Lyric Theatre Being Remodeled

Mr. R. A. Walker of the Lyric theatre is putting in many improvements so that this will be one of the best if not the best theatre in this part of the state.

The building is to be air-conditioned, fire proof, dust-proof and sound proof. A new floor will be added and handsome new seats will be installed.

Mr. Walker bought 4000 bricks to fireproof the basement where a large oil burner will be installed, and the heat carried through pipes 24 inches in diameter to all parts of the building.

In the summer a large washer placed in the rear of the building washes the air as it enters. It is sent to the fan in front of the cellar which throws the cooled air out into the building through the ducts which are used for heating in cold weather.

The improvements which are to be added will cost four or five thousand dollars.

Justice Van Devanter to Quit the Bench

WILLIS VAN DEVANTER, associate justice of the Supreme court, informed President Roosevelt that he would retire from active service on that tribunal on June 2. He conveyed the information in a letter sent to the White House shortly before the senate judiciary committee was to vote on the President's bill for enlargement of the Supreme court.

Justice Van Devanter, who is seventy-eight years old, has been one of the so-called conservative group on the Supreme court bench.

Edward and Wallis to Marry on June 3

EDWARD, duke of Windsor and former king of Great Britain, and Mrs. Wallis Warfield are to be married on June 3 at the Chateau de Candé. This was announced in London. In the controversy between the government and the duke, who was backed up by his brother, King George, and their mother, concerning official recognition of the marriage, the government seemed to have won. It was understood the wedding would be extremely private and that no member of the royal family would be present. There will be only a few guests in addition to the witnesses and the servants. Lieutenant Forwood, the duke's equerry, carried to Buckingham palace information of the duke's final plans. He also invited the London Daily Mail and London Daily Express to send reporters to the wedding. These papers have been most friendly to Edward and Mrs. Warfield.

President Insistent on His Complete Program

IN CONFERENCES with Democratic congressional leaders and department heads, President Roosevelt was insistent on the carrying out of his program without any compromises. He made it clear that he still demanded passage of his bill for enlargement of the Supreme court as it was submitted and that he would not be satisfied with fewer than six new associate justices, although his advisers told him frankly that the measure in this form faced probable defeat in the senate.

Mr. Roosevelt also demanded the following legislative action:

A substitute for the outlawed NRA, covering minimum wages and maximum hours, child labor, and the regulation of industrial trade practices.

An appropriation of 1 billion 800 million dollars for work relief in the 1933 fiscal year.

A start on farm tenancy legislation, providing federal loans for sharecroppers and other tenant farmers with which to purchase their own land.

The declaration by congress of an integrated, national power, flood control, and navigation policy, contemplating the ultimate development of the nation into eight regional TVAs.

As for economy measures, the President rejected the senate plan calling for a mandatory horizontal slash of 10 per cent in all appropriation bills and indicated a preference for the house plan, which would give him discretionary power to reduce all appropriations by 15 per cent.

The house appropriations committee already had yielded in the matter of the work relief appropriation, making it a billion and a half. A brigade of fifty women organized by the Workers' Alliance of America gathered in Washington to demand that congress appropriate $3,000,000,000 for relief in 1933, and will sit in the house gallery during the debate.

Process Tax Refund Case Won by Government

NO DECISIONS involving the constitutionality of the social security act were handed down by the Supreme court, but that tribunal did give an opinion that upheld the provisions of the 1930 revenue law restricting refunds of processing and floor stock taxes illegally imposed by the agricultural adjustment act. The treasury was saved nearly a billion dollars by this decision.

"While the taxpayer was undoubtedly hurt when he paid the tax, if he has obtained relief through the shifting of its burden he is no longer in a position to claim an actual injury and the refusal of a refund in such a case cannot be regarded as a denial of constitutional right," said the opinion.

Another decision upheld the chain store tax law enacted by the Louisiana legislature at the order of the late Huey Long, the court holding that states may tax chain stores on the basis of the number of units in the chain outside as well as inside the state.

"Inconsistency" Is Cry of the Economists

ECONOMISTS in congress denounced what they termed the "appalling inconsistency" of the majority, but the spenders went right ahead with their spending plans. The house passed the $115,000,000 appropriation bill for the Department of the Interior, which measure carries $40,000,000 for the reclamation bureau to be used for the building of dams and reservoirs to increase the acreage of tillable land. At the same time the house agriculture committee introduced a new farm bill, the main object of which is the controlling of excessive farm surpluses and which calls for the expenditure of $287,000,000 annually. This latter bill is based on the recommendations of Secretary Wallace's farm conference of February but it was declared it did not as yet have the full sanction of the administration.

Viscount Snowden, British Labor Leader, Is Dead

PHILIP SNOWDEN, who in his active days was regarded as the brainiest man in the Labor party of Great Britain, died of heart disease at the age of seventy-two. Twice he served as chancellor of the exchequer, and then was elevated to the peerage as Viscount Snowden of Ickneshaw. Lord Snowden had been crippled since he was twenty-seven, when he was knocked from a bicycle. He was a pacifist, an atheist and a Marxist Socialist, and he had a vitriolic tongue that made him feared in parliamentary debates. Though he had disagreed violently with Ramsay MacDonald when the latter was Laborite prime minister, MacDonald said when Snowden died: "A great man of our age has passed by."

Heart disease also carried off a picturesque figure in American politics, Percy L. Gasaway, former cowpuncher who served one term as congressman from Oklahoma after being a judge in that state. In Washington he always wore exaggerated cowboy garments.

Al Smith Sails for His First Visit to Ireland

NOTWITHSTANDING his certainty that he would be senicled, Alfred E. Smith sailed on the steamship Conte di Savoia for his first ocean voyage and first trip to the old country. As he departed, Al said: "This is a regular pleasure trip. I've never been to the other side and I'm going now, and I want to have a good time. Ireland? Yes, I'm going to Ireland. A priest wrote me that he knew where my grandmother's house was in Westmeath, and I'm going there and look it over. I have no relatives there, but I want to look over Ireland."

Steel Industry Tackled by Lewis' C. I. O.

PHILIP MURRAY, chairman of the steel workers' organizing committee of the C. I. O., called the first major strike in the campaign of Lewis and his associates to unionize the steel industry. On his order the employees of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation plants in Pittsburgh and Allquippa walked out after Murray had failed to get from the company a signed collective bargaining contract. The strike call affected 27,000 men. Thousands of pickets surrounded the Jones & Laughlin mills and kept non-union workers from entering.

Next day the strike spread to the plants of the Pittsburgh Steel company at Monessen and Allenport, Pa., where 5,900 men went out. Murray said it was inevitable that the Republic, Youngstown, Bethlehem and Crucible steel concerns would be involved very soon.

The Jones & Laughlin corporation agreed to sign a contract if the union won a majority vote in a government-supervised election.

Treasury's Silver to Be Stored Near West Point

ANNOUNCEMENT was made by the Treasury department that approval had been obtained from the secretary of war for the use of a four acre tract near West Point, N. Y., for a depository to store silver.

The treasury's 1934 building plan contemplated the expenditure of $500,000 on the depository. It will be similar in some respects to the gold depository at Fort Knox, Ky., except that the silver will not be stored in vaults.

Mussolini Says Italy Must Be Self-Sufficient

MEMBERS of Italy's corporative guild, which includes all phases of Fascist life, held their annual meeting in Rome and loudly cheered Premier Mussolini when he declared that Italy will make herself self-sufficient economically even if she "has to work 25 hours a day." Il Duce asserted his program was a guarantee of peace and a surety of "the life, the future and the power" of the Italian people. He continued:

"For us it is impossible in a world armed to the teeth to abandon such a policy. It would mean putting ourselves tomorrow, in case of war, at the mercy of those who have all and who can make war without limitation of time or consumption."

"Fascism does not wish to absorb the economic life of the people; because Fascism doesn't wish to become paralytic as happens under bolshevism."

Ambassador Dodd Hears of American Fascist Plan

WILLIAM E. DODD, American ambassador to Germany, has stepped into the limelight and the result may be embarrassing to him and to the administration. In a long letter to Senators Buckley of Ohio and Glass of Virginia he urges all Democrats to unite in support of the President and thus avert a dictatorship in the United States. It was assumed he meant the President's Supreme court enlargement bill should be supported, since that is the measure that split the party in congress. Dodd, former professor in the University of Chicago, said he had been told by certain friends that an American, not named, "who owns nearly a billion dollars," was prepared to set up a fascist regime which presumably he would control. There are not many American billionaires now, but no one has ventured to guess publicly the man Dodd has in mind.

"There are individuals of great wealth who wish a dictatorship and are ready to help a Huey Long," he wrote. "There are politicians, some in the senate, I have heard, who think they may come into power like that of the European dictators in Moscow, Berlin, and Rome."

Congressional leaders were quick to take up Dodd's assertion, Senator Borah of Idaho leading off with the declaration that the ambassador was an irresponsible scandal monger and a disgrace to his country. "I have an idea," said Borah, "that his supposed dictatorship is the figment of a diseased brain." Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota, radical, introduced a resolution calling upon the State department to demand that Dodd name the billionaire in question.

In the house Representative Fish of New York denounced Dodd, and demanded that he be recalled.

Danish King's Silver Jubilee Celebrated

CHRISTIAN X, king of Denmark, and all his subjects celebrated the monarch's silver jubilee in Copenhagen and throughout the kingdom. The festivities were marked by characteristic simplicity but clearly demonstrated the affection the people have for the tall sixty-six-year-old ruler who has been on the throne for twenty-five years. In the gaily decorated capital there was a joint session of parliament, a reception at the palace, a procession through the streets, and a gala dinner and a torchlight parade. Kings Haakon of Norway and Gustav of Sweden were among the notables present.

House Refuses to Make the CCC Permanent

REMEMBER, this is the President's pet project. He wants the CCC made permanent, not extended for a two year period.

So shouted Representative William P. Connery of Massachusetts at the members of the house. But the house would not heed the implied warning and voted, 224 to 34, in favor of giving the CCC two more years of life. This was in committee of the whole, and next day this action was confirmed.

The senate, forgetting all about economy, approved, 46 to 29, an amendment to the second deficiency appropriation bill which commits the government to the expenditure of 112 millions on a new Tennessee river dam at Gilbertsville, Ky.

Wants President to Call Monetary Conference

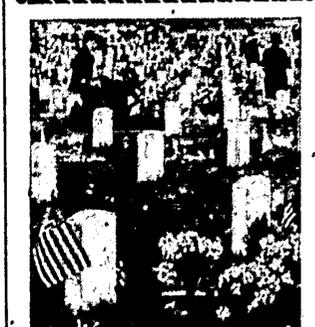

REPRESENTATIVE DIES of Texas has proposed to congress that President Roosevelt call an international monetary conference for the purpose of seeking an equitable distribution of the world's supply of gold and silver. Specifically, he would have the conference:

1. Stabilize currencies on some permanent basis that would prevent wide fluctuations in their purchasing power.
2. Establish a bimetallic-gold and silver-base for the currencies.
3. Distribute the world's gold and silver supply more equitably so as to give each nation proper support for its currency and an adequate medium of international exchange.
4. Make available to the countries involved the raw materials which they need.

"Angel of Mons" Story Made Plenty Realistic

THE legend of the miraculous intervention of angelic bowmen under the patron saint of England, St. George, during the British retreat from Mons in August, 1914, was invented by the English author, Arthur Machen. He wrote a story called "The Bowmen" which appeared in the Daily News of London on September 29, 1914. This was an entirely fictitious account of how, during the days when the British were hard pressed by the enemy, an English soldier happened to utter the motto (in Latin): "May St. George be a present help to the English."

Immediately after he had spoken, he saw "beyond the trench, a long line of shapes, with a shining about them. They were like men who drew the bow, and with another shout, their cloud of arrows went singing and tingling through the air toward the German hosts."

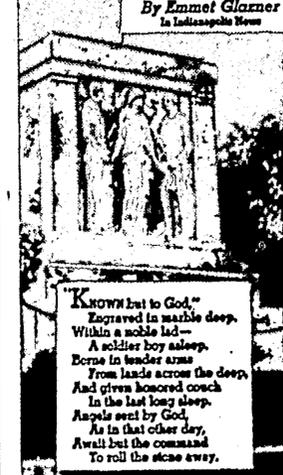

This story was immediately taken up as an authentic record, states a writer in the Detroit News. Soldiers back from the trenches told of it as eyewitnesses.

Nation Pays Tribute to War Dead in Arlington

ARLINGTON National Cemetery just across the Potomac from the Lincoln Memorial is the scene each Memorial day of elaborate but solemn ceremonies honoring America's hero dead. These ceremonies are held in the magnificent Memorial Amphitheater provided through the efforts of the Grand Army of the Republic as a fitting memorial to our soldier dead and a suitable assembly place for the thousands in attendance at the services on Decoration day.

Usually attended by the President of the United States, other high government officials and foreign diplomats, Arlington Decoration day services are to the nation what the local observances are to each community throughout the land, observes a writer in Pathfinder Magazine.

For the benefit of those who have never visited Arlington cemetery and its magnificent Memorial Amphitheater a short description of the circular white marble structure will be interesting. The open-air structure covers an area of 34,000 square feet. In the amphitheater are seats of marble for 5,000 people. Several thousand more can find seats and standing room around the sides. On the stage there is room for several hundred more.

The eastern facade of the amphitheater overlooks the Potomac affording an excellent view of the Lincoln Memorial, the Washington Monument, the new government buildings, the Capitol and the city of Washington. Just across the roadway from the eastern stairway is the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Civil War Men of Note

The Twenty-first regiment of the O. V. I., recruited in northern Ohio at the outset of the Civil war, was noted for the men among its ranks who rose to distinguished heights. Of its recruits, Stanley Matthews became associate justice of the United States Supreme court and Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley became presidents.

Fate of Millions Still Unknown

Of the 18,000,000 soldiers and sailors who died or disappeared as a result of the World war, the fate of more than 7,000,000 is still unknown, asserts a writer in Collier's Weekly.

BEAUTY'S DAUGHTER

CHAPTER I

Victoria Herrendeen came up from the beach with her sandy fingers tight in her father's hand. Those girls down there had been mean to her because she didn't understand the French they were jabbering with Mademoiselle, and they had laughed at her. When Dad had appeared, with his usual smile, wearing his old blue coat and the loose old white trousers Mother sometimes let him wear on a summer morning, he had looked to his daughter like an angel of light. Here was her unfailing friend and champion.

He came down from the San Francisco office when he could; not every week-end, but at least every other week-end, and when he was there Victoria had the companion she loved best in the world, and the best time any little girl ever had on a beach.

Dad was a chemist—whatever that was—and worked in a laboratory with a man named Butler, who was mean to him, and a lot of other men who were nice. Victoria knew about Butler because she had often heard her mother say, "Butler wouldn't put it over on me that way, Keith. I'd not stand it! I wonder what you do."

They loved each other dearly, she and her father. They were exquisitely happy together. While she waded, and he made a beach fire and scrambled eggs and boiled cocoa, they liked to plan dim future days in which they two would live alone on a desert island and signal to the people on the shore for what they wanted.

She was an odd-looking child, not pretty yet, but too small to worry about looks herself. Her mother, however, was extremely concerned about them. She had just begun to realize that Victoria might be quite lovely—come day—or striking, anyway, distinguished-looking—and was watching her keenly for signs of it; but Victoria did not know that. Mrs. Herrendeen said to herself that if the child ever grew up to that big red mouth, and if the deep-set slate-gray eyes opened a little more, and if the thick straight tawny hair were cut and curled into a becoming shape, and the dark, freckled skin cleared, she would be all right. But the big teeth had to be straightened and the hair brushed.

Magda Herrendeen might indulge in a little sigh about it, deep in her own soul. She was far too fond of Victoria, far too loyal to everyone she loved, her own small daughter included, to give the child any hint of it. Vicky's life must be happy, confident, free; she must never feel any inferiority or shyness.

Magda had had no trouble with her own beauty. It had been given her at about fifteen as a complete gift from the gods. It was flawless; it was only comparable to other perfect beauty.

But it was not anything tangible or even describable about her that made her lovely, nor the firm straight body with its wide shoulders and thin hips, nor the fine nervous hand and modeled arm. It was a glow, a fragrance, a light that seemed to emanate from her, and that was somehow in her voice too, and in the clothes she wore.

Victoria could not appreciate her beauty, even when new men were introduced to her and held her small sandy hand while they asked her the question all the other men had: "Do you know you have a very beautiful mother?"

She would look at her mother on these occasions and smile shyly, pleased, but a little puzzled, too. Was it so important?

Evidently it was very important. Anyway, for that reason or some other everyone did really make a great fuss about Mother. She laughed about it, but of course she liked it, too.

Victoria's mother always had flowers; men brought them when they came to tea, even in winter. The Herrendeens did not have dinner parties themselves, because the apartment was so small, but even if Mother did not have a maid at any other time she always was in touch with a nice colored girl or a clever Japanese woman or a young Chinese in purple and gold and blue, who came in to serve tea. And men—or more often a man—came then, and whoever he was, he brought flowers.

Orchids and gardenias, and great soft melting begonias in tones of peach and warm cream, and long-stemmed roses and sweet dark violets—these were always in Mother's rooms. She said that she would feel really poor without them, and Victoria suspected that Dad would do anything to keep Mother from feeling really poor.

He had confided to Victoria that they were poor, quite poor. He had been very rich once, and could give Mother those pearls, and furs, and everything she liked, and then she had had flowers—many more than these even, every day. And then she had had a great big house to put them in, and servants to find vases for them. Mother had had a maid, and Dad a valet.

"And did you like that, Dad?" Victoria might ask.

But this had been in the old days when they had the big house with Ferdinand in the downstairs hall and the dumbwaiter and the chauffeur. These had faded away, somewhere around the time of her seventh birthday, and the big motorcars with them, and the Herrendeens no longer went to great big hotels and lived in great big rooms with letters embroidered on the towels, and telegrams and flowers in yellow envelopes and big green boxes.

They moved to a small apartment, and Victoria discovered to her ecstasy that her own bedroom was right next to a similarly simple room where her mother and her father slept. Now she could go in her pajamas in the early morning and sit on their knees while they were in bed and talk to them. And now she was never lonely any more, for there was school and there was Dad every night.

He taught her how to cook; chocolate cornstarch custard and baked potatoes and apple sauce; it was all fun.

On this hot August Saturday, coming back from the beach with her sandy hand tight in his, she said: "Did Mother meet you?"

"I don't think Mother knew I was coming."

"Oh, Dad," said Victoria, fearfully, "she likes you to let her know!"

"I know she does, darling, and I did. But when I left the station just now the telegraph man came out and said: 'Are you going over to Cutters?' and I said, 'Yes.' And he said, 'Here's a telegram then for some Mrs. Herrendeen—the telephone wires are down.' And it looks like my telegram."

"Oh, yes, they are down," Victoria agreed eagerly, giving a skip of sheer delight because it was summer, and Saturday morning, and almost time for lunch, and Dad was here. "I know because she tried to telephone Johnny last night."

"Johnny?"

"The polo Johnny."

"Oh, yes — Mr. Kendrick. It sounded like one of your friends."

"You're my friend, Dad," Victoria said, kissing his hand.

They went up the path where the daisies and marigolds were stirring uneasily in the soft sea wind, and past the white gate that always looked as if it were washed and blown clean by the winds, and into the big wide-open porch door of the boarding house.

Her hand was still in his as they crossed the hall and entered her mother's room—an airy room, with flowers in it, and the good scent of the sea.

"Not here," said Keith Herrendeen.

"She's playing golf, maybe."

"Well, what shall we do?"

Victoria, feeling a little uneasily apologetic for her mother's absence, regarded him hopefully.

"What would you like to do?"

"Let's have lunch first—then we can decide." So they went out to the Salisbury steaks and the corn muffins and the baked potatoes, and Victoria had two pieces of peach pie. "You'll get fat, Vic," her father said.

"Salt air," said Vic.

They went to a little tent circus that afternoon; all the children were going, and Victoria was enchanted.

The circus was wonderful, too, and Victoria was tired and blissful and quiet on the way home; but she did rouse up when she and her father went into their big room to find Mother there stretched out flat on the bed with the powder-blue tafeta cover over her, sleepy, delirious, affectionate.

"Oh, hello, you darlings," she said. She stretched a hand toward her husband, and he stooped over her for one of their quick kisses. "I knew you'd carried her off somewhere because the Kinsolvings' nurse came up here half an hour ago," she added, jerking her long lovely body over so that he could find a narrow ledge on which to sit. "Sit there, Keith. Did you have a nice time, Vicky?"

Victoria burst into a very delirium of reminiscence, but as she presently discovered, neither parent was listening to her. Her father took off his coat and vest and collar and began to walk back and forth between the bureau and the washstand; there was an old-fashioned washstand in an alcove, and he washed his face and hands there, combed his wet hair, found himself a fresh collar. Meanwhile there was a little idle talk between him and his wife, and Victoria had an uncomfortable familiar sense that something vaguely unpleasant was brewing.

"Nice down here?"

"Perfect days; that is, except Tuesday. Member that Tuesday was windy and foggy, Vic?"

"It was cold in town," Keith Herrendeen said, without waiting for Victoria's answer.

"So someone was saying," Mrs. Herrendeen bunched her beautiful shining fingernails and looked at them thoughtfully. "Great things here for the Harwoods—the newspaper people," she said.

"Tonight?" the man asked evenly, after a pause.

"Small party," his wife said lightly and briefly. "Bride for Lady Cuthbertson. She's here on the Harwood yacht. They've all gone mad over her."

"You've got to go, I suppose?" A pause.

"You wouldn't, I suppose?" Another pause.

"No," Dad said briefly and quietly.

"I suppose not. But—being bridge . . ."

Victoria's mother began hesitantly. She looked at his face as she spoke.

"You feel you have to go?"

"Well, Keith," his wife began, with an eloquent shrug, "you see, it's only two tables," she went on making a fresh start.

"That's all right," Keith Herrendeen said heavily in a tone that belied his words.

AROUND the HOUSE

Cooking Cauliflower—To prevent it breaking while cooking, wrap loosely in muslin.

Economic Ironing—When ironing dispense with the ironing blanket and fold all the large things flat on the table, forming a "pad." On top of this I iron the small things, and when they are done, I find that the large things are quite nicely pressed.

Using Skim-Milk—Skim-milk is excellent for milk-puddings, providing a dessertspoonful of finely-grated suet is added to replace the missing fat.

Better Bread—Home-made bread is lighter and keeps moist longer when mixed with skim-milk instead of water.

Making a Cushion—A useful flat cushion can be made from an old blanket. Fold it carefully to the size required, taking care that it is quite smooth and then secure

Items of Interest to the Housewife

Ladders in the Hosiery—Place your silk stocking over a glass tumbler when repairing a ladder. The light shows up the cross-threads, which can then be picked up easily with a fine steel crochet hook.

Soft-Boiled Eggs—When soft-boiling eggs, put them in boiling water, boil for one minute and turn off flame, leaving eggs in the water for another four minutes. This prevents them from hardening and saves fuel.

Naming the Baby

RULES for euphony in naming the new baby: If the surname has one syllable, avoid a one-syllable first name. Example: Montgomery Smith rather than John Smith. With a two-syllable last name, use either a one-syllable or three-syllable Christian name. John Hinton or Christopher Hinton rather than Frederick Hinton.

When the last name has three syllables, use either a one or two-syllable name. George Dougherty, but not Alexander Dougherty. Avoid overlapping consonants such as James Stephens.—Literary Digest.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON THIN WORN TIRES

Protect yourself and your family from the danger of driving on thin worn tires which may cause a serious accident.

DO YOU KNOW

That last year highway accidents cost the lives of more than 30,000 men, women and children?

That a million more were injured?

That more than 40,000 of these deaths and injuries were caused directly by punctures, blowouts and skidding due to unsafe tires?

Above is a section cut from a smooth worn tire, which shows the non-skid protection wears off. Tires in this condition are more liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

And Sudden Death

This is a murder story. But it isn't a mystery murder. Plans for the crime are now being made throughout the country. Everybody knows about the imminent disaster that is about to sweep across the whole nation. And, believe it or not, most everybody is rejoicing over the whole affair.

The scene for this wholesale slaughter that is about to take place is in almost everybody's garden!

With garden vegetables just beginning to show their heads in this section, Mrs. Marie Bishop, home management supervisor for the Resettlement Administration, is warning all gardeners to stand guard against insects which annually infest gardens and which unless destroyed, damage or completely destroy garden truck.

There are two distinct types of insects which invade and attack plant life. They are commonly classified as the biting and the sucking insects. Biting insects are combated by applying poisonous chemicals to parts of the plant attacked so that each insect will take some of the poison into its stomach when it swallows the plant particles. The sucking insect is destroyed by physical contact with the poisonous chemicals, ordinarily applied to plants in dust or spray form.

The most commonly used control mixtures are Paris Green,

Bordeaux mixture, and nicotine sulphate. These chemicals, are among the most inexpensive ones and can be purchased at any drug store or feed store with instructions for mixing.

The Home Management Supervisor warns gardeners about the use of Paris Green. She says it should not come in contact with anything which cannot be thoroughly washed or peeled before eating.

Mrs. Bishop says the Resettlement Administration is encouraging all borrowers to raise bigger and better gardens as a very definite step in rehabilitation and health. She also suggests that persons desiring to obtain complete information about methods of control of all plant insects and plant diseases write for bulletins now available from their state Extension Service, through their county agents or State Agricultural College.

O. K. on Montezuma

Las Vegas, May, 24-- Archbishop R. A. Gerken of Santa Fe announced today that the Southern Baptist convention in New Orleans had given full approval of the sale of Montezuma property to the Catholic diocese. The archbishop stated that he had been informed that the convention authorized the board to refinance so that a mortgage on the property could be released immediately.

Rehabilitation work on the property will be started immediately with every building to be completely repaired for use this fall as a training school for priests. The cost of repair is estimated at about $100,000.

Three hundred students are expected to be enrolled at the start of the fall term with 500 expected to be in attendance at the peak of registration.

World's Fair Bank Planned

First contract for an entire privately-financed building at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition has been signed by the Bank of America. Exposition officials announced.

The bank will erect a $50,000 building on Treasure Island, site of the Exposition. The Treasure Island branch is expected to handle business aggregating more than $20,000,000, including the accounts of visitors, Exposition employees, concessionaires and exhibitors.

A permit to operate the branch has already been issued by J.F.T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

Benefits from Fair Citing direct benefits which the World's Fair will bring to the Pacific Coast, L. M. Giannini, president of the bank, said:

"Tourists spent three quarters of a billion dollars in the eleven western states last year, it is estimated, and the Exposition should greatly increase this total in 1939. More than 4,000,000 persons are expected to visit California during the year, and a paid attendance at the Exposition of more than 20,000,000 admissions seems probable. The Exposition undoubtedly will prove to be a stimulus to industry and business throughout the West."

25 Employees The World's Fair bank will have at least twelve tellers' windows and a minimum of 25 employees, some of whom will be able to converse in almost any language with foreign visitors. Complete with vaults and safe deposit boxes, the building will have art glass windows depicting the agriculture and industries of California and a gigantic mural displaying points of interest in the state.

Misses Katherine Rowland and Carol Richardson came up from El Paso last Friday. Miss Richardson returned home Sunday, while Miss Rowland will remain for a two weeks' visit with her father, Mr. Floyd Rowland, bookkeeper at the City garage.

And Sudden Death

This is a murder story. But it isn't a mystery murder. Plans for the crime are now being made throughout the country. Everybody knows about the imminent disaster that is about to sweep across the whole nation. And, believe it or not, most everybody is rejoicing over the whole affair.

The scene for this wholesale slaughter that is about to take place is in almost everybody's garden!

With garden vegetables just beginning to show their heads in this section, Mrs. Marie Bishop, home management supervisor for the Resettlement Administration, is warning all gardeners to stand guard against insects which annually infest gardens and which unless destroyed, damage or completely destroy garden truck.

There are two distinct types of insects which invade and attack plant life. They are commonly classified as the biting and the sucking insects. Biting insects are combated by applying poisonous chemicals to parts of the plant attacked so that each insect will take some of the poison into its stomach when it swallows the plant particles. The sucking insect is destroyed by physical contact with the poisonous chemicals, ordinarily applied to plants in dust or spray form.

The most commonly used control mixtures are Paris Green,

"Buying another Chevrolet has become an unbreakable habit with my family and me—so much so, that we are now driving our twenty-first consecutive car of that make. Another part of the 'habit' is that we always buy from Joe Mills, owner of the Mills Chevrolet Company, our Chevrolet dealer in Colorado, Texas. As the big spaces of Texas test both cars and friendships, I think our long-time loyalty says much for the dependability of both the Chevrolet car and our local Chevrolet dealer. The total flying time was 45 hours and 24 minutes from New York to London and return. The eastward passage took 21 hours and two minutes and the westward flight took 24 hours and 22 minutes. The flyers visited London for the coronation and brought back photographs and films of the coronation ceremonies. The flyers landed in New York 33 seconds less than five days after they took off from Floyd Bennett field on the eastward flight.

Jaguar Throne at Chichen Itza Is Carefully Guarded

Spectacular Find in Ruined Mayan City

Washington. — Tourists who visit the ruined Mayan city of Chichen Itza in Yucatan are allowed to see—but not sit in—the polka-dotted red Jaguar throne recently discovered by archeologists.

The Carnegie Institution of Washington, which conducted the excavations, calls this throne, and objects with it, "the most spectacular discovery of archeological specimens in original position ever made in the New World."

Mexican authorities, says the Carnegie institution, have wisely decided not to remove the throne from the place in the temple, exactly where Indian officials placed it centuries ago. A glass protects the throne, and lights have been installed so that the fresh colors and snarling face of the stone jaguar may be seen and appreciated.

The animal is painted red, with large apple-green spots of jade inlaid, and green jade eyes. Its flat back forms a throne seat, in the opinion of Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley of the Carnegie staff. Dr. Morley disagrees with the view that the jaguar was used as an altar.

The jaguar discovery was made in the famous temple called El Castillo, or the Castle, a ruined building perched on a lofty pyramid. Recent excavations have revealed that temple and pyramid were enlarged and built over by ambitious Indians. The visible ruins thus encase an earlier temple on its pyramid base. It was within the hidden temple, in an inner chamber, that the red stone jaguar was found well preserved.

A tunnel enables visitors to go to the inner stairway and climb the buried pyramid to the throne-room.

Glass Fibers Are Being Developed for Many Uses

Neckties, Dresses, Drapes and Awnings

By WATSON DAVIS

GLASS is familiar as bottle, or tumblers, window panes, and, more recently, as translucent building blocks. It is proverbially breakable and fragile. At first thought glass would not be judged a serious competitor to the ordinary textiles. Yet one of the most promising new uses for glass is as a fiber.

Dresses, neckties and other novelties can be made of glass fiber. But the early large scale practical usage of glass textiles is foreseen in drapes for use in theaters, hotel tapestries, awnings that can not be hurt by carelessly flung cigarettes and other such applications where a real non-inflammability is necessary.

Just now glass fibers are finding widest application as insulating material both against heat and on electric wires and as a filtering material. A mat of glass fibers such as used in house walls or refrigerators weighs a mere hundredth of the volume of solid glass, 1 1/2 instead of 150 pounds per cubic foot.

Can Be Tied in Knots.

If drawn sufficiently fine glass becomes flexible and can even be tied in knots. And the strength needed to pull glass apart increases as the fiber diameter is reduced, so that while typical strength of glass rods is 20,000 pounds per square inch, commercially produced fibers have gone as high as 2,000,000. Fibers as fine as 0.00005 inch in diameter have been produced. Continuous filaments have been drawn without a break for 5,040 miles.

Color? The natural white suffices for most purposes now, but soon glass textiles, competing with cotton, wool and rayon, will emerge in all rainbow shades, with more permanency than we expect from other textiles.

For several centuries glass has been made into fiber for special purposes. The Germans made glass fiber commercially during the World War when blockades cut off supplies of asbestos.

Psychic Suicide Is Often Noted Among Primitive Peoples

Washington. — To bring on death by wishing to die is scientifically recognized as a possibility. Although the recent coma of Mrs. Helen Wills Love, condemned murderess, might be a manifestation brought on by the shock of the trial and conviction, it is considered within the realm of possibility that she might commit suicide by this means.

Psychic suicide, the term given by psychiatry to such a voluntary death by wish, is said to be fairly common among primitive peoples. Reports vouched for by noted explorers and practicing physicians show that many such people, when they make up their minds to die, actually do fall ill and perish. The illness seldom lasts long; death soon follows. It is not preceded by a coma. Some ethnologists feel that fright may stop their hearts, or that they may use secret poison.

Two Cases in Civilization.

Among civilized people having a much stronger attachment to life than do aborigines, deaths by will are very rare and may take months or years to accomplish. One case reported by Dr. A. A. Brill, New York psychiatrist, in an address on this subject before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, was of a woman who discovered that her husband was unfaithful to her. Although she told no one of her discovery, she lost interest in life and was sure she would die because no one loved or wanted her. For months she remained indifferent to efforts of her physician to help her. Then she died.

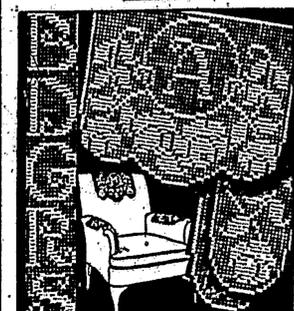

Undulant Fever Peril in Infected Horses

Indianapolis. — New sources of dangerous undulant fever have been discovered in horses, members of the Society of American Bacteriologists learned at their annual meeting here.

The cases of two children who developed serious undulant fever following contact with an infected horse, were presented by Drs. Charles M. Carpenter and Ruth A. Boak of the University of Rochester school of medicine and dentistry. These scientists and Dr. A. W. Deem of Ohio State university reported finding signs of undulant fever in horses.

Undulant fever, known also as Malta fever, infectious abortion of cattle, and, according to latest scientific terminology, brucellosis, is a serious, sometimes fatal malady characterized by the fact that the fever goes up and down in waves.

Stomach Gas So Bad Seems To Hurt Heart

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."

—Mrs. J. E. Felt.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shook, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and eases bowels." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. At all Leading Druggists.

June Bridal Party in Summer Velvet

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

SUMMER velvet is important fashion news for the bride-to-be who is seeking a radiantly beautiful and out of the ordinary material for the making of her own gown as well as those for her attendants.

No word picturing can do justice to this enchanting fabric, for the loveliness of summer velvet cannot be visualized by the mere telling. Unless you have seen summer velvet you are due for a surprise for it is not all-velvet by any means. Imagine, if you can, a sheer filmy mouselline de sole or chiffon or dainty organza background strewn with exquisitely delicate interwoven velvet designs or motifs, well that's summer velvet.

The idea of costuming the bride and her attendants in summer velvet becomes the more intriguing in that a most fascinating play on color is made possible for the velvet motifs can be any color you choose.

The scheme is worked out in this manner for the gowns pictured. White mouselline de sole patterned with tiny winged motifs of white velvet is used for the youthful wedding gown as here shown. The bride wears pearls and a diamond clip at the low V-shape décolletage. Her bouquet is the new idea—pale lavender orchids carried in a handle of carved pycral, forming a fan effect.

The matron of honor to the right in the picture also wears summer velvet—whitemouselline de sole with green velvet motifs posed over a matching green sash. The sash is of bands of matching green velvet and pale yellow. The hat, a new version of the poke bonnet, is in the same green shade with a huge bow and long streamers of wide green velvet ribbon. The matron of honor's bouquet is of palest yellow and white freesias. Her Aris gloves are white glaze kid with delicate embroidery in gold thread. Emeralds are set in necklace and clip. White and yellow are worn by each of the other bridesmaids with jewelry tuned to correspond. These frocks can be worn all summer.

Completing the scheme for this summer wedding the bride's mother, pictured to the left, wears the same summer velvet fabric but in a patterning of delphinium blue bows on a silk sheer with tiny flowers of delphinium, with a velvet sash of matching color. When the jacket is removed the dress has a low formal neckline. Her hat is a smart new tricorne of navy straw with tiny flowers of delphinium. The dainty corsage is of lilacs of the valley in the center of which are a few delphinium blossoms.

For that "something different" look that brides covet for their wedding pageantry here are a few suggestions. If the bridesmaids have long streamers to their hats a clever touch is to snap one of the streamers about the right wrist under a bracelet bouquet. Then there is the idea of veils for the bridesmaids. These are of tulle in colors related to each costume. They are waist depth and fall gracefully about the shoulders.

SALAD AS PART OF DAILY DIET

Combinations of Fruits and Vegetables Are Best.

By EDITH M. BARBER

"HE WHO would live for aye, must eat sallets in May." So goes an old English proverb. In contrast to this we find in an old English poem:

Beware of salads, grene metis and of fruites rawe. For they make a man have a feeble mawe.

In old-time England the common people turned to the hillside and hedgerows as soon as spring arrived to gather all sorts of greens, which they had learned from experience were a remedy for the conditions which a diet of bread and salt meats, their common winter fare, produced. These diseases were no respecters of persons and were as likely to be found in the manor house as in the cottage. The recovery, however, was probably slower in the first because the gentry, believing raw greens to be indigestible, usually served them in cooked form. They were eventually converted by that man of letters, John Evelyn, who was both a patron of horticulture and an epicure. According to him, only raw vegetables belong in salads. He lists, however, almost a hundred types of wild and garden products and includes several flowers.

The salad was adopted in this country comparatively recently and now has become an all-the-year-round part of the menu. Perhaps we have gone a little too far in our combinations of numerous fruits and vegetables which are served with either a French dressing or mayonnaise. After all there can be nothing better than a mixed green salad into which we may put both for color and flavor tomatoes or radishes or raw carrots. We can preserve our green color note, however, and still have a most attractive picture if lettuce, romaine, watercress, cucumbers and other greens are used together. A salad of this sort is best mixed with the dressing at the table. Every leaf should be tossed with a wooden fork and spoon so that each may be coated with the dressing.

The combination of greens with grapefruit, oranges and avocado and with a few other fruits will be appetizing for luncheons or as a separate course occasionally at dinner. If the fruit salad is the main dish at lunch, mayonnaise may be used with it, but it demands French dressing with dinner unless it is to act as both salad and dessert.

Salad Bowl.

- 1 head lettuce
- 1 head romaine
- 2 cucumbers
- 1 bunch watercress
- 1 bunch young onions
- 1 bunch radishes
- 1 green pepper
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon mustard
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- Black pepper.
- ½ cup olive oil
- 1½ tablespoons tarragon vinegar

Wash and separate lettuce and romaine. Pare cucumbers, slice and cook in salted water half an hour and drain. Wash watercress. Slice onions. Wash radishes and green pepper and slice. Chill vegetables in refrigerator. Arrange vegetables in large salad bowl, add garlic. At the table mix seasonings in salad spoon and pour oil over them. Stir into salad and toss vegetables with salad fork and spoon. Add vinegar and mix again. Remove garlic.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

- 6 small tomatoes
- 2½ cups chopped meat or chicken or flaked fish
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- Salt, pepper
- Lemon juice to taste
- Few drops onion juice
- Lettuce

Scoop centers from tomatoes. Mix meat, chicken or fish with mayonnaise and season to taste. Stuff tomato shells with this mixture, chill and serve on lettuce.

Pineapple, Cabbage and Pimiento Salad.

- 1 cup cut pineapple
- 3 cups shredded cabbage
- 2 minced pimientos
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- Cabbage leaves
- 2 tablespoons capers or minced olives

Mix the pineapple with the cabbage, pimientos and mayonnaise. Pile enough for each serving into a cup made of cabbage leaves. Sprinkle with capers or minced olives.

Caviar Mayonnaise.

- ½ cup mayonnaise
 - 1 tablespoon horse radish
 - ½ teaspoon caviar
- Fold horse radish and caviar into mayonnaise. Serve with hearts of lettuce or with whole tomato salad.

Crab Salad.

- 2 cups shredded crabmeat (cooked or canned)
- 1 cup diced celery or cucumber
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- Lettuce
- 2 tomatoes

Mix the crabmeat and celery or cucumber. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and in this put the salad. Skin the tomatoes, cut in eighths and use as a garnish.

SHORT DANCE FRÖCK

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

When the new short-length dance frock first made its appearance it created quite a sensation. However, it did not take long for it to become a general favorite. The dress pictured is of lovely printed silk chiffon. It accents the slender waistline such as fashion demands—a return to the silhouettes of the long ago. The gown was worn by a prominent society debutante at "The Silk Parade to Waltz Time," a benefit affair recently taking place in New York.

Lanvin Jackets Are Made of Silver or Gold Kid

Silver or gold kid is used over and over again for evening at Lanvin's where flowing robes are trimmed with oriental applications of leather. At the same house are separate jackets entirely of stitched kid which is so soft and fine that it looks like lacquered satin.

LACE FOR SUMMER BRIDE NEW STYLE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The June bride will be fashionably attired this season when she chooses lace for her gowns. With the present vogue for lace for daytime wear, for evening gowns, and for the highly popular house coats and delicate negligees, the romantic appeal of this material makes it a favorite for wedding gowns and bridesmaids' dresses.

Cut on classic lines, the beautiful lace patterns of this season allow for exquisite details of workmanship for the bridal gown. One lovely gown seen recently is perfectly simple in line but has fine details of applied seamings at the point below the hips where the slight fullness starts. The very full train, and the skirt and neck edges likewise, have an applied scalloped edge of lace. This intricate treatment shows to advantage particularly as the veil is quite short and does not fall to the train. In general these lace wedding gowns have shorter veils so that their delicate patterns are not obscured.

Wedding Parties Dressed

All in Lace is Fashion

Wedding parties dressed entirely in lace are in the fashion picture this year. One of the best we have seen is of all-white peau d'ange in a Chantilly pattern for the bride. There were no seams to the dress, avoiding any unnecessary line that might interfere with the beautiful pattern of the lace, and the edges throughout were entirely hand-applied. A matching mantilla head-dress was worn with this wedding gown.

The wedding party, all in lace, made a charming and appropriate setting for the bride. The bridesmaids' dresses were of novelty all-over lace, in pastel shades. The headresses, in contrast with the mantilla of the bride, were formed like a hood, from the collar at the back.

Hints on Tints

Capucine colors will be among the new color accents during the coming season. They have their origin in the various shades of the popular nasturtium.

MELVIN PURVIS FORMER G-MAN invites all boys and girls to join
NEW CORPS OF SECRET OPERATORS

MELVIN PURVIS, former Ace G-Man who founded the Junior G-Man Corps, has formed a new organization called Melvin Purvis' Law-and-Order Patrol. Members are Secret Operators. They have special codes, passwords, and special equipment. Here is one adventure, published as proof that CRIME DOES NOT PAY. As the story opens, Melvin Purvis has invited two of his Secret Operators to have Sunday night supper at his headquarters...

Suddenly, out of the bitter cold winter night comes a frantic phone call...

THIS IS CANNONDALE, THE AIRPLANE MANUFACTURER... I HAVE THE SECRET PLANS FOR A NEW DAWNING PLANE OUT HERE AT MY LONG ISLAND HOME, AND I'M AFRAID THERE'S SOMETHING TO DO WITH IT...

THE LITTLE WINDOW IN THE BUTLER'S PANTRY OPENS EASILY, MR. PURVIS!

NO USE IN THAT, MR. PURVIS. I TOLD MY CHAUFFEUR TO LOCK THEM ALL—AND ANY- WAY, WITH THE SNOW PACKED ON THE WINDOW SILLS, EVERY WINDOW IS FROZEN TIGHT!

JUST AS I THOUGHT— ONE WINDOW'S BEEN FROZEN! — I'LL STAND DECIDE IT AND BE READY TO GRAB ANY ONE ENTERING... TOM AND BETTY, YOU STAND BEHIND THE SOFA AND KEEP YOUR EYE ON THIS SAFE WHERE THE PLANS ARE HIDDEN!

Midnight that night... The servants have retired, the chauffeur is in his room over the garage, the house is quiet...

I'LL BE RIGHT OUT, MR. CANNONDALE!

MY CHAUFFEUR TOLD ME HE SAW A COUPLE OF SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS HANGING AROUND MY AIRPLANE PLANT—SO I TOOK THE PLANS HOME WITH ME, BUT I STILL DON'T FEEL SAFE...

I HAVE AN IDEA... TOM, TRY EVERY WINDOW IN THE HOUSE!

WANT! THERE'S AN "INSIDE MAN" IN ON THIS JOB, EXAMINE ALL THE SALT SHAKERS FOR FINGERPRINTS, TOM... MEANWHILE, MR. CANNONDALE, CALL IN ALL THE SERVANTS!

IT'S BLACKMAIL, THE MECHANIC I HAD TO FIRE! I GUESS THAT GOVES EVERYTHING!

THERE ARE FRESH PRINTS ON THIS ONE, MR. PURVIS!

GRAB THAT MAN!

WELL, YOUR CHAUFFEUR WAS THE "INSIDE MAN"—THESE ARE HIS FINGERPRINTS ON THE SALT SHAKER!

SO THAT'S WHY MY CHAUFFEUR WANTED ME TO BRING THE SECRET PLANS HERE!

HOW MELVIN PURVIS KNEW THAT IT WAS AN "INSIDE JOB"
I knew that all the windows should have been frozen tight, due to the snow and ice packed on the sills outside. I also knew that, if one window opened easily, it was likely that salt had been used to prevent freezing and enable the window to be opened silently even in the bitter cold hours of the night... therefore, whoever had left fingerprints on a salt shaker was probably the "inside man!"

WELL, WE'VE SAVED THE AIRPLANE PLANS —AND THOSE TWO CROOKS ARE GOING TO MAKE A FORCED LANDING IN JAIL... YOU TWO SEEM TO HAVE TAKEN UP ALL YOUR POST-TOASTIES —HAVE SOME MORE!

YOU BET, MR. PURVIS!
