CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1933

NUMBER 44

Gallacher-Jones

A surprise wedding which was not a surprise to anyone occurred at the lovely Elizabeth apartments when Mrs. Elizabeth Gallacher became the bride of Mr. Carl Jones, Rev. John L. Lawson performing the ceremony. A hundred and twenty guests were invited to a musical, but were given no inkling of what was to be the main feature of the evening. The rooms were elaborately decorated with ferns, cut flowers and potted plants. The bride-to-be played the part of gracious hostess receiving her guests with the assistance of Mesdames Garrison and Lackland. The musical program then began, during the progress of which, she slipped away, donning her wedding gown of loveliest white satin. The groom was attired in the conventional black. When Mr. Raymond Lackland began to sing "I Love You Truly," everyone then suspicioned the approaching nuptials. Mrs. Ben S. Burns presided at the piano, and to the strains of the wedding march, the bridal party entered. Mrs. Carl Garrison was Matron of honor, while Mr. Garrison acted as best man. About 10:30 refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served. After a few more musical selections the guests showered the pair with congratulations (and rice), and dispersed.

Mrs. Jones has made her home in Carrizozo for the past seven years, during which time she has endeared herself to everyone by her gracious and charming demeanor. She has taken an active part in all social and church affairs being especially active in the Methodist Missionary Society. Mr. Jones made his home here for many years, and was formerly a Southern Pacific engineer. He resigned in 1922 to accept a position in the railway supply field, with headquarters in Texas. He returned to Carrizozo the first part of the year and has since spent the greater part of his time here. He is at present sales engineer for the Valve Pilot Corporation of New York City, and is in this locality supervising special equipment on the Santa Fe's experimental locomotive at Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for Albuquerque last Sunday morning for an indefinite period. The good wishes of everybody follow this splendid couple.

Misses Edith Dudley, Charlotte and Enla Emerson and Ralph Emerson motored to Albuquerque last Saturday afternoon where Charlotte will attend the summer session of the University. Edith, Enla and Ralph returned to Carrizozo Tuesday.

Mr. John R. Hurting and Mr. H. F. Decker of Ft. Stanton attended the Odd Fellows lodge meeting in Carrizozo Tuesday night.

The Methodist Church

Rev. John L. Lawson, Pastor.

Fifty six in Sunday School last Sunday; thirty four at Capitan; and fifty at Angus. And the first were getting many chances to bite. Regular services in Carrizozo next Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Brickley in Recital at Albuquerque

On last Sunday afternoon May 21, the Music Department of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque presented Miss Ruth Brickley, pianist, daughter of Mr. E. M. Brickley in recital. She was assisted by Miss Olive Lamb, Soprano. The entertainment was sponsored by Pa-Yat-Ya-Mo at the Kappa Kappa Gamma House. This recital was quite a social as well as musical event. Miss Ruth's father and aunt, Miss Ella Brickley, attended from here. Misses Brickley and Lamb gave a joint entertainment of like nature last Thanksgiving day which was attended by several of Miss Brickley's Carrizozo friends.

Mr. Roy Skinner is moving his grocery store over to the Star Cafe building and will operate the restaurant and the store together. Mr. Skinner is experienced in the restaurant business having conducted a restaurant and lunch room here several years ago.

Henry Ford

Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

Recital of Dancing

A most interesting entertainment was given last Thursday night in the Recital of Dancing of Miss Wilma Beauchamp and the cast of characters assisting at the High School auditorium. The lengthy program was an exhibition of artistic dancing, but a good deal more, being interspersed with musical numbers, playlets and novel forms of divertimento.

The whole entertainment was so thoroughly well carried out as to preclude mention of outstanding performers, but it may be stated that there was high appreciation of the artistic and musical performance of Miss Helyn Huppertz, of Carrizozo, and the Prehm brothers Otto and Ernest, of the same place, the first as a pianist and the other as a song and dance artist, without in the least detracting at all from the home performers.

Mrs. Frank Carr as pianist, and Messrs. McCommis, Branom and Dr. E. A. Baker added much in the way of musical features of the entertainment.

The whole entertainment was got up by Miss Beauchamp herself. She formulated the program, designed the costumes, and arranged it in the successful manner in which it was put on.

She has secured such favorable record with her entertainments, of which this is the fourth here, that they always draw numerous out of town visitors. Among those noted attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rahilly and Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Clayton, of Tularosa; Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, Captain; Mr. and Mrs. Prehm, Carrizozo, and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Ridinger, White Sands Hotel.—Alamogordo Advertiser.

Woman's Club Holds Last Meeting

The regular meeting of the Woman's Club of Carrizozo was held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Spencer May 19, with Mrs. Zoe Glassmire presiding. The meeting was opened by singing "America The Beautiful." Chairmen of different committees gave their yearly reports after which the Club sang several songs. Miss Melas gave a reading for mothers. Mrs. Spencer, Miss Rice and Mrs. Degitz were appointed to write resolutions for Mrs. Gamm who was a member of the Club.

Piano solo by Mrs. Burns. Mrs. Lemon had charge of the installation of the newly elected officers.

At the close of the meeting punch and cookies were served by the hostess and her committee.

Public Installation

There will be public installation of officers of the order of Rainbow for Girls, Friday evening, May 26th.

Mrs. Minnie Prehm, Mother Advisor.

The commissioners met at a board of equalization for the last four sessions.

Swallows 35 Cents, Coughs Up a Dime

New Castle, Pa.—Although she had 35 cents, Myrl Ann Bolick, three years old, was able to "cough up" only ten cents. The child swallowed a dime and a quarter. After coughing dislodged the ten-cent piece, a bronchoscope was used to retrieve the quarter, which had lodged in the esophagus.

WIFE FLUSHES UP RIVAL IN JUNGLE

Finds Husband and Sweetheart in Amazon Wilds.

New York.—There she found them, says Juliet Rindlaub, her husband and his sweetheart, buried deep in the heart of the jungle. Just as she expected, too, living there alone, together, alone with the monkeys and their love.

Twelve hundred miles up the Amazon Juliet had traveled in her search for Bob and his Hattie Ferguson. And here they were at last, laying under a palmetto having coconuts for two. Juliet says they greeted her like a long lost pal. Darling, we were just thinking about you. Imagine having you drop in like this. Sit down and have something. We've just chased a baboon after another coconut.

They hadn't seen each other, Juliet explains, since Bob and Hattie had taken the run-out on her over in Paris. She had searched every capital in Europe for them before she got the tip-off that caused her to grab the boat for Rio.

Bob finally decided he'd be true to his wife for a spell, says Juliet. He asked her to wait in Rio until he took care of some business in Uruguay. He'd be right back and they'd sail for Broadway on a warmed-up honeymoon.

Well sir, after waiting for six weeks, Juliet got a bit suspicious. She trailed Bob to Montevideo to learn that he had put a fast divorce over on her there. He'd picked up Hattie in Sao Paulo, married her and hopped for Hamburg, Germany, in the bridal cabin.

Juliet took the next boat after them, landed in Hamburg and found that Bob was suing for an annulment of their marriage. When she beat him in that suit, Bob and his sweetheart jumped to Naples.

Off to Naples she went, only to find they were one boat ahead of her to New York. And when Juliet caught up with them here, they ducked on a four-months' motor tour.

That's when Juliet went to law about it. She sued for a separation, for a judgment declaring her to be Bob's one and only missus and for $100,000 from Hattie for alienation.

Thefts of Bicycles Are Now Common in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City.—Several policemen who work at recovering stolen property are advocates of a bicycle license law similar to that on automobiles. Pointing out that nearly half of their time is used in running down bicycles, several of which are reported stolen daily, they maintain bicycles should bear a license plate and be registered.

A moderate tax, $1 or less, would be assessed each owner to cover cost of making the plates and running the office. Several small gangs of bicycle thieves, who had stolen several cycles and reassembled different parts of each, have been broken up recently.

Blarney Stone Visitors

Do Kissing at Own Risk

Cork, Irish Free State.—Tourists must kiss the world-famous Blarney Stone at their own risk. The courts so ruled recently in dismissing a damage suit against Sir George Colthurst, owner of the historic castle, brought by relatives of James Burke, nineteen years old, who was killed in a fall while trying to kiss the stone.

Several others have been killed while trying to kiss the stone, a dangerous feat which necessitates leaning far out over the castle parapet while some one holds the feet of the person supposed by legend to receive the gift of eloquence.

Jurors Find Cimino Is No Hoarder of Garlic

Chicago.—The biggest garlic case ever tried by the Chicago courts was settled when a jury found Frank Cimino, Madera (Calif.) farmer, not guilty of hoarding garlic. Cimino had brought suit against the G. H. Hammond company, charging that the concern had allowed $35,000 worth of garlic to spoil while it was stored in the Hammond warehouse.

The warehouse made the defense that Cimino was a garlic hoarder and had tried to keep the vegetable longer than its natural life in an effort to corner the market.

Sues for Gold Once Buried

Boonville, Ind.—Thomas White is suing for gold. He alleges Quill White, Owen Fitzgerald, Leo and Frank Raney dug up a pot of gold worth $21,000, which, he says, was buried by his mother. He claims one-third of it.

Twins Have 52nd Birthday Montgomery, Ala.—John J. and W. B. Dixon, declared in a contest to be the oldest twins in the United States, recently celebrated their ninety-second birthday. They were Confederate soldiers.

As Psychologists Sum Up "Mind and Matter"

Mind is nothing but the unobservable, delicate movements of bodily parts. There are those who may dispute this fact to some extent. Your day dreams include your ideals and your generosity, as well as your flights from reality. You will find more prodigies in the realm of music than anywhere else.

Pythagoras inaugurated the superstition that uneven numbers are lucky numbers. Uneven things have always seemed more mysterious than even things.

You really have three vocabularies: One each for speaking, writing and reading. They increase in size in the order named.

The average male brain weighs three and one-half pounds. Perhaps this is merely a physiological fact. The size of the brain is not always an indication of psychological abilities.

The dreams you remember are the ones you have just as you go to sleep, or just when you are waking.

Twins are more alike mentally between the age of nine and eleven than they are between twelve and fourteen. Individual differences show up at adolescence.

Girls mature mentally earlier than boys. An adult at the age of forty-five learns as easily as he ever did.

To keep clean and healthy take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They regulate liver, bowels and stomach.—Adv.

Leisure Must Be Earned If we had no work to do there would be little fun in loafing.

How to get to SLEEP

When you can't sleep, it's because your nerves won't let you. Don't waste time "counting sheep." Don't lose half your needed rest in reading. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin, drink a glass of water—and go to sleep.

This simple remedy is all that's needed to insure a night's rest. It's all you need to relieve a headache during the day—or to dispose of other pains. Get the genuine tablets of Bayer manufacture and you will get immediate relief.

Bayer Aspirin dissolves always immediately—gets to work without delay. This desirable speed is not dangerous; it does not depress the heart. Just be sure you get the genuine tablets stamped thus:

Cat Has No Prejudice A black cat likes you just as well as if it didn't bring bad luck.

Complexion Curse

She thought she was just unlucky when she called on her once-avoided brother-in-law. But as one scintilla peeped, blushed skin. More and more women are realizing that pimples and blotches are often danger signals of diseased blood—poisonous wastes ravaging the system. Let Mrs. (Nature's Remedy) afford complete, thorough cleansing and promptly clear your complexion. Runners' poisonous matter. Fine for skin, acne, blotches, blemishes, discoloration. Advice to Daughters

YOUNG women who suffer from monthly pains, or headaches, side aches, and women of middle age who suffer from heat flashes, nervousness, should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is the advice of Mrs. J. A. Tobey of No. 320 7th Ave., Sterling, Colo., who says: "At one time I was very nervous and irritable. I had sick-headaches, was sick to my stomach, too. But Dr. Pierce's Prescription overcame the stomach complaint. I had more strength and energy and it drove away those awful headaches."

First Civil War Monument

ON A gently rising ground in the quiet village cemetery at Tipton, Mich., stands the first monument to the "brave and patriotic men who gave their lives in defense of the Unity of our common country." So reads the inscription on the east face, and it further states that the shaft was "Erected July 4, 1860, by the citizens of Franklin Township," thus becoming the first permanent memorial to the Civil war dead in the country.

At the time Tipton and Franklin township were cited in the national program for the energy and rapidly with which definite acknowledgment was made for the great debt of gratitude to those who made the supreme sacrifice that the Union of States might live, and since then the well-designed shaft has had recurring attention by the seekers of Civil war shrines as the years have mellowed its stone, and time has softened the memories of the hardships which it signifies. But clear and readable yet are the inscriptions:

On the south face: "Preserve this Union of the States cemented by our prayers, our tears and our blood."

On the north face: "These died that the nation might live, republican governments be perpetuated, and personal rights secured."

On the front, or west, face: "Union and Liberty, one and inseparable, now and forever."

Cover Them Over

COVER the thousands who sleep far away—
Sleep where their friends cannot find them today;
They who in mountain and hillside and dell
Rest where they wearied, and lie where they fell.
Softly the grassblades creep round their repose;
Softly above them the wild flowers blow;
Softly of freedom fly gently overhead,
Whispering names for the patriot dead.
So in our minds we will name them once more,
So in our hearts we will cover them o'er;
Roses and lilies and violets blue
Bloom in our souls for the brave and the true.
Cover them o'er—yes, cover them o'er—
Parents and husbands and brothers and lovers;
Think of those far-away heroes of ours,
And cover them o'er with beautiful flowers!
—WILL CARLETON.

Memorial Day

MEMORIAL DAY, tenderest of American holidays, is with us again, reminding of the debt a grateful country owes the men who gave their all for its safety and perpetuity. Amid its preoccupation with economic stress, the Republic pauses to celebrate with piety and pride the deeds of bravery and patriotism performed by its sons on land and sea in the hour of emergency. It does so in the reassuring confidence that should duty ever call again the breed will not be found to be extinct. Its glory and its traditions survive in the hearts of living Americans, despite the organized efforts of those spineless groups which depreciate national defense and are restless in undermining it.

This day of remembrance of our heroic dead has more than ordinary significance.

The need of the hour is for the stamina that has overthrown every armed enemy of the United States. The situation calls today for no whit less of courage, of perseverance, of the will to conquer than our forces have always displayed when they faced the foe.

It is meet to recall the vicissitudes of the founding fathers and to derive inspiration from their fortitude and faith. It was these virtues, as well as valor in battle, that made their cause triumphant.

Shakespearean Touch in Passing of "Stonewall"

FOR a natural masterpiece of dying, nothing has ever impressed me so much as the death of Stonewall Jackson, writes Charles D. Stewart in the Atlantic Monthly.

The bullets that struck him down while he was reconnoitering after his successful attack at Chancellorsville came by mistake from some of his own men. Eight days after being wounded (having borne up under the amputation of an arm) he passed away in delirium; and history has recorded the things he said as he died:

"Order A. P. Hill to prepare for battle. Tell Major Hawks to advance the commissary train. . . . Let us cross the river and rest in the shade."

It was a stubborn battle, a hot fight, with quick strategy and high and rapid thinking. And when it was over he crossed to the other side. He must have entered into peace riding at the head of a victorious army, for certainly if it had not been a victory he would not have given that order to cross the river and rest in the shade.

Here was a truly Shakespearean passing. It is great drama written by life itself. If Shakespeare had found it standing thus in Plutarch he would have kept it and made no alteration—a thing he was great enough to do.

Jackson's death was a greater shock to the South than is easy to conceive. It was an event that filled the Southerners not only with sorrow, but with forebodings of defeat; for his victories had been so notable, and so almost certain, that they had learned to depend upon him as on some newly invented engine of war.

We Pay Our Respects

ON MEMORIAL day we stand at the graves of our dead and invoke their spirits as we offer votive wreaths to their undying memory. In a special way we offer a tribute of honor to those who offered the supreme sacrifice in the defense of our national ideals and institutions. It is a day on which we acknowledge a debt which we can never pay and which is symbolized in the evanescent fragrance of the flowers laid upon the lowly mounds that cover the forms once dear of those whose disembodied spirits like the perfume of the flowers, still linger somewhere blown by the winds of time atwart the boundless meadows of eternity.—Illinois State Register.

Wrote "Battle Hymn of the Republic"

IN THE Civil war days of 1861 Mrs. Howe was visiting the army camps near Washington when she received the inspiration for the verses which were to live long after she was dead. Blending the emotions of religion and patriotism she wrote the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Then the words were set to the music of "John Brown's Body" and immediately the song was heard throughout the North.

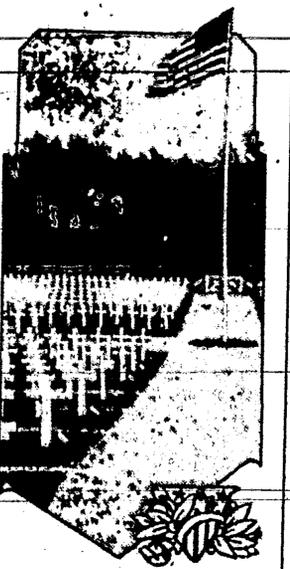

"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord." In back parlors of little cottages in obscure towns women sang those words while wheezy organs gasped out the tune. The music united them in spirit with their sons and husbands who had gone away to war.

Soldiers chanted the same song as they marched along the dusty roads towards the distant booming cannons or as they sat about their campfires through the long evenings.

It was a time when emotion, both religious and patriotic, was at a high pitch. For those who went to war there was the constant imminence of death, and for those who stayed at home there was the unceasing apprehension that their loved ones would be lost. Grieved up as the people were, they were quick to catch a song which expressed their feelings so well.

The war ended but the song lived, and in the course of time it found its way into the music books used by school children. Thus it became permanently numbered among our national hymns.—Chicago Tribune.

The Heroes

THE flag they followed over seas
Flaunts silently o'erhead,
Soft blows the poppy-scented breeze
From all the cruel, bitter pain
Their souls have found release,
And now amid the growing grain
They lie, in perfect peace.

Some Never in Battle
MEMORIAL day reminds us of the devotion of men to a great cause and a great land. We decorate the graves of those who fell in our battles for the freedom and the preservation of our national existence; but the thought of Memorial day is even broader than that, for there have been many of our best men who gave their last measure of devotion to their beloved land though they never fought on the field of battle.

World Trade

The conferences between the representatives of the United States Government and the representatives of foreign governments are well along in their course. As expected, they have dealt largely with one burning topic—how to restore world trade.

The great powers have come to realize that there can be no permanent and stable prosperity for any one of them so long as the world bristles with embargos, gigantically high tariff barriers and similar obstacles to the flow of commerce. In every important producing country, whether it produces raw materials or manufactured products, the result is distress, unemployment, more depression.

The foreign envoys are returning home pledged to cooperate in the work of restoring world trade and building a more amicable understanding attitude among the different peoples. The American Government is pledged to an identical policy. If success is achieved, it will be one of the brightest signs of the century.

"Buy Now"

The public has grown weary of the old slogans to the effect that "Prices are booming! Buy now!" etc. But there's truth in those phrases at present.

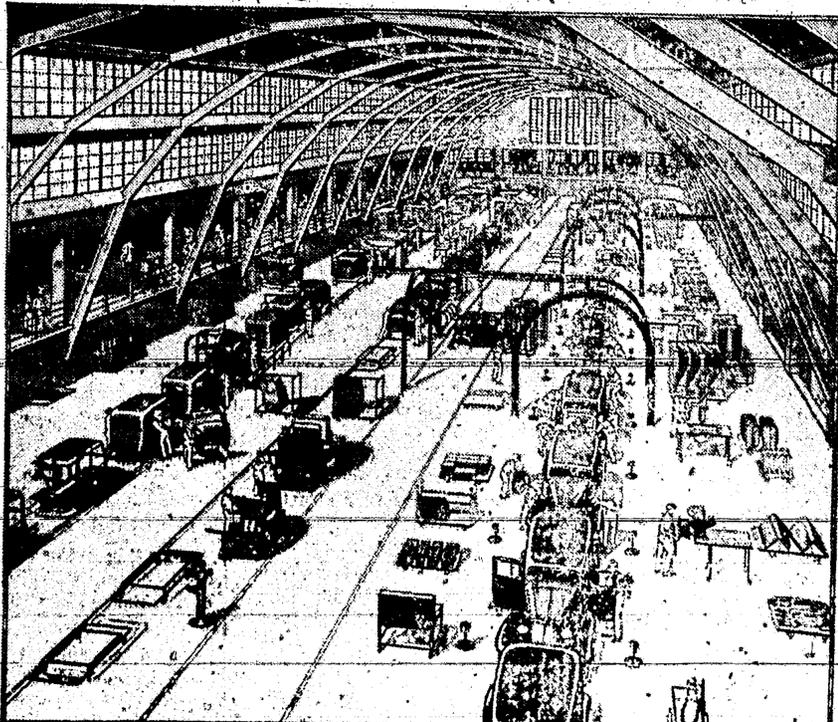

Recent inflation activities and the prospective change in the gold backing of the dollar, will be the most powerful stimulant in three years. It really is time to buy now! Best of all, by buying now, a building and repairing now, you can do your bit in the most dramatic stage of the war against unemployment and distress and at the same time secure the greatest return on your dollar in more than a generation.

A dollar in property improvement means a dollar touching the lives of a thousand people—and doing a thousand dollars' work. Repair the steps, paint the house, remove fire hazards, renovate the garden, renew rotting foundations with concrete—do any of these things, and you'll be a factor in the work of recovery.

It is not prophecy to say that in your lifetime you'll never have the opportunity to get work done as cheaply as now. It's fact. The price structure is abnormally low. It is lower than even the intenseness of depression justifies. As demand increases, the rate of climb will be sharply accelerated.

Cars Being Built at 'World's Fair'

Millions of people will have their first opportunity to see an automobile being built, when they visit this mammoth room where the Chevrolet Motor Company will assemble "Master Six" coaches and coupes in the special General Motors Building at "A Century of Progress" exposition. On the left, Fisher bodies are being fabricated on a "J" shaped line and on the right, Chevrolets are being assembled from the bare frame to the completed car, ready to be driven out of the building under their own power. Note, in the center of the photograph, the body being swung from the end of the Fisher line over to its place on a Chevrolet chassis. Visitors may purchase cars built here and drive them home.

The furnace room has been boarded up and a concrete floor put in.

Later and when thoroughly dry the floor of the hall will be sanded and polished.

The building is again ready for use and you are invited to call and inspect it. The building belongs to the town and the trustee will appreciate having called to his attention anything going on in or around the building that should be stopped.

Grant Miller will be in full charge of the building and will look after it until further notice.

All invoices for the above accounts will be inspected and checked at the next regular meeting of the auditing committee.

The Livestock Situation
J. A. McNaughton

Los Angeles, May 25.—Substantial advances in live-stock markets have carried prices well above any previous time this year, with hog prices back to the peak value of 1932. Along with higher markets on cattle, hogs and lambs encouraging strength has also taken place in hides, wool and other by-products. Hide prices are now virtually three times higher than earlier in the year, while wool prices are more than double this time last year.

There seems to be a substantial under-tone in the livestock trade due to general betterment reported in employment and improved retail sales. Along with improved market conditions, there has been increased inquiry for replacement cattle, with values advancing in sympathy with livestock.

Livestock slaughter in the United States so far this year shows substantial declines from last year. A compilation of all federally inspected slaughter shows that during the first four months of 1933, 2,414,000 cattle were slaughtered, a decline of 105,000 from a year ago and the smallest slaughter during the past five years. Calf slaughter also was the smallest during the five year period. Hog slaughter at 15,796,000 compared with 16,995,000 last year and 17,622,000 five years ago. For the first time in five years, slaughter of sheep and lambs shows a decline.

It is also interesting to note that despite the general opinion that packers are buying younger and lighter cattle than ever before, there actually was little difference in carcass weights of cattle slaughtered under Federal inspection in 1932 as compared with ten years ago. Probably the great attention given to better breeding and better feeding is responsible for the small reduction in average weights, as it is generally agreed that the average marketing age of cattle is much younger now than ten years ago.

American packers continue to buy practically all of their cattle for slaughter in the great public stock yards of the country, having purchased 84.64 per cent at the public markets in 1933. The relatively low market for hogs may be partly explained by the fact that there was less competition on hog purchases in 1932 than in a great many years previously. Packers bought only 56.95 per cent of their hogs at public markets in 1933, against 76.07 per cent in 1932.

N. M. Cattle Growers Association Meeting

Albuquerque, N. Mex. May 25, 1933.—The first quarterly executive board meeting of The New Mexico Cattle Growers Association will be held at the J. V. Taylor ranch near Carrizozo, June 12, 1933.

Report will be made on all unfinished business of the Convention; also on hearing before the State Corporation Commission held in Albuquerque, April 19 on intra-state freight rates on livestock; Forest Advisory Board meeting held in Albuquerque, April 21; and conference of members of the tax committee with the State Tax Commission, May 8; relative to reduction in grazing land valuations.

All problems of vital importance confronting the cattlemen today will be discussed and acted upon as usual but Mr. Taylor is promising something unusual by asking the livestockmen to meet at his ranch where he will serve barbecue at noon. Barbecued beef and mutton together with a pot of beans, lye-hominy and coffee with pickles and buns will be the menu.

Mr. Taylor requests that every one attending bring their own bed roll and come in Levis and boots.

Fishing Season Opened

Silver Revaluation

The world as a whole is moving slowly, but steadily, toward decisive changes in monetary standard. It is recognized that gold alone cannot carry on world commerce, and that there must be some other general accepted medium of exchange.

Silver is the logical choice, indeed the newly passed inflation bill permits the President, at his discretion, to raise its value. The mining industry seems on the verge of brighter days.

It is said the human body contains 10,000,000 nerves. We believe the theory is correct and we are quite certain that some radio programs get on all ten million of them.

Economic Highlights

The present Administration policy might be expressed thus: "Raise prices now and go to any possible length to do it."

The inflation bill is a result of this attitude. Presidential control of Congress, in spite of appearance of organized opposition, was easily great enough to carry it through. Its chief provisions are:

The President may arrange with the Federal Reserve banks and boards for the banks to purchase in the open market and hold up to $3,000,000,000 worth of government obligations, thus providing an identical amount of new credit.

If this is inadequate, the President then may direct issuance of currency up to $3,000,000,000 to retire government obligations; reduce the gold content of the dollar by 50 per cent or any smaller proportion; provide unlimited free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1; accept silver up to $200,000,000 in the payment of war debts in the next six months, valuing the silver up to 50 cents an ounce. With the approval of the President the Federal Reserve Board may declare the existence of an emergency, and increase or decrease reserve balances required to be held against deposits.

Of paramount interest, is influence reduction of gold content of the dollar would have no relations of debtor and creditor. Expert opinion places it as follows:

Debtors—Following the devaluation of the dollar, a man who had contracted to pay a certain number of dollars could tender the new dollars in satisfaction of the debt. Principal classes to be benefited in this respect would be those who had mortgaged homes and farms.

Creditors—Superficially, this class would lose under the changed basis, inasmuch as the new dollars would have less purchasing power than the old. However, this apparent injustice would be much offset by the fact that the loans were largely contracted at a time when the dollar was worth only about half of what it is worth at the moment.

Farmers—Would benefit. Prices would rise, thus netting the farmer more dollars. On the other hand, the cost of what he purchased would rise as well, but probably not so rapidly.

Manufacturers—Wholesalers—Retailers—The same condition obtains as in the case of the farmer. Prices of the goods they sell will go up—and so will the prices of the raw materials they buy. Concerns with large stocks of raw materials on hand, bought at present dollar values, will naturally benefit.

Wage-earners—The man with the fixed income will receive dollars which buy him less. How much hardship this will create is dependent upon the rapidity or the slowness with which wages will rise.

Unemployed—This class will doubtless be benefited most, inasmuch as industrial operations will increase, new markets, foreign and domestic, will be found and there will be greater demands made on our producing units.

The parleys between the foreign envoys and the American government have produced five concrete accomplishments in the interest of world recovery. They are:

1. The summoning of the World Economic Conference in London in the middle of June.

2. The formulation of a tariff truce to last until the conference has had an opportunity to map an economic peace treaty.

3. A ban on currency warfare until the details of stabilization can be worked out.

4. An impetus to Geneva disarmament conference, with American pressure for reduction supported by a willingness of United States to extend its foreign policy of formal consultation to avert hostilities and penalize aggression.

5 Removal of resentments in war debt relations through exhibition of American willingness to recognize foreign difficulties and make some concessions.

The amazing part of the conferences is their complete informality. There are no documents, no rows of statistics, no formal discussions. The principals sit down, talk it over—and produce results.

Business conditions have improved steadily since the latter part of March.

Greater activity and generally higher prices characterized the commodity and security markets after gold exports were suspended. Steel mills have gone to more than 20 percent of capacity, after a drop of 15 per cent in March. Automobile output has rapidly expanded. Department store merchandise sales are rapidly increasing. Lumber and electric power production, both good indicators, have advanced. Some improvement has been registered in car loadings. The farmer's markets show similar advances, with grains reaching and holding better levels.

Your Horoscope

May 22, 23, 24

Nature has lavished many gifts upon you, but you waste them uselessly. You are dismally unhappy unless you have the means to gratify your desires. You are proud, unwilling to receive assistance, or accept favors. You seem to have two natures that are opposites. If you desire to cultivate gentleness and kindness, no one can excel you, but on the other hand none can be more coldly or deliberately cruel. You attract people to you and can be very charming and fascinating if you try.

May 25, 26, 27

You change from friend to foe very easily as you are extreme in your likes and dislikes. You are fond of pleasure, sports and amusements. At times you are very impractical. You are a poor subject for flattery, are light hearted and sympathetic to a degree. You need much love and the surest way to win love is to be loving.

Farm Data

Following is the summary of a number of farm accounts compiled from data collected during the year on a number of middle western farms: In the first place those farms which have a low per cent of their crop acres in legumes invariably have low crop yields. The average per cent of crop acres in legumes of the book completed is 12 per cent. The range being from 30 legumes on the farm to 22 per cent. The goal set for the legumes is 25 per cent of the land in cultivation. The receipts per dairy cow range from $9 to $50 an average of $29 per dairy cow. The receipts per brood sow range from $14 to $97 with an average $57. In a similar manner 84c is the average receipt per hen. The range being from 30c to $1.50. On the basis of receipts per dollar invested in cattle being 56c; hogs $1.34 and poultry $1.56. The machinery expense per crop acre farmed, range from 40c to $8.52 with an average of $2.12. Farmers wrote off $525 in inventory loss and had a net farm income of minus $240. The farmer furnished an average house rent value of $123 61. $246.49 is the average food produced for the families on the farm being a total rental and food value of $370.10 This is exclusive of wood that the farm furnishes. In each instance the rent and food value are put in at a very conservative estimate. Thus the farm produced $400 worth of food, fuel and house rent which the farm is ordinarily not accredited with.

If you are going to be good, you will have to give your best efforts. You can't be good on the installment plan.
