CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, FRIDAY, NOV. 20, 1936

NUMBER 21

"Sky High," Big Three Act Musical Comedy, Boy Scout Benefit Show will be presented, Dec. 2-3 at the Carrizozo High School Auditorium.

"Sky High" is the thrilling drama of the airways which is sweeping the country. Mr. T. E. Kelley is sponsoring the production. "Sky High" offers Carrizozo and vicinity something new in the way of entertainment, all home talent, trained and directed by Miss Peggy Gene Mitchell, who arrived in Carrizozo Tuesday night to start rehearsals. "Sky High" is different from the usual home talent play in many ways, one of the high lights of the show being the chorus girls who sing and dance in beautiful costumes.

Advance tickets on sale by the Boy Scouts and at Kelley's Hardware and Sporting Goods Shop. Adults, 35c. Students, 25c. Children, 15c. Advance tickets entitle you to reserve seats free of charge.

Complete cast and particulars in next week's News.

LINCOLN LOCALS

BACA-ALDAZ

Last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, at St. John's Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Salvatore married in high mass two of Lincoln's well known young people, Miss Dominia Baca and Mr. Mariano Aldaz. The bride is a daughter of Mr. Genio Baca and, wife and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paulino Aldaz. Miss Juanita Aldaz was bride's maid and Clonis Montes was best man. After a reception and dinner at the home of the bride a dance was given in Capitan at the gymnasium which was well attended by their many friends.

Mr. Ben Silva of Las Vegas visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Miranda and family the past week-end.

BINGHAM BREVITIES

Armistice Day! What Memories! Eighteen years ago last Wednesday, November 11, 1918, bells rang, whistles blew, sirens sounded and the people shouted The World War had ended. Happy mothers would see their sons, Proud fathers were thinking of their sons and daughters who had served their country well. Some of them came back.

Last Wednesday the United States again celebrated the signing of the Armistice ending the devastating war. The years of peace have brought upon the nation the dread of war; we know the loss of lives, the financial depression that follows war, and the foolish waste of it. The youth of America are hoping that they may celebrate many more peaceful years.

And, now, the housewives of the nation can pause a brief moment to plan their Thanksgiving menu—then comes the Yuletide shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tucker were guests in the Glover home over the week end.

Lois Hayes visited in San Antonio the first of the week.

J. P. Patrick and Webb Weatherbee were in Socorro Saturday.

Lois and Helen Hayes were on the sick list this week.

Miss Gonzalez, our well liked primary teacher spent the week-end in San Antonio.

Mr. J. P. Glover and family were in Socorro Monday.

Mr. Corker has his cattle at the Sedillo ranch this week.

Appreciation

I sincerely appreciate the splendid support that the voters of Lincoln County gave me in the recent election and promise to perform the duties of County Clerk with promptness and efficiency.

Edward Penfield.

New Fords

Mr. Roy Shafer of the Carrizozo Auto Company extends a cordial invitation to the public to view the new Ford V-8s which present definite advances in modern streamlined styling and powered with the 35-horse-power economy engine now in use, or with a brand new 60-horse power V-8 engine which is a counter, part of the larger engine.

Friends of Mr. Melvin Franks one of the most popular and outstanding men of the county, will be extremely grieved to learn that he is seriously ill. He is in the Masonic hospital in El Paso, where he is slightly improved.

Local and Personal

Bob Skinner of Roubaix, South Dakota, and three young men friends are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Skinner for a few days. They enjoyed a play party at the Skinner home, Wednesday night. Twenty guests were present. Doughnuts and coffee were served.

Senator Louise Coe sends a brief note to the News, saying—"I shall ever strive to be worthy of the confidence and trust placed in me by the voters, and am looking forward to a most successful legislative session."

At a meeting of the New Mexico Business and Government conference, which meets in Albuquerque December 4 and 5th Senator Louise Coe has been invited by Mr. T. C. Donnelly, chairman, to discuss a paper which will be given by Dr. John Senning of the University of Nebraska. Mr. Donnelly is head of the Department of Government and Citizenship at the State University.

"DON'T DARKEN MY DOORS," at High school auditorium early next month.

Mr. W. S. Norman was one of the lucky hunters during deer season.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. St. John returned Monday from Las Cruces where they visited the Nevarez family and Miss Mabel St. John who is attending school there.

Mrs. Irene Hart, County Superintendent-elect was in town Friday on business.

Ward Leslie of White Oaks shot a 180 pound deer before the season closed. Other fortunate hunters were Mr. Albert Snow and son, Charles, Dr. Clyde Snow of Lubbock, Texas and Pau Aguayo, who shot a 205 pound buck.

Call Coronado Meet November 21

Albuquerque, Nov. 19.—With more than thirty communities throughout the state having official representatives, the second statewide planning committee meeting of the Coronado Cuarto Centennial was called Saturday by Mrs. Albert G. Simms, state planning board chairman, for Saturday, November 21. The conference will be held at La Quinta.

Tentative arrangements call for two sessions, one in the afternoon and another in the evening. The committee will be the guests of Mrs. Simms at dinner.

Discussion and final adoption of a tentative budget to submit to the legislature will be the first order of business. Further consideration of the actual program will be made and plans drawn for the Coronado monument which according to tentative plans is to be erected at the ancient Indian pueblo of Kuaua, across the river from Bernalillo.

Plans for a Coronado Week in Albuquerque from November 16 to 21 are progressing rapidly according to reports from the centennial office. Culminating in the planning committee conclave at the home of Mrs. Simms, a week's program is being arranged which will include a membership drive, and publicity campaign. Prominent citizens will take part in the festivities, it was announced.

Senior Carnival And Dance

Help the Seniors!!! The money that you spend on this Carnival and Dance will help the seniors leave a memorial at the high school.

The votes for the Carnival Queen were counted Wednesday, the 18th and the contest is in full swing. Alameda Bowlin is at the top and she has 772 votes. Evelyn Ellison has 600, Lois Smith has 482, and Ruth Barnett has 400. At 9:30 P. M. Saturday, the 21st the votes will be counted and the two leading candidates will have until 10 o'clock to see which one will be Queen. Promptly at 10 o'clock the voting will close and the Queen will be crowned and presented with a prize.

Don't forget the Amateur Contest. There will be three prizes given. It starts at 7 o'clock so be there for the beginning event.

What are the side-shows? Boy! Oh Boy, we sure have 'em. There is to be a boxing match on the stage. The boxers, weights, heights, lung capacity, reach and temper control are evenly matched so "may the best man win."

"Believe it or not"— There will be a "Kissing Booth" You'll have a chance to kiss a very pretty girl so don't miss it.

"See Ipta,"— it's a secret. "Curiosity killed the cat", don't let it kill you.

Bingo! Bingo! Bingo! Everybody likes to play Bingo! You can see the list of prizes in store for you elsewhere in this paper. They are worth ten more than the 5c you pay to play it.

Don't think this is all. We have a Penny Board, Fish Pond, Fortune Telling Booth. Entering all of these will work up an appetite and we've prepared for that too. There will be hamburgers, pop, coffee and candy.

We solicit your attendance. Shall endeavor to show you a good time, and thank you in advance for a successful night of frolic and fun.

A card from Mr. Hubert Detloff of San Simon, Arizona states that he misses the boys and girls of the Carrizozo High school very much. He sends good wishes to all of his friends here and plans to visit Carrizozo in the near future.

"You? . . . What more do you want, Mr. O'Mara? And at this time in the evening?" "It had to be tonight," said Cathal. "What had to be tonight?" "Is she—has she retired, Mrs. Glenelgh?" "Yes."

"Both of you come in," her mother invited unwillingly. Agnes turned, "We'll go through the house," she yielded, "and out the other side."

"Why did you come tonight?" Agnes asked Cathal. "Now," said Cathal, "I don't know. A while ago, I thought I did. I deceived myself I might do something for you. Of course it was for myself, selfish, I came—and wouldn't go away."

"By you," said Cathal. "You turned the case. She, tomorrow, and I—we haven't got to win it; we simply have got to lose it now. We'll do that."

"It's not that—quite," Agnes gazed up at him, and the lightning lit their faces. "I want her free. I'm sure I want her not killed, not electrocuted or even jailed for life. But I don't want her paid."

"Will it make the night easier for you? You've done no wrong. Let no one tell you that you've done wrong." The darkness was between them again.

"Thank you," she said, "for telling me." "Will it make the night easier for you? You've done no wrong. Let no one tell you that you've done wrong."

"The lightning's brighter. I suppose that means it's nearer. Yes, there's the thunder." He waited for it to rumble away. "I thought today I'd see you forever as you were on the witness-stand; and then I thought it would be as you were when I held you for a moment. Did you know, for a moment I held you?" "Yes."

"Do you suppose after this,—when it lightnings,—I can see your face? All my life, when it lightnings? It's my last time to see you. I came tonight while it was still somewhere within—within my right. . . . God bless that lightning! You're still looking up at me. I'll always see you so! Have you heard what I've said—through the thunder?"

"I've heard." "I've lived in this world near to thirty years; and nothing ever happened to me like that when I lifted my phone and heard your voice; and you asked me to come where you were. From then, I've been counting the times I might be near you. I'd go to you to review your evidence; twice I could do that. And then the trial—twice more I'd be with you. And now my times are spent; there's nothing of you left for me in all the future. Thirty years more or longer I may live in this world answering my phone, going to them that call me; but I'll never find again the like of you. We'll be in the world, both of us, but I may never again speak to you or see your face."

"That needn't be true." "Do you mean that?" "Yes." "Oh, God, let me see you! Where's the lightning?" "No," said Agnes, and lowered her head. "I must go in."

"No," he forbade, and seized her wrist. "How much did you mean?" How firmly yet gently he held her! Not like Job, not like Rod; not like any other man who ever had touched her. She quivered in the first cool gust of the breaking storm. "I've got to go in."

Indeed, for moments they had been calling her; her mother and the servants: "Agnes! Agnes! . . . Miss Agnes! Miss Glenelgh!" "Let them call," said Cathal fiercely. "Do you care?" "No! I've taken your word on right and wrong against Job and my father and mother. Maybe I'll be thirty years in the world too. Can you never come to any one, Mr. O'Mara, unless she calls you?" "Oh, God!" said Cathal, and let her go.

"Agnes! Agnes!" her mother was calling; and the rain was coming down. In great drenching drops it struck. Cathal whipped off his coat to cover her; but they were wet through before they gained the shelter of the house.

"Are you mad, Agnes? Mad?" demanded her mother. "I guess so," Agnes told her. Never as upon this night had Agnes needed her room for sanctuary. After he had gone, discussion of him with any one or the presence of any one—even of her mother—was unbearable.

Cathal, when she gave his coat back, had put it on and he wore it wet as he drove through the storm to the city. The lightning continued to crash as the heat from the prairie broke in the binding sheets of rain which made cascades of the streets, but Cathal got through and scarcely considered how. Winnie was waiting for him.

"North," she called, when at last he entered, "where were you?" "North," she called, when at last he entered, "where were you?" "North," she called, when at last he entered, "where were you?"

"It's wet ye are?" Winnie's thin hand had found his coat-sleeve and moved up to his shoulder. "Did she give ye no shelter?" "Shelter?" said Cathal. He seized Winnie's hand gently and put her off; and for once she misunderstood him. "She didn't have ye in! Thank God for that, Cathal! . . . Any other—any other, Cathal; 't would have been the cruel ruin of ye."

CHAPTER X Agnes and her mother—and Rogna—left Chicago for New York on the Century the next day. It was Saturday, and throughout the morning, Myrtle Lorrre was on the witness-stand; the noon papers were full of her defense of herself.

Bee and Davis went to the railroad station, but Jeb did not appear. The ignominious testimony in regard to him, which Agnes had given on the previous day, had been printed fully not only in Friday's late editions, but was prominent in the morning papers.

"You got complete coverage, darling," Bee assured Agnes. Bee was the only one able to assume any levity over it. "Not only in the news but in the chatty little social columns. Some one has commented that if there is an absolute zero in ways to announce a broken engagement, possibly you hit on it."

At Albany next morning, Agnes read, at last, that the jury late in the evening had acquitted Myrtle Lorrre on the fourth ballot. They called—Agnes and her mother Beatrice Glenelgh and Rogna, their maid—on Wednesday, Bob and several friends seeing them off. The three days in New York with her husband had proved even more difficult for Tricie than she had anticipated. They stayed at the same hotel, of course; they preserved, outwardly, all appearances.

Tricie mentioned "Cash" but once; and then not even by the name of "Cash." Tricie asked—and this was not until Tuesday: "Bob, is she in town?" "No," Bob told his wife. "Not since before you came." For he had sent her away on Saturday.

Cash had not wanted to go without him; but he had told her she must. No; he wouldn't like it, he assured her; but they both must do it. Thus he would keep his conscience clear; such temporary abstinence was enough for virtue in these days.

Prosperity, power, and impunity! They strutted on the ship, with their wives or the women whom they preferred to their wives—these men of America new to the millions which they believed and they boasted they had "made."

There was no escape, on the ship, from those people; and none, that summer, in Paris; for Americans, as never before, possessed the city. Beatrice Glenelgh had never intended to linger in Paris. She fled to a little quiet village of the Haute Pyrenees; and she and Agnes settled, at last, in a tiny inn a few kilometers from the border of Spain, where no man was in the least like Bob—and the noon sunlight shone sharp and warm, but always there was a breeze down from Maladetta or the snowy summits of Mt. Perdu.

There, week after week, mother and daughter waited. Waited for what? For human nature to change? For years to reroll themselves? For the world to fit its ways again, as once happily it had, to the complete fulfillment of an individual's decent desires?

Tricie did not deal with such matters through her mind; her emotions always controlled her. She wanted what she had had—her husband's desire and devotion, which she had done nothing to lose.

The Man Who o-o Tales and Traditions from American Political History FRANK E. HAGEN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

INSURGENTS FORMATION of the Union party for this year's campaign and its nomination of Representative William Lemke of North Dakota for President recalls some of the other "insurgent" parties which have played their part in our political history. The first of these was the Peace party of 1812-15, composed of Democrats and Federalists, mostly in New England, who opposed the War of 1812.

In 1824 there was a People's party, composed of Democrat-Republicans, who favored choosing electors by the people and in 1825 there was a Coalition party, so-called from the union of the supporters of Henry Clay with those of John Quincy Adams to elect Adams. There was an Anti-Masonic party in the field from 1827 to 1834 and in 1840-41 the Abolitionists formed the Liberty party. The Free Soil party, which later became the modern Republican party, was formed of Liberty party members, Whigs and Democrats, who opposed slavery.

The American party, popularly known as the "Know-Nothing party" was formed from members of other parties who became dissatisfied with the influx of foreigners and first raised the cry of "America for Americans!" In 1860 it was merged with the Constitutional party.

In this same year there were two Democratic parties—the Douglas Democrats (Northern) and the Breckenridge Democrats (Southern). In 1872 dissatisfied Republicans and pro-war Democrats formed the Liberal Republican party and nominated Horace Greeley for President. Other Democrats who wouldn't vote for Greeley, formed the "Straight Out" or "Tap Root" Democratic party, which nominated Charles O'Connor.

In 1894 there was an Anti-Monopoly party which nominated Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts but which died a-borning. In that same year "bolters" from the Republican party who refused to support Blaine, the nominee, became the "Mugwumps" and supported Cleveland, the Democratic nominee. In 1899 there were "bolters" from both parties. Free silver advocates, led by Senator Teller of Colorado, left the Republican party, and "gold Democrats" deserted that party and its nominee, William J. Bryan, formed a "National Democrat" party and nominated two former Civil war generals—John M. Palmer of Illinois for President and Simon B. Buckner of Kentucky for vice-president.

Lact but not least was the split in the Republican party in 1912 which resulted in the formation of the Progressive party under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt and the consequent victory of Wilson over Taft.

THE SALEM WITCHES PARADE IN 1933, you had read in the papers this headline: "Salem Witches to Parade for Harrison Tonight." You would probably have rubbed your eyes to make sure that you weren't seeing double and mixing up Seventeenth and Nineteenth century history into an amazing anachronism. But the fact is that the Salem Witches did march for Harrison in 1693 and for the next 20 years they were a striking feature of many a campaign torch-light procession in Massachusetts and other states.

The Salem Witches were members of three militia units who dressed up in a uniform consisting of a Mother Hubbard dress with a white yoke on which was displayed pictures of Harrison and Morton, the Republican presidential and vice-presidential nominees, and a skirt of red, white and blue stripes dotted with stars. A scarlet cape, worn with one-half thrown back over the shoulder, was another striking feature and with it was worn a poke bonnet with a high crown. Each of the "girls" carried a broom torch.

At about the time the Salem Witches campaign battalion was organized in Salem, Republicans in Haverhill, Mass., organized the Brother Jonathans. Members of these two clubs became great friends and it was their practice to "double up" after the parade had proceeded a short distance with each "Brother Jonathan" gallantly escorting a "Salem Witch."

Many and varied have been the marching clubs which took part in torchlight parades in campaign years but there has never been a more striking one than the "Salem witches" of the campaign of 1888.

Thanksgiving

FOR the moon and the stars that shine,
For the stout heart that beats with mine,
For my home and its daily cares,
For dreams that grow along the years,
For those friends whom I hold most dear,
For my senses, e'er keen and clear,
For the seasons which come and go,
For the books that I've learned to know,
For music and its lovely way,
For the sun pouring out gold all day,
For the hills of my native land,
And the clasp of my children's hand,
For the life that binds me to these
Let me be thankful, dear God—please!

Stuffing for the Thanksgiving Bird

GOOD stuffing for Thanksgiving bird is of prime importance to the success of the yearly feast. It must, first of all, be well selected, a delicately flavored stuffing for the roast chicken and turkey, a more strongly flavored one for the roast goose or duck, writes Helen Robertson in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Second, it must be perfectly seasoned. Not too strongly to overwhelm the deliciousness of the bird, nor yet so bland in taste as to be uninteresting. Third, it must be of the proper consistency, not too moist, nor yet too dry. And fourth, there must be enough.

Bread being the usual foundation of the dressing, let us talk of it first. All kinds of breads may be three-fourths to two pounds of bread may be used. And for the smaller bird, one pound and under should be sufficient.

Celery, oysters, mushrooms, chestnuts, the other ingredients you will use are of course dependent upon your own personal tastes and upon the bird you are serving. Here is a basic recipe for dressing for the twelve to fifteen-pound bird.

Bread Dressing.

3 qts. stale bread cubes Sage to taste
2 tsp. salt 1 cup melted butter
1 tsp. pepper 2 cups chopped celery
1 tbsp. chopped parsley Cooked giblets

Prepare bread, sprinkle with seasonings. Pour over them melted butter and enough boiling water or stock from cooking giblets and neck to moisten. In adding butter and stock, toss the ingredients together lightly with a fork. Never press them together.

If you like onion in dressing, saute one or two slices in a portion of the butter before adding it to the dressing.

For oyster dressing omit giblets, add one pint of oysters, cut in half and the oyster liquor, well strained.

To make mushroom dressing saute one-half pound mushrooms, sliced, in a portion of the butter and mix with bread crumbs. In using the mushrooms celery may be omitted or a smaller amount used.

Chestnut dressing is usually liked. To make it, prepare one-half pound chestnuts, chopping them rather fine. Mix with bread.

Sausage dressing is another favorite. One-half pound is sufficient for this amount. Cook it over a low fire fifteen minutes before adding to the dressing.

For the roast duck or goose you will find this rice and prune stuffing tasty:

Brown three tablespoons of finely minced onion in two tablespoons butter. Add one cup well washed, drained rice. Let simmer until rice is slightly browned. Then add four cups soup stock or water in which bouillon cubes have been dissolved, eight or nine cooked prunes, pitted, and one teaspoon salt. Cook over a very low fire or over hot water until rice is tender. Season well.

URGED THANKSGIVING

TRADITION has it that a woman was responsible for establishing the modern Thanksgiving day on the last Thursday of November. According to that story, President Lincoln issued his proclamation in answer to urgent pleas from Sarah J. Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book.

"That Yankee Holiday"

President Andrew Jackson refused to give Thanksgiving day the customary presidential sanction because he would have nothing to do with "that Yankee holiday."

Pioneers Always Prepared for Attacks

Never was death far from the Seventeenth century pioneers and even into so pastoral a scene as this must the ugly, sinister muzzle of a gun intrude. On the walk to church, while plowing or planting, even while courting there was the evil face of death looking on and the man must have in his hand the tool to beat it off.

HOW ARE YOU TODAY

DR. JAMES W. BARTON

Talks About

Food and Weight.
ONE of the things a little difficult for some to understand is why cutting down on food reduces weight in every overweight individual but the amount of food eaten does not increase weight in every one who is underweight.

Some underweights have no control of the situation and others could increase weight if thought were used.

One of the reasons why some individuals cannot increase weight is because of an overactive thyroid gland. An excess of the juice of this gland in the blood is just like having the draft on the furnace wide open all the time and so all the fuel (food and fat tissue in the body) gets burned up. These individuals are very active in mind and body—no chance for any fat to accumulate.

If a part of this thyroid gland were removed less of this juice would be made, and so as less food would be burned there would be some increase in weight. Also as the individual would be less nervous he would have a better appetite, be less excitable, do less work and sleep better—all of which would also increase weight.

And still another condition that interferes with putting on weight despite increased food is insufficient sleep or rest. And by rest is meant mental as well as physical rest. And what is quite naturally never considered by some underweights is the fact that they may have some low or slow infection in the body which the body must fight with food in addition to what is used as heat and energy. Infected teeth, tonsils, gall bladder or sinuses and absorption of wastes from the large intestine all use up food and energy and prevent gain in weight.

The point then about increasing weight is to make sure that there is no underlying condition—overactive thyroid gland, not enough sleep, some infection—that is interfering with the building up processes of the body.

Rest is a Big Help.

While food is the biggest factor in increasing weight, rest of mind and body, and getting out into the fresh air to develop a natural appetite is of great help.

The foods to be eaten must be high in food values (the high calorie diet) and contain also body building elements, vitamins and minerals which are so necessary to proper chemical actions in the body.

Just as protein foods—meat, eggs, milk and cheese—must be eaten by overweights to maintain the body structure and replace worn out cells so also must these foods be eaten daily by underweights for the same purpose.

The necessary minerals and vitamins are supplied by fruits and vegetables and whole grains; the fats are supplied by butter, cream, egg yolks; and the starches by sugar, bread, potatoes and also cereals.

In addition to eating the three regular meals daily, the use of a banana, orange, candy or chocolate bar, bread and butter might well be taken half way between breakfast and lunch and half way between lunch and dinner.

These underweights often feel weak about four o'clock in the afternoon but think that if they eat any food they will spoil their appetite for the evening meal. As a matter of fact it has been found that eating something about 4 o'clock buoys them up, enables them to do a little more work without being tired, and they do not feel too weak or tired to enjoy the evening meal and digest it properly.

While the average adult man may require about 3,000 calories a day and a woman 2,500 calories, if weight is to be gained this should be increased to not less than 4,000 calories and 3,300 calories respectively.

Without trying to "count the calories," sample meals for the day might be as follows: Breakfast: prunes or marmalade, or orange or grapefruit; cereal with milk, cream and sugar; 1 egg or 2 slices of bacon; 2 slices of toast with 3 squares of butter; tea, coffee, water. 10:30 a. m.: Glass of milk. Lunch—Vegetable soup, helping of meat or egg or fish; fruit or vegetable salad; bread and butter; light milk or custard pudding; water or milk. 3:30 or 4 p. m.: Milk, candy or egg-nog, or banana or orange. Dinner or supper: Light soup; good helping of meat; potatoes, one green and one other vegetable; 2 slices of bread, 3 squares of butter, dessert, tea, coffee or milk. Bedtime: Warm milk or cocoa.

"Missing Link" Chemicals

So vital to life are the "missing link" chemicals known as amino acids, that all animals, man included, would quickly perish if deprived of a constant supply. Plants alone, of all nature, have the power of manufacturing them from the simple materials they draw from the soil.

Dr. Barton

On Congeniality—

Companionship Plus Adjustments Is Far Better Than Loneliness

IN EVERY family, whether little or large, and however small or spacious the dwelling may be, there are times when conflicts arise because of unwanted contacts. Some special place may be desired above all others by one, or possibly two, in conference and a second or a third person coming in and wanting that particular room also is a cause of dissension. There may be no lack of affection between the people, but a temporary ruffling of personalities which is disturbing. When living quarters are congested, these occasions arise frequently, but they are not limited to such conditions. There are these convergencies, with their annoying discords, regardless of space, or the lack of it, and numbers of persons, or the fewness of them. It would appear to be partly a similarity of tastes as well as the popularity of the spot, whatever it is, that was an element of the magnetic force drawing the people together.

Transient Dissension.

It is true that instances are rare in which such trouble is more than a passing dissension. But this is enough to set the persons in bad humors for a few moments anyway, unless one or more of them has enough understanding of the situation to smooth others, or has a keen sense of humor, which sense is like oil to machinery in keeping things running without friction.

Congeniality.

It should be remembered that congeniality is one cause for this convergence of persons. The same things are liked, the same impulses are present, and enjoyment and discord are both caused by much the same things. Each of these persons is drawn to the same things and to the same places, and so naturally meet in the same room in the home, or the identical spot. If there is the desire to be alone, resentment is stirred by the presence of another. It is at such times that tact and kindness are needed. I am assuming that love is not lacking. Without this essential element in home life, there will be discord anywhere and at any time, if not, indeed, at all times.

Loneliness.

When harmony is desired, and clashes of temperaments of those caused by such things as are under discussion today, exist, it is well to bring oneself up with a round turn by thinking of the loneliness that would be felt if we did not have our family about us. During absences from home, or when one is left there when others are away, the realization of what it means to be alone and also together, creeps into the mind and it is warmed by the very thought of companionship of dear ones.

JOHN BECOMES A FIRST CLASS SCOUT!

WHAT? YOUR BOY SCOUTS USE MY POND FOR THEIR SKATING RACES? I SHOULD SAY NOT! AND THAT'S FINAL!

SAY... THAT SCOUTMASTER'S GOT A NERVE! HANG UP ON HIM! GO ON... BANG UP THE RECEIVER!

WHY, JOHN... I'VE NEVER SEEN YOU ACT SO CROSS, YOU DIDN'T NEED TO TAKE THE POOR MAN'S HEAD OFF!

THERE SHE GOES... NAGGING AGAIN! SHE KNOWS YOU SCARCELY SLEPT A WINK LAST NIGHT... BUT SHE DOESN'T CARE!

WHAT IF I AM CROSS? YOU WOULD BE, TOO, IF YOU COULDN'T SLEEP... AND HAD AN HEADACHES AND INDIGESTION!

WELL, YOU KNOW WHAT THE DOCTOR TOLD YOU! HE SAID YOU HAD COFFEE-NERVES!

AW, TELL HER TO GO FLY A KITE! NO ONE BELIEVES THAT BUNK!

YOU'D FEEL BETTER ALL AROUND IF YOU'D DO AS THE DOCTOR SAID... CUT OUT COFFEE FOR 30 DAYS AND SWITCH TO POSTUM!

THAT'S A LOT OF ROT! BUT I'LL TRY IT... IF IT WILL HELP KEEP YOU QUIET!

CURSES! THIS MEDDLING WOMAN KNOWS THAT POSTUM WILL DRIVE ME OUT!

30 DAYS LATER

YOUR HUSBAND IS CERTAINLY A JOLLY SOUL! HE'S HAVING THE TIME OF HIS LIFE!

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL? SINCE HE SWITCHED TO POSTUM HE'S BEEN A DIFFERENT PERSON!

OF course, children should never drink coffee. And many grown-ups, too, find that the caffeine in coffee disagrees with them. If you have headaches or indigestion or can't sleep soundly... try Postum. It contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened.

You may miss coffee at first, but after 30 days you'll love Postum for its own rich, satisfying flavor. Postum comes in two forms—Postum Cereal, the kind you boil, and Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup. Either way it is easy to make, delicious, economical, and may prove a real help. Red Cross
Accomplishments

The accomplishments of the Red Cross in time of emergency and disaster are so well known that only a reminder is needed.

The annual Roll Call will be held from November 11 to 28 and every New Mexican should do his part in carrying on the splendid work.

New Mexico's objective is 12,000 memberships, and I feel certain that, as in the past, this state will support the Red Cross wholeheartedly again this year.

Mr. Howard Jones has returned from the Roswell hospital where he received special treatment for one of his ears.

Obituary

Mr. J. V. Tully passed away Mon. Nov. 9 very suddenly. He had been under a doctor's care in El Paso at the home of his daughter Mrs. Leon Sheehy for 2 weeks returning to Glencoe on Saturday evening. Monday morning he felt unusually well and walked to his store. His son Gerald, going in the store a little later, found him sick and sent for a doctor, but he passed away before the doctor arrived.

Mr. Tully was a staunch Republican having served as a Representative and as Senator a number of times. The Mexicans on the Ruidoso were all his friends. He was quite well known all over the county and had many friends who are grieved to learn of his death.

James V. Tully was born in Chicago; April 14, 1867 and moved to the San Juan Country with his family at an early age. He was united in marriage Jan. 1, 1896, Miss Ora Gilmore to which union nine children were born, three of whom died in infancy. Surviving him are his widow and six children and two grandchildren. Fred W. Tully, Columbus, Susan Sheehy, El Paso, Gerald Tully, Glencoe, Geraldine Morgan, Alamogordo, James V. Tully, Jr., Laguna, Kivas Tully, Roswell, all of whom were present for the funeral; also one sister, Mrs. Frank W. Coe. Rev. Howden of Roswell conducted services which were held in the St. Anne

Straley Wins Gun

The hunting season closed last Sunday, Nov. 15th, and with it the prize hunting contest which was sponsored by Mr. T. E. Kelley of the Hardware and Sport Shop.

Winner of the $55 gun was Geo. Straley of Ancho, whose kill weighed 221½ pounds. Other heavy weights were a 212 pound buck killed by Harry Straley, Ancho; 201 pound buck killed by Dewey Stokes of Carrizozo.

Mr. Kelley stated that 93 registered in the contest, the greatest number to register since the depression. This contest lends zest to the hunting season, every year, and is an event looked forward to by sportsmen as the valuable prize offered is something for which to strive. This time the prize was a new 71 model lever action Winchester rifle, caliber 348 in 24 barrel.

Chapel, Glencoe, which was named for his mother, Anne Tully.

The remains were laid to rest in the Glencoe Cemetery by the side of his three children and his mother.

AUTHORIZED FORD FINANCE PLANS
$25 a month, after usual down-payment, buys any model 1937 Ford V-8 Car from any Ford dealer anywhere in the United States. Ask your Ford dealer about the easy payment plan of the United Credit Company.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car. Headlamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

COMFORT AND QUIET—A big, roomy car. Extra space in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Center-Poise Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels—top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

The New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size—one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance—or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car—lower operating costs—and a lower price.

When you drive the 1937 Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a power plant that gives everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. Today, improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually low gasoline consumption.

The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

BEN AMES WILLIAMS

The works of Ben Ames Williams, whose new story, "Hostile Valley," appears serially in this newspaper, hardly need to be introduced to America's millions of readers of good fiction, for they have long been popular in the large national magazines.

In "Hostile Valley" he has created a worthy successor to "Splendor," "An End to Mirh," "Pirate's Purchase," "All the Brothers Were Valiant" and his other successes. Of it, a large metropolitan daily newspaper has said, "Here is a story with all of the relentless feeling of destiny, the influence of setting on character, and the gripping drama of Hardy fiction. . . Swift, potent and compelling."

Ben Ames Williams was born in Macon, Miss., in 1893, and was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1910. Two years of his youth were spent in Cardiff, Wales, where his father was the American consul. He worked on Boston newspapers until his stories began to sell. He is married and now makes his home in Massachusetts in winter and Maine in summer.

HOSTILE VALLEY
is a story of passion, hate and murder in backwoods Maine, which Williams knows well. Begin it today and follow it every week in this newspaper.

Giving Nation Biggest Crop of Tune Purveyors, Musicians Find.

Elkhart, Ind.—Radio—feared in its infancy as sounding the death-knell of creative American music—is really giving the nation its greatest crop of tune purveyors. This is the opinion of a large number of music men and musicians who have just ended their annual convention at the Conn Music Center here. "It is the death blow," many musicians said five years ago when America awakened to find the lusty infant radio on its doorstep. "Our children will cease to create. They will only listen."

But from the convention delegates—and they represented every section in the United States—it was definitely learned that radio has done no such thing. The music men submitted facts in support of their new contention.

Heads of music schools report an attendance 100 per cent higher than that of the pre-radio era.

Music house owners report a sale of small instruments more than twice as large as that of five years ago.

The city of Chicago contributed more evidence. Where in 1923, only 6,000 men and women were enrolled in the Chicago Federation of Musicians, on the 1928 roster the 6,000 mark has been passed.

Follow Creative Instincts.

"Every time a competent band or orchestra broadcasts a radio program another musician is born," said James F. Boyer, supervisor of the Conn Music Center. "The normal boy or girl has, above everything else, the creative instinct."

"What happens after the circus comes to town? Why, immediately thereafter there is a trapeze in every shed in the town, and a juvenile circus in progress, on every vacant lot. These youngsters are never satisfied with the role of spectators. They must take part."

"And so it has been with music. The American boy hears an instrumental solo on the radio. Perhaps he hears the player is paying his way through college with his instrument. One of his playmates has had a horn for a few months and he is talking of organizing a juvenile band. Right on the spot we have another embryo musician. And, once music enters a neighborhood there is no stopping it."

Shy of the Plans.
"Your average boy fights shy of the piano, and the singing lesson. He considers these the fields for girls. But just give him a horn, a saxophone, a cornet, a trumpet, a trombone or any of the other instruments of the brass band, and see what happens."

J. F. Boyer.

American Legion Notes

An Armistice dance was given in Capitan at the new Buckhorn hall, Nov. 7th which was well attended. It was the second dance given by James A. Hipp, Post 57. These dances are to be given every now and then, provided they can be conducted as well and in as orderly a manner as the last two.

A program was given at the Capitan gym, Nov. 11th at 7:30 p. m.

Invocation by David Howell, Chaplain

Song, "America", led by Mr. Meek.

Short talks on the Armistice by Commander Theophile Laramie; Vice-Commander James Howard; Lonnie Cooper and Thos. Templeton.

Song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic"

Commander Laramie then introduced Rev. Lewis, the speaker.

Rev. Lewis gave an instructive talk on Armistice followed by closing song, "The Star Spangled Banner."

This being the first program of the kind, the crowd was not as large as we wished, but we hope by another year, the people will become more "Legion-minded" and realize that this is an organization that has come to stay; that its intentions are to co-operate with schools and churches and strive to be of help to all.

Our veterans fought to preserve Peace and Democracy. Their big fight now is to preserve that peace and democracy, by trying to teach the youth of the nation. No better teachers can be found than those who have had these bitter experiences.--- Publicity Chairman.

Mrs. Porter Stone of Carlsbad spent the weekend here visiting Miss Leslye Cooper, then went to Corona to spend a few days with her parents who are preparing to go to Stephenville, Texas, to see Mr. Shelton's father who has been ill.

New RSA Building for Carrizozo

Mrs. Ola Jones returned from Santa Fe last week bringing the information that a federal building to house county headquarters for the Relief Security Authority will probably be approved for Carrizozo provided local citizens show sufficient interest to secure same. The building will cost from five to eight thousand dollars.

All local citizens have to do is to guarantee a suitable lot and to raise a few hundred dollars. We are reliably informed that a lot has been found. Other cities that have secured buildings of this type are Carlsbad, Raton, Silver City

Current Events IN REVIEW by Edward W. Pickard

New Imperialist War Coming, Says Voroshiloff

That a new "imperialist" war is coming soon was the opinion expressed by Soviet Defense Commissar Klement E. Voroshiloff in an address at the 10th annual celebration of the Russian revolution...

Voroshiloff

The worst enemies of the toilers—imperialists of every shade and denomination—are continuing frenzied preparations for new pillage and usurpations...

While defending the cause of peace, the soviet government is working ceaselessly to strengthen its defense power. Never will the enemies and incendiaries of war succeed in crossing the sacred and inviolate borders of the land of the soviets.

The people of the U. S. S. R. now are more than prepared to deliver a crushing blow at all who may dare to encroach on the independence, wealth and honor of our state.

Spanish Government Flees From Madrid

While the Fascist insurgents were smashing their way into Madrid and hurling shells among its chief buildings, the Socialist government of Spain, headed by Premier Francisco Largo Caballero, fled from the capital and set itself up in Valencia on the Mediterranean coast.

The convention will determine the future of the C. I. O. If it supports the arbitrary and insolent attitude of the executive council, that will be one thing. If it shows a disposition to give consideration of the fixed principles of the C. I. O., that will be another thing.

Mr. Lewis didn't say so explicitly, but "another thing" will be a war for domination of American labor.

Princess Juliana Will Be Married on January 7. It was officially announced in Amsterdam that Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard zu Lippe-Biesterfeld will be married on January 7.

Navy and Army Growth Noted in Reports. Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson, who it is believed may retire from the cabinet, made his annual report to the President showing that the navy had made considerable progress in its program to build up to full treaty strength.

of its five-year rebuilding program had gained ground toward its objective—a defense establishment up to the minimum needs of the nation.

"Our military establishment is of a type that—conforming strictly to our national policy—is designed for defense and is unsuitable for aggression," Craig said.

Ship Workers' Strike May Be Settled

THROUGH the efforts of Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor and the department's chief conciliator, the strike of maritime workers that tied up a large part of the shipping on the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts may be settled amicably.

E. F. McGrady

On the Pacific coast the strikers had already consented to ease the plight of stranded passengers and release perishable cargoes.

Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamlet of the federal maritime commission had been compelled to postpone twice his fact finding inquiry but finally got it started.

Peace Move in Labor Federation Fails

FOR a day or two it seemed that the two factions in the American Federation of Labor might get together before the convention opening in Tampa on November 10.

Wage Increases and Dividends Declared

MAJOR producers of steel, led by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest subsidiary of United States Steel, and the Columbia Steel company, west coast member of the same group, announced wage increases averaging 10 per cent and in some cases running as high as 25 per cent.

Committees acting for employees at more than a dozen plants rejected the offer, demanding higher pay. Negotiations in these cases are therefore continued.

Edmund E. Day Elected President of Cornell

CORNELL university at Ithaca, N. Y. is to have a new president in the person of Dr. Edmund E. Day, an internationally known social scientist and economist.

Roosevelt's Victory at Polls Unprecedented

"WE LIKE your New Deal policies and have complete confidence in your administration. Go as far as you like."

President Roosevelt

That in effect was the message sent to Franklin Delano Roosevelt by more than twenty-six million American men and women when they voted to continue him in the Presidency for another four years.

The amazing New Deal landslide is looked upon by most unbiased observers not as a Democratic party victory, but a personal triumph for President Roosevelt, an expression of confidence in him and a recognition of the improvement in the country's business and industry.

President Roosevelt, moreover, will have at his command a congress more heavily Democratic than were the last two, for the lingering hopes of the Republicans that they could capture enough seats to enable them, in conjunction with conservative Democrats, to put up effective resistance to New Deal measures, were not realized.

Incidentally, John N. Garner, who was scarcely mentioned during the hectic campaign, was re-elected vice president and will preside over the senate again.

John N. Garner

Among the well-known Republican senators unseated by the upheaval are Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa, Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island and Robert D. Carey of Wyoming.

Most Governorships Are Won by Democrats. AT LEAST 25 states elected Democratic governors, and the number may be 27. In only three were the Republican nominees winners.

Roosevelt May Make Trip to Buenos Aires. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, leaving Hyde Park for Washington, to "try to balance the budget," as he said, authorized the announcement that on November 17 he would start on a cruise on the warship "Indianapolis" for a rest of about four weeks, and that it was possible he might go to Buenos Aires, Argentina, to open the Pan-American peace conference on December 1.

Velvets Maintain Fabric Leadership

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

VELVET maintains its aristocratic leadership in the fabric world. It is still the most glamorous fabric in the world. It is still the most feminine fabric in the world.

Now that the miracle of making velvet crush-resistant has been wrought, there is nothing more to wish for in the way of the fabric ideal for active daytime wear as well as for festive night occasion.

Chic Parisian women have adopted enthusiastically the tailored velvet suit with frilly, lacey blouses which are worn from luncheon on through the cocktail hour.

The fur-trimmed velvet suit is being shown in many styles—the tuxedo, the tunic, the short jacket and so on. These display rich furs, such as red fox, silver fox, Persian lamb and mink, in collars, revers, and most dramatic wide bandings.

TYROLEAN KNIT

The charm of the gay Tyrolean colors is told in knitted fashions this season. A leading theme, resultant of the vogue for vivid peasant colorings, is the introduction of fetching hand-embroidery in the knitted realm.

bridge and cocktails and "don't dress" occasions.

In mentioning daytime fashions in velvet, the tailored shirtwaist types that can be worn from morning to night have an important place.

A velvet afternoon dress with starched Venetian lace cuffs and collar heightens its elegance with a star sapphire-and-diamond clip, as pictured in the foreground on the seated figure.

The elegant velvet coat has the endorsement of fashion. It is found lavishly trimmed with fur, or untrimmed, with which one may wear one's own furs.

PEPLUM THEME IN DRESSES FOR FALL

A costume may look quite conservative from the front but it may adopt surprising accents which are discovered when the wearer's back is turned.

A definite trend toward back interest in costumes is a feature of the styles of the autumn season. This is developed in many different ways, the peplum theme being most successful in furthering the silhouette.

Waistlines are somewhat lower at the back than at the front, to place more emphasis upon the back of a garment.

Matching Accessories Are Not Considered Mandatory

It's time to shatter the illusion that all accessories should match. Bag, gloves and belt—scarf, gloves and bag—blouse, gloves and hat may be alike. Switch them around any way you choose, but don't have any more than three the same color.

Umbrella Pockets

Watch for umbrella pockets on fall coats. Usually these are executed in heavy silk, pleated and flared to resemble a folded umbrella.

Flower Pot Crowns

Flower pot crowns dominate winter hat styles.

Tailor Put Chesterton's Practical Joke to Profit

On one occasion the late G. K. Chesterton came upon a sign in a humble tailor's window which read: "This style made to measure, 45s." Now Chesterton weighed 224 pounds and looked every ounce. Thinking to embarrass the tradesman, he went in. The enterprising tailor took his measure without a murmur. He was told to come back in two weeks. Out of curiosity, he did so.

In the window he saw his suit adorning an elephantine and improvised dummy, and under it the legend, "We made this suit for Mr. Chesterton for 45s. No order too big for us."—Morning Post.

Ballet Dancers Arrive From La Belle, France

A group of French ballet dancers pictured aboard the S. S. Ile de France on their arrival in New York. They formed an unusual treat for the eyes of ship news photographers.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Saluting the President
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—
 Top of the morning to you, Mr. President Elect! Many happy returns! But you've already seen the happy returns, haven't you?

We've been behind you right along. At times, some of us may have been so far behind you we couldn't seem to see you, at all. But why bring that up now?

As for those who voted the opposition ticket—well, Americans may be greedy to win, but they're sporty losers. Besides, it'll soon be hard to find anybody who was against you. Among the multitude, the patriot who actually opposed you — except maybe in a whimsical spirit — will be as lonesome as an honest bone in the average beauty-contest promoter's body.

Synthetic Napoleon Brandy.
 I WILL now tell about Napoleon brandy. Napoleon brandy is any brandy more than four years old, if poured from a dark bottle with an "N" on it and decorated with cobwebs applied by an expert cobweb-twiner before being served; price $1.50 to $3 per slug at your favorite robbers' cave. More genuine guaranteed Napoleon brandy is sold every month in New York night clubs alone than all of the regular Napoleons, numbered, respectively, I, II and III, ever saw.

What brought these interesting statistics to mind was running into a collector of Napoleon brandies. Why, some of his specimens must date back as far as 1814.

But my aim is to collect the pistols carried by Jesse James and the handcuffs worn by Billy the Kid. It's a great ambition, but may run into money because it will take a large hall to contain all the Jesse James six-shooters and all the Billy the Kid handcuffs I've seen.

Hurrying to Get Nowhere

WHEN I see a motormaniac burning up the road and feel confident that, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, there's no earthly need for his hurry, I think of a Japanese gentleman who visited a typical New York go-getter.

They started downtown. The guide hurried his guest aboard a subway local, yanked him off at Times Square, jammed him on a packed express, pulled him out of the express further down and violently inserted him into another overflowing local. When they emerged at a way-station, the Japanese was badly bruised, rumped and trampled.

He limped to his host's office, where they sat down with practically nothing to do except relax. So he asked why they'd changed cars so often when the original train would have brought them along.

"Oh," said the New Yorker, "doing that, we save six minutes." The oriental sucked in his breath politely and did come pondering. "And what," he murmured then, "what were you going to do with the six minutes?"

Cobb's Pet Annoyances

SOMEbody writes in, demanding to know what my pet loathings are. Well, let's see:

Is it the fellow who, having heard every blamed word you said, waits until you're all through and then says, "What?"

Or the barber who, having finished the job, grabs up a towel and dabbles you with ninety hundred and seventy-four separate and distinct dabs?

Or the clerk who, when you go in for a pair of socks, tries to sell you everything in the store, including some pajamas that you wouldn't be caught dead in?

Or the orator who says "one last word" and buries that last word under about five thousand other words?

Or the solicitor who begins by asking for just a minute and hangs on until you begin to figure the present Christian era must be approaching its close?

Stage and Stock Market

IT'S curious that two of the most fascinating and envied professions — financing and acting — do not necessarily call for intelligence. Not that there aren't brilliant persons aplenty engaged in both lines. But the mimetic quality, the knack of rendering other people's lines, perhaps without ever understanding them, may be but a sublimated emotional instinct, just as sometimes the ability to make great gobs of money has nothing to do with brains, or rather brains have nothing to do with it. A certain man can smell out a hidden dollar exactly as a rat terrier sniffs behind the wainscoting the rat which another dog would pass unnoticed. There are young ladies capably interpreting classic roles who probably think Salome is the name of an Italian sausage.

Delightful, Modish Models

MATRON, miss, or tiny maid—you'll find here the answer to your wardrobe needs. These three delightful and modish models, especially designed for those who sew at home, cover a wide range of sizes and take high honors for style and economy combined.

Pattern 1818, an unusually graceful and flattering double duty frock for the mature figure, features a softly draped collar in contrast and set in skirt panels topped with pockets. Appropriate for any of a wide range of fabrics, it will serve with equal grace as a morning or daytime frock, can be cut twice for double wear. The pattern is available in sizes 30, 36, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material plus 1/2 yard contrast.

Pattern 1904, the princess frock, has everything it takes for success. Taking full advantage of the current swing to princess lines, this slick number features front and back panels extending from yoke to hem and can be fashioned with long or short sleeves as you prefer. With a world of zip and a fitted waist, this simply made pattern is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42. Every Motorist Should Know Needs of His Car

If you would reduce automobile accidents, give heed to the four commonest causes of mechanical failure. These four causes are listed as follows by Wilson S. Isherwood, prominent automotive official and a leader in safety campaigns:

- Bad brakes, Worn tires, Worn steering gear, Poor acceleration.

Every motorist should know when brakes are not properly functioning and when tires have reached the danger point. Mr. Isherwood declared. But there are many who are unaware of the necessity for steering gear inspection, and for tuning up the motor for better acceleration. A motor that is well tuned up, he stated, seldom stalls on a railroad crossing or goes "haywire" in traffic.

In tuning up the motor, Mr. Isherwood points out the necessity for a complete tune-up, which can be performed in about 30 minutes. This consists of the following operation:

- 1. Clean and adjust spark plugs, replacing any worn plug. 2. Inspect ignition cables and battery. 3. Clean breaker points. 4. Adjust timing. 5. Adjust valve clearance. 6. Adjust carburetor.

Fat Men and Giants

The United States has its fair share of fat men and giants. Milton Darden was both, says a writer in the Kansas City Times. He was 7 feet 6 inches, and weighed a little better than a half ton. He was born in 1798, and lived until 1857, was married, a father, worked all his life, and was a pretty normal individual in spite of his size. Silly statistics and information are always in order when discussing giants or fat men. It took thirteen and a half yards of material to make a coat for Darden.

Where Spanish Is Spoken

Countries in which Spanish is the principal language spoken include Spain and the few remaining Spanish colonies, including the Canary Islands, Rio de Oro and some other African odds and ends; the Philippines, where Spanish ranks with English as an official language; Porto Rico, Santo Domingo, Cuba, and some lesser West Indian islands; Mexico, and all of Central and South America, except Brazil, the Guianas and British Honduras.

"One Cannon Ball Battle"

A "one cannon ball battle" occurred at Buckett's Harbor on Lake Ontario during the War of 1812, says Glen E. Sears, Chicago. In Collier's Weekly a British ship came up and fired at the American fort. But the cannon ball fell short and landed harmlessly at the feet of an American, who picked it up, fired it with a cannon and sent it sailing the ship from the water, killing 14 men, wounding 18 others and ending the battle.

Seaplane Always Will Be Fastest, Says Expert

St. Louis, Mo. — Land planes can never hope to attain the speed in the air that seaplanes can, according to Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of the American seaplane and world's land plane speed records. "Paradoxical as it may seem," Doolittle observed, "airplane speed in the air is governed by its landing speed. The pontoons on a seaplane's landing gear," he said, "permit comparatively smooth contact with the water with a suction effect, compared with the rough bouncing of land plane wheels on a ground surface, which, at extremely high speeds, has a tendency to turn the plane over."

The most powerful engine used in land-racing planes today is about 850 horse power, while a 2,800-horse power engine was developed for the English seaplane which flew 400 miles per hour, the record. The land-plane record is 234 miles an hour.

NEW YORK ADOPTS "WELFARE OF MAN" AS THEME OF FAIR

$125,000,000 Exposition to Depict Building the World of Tomorrow

New York.—The New York World's Fair of 1939, which, according to Grover Whalen, President of the Fair, will be a $125,000,000 show, will have a theme—"Building the World of Tomorrow."

This was announced for the first time by Mr. Whalen, following the adoption of the theme and the design by the Board of Directors.

"The Theme," said Mr. Whalen, "encompasses the well-being of man, the betterment of life. It will be carried out in our exhibit zones, in our amusement, and in a beautiful Theme Tower. We will display to the visitors all the goods, all the materials, all the resources and powers man has amassed, to the end that by studying them, one may learn how to plan and to attain a more admirable future."

The design, a simple and practical one that is motivated by consideration for the hundreds of thousands of people expected every day, divides the main section into ten zones. These zones will display exhibits of clothing, shelter, the arts, the basic industries, health, sustenance, recreation, government and co-operation, education and public and social services. Each exhibit will be allocated to its proper zone. There will be no haphazard or scattered display. For the first time, visitors need not walk all over a fair ground, to see what they want to see, and only what they want to see.

Focal Exhibits

In each zone there will be a focal exhibit to explain in dramatic fashion, the nature of the sector, its history, and its potential future. The zones will be laid out around the "Theme Tower" in the heart of the main section, a 257 foot structure that will dominate the park. In this tower will be a panorama to show what strides America has made in the 150 years that have passed since George Washington strode into New York's old Federal Hall and took the oath of office as our first president.

The opening of the Fair, April 30, 1939, commemorates the 150th anniversary of that day.

This panorama will also show the interdependence of the 48 states born of the 13 original Colonies, and the interrelation of the big cities and the country districts of the United States.

The site of the Fair, Flushing Meadow Park, will be a permanent park after the Fair is done. It comprises 1216 acres—twice the space ever before given over to a fair.

The work of converting the site into a Fair Grounds and a park requires engineering and artistic skill of the highest, the employment of hundreds of men, and the expenditure of millions of dollars.

Simply Old Superstitions

The word "lunatic" comes from the Latin word "luna," meaning moon, and it is a old superstition that the moon has a direct effect upon the brain of human beings, hence the superstition that sleeping in the moonlight causes blindness, insanity and kindred calamities. This has long since been disproved by scientific investigation.

Lake at Glacier Feet

In the Swiss canton of Valais, at the foot of the great Aletsch glacier, will be found the beautiful Little Lake Maelen, a dark-green expanse of water on which floating ice may be often seen. This little lake is nearly 8,000 feet above sea level and is formed by the glacier, which is 850 yards in length and 100 feet in depth.
