Obituary

Mrs. Georgia A. Parker Davis, one of Lincoln County's best known and most highly respected pioneer women, passed away Saturday morning, January 23, 1937, after an illness of many months. Mrs. Davis had led an active life, until her last illness. She had bestowed many kindnesses and had many charitable deeds to her credit during her long and useful life.

She was born January 18, 1854, at Rusk, Cherokee County, Texas where she was married February 15, 1877 to Mr. Oran C. Davis who died at their home at Nogal in December 1928.

Eleven years after their marriage they came to White Oaks residing there and at Nogal for a number of years. In 1900 they went to Fresno, California where they lived until 1908, at which time they returned to Nogal where they conducted a Mercantile business for many years.

Mrs. Davis is survived by a foster daughter, Mrs. Ernest Dingwall of Tucumcari; three sisters, Mrs. Alice Roberts of Carrizozo, Mrs. Margaret Boone and Mrs. Emma Morris both of El Paso, Texas; one brother, Mr. B. B. Parker of Richmond, California.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church, Sunday, January 24th, by Rev. J. A. Bell, followed by interment in the Nogal cemetery.

Sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved ones.

Cleghorn-Keller

Miss Ida Cleghorn, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cleghorn of White Oaks, and Mr. L. H. Keller of Roswell were married Christmas Eve in Socorro. The wedding was very quiet and came as a surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom, both here and at Roswell.

Mrs. Keller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cleghorn of White Oaks. She finished grade school in White Oaks and High school at Carrizozo. She also finished a business course in Trinidad, Colorado. For the past eighteen months she has been with the WPA in Roswell where her quiet manner and efficiency won many friends.

Mr. Keller received his education in Norman, Oklahoma. He is proprietor of a filling station. He is a member of the Elks Lodge of Roswell; is popular and highly respected.

A host of friends join in wishing them happiness and success.

Miss Freeman Entertains

Miss Rhoda Freeman entertained twenty girl friends at her home Wednesday afternoon. Invitations and place cards were hand painted with forget-me-nots. Five tables played cards. Each table had bon bon dishes of candy for the players. After the games refreshments were served, consisting of delicious chicken sandwiches, mince pie, coffee and cocoa.

The first prize was a large heart-shaped box containing candy. It was won by Miss Margaret Shafer. Second prize was just like the first only smaller. It was won by Miss Agnes Degner.

Mr. W. S. Peters, who is in the Veterans hospital at Albuquerque is considered very much better.

State Bankers to Meet February 3

A meeting of the New Mexico Bankers' association has been called to meet in Albuquerque, Wednesday, February 3.

The purpose of the gathering is to meet with Mr. Dan H. Otis, director, agricultural commission, American Bankers' association, Madison Wis., and is held in the interest of the agriculture and livestock of the state. The program will be largely informal, consisting of short talks and discussion of each talk. Mr. Otis is a national figure in the legislative field, and his address, the first on the program, will be well worth hearing.

Pacheco-Martinez

Last Monday morning Miss Emma Pacheco became the bride of Mr. Alfredo Martinez at a ceremony performed in the Catholic church by Rev. Fr. Salvatore. The bride is a sister to Mrs. Lorenzo Garcia; was born and reared in Lincoln county. She was educated in the Carrizozo schools and is a senior this year in the local High school.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Martinez, who are prominent citizens of Carrizozo. He was born, reared, and educated here. He recently completed a business course in the Albuquerque business college.

Following the ceremony relatives and friends of the bride and groom gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Porfirio Chavez for a wedding dinner.

Many friends wish for them a happy and prosperous married life.

Dance at Vega's Ranch

Mr. and Mrs. Leandro Vega entertained a large number of friends at their ranch home near Nogal, last Saturday night, with an old time dance.

Mr. Saturnino Chavez, Sr., Rey Warner, Joe Chavez and Sat Chavez Jr., furnished the music. Refreshments of pie, sandwiches and coffee were served.

Mrs. H. H. Shrum of Nogal was here today on business.

Mr. G. J. Jeffreys has returned from a trip to Lubbock where he visited his wife and daughter, Miss Fay Jeffreys.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Sager are spending a few days in Santa Fe with their daughters, Miss Lorena and Mrs. Spence.

Flood Victims to Receive Aid

The White House said congress would be asked to pay relief costs in the flood area, where 500,000 were homeless. The Red Cross asked the nation to contribute $4,000,000 for relief.

Ohio

Estimated 85,000 homeless. Known dead, nine. Cincinnati: Fire and flood cause at least $6,500,000 damage. Eight dead. Power shutoff threatened. Blazing oil tanks bring increasing fire danger. Water shortage becomes acute. River stage of 80 feet predicted. Now 79.1 feet, more than 27 feet above flood stage; 65,000 homeless.

Portsmouth: Three-fourths of town under water. About 25,000 homeless and national guardsmen threaten to evacuate 5,000 more. Pomeroy: 3,500 residents without electricity or gas.

Bellaire, Bridgeport: Virtually isolated.

Kentucky

About 215,000 homeless. At least nine dead, with 15 convicts reported slain at Frankfort.

Louisville: About 200,000 refugees and remainder of 330,000 population urged to leave. Power shut off. Health clinics opened.

Frankfort: 2,900 convicts from state penitentiary being evacuated. Fifteen reported slain. The report was not officially confirmed.

Paducah: Business district inundated. Refugees stream from city. About 2,000 expected to flee. Dayton: Residents flee to hills. Augusta: Town almost deserted. Burning oil drum adds fire threat.

Indiana

Estimated 55,000 homeless. Martial law in 33 counties.

A report that four were dead at Lawrenceburg was unconfirmed. Evansville: Thousands retreating into central Indiana. Stories of desolation and privation come from Lawrenceburg, near Cincinnati, Ohio, to Mt. Vernon in southwestern tip of the state.

Albany: Evacuation of 28,000 residents advised. Lawrenceburg: Portion of town surrounded by water.

Missouri

Eleven known dead. Embattled farmers armed with shotguns twice prevent releasing pent-up Mississippi waters into 131,000 acre floodway at Birds Point-New Madrid. Water later reported to have broken through.

Arkansas

Three known dead. St Francis river batters down new levee near Trumann, inundating 90,000 acres more. Expect 15,000 in refugee camps.

Tennessee

State begins to realize flood danger as Mississippi rises. Relief depot set up at Memphis to care for 5,000 homeless. Plan to care for 45,000 more.

Anti-Cold Recipe

Given By Professor

Urbana, Ill.—To fight a cold eat fruits, vegetables, butter, egg yolk and milk, says Miss Harriet Barto, assistant professor of dietetics at the University of Illinois.

She says tests on college students show that a liberal amount of vitamin "A" included in the diet through use of butter, cream, whole milk, egg yolk, fruits, fruit juices, green and yellow vegetables and fish liver oils definitely shortened the duration of colds in some cases.

School Notes

Mrs. Irene Hart, Co. School Sup't.

Mrs. Irene Hart, County School Superintendent, and the rural teachers conducted the mid term examinations of ninety-five eighth graders last week.

Mrs. Blanche D. Johnson of Ramon, Mrs. Brooks Lewis of Tinnie, Mr. H. L. Traylor of Angus, Mrs. Carmen P. Saavedra of Escondida, Miss Nell Pfingston of Asperus, Mrs. Irene Lindsey of Stetson, Mrs. Nellie G. Guebarra of Richardson, Mrs. Mary C. Dale of Ancho, and Miss Hazel Luck of Lincoln visited the office and library Saturday.

The books for Curriculum Revision Study have been purchased for the library, and the county teachers are meeting in organized groups twice each month.

Rebekahs Install Officers

Coalora Lodge, No. 15, Daughters of Rebekah held their installation last Wednesday evening, with only members of the order present. Mrs. Rachel West acted as installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Edna Carl. Elective officers were as follows:

Mrs. Rachel West, District Deputy; Mrs. Nellie Brannum, Noble Grand; Mrs. Era Smith, Vice-Grand; Mrs. Birdie Walker, Secretary; Mrs. Georgia Harkey, Treasurer.

Appointive officers: Mrs. Clesta Prior, Warden; Mrs. Alice Greer, Conductor; Mrs. Margie Clouse, Chaplain; Mrs. Edna Carl Inside Guardian.

Following the installation ceremonies a delicious supper was served to the members and a number of visitors.

The Rebekahs are looking forward to a successful year. They have several new applications for membership and have planned some interesting meetings. We urge all members especially to come forward and help put more life and vigor into this year's work.

Theatre Party

Mr. R. A. A. Chase invited all children from the First to the Eighth Grades inclusive from both the public and Catholic schools to be his guests at a matinee at the Lyric theatre last Tuesday afternoon to see "Little Lord Fauntleroy." This was a beautiful presentation of the play and all the children gladly availed themselves of the privilege.

Coronado Cuarto Centennial

It's a pretty safe guess that there'll be rodeos in 1940 such as only southeastern New Mexico can stage. Some of the old timers will aver that the modern cowhands can't compare with the famous Clay McGonigil who held his world's roping championship when a full grown steer, not a calf or a goat, was the target of the rodeo contestant's wide loop. But they'll get plenty of argument from the moderns who hold that Bob Crosby's equal as an all-around cowpuncher was not known in the old days. They know he's the best of the present generation.

Roswell and Carlsbad, bustling modern cities, will revert in spirit to those sleepy old cowtown days.

The little hamlet of Lincoln still dozing to the murmur of the Rio Bonito, will recapture some of its lost glory.

Old cowhands will swap yarns of the good old days.

And the visitors will find south, eastern New Mexico's lutehstring out, as it has always been, for as the Coronado Cuarto Centennial Commission proceeds with its plans for a really state-wide celebration in 1940, southeastern New Mexico is making preparations to participate to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Ira Greer and son, Jack, of Tucumcari were here last Wednesday. Mrs. Greer came to attend the Rebekah installation.

Mrs. Nellie Brannum and Mrs. Margie Clouse went to El Paso Thursday to witness the installation of officers in the Grand Western Rebekah Lodge of that city. They will be guests of Mrs. F. L. Boughner and family while there.

Morgan May Resign as Chairman of TVA

RUMORS were current in Washington that Dr. Arthur E. Morgan would soon resign as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority as the result of his long and bitter disagreement with Director David Lilienthal over TVA policies. Both the gentlemen were in the capital and it appeared they had laid their cases before President Roosevelt for his decision as to which should be the leader. Lilienthal, who was formerly Wisconsin utilities commissioner under Gov. Phil La Follette, favors unrelenting warfare on private utility interests. Doctor Morgan, on the other hand, doesn't want a "fight to a finish" but, rather, a co-operative effort to pool public and private electricity in the Southeast in order to end TVA's legal war with the private interests. The chairman, however, stood almost alone among those who are shaping the administration's power policy. He issued a statement to the press setting forth his views but it didn't arouse much sympathy in high circles.

A. E. Morgan

Decision in the controversy is necessary soon for the first big contract between TVA and private utility interests expires February 3 and the question of renewal must be settled before then.

Drafting of a national power policy was asked by the President of a committee headed by Secretary of the Interior Ickes. He said that this policy, once established, would apply to all existing projects and to new power developments as they are completed.

Curb for Supreme Court to Be Considered

EMERGING from a White House conference, Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana announced that President Roosevelt would soon call together congressional leaders and administration officials to consider legislation designed to curb the Supreme court.

The senator said he himself was contemplating the introduction of a bill that would require the concurrence of seven of the nine justices, or more than two-thirds, to invalidate an act of congress. He did not say whether the President indicated approval or disapproval of this plan.

Deadlock Is Renewed in General Motors Strike

WHEN negotiations were about to open for settlement of the strike of General Motors workers, the truce declared by persuasion of Governor Murphy of Michigan was called off, both sides charging bad faith. Homer Martin, head of the United Automobile Workers, said the corporation violated the truce by attempting to reopen the Cadillac plant in Detroit, by agreeing to bargain collectively with nonunion employees, and by denying the right of picketing at the Guide Lamp plant in Anderson, Ind.

General Motors accused the union of violating the truce by refusing to remove sit-down strikers from all the plants. Vice President Knudsen had wired G. E. Boyesen, head of the Flint Alliance which acts for the nonunion men, that the company would protect the rights of all its employees and would discuss any question with the alliance or any group of the workers. This so enraged Martin, who now claims for his union a majority of the employees, that he directed the strikers not to evacuate the Flint plants.

Martin sent a telegram to Senator La Follette, chairman of the senate committee on civil liberties, asking him to subpoena Boyesen and the records of the Flint Alliance. He charged that Boyesen was working with General Motors to break the strike.

Governor Murphy said he was still trying to "work out the situation". By his direction the National Guard detachments in Flint were kept in the background.

Wallace Will Buy Eggs to Aid Producers

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE is going to buy eggs in order to remedy what he describes as a sharp drop in recent weeks in the wholesale and farm prices of eggs. The surplus eggs taken from the market, he says, will be distributed among persons on relief. Agriculture department reports, however, show there is no surplus, and one department spokesman said the government would buy few, if any eggs, providing farm and retail prices moved toward each other.

Mr. Wallace says the purchases will be financed under a unique provision inserted in the agricultural adjustment act by congress in August, 1935. This hands Wallace 30 per cent of all customs receipts "for agricultural purposes," or about $100,000,000 each year. The fund has already been used this season to keep up prices of grapefruit, pears and onions.

Russia Refuses to Keep Volunteers Out of Spain

BRITAIN'S plan to bar from Spain volunteers from other nations met with a big setback when Russia refused to adopt prohibitive measures. Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov handed to Ambassador Chilton a note saying:

"The Soviet government, although it presently does not practice the dispatch of volunteer detachments, does not consider it expedient to adopt unilateral prohibitive measures."

Explaining the refusal, Litvinov continued: "I consider it necessary to point out that in the Soviet government's opinion unilateral, prohibitive measures on the part of some participants in the London committee (on non-intervention) while other participants not only are free from obligations, but continue sending military divisions to Spain, will not only fail to accomplish the desired aim but will result in intervention."

Definite replies from Germany, Italy and Portugal were still awaited by the British government.

Fighting between the Spanish loyalists and Fascists was fierce in the University City section of Madrid and along the Mediterranean coast east of Gibraltar. In the Madrid suburb the loyalists trapped a large number of insurgents in a hospital where the latter had set up machine guns to withstand a siege. On the coast the Fascists had effected a landing at Estepona and were advancing on Malaga which the government has held since the civil war started.

Report That War Debts May Be Discussed

WALTER RUNCIMAN, chairman of the British Board of Trade, arrived in New York and was due to spend a week-end in the White House at the invitation of President Roosevelt. Georges Bonnet, a financial expert and former cabinet member, was appointed ambassador from France to Washington and plans to come over early in February supplanting Andre de Laboulaye. These two facts gave rise to reports that the subject of the war debts would be reopened.

Mr. Roosevelt denied published stories that he had invited Great Britain and France to begin preliminary discussions for the adoption of a peace program based on financial and trade factors. He specifically denied he had invited Mr. Runciman to participate in discussions bearing on trade relations of the United States and Great Britain which may pave the way for important moves later but it was understood, nevertheless, that such conversations were to take place. The President said Mr. Runciman was coming here on a holiday and as a personal friend.

M. Bonnet said in Paris that he was coming here simply as an ambassador and with no special mission concerning war debts, but it was considered possible he might seek to re-open the debt question in informal discussions.

"Germans in Morocco" Tale Seems to Be False

THE latest general European war scare has subsided. It was caused by France's announced determination to stop, by force if necessary, the alleged infiltration of German troops into Spanish Morocco, and Great Britain was ready to support the French with its fleet. But Hitler and his ambassador to France were able to convince the nations that the stories were false and that Germany has no intention of trying to grab any Spanish territory. Paris cooled down at once, and to add to the peace atmosphere, negotiations were started for a trade treaty between France and Germany.

Then, too, Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, resident first minister of the German reich, went on an official visit to Rome and was informed by Mussolini that the recently signed Italo-British Mediterranean agreement does not change Italy's friendship for Germany or its collaboration with the reich on the major problems of Europe.

Reorganization Scheme Laid Before Congress

PLANS for reorganizing the administrative branch of the government were laid before congress by President Roosevelt, and many Democrats as well as the few Republican members were quick to express their disapproval of parts of the scheme. It would greatly enhance the power of the executive, would abolish no federal agencies and would not result in any considerable economy of expenditures.

Louis Brownlow

Special committees of both houses were to begin drafting a bill to carry out the President's desires, but it was freely predicted that not all of them would get through.

Louis Brownlow, Prof. Luther Gullick and Prof. Charles Merriam constituted the committee that evolved the reorganization plan for the President. The major changes they recommended are:

Creation of two new departments headed by cabinet members—a department of social welfare and a department of public works—and delegation to the President of authority to "overhaul the 100 independent agencies, administrations, authorities, boards, and commissions and place them by executive order" in the ten existing and two proposed additional departments.

Expansion of the White House staff, chiefly by the creation of six "assistants to the President," who would relieve him of much of the routine executive work.

Abolition of the office of controller general with his power to disallow administrative expenditures in advance as violative of law, and creation instead of an auditor general with power limited to reporting annually to congress illegal and wasteful expenditures by the executive branch.

Extension of the merit system to "cover practically all non-policy determining posts," replacement of the civil service commission by a "citizen board to serve as the watch dog of the merit system," and increase of salaries to key positions to attract superior ability to a career service.

Development of the "managerial agencies of the government," particularly the budget bureau and agencies engaged in efficiency research, personnel questions, and long range planning of the use of land, water, and other natural resources.

Opposition to the first, third and fourth of these sections was pronounced.

Ontario Convicts Start Riot and Break Out

NEARLY 600 convicts in Ontario's fine reformatory at Guelph started a big riot and set fire to everything in the buildings that would burn. During the excitement about one hundred of them broke out of the penitentiary, and nearly forty escaped. The dormitory, chapel and hospital were ruined by flames, the damage being put at $200,000.

Fatal Crash of Air Liner Will Be Investigated

LOSING the radio beam in foggy weather, Pilot W. W. Lewis panicked his Western Air Express plane with a crash on a hill near Burbank, Calif., and two of his passengers were killed. Everyone else on the plane, eleven in number, was injured, and two more died later. The dead are Martin Johnson, famous explorer, E. A. Spencer of Chicago, A. L. Loomis of Omaha and James A. Braden of Cleveland. Mrs. Osa Johnson, who accompanied her husband on his adventurous expeditions in Africa and Borneo, was among those most seriously hurt.

There will be searching inquiries into this and other recent air disasters. Senator Copeland of New York blames the Department of Commerce. Airline operators have long complained that certain radio beam stations in the Far West are inadequate. Officials of the bureau of air navigation deny this.

New York Banker Leaves Big Sum to Aid Youth

IT IS pleasant to turn from politics, strikes and war and record the fact that Charles Hayden, New York banker who died recently, left about $54,000,000 to establish a foundation for the education of needy boys and young men, "especially in the advancement of their moral, mental and physical well being." Mr. Hayden, who was a bachelor, also gave $1,000,000 to Massachusetts Institute of Technology, $2,000,000 in trust to his brother and nearly $2,000,000 to friends and employees.

Storing of Gold at Fort Knox Is Begun

UNCLE SAM has begun storing his gold in the bomb-proof depository built at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The first train, heavily guarded, carried about $200,000,000 of the precious metal from the Philadelphia mint and it was received by the motorized Seventh cavalry and put in the great vaults. The gold was forwarded, by the Post Office department as parcel post and the treasury will have to pay the postage.

New Stiff Silks That "Stand Alone"

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WITH the midwinter social season upon us and festivities at southern resorts going at high tempo, smart women everywhere are preoccupied with new evening gowns to add glamour to time, place and the occasion. Greater formality than in years is the rule, and women are playing up to this edict by wearing gowns of rare beauty and richness.

One may belong to either of two schools of fashion—that which favors heavy stiff heirloomlike silks with a regal air or the type which favors diaphanous sheer silks that float about one enchantingly as one dances or promenades in the great concourse of fashion.

Stiff silk satins such as slipper satin or duchess satin are lovely choices for dramatic gowns. The "delicious" colors of these glorified satins are simply entrancing—make you think of moonlit rays that go glimmering over rippling waves, or icy blues that crown snow-capped mountains or the lovely tints of the rainbow as it enhances summer skies.

To be style-correct these stately satins should be fashioned along graceful princess lines with quaintly gored skirts that sweep into widened hemlines. See the model to the left in the illustration. It is a frock of Edwardian period influence done in ice-blue satin with the new shirred bosom styling. The puffed sleeves and princess lines achieve a charming youthful silhouette. The diamond sunburst worn suggests an heirloom that accords harmoniously with the type of silk used for the gown—a silk so grand and stiff it, as was the boast in grandma's time, would "stand alone."

Some of the newest silk satins are studded with gold or silver sequins or rhinestones. To the right in the picture stands a modern Juliet gown in gardenia white satin, all-over studded with gold paillettes with halter neck of matching paillette banding. Accessory highpots include a Juliet cap and a handbag done in gold paillettes, together with an exquisite white ermine coat.

Warp printed silk taffetas have new looking patterns such as colorful bow-knots in vivid hues on white or green. Centered in the group a modern Jenny Lind greets us in a rustling silk taffeta frock warp-printed with red bow-knots. With it this lovely lady wears pale pink kid gloves embroidered in gold and pearls. The new and fashionable gloves featured this season are veritable works of art. There are pearls at the throat of this fair lady and she wears a superb pearl bracelet.

Other charming versions of the princess dinner and dance gown are done in stiff Lyons velvets with puffed sleeves and buttons all the way down the front. Rich silk damasks are also fashioned in princess lines made square-necked, in puff-sleeve styles which look like Edwardian ladies come back to life. © Western Newspaper Union.

FUR AND FEATHERS By CHERIE NICHOLAS

For high-style this midwinter season let your hat be either fur-trimmed or feather-trimmed. The model at the top is a stunning fez turban of black felt and Persian lamb designed to complement a fur-trimmed cloth costume or a fur coat or cape. Smart vogue calls for fur-trimmed millinery. With the coronation in eight ostrich feathers are enjoying increasing popularity. A lovely British film star wears the delightful hat shown in the picture. It is an exquisite black felt with twin ostrich-feather plumes in two shades of rose. Another cunning new style for young girls that takes on an ostrich trim is the little felt shape that is somewhat a Juliet type, being a shallow round skull cap. This is worn far back on the head with two rose ostrich tips posed perkily at the front.

BLACK SHEERS FOR DAY AND EVENING

For daytime sheer black woolsens are smartly in fashion, and for evening the vogue for black nets and chiffons is everywhere apparent. Just now fringe trimming is important on the afternoon black sheer. The narrow fringe, placed row and row, forms cunning short cap-like sleeves with accents of fringe elsewhere on the bodice or at sash ends, or that which is tremendously chic—outlining the skirt hemline.

In the early showings the new daytime black sheers are feminized with the daintiest of white lingerie details in form of frilly jabots, and novel cuffs and becoming collars and bib effects.

The party-frock nets in black are made up in full-skirted styles with just yards and yards floating about.

Mustard Yellow and Beige Favored Colors for Spring

Look for these colors in the new spring fashions. In fact the vogue is on at this very moment for these flattering and very new-looking colors.

Best dressed women are favoring tweeds in beige and gowas of lightweight woolsens in beige or golden hues are the "last word" for mid-season, worn under the not-yet discarded coats, in the daytime.

For evening simply styled frocks of "old gold" satin are very pleasing. Some of the newer pleades are also in this color.

Peasant Jewelry Carved in brilliant peasant reds, greens, yellows, and blues, minute Tyrolean figures are set in a red and white catalin frame a fourth of an inch thick. The pins and clips are one-and-a-half inches square.

Alphabet on Blouses Letters of the alphabet are spilled all over the fine cashmere blouses that are worn with winter street suits. The letters are usually in bright colors over a dull background.

Quickest Way to Ease a COLD

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if necessary, in two hours. If you also have a sore throat as a result of the cold, dissolve 3 Bayer tablets in ½ glass of water and gargle with this twice. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever, aches, pains which usually accompany a cold. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from soreness and rawness of your throat. Your doctor, we feel sure, will approve this modern way. Ask your druggist for genuine Bayer Aspirin by its full name—not by the name "aspirin" alone.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Gas't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. My heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adierika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat and sleep, sleep fine and never feel better."
—Mrs. J. S. Miller.
Adierika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adierika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas, pain, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.
Dr. H. L. Shedd, New York, reports "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adierika greatly reduces bacteria and colonic bacteria."

GUNLOCK RANCH

SYNOPSIS

Sleepy Cat, desert town of the Southwest, is celebrating the Fourth of July. Jane Van Tambel, beautiful daughter of Gus Van Tambel, hated owner of Gunlock ranch, has arrived from the East for the first time. She watches the Frontier Day celebration in company with Dr. Carpy, crusty, tender-hearted friend of the community. Henry Sawdy of the Circle Dot ranch, tricked in a fake horse race the day before by Dave McCrossen, foreman at Gunlock, plans revenge. He enters Bill Denison, a handsome young Texas wrangler, in the rodeo which McCrossen is favored to win, and lays heavy bets on him. Unknown to the crowd, Denison is a champion horseman, McCrossen and the young stranger tie in the various events. McCrossen picks up a handkerchief from the ground riding full speed, facing backward. Denison easily follows suit. Denison then drops a cigarette carelessly. Reeling down the track full tilt, he picks up the cigarette. The verdict goes to Denison when McCrossen refuses to attempt the stunt. Entranced by the crowd, Denison agrees to perform another trick. Jane Van Tambel is asked for her bracelet and throws it on the track. Just as Denison rides to pick it up a yell from Barney Redstock, a McCrossen henchman, scares the pony, nearly costing the rider his life. Gun play is prevented by the intervention of Dr. Carpy. The young stranger returns the bracelet to Jane. Back on Gunlock ranch after two years in Chicago, because of her father's illness, Jane gets lost riding in the hills and meets Denison, now a neighbor, who guides her home. Not knowing her identity, he speaks bitterly of Van Tambel. She tells McCrossen who brought her home and he denounces Denison as a cattle thief.

It nettled her foreman. "He's the worst enemy your father ever had in this whole country. He's probably stole more Gunlock cattle than all the rustlers in the hills."

"I don't believe it."

"All right, don't," exclaimed McCrossen, nettled. "Just ask any of the boys around the ranch."

Jane rode into Sleepy Cat next morning with Bull Page, and when she had dispatched her business at the bank, she walked up street to Carpy's hotel.

She asked for Doctor Carpy, whom she remembered from her visit two years before. The doctor had a private office, entered both from the hotel lobby and the street.

The doctor was somewhat surprised at the sight of this trim, erect girl, eighteen or nineteen years of age, and seemingly a stranger, facing him. Obviously she was a newcomer to Sleepy Cat; the doctor did not at once place her. But his glance swept everything about her like a flash—her cowboy hat, her red, open-neck blouse with its dark flowing tie; her sloping feminine shoulders; delicate, pleasing bosom and slender, rounded hips; her short brown riding skirt and her soft, light-fitting tan boots. The rig seemed right for her brown hair and blue eyes. "Doctor Carpy?" her voice was clear and her manner possessed.

Carpy nodded. Despite his years, the sight of trim, girlish womanhood always stirred the blunt old surgeon to graciousness. The doctor doffed his hat and set his bag down on the desk with an air of satisfaction. "I'm Doctor Carpy. But I'm glad to see you don't need me or any other doctor."

"Why, Doctor?" exclaimed Jane demurely. There was a sophistication in the delicate droop of her eyelids, as she protested, that did not escape the doctor. It deceived him only as to her age. "That's hardly complimentary, Doctor Carpy," she ran on. "Have you forgotten Frontier day two years ago when we sat here on the porch together and in the rickety grandstand to see the riding?" Her eyes were laughing. Doctor Carpy was flustered. "What is your name?"

"Not a very popular one in this country. I'm Jane Van Tambel."

He knit his brows. "Why, that's maybe two years ago, and it was a little girl that I talked to here on the porch and took to the races. I'll be hanged! Two years! And you've sprung into full bloom. Full bloom!" repeated Carpy in undisguised admiration. "Where've you been ever since?"

"In Chicago. You look exactly the same, Doctor."

"Can't say I feel exactly the same, Jane," he said. His eyes still rested on her. "How long were you out last time?"

"Only two months or so. But I'm out now to stay, perhaps."

"I heard something lately about some women folks over to Gunlock, but I didn't hear of you being over there. If I had, I'd have been over there myself. So you're Gus' daughter," he mused.

"I'm his only child, Doctor."

"Never knew he had a child till you came out the first time. You threw your bracelet out on the track, didn't you?"

"That was partly your fault, Doctor."

"Was it? Well, you got it back."

"I did, but I never learned the name of the man that picked it up. All I could find out, when I asked, was that he was a rustler. You don't remember him, do you?"

"Of course I do. Who the hell said he was a rustler?"

"Why, that's what they told me at the ranch after we got home."

"Well, you've got some able-bodied lars at Gunlock—one in particular."

"Who's that?"

"No need to specify."

"Well, what's the name of the wonderful rider who picked up the bracelet? And the cigarette?"

"It was Bill Denison."

Jane started imperceptibly.

"He's living here now on his brother's hill ranch—brother's dead. Well, Jane, what in the world brought you out here?"

"Why, because Father's so ill." Doctor Carpy nodded. "You took care of him, Doctor, and recommended his going to Medicine Bend."

"It was pretty high for him here."

"—so he telegraphed for me to come out to look after the ranch."

"Small girl for big job, as the Indians would say."

Jane laughed. "That's what Father said when he saw me. You know two years ago was the first time in his life he'd ever seen me."

"I never knew till then that your father had a family."

"Father was peculiar, you know. A little while after I was born he just disappeared. It was years before we even knew where he was. Then he began sending money back to Mother sometimes, but he never wrote a line. Then Mother died, and I went to live with my Aunt Lou."

"How old are you, Jane?"

"Almost nineteen."

"Well, well!" mused Doctor Carpy still regarding his caller benevolently. "So you're Van Tambel's daughter. I guess you take after your mother. The doctor spoke evenly, but the implication did not pass unnoticed."

"Aunt Lou says I do," she returned with composure. "So Father said, too, when I went to see him at the hospital in Medicine Bend last month. And he told me, Doctor, to come to see you about his bill. I couldn't find one from you among the bills at the ranch. Did you ever send one?"

"Hell, Jane, I never sent a bill to anybody in my life."

"Doctor!" exclaimed his caller, startled both at the epithet and the statement. "I never heard of a doctor who didn't send out bills?"

Carpy laughed uproariously. "Why, that's nothing."

"But," she went on, "you took care of Father quite a while. He thinks you're the best doctor he ever had."

The sardonic note in the doctor's slight laugh as he suppressed an exclamation did not escape the girl. "But everyone out here says that or something just like it, so you must be used to it," she added. "Please tell me now, Doctor, what the bill is; I want to pay you."

The doctor waved Jane off. When he sidestepped, she kept after him. He dodged, and she persisted. At last she drew from her purse two one-hundred-dollar bills and laid them on the table in front of him. Carpy looked at them in astonishment. "Your father hasn't gone out of his mind, has he?"

"No," Jane retorted. "Why? That's not enough, is it?" she added shamefacedly. "I didn't know."

"It's at least twice too much. Did Gus send this?"

Jane had to fib a bit. She had added a hundred dollars herself to what her father had told her would be about right. If Carpy refused to name the bill, "He told me he wanted you well paid," she answered evasively.

Carpy pushed one bill back to Jane. "That's plenty."

"Doctor," she exclaimed, "I wish you'd take this other bill."

He shook his head. "Put it back in your purse. How are things out at the ranch?"

"You know how it is when the cat's away," laughed Jane.

"You must mean the wildcat," suggested Carpy, grinning half amiably.

"Everyone doing things his own way," she continued, ignoring the thrust. "Or not doing them at all."

"Mostly that, I guess."

"Mostly that," agreed Jane. "I can see I have plenty of work ahead."

"And you going on nineteen. And, I'll bet, never did a day's work in your life."

She straightened up. "I've worked every day of my life since I left high school at fifteen."

"What for?"

"Helping support Mother."

Carpy flushed with anger. "Do you mean to tell me that old curmudgeon father of yours didn't support you and your mother?"

Jane's eyes fell. She crimsoned. Then, collecting herself, she said, "I did not mean to tell you, Doctor. It slipped out. We've nearly always had to look out for ourselves—but I hate to talk about it, Doctor. Father says he's sorry. When I telegraphed him about Mother's death, he was all broken up and sent me so much money for the expenses that I didn't know what to do with it—though it was too late to do poor Mother any good. I know Father's eccentric, Doctor," Jane continued gravely. "But that doesn't explain, to me, why everybody out here hates him. And that's what I've wanted to ask somebody like you, Doctor, somebody who would tell me the truth. Why is Father so disliked? Is it because he is so rich?"

Dr. Carpy was taken aback. Here was an innocent and charming girl budding into a lovely womanhood, the daughter of an unscrupulous criminal and thoroughly detested cattle king, asking him to tell her why her father was so hated along the Spanish Sinks.

"Well, Jane," he said at length slowly,

"many a rich man is hated without good reason."

But if he thought he could get off with such a general observation he was mistaken. Jane pursued him. "Was that the case with Father?" she asked bluntly.

"Other rich men are hated," continued Carpy, unmoved, "not because they're rich, but because of the way they got rich!"

The force of his words was not lost on his listener.

"And if a man does get rich here, or anywhere else, they don't lose any time hatching up lies about him, do they?" she said indignantly. "Father warned me when I saw him at the hospital that I'd hear stories about him. But there are always two sides to stories."

She spoke with a fire that surprised even her listener, who was seasoned to surprises. "There's a chip of the old block," he said to himself. He regretted he had insinuated so much. But while he tried to soften the impact of his words, he would not entirely retreat.

"I probably ought to say, Jane, that I myself didn't get on well with your father. So my verdict might not be a fair one. Another man might give a more favorable opinion."

"What other man, Doctor?" she asked so coolly that she upset the doctor again.

"Why, offhand, I couldn't say right now, Jane."

"Doctor," said Van Tambel's daughter, rising, suddenly; he thought her still angry, but she really wasn't—"may I come again, just to talk with you, perhaps get a little advice—come without excuse at all to see you—just plain come?" she asked, stiffly but impulsively.

"Why, of course you may, Jane. Why not? Come any time, all times—my latching's always out for you," declared Carpy, swayed by an admiration he could not resist.

"And you won't harbor any feelings against me just because you don't like my father?"

"How could I?" Doctor Carpy almost gasped, with surprise at her pose. "Jane," he said, taking her hand, "just feel I'm your friend—I mean it. Sick or well, I'll be with you. I don't care a damn who your father is or was—is that plain, girl?"

"I'm awfully grateful, Doctor," she said collectedly. "If I get into a tight place, or into trouble, I'll know where I'll have a friend to turn to."

"Don't be afraid!" exclaimed Carpy emphatically. "You'll find you'll make plenty of friends out here just as soon as you get acquainted—don't be afraid!" he repeated.

Jane was at the door. She turned. "And Doctor," she said, with seeming innocence, "try to think of the name of the man who will give that more favorable opinion."

While Bull waited for his mistress during her talk with Carpy, he dropped into Jake Spotts' barber shop for a shave.

Spotts, who was bald as a billiard ball, expressed surprise when Bull gave his order. "Whiskers off?" he exclaimed.

"Take 'em off," repeated Bull doggedly.

"Must be goin' to get married?"

"Well, not exactly," explained Bull. "We got wimmen folks out to Gunlock now, 'n' the boys are sprucin' up."

"What wimmen folks?"

"Ain't you heard? Got a girl there, daughter of old Gus."

"Is that damned old critter down at the Medicine Bend hospital yet?" demanded Spotts—but his epithets were much more ferocious.

A heavy bass voice was heard from the second chair, where Oscar was shaving a man. "Slow, Jake," protested the man in the chair, "go slow—don't get to cussin' out old Van Tambel."

"All right, Panama; all right," returned Spotts, resignedly, "I plum forgot you were there."

"That man," gravely continued the man addressed as "Panama" and referring to Van Tambel, "will keep more Sleepy Cat folks out of heaven than the devil himself."

"How's that?" asked Spotts.

"Why? Because everybody cusses him so terrible whenever his name comes up."

"I guess that's right," agreed Spotts. "Anyway, there's more damned blasphemy goin' on in this town—"

"Careful, Jake; careful," admonished Panama.

"All right, Panama," grumbled the notoriously profane barber. Then, under his breath, so Panama could not hear, "It's got so a man can't say a damned word any more. What's the girl like, Bull?" he asked.

"Well," responded the Gunlock hearty, "she's comin' around eighteen or twenty; lively as a cricket and straight as a ramrod."

"Is she anythin' like old Van Tambel?"

"Not a bit. She's as nice and tidy a miss as you'd want to set eyes on."

"Then, there's one grand big mistake somewhere," declared Spotts, definitely. "That damned old critter couldn't be the father of a girl like that."

"Tut, tut, Jake," interposed Panama, rising solemnly from the chair and reaching for his collar and tie. "You promised to give up swearing."

"Well, hell, I can't quit all at once, can I?" demanded Spotts testily. "Ain't I doin' better every day?"

"Got to watch you, though, I guess," observed Panama sardoniously.

Bull caught sight of the man out of the corner of his eye. He was almost gigantic in proportions. Tall, stout, erect, with leonine features, shaggy brows and a heavy mop of coarse, straight, black hair, worn long and cut daily across the back of his neck.

UNCOMMON AMERICANS

"Garrison Finish"

"THAT was a garrison finish!" you exclaim when the home team, which has been trailing for most of the game, comes from behind to win in the last minute of play. And when you say that you are perpetuating the fame—not of a baseball or a football player, but of a jockey!

Edward H. Garrison was his name and he started life as a blacksmith's helper in New Haven, Conn. Then he began hanging around the racetracks and occasionally was given the job of exercising one of the thoroughbreds. It wasn't long until he was a full-fledged jockey, who made it a practice to hold his mounts in during the greater part of a race because he mistrusted the staying power of a "front runner." Then he began to boot and whip as they came down into the stretch where, as he said, "the money is."

In 1888 one of these "come-from-behind-to-win" drives carried an outsider, Dutch Roller, owned by James R. Keene, to victory in the Great Eastern handicap at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., and after that a "Garrison finish" became a byword on the turf. But more famous than that was Garrison's victory on Boundless in the $60,000 World Fair derby in Chicago in 1893.

When the entries in this race went to the post, Garrison began to stall. On one pretext or another, such as fixing his straps and his saddle, he managed to delay the start of the race for an hour and 42 minutes! He spent most of this time on the ground, thus taking the weight off his horse, while the other horses were fidgeting and wearing themselves out under the weight of their riders.

When at last they were sent away to the excited cheers of 100,000 spectators, Boundless' jockey trailed the field for almost the entire race. Then there was another "Garrison finish" and Boundless, a 15 to 1 shot, came home the winner of $60,000—or rather $59,000 for the judge fined Garrison $1,000 for his part in the delay at the post.

"Snapper" won, lost and partly regained a fortune in racing. He quit as a jockey in 1897 and later served as an official at numerous tracks in the South. His last days were spent in Florida where he died a few years ago at the age of sixty-two.

John Smith T.

His name was John T. Smith. But that was too common. So, in order to make people remember his name he began signing it "John Smith T." As such it has come down in history, albeit the figure of the man who bore it is a shadowy one. We know that he was famous in the early days of Missouri as a duelist and land speculator and that he caused considerable trouble for Moses Austin before that worthy went to the Southwest to play an important role in the history of the Republic of Texas.

Historians are beginning to suspect that John Smith T. was deeply involved in the Burr conspiracy, as was another John Smith—a United States senator from Ohio who missed being expelled from the senate by just one vote. But how prominent John Smith T. was in that misguided adventure is still unknown and he is remembered chiefly because he was uniquely successful in escaping oblivion when "Fate tried to conceal him by naming him Smith!"

At least four others who attempted to thwart Fate thus are recorded in the rolls of the United States army. J. Allen Smith of Pennsylvania changed his name to J. A. S. Lard when he entered the United States military academy at West Point but when he was graduated in 1825 he resumed his real name. One of his classmates was Joseph Brice Smith, who was graduated as Joseph S. Bryce, became a second lieutenant and resigned from the army in 1832. At the outbreak of the Civil war he became a captain of volunteers and in 1865 was brevetted a major for gallantry during the war. In 1830 a William Smith entered West Point as "William D. Fraser" but he was graduated under his right name. He rose to a captaincy and was brevetted a major in 1848 for "meritorious service" during the Mexican war.

The fourth Smith who changed his name rose the highest in military life. He was Morgan Lewis Smith, who for some unknown reason enlisted in the army in 1845 under the name of Martin L. Sanford and served as private, corporal and sergeant during the next five years. The outbreak of the Civil war found him using his real name again. He became colonel of the Eighth Missouri infantry in 1861 and was made a brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862, holding that rank until he resigned in 1865.

They're So Simple to Sew!

NOT only the sun, but the moon as well, will rise and set on these new styles created by Sew-Your-Own. This timely trio is one of the most wearable ever offered the members of The Sewing Circle. Yet, and you'll love this, there isn't a complication or a single trick detail to bother with in the whole program.

Pattern 1981—Pajamas so comfortable, restful and entirely satisfying that the alarm clock will have to ring twice—no foolin'—that's the boast and even the promise of this newest two piece outfit. It goes through your sewing machine like a dream, and really is one made up in satin or one of the vivid new prints. For lounging, the long sleeved version in velveteen or silk crepe is a knockout. It is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 (32 to 42 bust). Size 16 requires 5 yards of 39 inch material, with short sleeves 4 1/2 yards.

Pattern 1207—If your day begins at the crack of dawn with a standing invitation to prepare breakfast in nothing flat, or thereabouts, this is a house dress you can well appreciate. It's on in a jiffy and is just the thing for a two-handed, expert breakfast maker. The lines are clean cut and slenderizing. It has a large pocket that's helpful, and general prettiness that is conducive to one's mental and physical well being. It is available in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material, with long sleeves 4 3/4 yards.

Pattern 1978—This little blouse will add spice to your wardrobe at this time. Not only is it the essence of smartness and the last word in style, but the first word in simplicity, which is important to you who sew at home. It is feminine as to collar, delicately slender of waist and highly original throughout. You may have it with short or long sleeves, as you prefer. It is designed in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39 inch material, with long sleeves 4 3/4 yards.

General Motors Eager To Return men to Work

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., President of General Motors Corporation, issued the following statement today:

General Motors has only one desire in this situation. We are eager to return our 135,000 employees to work as quickly as possible. We are convinced, and the facts show, that most of them wish to get back to work.

The obstacle to peaceful settlement is the unlawful occupation of our plants by sit-down strikers who have no right, in law or reason, to hold possession of them. General Motors is willing to bargain collectively when it receives back its plants.

At Governor Murphy's request, we went to Lansing and agreed to begin bargaining. The union agreed to vacate the plants. We have lived up to our word. They made charges which have no basis in fact in an attempt to justify their own violation of the Lansing agreement.

The statement made by the union leader in Washington yesterday, clearly indicates that the strikers are acting under his orders. His statement also indicates clearly his determined will to dominate the industry and its workers by illegality and force.

The strikes were called in the beginning without any attempt, on the part of the union, to bargain collectively. We agreed to bargain with the union as soon as the sit-downers quit the plants. We imposed no conditions on the union whatsoever. We stated that, during negotiations, we would not attempt to operate struck plants, or to remove from them, any dies, tools, machinery or equipment.

In the interest of getting our people back to work, without precipitating riots and violence, and in the interest of bargaining, General Motors was willing, while there was hope of bargaining, to do anything reasonable.

We agreed to discuss the union's demands in a general conference with our executives.

We agreed to meet with the union leaders at Lansing, to arrange terms on which bargaining should begin.

We agreed not to try to operate struck plants while negotiations were on.

We agreed to go to Washington to cooperate with federal and state officials in their efforts over the last two days, to reach a basis of negotiations.

In the face of this willingness of ours to do everything to make possible a negotiation on the basis of reason, the union persists in its unlawful possession of our plants.

The present dead-lock cannot go on indefinitely. Our men wish to work. They are prevented by a small group of sit-down strikers and their leaders, who are willing to jeopardize the country's recovery, in order to impose dictatorship on our industry and on our people.

Our duty is plain. We have a responsibility to our employees. This strike is costing the employees of General Motors a million dollars a day, in wages. Our duty to them is to do everything possible to save them from further loss of income and from being thrown on relief.

The situation must be solved and I am sure that a way will be found to solve it fundamentally in the near future. In the meantime, so far as our ability to car-

Meet the Sea-Goin' Cowdrey Brothers

Uncle Sam's navy is one swell place to be! If you doubt it, ask the five husky Cowdrey brothers, from Illinois, all sailors aboard the flagship Pennsylvania. They spend spare time cramming for advanced ratings tests, and awaiting the day when a sixth brother attains seventeen, so that he can make out his enlistment papers. Photograph shows (left to right), Charles, Paul, Harry, Burnem, and Manley Cowdrey.

WISDOM ROOSTS

This wise owl has a lugubrious air about him and no wonder. The bird is deeply attached to Charles Kornet, of New York city, who found him in Bronx park and made a pet of him. But Charles, unable to care for the bird, took it to the Bronx zoo, where he is pictured just before he said good-by to his feathered pal. The owl likes his perch, which provides a means of gauging his size, which is 4 inches tall; weight, 9 ounces. The owl is one of the smallest of its kind on record.

Scientist Invents a "Flu" Killer

Inventor William Frank Wells, of the Harvard Medical school, Boston, is shown with his "floodlight" germ killing apparatus. According to Wells combination mercury and neon tubes with quartz glass tubing, and ultra violet rays given off, filter the atmosphere about the lamp, killing off all flu, and other germs. The apparatus—very successful in experiments—has already been installed in several New York hospitals.

Keeping Up With Science By Science Service

Samples of Ocean Bottom Obtained by a New Device

WASHINGTON.—Samples of ocean bottom gouged out of ten feet of solid mud or silt by a new type of apparatus have been undergoing analysis at the Carnegie Institution of Washington. They are expected to tell new stories of the geological and biological history of the depths, hitherto hidden because no previously existing form of apparatus could do more than scoop up a superficial handful of material from the ocean floor.

The device, called a core sampler, has been developed in the laboratories of the Carnegie Institution by Dr. Charles A. Piggot of the geophysical laboratory. It consists of a short, thick-walled cylinder with a plunger that can be driven forward by a charge of cannon powder. Attached is a ten-foot tube of tempered steel, which is called the bit. When this sampler comes into contact with the bottom, the powder is exploded and the bit is driven into the ocean floor.

Sample Comes up in Tube. The bit is lined with a thin brass tube, which is removable. The ocean bottom sample remains in this, to be corked up and filed away for study in the laboratories on shore. A new lining is shoved into the bit, the powder chamber in the gun reloaded, and the sampler is ready to take another bite.

The first real deep-water samples were taken through the co-operation of one of the great commercial cable companies, which had to send out a powerful repair ship, the Lord Kelvin, to mend a break in a trans-Atlantic cable.

Cystine's Presence Is Necessary for Growth of Cancer

WASHINGTON.—Cancer tissue, contrary to generally held opinion, requires the same sort of protein nourishment for its growth as normal tissue does. Experiments showing this are reported by Drs. Carl Voegtlin, J. M. Johnson and J. W. Thompson, of the United States public health service's national Institute of Health, in Public Health Reports.

The results of the studies, in which the growth of cancers in mice were checked by certain types of diet, cannot be applied in the treatment of cancer in man, Dr. Voegtlin emphasized.

New fundamental knowledge of the chemistry of cancer growth, however, has been gained.

Needs Cystine to Grow. The growth of breast cancer in mice can be checked, Dr. Voegtlin and associates found, by feeding the animals a diet deficient, though not entirely lacking, in cystine. This chemical is an amino acid, one of the essential building stones of all tissue proteins. Cystine is also part of another chemical, glutathione, which is widely distributed in body tissues.

After the cancer growth in the mice had been checked for about a month by the diet deficient in cystine, repeated injection of glutathione caused a marked stimulation of the cancer growth. This shows that glutathione is necessary for the rapid growth of cancer tissue just as it is apparently necessary for growth of normal tissue.

Old Lady of Ice Age Found in California

LOS ANGELES.—An Old Lady of the Ice Age is America's newest claimant for the title of oldest inhabitant.

Unearthed near here by federal WPA workmen, the skull and other bones of the ancient individual have been identified by anthropologists as belonging to "a female well advanced in years."

Dr. A. O. Bowden and Ivan Lopatin, anthropologists of the University of Southern California, have reported the verdict to the journal Science.

The skull when unearthed early in 1936 attracted quick scientific notice because, in the same geologic stratum of earth, bones of a mammoth were discovered. Dr. Bowden concludes that the 13-foot blanket of earth covering the ancient woman and the elephant has not been disturbed, and that the old woman must have spent with her own eyes the strange big animals, such as mammoths and saber-toothed tigers in the closing days of America's Ice Age.

Students in College Suffer Severely From Eyestrain

Damage to Vision in Four Years Measured

THE student pays dearly for a college education when, in addition to financial costs, he gives up part of his precious eyesight. It has long been suspected that four years of close and long attention to books might impair the vision. Tests of grade and high school students have been made to determine the effect of school work on eyesight, but there has been little actual knowledge of what happens to the eyesight of college students.

The extent of damage to vision resulting from the strain on the eyes incurred in obtaining a college education has now been measured on one thousand University of Minnesota students.

Many Defective at Start. Of these thousand, about one in six had seriously defective vision on entering college, Dr. Ruth E. Boynton, associate professor of preventive medicine and public health at the university, found. At the end of the four years in college, this percentage had increased. About one in four of the students had seriously defective vision at the time of graduation.

Most of these students were enrolled in the medical school or the college of education. Upon entering the university, eye examinations showed that about half of them had normal vision. About another third (30 per cent) had slight defects in vision, and 18 per cent, not quite a fifth, had serious defects in vision. The number with seriously defective vision increased to nearly a fourth (24 per cent) by the time of graduation.

College work was hardest on the eyesight of those students who started out with the greatest visual handicap, Dr. Boynton told a conference of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Few Hormones Are Employed by the Pituitary Gland

WASHINGTON.—The pituitary, master gland of the body, plays its part in growth, sex, maternal instinct and other acts of life's drama by means of only a few instead of many hormones or chemical messengers—three or four at the most instead of twelve or more.

This revolutionary idea of the number of hormones produced by the pituitary gland appears in a report by the Carnegie Institution of Washington of the activities of members of its staff engaged in research on the endocrine glands.

For years the pages of scientific literature have been crowded with reports of new-found activities of the pituitary gland. Each of these, it was thought, was due to a separate hormone produced by the gland for the particular activity observed.

Besides growth and sex, the gland affects the body's use of sugar and water, the activity of the thyroid and adrenal glands, milk production and maternal instinct.

Prolactin a Busy Hormone. The latest studies seem to show that many of these activities are due to a single hormone of the pituitary, called prolactin because its first discovered effect was its control of milk production.

This hormone now is reported to be the one responsible for the pituitary's effect on sugar utilization and on the adrenal glands. With the thyroid-stimulating hormone of the pituitary, prolactin is responsible for the pituitary's effect on growth. It also affects the sex glands and, at least in some species, the liver.

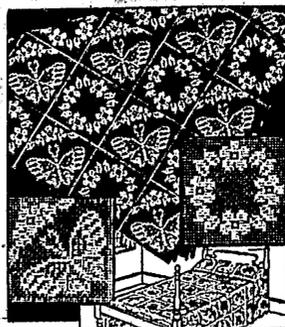

Carnegie scientists engaged in the researches giving this new conception of the pituitary gland were: Drs. Oscar Riddle, Robert W. Bates, J. P. Schooley, G. C. Smith, E. L. Lahr and M. W. Johnson. Research by scientists at other institutions contributed to the new picture of the powerful and versatile pituitary gland.

Ancient Corpse's Last Meal Under Microscope

BERLIN.—The last meal of a corpse many centuries old, found in a bog where acid water had preserved the body against decay, has been made the subject of scientific examination by Prof. Fritz Netolitzky of the University of Czernowitz, Poland.

A sample of the contents of the digestive tract, on microscopic study, proved to consist mainly of rye and millet, both very badly threshed and ground. There were also traces of some kind of a pod vegetable, possibly peas.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward signs that she is a victim of periodic pain. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "smiling through."

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Than some one in a silk hat comes along.

The Household

By LYDIA LE BARON WALKER

TAKE a bath can be one of the enjoyable acts of cleanliness. So many of these are just work, the measure of pleasure consisting in the after knowledge that dirt, dust and impurities have been banished. So it is good to realize that personal comfort can be coupled with the bath in cold weather, and not eliminated when the joy of sea bathing must be abandoned for a season.

The zest of salt water bathing can be imparted in minor degrees by putting a good sprinkling of sea salt in the water in the tub. Salts of various kinds are beneficial when thus added, and if these are perfumed, one of the luxuries of tub bathing is imparted. Epsom salts are a base for these de luxe salts. To them are added ingredients chief among which is the perfume. The salts themselves are cheap, especially when bought in five pound quantities. This makes it possible for everyone, who so wishes, to enjoy the benefits of the salts, even though they prefer but must forego the delicate aroma which rises from perfumed bath salts which are not present in the plain salts.

Bath Soaps.

The matter of bath soaps is one for each person to decide for himself, unless advised by a physician of some particular kind best suited to his skin. Some persons choose a soap that floats. This can be homemade as well as purchased. Select the one which by experiment suits you best. These soaps are seldom of the exotic variety, but this is not so important to some persons, as being able to pick the cake up without searching for it when the soap slips out of the hand. The majority of persons, however, delight more in the fragrance of the soap when, with this pleasant element, is coupled a quality congenial to the skin.

Those who like to use a nail brush for fingers and toes while in the bath, do not choose a brush that floats. As will all those with brittle secured in wood.

A towel rack above the tub, or a rack so conveniently placed that the face cloth and the ample bath towel can be reached from the tub without a far stretch, or having actually to get out of the tub, adds decidedly to bathing comforts. And be sure to have a soap dish that fastens over the edge of the tub.

Sleeping Comfort.

Blanket sheets or sheet blankets, whichever you prefer to call them, have again put in their appearance as a recognized household linen closet furnishing. They help solve the problem of sleeping in luxurious warmth now, as in olden days. The necessity for blanket sheets in settler homes, and even in much later periods, was such that household looms were kept busy weaving enough of these thin wool sheets to supply the requirements of the family guest-room beds. By the use of these sheets, the weight of covers could be decreased on a bed without any lessening of warmth of the sleeper.

Among the treasures of many a family are old-time blanket sheets. Two homespun sheets of wool, from sheep that grazed in the pastures of an ancestral farm in 1790, are among my prized possessions. What is more they still are used either for light weight summer blankets or winter blanket sheets for comfortable warmth.

The modern blanket sheets are not generally in plain natural colored wool, of a creamy hue approaching the color of linen sheets as closely as possible. More frequently than not, the sheets are colored and of wool finish cotton yarn or cotton and wool, instead of all wool. Plaid is a favorite design for them, although there are other patterns and also blankets in beautiful pastel shades.

A pair of blanket sheets may be wanted, but one is apt to be used either as a top, or under sheet, as preferred. Regulation cotton or linen sheets are not eliminated. The blanket sheets come between these, and may not be among the covers of the bed when made up, but be put on between the sheets should the night prove bitter cold at bedtime. The warmth of the textile cuddles the body comfortably immediately on getting into bed, while cotton and linen sheets have to acquire warmth from the heat of the body.

Finishing Woodwork.

New unfinished woodwork can be left in its natural color or it can be stained, which usually emphasizes the figure of the grain as well as changing its color. It can then be varnished in either a glossy or a dull varnish or a wax finish may be applied.

SOME HINTS FOR INFORMAL PARTY

Suggestions on Menu and Table Arrangements.

By EDITH M. BARBER

SOME readers are interested in informal parties, as requests for suggestions prove. Perhaps you will all be interested in the questions and answers.

"I am having a buffet supper for about fifteen people and would like some ideas in the way of menus and table arrangements. May a punch, instead of cocktails, be served? It seems to me that it would be easier to serve." Let's take the last question first. Punch is easier for a buffet supper, because it can be made ahead of time and also because guests can help themselves from the punch bowl. Of course, some cocktails can also be mixed ahead of time, but the shaker must be refilled often unless you have an unusually large one or several at hand.

Whatever menu you serve, food and plates, silver and napkins should be arranged on a large table in order. First plates, then the hot dishes, salad, bread, relishes, then silver and napkins. If coffee is served with the meal it is usually better to put it on a separate table, unless the latter is unusually large.

Now about the menu: The main dish is usually hot and must be selected with regard to the fact that it is to be eaten with a fork from a plate balanced precariously, unless, of course, you have enough small tables so that each guest may have a solid surface at his command. Unless, however, you actually set card tables, meats, such as chicken, which demands carving, should be avoided. Very tender cold meats or cold meat loaf may be used if you like. Otherwise, choose one of the following for your main course: Veal paprika with sour cream sauce, oysters in sherry, or creamed with celery, breast of turkey with special sauce, creamed lobster or crab with mushrooms, chicken pie or a casserole of meat.

For the salad select mixed greens or grapefruit with grapes or avocado with romaine, lettuce or endive, combined with a french dressing. Salad may be served in a bowl, or may be arranged in lettuce cups for individual servings on a large platter.

From another reader comes a request for a menu which may be served on plates from the kitchen to guests seated in comfortable chairs around the room. She asks if beer may be served with lobster Newburg and if soup or salad could be omitted. Beer may be offered to guests, but there should be coffee as well for those who prefer it. Soup is seldom served for suppers of this sort unless there is plenty of help in the kitchen. Any one of the salads mentioned used in the buffet menu may be chosen. Her last question concerns the serving of a meal by one maid. When the guests are ready, the filled plates may be brought in and offered with the napkins and silver to each guest.

Boeuf en Daube.

- 6 strips of bacon
- 3 pounds round steak, cut into two-inch pieces
- Flour
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup red wine
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 3 cloves garlic
- 9 onions
- 9 carrots, sliced
- 12 peppercorns
- 8 cloves
- 4 bay leaves

Cook bacon in skillet until light brown, but not crisp. Drain and cut into 1-inch pieces. Sprinkle the beef with flour and brown on all sides in bacon fat. Add water and salt, bring to a boil and turn into large casserole. Add remaining ingredients and bacon, cover and bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees Fahrenheit.

Veal Paprika.

- 2 pounds veal steak
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 3/4 cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon paprika

Cut the veal into two-inch pieces and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cut gashes in the garlic and cook in fat three minutes. Add meat and sear on all sides until light brown. Add water, cover and simmer over a low heat for one hour. Add cream and paprika, reheat. Remove garlic and serve with fried waffles.

Lobster a la Newburg

- 2 pounds lobster
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- Salt
- Paprika and nutmeg
- 1 cup thin cream
- 3 egg yolks
- 2 tablespoons sherry

Remove meat from cooked lobster and cut into cubes. Melt butter, stir in flour and seasonings and add cream gradually. Add lobster and when thick add egg yolks and flavoring, mixed with some of the hot sauce.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Making 1937 A Safe Year.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.— This time last year we were all dedicating ourselves to a crusading campaign to make 1936 a safer year for motorists.

We were going to cut down the volume of traffic disasters, going to reduce the appalling mortality toll which had marked the preceding year.

Irvin S. Cobb

So what? Well, here's what. The end of 1936 showed an all-time top for deaths on the public highways—roughly 37,450, or approximately 450 more than in 1935.

So now we'll piously resolve, all over again, to do something about this hideous destroyer which kills by the thousands and maims by the hundreds of thousands and makes our fatalities and casualties in the world war seem, by comparison, puny.

And what will come of the renewed agitation? The National Safety Council will wage a gallant, hopeless fight, various local organizations and civic bodies will do what they can, newspapers will rail and statesmen will deplore—and the ghastly record of slaughter will keep right on mounting.

The Value of "Experts"

I HEARD a supposed expert advising a director, bound for Africa to shoot a big game picture, that practically everything about his kit was wrong except possibly his rear collar button.

It reminded me of the pampered millionaire's son who was heading for the arctic circle. He called in a veteran of polar expeditions and told about his outfit. All went well until he started describing his parka.

"It's fine," he said, "made of seal-skin and the hood all fringed with wolverine and—"

"One moment," said the professional. "Is the hairy surface of the pelt worn next to your body?"

"No," said the youth. "The fur is outside, of course."

"All wrong," pronounced the critic. "Thermal demonstration has proved that to conserve the bodily heat the hide should be turned so the fur is used as a lining and the smooth or naked side is exposed, thus cutting the wind."

The youngster burst out laughing. "Have I said something to excite your mirth?" demanded the specialist.

"Oh, not at all," said the amateur. "I was just thinking what a darned fool a buffalo is."

Americans in England

RENEWED excitement has been aroused in the British isles by the discovery that yet another member of the royal family—this time it's the young duke of Kent—not only shows a regrettable tendency to enjoy himself as any normal natural, healthy youngster might, but, what is even more distressing, has lately been seen in the company of an American woman.

Oh, these pestiferous Yankee women! In spite of all that can be done, it's almost certain some of them will witness the coronation, and several thousands of them will break their girlish necks trying to do so.

Militarizing the C. C. C.

REPRESENTATIVE NICHOLS of Oklahoma is trying to accomplish something which should have been done long ago. He's preparing a bill to make military reserve units of the C. C. C. boys, which would mean discipline and morale for thousands of young Americans and, if needed, would provide the nucleus of a trained citizen-army.

Seems to me there is every reason why congress should enact the legislation, not as a warlike gesture, but as a peace-time move for national defense and national protection. But watch the professional pacifists fight it—professional pacifists being well-meaning folks who believe in Santa Claus, turning the other cheek, and the beautiful, if slightly impractical theory, that a white rabbit will be perfectly safe among a pack of greedy coyotes.

Actors Trading Careers.

HALF-WAY across the continent, actors who have succeeded in Hollywood and are headed east, hoping to break into the legitimate stage on Broadway, pass actors who, having succeeded on Broadway, are heading west, hoping to break into the movies in Hollywood. It is a two-way traffic which grows heavier all the time.

Thus we see how human hopes are uplifted and how curious a thing is human nature, not to mention human ambition. Also it's good for railroad travel.

But if the jaybirds suddenly decided to trade their nests for woodpecker holes and the woodpeckers fell in heartily with the idea, we superior creatures could laugh at feathered friends for being such idiots.

Items of Interest to the Housewife

When baking candied sweet potatoes turn them frequently to permit even browning.

Wash metal door hinges occasionally with warm soapsuds, wipe dry and rub with oil to prevent their rusting.

Salted peanuts, freshened by heating in oven, are very good served with chocolate sauce on vanilla ice cream. The young people like this combination especially well.

The corduroy clothes so popular with young people will launder easily, if washed in mild soap and plenty of warm water. Rinse well, shake and hang up to dry.

Outlook Justifies State Participation In New York Fair

Whalen Voices Opinion in Inviting Governor and People to the 1939 Exposition

NEW YORK, (Special).—In a letter of invitation to the governors of 47 states, Grover Whalen, President of the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation, points out that the commercial consequences of the international exposition under construction in New York City are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state in the nation.

"Fifty million persons from every walk in life, from every state in the United States, from every country in the world are expected to attend the fair," writes Mr. Whalen. "The great American market with its tremendous consumer purchasing power will be represented by these visitors. They will comprise a true cross-section of America."

The World's Fair, according to Mr. Whalen, will be a magnificent spectacle, entertaining and instructive. It will attempt to answer the questions "What kind of a world have we built? What kind of a world are we building? What kind of a world can we build?" With collateral improvements, it will represent a total investment of more than $125,000,000 by the Fair Corporation and the governmental, industrial and other participants. The fair site park is a tract of 1216 1/2 acres, almost at the geographical and population center of New York City.

Construction of buildings and roads, grading, dredging, planting and landscaping are already under way, based upon a schedule which calls for completion of all construction operations before January 1, 1939, to allow four months for final decorations and installation of exhibits preparatory to the opening of the fair on April 30.

The opening date commemorates the inauguration, on April 30, 1789, of George Washington as the first President of the United States.

In the government area, and near an imposing federal hall to be erected by the United States Government, the fair will provide a "Hall of States" in which the significant contributions of each state in laying the foundations for the better world of tomorrow can be proudly displayed, says Mr. Whalen.

His letter supplements an invitation to participate in the fair extended to the governors on November 20 by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of the last state of New York. Governor Lehman pointed out that the State of New York has already appropriated, to date, $2,100,000 for commencement of construction of boulevards, service roads, bridges, and certain other basic improvements the State will make at the exposition site or its approaches. The New York legislature further, during 1939 passed an act creating the New York World's Fair Commission of 10 members and providing funds in aid of this body's preparation of plans for a state building and exhibit and for active state participation in the fair.

New Line to Open

Amarillo, Tex. Jan. 27 Colorado and the Gulf Coast will be brought closer together, and an outlet for a vast plains agricultural empire will be established, February 1, when the Santa Fe Railway opens its new line between Boise City, Okla., and Las Animas, Colo.

Special trains out of Denver, Pueblo and Amarillo will inaugurate rail service over the 116-mile route, and scores of communities will join in celebrating the event. Governors of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico have been asked to participate.

Completion of the new line, the longest piece of rail construction in the United States since 1931, will save from 142 to 226 miles in the movement of freight over the Santa Fe to and from Colorado, from and to points in Texas, and on portions of the Santa Fe in Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Much of this saving will be accomplished between Denver and Amarillo, where the new short-cut, by connecting with other Santa Fe lines, will provide improved transportation facilities for portions of Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Kansas, and pave the way for the continued development of that area.

Forest News

Capitan, N. Mex.— The CCC Side camp at Devil's Canyon has completed its work on the Devil's Canyon Road and have made it a good all weather road. Several of the bad curves have been eliminated and the grade cut down in the steepest places. The boys have also been busy rebuilding the Schoolhouse camp ground, putting in new fireplaces, toilets, a log shelter, and all of the small work in logs. This should be a very attractive ground for picnics next summer.

In addition the men have built several miles of range fence. The work is in charge of Superintendent Woods, Foremen Baird and Redding.

"Taxation," said Aristotle, "is the art of plucking from the goose the largest amount of feathers with the least amount of squawk." The average person who thinks of his own taxes in terms only of the direct assessments he pays would be surprised to know that he actually works more than two months out of the year to pay taxes - most of which are hidden in the cost of things he buys.

Sparrows Are Yec-ductive It is not unusual in some parts of the country for a single pair of English sparrows to rear 20 to 30 young in the course of a year. Assuming the annual product of a pair to be 24 young, of which half are females and half males, and assuming that all live, together with their offspring, in ten years the total progeny would be 275,718,983,000.
