

Announces

For Sheriff

In this week's paper will be found the announcement of Mr. A. S. McCamant as candidate for nomination for Sheriff of Lincoln county. Mr. McCamant served in this capacity for two terms and therefore needs no introduction to our citizens. He was active in the suppression of crime. Law breakers and criminals find it most difficult to evade punishment when Mr. McCamant starts after them for he believes offenders against law and order should be brought to justice.

Four of the hardest years that have been the lot of any sheriff for the county were served by Mr. McCamant. During the four years, a ring of criminals who operated in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, with headquarters near Ramon were caught and imprisoned; also three men who committed a torture robbery near Capitan were captured and sent to the penitentiary; a young man who committed a triple murder was brought back from Oklahoma, tried and sentenced all due to Mr. McCamant's efforts, with the assistance of his deputies. He asks the consideration of the voters. He intends to campaign actively for this nomination and will appreciate any good words which his friends may add.

Jerry Dalton

Early last Sunday morning, March 27th, Mr. Jerry Dalton, age 81, well known and highly respected citizen of Carrizozo passed away, from heart failure at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Norman. His death came as a great shock to relatives and friends as he had apparently been enjoying his usual good health, and was mingling with friends about town Friday and Saturday.

Jeremiah Filmore Dalton was born in Polk County, Missouri, in 1857. He was married to Hannah Huston in 1882.

Mr. Dalton professed faith in Christ in his youth, while living in Missouri, and joined the Missionary Baptist Church. He was a good father, a kind and considerate friend and neighbor. Quiet and unassuming, he was ever ready to lend a helping hand when needed.

He was a pioneer of Lincoln County having come here in 1885. He was in the farming and ranching business for many years, but later retired and for the past 18 years, made his home with his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Norman.

Mr. Dalton's survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Cora Long, Farmington; Mrs. John W. Harkey; Mrs. W. S. Norman, both of Carrizozo, and five grandchildren. Also one brother, S. H. Dalton who lives at Rogeraville, Missouri.

Rev. J. S. Vandiver conducted funeral services at the Baptist Church Monday afternoon at 1:30 followed by interment in the Angus cemetery.

Party and Shower

On Wednesday, March 30, Meadames Shafer, Lemon and Karr entertained twenty-four guests at the home of Mrs. Roy Shafer, with a party and shower for Martha Sue Luckey, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Luckey. The honoree received many beautiful gifts. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

I. O. O. F. Notes

Last Tuesday evening the third degree was conferred on Mr. Lawrence Dragoo. Mr. O. T. Newton was up from Tularosa to this meeting and brought an invitation to this Lodge to an all-day meeting in Tularosa the 4th Sunday in April celebrating the 108th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in the United States.

Presiding Elder Here

The Rev. Geo. Shearer, Presiding Elder, will preach at Capitan April 3, 11:00 a. m. Quarterly conference at 2:00 p. m. at Capitan, Nogal 3:00 p. m. and hold special service at Carrizozo for Rainbow girls, 7:30 p. m.

Every one invited to attend these services.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends for their words of sympathy and many acts of kindness bestowed at the death of our dear father, J. F. Dalton.

W. S. Norman and family,
John Harkey and family,
Ed Long and wife.

School Notes

A splendid assembly program was held first hour Wednesday. Mr. Graham of the Normal University gave an interesting and inspiring talk. Doctor Melton Dean of the Engineering School of the Agriculture College gave an inspiring talk on the subject "After High School What." Doctor Melton is one of the most gifted speakers we have had this year.

The annual Lincoln County Track and Field Meet will be held in Capitan April 9. At the same time there will be several contests in music and scholastic affairs.

The Senior class has set the date April 14, for their annual play "Bertie's Cave Woman". The cast is working hard on this play under the direction of Miss Della Ward.

A very pleasant evening was had by the freshman class and their invited guests last Thursday evening in the community hall. We thank Mrs. Sammons for her kindly suggestions and able management. Violet McDaniel won first prize on costume and Pansy Morris won second place.

The sixth and seventh grade pupils under the direction of Mrs. A. Swearingen and Miss Cole, are preparing an operetta, "Aunt Drucilla's Garden" to be given soon. Effective costumes and stage settings are in the making.

Albuquerque visitors over the weekend were Mrs. J. M. Snyder and Miss Marie Cole.

The Home Economics District Club Meeting will be held in Carrizozo Saturday, April 2. We hope to have a pretty day.

The booklet entitled "Aims of Carrizozo School" is having a wide circulation. There is a greater demand than we can supply; hence anyone having read their booklet if they will return it they will be conferring a favor on the school.

Book reports for extra credit is the center of attraction for several English students.

A special meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs. O. W. Bamberger tonight. All members are urged to be present as this is important.

Earl Reeves of Artesia spent two days here this week.

Business Men's Club

Last Wednesday evening there was an unusually good attendance at the Business Men's Club meeting. President G. T. McQuillen presided. Guests were Messrs. E. A. Bellinger and Donald Teeter of the B & M Mercantile Co. Next Wednesday evening Mr. Paul Mayer will give a brief history of Lincoln County and his experiences in the early days of White Oaks.

CCC Accomplishments

M. S. Crockett was in from his ranch this week. He asked us to publish the following article which was written by him and his son Erwin:

"We are loud in our praise of the local CCC camp, Supt C. F. Butler, his excellent foreman and the entire personnel of camp DG-40-N are to be commended for their first class job of putting the range in the best condition possible and for helping the ranchers to get the maximum possible use out of it.

"These boys have constructed on our ranch one of the best surface tanks we have ever seen, and have undoubtedly done the best job of fencing the place in this section of the country. We are grateful for the wonderful help given us, and cannot say enough in favor of the CCC organization, not only for help to us, but to our neighbors as well, in the way of building tanks, fences, roads and general improvement. We have also seen some erosion control work done by the CCC's and believe it to be of material benefit to the country.

"We are in favor of the organization, not only for its good work in behalf of the rancher, but for its primary object of creating employment for otherwise idle youth, and for the financial aid accorded the families of the boys enrolled, all of which money finds its way immediately into the hands of the business men

"We are wholeheartedly in favor of the Taylor Grazing Act. Our only regret in this connection being that its program was not started several years ago. We are enthusiastic boosters for the CCC and the Taylor Grazing Act.

M. S. Crockett,
E. F. Crockett.

The Junior class of Carrizozo High school plan to have a dance on April 9th.

Attorney and Mrs. Chas. Gilbert of Hot Springs were in town Wednesday.

Mr. H. E. Kelt, local postmaster, and his clerks received from the post office department last week, the highest rating in this district for efficient service, and accuracy.

Attorney John E. Hall was in Corona on business Wednesday of this week.

CCC Camp Open House

On the night of April 2, 3, and 4, CCC Co. 3808, Camp DG-40-N will celebrate the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Civilian Conservation Corps by President Roosevelt in April 1933.

An Anniversary Dance will be held at the Community Hall in Carrizozo, Saturday evening, April 2, 1938. Music will be by Sat Chavez' orchestra. Confetti and noise makers will be available. Admission price will be one dollar per couple.

Open house will be held at the camp from 9:00 A. M. to 4:00 P. M., Sunday and Monday, April 3 and 4 in order that the general public may become better acquainted with the work done by this CCC Company.

This is A Division of Grazing Camp under the Department of Interior. Mr. Cecil F. Butler is Project Superintendent. In general, the work consists of improvement of Public Domain through eradication of poisonous and noxious weeds, rodent extermination, construction of roads and trails, water storage tanks, fences and cattle guards, and diversion dams; considerable work has been done in erosion control.

Lt. George C. Ward, Commanding Officer of CCC Co. 3808, Mr. Cecil F. Butler, Project Superintendent, and the entire personnel of the camp join in cordially inviting all to come help celebrate the occasion.

When Poles Prepared for Invasion

Well equipped, well-drilled, these steel-helmeted Polish troops were photographed at Bydgosz—recently as they marched past their commander in chief, General Smigly-Rydz. Soon afterward they were rushed to the Lithuanian border to enforce a Polish ultimatum. When Lithuania capitulated the world breathed easier as a threat of war was removed.

Properly damage estimated at a million dollars and the loss of nine lives were the toll of a tornado that swept through Belleville, Ill., recently. This picture shows an automobile owner looking at his wrecked car. Note the piece of wood that went all the way through the tire.

Cavalry, Old-Fashioned and Modern

WHAT TO EAT and WHY ★

C. Houston Goudiss
Describes the Precious
MINERAL SALTS

That You Must Have in Order to Build Strong Bones, Sound Teeth, Healthy Nerves, Rich Red Blood

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
8 East 30th Street, New York.

THE human body is often compared to a machine, but it is far more wonderful, far more complex, than the most intricate machine ever designed to run without stopping, day in and day out, for upwards of 70 years, is also a fully equipped chemical laboratory. For if a chemist should grind a man to bits and analyze the pieces, he would find at least 18 chemical elements, and possibly traces of several others.

In addition to oxygen, carbon, hydrogen and nitrogen, the body contains a wide variety of mineral materials, which are necessary to its proper functioning—and even to life itself. The list includes calcium, phosphorus, potassium, sulphur, sodium, chlorine, magnesium, iron, manganese, iodine and copper. All these substances must be furnished to the growing child—through food and drink—and generous amounts must also be supplied daily in the diet of adults, to replace the minerals that are constantly being used up.

Minerals Necessary to Life

It is vitally important that the homemaker should understand the function of these various salts and where they can be found. For if certain minerals are lacking in the body, the heart will stop beating. Without others, the bones cannot form properly. Still others are responsible for the rich red blood that makes the difference between a healthy person and a sickly one. Laboratory experiments have proved that if you leave out the smallest trace of the mineral known as manganese, you destroy the love of a mother for her child. And nutritionists—but unfortunately not mothers—are well aware that less than a thousandth of an ounce of iodine makes all the difference between a normal man and an imbecile.

Calcium—Captain of Minerals

Calcium deserves its ranking position as the captain of the minerals, because it builds the bones, or body framework. And the bony skeleton is to the human being what steel is to a building. Calcium is also the chief constituent of the teeth and upon healthy teeth rests the health of the digestive system and, in turn, the entire body. For food that is improperly masticated is imperfectly digested and fails to nourish properly.

About 99 per cent of the calcium in the body is found in the teeth and bones. If the body does not receive an adequate supply of this mineral in pre-natal life and during the growing years, the bones will be porous, distorted and easily broken, and the teeth will develop cavities and eventually may fall out.

In addition to being the principal material for making and maintaining the bones and teeth, calcium increases the strength and pulsations of the heart and helps the blood coagulate in case of injury, thus keeping you and your loved ones from bleeding to death. That is why an extra supply of calcium is fed to patients just before an operation.

Calcium Builds Will Power

There is a close relationship between calcium and sound, healthy nerves. And this precious substance likewise helps us to concentrate mentally—it strengthens our will power—and assists us in acquiring that "do or die" attitude toward life, which is essential in an age when we must all struggle or go under.

Yet despite its importance, it is estimated by that outstanding authority, Henry C. Sherman, Professor of Nutrition at Teachers College, Columbia University, that one-half of the American people—even those with plenty of money—are literally starving for calcium, because they do not know the food sources of this vitally important mineral.

Where to Obtain Calcium

The foremost sources of calcium are milk and cheese, which is milk in concentrated form. It is chiefly to provide adequate calcium that homemakers must follow the rule of a quart of milk daily for every child, and a pint for each adult.

Vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce, celery, asparagus, string beans, cabbage, carrots and cauliflower are also a good supplementary source of calcium. And some fruits, such as oranges, figs, strawberries and bananas likewise supply significant amounts.

Indispensable Phosphorus

Like calcium, phosphorus is required by the body in relatively large amounts, and like calcium, it is especially important in the diet of children, because it is deposited in the bones, along with calcium, as calcium phosphate. Phosphorus is indispensable for all the active tissues in the body and plays an important part in regulating the neutrality of the blood. It can be obtained from whole grain cereals, eggs, dried beans, cheese, lean meats, and root and leafy vegetables.

Iron—King Pin of Them All

But measured in terms of food essentials, iron is king pin of them all. It is the supreme element in nutrition because it is necessary for the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment in the blood. And it is the hemoglobin which carries purifying oxygen to every cell in the body. Recently, it has been discovered that copper is required for the proper utilization of iron.

"Red blooded" is a term understood by everyone to denote health and strength, and it is iron that makes us red blooded. When your children grow pale and listless, lose their pep and lack appetite, it is likely that they are starving for iron. If you become short of breath and "pant" when going up hill, or upstairs, even though there is nothing wrong with your heart or lungs, the chances are that there is insufficient red pigment in the blood—not enough to take up an adequate supply of oxygen and carry it to the millions of cells throughout the body.

There is no excuse for cheating yourself or your children of a full measure of iron, for this mineral can easily be obtained from liver, egg yolk, whole grain cereals, molasses, dried fruits, dried peas and beans, nuts, lean meats and green vegetables.

Iodine—Molder of Man

Almost everyone has heard that iodine is the mineral which helps to prevent that disfiguring enlargement of the neck, known as simple goiter. But few people realize that it is the principal constituent of thyroxin, secretion of the thyroid gland, and that the thyroid functions normally only when sufficient iodine is available.

A wide variety of physiological disorders have been laid to iodine hunger. Obesity is frequently the result of thyroid disturbance. Specialists contend that stubborn skin diseases are associated with disorders of this gland. Many people are accused of laziness who are really suffering from thyroid deficiency. And competent authorities claim that the thyroid likewise influences mental make-up and emotional tendencies.

Iodine is found chiefly in sea-food and in fruits and vegetables

An Invaluable Aid To the Housewife

IN THIS issue you will find the fourth of the series of articles written by C. Houston Goudiss, famous food expert whose books, radio talks and lectures have made him known all over the country.

In this article Mr. Goudiss discusses the vitally important subject, "Mineral Salts." He shows the necessity of these materials in the diet, and their relation to the building of a strong heart, healthy nerves, rich red blood, strong bones and sound teeth. He also gives the food sources of these salts.

Read each one of these articles as they appear weekly in this newspaper. They will prove invaluable to the housewife in assisting her to keep the entire family mentally and physically fit.

grown near the sea. In inland regions, where soil and water are poor in iodine, health authorities frequently add it to the drinking water. And the use of iodized salt is also recommended. By these simple measures, thousands of growing children can be saved from the disastrous results of iodine deficiency.

In general, it can be said that if the minerals calcium, phosphorus, iron and iodine are supplied in adequate amounts, the other minerals will be automatically furnished.

But every homemaker should make it her solemn responsibility to provide these four in abundance. For only in that way can you insure optimal growth in children, develop vigorous health in adults, and maintain the highest possible tone of every organ in the body.

A Splendid "Service" for Floors

Floors receive rougher treatment than any other part of the home—and it is floors that show up to poorest advantage when neglected—best advantage, when properly cared for! Up to now, attractive floors have required some little time and attention, but this is no longer necessary. For into the field of domestic preparations has come "self-polishing wax"—liquid, smooth, simple to apply, lovely to see. This remarkable preparation goes on easily, quickly, and dries in 20 minutes! Its results are 4-fold: The floors are protected—they are preserved—they stay freshly-clean longer—and they are beautified! A quality self-polishing wax protects and preserves, by forming a film over the surface—hard enough to withstand friction and grinding wear and tear. It induces floors to stay clean longer, because dirt and grease cannot become imbedded in the wood. It beautifies, because it is shimmering, transparent, and brings out the natural beauty of the wood. And what more could the home-maker ask for? There are, however, various qualities of self-polishing wax available. Only the best should be used, for both the appearance and condition of the floors. But the finest self-polishing wax is a joy to use—its lasting results a joy to see!

FLOORS POLISH THEMSELVES

...with O-Cedar Self-Polishing Wax. No rubbing—simply spread it on and let it dry—then watch your floors sparkle! Non-slippery, long-wearing—eliminates scrubbing—dusting alone keeps floors clean. Full qt., only 85¢.

News as to Easter Fashion Trends

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHEN you start out in quest of chic clothes for spring-summer, be prepared to experience not less than a thrill a minute, for the whole set-up of fashion proclaims an entirely new order of things.

Pleats and pleats and more pleats, boleros played up in every mood, colors that are excitingly new, prints that are refreshingly "different," costume suits and coats and dresses of wools that revive enchanting pastels, stripes everywhere you turn in the mode, flowery beribboned Watteau hats that bring the daintily feminine into the picture, Gibson girl blouses with wrist-deep full sleeves, Gibson girl salloons with colorful veils that are brought up under the chin to tie at the back in a fluttery butterfly bow and here we will have to stop to take breath before we go on with the story of Easter fashion trends that spring a delightful surprise every step of the way.

Perhaps the most significant news is that of striking color innovations not the least of which is the revival of pastel shades such as flourished in the romantic past. And if you are asking us to mention a pastel that fashion particularly highspots at the dawn of this new season we would unhesitatingly answer "pink." The emphasis is especially on pink for accessories. However, it is not only that pastels are acclaimed for costume accents, for you will be making a perfect start in the right direction if you buy for your fashion-forecast a three-piece costume suit tailored of a lovely-pastel woolen in a fine herringbone pattern such as fashions the stunning model to the left in the picture. It will be style-correct in either a grayish blue or a dusty pink, or you may choose one of the new voguish cereal shades or a golden-beige which is creating such a furore in the realm of fashion this spring.

You can do wonders with a three-piece of this type in the way of costume changes. In fact the major part of the spring wardrobe is provided with a skirt-jacket-topcoat threesome as its basic theme. To be high style the three-quarter topcoat must have "boxy" lines as this model shows. If you are keen about navy for your Easter costume let us "whisper aloud" to you that navy is a big favorite and with pink accessories it is a fashion highlight. A handsome wool tulleur such as pictured calls for a collection of blouses and when you are blouse shopping keep in mind that the newest blouse on the scene is the blouse that really blouses, call it Gibson girl or gypsy peasant blouse as you will.

Boleros have become an overwhelming passion with designers. Buy them separate or choose a bolero suit complete. We selected for illustration (centered in group) a conservative refined type made of a fine black sheer. No doubt you noted at once its exquisitely neat and trim appearance. The secret thereof is that it is modeled over a clever new braform with dainty under-arm shields attached that give perfect protection at the same time that it molds the figure into modish contour. With a collection of blouses this costume may be transformed at a moment's notice to meet any occasion.

As to the separate blouse, buy or make as many as you will and even at that you will not have too many to satisfy fashion's demand. As to pleats and prints, they have formed a partnership that is proving by far one of the most far-reaching fashion trends of the season. And to prove how dramatically and beautifully silk prints and pleats perform together we are picturing in the foreground a most winsome daytime dress of silk Paisley print. All-around knife pleating is released from the hips, making a slenderizing pleasing skirt. A horizontal drawstring shirring across the bust matches the shirring on the sleeves. A blue suede off-the-face hat completes as fetching an Easter costume as fancy can picture.

LANDSCAPE PRINT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There's the breath of spring in this refined and lovely dress fashioned of an exquisite landscape silk print in lovely pale tones. Charming under the mid-season coat of cloth or light fur. The bonnet was inspired by the duchess of Windsor. The handsome bracelet is gold set with carnelian.

NEW USES OF PRINT IN SPRING STYLES

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Designers are having a lot of fun with prints this season, in that they are using them in a trimming way rather than for the entire costume; or at least in combination with other plain fabrics.

It is very good style to have a dark dress tied about the waist with a gypsy sash of the print; the coat or jacket having a lining of the same print. Little ruches of bright silk outline skirt hemlines as well as the edges of the bolero jacket. Spaghetti trims are also made of colorful silk print.

Cutout florals are applied in fascinating ways not only on day dresses but especially on sheer diaphanous evening materials. The idea offers vast possibilities and certain designers are turning out veritable works of art. They scatter petals and single flowers and cluster with the same artistry a painter creates a picture.

New Hairdress for 'Teen

Age Sure to Be Popular

Long bob-curl at the ends, tied at each side of the center part with ribbons, describes the new hairdress that Deanna Durbin, the youthful screen star, adopts and it is so very attractive prospects are it will develop into a widespread vogue with the younger set.

Gay Spring Gloves

History has repeated itself in the glove theme for spring, for the highly decorated glove of the Renaissance period is seen in the new gloves.

Tragic Diary Of Prisoner Clears Name

By ELIZABETH C. JAMES

HAVE you ever read "Peter Ibbetson," by George du Maurier?

The story is in diary form, supposedly written during Peter's twenty-fifth year in prison. He described his parents, Monsieur and Madam Pasquier, and his pleasant childhood in Paris. Unusually sensitive to beauty, even as a boy he felt magic in the presence of his lovely mother. His diary relates incidents concerning a little invalid, Mimsey, who was his playmate, and whose imagination idolized Gogo, as she called Peter.

Elizabeth James

Suddenly the life in Paris was broken by the death of both parents and Peter was sent to London to become the ward of his Uncle Ibbetson, whose name Peter took. The following years were dull and irritating, for Peter was lonely and ill at ease. After he reached manhood he completely broke with his uncle upon learning that he lied about the women of his circle to enhance his reputation as a devil. Peter went down to London and became an indifferent architect.

One evening at a formal entertainment he met the Duchess of Towers, and again he felt the magic of perfect beauty. She reminded him vaguely of Mimsey, the childhood friend. The Duchess of Towers became the dream lady of his life, as far beyond reality as the stars.

Dream Coincidence.

In London country later, Peter went into the country to submit designs for redecorating a castle, and the duchess was the first person who came out into the garden. Since this meeting was informal, he began to relate his strange dream to her. She interrupted him, then continued the dream herself, finishing it just as he had dreamed it. On the same night they had dreamed an identical dream.

The duchess said: "The first time that I saw you, I thought you were

TWICE-FAMED

George Louis Palmella Busson Du Maurier was born in London of French parents, who had fled from Paris during the Reign of Terror. George was versatile as a boy, and developed into an artist of twin skills. His pen and ink sketches, conveying a delicate social satire, were a regular feature of Punch for years. As a novelist he is well known for "Tilby," a story of Bohemian life in the Latin quarter, and for "Peter Ibbetson."

Gogo Pasquier, but you turned out to be Peter Ibbetson."

So she was his Mimsey after all! He then explained the events of the intervening years, relating how he had been adopted by his uncle. It seemed unbelievable that Mimsey could now be strong and well and how lovely! And married to the duke of Towers. Thus were these childhood sweethearts brought together again.

Their meetings continued, and despite the circumstances of the duchess' marriage, they loved each other. In order that they might be together, the duchess explained to Peter a scientific secret revealed to her by her father, the secret of spiritual life available while the body is deep in sleep. Thus each night, he and the duchess of Towers met each other in the memories of childhood. Later they became so strong in their spiritual bodies that they could exchange knowledge of present happenings.

Tragedy Stalks.

Then Peter killed his Uncle Ibbetson. It was the result of lies that the uncle had told about Peter's mother. At his trial, Peter declined to defend himself, preferring not to bring into court the stories which so angered him. The court sentenced Peter Ibbetson to prison for life.

Life in prison was not wretched. Physical activity kept Peter strong and his mind was at peace so that he was a model prisoner.

Years had passed. Then came one frightful night. When Peter's soul left his sleeping body and sought to meet the soul of his love he met a blank wall. Peter awoke, calmed himself, and then fell asleep again. The second time he tried and met blankness, and a third time. The duchess of Towers was dead. Peter became insane.

One night the duchess came back to him. She explained that she had come to him this one time to comfort him and to unfold for him knowledge of many things: That he must not grieve, that in the other world you learn that there is really no time, and that his attempts at suicide would never succeed.

To occupy his mind, the prisoner began to write this account of his life, much of it in code because he disliked the thought of the world reading it.

TIPS to Gardeners

Young Garden Care

THE value of a garden plant, vegetable or flower, depends greatly upon the start it gets; so give the seedlings ample care.

Begin cultivation as soon as rows are visible, if the soil is not wet. Work close to the small plants, cultivating shallower as they grow to avoid injury to root growth.

Cultivate at least once a week.

Watering should not be necessary the first week or ten days after seeds have sprouted. Later, young plants may be watered one of two ways: Mark a shallow trench about four inches from the row and run it full of water. Or, using a fine spray, apply water from directly above plants. Watering is most effective when it closely follows cultivation.

Small plants should be thinned, as directed on packets, to allow proper development. Certain vegetables may be used as thinned. For instance, onions thinned may be used as green onions, and lettuce may be picked for immediate use, leaving smaller leaves to develop.

Our Government

THE governmental functions of the United States fall into the legislative, executive and judicial divisions.

The members of the President's cabinet are appointed by the President, with the consent of the senate.

There are 10 cabinet officers.

Each state has two senators.

The representation in the house is apportioned on the basis of population.

The membership of the house is elected every two years.

One-third of the senate is elected every two years.

ASK ME ANOTHER ?

A Quiz With Answers Offering Information on Various Subjects

1. Which of our states has only three counties?
2. What is the record made in the major baseball leagues for circling the bases?
3. When was paper money first issued in this country?
4. Why is the stage referred to as the legitimate stage?
5. Were any decisive battles fought on German soil during the World war?
6. Is the new San Francisco-Oakland bridge high enough to permit all boats to pass under it?
7. In the expression, "Poor as Job's turkey," is the Job of the Old Testament meant?
8. Was Edward Everett Hale related to Nathan Hale, the patriot of the Revolution?
9. How many parts of speech are there?
10. What part of what state is farther north than any other in the Union?

The Answers

1. The state of Delaware has only three counties. It has only one city (Wilmington) with a population of over 100,000.
2. The recognized record for circling the bases is 13.4 seconds, made by Evar Swanson of the Cincinnati Reds, September 15, 1929.
3. In 1690 by the Massachusetts Bay colony. It was gradually issued by other colonies until in general use by all.
4. It is so called in the sense of its being normal, regular, conformable to a recognized standard type.

5. No.

6. The vertical clearance at the center of the bridge is 220 feet above mean high water, so boats can easily pass under it.

7. As turkey is American by origin, it seems incorrect to associate this job with the ancient Hebrew. Poor, of course, refers to a thin and weak fowl, not to the lack of money.

8. He was his grandnephew. Edward Everett Hale's father, Nathan Hale, was a nephew of the Nathan Hale who was hanged by the British as an American spy.

9. Eight: Nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions and interjections.

10. Lake of the Woods county, Minnesota.

Singing Convention At Corona

The first 1938 tri-annual all day singing convention for Lincoln county began on Saturday night, March 26, at 7:30 in the Corona Gymnasium, with F. E. Meek of Fort Stanton, presiding. A large crowd was in attendance to enjoy the program of singing as arranged by the president.

The Sunday session was attended by about 400 interested persons. The convention was honored by the presence of many visiting singers, among whom were Messrs. Vaughn of St. Vrain, Head of Clovis, and Peipelman of Medina, president, vice-president and secretary respectively of the N. Mex. Singers Association, the Corona Quartet composed of Messrs. Harold and Myron Hill, Ed Eason and Miss Julia Russell; Mr. Jim Garrison of Mount Amar, president, and Mrs. T. J. Dizer, secretary of the Torrance County Association.

The program recorded many participants, representing Juan, Curry, Guadalupe, Torrance and Lincoln Counties, as well as our neighboring State of Texas. Special numbers given by the Corona young people, under the direction of Mr. Forgy, were greatly appreciated.

Mr. Grissom, Supt. of Corona schools delivered the welcome address, which was responded to by Joe Head of Clovis.

A delicious basket dinner was spread at the noon hour.

County Welfare Work

Through the services of the Lincoln County Advisory committee six of the county's crippled children have been cared for at a total expense to date of $2,443.87. The cost was borne by the New Mexico Department of Welfare. Of these, 3 were hospitalized at the newly opened Carrie Tingley hospital. In addition there are 8 more children awaiting examination and hospitalization.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Among his companions in barnstorming, Glenn L. Martin was known as "The Dude," although his carefully tailored flying suits were always black, including their elaborate braid trimmings. His somewhat mortuary get-up and behavior gave an impression of great conservatism, and it is not surprising that he got backing from the bankers when other aviators failed.

A few months ago, he said his Glenn L. Martin company, of Baltimore, making planes, had a backlog of $15,500,000.

He told the house naval affairs committee there should be a 100 per cent increase in air armaments, that foreign nations are spending ten times as much as the United States. He would build a 250,000-pound bomber, carrying 30 men and a 4,000-pound bomb load 11,000 miles.

In 1912, this writer saw him put an inflated inner tube around his neck, strap a compass on his leg and take off to sea, at Avalon bay, Los Angeles, in a flying laundry wagon on which he had rigged a single wooden pontoon. He was bound for Catalina island, 20 miles away. It looked like suicide.

He not only made it, but picked up again at Catalina and finished the round trip, blanketing Bleriot, whose flight over the British channel was a one-way excursion. He had made the plane in an abandoned church.

The flight got him world attention. Then he staged a plane coyote hunt, dropped a ball into a catcher's mitt and a bouquet into the arms of a beauty contest queen.

This air extravaganza did not last long. In 1913, he built and sold two model TT war planes to the army, and has been building fighting craft ever since, with the exception of trans-Pacific Clippers.

He grew up in Mackburg, Iowa, built a pusher plane in his backyard and flew it in 1903. He is fifty two.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, in his seersucker suit and his rumpled hat, frequently looked as if he had been sleeping under a bridge, especially in the midst of a hard campaign. His son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., is fussy about his dress, severely and fastidiously groomed, with a jaunty little moustache and a nice collection of malacca sticks, sports clothes, and varied haberdashery.

He is in the news now as he becomes collector of customs at the port of Los Angeles, his first recognition by the California Democracy, in whose vineyard he has labored for years.

When his father laid down his staff and scrip at Dayton, Tenn., he picked from the legacy only two things—free silver and anti-evolution. He is quite unmoved by oratory, speaking with calm, legalistic precision, with no gift for the resounding or oracular.

He has made spirited forays against this or that, notably Upton Sinclair's "Epic" heresy of 1934, but with no such impassioned fervor as that which inspired his father. But, when occasion offers, he puts in a word for silver, or against evolution.

After the Dayton trial and his father's death, he made a knightly vow that his lance always should be leveled against this ignoble theory of man's origin. But nobody seems to be bringing that up now. The argument is shifting to where man is going.

He attended the University of Nebraska, three years, studied law at Georgetown university, went to Arizona on account of his wife's health, and practiced law, first in Arizona and then in Los Angeles. He is fifty years old.

Origin of Word Assassinate
The word assassinate originated in Persia in the Eleventh century. It derives from hashish, the intoxicating Indian drug which at that time was used by notorious murderers under one Hasan-i-Sabbah to work themselves into the high state of ruthlessness required for their crimes. As a tactic in attacking vested authority assassination is as old as man. It is notably the most ubiquitous and immediate of dangers to autocratic government, as has been proved by the violent deaths of a high percentage of dictators from Julius Caesar to those of modern times.

One War Threat Removed . . . Mexico Seizes Foreign Oil Concerns . . . Hull Says We Arm for Peace

Here in confidential conversation are Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana (left), chairman of the senate committee investigating lobbying, and Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington. The committee's inquiry at present is directed particularly to a campaign against the government reorganization bill and its activities aroused Publisher Frank Gannett to demand its abolition.

Victory for Poland

ONE immediate threat of European war seemed to be dissolved when Lithuania yielded to the demands of Poland for resumption of normal diplomatic and trade relations and virtually gave up its claim to Vilna, former capital of the country, which the Poles seized 18 years ago. General Smigly-Rydz, chief of the Polish army and "strong man" of Poland, had mobilized his troops on the Lithuanian border, and Polish warships were cruising off Memel. So there was nothing for the Liths to do except give in. Polish troops that had been concentrated in Vilna paraded in celebration of the bloodless victory, but in Warsaw the celebration was distorted into a "pogrom" in which riotous throngs attacked all the Jews they could find, killing several and wounding scores. Hundreds of Jewish-owned shops were smashed before the police could restore order.

The mobs were made up largely of National Democrats, opposed to the government, who protested that the settlement with Lithuania was too lenient. They demanded that Poland invade and annex Lithuania. Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, declared that Poland would guarantee Lithuania's independence. The Liths, however, were extremely bitter over the concessions they had been forced to make to their more powerful neighbor.

Mexican Oil Seizures
PRESIDENT CARDENAS of Mexico announced the expropriation of oil properties belonging to American and British companies and valued at some $400,000,000. Wells, refineries and tankers were seized and workers took control of all company offices in the republic. The American and British employees and their families fled. For the present the oil industry in Mexico was paralyzed.

The companies concerned began legal action attacking the constitutionality of Cardenas' decree, and it was said would carry the case to the highest court. Both the United States and Great Britain were expected to challenge the seizures and similar action threatened in the case of mines as violation of treaty obligations. The action of the Mexican government was not entirely unexpected for it was the culmination of a long and bitter controversy between the oil companies and Mexico's board of labor conciliation and arbitration over a $7,300,000 wage increase ordered by the board.

House Passes Navy Bill
WITH only a few votes in opposition, the house passed the administration's billion dollar navy bill. The measure authorizes construction of the largest battle fleet in American history by adding 40 combat ships, 22 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes. The War department announced that army and navy officers were about to study plans for an enlistment program that would put more than two million men under arms within four months of a declaration of war. For this the army would require 1,250,000 recruits and the navy 500,000.

The first 300,000, under existing plans, would be sought as volunteers in the first month, before selective draft machinery like that of 1917-18 was put into operation. Already prepared for quick submission to congress is a draft of a selective service law.

Morgan Defies F. D. R.
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ordered Chairman Arthur E. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority to recant charges against his colleagues or face suspension or ouster, but Mr. Morgan challenged the President's powers to remove him and said flatly that he would not resign. The chairman asserted: "I challenge this action by the President and deny his right to remove or suspend me. I stand on that. If I sum up my attitude I can say that I do not choose to run away." He then took a train for Yellow Springs, Ohio, for a visit with friends. Morgan told newspaper men he has obtained legal advice on his conflict with the President. with peaceful nations, military preparedness, and opposition to the "seclusionist" viewpoint. "It is my considered judgment that, in the present state of world affairs, to do less than is now proposed would lay our country open to unpredictable hazards," he said, referring to the naval expansion program.

"The momentous question," he said, "is whether the doctrine of force shall become enthroned once more and bring in its wake, inexorably, international anarchy and a relapse into barbarism."

He did not refer to any nation by name, but his implication with regard to legal recognition of Austria's absorption by Germany and Japan's expansion in China was clear when he said:

"The catastrophic developments of recent years, the startling events of the past weeks, offer a tragic demonstration of how quickly the contagious scourge of treaty-breaking and armed violence spreads from one region to another."

He disclaimed "the slightest intention to entertain any such notion as the use of American armed forces for 'policing the world.'"

He specifically opposed the proposal the United States retire from the Far East.

In the Far East crisis, Hull said, the United States has "consistently collaborated with other peace-seeking nations."

The triumph of the "seclusionist viewpoint," he said, "would inescapably carry the whole world back to the conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and the western worlds are already moving."

Cream a Necessity in Modern Cooking

Gives Touch of Delicacy to Simplest of Dishes

By EDITH M. BARBER
A LITTLE cream adds a final touch to many recipes. It brings out the natural flavor of foods and adds a delicacy to the simplest dishes. A garnish of whipped cream, sprinkled with minced parsley or paprika added to a cream soup or to a clam or chicken bouillon gives an epicurean touch.

Vegetables may be dressed with cream. Sweet or sour cream with a dash of tarragon vinegar makes a delicious salad dressing. Have you ever tried poached eggs on toast with a dressing of hot, seasoned cream? A bit added to an omelet will give richness and flavor. An enticing dessert may be made with plain cake or gingerbread when it is garnished with flavored whipped cream, which may also be the base for desserts of the bavarian type or for those easily made refrigerator desserts. In fact, cream is an indispensable factor in good cookery.

Special Sour Cream Sauce.

¾ cupful of sour cream
2 egg yolks
1 tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar
Salt and pepper
Beat cream until smooth, add to egg yolks with vinegar and stir over hot water until it just begins to thicken. Remove from fire, season and serve with vegetables or fish.

Quick Ginger Roll.

10 thin ginger snaps
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon almond extract
Whip cream very stiff, add the flavoring and spread waters. As spread, pile on top of each other. Lay roll on side on serving dish. Cover top and sides with remaining cream. Set in refrigerator for at least 3 hours. Slice diagonally. Variation: Chocolate wafers may replace the ginger snaps.

Ice Cream.

½ cup water
½ cup 40 per cent cream
Saccharin
Flavoring
Add water to cream, sweeten with one-eighth grain saccharin and flavor with vanilla or other desired flavoring. Freeze and serve.

WORTH TRYING.

Honey Salad Dressing.

½ cup salad oil
¼ cup honey
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon mustard
2 teaspoons paprika
¼ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Mix all ingredients together and beat well with an egg beater.

Sour Cream Cake.

3 eggs
1½ cups sugar
2½ cups all purpose flour or 2½ cups cake or pastry flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1½ cups sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon lemon extract
Beat the eggs until light and lemon colored. Add sugar and beat thoroughly. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together. Add to the egg mixture alternately with the sour cream, mixing with a slow beating and folding motion. Add the flavoring. Pour into well-greased and floured pan and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit).

Coffee Jelly.

2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
½ cup sugar
2 cups strong coffee
Soak gelatin five minutes in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water, strain and add to sugar and coffee. Turn into mold, chill and serve with whipped cream.

Ginger Cake.

4 tablespoons fat
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup sweet or sour milk
½ cup molasses
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1½ cups flour
Cream the fat, add the sugar gradually. Beat the egg well and add. Mix the molasses and the milk. Mix and sift the dry ingredients, add alternately with the liquid to the creamed fat and sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 30 to 40 minutes.

Tartare Sauce.

½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced pickles
1 tablespoon minced olives
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
Mix all ingredients together.

A Child's Play Room

For a child's play room, a pale cream ceiling and pale buff walls with a stenciled band of small birds one-third of the way up the walls is very effective.

Sugared-Honey

Honey that has sugared may be melted by placing the container in a vessel of hot but not boiling water.

Household Hints

By BETTY WELLS

HE'S a newspaper man, but he didn't take "Front Page" seriously. So he's a quiet sort, doing a good job and finding life too pleasant to be hard-boiled about it. Which is probably why he'd bother to ask us about a problem in his living room that is concerning him and his wife these winter nights.

He enclosed a sketch of the room with these questions: Where should a pickled pine mantel be placed? What would be the best furniture arrangement? Should the two fireside chairs have matching covering? What color should draperies be? To begin with, they have an Oriental rug that is predominantly rust. The walls are white and the balance of the furniture is walnut with a rust sofa.

We suggested that the mantel (A) go on the long unbroken wall with the two fireside chairs (B) flanking it and the coffee table (C) between them. The sofa (D) could then face the fireplace with the end table (E) at one end and the drum table (F) at the other end in front of the double windows. The secretary (G) we'd have at the end of the room and the radio (H) as indicated. Side chairs (I) and an extra easy chair (J) could be added.

As for colors, we suggested either jade or turquoise for draperies, in a plain fabric and draped widely to one side, the long part coming in the corner of the room. The fireside chairs could be in this same clear plain color and the extra easy chair (J) could be in a stripe repeating the other tones in the room. For accessories we advised big dramatic pieces of copper, and for flowers fine clear yellows. In fact the odd corner of the room would be a grand place for a table (K) to hold a big bowl for yellow flowers.

Political Reverberations

Napoleon did as much to fashions in furniture as he did to the map of Europe. For, as furniture and decoration have been doing since the beginnings of civilization, they reflected under Napoleon the politics of the Directory and the Empire.

After the short-lived Directory period, it became smart to be warlike, even in Turnshings. Spears and shields were seen everywhere in gilded metal ornament or wood. Bedrooms became soldier's tents, with great lengths of material draped on walls and over beds to simulate a canvas shelter; bedposts were surmounted by Greek helmets, tables and stools were drums, some stools having drum cords stretched around yellow hide.

There was another influence at work, too, in the minds of men and in the decorations of their abodes. They were over and done with the soft, lovely curves and elegance of the Kings Louis—and through with comfort and ease. Their furniture, therefore, was angular and it must be admitted, extremely uncomfortable. A wit of the time said, "A thousand precautions are needed to avoid being bruised by the most gentele use of your furniture!" We don't, luckily, have to worry much about discomfort today. Even the most angular Napoleonic bed will yield gracefully to the wonders of a good spring and mattress.

The Empire period designers, Percier and Fontaine, gave more than a nod to the Classical Greeks. So furniture appeared with crossed swords and spears, triumphal palms and Victory shown with widespread wings. Napoleon's campaign in Egypt was reflected in the furniture—upright cobra symbols flourished in chair and bed legs; the Goddess Isis was seen in motifs on furniture, Caryatids supported chairs and tables; there were lion heads, and huge paws and Egyptian winged animals.

Mahogany and ebony were the popular woods and painted furniture was "all the rage!" Bronze decorations were seen everywhere painted a flat gilt.

The Empire period can fit into our modern picture if we can pick and choose; there won't be any "war" in your living room if you select the best of this period, and it has a way of fitting in nicely with other period furniture, too, as well as with modern.

SYNOPSIS

Ruth Chiswick of L C ranch, obsessed by fear of danger to her outspoken and bull-headed father, Lee, from a band of lawless rustlers headed by Sherm Howard, decides to save him by eloping with young Lou Howard, Sherm's son, and comes to the town of Tail Holt to meet him. While in Yell Sanger's store, a crooked stranger enters, sizes up the situation, and when a drunken cowboy, Jim Pender, rides in and starts shooting, protects Ruth, while Lou Howard hides. Disgusted with Lou's cowardice, Ruth calls off the element and sends the stranger for her father at the gambling house across the street. There the stranger, calling himself Jeff Gray, meets Morgan Norris, a killer, Curly Connor, Kansas, Mile High, Sid Hunt, and other rustlers, and Sherm Howard. Lee Chiswick enters, with his foreman, Dan Brand, and tells Sherm Howard of his orders to shoot rustlers at sight. Jeff Gray returns to Ruth and coldly reassures her of her father's safety. At supper, Ruth introduces Jeff to her father and Brand, and in Sanger's store later she speaks cordially to Curly Connor.

CHAPTER—II—Continued

Curly spoke in a friendly way to her father and then to her. Morgan Norris scowled. He had been talking as they entered, but his words had apparently dried up. After paying for the sack of tobacco Sanger handed him, he walked past Ruth out of the store. It seemed to her there was an insolent defiance in the slight swagger with which he moved.

On his way out Curly stopped for another word with Ruth. He considered her the prettiest girl within a day's ride, and he was quite willing to make the most of their rather slight acquaintance.

Lee Chiswick passed them with some bundles in his hands.

"I'm putting these in the saddlebags," the cattleman said gruffly.

"Yes, Father, I'll be right out," Ruth answered. She knew he was annoyed at her for falling into talk with Curly Connor, a wild young fellow reputed to be hand in glove with the rustlers.

"We're starting," Chiswick growled over his shoulder.

The cattleman walked across the road to the hitch-rack and began putting packages in the saddlebags of his mount. Through the deepening dusk he saw Dan Brand coming down the street leading Ruth's chestnut mare. Morgan Norris leaned against a doorpost at the entrance to the Golden Nugget.

The foreman fastened the chestnut with a slip-knot. "Got to get me some eatin' tobacco," he said, and bowlegged across the road to the store.

As Brand passed the two young people, he gave Ruth a curious glance. Down at the corral where she had left her horse, he had learned a bit of news.

"All set to go?" Ruth asked him.

"Soon as I get my chewing," Curly was speaking to the girl in a low voice. She shook her head, decisively.

"No, Mr. Connor. I'm sure I am flattered. But you know Father doesn't like some of your friends. I don't think he would make you welcome at the L C if you rode out there."

"Not even if I dropped in kinda by chance?"

Ruth laughed. "Young men who drop in by chance don't fool him any more."

They followed Brand out of the store. Night was sweeping down over the valley. The first evening stars were pricking out. Above the door of a saloon farther down the street a lantern had been lit.

Men drifted in and out of gambling-houses. Morgan Norris was no longer in sight. He had disappeared into the Golden Nugget. Mile High and his friend Sid moved with trailing spurs to their companions.

Someone invited them to come back and have another drink.

"No, sir, we're hitting the trail," Mile High called back.

From the alley beside the Golden Nugget a flash split the darkness. The blast of a gun sounded—twice.

Lee Chiswick caught at the pommel of his saddle, at the same time dragging a revolver into sight. Ruth ran forward and slipped an arm around his waist.

"Get back, girl!" he shouted with an oath.

A man came swiftly, weapon in hand. From the end of the barrel a faint trickle of smoke drifted. The man was Jeff Gray.

Ruth clung to her father, her body between him and the runner.

"Don't you dare!" she cried wildly. "You murderer!"

Gray stopped abruptly, and thrust his gun back into the holster.

"You don't think..." he began.

"Lemme go, you little fool," Chiswick cried, struggling to free his arms.

Two more guns roared. Dan Brand and Curly Connor had come into action against the crook-nosed man.

Gray dodged behind the horses, crossed the street at a zigzag run, his body low and crouched, and snatched up the trailing reins of his rangy roan. Without touching the stirrups, he vaulted into the saddle. The gelding whirled at a touch, rising to its hind legs. A moment later the rider went racing down the street, lying low on the saddle. Bullets whizzed past him. He did not stop. Horse and man vanished into the night.

CHAPTER III

In an incredibly short time after the firing had ceased a crowd of milling men surrounded the Chiswicks.

All the color had washed out of Ruth's face. Her arm still supported the wounded cattleman.

"Someone get a doctor," she begged.

"No doc in town," Mile High answered. "I'll ride to Tough Nut for one if you like, Miss."

Lee drew a hand across the back of his neck and looked at the stain.

"Creased me," he said. "Must have knocked me dizzy with the shock. No more than skin deep."

From the outskirts of the press Morgan Norris asked a question. "Who did it?"

"That sorreltop stranger," answered Curly. "Open up a way, boys, and let Mr. Chiswick through. Better get him into the Golden Nugget."

"I'll go into Sanger's," Chiswick said. "No use making a fuss. I'm not hurt."

The broad shoulders of Dan Brand opened a path.

"Are you sure it's not serious, Father?" Ruth asked, as soon as they had reached the store.

"Sure," Lee replied curtly. "Just a scratch. Get me water, a clean towel, and some linen to tie up my neck, Yell," he ordered.

Sherman Howard came into the store as Ruth was tying a handkerchief around her father's neck to hold the bandage in place.

He said suavely: "I wouldn't have had this happen for a thousand dollars, Lee. I've got men out on the trail after this skunk, and if they catch him we'll sure string him to a cottonwood."

"Why, the scaldwag ate supper with us not 15 minutes ago," Brand burst out indignantly. "Soon as I see him I knew he was a bad hombre, but I didn't figure on him pulling any such a thing as that."

"Hadn't been for Miss Chiswick the fellow would have finished the job," Curly cried with enthusiasm.

"I never saw anything like the way she stood between him and her father. He couldn't get in another shot."

"You and Dan drove him off, Mr. Connor," Ruth said blushing.

"I certainly owe you thanks for your help," Chiswick said to Curly. "His bullet had knocked me silly and I couldn't do much for myself."

"Yore gun came out mighty swift, sir. I noticed that. Maybe if you hadn't been dazed you might have done better than Dan and me. We both missed clean, I reckon."

"Didn't have time to get set," apologized Brand. "He was moving mighty fast."

"And still is," Curly added with a grin.

"We'll hit the trail," Chiswick told the foreman. "Might bring the horses across to the door."

"Do you think you're able to travel?" his daughter asked, with a worried frown.

"Why not wait till morning, Lee?" Howard said. "You'll be more comfortable at Ma Presnall's. Better play safe."

"You think some yellow coyote will take a crack at me?" the L C owner asked bluntly, his hard gaze on Howard.

"No, I think you may be hurt worse than you figure. If you're set on going, Curly will ride with you till you are clear of town, I reckon."

"Sure, I will," assented Curly.

"Mighty glad to do that. Though you're perfectly safe from that killer, I would say."

"You can't ride beside me, young fellow," Chiswick told him. "But I'll take your proposition up and ask you to go along with my daughter till we get out of this town. You and Dan will flank her. I'll ride in front alone. If there is another murderer wants to get me, here is his chance."

At the edge of the village, Chiswick pulled up, thanked Curly, and sent the young man back. A quarter of a mile farther on he took a hill trail.

"It's five miles farther home this way, Father," Ruth said. "And a rough trail for night travel. With your wound—"

"I keep telling you I haven't any wound," he exclaimed. "We're going this way because it's safer. They'll think we will travel by the main road. If a trap has been laid, we'll miss it."

"Something in that," Brand agreed. "I don't reckon anybody is laying for us, but no need to take a chance."

A crowing cock was proclaiming the advent of dawn when they reached the L C ranch.

Ruth poured her father another cup of coffee. He took it absently, his eyes on a paper in his hand.

"Reckon I better put the date in," he said aloud, to himself.

The paper was a bill of sale. It read:

"This is to certify I have this day sold to Barclay Broderick one hundred and eighty (180) yearling heifers branded L C, Lazy D, and J-M, and I guarantee peaceable possession of same. Leo Chiswick."

His daughter watched him, waiting for a favorable moment. It was the second morning after their return to the ranch, and she had made up her mind to confess now. She was nervous, for she was not at all sure what he might do. This was going to be a blow for him. Why had she been such a fool?

"Something to tell you, Father," she said.

With a pencil he wrote the date on the bill of sale. "That ought to be about the thing," he looked up. "Yea?"

Small gleaming teeth, strong and even, bit into her upper lip. "Can we go into your office?" she asked.

He finished the coffee. Ruth followed him. In the movement of her fluent body was a fine animal vigor. She shut the door of the little room after they had entered.

Ruth swallowed a lump in her throat and plunged. "When I went to Tail Holt I didn't know you had gone there, Father," she began.

"Didn't?" Chiswick's eyes came to attention. "Then why did you go?"

"I was running away to get married."

He stared at her. "Who with?"

"With Lou Howard." Her eyes clung to his steadily. She held her head up, defiant even in her humility.

He was too surprised and shocked to say anything at first.

"It wasn't his fault as much as it was mine," she went on. "I was a crazy fool. You told me to have nothing to do with him—never to speak to him. You threatened me. I like him, and I resented having you dictate to me. We met secretly. I thought I was in love with him and slipped away to Tail Holt. We were going to be married there."

"One of those cursed Howards!" Lee was still too shaken to explode.

"On the way I found out I didn't care for him so much," Ruth continued. "But I was ashamed to turn back then. When that drunken man who was killed later came into Sanger's he—Lou Howard, I mean—didn't behave well. He was frightened and forgo, all about me. He jumped over the counter and hid. Afterward I told him I was through—that I never wanted to see him again."

"You didn't marry him?" the cattleman said thickly.

"No. I wasn't crazy any longer."

He seized her by the shoulders, his strong fingers biting into the flesh savagely. "Girl, what more have you to tell me?" he demanded.

The color poured into her cheeks, but the eyes of the girl did not yield an iota to the fierce inquiry in his. "Nothing. Nothing at all."

"You weren't—"

He didn't finish his question, nor was that necessary.

"Never!" she cried.

The pain from the grip on her flesh was intense, but she did not wince.

He drew a long breath and flung her from him.

"My own daughter throws down on me and joins the pack of wolves tearing me down," he said bitterly.

Ruth understood exactly how he felt. She had always shared his resentment at Sherman Howard's active hostility, but she had never understood the reason for her father's implacable hatred of the man. There was, she guessed, something hidden in the buried past to account for it.

"I'm sorry, Father. Of course it doesn't do any good to say that, but—I'd give anything if I hadn't done it."

"You threw him overboard—quit of your own accord? He didn't jilt you?" Lee asked harshly.

"No. He begged me to go on with it—said folks would give him the laugh. I'm the one to blame all the way through. I'm a flirt—and fickle. There must be something rotten about me. I suppose it's too late to whip it out of me."

Ruth did herself less than justice. She had been willful, and she had flirted in an innocent way, but she was far from fickle. A few boys had plunged fathoms deep in love with her, but it had been good for their education. Ruth was as clean as the windswept hills, and there was in her a deep loyalty.

Hopelessly he threw out a hand. "My own fault, I reckon. I spoiled you—let you run hog wild—gave you your own way. If I'd used a quirt on you, it might have been better."

Ruth knew why he had been so indulgent. She reminded him of the young wife he had lost two or three years after her birth.

"I took advantage of your goodness to me," Ruth agreed.

"Your brothers are boys I'm proud of—fine steady young fellows who will do to ride the river with. I know they will be with me long as they can stand and fight. And I thought I could depend on you too, even if you are a wild colt. I didn't figure you'd walk out on me to join my worst enemy."

"I didn't, do that, Father," she denied. "I would always be on your side."

"Trouble is you're a lump of conceit. You figure wrong makes right if you say so. Girl, you're laying up trouble for yourself unless you change your ways, and trouble for anyone fond of you. You'd ought to go down on your knees and thank God you didn't marry this scoundrel. You would have paid for it all your life."

Ruth knew this was true, and admitted it.

"I'm ashamed of myself," she said with unwonted gentleness.

Chiswick looked at her, started to speak, then turned on his heel abruptly and strode out of the room. Ruth knew why he left. Her attitude lapped at his resentment and weakened it. He did not want to forgive her yet, not while the passionate abhorrence of what she had done was still hot in him.

The pain from the grip on her flesh was intense.

Sardines Characterized as Hobos of the Sea; They Travel Long Distances

After 10 years of intensive study, the sardine has been characterized by the California State Fisheries laboratory as being a veritable hobo of the sea, writes a San Francisco United Press correspondent.

Its wanderings, in fact, are so great that the fish threatens to involve international complications with Japan, Mexico and possibly other countries.

The system which the state laboratory employed has been to catch sardines, tag them and then keep records of where they eventually were caught again.

This has been made necessary by the controversy of whether the sardines caught off the Japanese, Mexican and Russian coasts were California sardines or whether the various sections of the seas harbor distinct sardine populations of their own. All evidence to date indicates that the sardine is a migratory fish.

According to the first report prepared by laboratory officials after checking for 18 years the size, maturity, spawning grounds, anatomical characteristics and license tag attached to them, the sardines inhabiting the coast from Lower California to Canada are one homogeneous migratory population.

It has been developed further that most of the spawning occurs off the coast of Southern California and Lower California. The young remain in the warm southern waters for a while, then they get the travel urge and begin their northward swim.

The hobo instinct then develops as they grow in size. At first they are only able to get as far as Central Californian waters, returning the following spring to the spawning grounds in the south.

Fleet Marriages Fleet marriages were clandestine and irregular marriages performed at Fleet prison in London by debtor clyergymen. Though not illegal, the system was so abused that it was abolished in the reign of George II.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THIS pink and white chintz apron with pink gingham frills should inspire anyone to make long strides towards the kitchen. It is easy to cut. The material required is 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch-wide chintz or cotton print and one yard of plain material.

For the skirt of the apron, cut a piece of paper or cloth 27 inches wide and 23 inches deep. Fold this lengthwise through the center, as at A, then measure down from the top of the fold and in from the corners the distances indicated in the diagram and mark the dots. Using the dots as a guide, mark the outline of the apron skirt as you see it in the diagram at B. The dimensions for shaping the bib are given in the diagram at C. The pocket is a 5-inch square with lower corners rounded as shown here at C. The apron ties are cut 6 inches wide and 36 inches long. The strip for the belt should be cut 2 1/2 inches wide and a facing strip the same width should be cut for it. The shoulder straps are cut 4 inches wide and then creased lengthwise through the center.

The strips of the plain material for the ruffles are cut 6 inches wide. The ruffle material before it is gathered should be 2 1/2 times the length of the space it is to fill after gathering. Use the machine hemmer foot shown here at the lower left for hemming the ruffles and the machine ruffler for gathering them.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' latest book—Gifts and Embroidery number—is now ready. ## Don't Neglect Your Child's Cold

Don't let chest colds or croupy coughs go untreated. Rub Children's Mucsterole on child's throat and chest at once. This milder form of regular Mucsterole penetrates, warms, and stimulates local circulation. Floods the bronchial tubes with its soothing, relieving vapors. Mucsterole brings relief naturally because it is a "counter-irritant"—NOT just a salve. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

Add Not Another Fault If you see a fault in others, think of two of your own, and do not add a third one by your hasty judgment.—Planner.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Tasty Baked Potatoes.—After baked potatoes are "done," gently crush the potato open and then return it to the oven to dry out for a few minutes.

Sauce for Cold Meats.—An interesting sauce with cold meat, ham or pork calls for adding whipped cream and horseradish to tart, unsweetened apple sauce.

Add Acid to Milk.—To help prevent curdling when acid and milk are combined, add the acid to the milk rather than the milk to the acid.

Softening Shoes.—Shoes or boots that have become hardened from a bad wetting will soften if rubbed with a rag wet with kerosene.

Fresh Orange Juice.—It is best to squeeze the orange juice just before breakfast rather than the night before so that the air won't have a chance to attack the vitamin in the juice and also change the flavor.

Cleaning Parchment Shades.—Wipe off parchment lamp shades with a cloth dampened with olive oil. It will remove all soil and will restore the former freshness.

Sewing on Snaps.—When sewing snaps on a garment sew them on by means of buttonhole stitches and they will not pull out like plain over and over stitches.

Small Towels for Children.—Small size bath towels which are light in weight but firmly woven are easier for children to handle and are easier to launder.

Frying Fish Filets.—Try dipping fish filets in yellow corn meal, in milk and again in corn meal. Then fry them in deep fat until they are well browned.

Sambo Became Sure Debt Was Outlawed Sambo got a job as a bill collector for a restaurant. By his violent attitude, he forced five timid patrons to pay their debts. Then one day his boss noticed a big red chap across the street who owed him money.

Sambo raced over and grabbed the other man's arm, demanding why the money hadn't been paid. "Cause," replied the man harshly, "Ah been in jail for a murder Ah committed. Now, what was you stoppin' me for?"

Sambo gulped. He wet his lips. "De reason Ah stopped you," he returned nervously, "was jes' to tell you not to worry about payin' dat money."
