a good time to go into the important matters he had mentioned.

So I cannot expect the fact that I have been in the Middle West for a few days to make any great impression on the life of our city. Still I learned a few things on the trip. A conductor, for example, told me that so far as his run was concerned he thought travel was picking up a little. He also told me that certain manufacturers, who had journeyed with him to a convention, had appeared to be unusually cheerful for these times and claimed to see an increase in their business for the coming year.

Fat McGill, the wrestler, and a very good one, happened to be on the same train on which I returned and showed me a picture of his three children, which visibly proved that there was nothing the matter with the younger generation in the vicinity of Omaha. I never saw a photograph of three happier, happier-looking youngsters. Turning from family affairs to business, McGill told me he saw a chance to make a little something on his hog, and at least break even on his cattle, although he said the farming business was not in the pink of condition. We rather agreed that what would help the farmer most would be to get the country in general back to work and thus restore purchasing power and increase the market for farm products. The trick, of course, is to do it. That is something for the new administration to work out.

McGill is a likable, generous fellow who speaks well of his fellow craftsmen. He told me he considered Lewis and Stecher really great wrestlers. In fact, he commended almost every wrestler concerning whom I asked him, although he admitted that some were better than others. He thinks that the wrestlers of today are as good as any who ever lived and that most of the great grapplers are on this side of the water.

NOTHING TO WASTE

"Do you like the prize you won at the card club?"
"Not at all. It's a homely thing, but I don't care. I can give it to somebody for a birthday present."

My Neighbor Says:

To KEEP the breakfast hot for one person, put the bacon or chop on a warm plate, cover with another warm plate, and stand the coffee pot on top. This will keep it hot for a long time.

To whiten clothes that have become yellow from being dried in the house, steep them over night in lukewarm water, and in the morning wash them in clean soap suds. Then put them in a boiler with pieces of soap and a teaspoonful of powdered borax and boil 20 minutes. Rinse, then let them lie for another night in clean cold water, to which a little powdered borax has been added. This will bleach clothes.

Never leave medicine or any kind of a drink uncovered in a sick room.

SECRET OF HOT ROLLS IS BARED

Yeast Dough Must Have Plenty of Shortening.

By EDITH M. BARBER

Hot rolls! How good that sounds, doesn't it? We mean yeast rolls, of course. In most households yeast cakes are used nowadays more for this purpose than they are for making the supply of bread. With the good commercial bakeries furnishing our fresh bread daily, some of it of practically the same texture as the homemade quality, few housekeepers make the regular supply of loaf bread.

Once in a while a woman may just get hungry for a loaf of her own making and will make up a batch of bread dough, but she is pretty sure to make a good deal of it into rolls because most of us do not care for bread, homemade or otherwise, that has been made more than a day or two.

There are, of course, certain fancy breads which are made at home. I, myself, make up a rich sweet bread and use it hurriedly for tea and, as it gets older, for a delicious sweet toast. This bread is "painted" with egg yolk before it is baked and has a rich, glistening, golden crust when baked. Yeast dough for rolls of any sort must have plenty of shortening in it and sometimes egg yolks or whole eggs. There are foundation recipes for which rolls of different shapes, from which they take their name, are baked. It is strange what a difference in flavor the shaping, plus the baking seems to give the same dough. A clover-leaf roll, for instance, seems quite different from a finger or a crescent roll, probably on account of the additional crust.

The addition of more sugar and shortening will make a sweeter, richer roll of the same general mixture. Raisins or nuts may also be added. The favorite cinnamon roll is made from a regular dough, but, of course, the spreading of the rolled dough with lard butter, sugar and cinnamon gives a very different air to the baked roll.

We have found that comparatively larger amounts of yeast can be used to make rolls rise quickly and to, therefore, reduce the time between rising and serving. There will be no "yeasty" flavor if the rolls are baked long enough. Another modern convenience for producing hot rolls in a magically short time is the use of the re-

HOW IT STARTED

By JEAN NEWTON

"Cat's-Paw"

"CAT'S-Paw" is a word we frequently hear in discussions of politics. To employ anyone as a cat's-paw is to get him to do something, usually, which will not stand the light, something which is, as a rule, dangerous or degrading, and which one would hesitate to do himself.

The idea was borrowed from Aesop's fable of the monkey and the chestnut. The monkey roasted some chestnuts and then found them too hot to touch.

So the monkey caught a cat, and holding her fast, used one of her paws (a cat's-paw) to take the nuts out of the fire.

howl until it is double in bulk, keeping it at a lukewarm temperature. Form into rolls.

Clover Leaf Rolls

Make small-sized rolls of dough by rolling pieces separately between the palms, place three rolls in each greased muffin cup, butter, well, and let rise until double in bulk, then bake at 400 degrees for 18 to 20 minutes.

Cinnamon Rolls

Spread the dough after it has risen into a thin sheet about one-fourth inch thick. Spread with one-fourth cupful butter, and sprinkle with one-half cupful brown sugar mixed with one teaspoonful cinnamon. Roll tightly like a jelly roll and cut in pieces one and a half inches wide. Place close together with the cut side down in a pan in which has been spread another one-fourth cupful of butter and one-half cupful of brown sugar sprinkled over the bottom. After they have risen until double in bulk bake them at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. One-half cupful of pecan meats may be added before rolling and a few sprinkled on the bottom of each cup.

Father Leaves Estate

to Settle Son's Debts

Milwaukee.—By the terms of his will, Ignatz Trzebiatowski, eighty-eight, left virtually his entire estate to the creditors of his son, Albert. The son, former alderman to whom Polish citizens entrusted their savings, is serving a 20-year prison term for embezzling about $100,000.

Among small specific bequests the elder Trzebiatowski left money to pay funeral expenses of his imprisoned son.

Coming Out of Hibernation

frigerator for storing the dough after it has been mixed and allowed to rise. It can be covered, put away and taken out again to be shaped, allowed to rise and baked before use.

In making any kind of yeast mixture there are a few special points. Bread flour must be used; yeast must be fresh. If, of course, yeast cakes will remain fresh in a refrigerator indefinitely. The water to which the yeast is added must be lukewarm. The dough must be kept warm while it is rising. I find a moist heat best for this, and I usually place it on a cake cooler over a pan of hot water. And, of course, keep it covered. I like to bake rolls in a moderately hot oven as the crust is more tender. When loaves are baked it seems to make little difference whether the baking is started at a high temperature and finished at a lower heat or whether a moderate temperature is used throughout the baking. Bread of rolls are baked enough when they sound hollow when knocked at the bottom of the bread (not of the pan).

Standard Rolls

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cake compressed yeast
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 2 cups flour (about)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 egg
- 4 tablespoons fat

Scald the milk and cool until lukewarm. Crumble the yeast into a mixing bowl and add the sugar. Add the lukewarm milk to the yeast mixture. Stir well and add about half of the flour which has been measured after sifting once. Then add the salt and the egg.

Add the melted fat after one-half of the flour has been added. Remove it to a floured board or clean table top and knead until it is smooth and elastic. Let the dough rise in a covered

Woman of Today Almost Perfect Physical Being

London.—"Modern woman is almost perfect," says Prof. E. McBride, famous British physiologist.

"She is taller than her mother and her elder sister, and she does not suffer from the many minor ailments that at one time were accepted as inevitable for girls.

"The tremendous change in women's way of living, with its exercise and hygiene, is largely responsible for her physical perfection.

"The effects of light living were so far-reaching that it has taken at least twenty years to reap the full benefit of the fashion for a natural figure.

"In my opinion the chief reason for the existence of the beautiful, healthy girls who will be this year's brides is a great change in social conditions which has been taking place during the last thirty years—that is, the dilution in the size of the family."

THE DIVIDENDS

"Your club must have realized quite a neat sum for the poor with its benefit."

"It was quite a success, but the members had a little supper afterwards and we came out just about even."

Immense Benefits of

Research Work Shown

Research is continually giving us new uses for old products and is placing within the reach of the average American goods whose production cost was once prohibitive, says Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce. We are accustomed to the use of aluminum as an inexpensive material, but less than 50 years ago its price was $12 a pound. Twenty-five years before that, aluminum was classed as a "rare" metal and was worth $60 a pound! That amazing reduction in cost which has brought aluminum ware into even the humblest kitchen is pre-eminently an achievement of tireless research. Industrial research is not only a powerful force contributing to business recovery at home, but it is as well a tremendous aid in the selling of American goods abroad.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Croemulion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Croemulion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

All of known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Croemulion contains in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Croemulion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

THE GAME OF WORDS

First of all write slight complete alphabets on four strips of light cardboard. Cut these letters apart and turn them face downward in the center section of the same board. If you wish to make a larger board than the one given here just copy the design on the inside of a square box cover. Each player draws one letter in turn. Whatever this letter happens to be it is his key, or the beginning letter of all the five words he is to build. The object of the game is to make five words each beginning with the key letter drawn, and the player who succeeds in doing this first wins. Drawings are made in turn, one draw at a time. If a player draws the letter he needs in building any of his five words he has an extra turn and if he makes a complete word in one turn he may destroy the last made word of his most dangerous opponent. As many as six can play the same for each player has one of the five word spaces as his own.

Brims and Eyes Play Hide and Seek

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT full brims and eyes will be having this season playing hide-and-seek with each other! You see, it is this way.

Fashion insists that brims take a most thrilling dip-over-one-eye slant, and what happens?—see for yourself in the picture where most of the brims pose at such a perilous angle they almost, if not quite, obliterate the right eye. Which is exactly the way the new hats are supposed to be worn. So get before your mirror and practice, for much of the success of the new hats depends on the "tricky" wearing thereof.

Not that the new hats are in any way lacking in comeliness within themselves. No, indeed! On the contrary the bewitching chapeaux which are flocking in by the thousands just now are about as fascinating a lot of millinery as ever joined in a midseason and spring style parade. It is not only the jaunty poses of their brims that thrill but there is that appeal of the truly feminine in their ribbons, their flowers (yes, flower trims are "in"), their airy straws and their dainty fabrics which make them irresistible.

There's no mistake about it, intensely interesting things are now going on in the realm of millinery. One of them is the revival of taffeta as a medium for hats to wear now and hats to wear when springtime gladdens the earth. One of the dramatic plays which milliners are making with taffeta is to stitch it intricately and designfully. The "derby" of pale blue stitched peau d'ange taffeta shown at the top to the left in this group is a striking example of this. It is pulled down over one eye rakishly, as racy as even the youngest deb could desire. The next hat (centered at the top) is also of taffeta—navy blue moire taffeta, with melon crown and daring brim which laps over at the front in a most flattering manner. The three-tone cluster of velvet flowers placed to the fore is its only decoration. One eye, you will observe, is entirely obscured.

The new crowns for the most part are flat and low. The model to the right at the top is a representative type. Small wreaths of velvet flowers encircle the crown. Velvet flowers either in multi-color or in solid tones adorn fabric and straw hats alike this season.

Again, in the instance of the hat worn by the print-frocked lady, the brim quite conceals the right eye. The interesting thing about the charming outfit is its trimming touches of velvet as expressed in the wreath of flowers which enhance the hat and as they appear in the belt and buckle. Designers are keen about adding a dash of velvet to the new costumes, so much so, they are beautifying the new spring prints and crepes and matelasse weaves with most intriguing accessories including velvet scarfs, girdles, bows and all sorts of enhancing details.

Three outstanding trends are presented in the smaller sketches below. The high-billed turban reflecting co-sack influence as shown to the left is a favorite in Paris. The plaid taffeta bow at the neck also conveys an important message. The tall Fedora in the center is being worn by swagger-talored folks. With toques and small brims we see crisp veils, as illustrated to the right, are inevitable.

CAPES AND CHECKS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here's two important hints in regard to the new spring coats—capes and checks. Most every coat has its cape, for capes have gone on parade for spring. Capes that come off and capes that don't, capes that are furless and capes that are fur-trimmed, they each and all grace the season's smartest coats. Then as to the popularity of checks, it matters not whether the cloaking material be of fine sheer woolen of sturdyest weave or of gray and white silk, as is the material which fashions the model pictured, it is almost sure to be checked, for checked fabrics are the rage for spring. You'd love the material in this coat. It is a sort of soft heavy sling-silk mixture which you are sure to like better every time you wear it. The gray fox bordering satisfies the eye with a delectable color blend.

WOMEN NOW PREFER DOUBLE-DUTY DRESS

Two dresses have always been better than one, but now women prefer, above all, the single dress that is really two. Transformable clothes—originally an experiment to test out the possibility of thrifty fashions—have become big successes.

The fine feature of the transformable clothes is the fact that there is hardly an evidence of their double-duty background.

Time was when a transformation dress showed its taking-apart qualities at first glance; nowadays hardly a dress goes by in any fashion parade that doesn't look as if it might be taken apart and transformed—hence the dress which has this as its purpose is not set apart from others in any way.

Designers Making Much of All-Beige Costumes

Designers are making much of the all-beige costume as an advance spring fashion. Introduced in mid-winter, the first beiges planned for 1933 were of a darker tinge than usual. Many of them had a greenish cast, or were crosses between beiges and grays.

The current popularity in beiges leans toward lighter, paler shades. Many of the beige costumes shown in the better dressmakers are actually a deep, cream color, or lean toward pale yellow. One of the favorites is a very light beige that approximates the most delicate tones in baby lynx fur.

Black Chiffon Is Being Revived for Evening Wear

Black chiffon, an old favorite evening fashion, is being revived. Many smart women, tired of bright red crepe and black satins, are taking up a fashion that has always had big seasons of success, and are adapting it to 1933 silhouettes.

Many of the newest evening dresses appearing at fashionable theater openings are either entirely of black chiffon, or are of chiffon combined with lace or with satin.

Our Government — How It Operates

By William Bruckart

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

I LEARNED when I was attending a country school and studied "The Principles of Civil Government," that the secretary of state was the ranking official of the President's cabinet, and that he would succeed to the Presidency in event of the death or disqualification of the President and the Vice President. The worthy textbook also gave some meager ideas of how the secretary of state handled all of the foreign relations of our government, and that he was the keeper of the great seal of the Union.

The fact that the secretary of state is the intermediary between the United States and other governments somehow was clear enough, but it was not until years later that I became aware of the important functions he performs in matters appertaining to purely domestic affairs.

Nearly all of the governments of the world maintain an office, usually designated as the ministry of foreign affairs, which considers and acts on nothing excepting questions between governments. Our Department of State does that, but its other work is equally important. It is because of the form of our government and the fact that our nation is made up of sovereign states that it is better to correlate the functions in one agency.

No better illustration can be found perhaps of how the Department of State serves in domestic affairs than the fact that the secretary of state formally publishes all laws and resolutions enacted by congress. It may be just a formality after all, but nevertheless every act of congress passes across the desk of the secretary, or some one acting for him, before becoming the law of the land.

In order to make this phase of his work clear, consider the course followed by a resolution of congress amending the Constitution. It never goes to the President at all; the secretary of state receives it direct from congress, and in turn transmits it to the secretaries of state of each of the states. After the respective state legislatures have acted, their secretary of state advises the secretary of state of the federal government and when 26 of the 48 states have approved of it, the secretary of state announces it as a part of the Constitution.

In correspondence which the President has with the governors of the several states, the communications pass through the hands of the secretary of state so that he stands actually as the medium by which the states and the federal government are in contact.

Mention was made earlier of the great seal of the Union. It is carefully protected by the secretary of state and its preservation is just as important as are the copies of treaties with foreign governments, executive proclamations and commissions to which that seal is affixed after they have been signed by the secretary of state. Whenever a fugitive from justice—a criminal or one charged with a crime who has escaped to a foreign land—is sought to be returned to the United States, the warrant for extradition from the land of his refuge must bear the signature of the secretary of state and have the great seal affixed.

Now as to the other phase of the dual job handled by the Department of State: that agency is the fountainhead of the nation's foreign policy. In other words, it is the place in which the views of the United States, as a nation, on all questions affecting another government, are formulated, because foreign policy after all is nothing but settled opinion pursuant to those views. They have their origin among the men who are conversant with all details of the problem and while they require the sanction of the President always, and of the senate when there is an agreement, or a contract, arranged between the nations, the fundamentals always are worked out under the supervision of the secretary of state.

From this it is easy to understand why there is a necessity for the far-flung service of diplomats who officially represent the United States in every nation of the world. The highest rank of these, of course, is the ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary. After that rank is the envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary. Then come the consul general, the vice consul and consuls, so that throughout the world a citizen of the United States need travel only short distances anywhere until he is in touch with an official of his own nationality.

It is equally easy to comprehend how the relations between the United States and any other government are maintained, for any one of the officials mentioned above overlooks nothing that will endanger good will for his government.

There are treaties of amity and commerce and there are special treaties on specific questions such as that recently negotiated with Canada and relating to development of the St. Lawrence deep waterway to the Atlantic. Every one of these had their beginnings in the Department of State which includes the foreign service under its jurisdiction.

Negotiation of a treaty, however, is a subject to be dealt with in another discussion.

END TOOTH DECAY BY PROPER FOODS

Physicians Advise Liberal Use of Raw Green Vegetables and Fruit in the Diet.

Until very recently the teeth have been considered as a sort of accessory to the body as far as their nourishment after their appearance in the mouth is concerned. The condition of the teeth has usually been considered a matter of external care only. Many, otherwise well-informed persons believed that a "clean tooth never decays." Others consider tooth decay as one of the ills to which man is heir.

In the reaction against these opinions in late years we have even heard doubt from some sources about the need for brushing the teeth at all.

The research work which has been conducted with monkeys shows that like all other tissues of the body teeth require nourishment and that the teeth are furnished, through blood vessels and lymph, with the essential food. Any disturbances in nutrition may affect the teeth as it does other organs of the body.

When nutrition of the body is good the teeth are apparently furnished with a buffer substance which enables them to resist the onslaught of lactic acid, which, formed in the mouth, is probably a cause of decay. Lactic acid is formed from carbohydrate—starch and sugar—which remains between the teeth and around the gums after meals. For this reason it is still important to keep teeth, gums and all mouth surfaces clean. This acid is evidently neutralized by the mineral salts furnished by the "dental lymph," which also helps to complete the calcification of young teeth.

Dr. Percy Howe of Boston, who has been conducting research upon the subject of tooth decay for many years, has found that a liberal amount of mineral salts and the vitamins C, A and D, are the essentials in the diet to protect teeth from decay. He finds that the A as well as the D vitamin has a specific effect on the formation of the teeth. He feels that raw green vegetables and fruits, high in vitamin C, are protective. Doctor Howe feels that there is surely something the matter with our modern diet, and that tooth decay is a product of civilization.

Dr. Henry Sherman, professor of nutrition at Columbia university, agrees with Doctor Howe as to the importance of vitamins in the formation and protection of teeth. He made the point of the necessity of the supply of both calcium and phosphorus in relatively large quantities both to the mother before the birth of the child and throughout childhood and adolescence.

As the calcification of the teeth is not complete until about the twentieth year, vitamin D is the "mobilizing" factor in the use of these mineral salts which, however, must be supplied in liberal amounts. Experimental work with children, done under the direction of Doctor Sherman and Doctor Hawley, covers a long period of time and shows that a quart of milk a day is needed by a child for the amount of calcium needed by the growing body.

All the speakers who discussed dental nutrition agreed that tooth decay was a common disease. Of 300 freshmen who entered Columbia last fall, only fourteen were immune. Eighty-six cavities were found in the mouth of one boy.

As is always the case with research workers, each of the speakers reported his work as merely a contribution toward the understanding of a problem of nutrition which is puzzling and concerning us today. As usual with careful scientific workers, no claims of solving the problem were made by any of the speakers, but there is no doubt that they are on the way to an understanding of the cause of tooth decay which will allow us to institute protection and probably curative measures through diet and through mouth hygiene.

Stronger than He Was at Twenty

FIFTY-FIVE years old, and still going strong!

Do you want the secret of such vitality? It isn't what you eat, or any tonic you take. It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulant.

A famous doctor discovered the way to stimulate a sluggish system to new energy. It brings fresh vigor to every organ. Being a physician's prescription, it's quite harmless. Tell your druggist you want a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Get the benefit of its fresh laxative herbs, active nature, and that pure pepsin. Get that lazy liver to work, those stagnant bowels into action. Get rid of waste matter that is slow poison so long as it is permitted to remain in the system.

The new energy men and women feel before one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin has been used is proof of how much the system needs this help.

Get a bottle of this delicious syrup and let it end that constant worry about the condition of the bowels. Spare the children those bilious days that make them miserable. Save your household from the use of cathartics which lead to chronic constipation. And guard against auto-intoxication as you grow older.

Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin is such a well known preparation you can get it wherever drugs are sold and it isn't expensive.

Oscara News

Mrs. Geo. Dixon was entertained at dinner last Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ward, the occasion being Johnny Ward's 9th birthday. Johnny is one of Mrs. Dixon's most promising pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Wettstein were host and hostess to quite a number of Oscara citizens during the hour when the radio was giving the public the wonderful speech of our new President.

Last Saturday evening the socially inclined friends of Oscara assembled in the pleasant auditorium of the school for a few hours of friendly greeting and incidentally the prime amusement of dancing to the music furnished by Mrs. Dillard and Mr. Hust.

The friendly rivalry between the Reds and Blues in our little Sunday School is improving the regular attendance and the learning of Bible lessons and memory verses. Ray McDonald and Wm. Brazel are the leaders.

Some needed improvements have been made recently on the school building. Mr. Don London being the handy workman.

The Bank "holiday" caught us without any money but with plenty of credit, so the world wags on.

Father Brady to Go on Lecture Tour

Rev. Father James A. Brady will leave next Wednesday for New York City where he will spend about six weeks. He will deliver lectures to eastern schools and colleges during his sojourn in New York. Father Brady expects to stop over in St. Louis, Chicago, and several other cities enroute where he will speak to students. Those of us who have heard this entertaining young speaker know how successful he will be and we wish for him a pleasant trip and a safe return. The proceeds of his lectures will be used for the promotion of mission work in New Mexico.

School Board Meeting

At a meeting of the Carrizozo Municipal School Board March 6, it was decided that all teachers be offered their positions for the coming school year. In keeping with the governor's demands that all budgets be reduced at least ten per cent, reductions in salaries for the coming year were made. Carrizozo teachers have been very loyal in that they have maintained their standard of efficiency and the morale of the school although receiving in return two successive reductions in compensation.

The Board was re-organized. Newly elected officers being as follows: John E. Hall, president; Roy Shafer, vice president; R. E. Lemon, clerk; members, Mrs. Spencer and Dr. Freeman.

Emergency Bank Bill

A brief, authoritative description of the emergency banking bill follows:

1. Validation of all emergency decrees and proclamations of the president and secretary of the treasury.
2. Re-enactment of sections of the old wartime trading with the enemy act, to prevent hoarding and to control gold reserves in the United States.
3. Grant to the federal government of power to control all national banks; state banks, through state banking commissions; provision for prompt reorganization of non-liquid banks, and closure of non-liquid banks for the present.
4. Authorization for the reserve board to issue federal reserve bank notes, through reserve banks, against obligations of the United States, notes of corporations, partnerships or individuals secured by United States obligations and against notes of member banks when secured by sound assets.

Controlling the Nile
Before the flow of the Nile river was controlled by the dam, its average rise was about 5 feet. Thirty feet meant a destructive flood, while 18 feet meant poor crops and starvation. The reservoir behind the dam averages a regulated flow and makes possible the cultivation of 6,000,000 acres that were formerly desert.
