District Court In Session

The Spring term of District Court opened here last Monday morning, and will continue for the next two weeks. This week was devoted mostly to the hearing of Civil and equity cases. Judge Numa C. Frenger and District attorney M. A. Threeth have worked diligently this week in disposing of cases in order to clear the docket.

Two murder trials will come before the court next week. One is the trial of Earl Morris who became involved in a fist fight with Cox, whom he is alleged to have knocked down. Cox died on or about Sept. 23, 1937, in the Fort Stanton hospital. The two men were rival agents for patent medicine companies.

National Used Car Exchange Week

The entire force of the Chevrolet dealers in the El Paso area has been mustered to make the National Used Car Exchange Week a success. W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced in Detroit as the campaign was launched by the automobile manufacturers and dealers of the nation.

"Tangible results of far reaching consequence will be achieved by the drive to attract the attention of buyers to the transportation values in the used car market," said Holler.

"It will help to get the unsafe cars of old vintage off the streets where they are a hindrance to orderly traffic and a menace to safety. Many of the owners of worn out cars will see that they can buy a good used car at bargain prices and free themselves from the fear of bad brakes, deteriorated electric systems that make night driving a hazard, worn steering apparatus that has no place upon traffic lanes of city or country and poor mechanical performance that annoys the owners and jeopardizes the safety of both pedestrians and other drivers.

"National Used Car Exchange Week will stimulate the automobile business for it is a foregone conclusion that thousands of used cars will be sold by the dealers and this will lessen the jam that has been halting the manufacture and sale of new cars. It is axiomatic that if a dealer has too many used cars he cannot adequately handle the new car business."

The cooperation of public officials, safety organization leaders and newspapers in supporting the National Used Car Exchange Week was characterized by Holler as an expression of civic spirit of a high order that will help both dealers and manufacturers in their efforts to return the automobile industry to a more normal field of employment and purchasing.

Print Frocks Have Pleated Skirts

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

PLEATED skirts are here, there and everywhere in the style picture. Judging from the signs, life from a fashion viewpoint is destined to be just one pleated skirt after another. Not that the slim, form-fitting skirt has been cast into discard, not at all. Nevertheless, the urge of the pleated skirt is tremendous for spring and summer and seeing how flattering, how youthful, how "new" it is (especially the idea of pleating gay silk prints) a true follower of fashion can do no other than to fall into step of the mode, by including at least one or more frocks in her collection that are very much pleated.

It's quite a revelation to see what pleating can do in the way of adding charm and variety to a gay silk print. Under the magic of artful printing an already attractive print becomes even more attractive, and one has only to glimpse the new style collections to realize with what unbounded enthusiasm designers are playing up the pleated theme.

The big idea in current styling is the dress of silk print that has been pleated and pleated to the limit. Especially featured is the print frock with an all-round pleated skirt, after the manner of the models pictured. The pleating may be knife-pleated stitched flat below the hips as the dress to the left is styled or it may be sunburst pleated as in the youthful frock to the right.

Stripes are the rage this season, and one of the most successful gestures in fashion's realm at the present moment is the pleating of striped prints. If you like stripes and if you like prints just try the two together and see what a lively duet they will play. The smart gown on the seated figure is typical of the new pleat-stripe vogue. Here you see a highly significant fashion in the handling of a bayadere silk print in narrow stripes of multi-color flowerettes. The slip-on top is styled with an artful play on the stripes. The patch pockets are voguish accents, also the tie bow. The hat is of blue leather. Which calls to mind that accessories of colorful suede are tres chic with your spring costume or suit.

The other winsome frock is a junior model of black and white shepherd check taffeta with swing pleated skirt. The pert little bolero is of black taffeta. It has a box-pleated back. The blouse has a red ruching trim, red heart-shaped buttons together with white pique collar and cuffs.

The new silk prints are so perfectly fascinating it is scarcely possible to describe them. In addition to stripes in endless interpretations, there are floral crossbar patternings that have the coveted "new" look, and halcyon effects that personally color glory, and silk prints that have a chintz patterning. None lovelier prints have been brought out this season than are the exquisite landscape designs that add to their lure in that they feature detectable pastel colorings.

There are dramatic black and white prints in the advance silk showings, the scroll patternings being especially smart. Huge scattered prints in gorgeous colors are leading for formal night wear, the black silk chiffons especially emphasizing distinguished large floral print motifs.

SMART SILK PRINT
By CHERIE NICHOLAS

This dress refined and lovely and springlike in its colorings is made of a floral crossbar silk print which makes pink its key color, for pink you must know is queen among colors for this season. It is featured, especially in accessory ways. The new little pastel pink veils capture your fancy at first glance. Then there are the smart silk prints with pink on black backgrounds with which you are supposed to wear pink costume jewelry. An important styling point registers in the gown pictured in that both bodice and sleeves are laid in solid pleats. The belt is cunningly devised combining black patent leather with the silk print. The pink feathers on the black beret match the print.

SPOTLIGHT IS ON SUEDE FOR SPRING

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

If you keep step with fashion you are bound to wear suede this spring. It may be a coat you will choose or a jacket or perhaps an entire suit; even a dress for that matter for suede soft and supple as it now is, yields to dressmaker treatment beautifully. Then too, the fact that suede comes in such luscious colorings adds to its lure, not only for the costume entire but for accessories as well.

You can get swank suede items that enhance one's costume as only suede can do. For instance the call is wide at present for bolero and sash "sets" of suede. As to the leather hat it is being made an outstanding fashion feature for spring. There are clever collar and girle twosomes of suede in the neckwear showings that will enhance your costume with a striking dash of color. Just look into this matter of suede. It's worth following up.

Durban Inspiration Seen in Silk Prints for Spring

The Indian influence, inspired by the coming Durban is apparent in silk prints. Actual Oriental patterns such as Persian and Paisley designs. Cashmere patterns, already well established are new looking in pale colorings or in monotones. These are varied with modernized versions of Oriental patterns which are larger and more open and often use a single classic Oriental motif, enlarged and spaced. Not Indian, but partaking of the interest, large outlines or the plaque idea in Moroccan and Algerian patterns use the elaborate fretwork patterns seen in North African mosques and allover Renaissance medallions.

WHAT TO EAT AND WHY

Food Provides the Key to Mental and Physical Power

You Can Be Strong, Beautiful, Wise, Rear Healthy Children Only If You Know How to Combine the Right Food Materials in the Diet

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

6 East 39th Street, New York.

SINCE the world began, food has been man's first consideration. For it he has fought and died. To find it he has traveled over great continents and braved unknown dangers. His quest for food has changed the map of the world and colored the history of nations. But in all of these historic struggles, he has been motivated solely by the desire to get enough food to satisfy hunger.

Today, actual hunger is rare. But hundreds of thousands of people starve in the midst of plenty because they do not realize the tremendous power of food for good or for evil.

They do not realize that as a man eats, so he is, and that his choice of food materials gives or takes away the power to live vigorously—to think clearly—to feel warmly—to be strong, healthy and wise.

It can be truly said that your food is your fate. It has the power to shape your body—to make it strong and beautiful, or weak and ugly. It has the power to influence your language, your gait, your tone of voice, in short—your life. With the right food, life becomes a glorious adventure, for it increases your leadership, intensifies your magnetic qualities, strengthens your morale, and increases your physical defenses and resistance. Without it, one drags through miserable days—never realizing even half of his potential mental and physical powers.

Food—the Fuel of Life.

The human body is a machine, far more complex than any machine devised by the mind of man. Food is the fuel which runs this amazing machine. Food is also the material used to repair worn-out parts, and to keep the intricate mechanism in good working order.

The body machine cannot be run efficiently without proper food fuel any more than a car could be run without gas, or a house could be heated without oil, coal or wood.

Food also has the power to speed up or slow down the workings of the mind. It likewise influences the state of our nerves, the warmth of our affections, the type of characters we possess.

Finally, the power to have strong, healthy children is based on proper food. And nutritional scientists have discovered that the wrong food can even take away from us the greatest blessing that Nature has bestowed—our earthly immortality. For it can deprive us of the ability to bear children who will carry on after we are gone.

Six Groups of Food Substances.

What food substances are necessary to build and maintain top health—to develop the greatest physical and mental power? There are six groups of food substances which must be included in the balanced diet which promises increased health, happiness and longevity:

1. PROTEINS which build and repair body tissues. These are found in such foods as milk, eggs, meats, fish, cheese and nuts.
2. FATS which yield heat and energy. The fats are represented by butter, cream, oils and the fat of meats.
3. CARBOHYDRATES—the starches and sugars. These also supply heat and energy, and are found chiefly in such foods as bread, potatoes, cereals and sweets.
4. MINERALS which build, repair, protect and regulate. Among the minerals which are absolutely necessary to health and vigor are calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, iodine, sulphur, manganese, magnesium, sodium and potassium. These are found in varying amounts in milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals and meats.
5. VITAMINS which are necessary for body regulation, and as a protection against dread deficiency diseases. Six have been discovered to date—A, B, C, D, E and G.
6. WATER which is a part of all body tissue and must be present in order to have the other food elements function properly.

The ideal dietary is one that includes a correct proportion of the different food elements required to supply bodily needs without any of them being supplied in excess, or in insufficient amounts.

Danger in Omitting One Essential

To illustrate how important it is that not one of the necessary food substances be omitted, let me tell you how an eminent bio-chemist proved in his experimental laboratory, in one of our leading universities, that the difference between stupidity and genius depended upon the presence or absence of one vitamin.

He placed a pregnant animal upon a diet adequate in every respect, except that it lacked one of the six vitamins. As soon as her young were born and weaned, they were fed a completely adequate diet.

Then the scientist tested the mentality of the young animals. He wanted to find out whether or not their mental power had been injured in any way by the fact that their mother—during pregnancy—had been deprived of one vital food element. So he put them in a runway. To get out of this— and reach a tasty morsel at the other end—they had to make their way through a series of passages. He had already made this same test on the same type of animals born of properly fed mothers. He knew that it never took them more than 25 trials to learn their way out of the maze. Most of them had gotten out after 15 to 18 attempts.

But what lack of skill was shown by the animals whose mother had been deprived of proper food? The stupidity of these pathetic little creatures was unbelievable. Some of them never learned to thread the maze and reach their goal, even after as many as 250 trials. They were being given—at the time—everything that was necessary to their diet. But they had entered life with minds totally unequipped to cope with the world—because their mother had not been properly fed before they were born.

This is a striking example of the power of food to make or mar existence. I could cite hundreds of other laboratory experiments, many of which have been confirmed by clinical experience. Food Can Make or Mar. Nor is this power of food to affect mental activity confined to prenatal life. Even if a child enters this world with a strong body and a clear mind—the wrong food during childhood has the power to wreck health. Investigation after investigation, by leading specialists throughout the country, has proven that a surprising percentage of retarded children—those who cannot keep up with their school grades—do not really have inferior minds. They only seem stupid because the action of their minds is clogged and slowed down by sluggish, under-fed bodies.

Physical fitness is a far greater asset than material possessions. For in times of stress and trouble, those who can stand up under the physical strain win the battle. For those who collapse, all is lost.

The Homemaker's Responsibility. Every wife and mother is therefore faced with the tremendous responsibility of keeping her family mentally and physically fit. Her husband must have the right kind of food in order to earn a living. Her own diet must be adequate and well-balanced if she is to have the energy, wisdom, and patience required of a mother at all hours of the day. Her baby will not grow into a healthy man or woman unless he or she has the right nourishment from the moment of birth. And school children can't keep up with their classes without the right food.

If you will follow this series of articles, and put into practice the principles of correct eating that I advocate, I can promise that you will increase both mental and physical efficiency, and as a result, achieve greater health and happiness for every member of your family.

Food Affects Your Body and Mind.

Each morning when you awake, a new life is ahead of you. Whether that day and the days to follow will be better or worse than those that went before, depends largely upon what you eat. For nothing short of a miracle is performed at every meal.

Within a few hours the bread, meat, vegetables and liquids that you swallow are transformed into your personality. They begin to think, feel and act. They become YOU. What was food yesterday, today is carrying on the important business of the world.

Each meal that you eat helps or hinders the efficiency and ease with which these various duties are performed. That is why it is true that as you eat, so you are. And that is why I say that three times a day, at your table, you SIT DOWN TO LIFE.

How Often Should Your Furniture Be Polished?

Housewives differ on the question of "when to polish their furniture." Some have no set time for it—polishing when they think of it—or when, casting a glance about, they decide that the furniture can "stand it." Others, polish every cleaning day—which ordinarily occurs once a week. Others dedicate but one day a year to this important procedure. And still others, polish the furniture in their home regularly, once a month. This last group is the largest—but their schedule is not sufficiently frequent. Furniture can not be polished too often!

True, the outward benefit of the best oil polish—the luster—will last through a single week—and more—but this same polish, with its light oil base, preserves and "feeds" the furniture, revives it, prolongs its life! So that every application is highly beneficial to woodwork and the various pieces of fine wood in the home. Our advice, therefore, for the sake of endurance, as well as appearance, of your furniture, is "polish up" with a good oil polish at least twice a month!

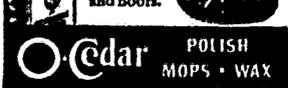

True, the outward benefit of the best oil polish—the luster—will last through a single week—and more—but this same polish, with its light oil base, preserves and "feeds" the furniture, revives it, prolongs its life! So that every application is highly beneficial to woodwork and the various pieces of fine wood in the home. Our advice, therefore, for the sake of endurance, as well as appearance, of your furniture, is "polish up" with a good oil polish at least twice a month!

Senator Chavez Office

The effect on the wool industry in the West, if the proposed reciprocal trade agreement with Great Britain becomes effective, is receiving the present attention of western members of Congress. This week Senator Chavez joined a group of 18 western Senators in discussing the matter with Secretary of State, Cordell Hull. They outlined to him the demaguing results of allowing Australian wool and British woolen textiles to enter the country on a more favored basis. Senator Chavez feels that the Secretary was impressed by the strength represented in their group.

Senator Chavez had another conference with Aubrey Williams of the WPA on the Mora and Guadalupe county dam and ditch repair projects. It is hoped that action can be had within the next few days. Unless the projects are started immediately, they will not be completed in time for the high water in the spring, which means another year of crop failure for the people of these communities.

Senator Chavez introduced two bills relating to the Navajo Indians this week. The first would deny the Department of the Interior the authority to order stock reduction on the Navajo Reservation; the second is a resolution asking for an investigation by the Senate of the effects of the present stock reduction program on the Navajo Reservation.

Early this week Senator Chavez joined those opposing Senator Hayden's amendment to the relief measure. The amendment would have prevented the use of relief funds for building construction purposes. Senator Chavez pointed out the many benefits received by the State of New Mexico from school building projects and showed that such projects would cease if the amendment was adopted.

The 1940 Presidential campaign got under way this week with a mammoth reception and dinner for Paul V. McNutt, former Governor of Indiana and present High Commissioner of the United States to the Philippines. The reception was credited with being the largest ever held in Washington. Senator Minton of Indiana was host. New Mexicans seen there included Congressman and Mrs. Dempsey, Senator and Mrs. Chavez, Senator and Mrs. Hatch, and Miss Eleanor Marron and Mr. Ernest Espinosa of Albuquerque.

Persons who have called at this office this week have been the following: Robert Six of Denver, President of Continental Airlines; Don Felipe Sanchez y Baca, U. S. Marshal, Santa Fe, New Mexico; Mrs. Irene Hart of Carrizozo and Mrs. Ola Jones, State Chairwoman of the Democratic Committee.

Washington, D. C., March 5, 1938-- An example of what WPA is doing for New Mexico can be gathered from the reports submitted to Senator Chavez this week by the WPA of projects in the State of New Mexico designated as eligible by the President and submitted to the Comptroller General and now waiting his action: Office building project, Socorro, for use by the New Mexico Department of Public Welfare, allotment $3,738; book-binding project, Las Cruces, allot-

After a slow start the Senate finally begins to function. This week the senate passed the Post Office and Treasury Appropriation Bills which have now gone to the President as well as passing the $250,000,000.00 relief appropriation which will give to New Mexico 2,000 additional WPA employees, according to advice given Senator Chavez by Aubrey Williams, Acting Administrator of WPA.

This week Senator Hatch and Senator Chavez offered an amendment to the Interior Department Appropriation Bill to provide for $4,000 for drilling a well and supplying water at El Morro National Monument. One of the most popular national monuments in New Mexico, Inscription Rock, had been handicapped by lack of proper water facilities. The Senators hope that the item will be included in the bill. The Interior Department is also anxious to have the well provided.

Western sheep men met this week in Washington to discuss matters pertaining to the industry. Ed Sargent of Chama attended the meetings.

TO RIDE THE RIVER WITH William MacLeod Raine's Tale of Western Adventure ... An Exciting New Serial!!

In the cowboy's lingo, "a man to ride the river with" was a man who could be trusted in a pinch. Was Jeff Gray such a man? Ruth, daughter of Lee Chiswick, the great Arizona ranchman, suspected that her father's life and her own happiness depended on the answer.

Jeff Gray appeared from nowhere, saved Ruth's life, then joined forces with the cattle-rustling band of Sherm Howard. He tried to kill her father, his horse's hoof prints were found along the trail of stolen cattle... he was obviously a hated scoundrel, but Ruth Chiswick loved him! State Game and Fish Commission Meets

The more than 49,000 sportsmen who bought licenses to hunt and fish in New Mexico last year will be much interested to learn what the various hunting and fishing seasons and bag limits are for 1938. The State Game Commission at its meeting at Santa Fe on February 24th promulgated a regulation establishing these seasons, which embodied some very important changes. Chief among these was the reduction of the bag limit on trout from 25 fish or 15 pounds and 1 fish to 20 fish or 10 pounds and 1 fish.

The season on the upper portion of Elephant Butte Lake was extended to cover a ten months period, now being closed during the spawning period of April 15th to June 15th. The season for the new Alamogordo reservoir near Ft. Sumner was set as July 1st to November 30th. Most of the other fishing seasons remained the same as last year.

The principal hunting season changes involved a radical change in the provisions relating to the hunting of bear. East of the Rio Grande the bear season this year will co-incide with the deer season and no dogs will be permitted, while West of the Rio Grande the season on bear will be open during the deer season without dogs and the taking of bears will be permitted with the use of trained dog packs only from October 1st to 20th and November 16th to December 10th. This means that the silent or foot hunter will be permitted to hunt bears only during the deer season. There will be a rest period during which all seasons are closed from October 27th to 31st, inclusive. This provision should have a tendency to give sportsmen a better chance when the season does open than has existed before.

ALADDIN LIGHT SAVES EYESIGHT

Getting Lessons Made More Pleasant
Here's a school girl's own comment on Aladdin light: "It has helped my school work by creating a desire to study. What student likes dim light?" No wonder teachers say that their brightest pupils come from Aladdin homes. Aladdin lamps help avoid eye strain, which to so many thousands of rural folks has brought the expense of an eye specialist and glasses; and often permanent injury to eyes.

Modern White Light
Fills Your Rooms Aladdin brings brightness and happiness into homes... Restful light for those who want to read, sew or study, and for the smaller children to enjoy their games. It is not surpassed by electric light for whiteness and steadiness. Aladdin runs 50 hours on one gallon of ordinary coal oil (kerosene), gives a whole evening of light for about a penny's worth of oil. It's so safe a child can operate it. No noise, pumping up or pressure. Not smelly or smoky. The colorful new Aladdin shades decorate a room by night or day.

SPY RING IS SMASHED

Two Men and a Girl Arrested for Selling American Army Secrets to a European Nation Not Yet Named

Here, photographed after their arrest in New York, are Johann Hofmann of Dresden, Germany, and Guenther Gustav Rumrich, former United States army sergeant and a deserter, two of the three persons accused of complicity in an international spy plot, the aim of which was the sale of United States military secrets to a foreign government. The woman, a hairdresser on the German liner Eufora, was messenger and paymaster for the ring.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Three Taken as Spies

GOVERNMENT agents and New York police broke up a ring of spies engaged in selling secrets of the American army and navy to a European nation described as a world power but otherwise not named. Three alleged members of the ring were under arrest and held in heavy ball. Two of them, a former sergeant in the United States army and a private in the army, were said to have confessed. The third was a German girl, hairdresser on the German liner Eufora. The G-men were diligently searching for other members of the band.

Guenther Gustav Rumrich, the ex-sergeant, who is a deserter, said he was engaged in obtaining secrets and information concerning military operations of the United States army and was forwarding it through confidential channels to various addresses in Europe.

Erich Glaser, the private, had been stationed at Mitchell Field, New York, the largest army air base on the East coast and key to the air fortifications of the metropolitan area. He supplied certain air corps codes to Rumrich.

Johanna Hofman, the woman arrested, admitted she was the "liaison officer and paymaster" between the ring and its employers. Secret code keys and considerable quantities of money were found on her person.

So far as investigators have been able to learn Rumrich sold the foreign power a gold brick. He never transmitted any information that could not be found in the army and navy journal, a publication obtainable by any one.

However, army officials considered the matter of considerable importance and armed guards were placed around military centers along the Atlantic seaboard. At Mitchell Field special protection was given the hangar housing a bomber used for testing one of the air corps' most precious secrets, a bomb sight capable of aiming heavy air projectiles with great accuracy.

Reorganization Fight

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S bill for reorganization of the executive branch of the government came up in the senate, and immediately was confronted with a strong combination formed to force amendments that would greatly lessen the wide discretionary powers given the President by the measure. This was comprised of both Democrats and Republicans, being much the same lineup that defeated the Supreme court enlargement bill.

Senator Borah

The coalition was headed by Republican Senators Borah of Idaho, Vandenberg of Michigan and McNary of Oregon and Democratic Senators Wheeler of Montana, O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Burke of Nebraska.

An amendment by Wheeler empowering congress to veto any of the President's reorganization proposals within sixty days gained wide support.

Opponents of the bill contend it smacks of dictatorship and would strip congress of its constitutional powers.

Senator Byrnes of South Carolina opened the debate in behalf of the bill.

More Power for Unions

ORGANIZED labor was winner in several decisions handed down by the Supreme court. The rights of employers and of nonunion employees were restricted. A majority of the court upheld the exercise of power which a dissenting opinion denounced as despotic and wholly at variance with the principles of constitutional liberty in this country.

In a Milwaukee case the court held that a demand by a labor union that an employer force his employees to join that union constituted a labor dispute under the Norris-La Guardia act. It reversed a decree issued by Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger and upheld by the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, which permanently enjoined a union from attempting to coerce an employer whose employees had refused to join that union.

In two cases the court upheld the right of the national labor relations board, without notice, or hearing, or an election, to require employers to withdraw recognition from an employees' association alleged to have been fostered by the employer.

In a fourth case the court refused to review a decision by the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, which upheld a contract requiring membership in a particular union as a condition of employment.

Soviet Chiefs Face Death

WITHIN a short time we may expect to read of the execution of 21 prominent citizens of Soviet Russia, latest victims of Dictator Stalin's blood purge. They were put on trial before a military tribunal, and there was little doubt as to their fate. Among the accusations against them were conspiring with foreign powers to dismember the Soviet Union, plotting to assassinate Lenin and Stalin, inspiring the assassination of Sergei Kiroff, and putting to death the writer Maxim Gorky and two others previously supposed to have died of natural causes.

Most prominent of the men put on trial were Former Premier Alexis I. Rykov, who succeeded Lenin and held office for nearly two years; and Nikolai Bukharin, chronicler of the red revolution and editor of the government newspaper Izvestia before March, 1937.

Austrian Nazis Checked

CHANCELLOR SCHUSCHNIGG evidently is determined not to let Hitler go too far in Austria. He is sternly suppressing all illegal Nazi activities, and is using the army in doing so. In the Nazi province of Styria thousands of peasants planned to march on Graz and Nazis intended to occupy the government buildings. So the chancellor sent motorized units from the Vienna garrison to guard all approaches to the city, and airplanes scouted about looking for the expected marching columns. This prompt action prevented the threatened uprising and not a shot was fired.

Senate to Probe Reds

SENATOR COPELAND of New York successfully put through his resolution for a special investigation of subversive activities of Communists in the merchant marine. It will be conducted by a committee named by Vice President Garner.

About the same time Harry Bridges, C. I. O. leader on the west coast, arrived in Washington to resist being deported as an undesirable alien. Bridges also demanded a hearing before the senate committee on commerce and labor which had under consideration the bill to extend to maritime labor relations the scope of the railway labor act and the authority of the national mediation board.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

FUNCTIONAL needlework, we call it, in our best modern mood. It has little to do with pretty guest towels and do-funnies that a lady in the past whipped up in her idle moments. These days we are having great fun and a sense of real achievement in creating down-to-earth basic necessities for our homes—the while fulfilling our desire to knit, crochet and sew a fine seam.

Lucy N. has made all the upholstery coverings for her dining room chairs. Her furniture was "picked up"—a round pedestal table and six so-so chairs with upholstered seats and backs. Using unbleached muslin, she first made patterns of the pieces she needed to upholster the seats and backs. Then she used hooked rug technique to achieve a beautiful fabric to cover the chairs. This material, cut exactly to the muslin patterns, was created in solid off-white tufts of wool clipped for a deep, luxurious effect. When each piece was finished, the muslin pattern was tacked on the chair and reinforced at the edges with strong tape on which were sewn those heavy snaps used by professional upholsterers. Then the white tufted coverings for each chair were snapped into place on the muslin, allowing them to be taken off for cleaning when necessary. The room itself is lovely, with pale blue walls, off-white shantung draperies at the windows and a deep blue rug on the floor. The off-white upholstery on the chairs adds a modern touch that is smart and different.

And Ellen R. is very proud of a beautiful afghan she has completed—mulberry background, with each strip embroidered in gay wools in a floral pattern. Instead of throwing this lovely piece willy-nilly on a bed or sofa, this smart lady has stretched it over the back of a sofa to form a definite part of the upholstery, the remainder of the couch being covered in a mulberry fabric to match the afghan. The effect is stunning in her colonial living room.

A Row of Pins.

We're not one to intervene on an argument between husband and wife—mainly because such an argument seldom amounts to a row of pins till one of 'em wins. Which is enough to make somebody good and mad.

"I should like your opinion as to whether an artificial fireplace would add to our living room," writes N. H. "My husband feels that an artificial fireplace is only a piece of furniture that adds no beauty or use to a room. I am trying to convince him otherwise.

"I have a sofa and a pair of sofa tables along one long wall; a bookcase along the short wall. I am thinking of purchasing a fireplace for the long wall opposite the sofa. I now have a pair of upholstered chairs at this wall which might frame a fireplace nicely.

"What type of fireplace would be most suitable? My sofa is a Hepplewhite in plum with tan stripes. My lamps are off-white Lenox. My chairs are green with beige cording and fringe. Small tables are mahogany. Bookcase white. Rug is deep plum. Draperies are beige with green. Walls are white."

Well, here is a word of comfort to both! Many of the most uppy decorators use artificial fireplaces to give a room a center of interest. Besides they feel that it offers an opportunity for breaking a wall pleasantly. On the other hand, there are those who are "agin" anything that hasn't an actual use, which would let an artificial fireplace out. Of course, if you carried that idea to a logical conclusion you'd be eliminating a lot of the most gracious things of life, which would never do. In this particular room we'd say that the fireplace might be a good idea, providing Mr. H. could be won over. For there seems to be a wall space that needs something of importance and not so many other things in the room as to make the room seem crowded. If Mr. H. still doesn't like the idea, a big mirror, an interesting bookcase or a fine painting might serve equally well as a center of interest.

Some Foods Go by Other Names

The Casava Nothing but Our Familiar Tapioca

By EDITH M. BARBER

ALWAYS on the lookout for new dishes when I am traveling—and at any other time—I ordered casava pudding when I saw it on the menu at the charming Manor House in Jamaica where I spent some time. I have been introduced to many new fruits such as the stewed cashews and the guava, which I had never had in this form before, and innumerable fresh fruits, such as the nabezberry, the sour sop and the star apple. Perhaps because the word "casava" sounded so much like "casaba" I was surprised that the dessert turned out to be tapioca pudding!

I really did not know that what we call tapioca comes from the root of a plant which is variously known as the casava, the manioc, the manloca and the cassada. The starch or flour which comes from this root is also known as Brazilian arrowroot. While it is used baked in the form of thin cakes in tropical countries, we know it in this country after it has been exposed to heat until the starch grains break and then forced through sieves or ground to form the tapioca which we know.

Because it is mild in flavor, tapioca is always combined with foods which contrast with it in this respect, as well as in texture. Custards variously flavored and fruits are particularly good in combination with it.

Because tapioca has a property which allows it to hold together particles of air and moisture, it can be used in preparation of certain dishes such as omelets and souffles.

Cranberry Tapioca.

- 1/2 cup granulated tapioca
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1 pint cranberries
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup sugar

Cook tapioca, salt and boiling water together until clear. Cook cranberries and water until soft and add to the tapioca with the sugar. Cook five minutes, pour into a wet mold, chill and serve with cream.

Cheese Souffle.

- 3 tablespoons granulated tapioca
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 cup grated cheese
- 3 egg yolks, well beaten
- 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt

Add tapioca to milk and cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add cheese and stir until melted. Cool. Add the well beaten egg yolks and mix well. Fold in the egg whites which have been beaten with the salt. Bake in a greased baking dish, placed in a pan of hot water, in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 50 minutes, or 30 minutes in individual ramekins.

EVER TRY THESE?

Sour Cream Pie.

- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 cup chopped raisins
- 1 cup sour cream

Beat egg yolks; add sugar, spices, raisins and cream. Fold in beaten egg whites and pour into pastry shell. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) for 15 minutes; then lower temperature to moderate (325 degrees). Continue baking until set.

Macaroon Cookies.

- 2 egg whites
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup ground brazil nuts or almonds

Beat egg whites until foamy but not dry. Beat in sugar and salt gradually. Add ground nuts and drop by teaspoonfuls on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 15 to 20 minutes, until brown. Remove from pans at once.

Special Sauce.

- 2 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup sweet or sour cream.
- 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
- Salt, paprika

Beat egg yolks slightly, add other ingredients and stir over hot water until sauce begins to thicken and remove from heat. Serve with boiled fish, cauliflower, broccoli or asparagus.

Picestetes.

- 4 slices bread, one inch thick
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 cup finely chopped nuts

Remove crusts from bread and cut into one-inch fingers. Beat egg, add milk, salt and sugar and dip bread into batter. Sprinkle with nuts and fry in deep-fat, (385 degrees Fahrenheit), until golden brown or bake in a very hot oven, (450 degrees Fahrenheit), 15 to 20 minutes. Serve as a dessert with maple syrup or with afternoon tea.

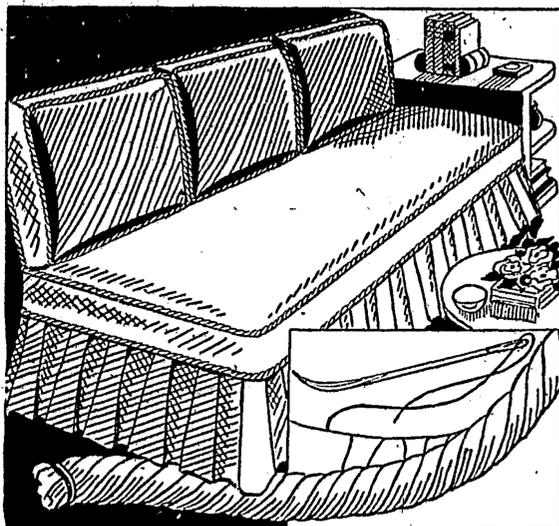

Cream Frosting.

- 2 cups confectioner's sugar
- 3 tablespoons or more cream
- 1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
- 1/4 cup sliced nuts

Sift sugar and stir in enough cream to make a smooth frosting. Add flavoring and spread on hermits.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

IF SPRING is not in the air yet it soon will be. It is the season when every room in the house seems to need a lift. If your couch or daybed looks as though it has had a hard Winter now is the time to give it a thought.

The couch of the type shown here may be made to fit into almost any decorating scheme if it has a smart and appropriate cover. The one shown here is ideal for a room with modern furniture or for one that follows no particular period. It would also give an interesting accent in a Colonial or provincial room. The cushions match the couch cover. A roughly woven navy blue cotton material is used and the seamlines are outlined with heavy cream colored cable cord. If you would like a gay color scheme, use red cord with navy blue. Cream or yellow cord with brown material also makes an attractive cover.

A curved candlewick tufting needle such as is shown here at the lower right is good to use for sewing the cord in place. Thread about size 8 or 10 to match the cord should be used. The needle shown is really a medium size version of an upholsterer's needle which is another piece of sewing equipment that you will find useful if you like to renovate old furniture.

So often mystifying technical details stand in the way of making things that would add beauty and comfort to your home. It is with this in mind that Mrs. Spears wrote and illustrated her book, SEWING, for the Home Decorator. With clear sketches and text it explains the simplest and most professional methods of making new allcovers, correctly styled curtains, difficult dressing tables, pleasingly proportioned lamp shades and dozens of other things that will give your rooms new charm and freshness. This book will save you many dollars. Readers wishing a copy may address Mrs. Spears, 210 So. Desplaines St., Chicago, Ill., enclosing 25 cents (coins preferred) and a copy of the book will be sent post-paid, by return mail.

To Conduct Feature

BEGINNING with this issue this paper is pleased to announce a new series of articles which we believe to be the most original and up to date food department in the country.

We wanted to offer a food department that was live—interesting—different. We wanted to get away from the usual "recipe column." We believe the women of this community are primarily interested in food in its relation to health, in its effect on growing children. Information of this sort has usually been too scientific to be understood by the average person, but in this series it is presented in clear, understandable language and applied so that it will fit the average household.

C. Houston Goudiss, famous author, lecturer, and radio personality, will conduct this department each week. Many housewives will want to make scrapbooks of these articles! Don't miss a single issue.

TIPS to Gardeners

Miscellaneous Tips

BEFORE planting, work soil deeply, making the top three or four inches as fine and loose as possible.

For better germination, pour water into the drill or furrow just before sowing. Use enough water to moisten the soil, but not enough to cause caking.

If you have had little experience and wish to try the vegetables easiest to grow, select radishes, carrots, beets, Swiss chard, and turnips. With a good-sized garden you might add spinach, peas, beans and corn.

If your garden is small and you wish to increase the total yield, try the following quick-growing vegetables:

Radish, leaf lettuce, beets, carrots, peas and beans. You can replant most of these after space has been made for them by early harvest.

Do not plant seeds deeper than directed. After planting cover seeds immediately, pressing the soil down firmly.

Favorite Recipe of the Week

Pineapple Cream for Plain Cake.

MANY times the dessert question is a difficult one to decide upon, and there are other times when there is some pound cake, gingerbread, or plain butter cake left that needs to be made interesting to tempt the family. When these two situations meet, you will find that pineapple cream to serve over slices of any one of the kinds of cake will be just the trick to produce a lovely dessert.

Pineapple Cream.
8 oz. can crushed pineapple
1/2 pint pastry cream
1/2 cup marmalade, jam or jelly

Drain the juice from the pineapple and save it to use for something else, or just drink it. Whip the cream until stiff. Blend the cream with the drained pineapple and the marmalade, jam or jelly. By varying the kind of jam used the whole tone or flavor of the cream can be changed, and you will find any flavor blends well with the pineapple. Serve the pineapple cream over slices of the chosen cake.

WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE'S

To Ride the River With

COPYRIGHT WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE—WNU SERVICE

CHAPTER I

(In the old Western parlance the commendation, "He's a man to ride the river with," was the highest possible praise. It meant that one could be trusted in all emergencies.)

Sun rays were streaming through the mesquite when Ruth rode out of the arroyo. In the light of morning the dust in the air from the desert sand, finer than powdered sugar, gave the atmosphere a faint rose color.

Ruth Chiswick drew a deep breath, almost a sigh. The desert could show its teeth grimly, but it could be poignantly lovely too. This was her country. It held her by a thousand ties, yet she was beginning to be afraid of the ruthlessness that struck at life so savagely. All plant and animal life had its sting. Nothing survived without a struggle. Always the desert fought to destroy.

Ruth was greatly worried. She had gone such a little way in life, was so inexperienced. At the parting of the ways, she did not know what to do. Her problems were two, though they merged into one. That her father lived in constant danger from the lawless rustlers of Tall Holt she knew. He took no precautions. Instead of biding his time until he could crush them he bluntly defied and threatened. Some day he would be dry-gulched from the brush.

Though at times there was stormy conflict between father and daughter, the tie which bound them together was very close. To Ruth the peril in which he stood had become an obsession. She must save him at any cost, and she believed she had found the way to do it. That fat plug Sherman Howard was the leader of the outlaws, yet kept within the law himself, as far as she knew. If he gave the word for his men to keep their hands off L C stock the rustlers would obey him. No longer would there be cause of strife between these light-fingered riders and Lee Chiswick.

And Sherman Howard had a son who was no fat slug but a dark handsome youth with a merry laugh. Ruth liked Lou Howard very much. He was wild, of course. She did not know him well, and there had been moments when there had flashed out evidence of moral callousness. So it had seemed, but always afterward his warm smile had banished doubts. He had given her to understand that she was the one woman with influence enough to keep him straight, and she was young enough to be attracted by the thought of snatching so good-looking a brand from the burning. There was something romantic about clandestine meetings with the son of the enemy of her house.

She had flirted with a lot of boys in an innocent way, but she did not know anything about love—unless the emotion she felt for Lou Howard came under that category. At times a strange feeling flooded her, almost religious in its intensity, that she had been appointed to save her father by marrying this young man. Lou was in her mind a great deal. She was not sure about him.

The last time they had met he had kissed her. Indignantly she had pushed him away, but afterward—thinking of that ardent embrace alone in her room—she knew her indignation had been a fraud. She had been chary of favors to boys. None of them had ever kissed her like that, with a fire which had stirred in her reluctant response.

A young man rode out of the mesquite and flung up a hand in greeting. She watched him as he cantered forward, flung himself from the saddle, and strode to meet her. A queer little thrill ran through her, and after it a tremor of fear. He was essentially a stranger, as many men are to the girls who marry them, yet it was likely he was going to be the most important person in her life.

"I was afraid you wouldn't come," he said, and kissed her hand.

Ruth took it away, embarrassed. Hand-kissing on the frontier was something alien. "I said I would be here," she reminded him.

"So you did." He looked at her eagerly, boyishly. "Is it going to be yes?"

She nodded. "I think so."

He reached up to help her from the horse, but she shook her head. "No, I can't stay but a minute."

"You can rest yore saddle that minute, can't you, honey?"

The girl knew what he wanted, to take her in his arms and make love to her. She discovered that she did not want him to do that—not yet, at least. Until she knew him better she did not want to be kissed, not with urgent passion.

"No. I slipped away, and I have to get back. They'll miss me." She asked, abruptly, a wave of color in her cheeks. "Are you sure you still want me?"

"Of course I do." He frowned up at her, irritated. He had ridden 30 miles to meet her and she held him at arm's length. "But get down and let us talk, Ruth. If we're going to get married—"

"I don't know you, and you don't know me," she interrupted.

"Course I know you," he denied. "You're the prettiest girl in the county. I know all about you, and you know about me. I'm wild about you. What's the sense in sitting up there like—the Queen of Sheba?"

Very likely he was right. Ruth had been brought up in a household of men without the guidance of a mother. She slipped from the saddle and stood beside him.

He took her in his arms and she submitted, withholding herself. Presently she drew back from his embrace. That he was dissatisfied with her lack of response she knew. "Be patient with me—at first," she begged. "I'm worried, Lou. I against a counter. Conversation ceased at the entrance of the newcomer. All three gazed at him. They saw a crook-nosed man of middle size with a leathery brown face in which were set light gray eyes, from the corners of which radiated many tiny wrinkles. He might be thirty years old, perhaps a year or two less. His movements had a kind of rippling ease and he carried himself with an assurance almost insolent. When he took off his dusty hat he showed a thick head of hair burnt sorrel by a thousand untempered suns. He wore shiny leathers and high-heeled boots, an open vest, no coat. A gun hung low on his thigh, well forward. A tough hombre, it could be guessed, able to take care of himself in any emergency.

From a throat caked with alkali dust the traveler said hoarsely: "Tomato airtight."

Sanger slashed open a can with a hatchet.

"Some hot on the desert," the storekeeper suggested.

The crook-nosed man drank the juice from the can, then fished out a tomato. "Some," he assented. "I got to thinkin' if Tall Holt was any farther off it must be near somewhere."

Experimentally, one of the cowboys murmured, "You come quite a ways?"

The crook-nosed man looked at him. Apparently this did not call for an answer. "Yes, sir, hot and dry," he drawled, after shifting his gaze to Sanger.

"That's right," the second cowboy agreed. He was a long-legged man with a lank lower jaw.

"Sure is," his companion said. "Well, I'll be mozeeyin', Mile High."

"Yo tambien, Sid," the tall man concurred promptly, unwinding to his full height. "I'll take a plug of Horse-Shoe, Sanger."

He followed Sid from the building.

"Town kinda quiet," the stranger said.

"Liable to liven up later," Sanger told him.

From where he sat on a counter the man with the sorrel-top could see the two cowboys looking at his horse. Words drifted to him.

"Double cinch—Texas man," Mile High hazarded.

"Yep. No tenderfoot." Sid rolled a cigarette.

"Not none. Plenty tough." The tall man said something more, in a low voice.

Sid laughed, harshly. "I wouldn't know."

They bowlegged across the road to the Golden Nugget.

"Tall Holt takes notice of a stranger," the newcomer mentioned dryly. Sanger did not answer. His small black eyes were taking in with a vast surprise two people who had come into the store.

"Evening, Miss Chiswick—Lou," he greeted them.

The man he had called Lou drew the storekeeper aside for a whispered conference. He was wearing new corduroys, fancy top-boots, an expensive sombrero, and a purple silk shirt around the neck of which was tied loosely a polka-dot bandanna. On his dark, handsome face there was just now a sulky look. In one keen glance the crook-nosed man sized him up as a showy, raffish fellow with no bottom.

The girl held a greater interest. She had, he guessed, an exciting personality. In her dark, stormy eyes was the threat of passion.

A snitch of the low-voiced conversation came to the stranger.

"I have Spicer meet us at Ma Fresnall's boarding-house and do the job . . . want to get to Tough Nut before night."

Gretna Green business, of course. Bad medicine for the girl. Probably she was an undisciplined little devil, but she was too fine of grain for the man with whom she was eloping. Sardonicly Crook-nose added a stipulation. Very likely he was letting her glamorous, troubled beauty sway his judgment.

"Are you expecting to spend the day here?" she asked her companion, and her voice had in it the stinging sting of a small whiplash.

"I'm fixing things up with Sanger, Ruth," the young man answered irritably. "Can't do it any faster."

The girl did not reply. She brushed back impatiently a tendril that had escaped from the soft waves of dark hair disordered by her long ride.

A fusillade of shots came from the street. The three men moved swiftly to the door. A rider was galloping down the dusty road, revolver in hand, waving a hat in the air.

"Hi-yi! Whoopee! Git outa the way of Wild Jim Pender," he yelled.

"Pender on a drunk again," Sanger said. "He's a terror when he has tanglefoot aboard . . . He's headin' back down the street Lordee, he's comin' in!"

"Hunt cover, Ruth," her young man shouted, and vaulted over a counter. "Back here. Quick."

An arm of the stranger went round the waist of the girl, swept her up the store, and flung her down behind some sacks of potatoes.

The drunken man drove his horse into the store. "Lo, Sanger, you old son-of-a-vinegaroon, where are you? I want cartridges—pronto."

Window Washer's Job Is Risky; Worker Can Clean Ten to Fifteen in an Hour

All skyscraper windows aren't "architect's nightmares," and not all window washing is done in sub-freezing weather. Usually the cleaner climbs out on a reasonably wide sill with a rubber squeegee and a wet chamolite, snaps his safety belt hooks into the little steel rings the builders put in the window frames for that purpose, and in a few quick swipes is ready to climb back inside and begin all over on the next one.

To hold his job, says a writer in the Washington Star, a window cleaner must keep moving. A good worker can average 10 windows an hour, or 20 a day; the topnotchers even wash 15 windows every hour! For thus risking his life, he may receive from $36 to $45 for a 40-hour week where union wages prevail, and his average age of usefulness in the business runs from about twenty-two to forty.

Dangerous? Yes, though most window cleaners seldom think of that—or they probably wouldn't be window cleaners! Their employers pay as much as a dollar a day to insure each worker's life, and it is the insurance company which does everything humanly possible to make the cleaner's calling a safer one. Inspectors regularly test the metal rings into which the safety belt hooks are fastened. These rust away in old buildings and result in more falls than any other cause.

Sometimes a near-tragedy in a window cleaner's life turns out to be funny. One worker recently got his name in the papers when his safety belt gave way on a third-story window and he fell to the ground without suffering a scratch. He got up, brushed off his clothes, stopped at the office for a new belt and climbed out to finish the window.

A hero? He'd be the last one to think so. To a window cleaner, taking hazardous risks is all in the day's work.

The Barbara Bell patterns are well planned, accurately cut and easy to follow. Each pattern includes a sew-chart which enables even a beginner to cut and make her own clothes.

Catapulting Airplanes. There are two methods of catapulting airplanes off ships—the gunpowder catapult and the compressed air catapult. These devices work in much the same way as does a sling shot. The plane is placed on a car which is on a track on the deck of a ship. The releasing of compressed air or of gunpowder at the back of the plane assists it to pick up the necessary flying speed.

Little Girl's Dress, With Doll. Yes, this pattern brings you directions for making the little girl's dress, the doll, and a dress for the doll just like her small mama's. Just think how all that newness will make your little daughter dance with joy. The child's dress is a darling, with its full skirt, pockets, puff sleeves and round collar. Make it up in printed percale or gingham. Old-fashioned rickrack braid would be pretty to trim it.

The Classic Shirtwaist. This is distinctly a woman's version of the indispensable shirtwaist dress, gracious, slenderizing and dignified. The shoulders are beautifully smooth and the skirt has exactly the correctly tailored, straight effect. It's so easy to make, and looks so smart, that you'll want it now in sheer wool or light-weight flannel, and later in tub silk or linen.

Se Necesitan Trabajadores Para Los Campos De Betabel

Se espera que este año habra un aumento en los acres de betabel que se cosecharan en los territorios de la Great Western Sugar Company, situados al norte de Denver, y por lo tanto se han de necesitar los servicios de mas trabajadores.

El precio del contrato el año pasado fue de $20.50 por acre, por cosechas de 12 toneladas, con un pago adicional de 65 centavos por tonelada en cosechas de mas de 12 toneladas por acre. Mu tarde el Secretario de Agricultura ordeno un aumento en dicho pago de 12 centavos por tonelada o sea $1.44 por acre en cosechas de 12 toneladas, haciendo el contrato del pasado 1937, aproximadamente de $22.00 por acre.

El Secretario de Agricultura fijara el precio del contrato para el presente 1938 y es de esperarse que el precio fijado por el sera satisfactorio.

Como lo hemos hecho en el pasado los trabajadores seran transportados por tren gratis hasta el lugar del trabajo.

Aquellos trabajadores que preferian hacer el viaje en sus propios automoviles seran remunerados de los gastos del viaje de manera satisfactoria.
